

All Seats Now Have Applicants

Four Districts Vote Thursday

By GENE RITZINGER

Student government's week-day extension of the petitioning deadline for State Congress seats in 13 districts resulted in the submission of at least one petition for every available seat. Petitioning closed at 5 p.m. Monday. Originally the deadline had been 5 p.m. Thursday, but was extended in 13 districts because of the scarcity of petitioners.

Only four of the districts had enough petitioners at the deadline to permit holding a primary election.

They are West Shaw, Snyder, East Mayo, and Abbot.

Primaries are scheduled for Monday, May 9, with finals to be held on May 12.

Election commissioner Rex Peterson said voting places will be set up in all dormitories. Students in Lansing, East Lansing, Marquette, and Men's Co-op's, Women's Co-op's, fraternities and sororities will be able to vote in booths to be set up in the Student Center.

Students said voting for both primaries and finals will be held from 1 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Students will be able to vote for officers at the same time.

Eight districts will have no primary or final Congress elections, Peterson said, because only one student applied for each available seat and is automatically elected.

Those districts and automatically-elected representatives are: Buttrick, Charles Collins; North Shaw, Diane Broersma; South Shaw, Marilyn Douma; South Mayo, Jean Ann Elliot; Men's Co-op, Donald Van Kampen; Women's Co-op, Nancy Borgquist; East Lansing, (two seats) Claude Watson and James E. Bryan; (two seats open) James Whitehead and Richard Peterson.

Candidates vying for a spot in the final ballot from the districts holding primaries are: West Shaw, Louis Sheldahl, Bill Mansfield, James McLaughlin, Leonard Efron, and Ed Mann.

West Mayo, Helen Denison, Lillian Bailey, and Marlene Peterson.

West Shaw, Evelyn Lou Stogdole, Sally Jenks, Judith Stogdole, and Stephanie Cooke.

West Shaw and West Mayo open Snyder and West Shaw one seat available.

Districts in which only a final election will be held and the candidates vying for seats are: East Shaw, Ed Quinones, Harry Smith, Adachi Vaid, and David Herman; Phillips, Jerome; Dan Webster, Don Dew, James Sutton; Gilbert, James Wright and Miki Meyers.

East Mayo, Linda Vinter and Jane Sterling; East Shaw, Caroline Gezon and Carl Bonney; West Lansing, Carl Alexander and Polly Pahlen; Taylor, E. Alynne Maltzer; Nancy Miller.

North Campbell, Peggy Bonnette and Peg Howard; East Lansing, Maria Von Voigtlander; West Lansing, and M. Dodd; Interfraternity, Michael Bosco; West Lansing, Don Hadden; Stoll, Ethan Jones, and Lawrence; West Lansing, sororities, Tanager, Sandra Pearce, Ann Peterson, and Lynn Washburn.

Others are: Washburn, Arthur; Richard Von Orman, and Gene Gleason.

Final candidates include: East Shaw, George Thomas, Ed Schaefer, Frank Becker, Ed, Sharon Johnson, Elizabeth, and Connie Paris.

East Lansing finalists are: Ed, Rose Guze, Ed, Nancy Irwin, E. M. Peterson, Bill Wurm, Douglas, and Roger Augustine, and Ed.

Claims 'Conflicts'

Humphrey Rips U. S. Security Program

By LOUIS GROPP
State News Associate Editor

"Freedom and security are both possible," claimed U. S. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) Monday evening after knocking the United States' present security program.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY ... discussed security ...

Humphrey addressed the opening session of the sixth Centennial symposium, "Freedom and Security," sponsored by the departments of political science, police administration and social work, meeting in Kellogg Center.

"The way our security program stands now," he said, "we don't have 'A' government security program, but a 'mess' of programs."

"Two investigations by two groups in the same government on the same person often result in conflicting conclusions," he said.

"National security should be non-partisan," Humphrey said.

"Everything is a controversy," Humphrey claimed. "The three D's of democracy are: discussion, debate and dissent."

"A man guilty of inflexibility of political philosophy is no longer a thinking man," he said, "but one with conditioned reflexes."

"The Truman War was not 'Mr. Truman's War,' he declared. "It was started by the Kremlin and anyone who says it was Truman's war is a dupe of the communists."

