Police Change Parking Rules

By CHUCK MILLER
State News Associate Editor

Due to the expected increase in the number of visitors to campus during the Centennial year, and especially Founder's Week, the college has changed the parking regulations.

Tickets Qued Over Weekend

King Violations at Numerous

Due to a large number of weekend violations, Lt. Aniese Ellis of the Police expressed his concern over the situation.

Due to the vast number of violations for parking on campus, last week tickets were issued.

Regulations permit driving on campus on weekdays after 6 p.m. on week-ends after 7 p.m. but that doesn't mean you can park, Ellis said.

When given a ticket, the offender must say, "But, I said I could drive on campus." Ellis said.

Officers have been instructed to ask the inquirer if he is a student. If not, he is not permitted to park on campus.

Students desire more parking, they will first have to follow the rules, Ellis said.

Founder's Day Convo Tickets Now Available

Students will have a chance at noon today to pick up free tickets to the Founder's Day Convocation, Feb. 12.

Dr. James B. Conant, U. S. High Commissioner for Germany and former president of Harvard University, will speak on "An Old Tradition in a New World."

A limit of two tickets per person has been set. One thousand seats in the Auditorium have been reserved for students.

Tickets will be available at the Union ticket office, Kellogg Center, the Centennial office, Section B, 10 Wells Hall, and the Alumni office, second floor Union.

The Convocation, to be held at 3 p.m. in the Aud., will be preceded by a formal academic procession, including representatives of colleges and universities of the world, learned societies, major foundations, student governments, prominent educators, business and industrial leaders, and the MSC faculty.

Honorary degrees will be awarded to several national figures who have made outstanding contributions to the American way of life. Dr. Kenneth Wilson, Founder's Day chairman, said.

Centennial Stamp Cover Cancelling To Begin Tuesday

Students and faculty are asked not to send first-day Centennial stamp covers to the East Lansing Post Office for cancellation until next Tuesday.

The covers will be accepted by the East Lansing office on that date, after the new East Lansing Postmaster takes office.

First day stamp covers may be mailed, together with a money order covering cost of Centennial stamps, to the Lansing postmaster.

Official first day covers are available at the Union Book Store for those who ordered them previously. The covers will not be on general sale until Feb. 12.

The official covers are small white envelopes, imprinted with the college seal, a drawing of Beaumont Tower, and the words "first day of issue, official first day cover." A card bearing greetings from Michigan State College is issued with the covers and may be inserted in the envelopes for mailing.

House Gives Ike OK On Formosa Policy

Lull Comes In Chinese Civil War

Nationalists May
Plan Withdrawal

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A lull settled over the Chinese civil war front Tuesday as Nationalist officials presumably wrestled with the problem of evacuating the Tachens under the guns of the Reds.

The first dribble of refugees from the Tachens, 20 miles north of Formosa, arrived at the port of Keelung near Taipei, possibly foreshadowing the withdrawal of the island's garrison under the wing of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

There were 193 refugees, including 18 sick and wounded Nationalist soldiers and widows and orphans of men who fell in the defense of Yikiangshan, an island eight miles north of the Tachens which was seized by the Reds last week.

While they sailed from the Tachens in two Nationalist destroyers, on the final leg they passed through waters protected by the 7th Fleet.

Peiping radio, showing nervousness over the 7th Fleet movements, referred to the arrival of three more U.S. carriers in Formosan waters and charged the fleet was armed with atomic bombs.

A broadcast heard in Tokyo said that "United States intrigues for the so-called cease-fire through the United Nations good offices is an utter deceit to cover up new war provocations."

This was an echo of Premier Chou En-lai's declaration of the previous day that Red China would liberate Formosa, a cease-fire was unacceptable, and the U. S. 7th Fleet "must" quit Formosan waters.

There was no report of action along the tense Red coast and the Nationalist offshore islands save the routine patrol of Nationalist planes, but there were rounds of conferences on Formosa.

Rear Adm. Frederick N. Kivett, who commands the Formosa Strait patrol unit of the 7th Fleet, arrived at the South Formosan port of Keelung on his flagship Salisbury Sound from Hong Kong. He is expected here shortly.

Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, 7th Fleet commander, remained in Taipei but was expected to rejoin the fleet soon.

While the Nationalists are reluctant to give up the strongly defended Tachens without a battle, it was expected orders would go to the 7th Fleet to evacuate the military defenders as soon as the U. S. Congress acts on President Eisenhower's recommendations.

