Set With Record in Mind

Good Drive Sign-Ups Begin

By BOB HERMAN
News Managing Editor

Efforts to break Michigan's year-old blood drive record last year remain on going for the Feb. 15 drive.

Signs to sign up at least 100 donors to beat the record set last year will be conducted in living units and the Union throughout the week.

Old MSC mark of 2,100 set in a veterans-sponsored drive last year remains unbroken for eastern universities.

It is surpassed only by the West Coast, which had 4,600 in one drive.

will set up registration outside dining halls at 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a special effort made to schedule faculty and staff donors in the noon to 5 p.m. hours.

The advance registration is necessary, Ferris said, so that Red Cross officials can plan the amount of professional personnel and equipment they will need.

He said the advance scheduling also moves donors through the donation process faster and eliminates any delays for both students and blood drive workers.

Almost anyone between 18 and 30 can give blood. Past MSC drives have shown that nine of 10 students who volunteered were able to contribute.

Blood from the drive will go initially to the Lansing Regional Blood Bank of the American Red Cross.

Ferris urged all who signed to work at the Union registration desk to show up at their hours.

New Spartan Introduced By Coeds

Twelve 1955 Calendar girls will publicize the February Spartan magazine this afternoon at 4 in the Union concourse. The coeds, members of Delta Gamma sorority, will each represent a different month. At this time Cliff McDermott, promotion manager, will also introduce the first Spartan cover girl.

The Jazz Club combo will also take part. Each month's issue will be preceded by such a program. A different sorority presenting a different theme will appear each month.

Sales of the February issue open Tuesday. Each copy will have a ballot attached to its cover. The ballot, good for one vote, is to be used in selecting the March Spartix Pix. Students may vote for any coed since the ballots contain no specific candidate.

Ballot boxes will be placed near all sales stands. All ballots must be in the boxes by 5 p.m. Wednesday. The coed receiving the highest number of votes will be declared March Spartix Pix. The Centennial issue of the Spartan contains Campus Cavalcade, "a brief picture record of human interest events as they occurred during the first hundred years." Other special features are "You Were There," a television flashback to the animal husbandry barn fire in 1907, "The Golden Pageant," and the "Second Centennial" an Orwellian description of MSC one hundred years hence. In addition to Kieptomania and Spartix Pix the magazine presents a questionnaire designed by Dr. Andre Blumir to reveal personality traits.

Centennial Speakers Emphasize The Responsibility of Education

Timely Reappraisal

Hannah Looks To Future

Pres. John A. Hannah Saturday night called for a "definition of education to fit the times," and paid tribute to MSC's founding fathers for "their wisdom in charting the course of American education."

Centennial Stamp Sale Opens Here

The nation's third stamp honoring a college or university was formally presented Saturday morning in Brody Hall Lounge.

A green three-cent stamp commemorating the Centennial celebrations of MSC and Pennsylvania State University went on sale for the first time in East Lansing.

Albert J. Robertson, assistant U. S. Postmaster General, made the presentation.

Outlining the historical background of the stamp, he commented on the publicity value of the issue, saying that 110 million Centennial stamps had been printed and would be used all over the world. He also extended greetings from the U. S. Postmaster General, Arthur Summerfield.

Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State, brought greetings from his school. Discussing the ideas which were developed in the land-grant college system, he commented that the Post Office Department and others were honoring those ideas, not merely two institutions.

Lyle B. Austin, Lansing postmaster, congratulated the colleges on their celebrations.

Dean Herman J. Wyngarden of the School of Business and Public Service discussed the relationship between stamps and education.

Dr. Lloyd S. Emmons, dean-emeritus of the School of Science and Arts, was master of ceremonies.

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. C. Brandt Tefft of the Peoples Church.

Souvenir albums were presented to Gov. William M. E. Eisenhower, Pres. John A. Hannah, Clark L. Brody, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture; James H. Denison, chairman of the faculty Centennial committee; William A. Burgess, East Lansing postmaster, Austin and Robertson.