"The communists are not a political party, but an international conspiracy," Humphrey said.

Humphrey supports outlawing the Communist party in the United States.

Speaking of his opponents claim that to outlaw a political party would set a dangerous precedent, he said:

"No one would be outlawed for thinking, but for acts against the government." He declared that his proposal was hedged with safeguards against any precedent.

Touching on our foreign policy, Humphrey said:

"You cannot meet totalitarian threats by parochial or provincial methods."

The danger of directing all attention to one area while other spots fall into the communist trap was also pointed out by the senator.

Centennial awards were presented by Dean Thomas H. Good, dean of graduate studies, to four outstanding contributors in the maintenance of freedom and security.

They were: David Fellman, political science professor, University of Wisconsin; Bruce Smith, director of the Institute of Public Administration, New York City; Wilbur I. Newstetter, dean of the School of Social Work, University of Pittsburgh; and Joseph A. Childs, Michigan State Police Commissioner.

Humphrey was introduced by Edward W. Weidner, head of the political science department.

Showers Today ROTC Cadets Watch Clouds And Green Flag

ROTC cadets will walk with raincoats and crossed fingers with one eye on the clouds and another on the green flag in front of Dem Hall.

The weatherman reports scattered showers and possible thunderstorms today. Cadets will watch with interest to see if the green flag comes down, signifying the weekly parade has been called off.

Spartans will be cooled by a 12 to 20 mile per hour southerly wind. The high today is an expected 78 degrees.

Official Hints U. S. Would Favor Bao Dai Ousting

Diem Defies Rebels With New Drive

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem backed by army leaders and reassured of U. S. support — Monday night defied ex-Emperor Bao Dai's power to change government.

While guns boomed in a fresh drive against rebels who challenged Diem's authority last week, a message sent by Diem and three army generals to Bao Dai's villa on the French Riviera advised him that any new government he might name would not be recognized.

A "status general," an assembly of Vietnamese provincial delegates, has been called for Wednesday by the National Revolutionary Committee with the declared purpose of approving the committee's action Saturday declaring Bao Dai deposed.

Diem learned directly from Gen. J. Lawton Collins, special envoy of President Eisenhower, that the United States still backs his conduct of the embattled South Vietnamese government in the face of local rebellion, French animosity and Bao Dai's disapproval.

In Paris French officials, who had been blaming Diem for plunging his country into civil war and clinging to a government they thought did not represent the people, joined the United States Monday in supporting the hard-fighting little Premier. Authoritative French government sources said France and the United States were now prepared to "sacrifice" Bao Dai as chief of state if his removal would produce stability.

This was in sharp contrast to French Premier Edgar Faure's summary statement last week that Diem was unequal to his task.

Whatever new turn official opinion in Paris may have taken, it apparently had not trickled down to French representatives in Saigon. Gen. Paul Ely, French high commissioner and commander in Indochina, has not talked with Diem for nearly two weeks. Nor was Ely at the airport to greet Collins on his return.

But Collins, who returned from Washington conferences Monday morning, was understood to have withheld a new advance endorsement of Diem government moves to drop the absentee chief of state.

Diem and his supporters battled through another action-packed day in the beleaguered capital while the army moved anew to wipe out the rebellious Binh Xuyen forces whose outbreak turned the capital into a battlefield last week.

Ridgway Refuted

Defense Department Backs Military Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two top defense officials have disputed Gen. Matthew Ridgway's contention that President Eisenhower's decision to cut the Army strength an additional 75,000 men came with little warning and without due consideration of the Army's objections.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the cut was long planned and that the Army's views were "fully considered" beforehand and were rejected.

The two gave this testimony at a closed session of the House Appropriations subcommittee a few days before Ridgway offered his views last February. The Wilson and Radford testimony was made public Monday, Ridgway's last Sunday.

Ridgway, who is Army chief of staff, said he was told with "little warning" last December that the Army would be cut 146,000 men by mid-1956 to 1,102,000, instead of the "new look" 1,173,000 total it had expected. He said the Army had completed its proposed budget based on the larger goal, fixed in 1953.

