

Living in Dorms, Union Final Elections Begin

Candidates will vie for three Student Congress seats in Fresh-Soph Union and four freshmen.

will vote in their respective dormitories while off-campus students will vote in the Union Concourse.

Freshmen will get a chance to initiate a new voting procedure while balloting for their class officers. Use of machine-scored ballots, set up along the same form as exam sheets, will be tried in an attempt to speed up vote-counting. Instructions on the voting procedure will be given on the left side of the ballot. After marking, the ballots should be folded in half, lengthwise for easiest scoring.

In the Congress and Fresh-Soph Council voting the old style ballots will still be used. If the new system proves acceptable, student government hopes to run future elections with machine-scored ballots only.

Candidates for freshman class president are John M. Rogers and Jon Thomson.

Running for vice-president are Gerald Hollinger and Art Rosenberg, while Chardie Davis and Grace Taylor vie for the secretary's job.

Running for treasurer are Bonnie McIntosh and Nancy Sackrider.

All-College Student Government candidates from sororities are Jane Baldwin and Jo Spadafore.

East Lansing Congress candidates are John Barger, Len Burlanek, Bruce Harrison, and Patricia Moywihan. Two representatives will be chosen from this district.

Included in the Fresh-Soph Council candidates are Marcia Cleveland, Elaine Ross, freshman candidates from Snyder; Carol Caldwell, Janice Cooper and Jane Woolam, East Mayo freshmen.

Also running are Jeanette Foy and Gay Wright, Gail Fear, Mary Vernier, East Landon, freshmen, Lea Ferguson, Polly Palen and Virginia Stalter, West Landon freshmen.

Still others are Clara Louise Boughner, Judy Horton, sophomore candidates from South Campbell, and Chris Coniglio and Janice Van Der Jagt, East Lansing.

A husband and wife, shot in what state police described as an attempted murder and suicide, were both reported in a "very poor" condition Wednesday.

Police said Martin Goss, 37, who was separated from his wife, Lurene, 35, shot her in the neck and chest with an automatic Tuesday night and then shot himself in the chest.

Mrs. Goss told police that she met her husband at a Lansing service station at his request Tuesday night and that he pushed her way into the car and threatened to kill her.

Goss drove her to a lonely Eaton County road, seven miles west of Lansing, she said, and shot her when she tried to jump from the car. The wife said he then turned the gun on himself.

Police withheld charges pending the outcome of the condition of the wounded couple.

New Stamp to Mark College Anniversary

Centennial Plan to Honor
First Land Grant Colleges

By ANN McLOTHLIN
State News Associate Editor

Spartans will mail their valentines with special MSC Centennial stamps in 1965.

At the Founder's Day ceremonies Feb. 12, the first stamps commemorating the joint founding of MSC and Pennsylvania State University will be issued.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield announced approval of the stamp Wednesday night. Final plans for the design will be announced later.

The first books of stamps will probably be issued to President John A. Eisenhower, president of Penn State, according to Alvin L. Smith, Centennial director.

"This stamp will commemorate the 100th anniversary of the land-grant college idea, as represented in the establishment of MSC and Penn State in 1855," Smith said.

"It was from the pattern established by these two institutions, also the nation's first agricultural colleges, that the U.S. land-grant system was begun under the Morrill Act of 1862," he said.

Two University of Michigan alumni started the MSC stamp on its way to reality, following a Washington, D.C. conference with Smith in April, 1953.

Senator Homer J. Ferguson (R-Detroit) and Representative Kit Clardy (R-Lansing) introduced bills into Congress to authorize a series of stamps commemorating the college founding.

In April of 1954, Smith made a second trip to Washington to discuss the stamp with Assistant Postmaster General Albert J. Robertson.

Since Penn State, founded ten days after Michigan State, had petitioned for a Centennial stamp, plans were started for a joint issue.

Smith returned to the capital Friday to discuss final details of the stamp with officials of Penn State and the Postmaster General.

Yearbook Orders Taken in Evening

Students who haven't yet purchased their Centennial Wolverine will have a chance to do so when organizational pictures are taken. A sales representative will be on hand near the Tower room to take orders for the yearbook during the evening when group pictures are taken.

This afternoon at 5 there will be a meeting of paid staff members in the third floor office.

Seniors are reminded that proofs are to be returned to the Wolverine desk in the Union Concourse.

Juniors to Meet Class Officers at Coffee Hour

A junior class coffee hour will be held 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in Old College Hall.

The class officers and Junior Council members will be introduced. Plans for the year will be discussed.

Commenting on the modern trend toward quartets, Bernie said that he felt that most people are ready for catchy harmonizing groups. He attributes the Four Aces with starting some of the drive toward quartets.

He said the group welcomed his records like their latest, "Swanee" but felt they weren't necessary as they were primarily a traveling group. "We play

Scene Set Themes Discussed For Christmas City

By DEBBY HALL
A meeting Wednesday night set the scene for Christmas City, as six living unit representatives discussed themes for the forthcoming Christmas displays.

The group decided to use three islands on Grand River Ave.

The nativity scene, which will be provided by East Lansing merchants, will be constructed on the middle island.

The six other displays will represent the Annunciation, Mary and Joseph traveling to Bethlehem, the holy couple turned away from the inn, the shepherds at the announcement of the child's birth, the wisemen and a contemporary church scene.

Overhead lighting will be provided by the Merchants Association for the displays.

Living units are asked to turn in a sketch of the display by next week if possible, said Micki McBride, secretary of state affairs. Deadline for construction of the scenes has been tentatively scheduled for midnight, Dec. 3.

No money limitations will be specified for the displays. It will be up to the living unit to decide on the amount, Miss McBride said. Display figures will be five feet high, she approximated.

