Top 3 Discuss Policies

Three top figures in the Eisenhower administration pose outside the Treasury Building in Washington following a luncheon conference to discuss ways of keeping the government running smoothly while President Eisenhower is recuperating from a heart attack. They are Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Vice President Richard Nixon and Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's top White House assistant. Behind Adams is William F. Rogers, deputy attorney general. Integrity Boosted by Symposium Speaker

Malcolm Johnson Stresses Publisher's Responsibility

By DEBBY HALL
State News Night Editor

Integrity was boosted to a prominent position in the publishers' profession Wednesday at the first evening session of the tenth and last symposium at MSU.

A WKAR radio and Fairchild Theater audience heard Malcolm Johnson, executive vice-president of the Van Nostrand Co., outline the publisher's role "to defend integrity in communications in the twentieth century."

Johnson asserted that every publisher had the responsibility "to see that his books reflect truth and integrity and do not lend themselves to distortion of the facts."

Acknowledging that books claim a lasting influence since the invention of printing in the fifteenth century as a permanent repository of ideas, the veteran editor and publisher stressed the serious responsibility of the publisher.

"Ideas can be dangerous but suppression of ideas in publications can be even more dangerous to the maintenance of a democratic society," he declared.

As an intermediary between the author and the outside world, the publisher is answerable to his stockholders, authors and society, Johnson said in describing the dilemma of communication.

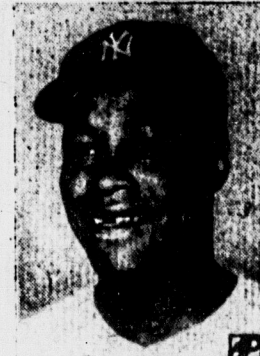

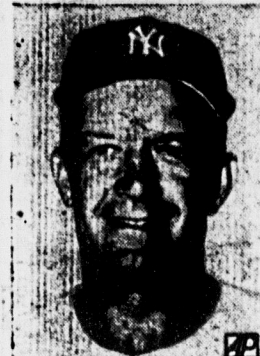

Referring to censorship from pressure groups, the symposium speaker asked, "How far should a manuscript be revised to placate a prejudice?" In reply Johnson contends "the reader has as much right for accurate details as he has to correct spelling and punctuation."

"To defend the integrity of his publications, a publisher has only his heart and conscience to guide him," Johnson stated.

A poet and critic searched for a definition of integrity in their respective field during the afternoon sessions.

Yankees Take Series Opener

Joe Collins (left), New York Yankee first baseman, may be the hero of the 1955 World Series. Collins, the "goat" of the 1952 Series with Brooklyn, hit two home runs and drove in three runs to lead the Yankees to a 6-5 opening game victory over the Dodgers. Eliot Howard (center) the Yankees' left-fielder, hit one homer and got 2 RBIs in the Bronx Bombers' win. Whitey Ford, (right) New York's top southpaw pitcher, got credit for the win after being relieved in the ninth by reliever Bob Grim. Dodger outfielder Jackie Robinson stole home in the eighth inning while Ford was on the mound.

Collins Hits 2 Homers in 6-5 Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Collins, part time first baseman, bench warmer and pinch hitter, smashed two home runs today to give the New York Yankees first blood over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-5, in the opener of their sixth world series.

The 33-year-old infielder, who showed a puny 148 batting average for five previous world series, ripped into Don Newcombe, the Brooks' 20-game winner, for the two homers, and drove in three runs.

Not even an electrifying steal of home by Jackie Robinson in the eighth and homers by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider could save the Dodgers who never have won a series. Once again they opened the series on the same frustrating note of defeat.

After Whitey Ford, the chunky left-hander, appeared to tire in the two-run eighth inning manager Casey Stengel brought on Bob Grim to pitch the ninth.

The fast-balling right-hander struck out Pee Wee Reese, yielded a single to Snider got Roy Campanella on a deep fly to Hankauer and flipped a third strike past Furillo's swinging bat to nail it down.

It was Ford's victory and another auspicious start for the Yanks who own a fabulous 16-4 record in series competition. The winner of the opener has captured 32 of 51 previous series. Grim deserved his share of praise and so did Eliot Howard who tied the score with a two-run home run in the second inning.