Set aside for later presentation were albums for President Dwight D. Eisenhower; George M. Leader, governor of Pennsylvania; and James Milholland, president of the Board of Trustees of Penn State.

Happy Valentine's Day

Hint of Spring? Valentine's Day To be Warmer

Slightly warmer temperatures will throw out Spartan hearts for Valentine's Day, the weatherman predicts. A few scattered snow flurries are also expected.

The last night was 15 degrees. Today's high will be about 30.

Panel to Feature Alpha Chi on TV

Alpha Chi Omega will represent the Pan-Hellenic Council on "Sorority Scrapbook" over WKAR-TV tonight at 8.

Ruth Glass, Saginaw senior and sorority president and Marjorie Hasty, West Branch senior, will discuss different philanthropic projects and house traditions of Alpha Chi.

Cerebral palsy is the organization's national project. A "picture-book" party is given annually by the local chapter for children in the Lansing area who have cerebral palsy.

But, he said, suspicion of the essential integrity of colleges and universities might be attributed in part to an attempt to blame someone for the widespread feeling of insecurity in America today.

Americans, he said, have found that "all our wealth cannot buy us the peace and security we crave."

"The national malady of insecurity should be a matter of concern for our colleges and universities. We have as our responsibility the training of the leaders of this country, it is we who have encouraged them to 'take the ma-

During the First World War, cards got the patriotic touch. This started the practice of girls sending valentines to boys, as many servicemen received cards depicting flag-waving sweethearts.

The roaring '20's helped to introduce the more casual, sometimes sarcastic valentine that the present day campus set considers tops.

Although salesmen agree that a lot of males buy valentines, most of the cards are sold to coeds.

"The males are fussier," said one saleswoman. "The coeds will come in and buy a half a dozen while fellows will buy just one or two."

One male student who turns thumbs down on valentines was heard to comment, "I wonder what she'd do if I wrote 'I hate you' on the bottom?"

Over 50,000 valentines were ordered by two East Lansing stores, and both store managers said that many were sold last week.

"We're expecting a last minute rush today. We sell all our 'wife' valentines on Valentine's Day. I guess husbands are more absent-minded than boyfriends," said one manager.

Summing up the general modern-day concept that Valentine's Day is not so serious anymore, he added, "Valentine giving has really changed. It used to be heart to heart—now it's heart to the masses. People send them to everyone and anyone."

7,000 Help Celebrate Centennial

Convocation Tops Day's Activities

By ANN McLOTHLIN
State News Associate Editor

Michigan State opened its Centennial celebration Saturday, with three impressive ceremonies, as 7,000 of the nation's leaders in education, business, industry, and government gathered to say "happy birthday."

Top event was the 3 p.m. Convocation.

More than 1,000 persons filled the Auditorium to hear Dr. James H. Conant, U. S. High Commissioner for Germany and president-emeritus of Harvard, outline the responsibility of the U. S. in the "contracted world" of the next half-century.

A formal academic procession preceded the Convocation. Taking part were delegates of universities, colleges, and other educational institutions; representatives of learned and professional societies; the MSC faculty, and the platform party.

"America's schools, colleges, and universities are aware of the implications for education in this responsibility," Dr. Conant said, discussing "An Old Tradition in a New World."

"The nature of the opposition between the doctrines we hold dear and those of the totalitarian Communist regime must be made clear. This job, I have reason to believe, is already well in hand," he continued.

But American education may not have started to outline the problems which this new geography has forced upon it, he said.

"Our future citizens must know what it means to know thoroughly a friendly or a hostile neighbor. We must... avoid optimistic sentimentality on one hand and hopeless cynicism on the other."

Thus, he said, means a far greater emphasis on the study of history, particularly foreign policy.

"We need a large number of highly competent men and women with talents and tastes for work with people of foreign lands."