A Christmas program will be presented Sunday, Dec. 4. Student government hopes to include Christmas Sing, sponsored by Delta Tau Delta and Phi Beta Phi, for the Christmas ceremonies.

Living unit representatives present at the meeting were: Dorothy Davis, Board of Women's Dorm Presidents; Patricia Scanlon, Panhel; George Clute, IFC; Robert Lawrence, men's Inter-Dorm council; Marilyn Nuechterlein, Council; Marilyn Nuechterlein, Women's Inter - Co - Op League; Donald Ireland, Men's Inter-Co - Op League; Micki McBride, student government. A representative from religious units was unable to come.

Young Dems to Solicit, Arca Votes Tonight

Members of the MSC Young Democrats Club will conduct a house-to-house campaign of the East Lansing area tonight, in preparation for next week's general elections.

The drive will last from 8 to 8:30 p.m. Cars will be parked in front of Berkeley Hall to take the campaigners to the houses.

They are interested in movies, although no definite plans are made. They turned down a spot in the movie "Latin Lovers" because it wasn't an advantageous move at that time.

The quartet has its own pianist, Joe Meale, and drummer, Eddie Nicholas. Meale does the orchestra arrangements and Eddie does the vocal.

Sincerity Said Needed For Talks

Answers Given
On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday that there is better reason to hope for peace now than there was two years ago, but he ruled out any immediate Big Four meeting to seek agreement with the Russians on great world issues.

The fact is, the President told a news conference, that this is not the time to project or hold a meeting with the Soviets while work is still in progress on completing the European defense structure by adding West German units.

But he said the West is strengthening its bargaining position, and indicated that he sees the possibility of an end—sometime—to the long road of the East-West conflict.

He suggested that the Western powers must always be on the lookout for some lessening of what he called intractability on the part of the Reds and, finally, for a chance for negotiation.

As for talking with the Communists, he said, whenever the time is appropriate and there is reason to believe they are sincere, this country will talk any time with anyone who wants sincerely to promote peace.

In a news conference devoted mostly to politics, foreign problems kept popping up in questions and, aside from laying down his general and hopeful attitude on the present state of world affairs, Eisenhower made these basic points:

1. Basic U.S. foreign policy must be bipartisan or nonpartisan. The operation of this basic policy, however, requires that a certain set of leaders in the government take responsibility and therefore to this extent the matter may become political and controversial.

2. Foreign policy as an issue has entered into the recent campaign, but as to whether it would be basically affected by the outcome of the congressional elections, the President said that so far as he knew every political leader on both sides had expressed substantially the same view about basic American foreign interests.

3. The President is delighted to have coming here as visitors

Dutch Group Scheduled for Concert in Aud

The Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam, Holland, will perform modern and classical works by four composers in its concert tonight at 8:15 in the Auditorium under the Lecture-Concert series.

"The Roman Carnival" overture by Berlioz will open the program. Sinfonietta for 18 Wind Instruments by Van Otterloo will follow.

Serenade for String Orchestra in E major, op. 22 by Dvorak and Brahms' Symphony No. 4 in E minor, op. 98 will conclude the concert.

The orchestra, noted to be one of the finest in the world, is making its first appearance in the United States.

In its 70th year, the Amsterdam orchestra will perform under the direction of two concert masters, Eduard van Beinum and Rafael Kubelik.

Van Beinum appeared earlier this year as guest conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra and has been with the orchestra since 1931.

Kubelik is known in this country for his work as a conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

'Four Lads' Make Career of Favorite Pastime

By MYRA MACPHERSON
State News Feature Editor

"We really broke them up in New York the time we fell into the customers' laps" laughed Jimmy as he reviewed early career days of one of the most popular quartets in the country today, "The Four Lads."

The zany foursome hadn't been in show business too long. Jimmy, Connie, Frankie, and Bernie, as they were called, were performing in a night club. During a gag routine, Connie pushed Jimmy. He lost his balance and fell into a ringer's table, upsetting customers and drinks.

"Istanbul," our tune that was going strong at that time."

Excited about the show, they jumped in the plane and tipped the whole thing over.

One of the biggest selling points about the Four Lads is their amazing sense of humor—everything is fun. They love to sing and thoroughly enjoy themselves during one of their casual ad libbing performances.

"I think it's the end," said Frankie, the shortest of the crew, when asked if he liked MSC. Their show here last week was a repeat performance of the year before. "It sure is fun to be back in school again—we'd like to see this campus every year," he said.

The group got their start in Toronto, Canada, when they were probably the craziest choir boys that St. Michael's Choir School ever had. This private school is for boys in grades seven through 12.

They said that they just got together and started humming for shows in Toronto, which incidentally is their home town.

"We had a songbook that we decided to learn ourselves," said Bernie. "Our first performance was at St. Michael's night club in New York."

Billed as French-Canadian singers, they were supposed to amuse the audience with French-Canadian folk songs.

"We stayed up all night learning folk songs because we were so tired from our first performance," Bernie said.

This was in 1950, and for four years they have been making one hit record after another and traveling from New York to California. None of them are married and their ages range from 22 to 24.

When asked if audiences ever confuse them with other "Four" quartets, the Lads say not too often. Occasionally they will get requests for a song popularized by another quartet so that they know the person has the wrong group in mind.

Commenting on the modern trend toward quartets, Bernie said that he felt that most people are ready for catchy harmonizing groups. He attributes the Four Aces with starting some of the drive toward quartets.

He said the group welcomed his records like their latest, "Swanee" but felt they weren't necessary as they were primarily a traveling group. "We play mostly in night clubs and theater stage shows," he said.