But the big man was Collins from the coal fields of Scranton, Pa. His first homer, lined into the lower right field seats in the fourth sent the Yanks out front 4-3, and his second smash, a 400-foot wallop into the bleachers in right center with Yogi Berra on base in the sixth provided the late inning insurance the Yanks needed.

Brooklyn rocked Ford, the lefty who dared to face the heavy right-handed slugger of the Dodgers, and scored two runs in the second inning on Furillo's homer off the top of the four-foot wall.

Poll Shows Uncertainty About Ike

Nixon Favored As Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Republican leaders are reluctant to concede that President Eisenhower may retire to private life because of his heart attack. But at least a dozen are resigned to a belief he will do so.

Out of 115 GOP leaders reached by The Associated Press Wednesday, only a handful were willing to express a firm opinion whether the President should or should not run for a second term.

The vast majority said it is too early to tell, and that the decision is one for Eisenhower himself and his doctors and family.

Few took note of reports from Denver that the consensus of those around Eisenhower is that he will seek to serve out his present term but that it is highly unlikely he will be a candidate again.

The AP polled GOP state chairmen, national committeemen and national committeewomen. They were asked: "Do you believe Eisenhower should run again?" They were asked also to name the strongest candidate the GOP could nominate in the event he does not, as well as second and third choices. The officials were told their names would not be used if they so desired. Even under those circumstances, many chose not to comment.

Vice President Nixon was the man mentioned most frequently as the strongest candidate next to Eisenhower. Some of those naming Nixon refrained from endorsing him personally, but termed him the best-known possibility. A number said they wanted to see who Eisenhower favors if he does not run himself.

Others mentioned as the "strongest candidate" if Eisenhower does not run were Chief Justice Earl Warren, Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and Milton E. Eisenhower, the President's brother who heads Pennsylvania State University. Warren has said he has made an irrevocable decision not to seek elective office again.

There was a scattering of sentiment for almost a score of other GOP figures. Many of the officials reached declined to name a second choice, but mentioned three or four persons as good possibilities.

Several unspoken factors may have contributed to the reluctance on the part of many of those reached to express firm opinions, even anonymously.

Those polled are working politicians, who might not want to name possible successors to the head of their party at this stage even if they were confident that he would not seek re-election. State GOP Chairman Don Pierson of Iowa said, "No good American would want him deliberately to sacrifice his life in public service."

Among those named after Nixon or bracketed with him and others by officials declining to rank the possibilities were Chief Justice Warren, Secretary Humphrey, Sen. William F. Knowland of California, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California and Harold E. Stassen, special assistant to Eisenhower for disarmament.

Soaked Spartans

Rain to Usher Fall Weather to MSU Campus

Scattered showers will drive Spartans into houses, under trees and into open stores this afternoon and evening.

The weatherman has predicted cooler and partly cloudy for the morning and early afternoon with temperature highs of 72 to 78 degrees.

The mercury will drop again tonight to 42 to 48 degrees. Looks like real fall weather is here to stay.

2 Lectures To Feature Latin Author

Dr. Juan Marin, one of Latin America's foremost contemporary writers, will give two lectures at MSU next week.

Dr. Marin will speak on "Civilization in India" in English on Monday at 8 p.m. in the Music Aud. Tuesday he will lecture in Spanish on "Contemporary Literature in Chile" in 32 Union at 8:30 p.m.

His latest book, "The Egypt of the Pharaohs," was awarded the "Ateneo" prize of Chile, as the best book of 1954. Some of his books are on display at the MSU Library.

He traveled extensively in the Orient for several years as Chile's ambassador to India.

MSU Professor To Arbitrate for Ford, UAW-CIO

Prof. Charles C. Killingsworth, head of the department of economics, has been appointed by the Ford Motor Co. and the UAW-CIO to serve as a standing arbitrator under their national agreement, effective Saturday.

He will render final decisions in cases of contract interpretation and application arising under the agreement.

The MSU professor will continue his work as head of the economics department and as co-director of the Vietnam Technical Assistance project.

Killingsworth, author of numerous articles and books on labor relations, has previously served as national umpire under several other labor-management contracts.

Fleas Flee; Seek Squirring Thief

LONDON (AP)—It's enough to make a man hopping mad—someone with itchy fingers has stolen the flea circus Maurice Cheepchen has taken days to bring up to scratch.