Ridgway said he had no chance to protest the extra cutback to the National Security Council, the nation's top strategic planning board. In their testimony, Wilson and Radford also disputed arguments that the added cutback would encourage the Chinese Communists to make stronger military moves.

They painted a picture of the Army, Navy and Air Force rapidly increasing combat power through improved weapons, particularly in the atomic and guided missile fields.

Radford said he believed U. S. strength in the last three or four years had increased more than Soviet Russia's "due primarily to the tremendous development of our jet aircraft and our weapons delivery system."

Wilson said the 75,000-man Army cut represented a "cushion" left in earlier estimates to meet any deterioration in world conditions. He said it was decided last December, in making a final review of the budget, that the situation in Korea and Indochina had "changed to the point where this cushion was no longer necessary."

In answer to questions, Wilson agreed that the cutback meant the Army's views were "not given primary consideration." He said this was not unusual.

"If you listen to the military peoples only," Wilson said, "they will bankrupt the nation or else create a military dictatorship."

A memorandum submitted to the subcommittee by Wilson said the Army's views were "made fully known" to Eisenhower and members of the National Security Council.

Reaffirms Support of Diem Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States hinted broadly Monday it would favor deposing ex-emperor Bao Dai as South Viet Nam's chief of state unless he abandons his efforts to overthrow Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's American-backed government.

The State Department displayed this attitude while reaffirming publicly—for the second time in four days—its support of Diem's efforts to crush a rebellion in Southern Indochina.

The department's chief press officer, Henry Strydom, refused to say whether the United States regards Bao Dai, who has been living on the French Riviera, as Viet Nam's rightful chief of state.

Strydom maintained an official silence on this point despite repeated questioning by reporters who said refusal to comment "must be considered significant."

Only last Friday, before a backer of Bao Dai tried to oust Diem in a coup, Strydom acknowledged that Bao Dai was regarded as chief of state.

Strydom gave out a half dozen assorted "no comments" in reply to questions as to whether a change of policy had been decided on or was imminent.

Top officials commented afterwards that Strydom's news conference answers were deliberate—that the absent Bao Dai was in effect being put "on notice of good conduct." This was a warning, they said, that in any showdown the United States would choose the 41-year-old Roman Catholic Diem over Bao Dai, whom many officials regard as highly favorable to the French.

Sen. Humphrey, (D-Minn.), vigorously supported the State Department's continued backing for Diem in Senate comments on the turbulent Indochina situation. Humphrey said that in any showdown between Diem and the ex-emperor "Bao Dai must go."

Humphrey said he spoke out because he wanted Diem "to know he has friends in this country who will back him up."

The Minnesota Democrat also blasted what he called "winkers, immoral and corrupt forces" among the French in Viet Nam. He said they were "hanging on to colonialism."

Although declining to comment officially, top State Department officials were obviously highly pleased at Diem's apparent success in defeating the attempted rebellion by a group known as the Binh Xuyen.

Diem's success in surviving an attempted coup also reinforced their belief that he is perhaps the only man on the scene in Saigon who can build a vigorous anti-communist democracy capable of withstanding pressure from Red-ruled North.

WKAR Presents Poetry Series

Poets Dylan Thomas and W. H. Auden will read their own poems, via records, over WKAR's new half-hour show "Exploring Poetry."

The program is broadcast every Tuesday from 6:30 to 7 p.m.

Tonight's show will present selections from Marlowe's "Dr. Faustus" and readings from Chaucer's prologue to "Canterbury Tales." Nevill Coghill, Oxford professor who visited State last year, will be heard reading some passages in Middle English.

A. J. M. Smith, English professor, is commentator for the series. Future programs will play selections of William's "Beowulf" and "The Song of Roland" as well as modern poets.

At Sixth Symposium

Threats to Freedom Discussed

"Freedom and Security" will receive a first-hand interpretation during the second and last day of the sixth Centennial symposium today.

The spotlight will fall on 31 Union when a panel of three will represent their professions at 10 a.m. in a frank view of the United States' problems threatening freedom.

The experienced trio on national affairs are David Fellman, political science professor at the University of Wisconsin; Bruce Smith, director of the Institute of Public Administration, New York City; and Wilbur I. Newstetter, dean of the School of Social Work, University of Pittsburgh.