Hockey, golf and hunting occupy their spare time on their occasional days off. They travel and work 12 months of the year.

Next week, the Lads will be at the Conacabana in New York, billed with Nat "King" Cole. As far as future plans go, they seemed to express the idea that they want to make money and then retire.

Sales Tax Amendment—
A Half-Way Measure

Michigan's No. 1 source of public money—a half billion dollars each year—will be up for consideration on the ballot Nov. 2.

The "Sales Tax Diversion" Proposal No. 2, based on the Collin Plan, is an amendment to an amendment to an amendment. It began in 1946, when the hard-pressed school districts and local governmental units looked longingly at a surplus in the state treasury.

An amendment passed that year provided that most of the sales tax receipts would be automatically diverted from the state treasury to the local units and schools.

As a result, while almost three of every four sales tax dollars collected went to the local units, the Michigan surplus was replaced with a 65 million dollar debt.

The state's awkward situation didn't improve until the business receipts tax was approved two years ago to provide a new source of state income.

But proposal No. 2 does not provide for any basic changes in the formula used to split up sales tax receipts.

After collection costs are deducted, two of every three cents collected will revert to the local school districts. Local governmental units—cities, villages and townships—will get another one-half cent of each three cents.

The rest of it goes to the state general fund.

Most of the opposition to the proposal comes from city and village councils, who feel basic inequities of the diversion amendment won't be affected.

They charge that under the present diversion formula, state aid is not distributed according to need. They point to the several hundred townships which break even and even show surpluses without raising a cent in direct local taxes.

But the proposal has won the support of school organizations and state administrators. And it cleans up some defects of the 1946 amendment.

A "time lag" in the time between collection of the taxes and their distribution to the local units will be cut down; the schools and local units will be in a stronger position in any inflation.

Some of the proposal's clauses will solve some of the state administrators' problems in appropriating funds to the school districts. It provides, too, for financing a retirement system for school employees.

A majority of voters will probably support the sales tax diversion, Proposal No. 2. It'll stop some inter-governmental bickering and provide local units with more certain and responsive tax receipts—but it's still only a halfway measure.

Articulation

In Rebuttal

By ART UNDERWOOD
State News Associate Editor

Old Articulation is a little off the beaten path with this one, but the head man wrote a very interesting bit on why Michigan Korean War vets shouldn't get a state bonus, and it is too much of a challenge.

Admittedly, there is a personal angle here, but for the benefit of the record this is one columnist that stands one hundred per cent up in the front row in favor of a bonus.

Michigan men fought a good fight in Korea. It is only fair that the people of the state show their appreciation. Now right away someone in the back row is going to say, "OK, so build them a monument or something. It won't cost as much, and they can't say we forgot them."

You know monuments are fine things. I favor them too. I can't think of a more pleasant sight on a fine sunny fall afternoon than some pigeons flying around a statue of General what's-his-name in the middle of a grove of multicolored maples while a fountain plays pleasantly in the background.

Did you ever try to eat a statue or drive one or wear one?

Well, if these guys are on the stick, aren't they making as much or more than the rest of us?

Sure, mister, that's right. The big fact, however, is that they aren't making as much as the men that were ruckus up seniority while they weren't around.

Most of the men that would benefit from a bonus are just getting started now, two to five years behind their buddies that stayed home.

The extra couple of hundred they would get out of a deal like proposal three might put them financially even with the guys that had steady work during the police action.

Jobs are tight, a fact that very few can deny despite the remarks of a few leading lights in Washington. Many vets who went right from high school to the army haven't the seniority to hold a five or six-day-a-week job in the face of layoffs and cutbacks and as a consequence are faced with supporting a brand new family on a half-pay every week.

Not many of them are complaining, but it isn't a very easy life. Most of them don't have a little bucking tucked away in a bank somewhere. They haven't been working long enough to acquire any.

It is true that there are some vets that are set. The extra money won't mean much more than a party for them.

It is also true, however, that a lot of vets can use the loot to pay off the mortgage or buy some clothes for the baby or make the down payment on a car.

I don't think you have to sell a thing like this, though. Most of the people in Michigan have someone in the family that would stand to benefit under the proposal. They know what it can mean to get some extra change.

We'll see you at the polls Nov. 2.

Bonus? 3 Readers Say Yes

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:

(Sir is a term which means so little to us after having spent a number of years (jointly and separately) in the service (Air Force and Army) that we feel free to use it in this case.)

We have only two questions:

- Are you a veteran?
- Are you old enough to vote?

The first question is for the purpose of defying your relationship to the veterans bonus problem.

The second is to ascertain your qualification for being involved with the problems publicly.

Dick Landberg - Ex T/SGT
Clare Fischer-M.M. '51 Ex.CPL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of the Kolumine is not a veteran and is 20 years old.

To the Editor:

This letter is in reply to your statement in the "Kolumine" that it is unfair to pay bonus money to veterans who served in Europe with the U. S. Navy. Specifically those in the Navy, who spent most of their hitch in the Mediterranean.

It is commonly known that it is your Navy's specific duty to protect United States and American interests throughout the world.

To perform this duty the men of the Navy must be in a perpetual state of readiness, which can only be maintained by constant training. This factor is what makes the U.S. Navy the first and best in the world.

While operating with "Sixth Fleet" units, the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt on which I served helped to promote the good will that exists today between Spain and the U.S. We aided the Greek people stricken by earthquakes in the Ionian Islands by furnishing water, food, medical supplies, rescue parties and boosting their moral to live and rebuild. We helped to train the armed forces of the Mediterranean in the use of modern weapons and mutual aid programs.

The men of the Armed Forces have a job to do, no matter where they are. They perform their duty to maintain the American democratic way of life. Some have to remain in the homeland to keep the supplies rolling to the men overseas and to maintain the defense of the homeland.