Contrasting the "old tradition" of the European concept of education with the American system, Dr. Conant said:

"The development of our schools and colleges has been motivated by our desire to move constantly toward two goals... equality of opportunity for all youth, equality of respect for all honest citizens."

"The land-grant college movement with its emphasis on the importance of higher education as a preparation for practical life was one of two manifestations of a peculiarly American point of view. The other was the persistence of that unique American institution, the four-year college," he said.

Both, he said, affected the schools throughout the nation by underlining the importance of full-time education at a degree-granting institution.

The Honorary Doctor of Laws degree was conferred upon 13 men, following Dr. Conant's speech.

Dean Thomas S. Osgood of the Graduate School presented each candidate to President John A. Hannah, who read the citations and conferred the degrees.

Receiving degrees were: A. D. P. Heeney, Canadian ambassador to the U. S.; Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State University; Frederick L. Hovde, president of Purdue University; Lloyd Morcy, president of the University of Illinois; Edwin B. Fred, president of the University of

Poll Reveals Frosh Like MSC As Is

Freshmen like MSC just the way it is, according to a questionnaire given to new students.

Results of the survey were announced last week by Dr. Guy H. Hill, coordinator of high school cooperation.

The survey, conducted in October, questioned the freshmen's attitude to dorm life, student activities, and teaching conditions at MSC. These answers were compared with interviews at the Principal-Freshman Conference, Nov. 19-20.

Hill found a general agreement between the survey and the conference interviews too short to complete all the items on the questionnaire.

Sixty percent of the 784 freshmen included in the survey felt they should not be enrolled in an improvement service. This was the item most students agreed upon.

The majority of students favored the summer counseling clinic, the instruction program and dormitory food.

The results of the questionnaire will be sent to high school principals, basic college officials and enrollment officers.

"The information will be used to enable students to better adjust to college life," Hill said.

32 Petitions Received for Spartacade

Thirty-two petitions for Spartacade, the annual MSC charity carnival, were turned in by last week's deadline, according to Spartacade director Neil Dorsey.

Each petition was entered by a men's and a women's living unit, which will work jointly to stage an event at Spartacade. This year's carnival will be held April 16 in Jenison Fieldhouse.

A meeting for all living unit representatives and Spartacade officials will be held Tuesday at 8:30 in 32 Union.

All representatives are urged to be present so they can take part in the drawing for the allotment of space in the Fieldhouse for the use of their living units.

Rules on the type of costumes to be worn, and other regulations, will be explained. "There have been a few misunderstandings about the carnival that we want to clear up," Dorsey said.

Wolverine Deadline Extended

The Wolverine staff received its printer's permission Friday to extend the sales deadline from Jan. 31 to Feb. 14. Orders will be taken today and Tuesday.

Students may order books in Berkey from 10-5 today, this evening in the dorms, or at the Centennial information desk in the Union Concourse.

A stand was set up in the Auditorium Wednesday and Thursday for the convenience of guests during Farmers' Week. A stand in Brody Hall served Founders' Day visitors.

Anyone wishing to sell Wolverines may pick up sales blanks from the third floor office.

Although the total of books sold thus far, 7,560 copies, surpasses all previous records by about 2,500 copies, it falls short of the 10,000-book goal set by the Wolverine last fall.

According to John Conolly, promotion manager, the 1955 book cost almost twice as much as any previous annual. This was due mainly to the 100-page Centennial section and the original paintings by John Coppin, which were presented to the college Saturday.

Since the price of an individual book was not raised this year, it was hoped that increased sales would take care of the additional cost. In order to meet costs, 9,800 Centennial Wolverines would have to be ordered.

To help make ends meet, and to allow persons who haven't ordered a book previously to do so, selling will continue through Tuesday. Orders must be in the printers' hands by Wednesday morning.

Office workers are asked by Peggy Fischer, office manager, to check on the number of books they have worked thus far, and to work in the office during their free time.

Never Before...? Coeds Pick Escorts For Spinsters' Spin

Coeds can add another "sweet nothing" to their Valentine greetings today—an invitation to the Spinster's Spin.

