

... You Won't See 'MSC' in the State News No More ...

By JACK KOLE
State News Editor-in-Chief

There will be no more "MSC's" in the Michigan State News. We've pointed out in many editorials, Michigan State is to be called a university since it is one in every sense of the word.

With that in mind, the State News will not refer to Michigan State as either "MSC" or "Michigan State College" from now on.
This policy is starting in today's paper.
It's just a start, however. We hope it won't be long before a great educational institution is rightfully given an official university title.

So until the time when we can officially use "University" in place of "College," we'll just say "Michigan State." In headlines, the State News will use "State" instead of the "MSC" that has been so widely used in the past.
As for the newspaper's front page nameplate, it has received a slight alteration, too—the first since March 9, 1948.

Since that time the words "MSC Daily Student Publication" have been printed under "Michigan State News." To go along with our new policy, the "MSC" was cut out, leaving only "Daily Student Publication," starting today.
We hope it won't be long before we can replace the letters—with "MSU," of course.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Fritz Reiner, will conclude the Series.

Only about five foreign films will be offered spring term on the Foreign Film Series, according to Dean Stanley Crowe, director of the Lecture-Concert Series.

Due to the demand on the Auditorium and Fairchild by Centennial programs, Dean Crowe said he is forced to cut the series down spring term.

At present, only two films are definite for the series. They are "Ugetsu," prize-winning Japanese film, and "Two Cents Worth of Hope," an Italian film about communism in Naples.

Lecturers on the Lecture-Concert Series for 1955-'56 will include Mme. Wellington Koo, wife of the Chinese Ambassador to the United States.

Henry Hull, motion picture character actor, will appear on the lecture series in a program of Mark Twain readings.

Ray Middleton, baritone star of "South Pacific," will lecture on "America in Story and Song."

Vets Help Boost Readmittances

Winter term readmittances this year increased to 169 compared to 55 students readmitted last winter term, Registrar Robert S. Linton stated.

The increase is partially due to army veterans returning to finish their education. Readmittances are steadily increasing with the enrollment, according to Linton.

Iowa Clinches Tie For Big 10 Title

By JOE HOFFMAN

Al Ferrari closed out his home basketball career Monday night in a blaze of glory, setting three scoring records to pace Michigan State to a 93-77 Big 10 victory over Indiana.

The victory moved the Spartans back into a fourth place tie with Northwestern, both teams possessing 7-4 records.

At Minneapolis, Iowa clinched a share of the Big 10 title by edging Minnesota, 72-70.

Ferrari broke one Big 10 record and two Michigan State marks.

Ferrari dropped in 21 foul shots to break the old Big 10 single game mark of 17 held by Indiana's Ben Schumdt.

Scoring 35 points, Ferrari brought his season total to 427, breaking the old mark of 409 set by teammate Julius McCoy last year.

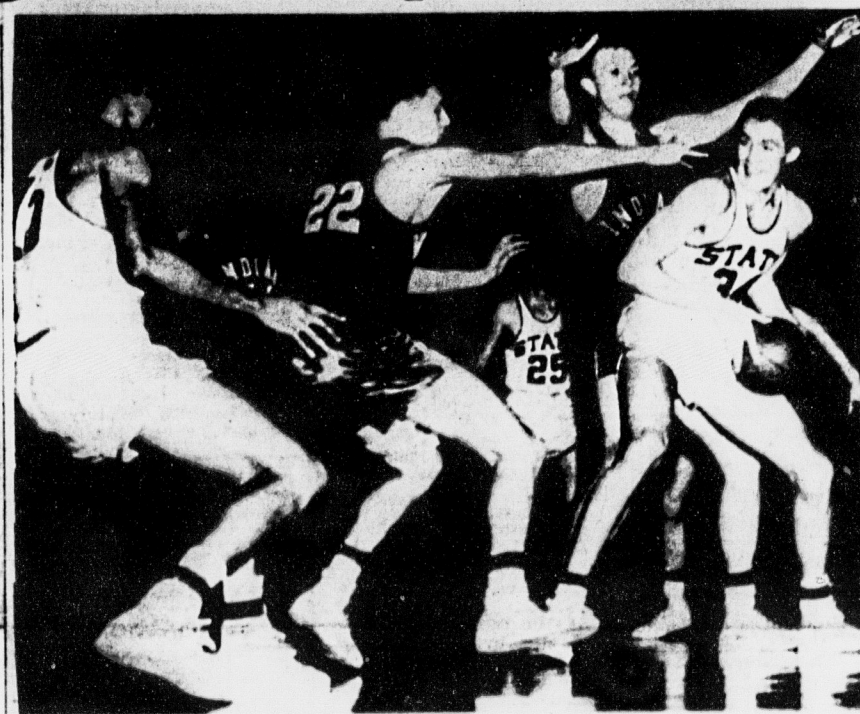

The 35 points was also a single game high, the old mark of 34 was held jointly by McCoy and Bill Rappach.

