Spartans Leave for Minnesota

Yewic Still Favors Ankle; Munn Adds Quarterback

By JACK HALL
Head Coach Elmer Munn, leading his Spartan legionnaires, hopes to celebrate his own homecoming in Minnesota Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Waiting eagerly to thrust that celebration, along with Michigan State's 20th consecutive victory, are Coach Wes Fester's Gophers, still smarting from a 17-7 beating administered last weekend by Southern California.

Munn, 1938 Coach of the Year, returns to Gopherland at the height of his coaching career. More than two decades ago he transferred play as a Minnesota fullback and guard earned him all-time All-American honors. He hopes that his Spartans can display some of the Munn of old Saturday.

A solid throng of almost 67,000 will be on hand to watch the two Big 10 powers clash. A situation similar to last week's Iowa game exists—never before has a Michigan State football team met a Gopher squad in official conference play.

Winners of their conference defeat over Iowa, the Spartans have a lot at stake in the contest. Many golden opportunities—possibly for the sake of picking up—have selected Minnesota in expectation that the Spartan dynasty was finally due to collapse.

Michigan State's team left by plane Thursday night at 7. A huge pep rally met the Spartans on their way, but that didn't ease the worries that are currently crowding Munn's mind.

Tom Yewic, the team's leading fullback, who has added considerable weight since leaving the grid two seasons ago, was still displaying a sure right hand as the Spartans departed.

Dr. James Feurig, team physician, said Yewic was "ready to go," but the Spartan quarterback has been spared from arm-irrigation the entire week. His knee was first injured in the Iowa encounter.

Yewic is a sure starter, but the coaching staff showed its concern when it added Quarterback Jerry Lander of Three Rivers to the 20-man traveling roster.

Two other men stand behind Yewic in case he is removed from the contest. Michigan sophomore Earl Merrill has been the usual understudy, with Johnny Matlock in the No. 3 signal-calling position.

Another new member of the traveling squad is Halfback Steve Brown, Chicago sophomore. Lander and Brown were named in place of Halfback Jerry Merrill and Tackle Ben Schmalzer.

The Spartan starting lineup is expected to be just as it was against Iowa, with the "light brigade" backfield of Yewic, Brown, Steve, Billy Wells and LeRoy Holden performing behind a line made up of Edna Capt. Don Doherty and Edna Doherty, Tackles Rudy Schmalzer and Morley Murphy, Guards Ferris Hallmark and Larry Fowler and Center Jim Hall.

There isn't much doubt about the man the Spartans must stop. Minnesota's Paul Olaf, the offensive punch of the team, had a tremendous day against Southern Cal and the triple-threat back will have a real test against the strong Spartan line.

Another top-flight halfback has returned to bolster Gopher ranks. Bob McManis who underwent a knee operation this summer demonstrated in the closing minutes of the Southern Cal game that he was back.

Smith called on all college employees to give the same co-operation which has put MSC over the top every year.

He said that although this year's goal of $25,000 is only $500 more than raised in 1952, it will require almost 400 per cent participation to reach this year's quota.

Biggie Gets 7-Year Wish at Pep Rally

Coach Biggie Munn got his wish yesterday—after a seven year wait.

Since Munn took over the head coaching reins at Michigan State in 1946, he's been wishing for a chance to get the students out to the stadium for a pep rally.

Thursday, an estimated crowd of 1,500 showed up at Macklin Field to cheer for the football team before it left for Minneapolis and its game with the Gophers.

Organized by Gene Gilmann, the pep rally was a success. The pep band, led by Dr. C. O. Harris, played a variety of tunes, and the crowd was in high spirits.

Also on hand for brief talks at the concert were Larry Frymire, WKAR program director, and Dave Froh, WLS sportscaster.

From the concert a snake dance, led by cheerleaders, made its way to the stadium.

Final workouts before the Minnesota game had just been completed and Munn introduced his first three teams to the group.

Team captain, Don Doherty, promised the assembled group that the team would come back with victory number 20.

Biggie told the crowd that a pep rally of the size and type of yesterday's meeting was something that he had been hoping for for the past seven years.

Usually, pep rallies are only held before home football games and occasionally a handful of students gather to send off the team at the railroad siding.

Munn said that he hopes that Thursday's rally will provide the needed lift for his squad to beat Minnesota Saturday.

Eighth in Four Years 'All-American' Award Copped by State News

The State News is rapidly gaining on the football team—as far as "All-Americans" go.

Since 1950, nine Spartan football players have been named All-American. Thursday, the Associated Collegiate Press presented the Michigan State News with its eighth All-American rating in the last four years.

The national rating service ranked the MSC daily among the nation's top five college papers with 1,000 points, more than the State News has ever earned before.

Judged were State News from the latter part of winter term 1952, and from spring term. Dean Wakefield and Alex Laggis were manager and editor respectively during winter, and Laggis became manager spring term, working with editor Phil Gunby.