Monday night the three men received Centennial awards at a Kellogg Center assembly for the symposium.

luncheon at 12:15 p.m. will hear James W. Miller, comptroller of the state of Michigan, talk on "Freedom and Security."

The afternoon program will feature a group meeting at 2 p.m. Informal discussion sessions will be held for each of the three areas—political science, police administration and social work.

The political science meeting in 32 Union will be guided by Chairman E. W. Weidner, head of political science. A. F. Brandstatter, head of police administration, will direct the police administration meeting in 31 Union. A social work discussion in 33 Union will have E. B. Harper, head of social work, as its chairman.

Each of the open meetings will stress the needed improvements and objectives in their special area.

Great Issues Course Needed

Senior class attempts to tangle with a misnamed "Great Issues" course were not very fruitful—for the current semester, at least.

The proposed course came to campus with at least two stipulations, and they were not removed in time to schedule the course this spring.

First it was a very ambitious project. But in planning to do a big job, arrangements couldn't be worked out in time for the introduction of the course this year.

And secondly, the proposed course was semantically unsuccessful, with the "Great Issues" title creating an impression of a series of debates on classic philosophies, rather than a practical course to give special information to graduating seniors.

The idea of a series of lectures began last fall, with the hope that one credit would be granted for the one or two hours per week required. It was to be offered as a one-term-per-year project.

Despite work by the senior class officers who initiated the idea, and cooperation by faculty committees and administration personnel, the course has not materialized. But the idea is worth salvaging for future senior classes.

A report on the possibilities of offering the course in the future is being prepared for future classes. Information is being obtained from Purdue and Dartmouth on the operation of similar courses there.

The report should recommend that no credits be offered. It will eliminate many of the problems which stalled action on a special course for this spring.

A no-credit plan is a quick solution to such questions as: How will students be examined? How much outside work will be required to maintain the school's standards? Through which department would credits be granted? And what would grades be based on?

In addition, the course is planned in part as a review of job opportunities, probable pay scales, job-hunting techniques and the current prospects for American industries.

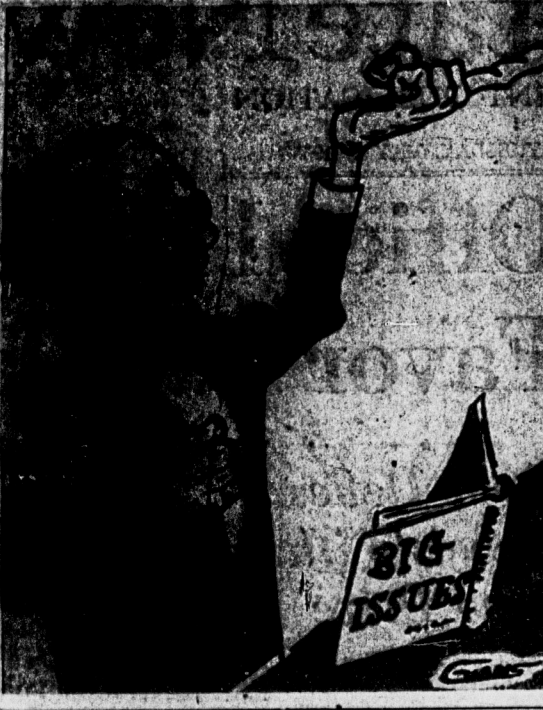

It would partly be a simple service course, orientating the graduate, as writing improvement orientates the new student. Offering mostly immediately useful information, and failing to give either a broad background or provide intensive specialization, it doesn't rate a credit.

Some plans for the course have already improved it. It would, for instance, be offered winter term, when the information obtained would be of most value to job-hunting seniors, and when there is less competition from warm-weather diversions.

The objective of the course still has to be more specifically outlined. It can offer detailed information on opportunities, salaries, employment techniques. Or it can provide a more general look at probable business expansion, the history of American employment and current affairs.

The course has hardly passed with high marks this year, but with a good research paper turned in, an "incomplete" could be turned into a passing grade.