Ferrari was also named by a unanimous vote of the press and radio, the most valuable player on this year's Spartan team, the third straight year that Ferrari has won this award.

When Ferrari scored his 35th point on a free throw, he received a standing ovation from a crowd of 7,380, and the game was delayed several minutes while the fans cheered.

Though shoved out of the spotlight by Ferrari's three records, Spartan center Duane Peterson played the finest game of his career, scoring 30 points and turning in a fine defensive performance against Schlundt.

Compromise Sought Rescue Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barkley (D-Ky.) sought with compromise plan Monday to rescue the $20 a person tax cut from death in the Senate Finance Committee.

He proposed that the cut be phased in, with a portion being allowed for 1955 and dependent in 1956 and 1957.

motion, and other compromise on the House-passed bill was put over until Tuesday.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) who is opposing the reduction of the tax cut, is asking if he still has a chance to get his amendment passed.

Sen. Byrd (D-Ga.), former chairman of the committee, said he would vote to strike out of the $20 provision if an impasse develops between the House and Senate.

Dave Brubeck To Talk Jazz Here Saturday

Jazz will come to State Saturday afternoon in the form of the Dave Brubeck Quartet.

The Brubeck group will answer questions in an "Open Discussion on Jazz," sponsored by the Union Board fine arts committee in the Union Ballroom at 5 p.m.

Admission is free, according to Bill Thistle, committee chairman.

The Brubeck combo is flying from New York to Lansing half a day early to make the Michigan State appearance, Thistle said. They will appear in concert in Lansing that evening.

Phil McKellar, winner of Metronome magazine's disc-jockey-of-the-year award, will be moderator of the discussion here, Thistle said.

Brubeck's combo was voted the best small group of the year by Down Beat, Esquire and Metronome magazines. Brubeck himself, was voted jazz personality of the year by Down Beat's readers.

"The discussion will be a good chance for students to really get their questions on jazz answered," Thistle said.

Members of the Brubeck quartet who will handle the questions are Brubeck, piano; Paul Desmond, alto sax; Bob Bates, bass; and Joe Dodge, drums.

Records from Brubeck's "Jazz Goes to College" and "Jazz at Storyville" albums may be placed on the Grill jukebox this week to give Grillhounds a chance to brush up on the quartet's style of jazz, Thistle said.

'Of Mice and Bats'

Professional Killer Always Gets His Rat

By DEBBY HALL
"Nowadays anyone can be an exterminator," according to Frederick A. Kuhn, Michigan State's professional pest killer.

A trip to the drugstore for some poison and the initiate is equipped to kill his first rat," Kuhn said.

Kuhn, who has a bachelor degree in entomology, was hired 10 years ago by the college as the first exterminator for State.

Death Labs. Kuhn has been in the extermination business for 23 years, "just because it's such fascinating work."
Recently Kuhn played detective to a disappearing canary. A family in the barracks reported their canary had been stolen by a rat.
Kuhn visited the scene and guessed that a trained rat from the psychology department had opened the door of the cage, eaten the canary and left. Only a suspicious pile of feathers remained to verify his judgment.
"The biggest problem at State now is ridding buildings of silver fish," Kuhn reported.

'Ducky' Weather

March Enters Wet and Foggy

"March," goes a saying, "comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb."

Well, maybe other Marches have, but March, 1955 is a traitor to the cause. If anything, it's coming in like a water-logged duck.

A damp, dark, dreary, dismal, dank, and drizzly day will greet any Spartan silly enough to get up. Fog, light rain and variable winds are predicted, with a temperature range of 40 to 45.

Professional Killer Always Gets His Rat

Any large building usually contains these common heating pests Kuhn said. Contrary to current fears, however, silver fish do not eat clothes unless they are starved, Kuhn added.

Bats also threaten the older State buildings, Kuhn remembers one instance when a bat got loose in the Administration Building, upsetting papers and frightening employees until he was finally caught and shoved out a window.

During the freshmen conference four years ago Kuhn was called to expel an annoying visitor from the campus. A possum had settled on a window sill in the north power plant. "Evidently he found his home uncomfortable because Mr. Possum left after three days," Kuhn said.

