Spartan Leaders Re-Form

Reveal Ideals At Roundtable

By DONN SHELTON
State News Managing Editor
Spartan Roundtable, an organization of, by and for the students, took a firmer grip on its precepts of "by" and "for" Thursday night.

The assembled faculty and students took time out early in their regular meeting to re-examine the goals and principles of the Spartan Roundtable.

What they found wasn't encouraging. What they did about during the rest of the evening

Thursday night's meeting was held in Cowles House, home of President John A. Hannah, who serves as chairman of the Roundtable sessions.

James Demison, administrative assistant to the president in charge of public relations, gave an enlightening brief history of the Roundtable.

Just after World War II, the Spartan Roundtable was designed to provide a better method of communication between students and faculty.

Included in the roundtable personnel are members of the university faculty and the heads of the major student organizations on campus.

The group meets twice each week for a pair of dinner meetings.

The discussion portion of the sessions is an unplanned oral consideration of the problems of the student body and administration—as they pertain to one another.

In opening the post-dinner discussion, Dr. Hannah cited a lack of communication as the major defect in the present functioning of the Roundtable.

From the resulting open discussion came suggestions for better communication between the student body and the groups represented.

He pointed out by Rhoads, dean of Mortar Board, that the MSU student is the envy of the nation's universities because of this group.

She recalled the last national convention of Mortar Board where she was pined with questions about this "unique and wonderful" opportunity.

It was generally agreed that the Spartan Roundtable should be a healthy part of the faculty relations here.

Dr. Hannah began the question period with a brief discussion of the value of the Roundtable conference of land and campus.

He discussed the philosophies of the land grant system and pointed out that Michigan State was the germ from which the land grant system grew.

He pointed out that this is not a convention, but that it is one of the high points of Michigan State's history.

Part of becoming a university is to have a convention, Dr. Hannah said, and this is another indication that we have arrived.

Plane Crash Reward Set

CHICAGO (AP)—United Air Lines Thursday offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the crash of a United plane near Longmont, Colo., 10 days ago.

Four persons died in the crash.

The reward announcement said the person was "completely unknown to the aircraft."

"According to W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, the explosion which was aboard flight 629 on Nov. 1 was completely foreign to the aircraft and to operations in the airline industry."

The airline quoted Patterson as saying:

"I hope this reward will aid in providing information which will lead to the early solution of this industry tragedy."

Rusty Orr and Marvlon Brown will help count Campus Chest proceeds from living units today.

Chest Falls Short Of Halfway Mark

A $100 pass darted the Campus Chest football almost halfway to a $6,000 touchdown.

Contributions from the last day of the on-campus drive ran to $101.59 for a total of $2,184.21. This boosts the net proceeds to 41 per cent of the goal.

Today, Campus Chest will hold on to their football for the last time and hope that living unit solicitations will kick the ball over the 50 per cent goal.

The total so far computes $1,400 from 117, $994.21 from the on-campus drive and $90 from the proceeds from the Spartan Purdue train. The two-day drive falls $6 short of last year's on-campus drive.

Living unit representatives must bring their canisters to 34 Union between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. today. The money will be counted and totaled with the present collections Monday.

Campus Chest representatives from married housing must bring their canisters to the Spartan Nurses after noon today.

Bob O'Hara, director of Campus Chest, expects the total contributions to exceed last year's proceeds of $4,100. Campus Chest went over their quota last year by $100 to set a new record.

O'Hara particularly expressed thanks to the 750 solicitors that carried canisters for Campus Chest.

A faculty program has been initiated for the first time this year. About 10 faculty canisters have been distributed in several other buildings for faculty participation.

The live-in campaign closes the annual drive for Campus Chest today. At the end of the year the proceeds will be allocated proportionately to the national and local charities.

Annual Flower Show Opens Today in Union

The Annual Flower Show sponsored by the Horticultural Society will open at 9 p.m. today in the Union wing building, 340 S. Harrison.

This year's exhibit will feature special exhibits which include a display of the own arrangements with materials provided by the Florists.

Permanent Benefits Remain

A world fair left the campus this summer, but the benefits from the Centennial of Farm Mechanization, Aug. 20, still remain.

"Almost every top executive of the agricultural equipment industry was present," said A. W. Farrell, head of the agricultural engineering department and general chairman of the exhibition.

"Those who were impressed with their first views of the campus will look more closely at students as prospective employees," he added.