Most discussion at the veterans' meeting centered around housing restrictions.

10 Vacant Seats Must Be Filled Student Congress Petitions Due Today

By JERRY JENNINGS

Candidates for vacant Student Congress seats to be filled in next week's election must have their petitions turned in to the student government office by 5 p.m. today. Elections Commissioner Jan Dempsey announced.

Trip Abroad Union Board To Set Plans

Europe for the summer, anyone?

That's the question Union Board wants to find out at a meeting for all interested students tonight in the Union Ballroom at 7.

A representative of the travel agency that Union Board is working with will be present to answer all questions about the trip.

Studies of various scenes on the 38-day tour will be shown. The trip will cover Germany, England, Italy, France and the Low Countries.

Cost of the tour will be $1,131-30. This price represents a savings to students, according to Union Board, since it is handling most of the clerical work in arranging the tour.

No far, petitions have been turned in from the following districts: West Shaw, one; Phillips, one; fraternities, one; Bryn, one; East Lansing, one; and Lansing, two.

Two petitions are required for each vacant seat before the vacancy can be put on the ticket. Bryn is the only district which has filled this requirement. No petitions at all have been received from Lansing and the sororities.

If only one petition is entered for a vacancy, the petitioner is automatically elected. If no petitions are entered, the first person to turn in a petition after the elections are held will get the seat.

Petitions can be picked up in the government office, third floor Union. They must be circulated by the candidates personally, and must have the signatures of 35 qualified voters from the district which the candidate would represent.

Primary elections will be held Feb. 1 in any districts where enough candidates have entered to warrant them. Final elections will be held Feb. 3.

A voting box will be set up in the Union Concourse, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on election days, for fraternities, sororities, East Lansing and Lansing districts. Voting will be held in the dormitories during regular meal hours.

409-3 Vote To Fight If Necessary

President Calls It
'Remarkable Unity'

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a swift and extraordinary display of unity, the House voted 409-3 Tuesday to empower President Eisenhower to wage war if necessary to save Formosa.

Eisenhower termed the House action on his urgent request a sign of "remarkable unity in the interest of the nation's security."

Now it is up to the Senate to act. The vote may come Thursday or Friday.

Two Republicans, Reps. Siler of Kentucky and Sheehan of Illinois, and a single Democrat, Barden of North Carolina, refused to go along with Eisenhower's bid to declare America's determination to fight, if need be, to keep Red China from conquering the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa and the nearby Pescadore Islands.

In the debate leading up to the vote in a tense chamber, only the voice of Rep. Fulton (R-Pa.) cried out that the resolution goes too far. In the end, Fulton went out voting for it.

The resolution puts almost solid House support behind Eisenhower's plan to try to halt the Red Chinese before they strike, by holding over them the threat that the big guns and air power of the U.S. 7th Fleet will hit an invading force wherever it may be massing—even on the Chinese mainland.

It calls, too, for the American armada to redeploy Chinese Nationalist troops scattered over numerous small islands off the mainland. This could mean, for example, evacuation of the Tachens Islands, 20 miles north of Formosa.

Over the House hung a grim awareness that the situation can mean war, if the Chinese Reds follow through on their repeatedly announced aim of "liberating" Formosa. But member after member said the greater risk lay in no action at all.

Rep. Holtfield (D-Calif.) called the resolution a "contingency declaration of war." While he accused Eisenhower of political "duplicitous" on the issue, he said "we cannot afford to do other than go along" for the sake of presenting a united front to the Communist world.

Several Democrats, Speaker Rayburn among them, contended the Constitution already gives the President all the authority he asked of Congress.

Rayburn declared the resolution should not serve as a precedent that might prevent fast action by the chief executive in some future emergency without waiting for Congress to okay it.

"Some time," Rayburn said, "12 hours may be too long."

Rep. Judd (R-Minn.), once a medical missionary in China, told the applauding House, "There's risk if we pass this resolution. There's infinitely greater risk if we don't."

Chairman Richards (D-SC), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, asked how other nations in the shadow of Red China can be expected to "stand up" unless the United States is willing to fight to stop further aggression.

The House took legislative short cuts to swing into action just 38 hours after Eisenhower sent his request to Congress. It didn't even use up the full three hours of debate allotted to the resolution.

Tickets Yet

Five dollar tickets for the Hop's "formal" night Saturday, Feb. 5, are still available at the Union Ticket Office.