The Spin, March 4, is MSC's only all-college dance where males are squired by females.

In addition to the Johnny Long band which will play for the dance, the Deep River Boys have been announced by chairman Sally Garvin, Beaver, Pa. senior, as intermission entertainment.

The five Deep River Boys are a vocal quartet with a piano accompanist. Their repertoire includes popular songs, standards and spirituals.

They began singing together as students at Hampton Institute, Va., and have continued their career on stage, radio, television and records. The Deep River Boys' concert appearances include a run at London's Palladium.

Tickets for this year's Spin will go on sale at the Union Ticket Office Feb. 22. Members of the sponsoring groups—Mortar Board, Tower Guard and Spartan Women's League—can get tickets Feb. 21.

Those of the Spin will be "Never Before." The dance is set for the Auditorium from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and is semi-formal.

Tukey, Rhea Win In Speech Contest

Ann Tukey, East Lansing freshman, and Joe Rhea, Lansing freshman, took two first place ratings in the Women's and Men's Extraneous Divisions of the Peare Oratory and Extemporaneous Speaking Contest at Alma College, Saturday, Feb. 12. Nine colleges throughout Michigan entered the contest, sponsored by the Knights of Pythias who awarded prizes totaling $200.

MSC's entrant for the Oratory Division was James Alfredson, East Lansing freshman.

Campus Show Chooses Stars

"Campus Capers" has three new guest stars who were picked from all-college auditions held this week. The variety program, consisting of student talent, is on WKAR-TV Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 to 7 p.m.

Singers Bob Ewald, Detroit senior, and Edith Ebel, Detroit junior, and dancer Sue Howe, Saginaw freshman, will appear on the TV show this term.

Auditions for further talent will be held every Tuesday from 4:30-5:30 p.m. at the television studio, said Ken Richards, program manager. Those interested should call college extension 7573.

3 Records Set By Each Squad

By JACK BERRY

The University of Michigan continued their domination of the Spartan swimmers with a 65-28 dual meet victory Friday night in the Jenison Fieldhouse pool.

The Spartans set three records and Michigan erased three marks and tied an existing time. State's All-American, John Dudeck, bettered his own pool and varsity mark of 2:32.0 in the 200-yard breaststroke, covering the distance in 2:29.7.

The event is a new one to Michigan-Michigan State dual competition, hence it set another record in that respect.

Burwell "Bumpy" Jones, Wolverine captain, and Ron Gora captured first place in two events each to lead the victors.

Jones tied the American record of 1:29.8 in the 150-yard individual medley which he had set in 1952.

The time also broke the pool record of 1:32.5, again set by Jones in 1952, and the dual meet mark of 1:30.3 by Michigan's Jack Wardrop in 1954.

Although Wardrop lost one mark he established another one. The Scottish swimmer turned in a time of 2:12.1 in the 200-yard backstroke.

State's Bert McLachlan held the old mark of 2:14.0 made in 1953.

The Spartan's 400-yard freestyle relay team of Tom Payette, a 2nd sophomore, Tom Wines, Jim Clemens, and Frank Parrish had the near-capacity crowd on their feet in the final race as Payette, the anchor man, successfully fought off a determined Michigan bid.

The winning time was 3:33.2. Payette, captain of the Spartan squad, lost two close races in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle to Gora. The margin of defeat was a foot or less each time.

Michigan placed both first and second in five of eight events, as well as taking the top position in three others.

Gosper, easily winning the quarter-mile in 48.7, was second

Spartans Finish 3rd

4 Records Fall in Quad Meet

By HAL BATEMAN

Michigan State, led by Capt. Kevan Gosper and Joe Savoldi, finished third in a quadrangular track meet held in Jenison Fieldhouse Saturday afternoon.

Missouri, scoring in every event, won the meet with a total of 54 points. Penn State, the IC4A champion, was second with 54. Michigan State had 37 and Ohio State was last with 30.