They have earned their rights to a bonus.

Outings Set By Religious Associations

Halloween parties and a hayride will be added to the weekend's devotional activities planned by campus religious organizations.

Gamma Delta will meet at Martin Luther Chapel and House Friday night at 7:30 for a hayride. Regular vespers will be held at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the Luther Chapel.

Spartan Christian Fellowship will host the Rev. H. LeRoy Patterson from Inter-City Bible Church in Lansing for their meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Student Center at 803 E. Grand River. His topic will be "Seven Days a Week."

A Halloween party is planned by SCF for Saturday night in the Student Center from 8 to 12. Game, skits and a "surprise" tape recording are scheduled.

Newman Club also plans a Halloween party for Saturday from 8 to 12 p.m. The party, complete with dancing, games and refreshments, will be held at Newman Hall at 117 Fern.

Communion breakfast will follow 8:45 a.m. Mass at Newman Hall Sunday. Open house and Philosophy Club will begin at 8 p.m. at Newman Hall.

A hamburger fry at Hill's Farm near Mason is planned for Sunday at 2 p.m. by the Christian Science Organization.

"You, Too, Can be an Alcoholic" is the topic for discussion at a meeting of Canterbury Club in 31 Union at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Robert Scott, deputy commissioner of the department of correction for the State of Michigan, will be the featured speaker. The meeting is the first in a series of three on the Christian attitude toward alcohol.

Lutheran Students Association will hold Sunday vespers at 7:30 p.m. at College Lutheran Church with the theme, "Christus Victor."

Christian Student Foundation vespers will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Hall of Peoples Church. Dean William Hawley from the Divinity School of the University of Chicago will speak.

East Mayo Freshmen Entertained at Party

East Mayo freshmen were welcomed to the dormitory recently at an all-dorm pajama party. The new students entertained the upper-classmen with skits, novelty musical numbers and pantomimes.

Ghosts, Goblins

Parties to Reflect Halloween Theme

By MARILYN MINION

Hobgoblins, witches on broomsticks and black cats will be on the prowl for the Halloween weekend—at least in the decor and themes of the many parties planned.

Ghosts and goblins will welcome Delta Sigma Pi's to a fall term party Friday. The informal dance will be held in the fraternity house. Decorations will include red and black masks. Coeds will receive rose corsages.

Snyder Hall has invited East Shaw and Phillips Hall to a casual-dress record dance Saturday. Coeds and their guests will be given masks to wear.

Denny Roehl, Grosse Pointe senior, will be disc jockey for the Union Board all-college record dance Friday in the Union Ballroom.

Bobbing for apples is planned for the Alpha Epsilon Pi costume party Saturday. Prizes will be given for best costumes. The AEP's and their dates will also dance to records.

A "Pizza Party" will be

Sanford House' Halloween celebration Saturday. A scavenger hunt will open the evening's program. Later the group will return to a record dance at the house.

The Beta Theta Pi glee club will sing at a costume party and dance Saturday night at the Beta house.

Mock skeletons will be given as favors at Phi Kappa Sigma's Halloween party at a local country club Saturday night. Dance music will be by the Paul Grisheke combo.

Prizes will be awarded to wearers of the best costumes at the Delta Upsilon Halloween party Friday. The party will include dancing to records at the DU house.

A Halloween theme will also be seen at the East Mayo and West Shaw record dance in Mayo's dining hall Friday.

Corn stalks and pumpkins will be lawn decorations at the Alpha Tau Omega costume party Friday night at the ATO house.

Members of Delta Zeta will give a hayride Friday. Before leaving on the hay wagon a wiener roast and square dance will be held. Refreshments will be served at the DZ house after the hayride.

Kappa Sigma and their dates will dress according to desired roles at the fraternity's "Magnificent Obsession" party Friday. Kappa Sigma's South American-style combo will play for dancing and the fraternity quartet will sing.

A "casino" will be created for Lambda Chi Alpha's French party Friday. Refreshments will include french bread, la grande soiree punch and assorted cheeses. French records will be played for dancing.

Weekend Retreats Scheduled by Religious Groups

A week-end retreat with the theme "Let's Look at Life—and Live It" will be sponsored by the Christian Student Foundation this week end.

The group will leave for Chief Noon-Day Camp at Yankee Springs near Hastings Friday afternoon.

Students also will leave Friday for a retreat at Gun Lake sponsored by the Lutheran Student Association.

The Lutheran theme will be "Communicating Your Faith on the Campus." Reservations, entailing a $5 fee, must be made before noon Thursday at College Lutheran Church.

Dr. William Hawley, Dean of Students at the Chicago University Divinity School, will be the main speaker at the CSF retreat.

Delta Sigma Pi, Sigma Kappa Hold Exchange Dessert

Sigma Kappa sorority were guests of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity at an exchange dessert Tuesday night. Half of the coeds were entertained at the fraternity house, and half the men went to the Sigma Kappa house for the party.

The Delta Sigma Pi table centerpiece was a cornucopia with fall fruit spilling out. Mums with the sorority and fraternity letters in their respective colors decorated the bases of candles lighting the tables.

Record Dance Planned

East and West Shaw will hold their weekly record dance in the Shaw Lower Lounge Friday night starting at 8.

Champs Lose in Overtime

JFU Upset by Rogues, 20-14

By JACK MURRAY

Houdini, with all his magic, couldn't have done a better job of pulling a football game out of the fire than the Rogues did last night in downing JFU 20-14.

The inspired Rogues team sent the game into sudden death overtime by scoring on the last play of the fourth quarter. Then, they came back to win the game on the last play of the four minute overtime period.