Anyone on the campus five years ago when they remodeled the Union might have been startled by occasional gun shots. "That was the time the police were called to shoot raccoons who became entangled in the construction material," Kuhn explained.

The man who seems to know exactly what to do in outwitting such unwanted visitors praised Michigan State for its cleanliness.

Detroit Coed To Emcee Spinster's Spin

Iona Planken, Detroit senior, will be mistress of ceremonies at the Spinster's Spin intermission, according to Margie Austin, co-chairman of the entertainment committee.

Theme for this year's Spin is "Never Before."

Intermission entertainment will be by the five Deep River Boys—four vocalists and a pianist.

The five have just returned from a European tour. Their repertoire includes popular songs, standards and spirituals.

This is the first year that professional entertainers will perform at the Spinster's Spin, intermission, according to Sally Garvin, dance chairman.

Johnny Long's orchestra will play for dancing. Vocalists will be the Long band and Barbara Hammond and Jimmy Sedlar.

Tickets for the Spin are on sale at the Union Ticket office at $4 per couple.

The Spin will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday night. Coeds have been granted 2 a.m. permissions by AWS for the dance.

Report From Burma

China Ready to Talk With U. S. Mission

WASHINGTON (AP)—Burma reported Monday that Red China stands ready to receive an unofficial American mission to talk over tension between the two countries. However, American officials quickly turned a cold shoulder toward the idea.

The State Department gave only a terse "no comment" answer when asked for official reaction to the plan disclosed by Burma's Premier, U. Nu in Rangoon.

But informed diplomats made it clear they regarded it as an offer of Red China's moves to offset worldwide repercussions to Peking's imprisonment of 15 American fliers.

Nu told a news conference he had, with the approval of Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, relayed Chou's endorsement of the plan for a meeting to Secretary of State Dulles Saturday when Dulles was in Rangoon.

The idea would be to talk about the imprisoned fliers along with other tensions involved in relations with the United States.

Dulles, who is visiting Southeast Asia, flew on to Indochina without saying anything about the suggestion. He didn't even send any cables about it to the department, it was reported.

Nu, who has been trying to act as mediator in the quarrel over the fliers, declined to say what was Dulles' reaction to the conference suggestion.

In the absence of guidance from Dulles, American officials avoided any outright and final rejection of the plan.

Fernandel Encore

Fernandel is back! That sly Frenchman with "The French Touch" will cavort across Fairchild Theatre's screen tonight at 7 and 9 in "Topaze."

The film is a satirical comedy of an honest school teacher who turns into a genteel crook.

Tickets are on sale at Fairchild.

Union Board Week Features Variety Show

Union Board Week committees are hard at work on last minute details and rehearsals for the various activities planned for next week, March 8-12.

One week annually is set aside as Union Board Week. At this time the Union Board hopes to make students aware of the many activities and facilities of the Union.

The activities of the week will include a variety show, called "Sorry Wrong Number," to be held in the Ballroom on Wednesday and Thursday, March 9 and 10. The show is under the direction of Tommy Aquino and will feature student talent.

"Highway to Fashion," a fashion show which will emphasize both men and coed styles, will be held Tuesday evening, March 8. The fashion show is being jointly sponsored by the Retailing Club and Union Board.

A program of vocal and instrumental numbers will be presented by Delta Omicron, music honorary, Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Music Room.

The climax to the week of Union Board sponsored activities will be a dance, "Up in Central Park," to be held Saturday, March 12. The dance will feature Bob Eberhardt and his band.

All during the week an art display of student paintings will be exhibited in the Browning Room. A first prize award will be given for the best display.

Students Can Fight for MSU

If Michigan State is to be known as Michigan State University, the name it deserves and should get, students must take an active part in convincing the Legislature that this is the proper time for it.

Students have few weapons with which to fight. But they can take the time to write.

They can write to their parents, relatives, friends—anyone whom they think will be willing to spread the word among the state's legislators. And they can write to the congressmen themselves.

To show that a name change is needed, they can quote the Board of Agriculture's statement that "The educational prestige of Michigan State's graduate school is impaired and its progress handicapped, and the graduates of Michigan State in many areas are handicapped in seeking employment through those circumstances."

"...The graduates of Michigan State...are handicapped..." That should be of enough importance to any student to merit the writing of a letter. Every Spartan should be vitally interested in the added prestige of graduating from a university in name as well as in fact.

The letters can inform congressmen that Michigan State is the nation's eighth largest university, that it offers graduate degrees in over 50 fields and undergraduate degrees in 110 fields.