Four fieldhouse records were broken and one tied as Penn State's star sprinter Art Pollard and hurdler Rod Perry accounted for all of them, with Savoldi equalling one record.

Savoldi, performing an iron man feat, scored 11 points to share individual honors with Pollard and Perry.

He captured a first in the high jump, was second in the 70-yard high hurdles, and placed fourth in the shot put, broad jump and the 70-yard low hurdles.

The Spartan decathlon hope accounted for State's lone record by tying the fieldhouse and varsity record in the 70-yard high hurdles. He now shares the varsity mark of 38.6 set by Harvey Woodsira in 1938 and Gayle Robinson in 1939.

Savoldi, in addition to his fine hurdles efforts, broad jumped over 21 feet, high jumped 6'2" and hit a personal high in the shot put with a 47'6" heave.

Gosper, easily winning the quarter-mile in 48.7, was second in the 300-yard run and anchored the mile relay team.

Chuck Cockendall was the Spartan's only other winner as he tied for first in the pole vault with Missouri's Karl Englund. George Best finished in a tie for third.

Penn State, although winning seven of 15 events, wasn't able to offset the Missouri Tiger's balance.

Pollard, the IC4A sprint champion, started the Nittany Lion record breaking by winning the 60-yard dash in :06.3; thus breaking the old fieldhouse record of :06.4 set in 1954 by Spartan Travis Buggs.

Ed Brabham, State's top dash man, was in second place.

Later, Pollard won the 300-yard run by 10 yards over Gosper to set another fieldhouse record of :30.6. The old record of :30.8 was set in 1952 by Kansas State's Thane Baker.

The last record broken in the meet was also partially contributed by the Lion speedster. His 48.9 anchor leg on the mile relay enabled the Lions to break the old fieldhouse record of 3:19.7 set in 1952 by Oklahoma.

Penn State's record winning time was 3:19.5.

Perry, the sophomore sensation who defeated Harrison Dillard earlier in the season, set one new record and tied another.

In the first trial heat of the 70-yard high hurdles he skinned over the timbers in :08.6 to break the old mark of :08.7 set by Illinois' Willard Thomson in 1954 and tied by Savoldi in 1955.

In the next heat, Savoldi tied the five minute old record, and later, in the finals, Perry again tied the mark.

In the next to the last event of the day, the Nittany Lion hurdler tied the 70-yard low hurdle record set in 1954 by Illinois' Willie Williams with a winning effort of :07.9.

In the final of the 70-yard high hurdles, Missouri's Bob Puckett took a spill, suffering a dislocated shoulder, cuts on his shoulder and thigh and shock.

He is still in Olin Hospital and will probably be released Tues.

Win 5, Tie One In Rout

Gunner Averages Early Season Loss

By JIM JOHNSON

Sparked by Bob G. Gunner, the Spartans won five and tied one in a rout of the Gophers, 21-18, Friday night, 21-18.

In winning their first game of the season, the Spartans won two of three games, and one drew eight individual matches.

Leading the Spartans was the powerful Gunner at bat. The Gophers' 1954 runner-up, the Big 10, in 8.02.

In an early season meet, Gunner had decided to defer after the regular season in a draw by means of a referee's decision.

Gunner didn't take to the mound until the second game of the season, but he pitched a first period 4-1.

The determined Gunner, back in the second period, won the game, but in the final of the match Gunner pitched a 1-0 shutout in the third inning, but he was hit in the eighth.

In the opening half of the evening, Dick Hoke of Minnesota's 123-pound team to gain his fourth victory year.

Putting the Spartans in early 11-0 lead was Jim Gunner, as he pitched a 4-1 shutout in the third inning.

Putting up an early eighth, Gunner coasted to a 9-0 straight win of the match.

Credit for the other half of the Spartans' victory goes to Lennex, as he threw a 3-0 shutout in the third inning.

Looking impressive in his match of the year, John Gunner, as he pitched a 4-1 shutout in the third inning.