Cheepchen, manager of the Troxy movie house at suburban Stepney, put his miniature performers out on display in the lobby to advertise a coming circus film. Overnight they disappeared.

"You've no idea how hard it is to find a nice juicy flea in London these days," he said. "I've even offered a bob a shilling—14 cents each, but had no takers. Really, it's enough to make a man squirm."

Reds Free Germans

MOSCOW (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet Wednesday adopted a decree releasing 8,577 German war prisoners.

The decree declared the Presidium found it impossible to release 746 other Germans because of the "special gravity" of their offenses against the Soviet people.

The figure mentioned in the decree tallied exactly with the 9,323 total that Premier Nikolai Bulganin gave West German Chancellor Adenauer during their Moscow conference as the number of Germans still held by the Soviets.

The figure mentioned in the decree tallied exactly with the 9,323 total that Premier Nikolai Bulganin gave West German Chancellor Adenauer during their Moscow conference as the number of Germans still held by the Soviets.

Alderton has been sports editor of the Lansing State Journal for over 30 years and is referred to as the dean of Midwest sports writers. He is credited with naming the State athletic teams the Spartans, after the first name change from MAC to MSC.

Also on the program, according to Gillette, will be the nationally-known Michigan State Marching Band. Plans are in the making for the band to perform one of its new dance numbers at the rally.

Another tentative plan is to have the band meet in front of the Union and lead the students to the fieldhouse in a parade at 7:45. This has not been definitely approved by Bandmaster Leonard Falcone as yet, he said.

One feature of past pep rallies which will be missing is the appearance of Athletic Director "Biggie" Munn and Head Coach "Duffy" Daugherty. Both men will be with the team at Ypsilanti.

Due to the nearness of Ann Arbor, a large number of State students have made plans to attend the game and so the pep rally is being run off much like a home game rally, said Gillette.

Carnival To Preview Campus Clubs

Freshmen and transfer students will have a chance to get acquainted with Michigan State's club and activities at the annual Activities Carnival Oct. 6.

The Carnival will be held in Macklin Stadium Concourse from 7 to 11 p.m. The event is sponsored by AWS and Men's Council.

Each club participating in the Carnival will sponsor a booth displaying its activities or describing its organization.

Seventy groups have requested booths, according to Jim McGuire, chairman of the Carnival. Total participation of 80 organizations is expected, McGuire said.

Entertainment will be provided by the Kenny Davis Combo and the Phi Kappa Tau Quartet at 8:30 p.m., 9:30, and 10:30.

Included in the numbers to be sung by the Phi Kappa Quartet will be "It's a Blue World" and "Memento to Remember." Members of the group are Jim Cooper, Detroit Junior; Bob Whipple, Lansing senior; Dave Roberts, Dearborn graduate student; and Don Childs, Wilmette, Ill., junior.

Master of ceremonies will be George Paris, Dearborn junior. Applications from groups desiring to sponsor a booth will be accepted until Oct. 6, McGuire said.

The purpose of the Carnival is to provide an opportunity for new and old students to meet members of the clubs and to get information about various organizations and to create interest in campus activities, McGuire said.

Boilermakers, Irish Fill Air With Footballs

SOUTH BEND (P) — Coach Terry Brennan eased up on his Notre Dame football team in practice Wednesday after two stiff drills Monday and Tuesday.

Expecting Indiana to uncork a lively passing game Saturday, Brennan had the Irish brush up on their aerial defenses.

Notre Dame's own passing attack was polished with quarterbacks Paul Hornung and Larry Cooke throwing mainly to ends Dick Prendergast and Gene Kapish, right halfback Jim Morse and fullback Don Schaefer.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (P) — Ace passer Leonard Dawson made a brief appearance Wednesday with Purdue's starting combination as Coach Stu Holcomb pushed preparations for the Boilermakers' football tilt at Minnesota Saturday.

Dawson, still favoring an injured thumb, was kept out of contact work and confined himself to relatively short tosses.

Amstutz was moved from right tackle a few weeks ago. But after watching line play in the Michigan State game Saturday, Crimmins decided to move them back to their old positions for the upcoming tilt at Notre Dame.

