Gadgets to Highlight Exposition Displays

Electrical and electronic devices, ranging from gadgets to contraptions to industrial equipment, will be displayed at the Engineering Exposition Friday.

Many of the exhibits are simplified examples of equipment and methods used in industry.

An electronic sorting device, which can tell one colored ping pong ball from another and discard the unwanted color is one example.

Smoke entering one end of a pipe will come out as clean air by using a precipitron. The machine gives the smoke particles an electrical charge which makes them stick to a plate inside the pipe like metal filings on a magnet.

A special microphone exhibit will enable people to see a picture of their voices as they speak into it.

A model of the Mackinac Bridge will also be on display in the Electrical Engineering Building.

In the field of gadgets the electrical engineers will offer a clock-timer to regulate the strength of a couple's kiss. A model car will be shown that steers by remote control.

A popular exhibit of past Expositions, the Doughty Detector, will again be shown. The machine will indicate on a dial the identity of any of a number of items placed near it. The items are selected from a group on a table. A dial is registered if any other item is used.

The force of the metallurgy lab is expected to produce 22 karat "gold bricks" every hour on the hour. The mechanical engineers have prepared a faucet which pours water but has no pipes connected to it.

The Red Gold Comet engine will be demonstrated in the automotive lab with an attachment to show the number of horsepower being generated.

In the industrial engineering lab visitors will find scale models of a compressor factory, a machine shop and others.

Congress Stalls In N.S.A. Action

Decision on Affiliation Postponed Until '53-54

Action on affiliation with the National Student Association was pushed off until 1953-54 by student Congress. Grants-in-aids of $500 were passed giving $100 to the International Festival, $100 to the Engineering Exposition, $150 to MSC Glee Club, $75 to Les Gourmets and $100 to Spartan Bowmen.

Deadline Extended by Congress

Petitions Due In Office Friday

Election petitions for class officers and student government representatives must be in the student government office, third floor Union, by 5 p.m. Friday, election officials announced Wednesday.

Any petition that is not in the office by that time will not be valid, Mike Hurst, government treasurer, said.

Originally, election rules stated that petitions must be postmarked by 5 p.m. today. The deadline was extended because campus mail is not postmarked and petitions mailed this afternoon in the campus mail would not be delivered until next week.

Any petitions that are mailed in the regular mail and postmarked before 5 today, will be accepted, Hurst said.

Plans for printed ballots have also been changed. Hurst indicated that, because of financial difficulties, the primary ballots will be mimeographed instead of printed. Final election ballots will still be printed, he said.

PRESIDENT F. L. HOYDE
... To Speak ...

Purdue Head To Speak at Graduation

Pres. Frederick Lawson Hoyde of Purdue University will speak at the commencement exercises in Mackin Stadium June 7, according to Prof. R. A. Runnells, chairman of the MSC commencement committee.

A Rhodes scholar and president of Purdue since 1949, Hoyde served as executive assistant to the chairman of the National Defense Research Commission during World War II. In 1928, while attending the University of Minnesota, he was the leading football scorer in the Western Conference.

The invocation and benediction at the commencement exercises will be given by the Rt. Rev. Russell S. Hubbard, Episcopal Suffragan Bishop of Detroit.

Congress passed a resolution by a vote of 20 to 7 with three abstaining to withdraw the bill whereby student government would affiliate with N.S.A., and to set up a congressional committee to prepare a complete report on N.S.A.'s financial standing, alleged political activities, tangible achievements and advantages compared to Big Ten Association membership.

The reason for withdrawal of the N.S.A. bill under consideration was the lack of time to disseminate information to the voters for an all-campus election.

The resolution also requested that as many student Congress members as possible attend the sixth N.S.A. student congress at Ohio University Aug. 20 to Sept. 2.

Dick Meyer, backer of the constitutional amendment proposal providing for an all-campus election of the government president, told Congress the petition was being taken to the all-campus judiciary. The petition was presented to Congress with the necessary signatures (10 per cent of the student body) during winter term and no action was taken.

Meyer quoted the constitution as saying that action by student Congress should be taken within two weeks from date the petition.