Letters to the Editor

S'News Commended For Kirk Editorial

To the Editor:

The Michigan State News is to be commended for its excellent editorial (April 28) on Russell Kirk's "Academic Freedom," and, as a former student of Dr. Kirk, I am happy to see some notice taken locally of this significant book, even though it took the unfortunate incident at the University of Nevada to bring its title to the attention of people in East Lansing.

The students and faculty of Michigan State are indeed fortunate that at this fine institution a copy of the book is on order at the university library and will be available for the many persons eagerly waiting to read it.

It might be well to point out that not only does Kirk attack American universities for lowering their standards, as was pointed out in your editorial, but he offers a substantial blueprint program for the preservation of academic freedom on any campus. This program consists of the following suggestions:

1. The establishment of a faculty senate to determine the chief policies of the university and not to act in a mere advisory capacity.
2. The appointment of executives who are scholars in the liberal tradition first and administrators second.
3. The selection for boards of trustees of men of liberal learning and large views.
4. The setting up of a General Council of a university at which alumni might express opinion on university policy.
5. The preservation from financial ruin of private colleges which are free from political and public pressure, for such institutions may be the last bulwark of academic freedom.

6. The raising of professors' salaries to a point commensurate with their dignity and value to society as a purveyor of the truth, as it is granted them to see it.

The only criticism that could be made of Kirk's carefully developed program, of which the foregoing outline can give only a very sketchy idea, would be that he neglected to take into account the fact that, as at the University of Nevada, the last line of defense of academic freedom, all else failing, may well be the students themselves.

To alert the students of Michigan State to any possible threat to academic freedom on their campus, the State News could perform a valuable local service, not only by calling attention to infractions of academic freedom elsewhere, but by reviewing Kirk's book at some length and by outlining the nature of academic freedom so that everyone registered here as a student could recognize its importance and any threat to it, thus enabling him to rise stoutly to its defense.

Student Body Praised for MSU Work

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an open letter to Bill Hurst, student government president, in recognition to the student body for work on the MSU issue.

Dear Mr. Hurst:

Your letter of thanks is appreciated.

It was a privilege to lead the fight for public recognition of the University status of Michigan State.

I should like to take this opportunity to commend the student body of Michigan State for the mature attitude they displayed throughout the controversy.

The calm, steadfast position that the students maintained reflects great credit to the school, to themselves and the people of the state.

Higher education is a matter of concern and responsibility for all of the people of this state.

I am confident that the passage of time will prove the change of name to be a step from which higher education in this state and all of the people will benefit.

Win 2nd Straight Golfers Swamp Detroit, 21 1/2-5 1/2

The Spartan golf team, improving as the season progresses, defeated the University of Detroit for the second straight time Monday at the Oakland Hills Country Club, 21 1/2-5 1/2.

The linksters record now stands at won two, lost three.
Jim Sullivan led the team with a good 73 over the tough course. Sullivan's rounds were 37 and 36, including three birdies.

Mary Hurd, who scored 79, teamed with Sullivan to take all nine points.

George Prieskorn was another bright spot on the team when he shot a 76. Prieskorn teamed with Jim Raymond, who also shot a 79, to gather 8 1/2 of the possible nine points.

The Spartans next meet will be a home match at Walnut Hills next Monday against the Wisconsin Badgers.

The linksters will then have two away meets, one at Northwestern May 14 and another at Notre Dame two days later.

Two former Spartan baseballers are now major leaguers, Rubin Roberts with the Phillies and Hobey Landrith of the Redlegs.

Loren Kollmorgen won the IM rifle match with a score of 92 out of a possible 100. Pat Curran and Richard Gereau finished in tie for second place with scores of 87.

In the womens division Mary Ann Ditzhazy won with a score of 89. Roberta Fuller was the runner-up with 82.

Netmen Lose to Illini, 6-3

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Handicapped by the absence of John Brogan in singles Michigan State suffered a 6-3 loss to unbeaten Illinois here Monday.

Brogan later played on his injured leg in the doubles, but to no avail, since he and Jim Beachum dropped the number three match.

Dave Brogan also experienced small success. He encountered Illini star, Capt. Conrad Woods, former UCLA player who transferred to Illinois a year ago, in the number one singles match but lost 6-1, 6-4 beating.