JFU jumped off to an early lead in the opening minutes of play on a pass play going from Ray Dosky to Don Vols. The two teams battled scorelessly until the fourth quarter when the Rogues scored on an ariel going from Marv Kaski to Dick Matane.

At this point Vols scored again to put the JFU's back into the lead. This lead held until the last play of the game when Kaski hit and Henry Noller with a touchdown pass. The extra point was added to send the game into overtime.

Marv Kaski proved to be the man of the hour by intercepting a JFU pass on the last play of the overtime period. He flipped a short pass to Van-Burneister who scored the game winning touchdown after a run of 50 yards.

Innocent 25, Manor Mice 0

Scoring in every period, the powerful Innocents rolled over a determined, but out-manned Manor Mice squad by a 25-0 score.

Bob Jones proved to be the big gun for the Innocents by passing for three touchdowns and adding another himself. Jones scored his team's first tally in the opening period by gathering in a Keith McClellan aerial.

MSC Cameraman On Job 31 Years

On a crisp fall Saturday 31 years ago, a young man with a movie camera roamed the sidelines of Old College Field while the MAC Aggies took a 27-7 pasting from Creighton.

He was taking movies of that game—the first game movies in the school's history.

Today that same young man — a bit gray about the temples — is still making Michigan State's football films.

He's Everett Huby (pronounced Hugh-B), a senatorial-looking native of Rhode Island who heads the college movie corps. His headquarters are in the photo lab in the Ag Hall basement.

Things have changed since that day in 1923. The Aggies are now the Spartans, and Ralph Young, their coach, is now the recently retired athletic director of MSC.

Huby no longer runs up and down the sidelines. He has a special camera room in the Macklin Field press box.

"Besides being more convenient up there, it's a lot safer," he said. "In the old days I had to get as close to the play as possible. Sometimes I got too close. The players ran right over me."

Like the time Huby wound up next to the ball-carrier under a pile of Spartans and Wolverines.

"I lost a camera on that one," he smiled.

Huby was just a young man with an idea when he approached Ralph Young in 1923 and suggested he take movies of all the games for State.

At that time there had never been a full-game movie in these parts, although the newsreels had recorded the high spots of some big games. In fact, that was what gave Huby the idea. He had been filming newsreels for Reo Motors.

Young liked the idea, but had to explain some of the fine points of the college budget. So Huby agreed to pay some of the expenses himself.

The results were good, and Young was pleased. Huby was hired to do the most important games from then on. He also did some movies for Fielding Yost at Michigan, and for Patsy Clark and his Detroit Lions.

In 1938, Michigan State hired Huby for a full-time job. He's been doing every Spartan game since.

His work now also includes filming of home basketball, wrestling, gymnastics, hockey and boxing events.

But football is Huby's first love. Every game Saturday, while the bands blare and shoulder pads smack, Huby's 16mm. camera goes quietly clicking on.

Final Vote On A's Issue Due Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League meets today to try to decide—once and for all—whether the Athletics will stay in Philadelphia or move to Kansas City.

First item of business at the special meeting will be a vote on approval of an eight-man syndicate of Philadelphia businessmen as new owners of the A's.

The house of Mack, Connie and his two sons, Roy and Earle, have signed the papers for the transfer of their stock to the syndicate in a deal involving approximately $4,000,000. The money is supposed to be in escrow.

Six of the eight clubs must approve any new owner. Any three can block approval.

It is not a certainty that the league will approve the new Philadelphia deal. If the eight-man syndicate is turned down it will be because of anti-Philadelphia sentiment among the other owners rather than anything objectionable about the individuals involved.

At an Oct. 12 session in Chicago, the league approved Arnold Johnson, Chicago financier, as the new owner, and voted to move the franchise to Kansas City, contingent upon Johnson completing the deal with the house of Mack.

Minnesota's 'New Look' Challenges Spartans

A new coach and a new offensive system will greet the Spartans when they journey to Minneapolis to meet Minnesota's Gophers Saturday.

When the new coach, Murray Warmath, arrived at Minnesota he brought with him a Split-T attack which so far has run roughshod over four opponents.

The only loss came last week, against an inspired U of M team by a 34-0 score.

And it is that shutout loss that has Spartan coaches worried. They reason that the Gophers were upset by a redhot team and that they are sure to rebound against the Spartans.

The other facet of the Gopher picture that is bothering Duffy Daugherty and his staff is the overall weight of the men from the northland.

Williams, Musial in Tight Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, a couple of baseball's all-time great hitters, are running one-two in the lifetime batting averages among major league players active during the 1954 campaign.

Williams, who hit .345 this past season, kept his lifetime mark for 13-years at .348, the top figure among American Leaguers.

Musial, also a 13-year veteran, heads the active National Leaguers with a .344 average. The Cards' slugger batted .330 in '54 and lost one point on his lifetime mark, statistics computed by the Associated Press show.

All told, 18 players—nine in each league—finished the 1954 season with lifetime percentages of .300 or better.

The other American players in that select group are Dale Mitchell, Cleveland, .315; Billy Goodman, Boston, .310; George Kell and Minnie Minoso, Chicago, .309 each; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit, .308; Johnny Pesky, Washington, .307; Bobby Avila, Cleveland, .306 and Enos Slaughter, New York, .304.

National Leaguers with .300 or better lifetime marks covering at least two full seasons are Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, .319; Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia, .312; Duke Snider, Brooklyn and Don Mueller, New York, .307 apiece; Smokey Burgess, Philadelphia, .305; Willie Mays, New York, .304; Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati, .301 and Carl Furillo, Brooklyn, .300.

While it will be a telling factor in the long run, some of the coaches believe that for the first part of the game that weight may hamper the Gophers.