Ortiz has picked up 215 yards rushing and 161 passing for a 376 total in College of Emporia's first two games this season.

Schady Day of Coe College is the passing leader with 11 completions in 16 throws for 288 yards.

Ken Lutterbach, of Evansville, Ind. College, is the rushing leader with 273 yards in two games according to school reporting to NAIA from its 230 football playing members.

Pins Plea 'Beat Michigan'

"Beat Michigan." The green and white pins with the above legend that you see around campus are made available by the Varsity Club at their stand in the Union concourse.

John Polonsky, president of the Varsity Club, said the organization is trying to generate student interest in the MSU-U of M game, Saturday.

"The players feel they are going to upset Michigan," Polonsky said, "but the general feeling of the students seems to be that we're going to get whipped. We'd like to have the people behind the team."

The club's members are varsity letter winners and the pins sell for cost, 25 cents.

"Sales have only been 'fair' so far," Polonsky said Wednesday.

Capt. Bucky Nystrom and last year's captain, Don Kauth, were in the sales booth Wednesday and all the club members are giving up their time in an attempt to build up student spirit.

With the Wolverines apparently holding Michigan State in light regard, a boost from the Spartan campus might make a big difference in the Saturday battle.

The athletic teams from the Air Force Academy will be known as "The Falcons." That name was chosen by the cadets themselves at Lowry Air Force Base in Colorado, their temporary home.

State's Improvement No Worry to Bennie

(Editor's Note: Keith Miller, a member of the sports staff, went down to Ann Arbor Wednesday to see the Wolverines beat the MSU-Michigan game. Miller scored himself as a Michigan alum.)

By KEITH MILLER

After an afternoon spent in the lair of the Wolverines, one must summarize that the Ann Arbor is oozing with confidence.

From the practice field in the shadow of the Michigan bowl to the Michigan Daily, the campus publication, there is continual optimism.

And why shouldn't there be this high degree of exuberance? For one thing, Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's gridders started off the current campaign with a lopsided 42-7 conquest of the Missouri Tigers.

Then, there's money in the till, for all 97,239 seats in the Stadium have been sold for Saturday's game. Additional sellouts are predicted for the Army, Iowa, and Ohio State tilts. More happiness is exhibited when Michigan men talk of the one and only Ron Kramer, the Mr. Big of the Wolverine aggregation.

Wolverine supporters respect State, but not to the extent that sleep will be lost before Saturday. Sports Editor Mill Marsh of the Ann Arbor News represents the typical thinking in Ann Arbor with his statement:

"Coach Duffy Daugherty may have performed some wonders up at East Lansing this year, but it is still doubtful if he can come up with a winner this Saturday."

"It's granted that his first string is far better than a year ago. It should be remembered there is quite a drop when he has to rely on his reserves."

"His first string can't possibly play the entire game and Michigan seems to have the reserve strength to turn the tide of battle."

Meanwhile, Oosterbaan considers the game a "test that will help us evaluate our squad."

Wolverine Line Coach Jack Blott remarked, "It is true Missouri didn't test our defenses too much, but I saw enough last week to say my boys gained necessary experience and that our linemen will be ready for the Spartans."

Sideline observers at Wednesday's practice session were thinking about what a nice year this would be to go to the Rose Bowl while the sports experts at the Michigan Daily were looking forward to future contests with Iowa and Ohio State.

One "Daily" editor, who supported the current thinking, said: "Nobody's picking State, we should win by two touchdowns." As the standbys basked in reflected glory, the Wolverine grid-

Hopes Forget Series

New York Takes Stride

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think this will make people forget that 1952 World Series."

New York Yankees' Joe Mauer, a bust in the '52 series, was one of the few players who enjoyed the excitement of the series. He was in the Yankees' dressing room when the team won the series.

Watching all this was up of approximately 100 fans who were in the practice field when the Yankees won the series.

When the squad came out of the practice field, the Yankees were greeted by a large crowd of fans who were waiting for them.

The Yankees' victory was a great relief for many fans who had been waiting for a long time. The team's success was a testament to their hard work and dedication.

Yankees Win

In right field, Robinson's triple and Don Zimmer's single.

The Yankees came right back with a pair in their half of the second on a walk to Collins and Howard's line drive homer into the lower right field stands in left.