The Illini dominated the singles, winning the first three matches before Michigan State scored. Woods, Fred Most and John Greenleaf checked in with straight set victories before Dick Menzel broke the string in the number two singles match by outlasting Roger Bielefeld in a see-saw match.

Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

BECAUSE ONLY VICEROY GIVES YOU A PURE, NON-MINERAL, NON-TOXIC FILTER WITH 20,000 FILTER TRAPS IN EVERY FILTER TIP!

- Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
- Besides being non-mineral and non-toxic, this cellulose-acetate filter never shreds or crumbles.
- The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
- Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
- Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip . . . and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette . . . that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Many Events Set for Exposition

The 1953 Exposition, featuring student exhibits, an automobile show, an all-university semi-formal dance and a midget auto race will be on the grounds for the Centennial Engineering Exposition to be held May 12, 13, and 14.

This will be the seventh appearance of the annual event sponsored by the Engineering Council. Last year an estimated 12,000 spectators viewed the exhibits and events.

Chairman LaVerne D. Brown, Plainwell senior, said he expects an even larger crowd this year.

In order to avoid conflict with classes and allow more students to see the midget auto race this year the date has been set for Saturday.

Seven cars will compete on Circle Drive for a trophy to be presented at the closing day ceremonies by Miss Engineer, Sue Johnson, Toledo, O., freshman.

During the ceremony, flowers will be presented to Miss Johnson by last year's queen, Jan Somers, and an award will also be presented to the engineering society that has been the most progressive during the past year.

The "May Hop" an all-university semi-formal dance is scheduled for Saturday night from 9 to 12 p.m.

An automobile show contrasting past, present and future will be held in the concourse of Mackin Stadium. On hand will be several antique models as Binh Xuyen commandos, ending 48 hours of comparative quiet on the military front.

Four battalions of the army stormed across the Chinese arroyo—a canal separating the Chinese suburb of Cho Lon from Saigon proper—and quickly captured Viet's old headquarters.

They then headed along the canal toward the new rebel headquarters six miles away.

A French Press Agency dispatch from Saigon said all Binh Xuyen resistance in Cho Lon had been suppressed and that fighting in the area ceased.

The Bell Telephone Co. of Detroit will put on a special show featuring their cash transistor, an instrument used for placing automatic long-distance telephone calls.

The machine router and codes calls automatically and bills the customer.

Among the 32 industrial exhibits will be a scale model of the Detroit Edison Co. River Rouge atomic energy plant and an atomic energy boiler.

The Abrams Aerial Survey Corp. of Lansing will be on hand with a projector used in making contour aerial maps.

The Michigan State Highway Department will demonstrate gauges used in measuring the state.

WKAR-TV to Air Century of Styles

A hundred years of women's fashions will be shown to viewers of WKAR-TV at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The Centennial fashion show will present 14 costumes from the past century, including shoes, handbags, hats, and accessories, and a selection showing the development of wedding dresses.

Students in the department of textiles, clothing and related arts will model the costumes. Assistant professor Margaret Hearn will be the program's narrator.

'Huck Finn' Scheduled In Audio-Visual Series

Famous boys in literature will be featured in the films shown by the Audio-Visual Center in its weekly series, Wednesday in the Music Auditorium.

In addition to the industrial exhibits, the engineering students will have an opportunity to show their projects, which according to Neil A. Newman, East Lansing senior, chairman of student exhibits, can be anything the student has made himself that pertains to engineering.

The student projects will be exhibited in the various engineering buildings on campus.

Convo Draws 25 Spartans

Twenty-five Michigan State students attend the eighth annual Michigan Students Christian Convocation, held at Alma College Saturday.

The convocation, which annually attracts students from colleges and universities throughout Michigan, discussed problems of theology and social action.

William B. Hawley, dean of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, and Robert J. Lamont, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa. were the main speakers.

Students participated in panels and discussion groups. A dinner and devotional hour were held Saturday evening.

tional Security Council. Wilson and Radford are members, but Ridgway is not.

Wilson and Radford said the Army has 80 per cent more firepower than in World War II in its conventional weapons because of better rockets, more rifles and artillery and new supporting tank units. In addition, they said, the 280 mm. atomic gun gives it "nearly as much destructive power as the atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima," and the Army also has atom-carrying missiles and rockets.