The fifth and final match was a close one. Gunner, as he pitched a 4-1 shutout in the third inning.

Icers Lose Twice To Wolverines

After dropping a rough and tumble 7-4 decision to Michigan Friday night, MSC's pucksters combined speed, a tight defense and red hot shooting to come within four minutes of a victory at Ann Arbor Saturday night.

In a game that both coaches described as one of the finest collegiate matches they had ever seen, Michigan edged MSC, 4-3, on a Tom Randall goal in a scramble in the final minutes.

The Spartans took an early lead on a length-of-the-ice effort by Henry Campanelli, with an assist by Wendie Olson at 3:05 of the first period.

At 17:05 Olson hit the net with an assist from Jim Ward and the score stood 2-0 at the end of the first stanza.

In the final minutes of the second period, Randall tallied for U of M at 18:06 and less than 20 seconds later MacFarland punched in the tying marker to make it 2-2 at the end of the period.

Michigan went ahead at 12:10 in the third when Dick Dunnigan hit from Randall but the Spartans tied it up with Ward racking up his sixth point of the series on an assist by Olson at 14:36.

With less than a minute left and the U of M leading, 4-3, a Spartan shot bounced into the Wolverine net from a scramble and bounced back out off the middle post. It went unnoticed by the goal judge and was ruled no score.

Friday night, the Spartans skated one of their best games of the year but lost, 7-4.

Jim Ward led the assault, scoring one goal and three assists. Derio Nicoli scored the first two Spartans markers, with John Polonsky adding one.

Late in the game, Nicoli and Wolverine defenseman Mike Buchanan got in a fight, with Nicoli landing several hard blows. Both were banished from the game.

Michigan State's hockey team had a short season in 1924—playing but one game. Their outdoor rink refused to freeze properly throughout the entire winter.

Cats' Win Darkens Title Future

Spartans Ragged In 56-54 Loss

By JOE HOFFMAN

Michigan State's basketball team, which had played "hot" basketball in the last three weeks, turned cold Saturday night as it bowed to Northwestern, 56-54.

The victory enabled Northwestern to move into a fourth place tie with State, both teams possessing a 5-4 conference record.

State had as high as a seven-point lead in the first half, but Northwestern fought back to hold a 30-28 halftime advantage.

The Spartans managed to hit only 22 percent of their floor shots in the first half.

In the second half, State trailed by eight points before knotting the count at 49-49.

However, Northwestern pulled ahead to stay with buckets by Frank Eberman and Don Lowe.

With less than 20 seconds remaining, State came within two points on a score by Bob Devenny. The Wildcats then called time out with 13 seconds remaining to plan their strategy.

Having taken the ball out at mid-court, Northwestern worked the ball successfully until Devenny deflected a pass.

But he was unable to control the ball and as it slipped out of bounds, the horn sounded ending the tussle.

Eberman was the game's high scorer with 17 points, one ahead of Al Ferrari's 16 for State.

The Spartans now trail league-leading Minnesota by two full games and are one-half of a game behind third place Illinois.

ATO, Phi Delta Tie in Tourney

It was ATO and Phi Delta Theta shooting to a deadlock as the all-college folk shooting contest ended last week with each house totaling 80.

However, the co-winners did manage to overcome Sigma Nu, the previous leader, by one point. The Snakes netted 79.

Urely bested Real House in the Co-op competition by two markers. Urely collected 75 while Real copped second with 73.

Among the dorms it was Bryan Hall taking the honors with 73 tallies. W. Shaw and Phillips accounted for 69 each and a two-way tie for second.

The individual winner was Dick Verheul of Asher House. He hit 23 of 25.

Greenway Loses Weird Bout

Boxers Tie Leathernecks, 4-4

Michigan State's powerful boxing squad came out of an unexpectedly tough match against the Quantico Marines Saturday night with a 4-4 draw.

The key bout of the night, which kept the Spartans from walking off with their third straight win of the season, was the 178-pound battle between Bill Greenway and the Marine's Woody Myers.