Assistant Coach Burt Smith, who has scouted the Minnesota attack, believes that the difference last week was U of M's speed, which got them ahead of the Gophers.

All three are of the type, running hard up the field instead of wide around the backs. This year the Spartans have been in the backfield duties have been split between Dale Quist and Cappalletti. Recent reports of the Gopher camp have Quist been moved to the spot for the Spartan game.

Cappalletti is ranked ninth passer in the conference and the top punter. He averages 7.1 yards per throw while Baumgartner is with a 6.7 average per throw.

Apparently dissatisfied with the loss to the U of M, Warmath also done some changing in the line. He has moved two team ends, Phil McGraw and Franz Kneke, to the first to replace Ron Smith and Soltau.

The rest of the line finds Andrus and Chuck Kuback tackles and Bob Hagaman and Rocky Elton at the guard.

The center is Chuck Starnes who replaced Co-Capt. Jernigan early in the season. The latter injured his eye and sidelined for the season.

STUDYING MADE SIMPLE

I have passed my thirty-fifth birthday, and my dewlaps droop. My transmission needs oil. More and more my eyes turn to reminiscing, sifting the past, browsing lovingly among my souvenirs for at my time of life memories are all a man has.

And most precious are the memories of college. It still makes pulses quicken and my old glands leap to life just to think of it. Ah, it was something then! "Swiftly" my friends used to call me. "Rakish" or "Candle-at-both-ends" or "Devil Take the Hindmost." My phone was ringing all the time. "Come on, Devil-Take-Hindmost," a cohort would say, "let's pile into the old car and live up a storm. I know a place that serves all-brain after lunch."

So it went—night after mad night, kicks upon kicks, sport wrinkled care derides, laughter holding both his sides. "Candle-at-both-ends," my companions would plead, "sing us other two hundred verses of Sweet Violet."

"No, my companions," I would reply with a gentle but firm "we must turn homeward for the cock has long since crowed."

"Was not the cock," they would answer, laughing. "Twas Sam Leghorn doing his imitation of a chicken!"

And, sure enough, 'twas. Crazy, madcap Sam Leghorn. He missed his gaiety and wit! I never tired of hearing his imitation of a chicken, nor he of giving it. I wonder what's become of him. I heard he was working as a weathervane in Tacoma.

Oh, we were a wild and jolly gang in those days. There was Leghorn with his poultry imitations. There was Maria Wata who always wore a lampshade on her head. There was Freddie who stole a dean. There was Cap Queeg who always carried steel marbles in his hand. There was Emily Hamp who glared at her house mother.

Yes, we were wild and jolly, and the wildest and jolliest was I. But not right away. I blush to admit that in my freshman year I was dull, stodgy, and normal. I finally corrected this foolish condition, but for a while it was touch and go. And, dear reader, especially dear freshman reader—be warned! It can happen to you. I can give you than the following: College can be beautiful. De-louse it up with studying.

That was my mistake. At first, cowed by college, I studied so hard that I turned into a dreary, blinking creature, subject to drowsiness and fainting fits. For a year this dismal condition prevailed—until I learned the real function of college. And what a thrill it was! You what: to prepare you to face the realities of the world. I'll tell you how: not by keeping your nose in a book. Of course you have to study, but be poised about it. Don't be like some who spend every single night buried in a book. Not only are they learning poorly; they are also eroding their eyeballs. The truly good student knows better than to make the whole semester his study. He knows that the night before the exam is plenty of time to study.

Yes, I've heard that lots of people have condemned cramming. I have you heard who these people are? They are the electric light and power interests, that's who! They want you to sit up late and every night so you'll use more electricity and enrich their coffers. Don't be a sucker!

Clearly, cramming is the only sensible way to study. But even cramming can be overdone. Take it easy on the night before your exam, eat a hearty dinner. Then get a date and go out and another hearty dinner. Then go park, somplace and light up Philip Morris. Enjoy the peaceful pleasure it offers. Don't study until you're good and relaxed. Do not, however, fall asleep. This is relaxed. To insure wakefulness, choose a chair that is not comfortable. For example, take a chair with rails pointing through the seat—or a chair in which somebody is already seated.

Place several packs of Philip Morris mild tobacco helps you to relax, and that's what Philip Morris is good for. But Philip Morris is more than just good mild tobacco; it is also cigarette paper to keep the good mild tobacco from spilling all over the place.

Now you've got the uncomfortable chair and the Philip Morris. Now you need light. Use the lit end of your Philip Morris. Do not enrich the electric power interests.

Read your textbook in a slow, poised manner. Do not understand. That's who! They want you to sit up late and every night so you'll use more electricity and enrich their coffers. Don't be a sucker!

As you read you will no doubt come across many things you don't understand. But don't panic. Relax. Play some records. Relax. Go out and catch some night crawlers. Relax. Be poised. Stay loose. And remember—if things really don't in, you can always take up teaching.

This column is brought to you by the makers of PHILIP MORRIS who think you would enjoy their cigarette.

Spartans Lose Battle of Paper During Big 10 Play

Rank High Offensively, Low on Defense

By DONN SHELTON

The football games aren't won or lost on paper, the figures that show up on paper give good reasons the games are won or lost—especially in the case of Michigan State.

Spartans, who have a 1-3 in Big 10 play this year, are one of the best "paper offenses" in the conference and one of the worst defenses.

They are ranked eighth in offense and seventh in defense according to statistics released by the Western Conference Bureau, Wednesday.

Spartan offensive machine is in good showing right now. The Spartans averaged 24.2 yards on kick-off returns, tops in conference for this department.