Bills setting up qualifications for membership in student governing groups; granting a one-year temporary charter to the Business Education Club; and establishing a system for special elections were introduced and sent to committee.

Other bills passed set up a committee of eight congressmen and two Wolverine staff members to plan the program for MSC's Centennial in 1955; and to provide for appointment of a Congress Chaplain to open weekly meetings with a prayer.

Congress defeated a bill giving its secretary a vote. When the secretary is elected, he gives up his congress seat and vote.

All candidates in the spring term election are requested to attend a meeting in the Electrical Engineering Building, Friday at 4 p.m. when election rules will be explained, said Wally Brown, student government election chairman.

MSC Faculty Men to Speak at Convention

James H. Humphrey and Henry J. Montoye, assistant professors in the Physical Education Department, will address the annual convention of the Midwest Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the University of Wisconsin today and Friday.

Professor Humphrey will speak on "Ways of Obtaining, and Criteria for, Selection of Unique Devices and Equipment in Physical Education." Professor Montoye's paper is entitled "Some Observations of the Harvard Step Test."

The Play's the Thing

Members of the term play cast sit in on an informal rehearsal. The play, which is "Ah Wilderness," is scheduled for May 14, 15 and 16.

Cut in Spending Advised

Legislature May Kill MSC Library Project

By STAN STEINBORN
State News Capital Reporter

Michigan's new building program, including MSC's library, may be thrown out the window by the state legislature.

There was evidence that sentiment was growing in the Legislature "to start cutting down on spending now." There is a definite move underway to do that by not appropriating money for any new construction in the state.

Sen. Charles Fennstra (R-Grand Rapids) addressed the Senate Wednesday afternoon on economy.

He told his colleagues that they would have to start economizing somewhere now, and he added that he felt there was no one state agency that could not continue to operate if its budget was cut by 10 per cent.

Sen. Clyde Greenleaf (R-Holland) was quoted in the Holland Evening Sentinel (Holland, Mich.) that he was organizing a bloc of senators to oppose any new construction in Michigan this coming year as the first step toward a balanced budget.

Geering's statement continued with, "As far as I can ascertain now, the Capital Outlay Budget now amounts to $10 million, which includes construction of a new library at Michigan State College, buildings at the University of Michigan and several of the state normal colleges."

"I'll still go along with the program for completing buildings under construction but can't go along with any new building at this time until the budget is balanced," his statement concluded.

Rep. William Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), speaker pro-tem of the House, confirmed that such sentiment existed in the House too.

He said he had heard talk of throwing out the entire building program, but wasn't prepared to say how far the idea had progressed.

While the reputation of France for great literature and sparkling wit does not stem from the work of Tristan Bernard, no more suitable vehicle than his "L'Anglais tel qu'on le parle" could have been found for a student performance. The play is based upon a series of misunderstandings arising out of an imperfect grasp of both French and English on the part of a young couple and various characters in Paris.

It is interesting to note the portrayal of the English gentleman from Newcastle-on-Tyne played by John Cingerman whose arrogance, impatience and general boisterousness seem to reflect the popular French stereotype. The play has the additional value of pointing up the inability of a young couple and various characters in Paris.

Honoraries To Tap 48 MSC Coeds

Serenades Slated For Living Units

Beaumont Tower at 7 Friday morning will be the scene of the May Morning Sing at which 48 coeds will be selected for women's honoraries.

Thirteen junior women will be tapped for Mortar Board membership by the outgoing Mortar Board president, Joan McMahon.

Tower Guard president, Alice Severance, will tap 35 freshmen women for membership in the sophomore women's honorary.

The carillon in Beaumont will be played by Wendell Westcott before the ceremony from 6:45 until 7 a.m. The Men's Glee Club under the direction of Edward L. Richmond will sing several numbers during the program. They have chosen "Hallelujah, Amen" from Judas Macabees, by Handel, "Black Eyed Susie" by Bartolomeo Nye and an American folk song.

The outgoing Mortar Board members will wear their caps and gowns for the tapping at which time they will place their mortar boards on the heads of the newly selected members. The new members are to wear the caps to classes on Friday.

Prof. Donald Huell will act as master of ceremonies for the program. It will end with the singing of "MSC Shadows" by the Men's Glee Club and the audience.