Ripe for Repeal

Discrimination Bill Faces Test

"A bill designed to lessen and eliminate discrimination at Michigan State."

That's the heading on a measure passed by Student Congress on March 7, 1951.

It was aimed at fraternity and sorority discrimination in barring certain racial and religious groups from membership.

"All campus organizations and living units which have national and/or local constitutional structures which contain 'discriminatory clauses' which limit or prohibit membership because of race or religion, must eliminate such clauses by Oct. 15, 1956, as a condition of recognition at Michigan State College," the bill states.

Later, the bill excludes religious groups from the rule's coverage.

A noble effort, this bill. It's a sincere measure to combat something which should never exist on any college campus—discrimination by race or religion.

But you don't solve such a deep-rooted problem by passing a piece of legislation in Student Congress.

Back when the bill was approved, the deadline, Oct. 15, 1956, seemed a long way off. It was—more than five and a half years.

Right now, that date is less than 20 months away.

Bill Hurst, student government president, is worried about the bill. He's wondering what's going to happen in 1956 when a future student government finds this bill on the record and discovers that it's impossible to enforce.

As well-meaning as members of the 1951 Student Congress were, they overlooked a few things.

In the first place, and of tremendous importance, is the fact that student government has no power to deny recognition to fraternities and sororities at MSC. The only groups it can make demands upon are those to which it issues charters.

Only group which is empowered to grant or deny MSC recognition to a sorority or fraternity is that group which has the task of running the school—the Administration.

Thus, the 1951 Student Congress was running up a blind alley in attempting to lay down regulations for fraternities and sororities.

There were other sections in the 1951 bill that needed year-by-year enforcement by the student government, but they have seldom been touched.

Like this one:

"All campus organizations and living units which are members of a national organization whose constitutional structures contain such discriminatory clauses shall be required to present a motion on the floor at their respective national and regional conventions asking for the removal of such clauses, support and vote positively for such motion."

Furthermore, the bill provided that such campus groups had to report to the student government president at the start of each school year to report on the action taken at their last regional or national convention.

Failure to do this each year would result in denial of MSC recognition "until such clauses are removed."

This section has not been enforced by student government.

Neither has the one that says no new organization will be allowed to organize on campus with a discriminatory clause in its constitutional structure.

Fraternities and sororities have started at MSC since the bill was passed and seldom has an effort been made to check on discriminatory clauses.

For instance, the last fraternity to get a national charter at MSC completed negotiations this past summer. No attempt was ever made in the fall by student government to check on a discriminatory clause—whether one existed in the fraternity's constitution or not.

As for the Oct. 15, 1956, deadline, there is some leeway given by the 1951 measure.

If a group still has a discriminatory clause on that date, it can escape "denial of recognition" by showing a letter from the national headquarters showing that the MSC chapter has complied with the bill in attempting to remove discriminatory clauses at conventions.

Student governments would be forced to take the Greeks' word for it that they had sincerely opposed the discriminatory clauses at conventions.

The biggest point remains, however, that student government does not have the power to enforce the bill when the deadline rolls around.

The only alternative, as we see it then, is for Student Congress to repeal it in entirety at the earliest possible moment.

True, killing the bill will kill a sincere effort to oust the last remnants of discrimination from a college campus. And no form of discrimination has any right at MSC. It's a big problem. What's the answer? We'll give you ours Thursday.

FLIGHTS DELAY FLIGHT

HONOLULU (P)—The airliner was fully loaded with passengers and ready to pull away from the ramp when the traffic representative dashed from the plane and shouted into the field phone:

"Call Cargo. There's 30 canaries loose in the forward hatch."

The plane was delayed several minutes as attendants recaptured the canaries, part of a cargo of 3,750 canaries being shipped from Tokyo to New York.

Charity Change

Let Those Mothers March, Congress

The March of Dimes is currently conducting its annual campaign for funds to provide care and research for infantile paralysis victims.

The polio drive doesn't come under Campus Chest, the student organization which conducts a once-a-year drive on behalf of seven student charities and the Lansing Community Chest.

The March of Dimes ministers to a worthy cause.

But the united drives, like Campus Chest, operate under a worthy principle which cuts both overhead costs and the number of appeals.

And that's why Student Congressmen will be faced with a problem tonight.

Recognizing the advantages of a single, concerted charity drive, a previous Congress provided that Campus Chest would make the only charity solicitation on campus.

But the March of Dimes is one of a few national charity organizations which insist on staging its own independent appeal for funds.