During the course of the average, the Spartans picked up 278 yards, for a fifth ranking. However, they averaged 15.5 first downs per game, for the lead with Ohio State, when the Spartans were the ball to the other team, into difficulty.

Opponents pile up total yardage than any team's foes except Illinois' (the Illinois are winless conference play). The Spartans have averaged 335.8 yards per game this year.

Rushing defense the Spartans eighth in the conference with a mark of 198.2 yards per game. Only Illinois and Indiana (winless) have allowed yardage on the ground.

It is on pass defense that Spartans look poorest. They allowed more yardage in 1954 (127.6 yards) than any team and their opponents mark stands at 638, third in Indiana's mark of which is next in line.

In addition, Spartan opponents averaged 11.7 yards per pass and a first down every time.

They added up to an average of 10.5 yards per game for the Spartans in that department and 15.3 points for their opponents.

Spartan have averaged only 1.5 yards per game in penalties, only to Northwestern's 20 average.

Statistic sheets do build for the Spartans, however, and for this week's game with Minnesota.

Gophers have allowed 15.7 yards per game but have scored 11 per game themselves.

They have, however, one of the best passing offenses in the conference. Primarily a running team, Gophers have thrown only 13 passes per game and have completed 13 passes for the worst mark of the conference.

Gophers can run the ball well. They have averaged 5.14 yards per rushing play this year and first down every other play.

One other team (OSU) runs more than four yards per play.

By average 239.7 yards per game on the ground to pace the Spartans in that department.

On paper the game shapes as a battle of the Big 10's best passing offense against conference's worst pass defense and a mediocre ground defense against the top rushing offense.

Football games aren't won or lost on paper.

UofM, OSU Top Big 10 Statistics

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big 10 team football standings and statistical department jibe perfectly.

The unbeaten co-leaders, Ohio State and Michigan, head the league offensively and defensively, respectively, official statistics disclosed Wednesday.

The Buckeyes in their four conference games have averaged 29.8 points. That gives them top offensive ranking even though Purdue, in two loop games, has averaged a better total gain, 331 yards to 305. Purdue's scoring average is only 16.5 per game.

Surprising Michigan, last Saturday blanketing favored Minnesota, 34-0, moved in front defensively with a three game yield of 202 yards per game, 140 by rushing and 62 by passing.

Ohio State's well-blended attack is emphasized by the fact the Buckeyes average 4.4 yards per rush and 6.8 per pass. Purdue, although topping Ohio State's per play average, 5.18 yards to 4.86, has moved chiefly through the air with a 10.97 average per pass against only 2.73 per rush.

Wisconsin is second defensively, largely off a yield of only 91 yards per game rushing. Yet it was a pass interception, by Ohio State's Howie Camardy for 88 yards, which turned the tide against the Badgers at Columbus, Ohio, last Saturday.

In the cases of two Big 10 tail-enders, Indiana and Northwestern, the theory that possession play is advantageous falls flat.

Spartan opponents averaged 11.7 yards per pass and a first down every time.

They added up to an average of 10.5 yards per game for the Spartans in that department and 15.3 points for their opponents.

Spartan have averaged only 1.5 yards per game in penalties, only to Northwestern's 20 average.

Statistic sheets do build for the Spartans, however, and for this week's game with Minnesota.

Gophers have allowed 15.7 yards per game but have scored 11 per game themselves.

By average 239.7 yards per game on the ground to pace the Spartans in that department.

On paper the game shapes as a battle of the Big 10's best passing offense against conference's worst pass defense and a mediocre ground defense against the top rushing offense.

'Hopeful and Confident'

MSC Ready for Gophers

The Michigan State football team will leave for Minnesota tonight at 7, favorites for the fifth time this year.

Although they have lived up to that tag only once, the Spartans are hopeful and confident of winning Saturday.

As Coach Duffy Daugherty so aptly put it, "The team and I are sick of losing, it's about time we started winning some games."

Although official statistics haven't been released, at least three of the traveling Spartans will be among the leaders in the individual Big 10 races this week.

Earl Morrall, Spartan quarterback, had a good day against Purdue and should rank near the top in the conference total offense department.

His punting during the Boiler-maker game was better than his average and he should also move up in that department.

End Jim Hinesly, who entered the game as the league's top pass catcher, is in no serious danger of losing that title. He had a commanding lead and caught two passes for 30 yards to add to his margin.

Johnny Matsoch, who was leading the league in punt returns, will probably hold that lead, and he may add another one.

The Spartan scatback ran a Boiler-maker kick-off back 56 yards which may result in the kick-off return leadership.

Also adding to the optimism about the Minnesota game is the return to form of Co-Capt. Leroy Bolden.

The diminutive halfback has apparently shaken off his early season leg injuries and is ready to go. He got into the Purdue game briefly and sparked the team to its last touchdown, throwing a key block to set up the score and then carrying the ball the last six yards.

The second and third stringers scrimmaged Wednesday, while the top team ran signal drills. Line-up experimenting was very low as the coaches worked with the players who will make the Minnesota trip.

The squad will arrive at Minneapolis tonight and go directly to their hotel. They will work-out Friday in the usual pre-game drills.

Purdue's Dawson Rates High

West Coast Stars Lead Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—George Shaw of Oregon and Paul Larson of California are making a private fight of this season's major college individual football offense statistical race, NCAA Service Bureau figures showed Thursday.

Shaw leads in total offense with 1,848 yards while Larson is the leading passer with 68 completions, and each is the runner-up in the other department. Luppino is the top ball carrier with 718 yards rushing and Dawson moved into third place in total offense by producing the season's biggest one-game total Saturday, 285 yards against Michigan State.

Larson is the defending champion in total yardage, but he's not making much headway against Shaw, even though he's maintaining his own 1953 pace.