The tapping ceremony will be held in the Music Auditorium in case of rain.

The new Mortar Board members and their parents, who especially invited to the ceremony, will be honored at a breakfast given by Mrs. John Hannah in the President's Green Room of the Union following the service.

Spartan Women's League will honor the newly selected Tower Guard members with a breakfast in the Union after the tapping.

The names of the women selected will be kept secret until the ceremony at the tower. Tonight the Tower Guards and Mortar Boards will serenade the living units in which coeds to be selected are living. The two groups will sing together at living units where both groups are honoring women. The Tower Guard members will be initiated on May 24 and the Mortar Boards will be initiated on May 18.

Michigan History Emphasized

State Library to Celebrate 125th Birthday

Michigan State Library is celebrating its 125th anniversary this year. It was originally located in the capital of Michigan at that time. When in 1847 the capital was transferred to the state library came.

Books and all other Lansing via express were slightly detained as they bogged down in the old Grand River.

then the collection has reached 500,000 books. It serves state legislative officers, state officials, state employees and citizens of Michigan.

Beginning with legal publications, the state library soon was accumulating volumes on history, biography, philosophy and poetry.

By 1924 the library began developing an important "Michigan collection" dealing with early pioneer families and community histories. Books about Michigan and Michigan authors are emphasized. Although the library has increased its general reference materials and its technical, scientific and public administration materials, it still regards collection and distribution of publications of state departments as its particular responsibility.

The state library now has the official and most complete collection of state documents in Michigan. Included are historic and current files of Michigan newspapers. The development and growth of Michigan's history is fully represented in the collection.

Office building, where the library had been housed, moved, caught fire. Undamaged by flames, the books were saved by being moved by tons of water which soaked through the ground floor.

Fortunately the entire collection was not lost. Although 30,000 books were destroyed and 20,000 more damaged, most of the very valuable books were saved.

The remaining collection of several hundred thousand volumes, including the Michigan collection, is now housed in the new building.

Slonac Injured in Scrimmage

By BON SMITH

Biggie Munn sent his Green and White gridders through another brisk workout Wednesday, and in the opening minutes of a light scrimmage, first-string full-back Evan Slonac suffered a twisted ankle.

The extent of the injury is not known at this time although the speedy Slonac was taken to the college health center for X-rays.

Biggie Munn stood out so prominently, while roused Slonac's teammates got off two long runs to feature the muggy scrimmage.

Line coach Duff Daugherty seemed pleased with the play of the up-fronters. According to Daugherty the freshmen have shown plenty of pep in the spring practice, and many will bear watching when regular berths are handed out next fall.

Daugherty singled out Dave Hollern of Ashville, Pa., as one of the men causing eyebrows to be raised. Hollern, employed mostly as a linebacker, was injured a week ago and has been sitting out of contact work.

Jim Neal, who is expected to handle the center slot for the regulars next fall, is also making practice because of an injury. Tom Taylor has been spotted Neal, and the coaching staff appears pleased with his efforts.

Other newcomers who have made good impressions during the spring football practice have been Dale Hadie, a tackle, Alvin Lee, a guard, and Joe Budaczewski, a center.

Among those who were carried on the squad last year and are making strong bids for the first string are Jim Jebb, Larry Fowler, Bob Breniff and Ferris Hallmark. All are linemen and all saw some action last season when the Spartans went unbeaten.

Only seven days of practice remain before the gridders stage their annual Green and White tussle, May 9.

Injuries have been numerous in the spring workouts, but with the exception of a fractured leg to frosh Bill Smiley, none have been of a really serious variety.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Ty Cobb, former world famous baseball star, was reported in "good" condition Wednesday at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. He entered the hospital Tuesday for "rest and observation," attendants said.

Cobb came to Twin Falls for the Pioneer Baseball League's opening game last Friday and had since been visiting friends.

World's Eighth Place Wonders

Bosox Belt Bengals, 10-4 Rain Halts St. Louis Fe

By The Associated Press

DETROIT — The basement-dwelling Bengals boomed a barrage on the Boston Red Sox Wednesday, driving home four big runs. The Red Sox won, 10-4.