Greenway battered his opponent to the head with hard rights and the bout was stopped at the end of the second when Myers' left eye became badly bruised and swollen, but the decision was given to Myers on points.

Going into the last two bouts the Spartans held a 4-2 edge, but heavyweight Andy Ronle also came out on the short end when he was TKOed in the first round by Glen Kamphal, the Marine's NCAA champion.

Michigan State's wins were scored by Mike Mackawa, John Butler, Herb Odom and George Siskini.

Mackawa proved too strong for the Marine's Valton Davis and outscored his opponent all the way to a unanimous decision at 125-pounds.

In the 139-pound division, Butler continued his winning ways by slugging out a first round TKO over Garwin Sturdivant.

The bout was halted at 1:58 of the first round after Butler had floored his man three times.

Spartan NCAA Champion Herb Odom completely outclassed Eugene Golanda at 156-pounds to win every round in gaining a unanimous decision.

George Siskini rounded out the Spartans' scoring by taking the nod from Eugene Drew in the 165-pound division.

Carroll Trahan, regular at 139-pounds, moved up to the 147-pound division and dropped a decision to Marine Terry Downes.

Shedd Smith's season debut as a 132-pounder was marred when he was edged by Mark Kavanagh on a split decision.

The mittmen will move back into action Friday night when they meet the Badgers from the University of Wisconsin at home.

Spartan Coach George Makris will shift back to the line-up which he started against Maryland to counter the Badger attack.

What type of training program does Du Pont have?

DRESSLAR M. PRUETT expects to receive his B.S. in Industrial Engineering this summer from Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College at Stillwater, Okla. He is president of the local student branch of A.I.E.E. Naturally, he is interested in selecting the best job opportunity for a successful career based on his technical training.

Don Miller answers:

DONALD C. MILLER received his B.S. in Chemical Engineering from Ohio State University in June 1937. During the following month he started work with the Organic Chemicals Department of Du Pont at Deepwater Point, N. J. Since then he has received and given many kinds of technical training. Today Don Miller is a general superintendent at Du Pont's Chambers Works — well qualified to answer questions about training programs for college men.

NOW AVAILABLE for student ASME chapters and other college groups, a 16-mm. sound-color movie "Mechanical Engineering at Du Pont." For further information write to E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. (Inc.), 2621 Nemours Bldg., Wilmington 99, Delaware.

Amid 'Pomp and Circumstance' Celebration Has Lighter Side

Michigan State was 100 years old Saturday and its day-long celebration was impressive in traditional "pomp and circumstance."

But in the midst of the formal observance, there were lighter moments.

Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Penn State, almost missed the ceremony honoring the joint Centennial stamp. Scheduled for first place on the program, he arrived an hour late.

His private plane was grounded in Harrisburg, Penn., Friday afternoon. He then took a train, which was delayed for two hours. The last part of his trip was made by car.

The Penn State track team, however, left the college at the same time, and arrived on the MSC campus Friday. "My students have more ingenuity than I," Eisenhower commented.

"I thought of every route but one—I didn't know you could run all the way out here," he said.

Eisenhower drew another laugh from the audience when he accepted not one, but six, souvenir albums of stamps.

He was given an album for his brother, President Eisenhower, and albums for Pennsylvania's Gov. Leader, James M. Mitchell, president of the Penn State Board of Trustees, and two for the archives of his school.

When he accepted the sixth book, an official commented:

"It looks like all the Centennial stamps are going back to Pennsylvania."

Dean Herman Wyngarden of the School of Business and Public Service noted that only three stamps honoring colleges have been issued by the U.S. Post Office Department, as compared to more than 150 issued by other countries.

Assistant Postmaster General Albert J. Robertson countered in his speech.

"That's one thing the present administration under Postmaster General Summerfield, can claim credit for. We've issued two-thirds of all the stamps commemorating colleges and universities."