And because the national organization declines to participate in Campus Chest and other united fund drives, local March of Dimes officials have asked permission to solicit in the married housing area Thursday night.

What does the Congressman do?

Should he deny a worthwhile charity the chance to raise funds? Or should he stand by the united drive principle and support the now-improving Campus Chest set-up?

He'd probably like to have a chance to pass the buck back to the March of Dimes' national organization, giving it another opportunity to enter the cooperative drives.

But he won't have that chance. So his best alternative is passage of the bill which makes possible more than just one solicitation in college housing each year.

The bill would allow campus housing governing bodies, like married housing's Spartan Village Council or the dormitory councils, to request approval of additional charity solicitations in their living units.

The new bill still provides for discussion and action on the governing body's request. But the present blanket "no" to the extra appeals—which probably couldn't be enforced anyway—would be removed.

Approval of the bill tonight would mean congressional sanction of the Mothers' March for Polio, which is scheduled for Thursday in the married housing areas.

Married housing's Spartan Village Council has already reversed a previous decision and said the mothers should be allowed to collect funds to fight polio.

And Student Congress should take similar action.

Unknowns No Mystery As Terps Win, 52-27

ysko Hits 7 Points Rout

Vets Top Apaches
In Last Second

By JOHN LOFGREN

In last half scoring surge led the Terrapins to defeat the Unknowns, 52-27, Saturday night. The rangy players were led by Joe Bysko and Elmer Knoblock with 16 points respectively. Bysko, along with Bysko and Knoblock, had complete control under the boards, both on offense and the defensive rebounding.

Miller, Unknown guard, led the losers with 13 points, from the outside of the Terrapin defense. Vets 1, 30; Apaches 28.

Alick, Vets 1 forward, led on a rebound in the last minute to give his team the margin of victory, 30-28. Up to that point in the game, the independent squads traded points evenly. The Apaches' Knoblock matched Alick's points to share high points for the contest.

Man Club 31; Oldtimers 25. In a last half rally, the Man Club downed an energetic Oldtimer team, 31-25. John Bysko, driving lay-ups, scored for 14 points in the comeback of the Club's.

er jumping into an early lead, the Oldtimer attack faded and the early advantage cut to 15-14 at halftime. After the intermission, Bysko and John Suffron cooled in their attempts to the Oldtimers in the center. Bysko and Suffron collected 10 points each for the loss.

Colts 24; Calgary Colts 22. Bysko's ball proved to be as fast as the Spastics edged Calgary Colts, 24-22. After the short end of a 12-8 score, the winners ended this alert defensive maneuver to set up the victory. Alick led the attack with 13 points.

Other Scores
Vets 16; Fearless 5, 14. The ancient style of possession basketball, the RXY's defeated the Fearless 5, 16-14. Don Bysko scored all but two of his points on seven 3-point shots and Tru-Straight counted six each for 12 points.

Crazy Cage Race

By DONN SHELTON
State News Sports Editor

The crazy Big 10 basketball race gets tighter each week, with just two and a half games separating the top and bottom teams.

Only four of the teams have been able to win a road game this year, with our Spartans dropping all three of theirs.

In fact, they have dropped 12 in a row, dating back to Feb. 28, 1953, when they beat Purdue, 77-72, at Lafayette.

Their next chance comes Feb. 5, when they travel to Madison to meet Wisconsin, whom they beat here, 94-77.

President John A. Hannah has come out publicly opposing legislative interference with Michigan's colleges and their TV problems.

With Fritz Crisler's similar action, it aligns both MSC and the U of M against legislative action.

And since they are the only two schools in the state that would be affected by any such action, it leaves very little reason why the lawmakers should even go on discussing the idea.

Draft time has arrived in the National Football League, and it finds 15 Spartans eligible.

Most of them will be drafted, or contacted by one of the Canadian clubs but, if past years are any indication, few of them will stick.

Only five former Spartans are now active in the NFL. Dorne Dibble and the recently signed Doug Bobo are with the Lions, while Billy Wells and Al Dorow play with the Redskins and Lynn Chadnois is with the Steelers.

In addition, several ex-Spartans are playing in the Canadian league.

The best bets to be drafted in today's meeting are linemen Hank Bullough and Fred Rody and backs Bert Zagers and Johnny Matsock.

LeRoy Bolden said last fall he had no interest in playing the play-for-pay game but he will probably be drafted by a club willing to gamble on his changing his mind.