If students think their congressmen might be influenced by the U of M's contention that two universities within the same state with similar names will cause "confusion" they can cite the case of Florida, where there is a state supported University of Florida, and a state supported Florida State University; they can cite the case of Ohio, where there is a state supported University of Ohio, and a state supported Ohio State University. They can list Pennsylvania, Iowa and New York.

And to completely nullify the U of M's "confusion" claim, students can point out that there is a University of California at Berkeley, a University of California at Los Angeles, a University of California at Riverside, and a University of California at Davis.

It is up to the student body—those who will benefit most from a name change—to fight for it. They can do it with earnest, concerted letters.

Letters to the Editor

Driver 'Wades Into' Parking 'Mudholes'

To the Editor:

I would like to express my opinion on the local "parking lot" situation.

First may I ask, what are the parking lots for?

I always thought they were areas to park cars in, that is, until I came here. Now I'm beginning to wonder. It seems as though when someone spots a mudhole he designates it a parking lot and from then on it's park in the mudhole or else.

I just came from the Harrison Road-Kalamazoo parking hole and am rather disgusted with the whole situation. I had to wade out of that place in ankle deep mud and after having just gone by two empty paved lots I asked myself, "Just what kind of a game is this?"

I always thought our civilization was far enough advanced to take advantage of the surroundings.

I could go on about this subject forever but it wouldn't do any good because this letter will be passed off with the usual "song and dance" reply about our visitors and so on, but I noticed that Stadium lot could not be completely filled by the recent Farmers' Week.

I would like to see certain people dressed in their best uniforms walk through those mudholes and every time they get stuck in the mud for over 10 seconds, slap a $10 fine on each and every one of them. Protectors of the peace. Phooey!

In Big 10 Track Meet

Badgers Assume Role of Spoilers

This Thursday nine teams from the toughest track conference in the nation arrive in East Lansing for the 15th running of the Big 10 championships.

The two day affair will begin on Friday evening with the trials and preliminaries and end on Saturday afternoon with the finals.

Tickets are required for every one and may be purchased at the ticket office in the East Lansing house.

Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio State, Northwestern and Purdue, all of whom have individual stars, but lack team depth, seem destined for a second division finish.

The Wisconsin Badgers appear the strongest of these teams.

The Badgers, this season have defeated Minnesota, lost to Iowa and finished second to the defending champion, Illinois, in a triangular meet.

The performances of Don Hebein, Jack Mansfield, Bob Anderson and distance runners Gene Sultze and Jon Dalton show that the Badgers could be the spoilers of the meet.

Hebein has some of the best sprint times in the conference while Mansfield and Anderson are fine quarter-milers.

Mansfield, fifth in the quarter-mile in last year's meet, has a fine 49.2 clocking this season and should place in that event. His brother, Bill, is a pitcher on the Spartan baseball team while their father is baseball coach at Wisconsin.

Chuck Thomas, substitute for Alan "The Horse" Ametie on the football team, is a fine shot putter who could win the title. His best effort this season has been over 50 feet.

The Badgers also have a fine performer in Loren Clark, who ranks as one of the conference's best broad jumpers.

Warriors Move Up Another Notch

By The Associated Press

The University of San Francisco continued to lead the college basketball parade toward the end of the season Monday, but dwindling support for the defense-minded Dons indicated that it takes big games to impress experts.

San Francisco, breezing through season and looking ahead to the closing games of the regular NCAA tournament, was out of "letting opponents" Meanwhile, Kentucky, in a battle for the Southeastern Conference title, and La Salle, clinching an NCAA tournament berth, turned in a couple of good victories apiece.

Kentucky and LaSalle both attracted more first place ballots than they did a week ago, but their point totals of 723 and 640 reflected little change.

Tigers May Be Next 14 Braves Fined For Starting Early

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick fined the Milwaukee baseball club $500 and 14 of the club's players smaller amounts Monday for violation of the March 1 spring training deadline.

The commissioner said he was making further investigation and hinted there would be similar penalties against violators. He didn't mention any other club but the Detroit Tigers are said to be one of the clubs likely to be hit next.

Eleven regular members of the Milwaukee club were fined $50 each for working out before the official starting date and three rookies drew fines of $25 each.

The regulars fined $50 were pitchers Warren Spahn, Gene Conley, Chet Nichols and Lew Burdette; outfielders Bob Thompson, Andy Pafko and Hank Aaron; first baseman Joe Adcock, second baseman Danny O'Connell, shortstop Johnny Logan and catcher Charley White.