Snider gave Brooklyn the lead again in the third when he smashed a 1-2 pitch by Ford deep into the upper deck in right field, breaking his own National League record with a sixth world series home run.

Once again the Yanks lost no time in tying it up in their half of the third on a walk to Ford, Hank Bauer's single and two successive infield outs. Ford scampored in from third while the Dodger infield played back and Zimmer threw out Irv Noren for the second out.

With the game all knotted up at 3-3, Collins lined his first home run, four or five rows into the lower right field seats to lead off the fourth inning.

Berra singled to right with one out in the sixth, his first hit in three trips, and the final blast that knocked Newcombe loose was under way. Collins looked at one ball and hammered the next pitch over the head of Snider into the bleacher seats in right center. It must have traveled at least 400 feet, sailing out of sight over the auxiliary scoreboard.

Newcombe steadied to get Howard on a grounder to Reese but was sent to the showers after Billy Martin lofted a long fly over the head of Junior Gilliam in left center for a triple.

Don Bessent replaced Newcombe and Stengel sent up Ed- die Robinson, a left-handed batter, to hit for Phil Masi. On the second pitch, Martin unexpectedly hit out for home but was slipped at the plate by Bessent's throw.

Even with a 6-3 bulge, the Yanks were hard pressed to hold their advantage in the eighth due to a damaging error by Gil McDougald at third base.

Furillo's third hit, a single, started the Dodgers' dying swan spurt. Hodges flied out deep to Howard but Robinson's grounder bounced off McDougald's leg and squirted down the left field line. By the time the ball was retrieved, Furillo was on third and Robinson on second.

Zimmer's sacrifice fly to Noren was deep enough to let Furillo score and also long enough to get Robinson to third after the catch.

Robby's Steal Of Home Big Play

Bums Are Bowed; Not Discouraged

NEW YORK (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers made the big plays of the opening game of the 1955 World Series Wednesday all on their own — Jackie Robinson's steal of home, the attempted bunts of Robinson and Carl Furillo in the eighth.

And although they lost they weren't too discouraged. "They just beat us, that's all," said Manager Walter Alton.

Most of the Dodger talk was about that big eighth inning when the score was narrowed down to 6-5.

"Robby and Furillo were bunting on their own," said Alton. The Yankee defense was playing deep and both tried bunts. Both failed. Eventually Furillo singled and Robinson was safe on an error.

Furillo came home on Don Zimmer's fly to center and Robinson advanced to third. That set the stage for Robinson's steal of home.

"Here's how it happened," said Robinson. "Ford wasn't giving me too much of a look. I suppose he figured I wouldn't do it, being two runs behind."

"A steal of home like that in the eighth is usually not a good play. "I was safe—no doubt in my mind at all. I could see the plate when I slid in."

Bill Martin's attempted steal of home in the sixth caused the Dodger catcher Roy Campanella to burst out laughing after the game.

"Man oh man, you just can't do that. When you try to steal home with a left-handed hitter up there, and a right-handed pitcher, man oh man. No batter to get in your way. Now when Robby did it, it was with a left-handed pitcher and a right-handed batter."

Collins said he didn't know he had a chance to tie the Babe Ruth record of three homers in a series game. Babe did it twice in 1926 and 1928. "I was going for a third homer in that eighth," he said. "I hit a low inside pitch for the first one, a high outside pitch for the second, using Mickey Mantle's bat."

The total of five homers was only one short of the record of six set by the Yanks and Cubs in 1932 and tied by the Yanks and Dodgers in 1953.

MSU a 'Test'

AP Writer Forecasts Michigan by 13 Points

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — The Ol' Swami wriggled out of his straightjacket: Michigan 27, Michigan 15 — Wolverine Coach Bennie Oosterbaan frets that his boys "scored too easily" in whomping Missouri 42-7, leaving some phases of his team's play untested.

That doesn't seem too much to be worrying about with such a big neighborhood scrap at hand. The Spartans impressive with a 20-13 victory over Indiana, have the speed to give Oosterbaan the test he apparently wants.

Iowa 26, Wisconsin 19 — A "must" game for both Big 10 contenders and one that could go either way.

Backfield speed and a formidable line may swing the edge to the Hawkeyes.