In awarding the State News the top distinction, the ACP commended "the paper's high quality of coverage, news, personality and picking 'new' stories."

Names of the other college papers to receive All-American rating will be announced later this month, Laggis said. The MSC daily will receive a special certificate to add to its growing collection.

Experts gave the State News "superior" ranking in news department—something of a record—"excellent" in six more, "very good" in seven, and "good" in one. There were no "poor," "weak," or "fair" judgments.

T-H Act Invoked By Ike

President Sets Inquiry Board

NEW YORK (AP)—The great port of New York lay paralyzed Thursday as President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley law against a multi-million dollar East Coast waterfront strike.

At best, however, the strike of 60,000 longshoremen was expected to run into next week—at an estimated cost to the shipping industry of 1½ million dollars a day.

Ports were idle from Maine to Virginia.

The White House set up a board of inquiry, giving it until Monday to report back. Then the way would be clear for a strike-ending court injunction.

The railroad-ridden ILLA—hitched out of the AFL only last week—launched the strike at midnight Wednesday to back up wage demands on deep water shippers.

The union's very future was at stake.

Its leaders promised to return to work if and when there's an injunction.

"Until that time the strike will continue," said Patrick J. Connolly, ranking ILLA official since President Joseph P. Ryan was hospitalized a few days ago with an illness.

It was the first time in his eight months in office that President Eisenhower had made use of the Taft-Hartley law, to ward off a peril to national health and safety.

President Truman invoked the law 10 times—once against the ILLA in 1946.

By land and by sea, ILLA pickets rumbled the desolate 200 miles of New York piers, where bustling activity had given way to eerie quiet and sun-spiked loneliness. Only military ships were being worked.

The ILLA was fighting for its very life in the first major Eastern seaborne dock stop since the 1946 strike.

The orphaned union demanded a 13 cents an hour wage—welfare package from 170 East Coast shippers. The employees claimed 96 cents. The present basic dock wage is $2.27 an hour.

The KOLEMINE That Time Arrives Again As Prediction Bug Appears

by JACK KOLE
State News Sports Editor

YES, IT'S THAT TIME OF YEAR AGAIN. After the rash of upsets that marked the first two weeks of college football, many prognosticators around the country are searching for the nearest shotgun. But we have an advantage up at the State News. We're just down by joining the rest of the swarms and crystal gnomes.

By the way, there's quite a contest going on up here. An organization by the name of Lushwell A. C. is sponsoring it. Last season, the Lushwell Board of Review just squeezed past the .600 mark in its predictions, but, like all fools, the Lushes are jumping right into the middle of things again this year.

So... here we go on the old merry-go-round...
Notre Dame over Purdue—The Irish are rolling now, with the Seminoles out of the way, and Purdue hasn't even started. It looks like the South Bend warriors are going to keep that No. 1 rating.

Michigan over Tulane—Georgia received a tough battle from Washington. Watch for the Green Wave to get washed right out of Ann Arbor.

Iowa over Washington State—The Hawkeyes boast a good, solid squad, and they gave the Spartans a good opening game last weekend. It'll be a long trip back to the Coast for the Cougars.

Wisconsin over Marquette—This is a toughie because the Hilltoppers are strong, ready and eager. Chalk up a close one to Alan Amoshe and his Badger mates.

Stanford over Illinois—Here's our blue plate special. The Illini were lucky to gain a tie with Nebraska, while the Indians have been showing better than expected. The Big 10 should lose this one in an upset.

Ohio State over California—The Buckeyes have quarterback Johnny Bortan behind one of the nation's best lines. California romped last week, but it won't be quite so golden for the Bears this time.

Army over Northwestern—Both teams had an easy time of it against mediocre opponents in their last outings. It'll be mighty close, but the Black Knights get the nod.

Alabama over Vanderbilt—Two disappointing contests in a row should be enough for the Crimson Tide. Vandy took it on the chin from Penn and is due for another setback.

Texas Christian over Arkansas—Here's a battle between a couple of squads in the Southwest Conference's lower echelon. The Horned Frogs should enjoy a good warm-up for the Spartans.

Mississippi over Auburn—Two Southeastern Conference squads that aren't figured to go very far are featured in this tilt. Rack up another one for the Rebels.

Duke over Tennessee—The Volunteers have seen the last of those national championship outfits for a while, and the Blue Devils are loaded for bear. All the way for Duke.

Florida over Kentucky—Very few teams hold Georgia Tech to scoreless ties. Florida entered an elite circle last weekend, and the Gators should take most of the fight out of the Wildcats.

Southern California over Indiana—The only Friday night encounter in the list, but they might as well turn off the stadium lights as far as the Hoosiers are concerned.