The rookies drawing lesser fines were pitcher Don McMahon, outfielder Al Spangler and infielder Al Facchini. "They were fined less because they were rookies," Frick said. "The regulars should have known better."

They were penalized for holding preliminary workouts at the Braves' Bradenton, Fla., camp "in full view of spectators and with the knowledge of the management."

This March 1 deadline for training was imposed by the players themselves, the commissioner said.

Named Outstanding Engineer

Award Given

Outstanding Engineer Chosen by ASME

By BOB SMITHERS

Ralph Redman, mechanical engineering student, was named the outstanding engineer of Michigan State at the ASME meeting Feb. 24.

Professor L. C. Price, head of the mechanical engineering department, presented the award to Redman in Union 32.

Price introduced the presentation with a short speech signifying the importance of the award.

Officers of ASME selected the best students in engineering, regardless of the department they were enrolled in. The nominees were not necessarily ASME members, or even mechanical engineers.

The officers kept narrowing the field down until there were only six candidates remaining. Two more were then eliminated, and from the remaining four, Redman was chosen.

Redman can boast a 3.3 all-college average. He has participated in Tau Beta Pi, Pi Tau Sigma, the band and the 1954 Engineering Exposition.

ASME, founded at Michigan State in 1880, is celebrating its 75th anniversary. This outstanding engineering award is a one-in-a-lifetime presentation. It has never been given before and will probably never be given again, ASME members said.

Redman will receive a certificate and possibly a medal.

Teacher Colleges To Boost Tuition

Michigan's four state teachers' colleges will be asking an extra $20 per semester from state residents and $30 from non-residents next fall, the State Board of Education announced last week.

Resident tuitions will be $90 a semester and non-resident $137.50 at Western Michigan at Kalamazoo, Michigan Normal at Ypsilanti, Central Michigan at Mt. Pleasant and Northern Michigan at Marquette.

Sign for Rush, Coeds Urged

All coeds who wish to rush sororities spring term have been urged by PanHellenic Council to sign up before classes end this term.

They may do so in the Dean of Students office, women's division, at the Administration Building starting Monday.

Linda Freeman, first vice president of PanHel, warned coeds that they must sign up even if they have gone through rush before.

She pointed out that this sign-up list will be the only one sororities will use in sending out invitations for spring rush.

Buell to Discuss Broadway Shows

Seven Broadway shows, including two musicals, will be the subjects of an informal talk by Don Buell, professor of speech, today at 4 p.m. in the Union Music Room.

"Playgoing on Broadway" will include Buell's reports on Noel Coward's "Quadriga," which stars Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne; "The Bad Seed," by William March; Clifford Odets' "The Flowering Peach," starring Menasha Skulnik; Agatha Christie's thriller, "Witness for the Prosecution," and "Anastasia," by Guy Bolton.

Musical comedies which Buell will talk about are the Harold Rome-S. N. Behrman success, "Fanny," starring Ezio Pinza, Walter Slezak and Florence Henderson, and "Peter Pan" with Mary Martin.

The talk will be sponsored by Union Board's fine arts committee.

Buell, who saw the plays during Christmas vacation, has a weekly theater-column-of-the-air over WKAR and WKAR-TV.

Though scoring 26 points, Schlundt managed to get only seven field goals, most of them coming on rebounds.

State rolled to a 31-14 lead with seven minutes remaining in the first half, but Indiana bounced back to trail by just two points at halftime, 40-38.

With three minutes gone in the second half, the Hoosiers held a 2-point lead, 46-44.

However, the Spartans then points and were never headed, proceeded to drop in nine straight points and were never headed.

The closest the Hoosiers could come was within three points, when they trailed 67-64, with nine minutes and 15 seconds remaining.

Coach Forddy Anderson cleared his bench in the last minute of play to allow some of the substitutes to see some game action.

The Spartans have one game remaining, an away appearance Saturday afternoon at Michigan.

Wrong Number?

New Exchanges In Operation

Don't touch that dial—at least, not until you've checked the number against the directories distributed last week.

A change in about 39,000 numbers in the Greater Lansing area went into effect at 12:01 a.m. Sunday morning.

One consolation is that East Lansing numbers, on the Edgewood exchange, along with those on the Federal and Turner exchanges, will remain the same.

Lansing numbers formerly prefixed with 2, 4, 5, 7 and 9 are now on a new IVanhoe exchange. Also added were new exchanges for the Mason, Holt, Potteryville and Diamonddale numbers.

The new green and white telephone directories commemorating Michigan State's Centennial include a congratulatory message on the back cover.