However, they lack a powerful fullback like the Badgers' Charley Thomas and the one-two quarterback punch of Jim Halusa—Jim Miller. The coin says Iowa.

Notre Dame 21, Indiana 7 — Sophomore Aubrey Lewis has given the Irish a stout pass defense which SMU failed to test thoroughly in losing 17-9.

But this time there should be an aerial barrage with the upstart-hungry Hoosiers led by the passing Chick Cichowski, who hit on 11 of 17 for 133 yards and a touchdown against Michigan State.

Purdue 20, Minnesota 7 — Len Dawson has the cast off his jammed thumb and is taking plenty of bull pen practice warming up his throwing arm.

Washington's 30-0 triumph either could have softened up the Gophers beyond repair or matured them. Dawson and Purdue will find out.

Northwestern 14, Tulane 6 — The Wildcats should bounce back from that beating by Miami of Ohio State with a bristling aerial attack.

The Green Wave saw Texas complete 17 out of 22 passes in scoring a 35-21 triumph. Should be a nice trip to New Orleans.

Ohio State 28, Stanford 14 — After being terrorized before beating Nebraska, the Buckeyes

White Sox Seek Cubs' GM?

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Gallagher, business manager of the Chicago Cubs, is a strong candidate to become general manager of the Chicago White Sox, the Daily News said Wednesday.

The News said that Sox vice-president Chuck Comiskey, in New York for the World Series, favored Gallagher as a replacement for resigned Frank Lane because:

1. Gallagher showed administrative ability when he won the last Cub pennant in 1945 with his deal for Hank Borowy of the Yankees.
2. Gallagher would offset "bad press relations" which have beset the Comiskey family since Lane began feuding with Chuck Comiskey in public.

Molotov Walks Out On UN Assembly

Chinese Foreign Minister
Denounces Red 'Tyranny'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Russia's V. M. Molotov walked out of the U. N. Assembly Wednesday as Nationalist China's Foreign Minister George Yeh denounced Moscow's peace drive and Red "tyranny" over the Chinese mainland.

Yeh, making a policy speech to the Assembly in flawless Mandarin Chinese, said that the Communists in their six years of domination of the Chinese mainland have spawned a gigantic system of repression and terrorism, the like of which has never been known in Chinese history.

He said the current peace campaign by the Reds actually is a form of war between communism and capitalism and the "softer words" do not mean the Communists have given up the fight.

Molotov was joined in his walk by Vaclav David, Czechoslovak foreign minister, and Marian Naszkowski, deputy foreign minister of Poland. Kuzma Kiselev, foreign minister of White Russia, remained. At the afternoon session, Kiselev in his policy address attacked Yeh for making what Kiselev called "slandorous remarks."

V. K. Krishna Menon, India's chief delegate who has joined Molotov in advocating a U. N. seat for Red China, left at the same time Molotov departed. A spokesman said Krishna Menon had a medical appointment but added: "Our position is well known."

Asked for a comment on Molotov's action, a member of the Chinese Nationalist delegation said: "We don't care."

Group Plans Homecoming Program

Plans for a Homecoming program were outlined at the term's first meeting of the All-University Homecoming Committee Tuesday.

The program will emphasize the Homecoming activities, Oct. 22, as the final event of the Centennial year, Starr Keesler, director of alumni relations and chairman of the committee, said.

In addition to listing the parade, the alumni banquet and dance, the Homecoming souvenir will include activities of campus organizations over the weekend. Interested groups who wish to publicize Homecoming activities should notify the Alumni Office by Oct. 4.

The program will be distributed to living units prior and during the Homecoming festivities.

The walkout is a favorite Soviet device going back to 1946 when Andrei A. Gromyko, now first deputy foreign minister, left the Security Council when it decided to hear Iranian charges against the Soviet Union.

The Assembly decided last week to helve the question of Chinese representation for this session.

Prof Co-Authors Journalism Book

Herbert Lee Williams, associate professor of journalism, is co-author of a newspaper management manual published by Iowa State College Press.

The 545-page book, entitled "Newspaper Organization and Management," is to be released Oct. 1.

Prof. Williams joined the MSU staff last January after an eight-month stint as research and editorial assistant to Harry S. Truman in Kansas City. He helped prepare the former president's memoirs, currently being published by Life magazine.