Georgia Tech over Southern Methodist—Despite the tie with Florida, you can't quibble about a ninth-place rating. The Mustangs are due to be broken.

Georgia over Texas A & M—The Aggies held a highly-rated Houston squad to a tie last weekend, but Wally Butts still has more tricks up his sleeve. Mark down three straight for the Bulldogs.

Maryland over Clemson—Not much trouble here—the Terrapins simply have too many guns.

Idaho over Colgate—The Crusaders romped last weekend while the Red Raiders were trampled. Despite the fact that Colgate played the stronger opponent, this one goes to Holy Cross.

Oklahoma over Pittsburgh—If the Sooners have had practice since the Notre Dame war, they're doing fine. The Panthers just don't have it.

Penn over Penn State—Quaker State rivals aren't bothered by a setback for this one, but Penn will blow a lot of whistles at the end of the game.

Missouri over Cornell—The pride of the Southwest Conference may not carry an academic rating, but the Owls should teach the Big Red a lot about this game of football.

Tulane to Challenge
Wolverine's Power
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A speedy Tulane football team will provide a yardstick game for Michigan here Saturday.

A crowd of 55,000 was expected for the inter-sectional contest that will help clarify the savage power Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's Wolverines showed in their 36-0 opening against Washington Saturday.

Spartans Doesn't Talk About It Bob Breniff Takes Philosophic Attitude Towards Knee Injury

BY CHUCK MYLER
"You might as well enjoy yourself while you can—you never know when you might go." That's the philosophy taken by Bob Breniff, star Spartan tackle out for the season with an injured knee.

However, it's not an "eat, drink and be merry" motto he's referring to but an attitude that football players should have.

Bob first injured the knee in last year's Notre Dame game. Then, this fall in pre-season workouts he was clipped on the same knee with disastrous results. Ligaments were torn and cartilage had to be removed from around the knee cap.

Bob lives with his wife, Sue, and baby daughter, Cheryl Sue, at 515 Chestnut Lane. "We don't talk about it anymore," said Bob. "We both felt bad at first but if you don't talk about it it isn't so bad."

They both graduated from Maumee, O., where Bob played football and baseball.

He played first base and catcher on a farm club of the Toledo Mudhens of the American Association during his junior and senior years in high school.

Breniff was looking forward to this year and was in the best shape he'd ever been in.

"I was coming out early before practice to warm up and I never got tired, where previously I always had to take it easy," he said.

As for pro football, Bob has been considering Calgary in the Canadian League but that seems doubtful now.

He still has a year of eligibility left as he will not graduate until

... Paul Giel ...
Stars Duel Saturday
Yewcic, Minus Publicity
Rates Even With Giel
Minnesota has Paul Giel, but Michigan State has Tom Yewcic.

Giel has received by far the heaviest publicity barrage, but Yewcic—on the face of the cold statistical record—rates close to or on a par with the Gopher rival with whom he will duel this Saturday.

Let's take a look at the records they compiled last season, in which Giel made just about everybody's All-American team and Yewcic—playing in the spectacular windows of All-American Don McArthur, Jim Ellis, Dick Tumbure and Frank Kunk, not to mention the "Right Brigade" linebackers—nearly quarterbacked the Spartans to nine straight victories and the national championship.

Giel, far and away the ace of his team, compiled a total season's offense of 1,320 yards. Yewcic, having to share honors with four or five others, compiled 1,007 yards, easily the best of his team.

Giel held a huge edge in rushing with 650 yards gained on 201 carries, for an average of 3.23. Yewcic, as is usually the case with a quarterback, rarely carried the ball, unless, trapped while trying to pass, he had to dig for it. In this limited service as a runner—and counting in the times he was dumped for losses while trying to pass—he netted 64 yards on 30 carries, for an average of better than two per try.

Yewcic was well ahead of Giel in passing. His junior year record showed 66 completions in 88 tries for 644 yards and ten touchdowns. Giel, meantime, completed 66 of 100 passes, but had only six TD passes and total yardage of 625.

Last Saturday, in their first games of the new season, both Giel and Yewcic picked up their starting roles where they left off. Giel drew raves on the West Coast for his heroics against Southern California, while Yewcic completed 9 of 13 passes, one for a touchdown, and generally dominated the picture against Iowa. For his efforts he was named Midwest "Back of the Week" by the United Press.

This comparison of Giel with Yewcic doesn't tarnish the magnificent Gopher's rep any, but it does seem to point up the fact that Yewcic is some shucks as a back himself, a fact some people seem to have forgotten.

AP Writer Predicts MSC Loss Saturday

Jerry Liska, top-notch AP sports scribe, has picked Minnesota to humble Michigan State in their Saturday tussle at Minneapolis.

Liska, who has a remarkable record for his crystal-ball efforts, thinks that Paul Giel will carry the Gophers to an 18-16 victory.