The draft will also be of big interest to Detroit Lions fans. The Lions reportedly are on the lookout for defensive tackles and halfbacks and a good reserve quarterback.

So, both Lion fans and Spartan fans will have their eyes on the NFL draft meeting and, who knows, maybe the two interests will merge somewhere along the line.

Wildcats Continue To Top Poll

San Francisco
Jumps to 2nd

By The Associated Press

For the sixth straight week, Kentucky leads the pack in The Associated Press basketball poll with a comfortable margin and no game until Saturday.

Of 114 sports writers and sportscasters voting, 67 picked Kentucky as the No. 1 team in the nation.

Although the experts left Kentucky on top, they shuffled the other members of the top 10.

San Francisco, idle last week, took second place, moving ahead of North Carolina State. Duquesne changed places with La Salle, taking over fourth position. Illinois tumbled from seventh to 10th, dropping a 92-80 game to Iowa.

1 Kentucky (67) (11-1)	1,037
2 San Francisco (10) (12-1)	817
3 N. Carolina State (5) (16-3)	771
4 Duquesne (1) (11-3)	532
5 La Salle (13-4)	461
6 Geo. Washington (9) (13-3)	424
7 Iowa (3) (13-7)	331
8 Maryland (17-3)	271
9 UCLA (1) (11-3)	229
10 Illinois (9-1)	181
11 Marquette (4) (13-1)	145

Scuffle With Fan Earns Lindsay 10-Day Vacation

DETROIT (AP)—Capt. Ted Lindsay of the Detroit Red Wings Tuesday was suspended from National Hockey League play for 10 days as a result of a rinkside scuffle with a fan during a game at Toronto Saturday night.

The order means the Wings will be without the services of their flashy forward for four games scheduled between now and Feb. 4, the day the suspension will be lifted.

More Practice Time Set for IM Cagers

More practice time for IM cagers has been provided by a new system of court allotment announced Tuesday.

The use of the courts will be on a first come, first served basis, with no reservations needed.

The new open times will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:45-10:10 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday, 12:15-2 p.m., and Monday from 4-6 p.m.

In addition, Dem Hall will be open for practice from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on weekdays but reservations will have to be made for that court.

Oh Boy!—It's Snowing

Skiers Prep for Big Outing

While most Spartans were cursing Tuesday's snowstorm, a vast minority of the population was grinning broadly and talking in glowing terms of that "wonderful snow."

The hearty bunch of snow-lovers were Michigan State's skiers, and the heart of the group is the MSC Ski Club.

And the over 200 members of the Ski Club were overjoyed with Tuesday's snow production because they are getting ready for one of the biggest weekends in Spartan history.

This weekend, the club is holding its annual intra-club races at Boyne Mountain.

At the same time, the Avalanche ski run will hold its opening ceremony, highlighted by a torch-light parade on skis.

And over at Caberfae, the annual Caberfae Junior Ski Meet will be held Saturday and Sunday.

Thursday the Ski Club will hold its weekly meeting at 7 p.m. to start the ball rolling for the big weekend.

Plans will be made for the club races and arrangements made for getting the members to the ski area.

In addition, movies of club members on the ski slopes will be shown.

The Ski Club is one of the fastest growing clubs on campus, and the sport is one of the fastest growing in America.

Included in the club's services for the students are club races, ski weekends, tow discounts, beginner's weekends with lessons, overnight reservation arrangements and discounts on ski equipment.

The club also holds an annual banquet and yearly ski races.

The men's races are divided into expert, intermediate and beginner classes, with trophies and awards being made to the winners.

For the coeds, the races will be in the intermediate and beginner classes, with trophies, cups and awards being presented to the winners.

The top 10 men in the expert division will be awarded berths on the MSC Ski Team, to compete in national races.

The awards will be presented at the annual club banquet in Clare on Feb. 28.

The races are for club members only, but new members who join at Thursday's meeting will be eligible.

The club meets every week with demonstrations, talks and movies filling the agenda. Races are arranged through the club for the non-driving members.

Beginners are given special attention, with instructions and a beginners' weekend.

The club members receive reduced rates at the lodges, with the money going back into the club treasury for their annual ski party.

The club varies its center of activity, encompassing Boyne Mountain, Caberfae and Avalanche during the year.

At Boyne Mountain, the club has three of its members on the ski patrol, Andy Foeller, Arv Kallen and Dave Williams.

And what do these people do when the snow melts and the skiing ends?

They sit and talk—about snow and skiing.