As a passer, Larson is showing unprecedented accuracy. With 104 attempts, he has a completion average of 65.4 per cent. No one else has ever had so high a percentage for 100 attempts, even temporarily. He's running ahead of the season record for a minimum of 100 attempts, and seems pretty sure to pass the 150-attempt minimum for which the record is still lower.

The 100-try mark is 63.1 per cent, set by Oklahoma's Hugh McCullough in 1938, and it's the oldest season passing record in the books. The 150-pass standard is 60.9 per cent, set in 1906 by Washington's Don Heinrich.

During Dawson's big day the Purdue star made 273 of his yards by passing and raised his total offense to 804. Although he's only seventh in completions with 43, his average gain-per-attempt is a gaudy 10.6 yards, far ahead of anyone else among the leading passers. And he's even ahead of the field in touchdowns passed with 12, to seven for Boston University's Tom Gastall, Alabama's Al Elmore and Southern California's Jim Contratto.

Although Dawson is the only "first down per try" high ranking passer, there are two runners in that class. Army's Tommy Bell has 12.1 yards a try and Colorado's Frank Bernardi 11.2.

Luppino has a comfortable lead in rushing yardage, 62 yards on second-place. John Rayuk of Colorado, who has 651.

Cage Clinic Announced

Basketball coach Forrest (Fordy) Anderson, has announced a two-day clinic for high school coaches, Nov. 19-20.

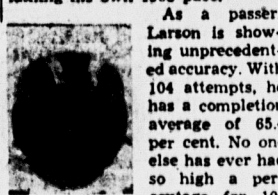

Anderson said the clinic is designed to acquaint Michigan coaches with the style of play which he intends to install at State.

"I also want to meet as many high school coaches as possible," Anderson said. "Our staff would like to exchange ideas and experiences with them, since both may benefit by this."

The program includes individual and team offense, fast break, individual and team defense, court demonstration and special offenses and defenses.

Visiting coaches will attend the Michigan State and Marquette football game, Nov. 20, as guests of the college.

Wolverines in Top Shape

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines worked Wednesday on defenses against the Hoosier invasion Saturday, while warning continued that Indiana was a vastly underrated football team.

The Wolverines, however, appeared to be in about the best physical shape possible for the Indiana battle. Right halfback Tony Branoff continued to run without difficulty. His main replacement, Ed Hickey, was also running with the team. But the final word on Hickey's cracked ribs would not be known until X-rays today.

Dave Hill, who has been doubling as left halfback and fullback was out the first two days of this week with an ankle injury, which he suffered when he tripped on a rug at home. But he was back Wednesday and the ankle appeared better.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan drilled the team for the second straight day on pass defense.

Treasurer's Report
Given to Congress

Government Treasurer Russ Palmer reported an approximate expenditure of $1,515.65 so far this term from the 1900 government budget at Wednesday night's Student Congress meeting.

Prof Abell to Talk
On New Theory

Prof. Walter Abell, of the art department, will address the meeting of the American Society for Aesthetics to be held at the University of Indiana today through Saturday.

He will discuss "Psychological Aspects of the Psycho-Historical Theory." This is an original theory of cultural dynamics on which Prof. Abell has been working for the past 10 years. He explains the theory as an outgrowth of efforts to connect studies in the humanities with psychology and the social sciences.

X-Rays Offered

No appointments are needed for the free chest X-rays being offered next week to MSC faculty and employees. Dr. R. H. Rasmussen of Olin Health Center reported.

The free service will be available from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 2 p.m., Nov. 1 through 5.

Ike

continued. "But Secretary Weeks, as the other Republican leaders, refuses to see that workers are engaged in commerce, just as well as the manufacturers. He said that the information is available only to auto manufacturers.

"The automobile workers invest their economic existence in the industry. They should have every opportunity to plan their lives so that they may cushion themselves against such lengthy layoffs as have taken place."

"Philip A. Hart, Democratic nominee for lieutenant-governor, told Jackson County audiences that "One of our greatest sources of strength is growing conviction of businessmen that in the long haul the Democratic party has more of the best medicine for most of the people."

"We don't claim to have all the answers, nor do we claim that we are all good and Republicans all bad," Hart said. "We simply believe that it is in the exchange of ideas that real progress has its birth."

"The central Republican theme of one-party rule in Lansing as a necessity does not have foundation in fact," Hart continued. "The last two times there was a Republican governor and a Republican legislature in Lansing, history tells us the era was famous solely for squabbling, stagnation and struggles for power."

The AFL-Michigan Federation of Teachers came out against adoption of Amendment No. 2, the so-called Conlin Plan, in the Nov. 2 voting. But the Michigan Division of the American Ass'n. of University Women advocated its passage.

The amendment would put distribution of sales tax revenues to schools on a current basis.

Big 4

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Prime Minister Yoshida of Japan, Premier Mendes-France of France and Queen Mother Elizabeth of England. Evidently referring to Adenauer and the Queen Mother, he said that two of the four are old and good friends. He went on to praise Adenauer, arriving today, as one of the great statesmen of this time and a man animated by good sense, devoted to the well-being of his people and to world peace.

4. He may send some nominations and treaties to the special Senate session to be held immediately after the congressional elections.

Some consideration has been given, it was learned elsewhere, to submitting the Southeast Asian treaty signed in September, and pending agreements on German rearmament, for study by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with a view to early action at the session convening in January.

Prof Makes Trip

Dr. Ernest B. Harper, head of social work, will leave today to go to Chicago for the American Public Welfare Association Committee's annual fall meeting on social welfare, education, and personnel of the APWA.

The total consumption of hard liquor, wine and beer in Sweden is lower than in England, Belgium or France.