Although they trailed by as much as 8-1, the Tigers could have pulled it out. But four double plays, the last coming in the ninth with the bases loaded, ruined them.

Mel Farnell got the Red Sox win, but he needed the clutch pitching of reliever Elia Kinder to do it.

Zealous Ellis came on in the ninth with the sacks jammed, one out, and the score at 10-4.

Kinder had to get past Steve Surobok who earlier in the game had walked a circuit clout into the left field stands. Steve dribbled into a game-ending double play. Actually, however, the game was lost in the first few minutes of play.

With one out in the opening inning, Jim Piersall drew a walk for Boston. Then, in rapid succession, followed singles by George Kell, Dick Gernert, Sam White, Gene Stephens and Milt Bolling.

The Tigers never recovered from this opening-round salvo and fell further and further behind.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An April rain fell Wednesday where no man in his right mind would have dared tread Tuesday night—smack dab between the Bristling New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns.

With Wednesday's game postponed, a possible continuation of Tuesday night's brawl, set afire by a vengeful Clint Courtney of the Browns, was thwarted at least for the present. The Yanks pulled out of town for a date in Chicago Thursday.

The lineup in the 10th inning of a game won by the Bombers, 7-6, was almost an expectable climax.

Tension filled the warm spring air from game's start. Hank Bauer slugged a two-run first inning homer for the Yanks and Mickey Mart' hit another of his fabulous home runs with two aboard in the third.

Then the Browns came back to tie it up and the air hung heavy as Alie Reynolds, the Yank ace, moved in as a relief pitcher to stop the Browns on two strikeouts with the bases loaded in the ninth.

The face was ignited in the top of the 10th when Gil McDougald, trapped at the plate, charged into catcher Courtney, who lost the ball and his spectacular as the winning run banged across.

As leadoff hitter for the Browns in the 10th, Courtney slammed a single off the right field screen then creased around first and charged into shortstop Phil Rizzuto.

That was it.

Yanks converged on Courtney—who lost his shoe and cap—from the infield, the outfield and the dugout. Then into the Yankee grey charged the white uniforms of St. Louis, and the battle was on.

Empires and cooler Yankee and Brown's heads finally separated the brawling players. But the fans went the interruption into extra innings.

Beer bottles, pop bottles and bats filled the air. It took 17 minutes before Manager Marty Marion of the Browns and Umpire Bill Summers, who threatened to award the game to New York by forfeit, quieted the bottle-tossers.

No one was ejected from the game after the brawl, described by Summers as the most fist swinging I've seen in 20 years of umpiring. Summers explained that if one player was to be ejected all of the players would have had to be tossed out.

CHICAGO (AP)—Will Harridge, president of the American League, will look into circumstances of the free-for-all brawl Tuesday night between members of the New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns baseball teams.

The fight started after catcher Clint Courtney of the Browns hit Phil Rizzuto at second base, nicking him with a bat. Fans peppered the field with pop bottles.

French Play

French to understand their own language unless it is perfectly pronounced.

Many of the comic situations would not have been available to Bernard if the French car were somewhat less finely attuned.

James Quick, as the interpreter, handled a major and difficult role very well, and Sally Salay turned in a very energetic portrayal of a vigorous policewoman. Jim Wagner as the young lover, and Polly Clinger as his companion, were excellent. Barbara Lang had the vivacity which one would like to associate with French hotel clerks. And the two minor roles of porter (Donald DeCook) and gardener (Jim Summers) were ably filled. I was struck by the silent eloquence in both French and English of Summers as the gardener—his expression of confusion, fidelity to duty and impassivity were most amusing and appropriate.

"Le Français tel qu'on le chante," however, is another subject. The play was preceded by a series of songs in French sung by May Van Sickle, Mary Beth Mohle and Joan Pierce, accompanied in the last rendition by what appeared to be a chorus line. The young ladies who sang matched in attractiveness the delightful songs, but the relevance of the concert was not apparent to me.

It is to be hoped that the audience did not acquire the mistaken conviction that theatrical productions in France are invariably preceded by singing. It is possible that the virtues of popular songs as a means of understanding French culture have been over-emphasized.