A similar stamp was issued to Columbia University for its bicentennial in 1954.

The formal academic procession preceding the afternoon Convocation was brightened by the colorful hoods worn by most participants. The colors on the outside of each hood are the colors of the institution issuing the degree.

Delegates marched in the order of the founding date of their schools. Leading the procession was H. E. Yntema, of Oxford University, founded in 1211. Youngest school represented was Northwestern Michigan College at Traverse City.

MSC's birthday cake was dramatically presented Saturday night at the Awards Banquet.

The lights were dimmed, the band played "Happy Birthday," and the cake was rolled in by two white-uniformed bakers.

The six-tier fruit cake was decorated with colorful symbols of MSC's 100-year growth.

The bottom tier was decorated with the Centennial theme, "It is for us the living—to be here dedicated to the unfinished work," from Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

Each banquet guest was presented with a reminder of the theme, a bronze medallion with the slogan inscribed on the back.

terialistic view of life," Dr. Hannah said.

The land-grant colleges, with their technological traditions, have been as guilty as any in this distortion, he added.

"We are forced to the conclusion that a considerable revamping of our educational machinery and a revision of our attitudes are desirable if we are to meet successfully the challenges that press upon us," he said.

An educated man, according to his definition, is one who is trained and conditioned to be an effective citizen of democracy and the world; men and women ready and willing to assume leadership in a nation crying for more intelligent direction and guidance in a world full of confusion, insecurity and doubt," Dr. Hannah said.

He added:

"It is both disconcerting and humbling to realize that the Founders we honor on this occasion saw clearly the need for education of this kind."

Burton Gerber, editor of the 1955 Wolverine, presented six paintings by Bloomfield Hills artist John S. Coppin to the school. A gift of the student body and alumni, the paintings will be hung in the Union.

The six, called "Pioneers," "Evolution," "Old Chem," "Banks of the Red Cedar," "Spartan," and "MSC Shadows," will appear in the yearbook.

They were accepted for the college by Clark L. Brody, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture, MSC governing body.

Wisconsin, James L. Merrill, president of the University of Minnesota, and Milton S. Eisenhower, president of MSC's sister land-grant college, Pennsylvania State University.

Others were William W. Whitehouse, president of Albion College, Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, James P. Mitchell, U.S. Secretary of Labor, Marlow H. Currier, president of General Motors, Gov. Williams, and Conant.

Preceding Dr. Conant's address, Dr. Whitehouse brought greetings from the private colleges and universities of Michigan.

"Both public and non-public types of education have their vital contribution to make to the intellectual and civic life of our nation. Hence, we do not think in terms of mere co-existence, but of cooperation in a common, paramount enterprise," he said.

Dr. Hatcher presented greetings from the state colleges and universities of Michigan.

"This institution, founded a century ago as an agricultural school, and made into Michigan's land-grant college, by its splendid work, its dedicated services, and the extent and complexity of the program it now offers, has earned its place among the leading universities of the nation," he said.

Greetings from the state were given by Gov. Williams, who said:

"The record of MSC over the past 100 years is a record of faith—of faith in itself and in the validity of its ideals. This college has woven itself and its interests into the life of the people, providing for them the equality of opportunity, the open door to self development, without which democracy is meaningless."

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. George R. Selway, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Lansing.

Two hymns were sung by the MSC A Cappella Choir, directed by Richard Klausell.

Processional and recessional music was played by the MSC Band, led by Leonard Falcone.

Student Leaders Of MSC, U of M Discuss Problems

Student representatives from the U of M met with representatives from MSC Friday to discuss problems of mutual interest to both schools.

The delegates discussed such things as drinking among students, and the lack of office space for student organizations.

Tentative plans for a new building on the Wolverine campus to house only student and administrative offices were announced by the U of M representatives.

The meeting during the afternoon was followed by a banquet in the Green Room of the Union. Dean of Students Tom King and his four assistants attended the meeting, as did W. B. Rea, Dean of Men at the U of M and his assistants.