The Centennial exhibition, which attracted 230,000 observers from all walks of life, traced

Molotov Vetoes Plan Of Inspection

'Increase Distrust' Given as Reason

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov declared Thursday night President Eisenhower's proposal for immediate U.S. Russian exchange of military blueprints and reciprocal air inspection "would strengthen mutual distrust."

The Russian told the Big Four conference that his idea for quickly wiping out fear of surprise atomic attack would, instead, increase international tension.

Molotov said the American proposal could only be considered in the final stage of world disarmament.

The negative reaction deepened the gloomy atmosphere of the conference. It meant the foreign ministers disagreed on practical approaches to disarmament. They had already failed to agree on European security and German reunification.

On the only other remaining point of their agenda—development of East-West contacts—an experts committee has made no substantial progress.

The foreign ministers will meet in private Friday to chart the final course of their negotiations, expected to conclude next Wednesday.

Molotov criticized the "Eisenhower open secret" plan with this allegation:

V. M. MOLOTOV deepens gloom because it is isolated from a general disarmament program.

1. It does not diminish the danger of a new war and does not reduce the perils of the heavy burden of armament.

2. It covers only U.S. territory.

Tonight's pep rally will include the old-fashioned bonfire which will serve two purposes — one to lull atmosphere and the other to help keep the Spartan fans in warm spirits.

May Be Year's Last Old-Fashioned Bon Fire To Highlight Pep Rally

There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight!

An old-fashioned bonfire will be the center of attraction at tonight's pep rally for the Minnesota game.

Continuing with an old-time theme, the pep rally will be kept as spontaneous as possible. Don Gillette, Spartan Spirit Committee chairman, said:

Gillette noted that this will probably be the last pep rally of the season. By the time of the Marquette game, the weather is usually too cold, he said.

The rally is scheduled for 8 p.m. The Michigan State Activities Band will march from the Music Building to the Band Shell before the rally.

In addition to the Activities band, fraternity bands will be present to play for Sports singing, Gillette said.

There also will be a special surprise feature arranged by members of the commission, Gillette said.

Each Duffy Daugherty will be the only speaker at tonight's pep rally. With him, he will bring several members of the team.

State's cheerleaders will be there, of course, to lead Spartan yell.

A free dance in the Aud will follow the pep rally, with music by the Jim Voochey and Bill Street orchestras. In case of rain the pep rally also will be held in the Aud.

Horticulturist Back From Florida

Dr. Paul R. Krone, horticulturist, has returned from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he addressed the annual meeting of the Florida State Florist association. He also served as program chairman for the meeting and was moderator for one of the business sessions.

Prof. Krone, a nationally known specialist in flower management, also recently lectured on that subject at the annual meeting of the Allied Florists and Growers of Ontario, and at a meeting of the Southeastern Florists' association of Atlanta, Ga.

AFROTC Cadets To Tour Ohio Base

Forty AFROTC cadets will be taken to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio Sunday.

The cadets will be taken on a tour of the base and will be shown the newest Air Force equipment.

The group, under Maj. Byron Black, commandant of cadets, will leave Sunday evening on an Air Force plane and will return late Monday.

First Step To Possible Bowl Bid

Wolves Must Lose One More Game

By JACK BERRY
State News Night Editor

The surprising Spartans face Minnesota in what could be the most decisive game of the season for Michigan State. It is spelled R-o-s-s-e B-o-w-l.

However, there are more "ifs" connected to it than there are theories on what is wrong with the Detroit Lions.

Michigan has yet to play Indiana and Ohio State. If one or the other dumps the U of M and State ships Minnesota, the Spartans would be Pasadena bound come Christmas.

The Wolverines, smarting from the stunning defeat at the hands of the Illini, do not appear ready for another upset.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan sent Michigan through its first scrimmage Monday since the season began. Reliable reports from Ann Arbor are that Oosterbaan spared no one, not even the "big man" — Ron Kramer.

The Hoosiers, Michigan's opponent Saturday, have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Last Saturday they were beaten by Ohio State 20-13, the same score the Spartans downed Indiana by in the season opener.

The week after, when MSU faces weak Marquette, the Buckeyes will play in Michigan's huge bowl.

After losing to Stanford, 6-0, and playing poorly against Nebraska, the Buckeyes have been on the upswing.

If U of M is the biggest game of the year for OSU, for Indiana and Ohio State, the Buckeyes seem to have the best chance of tripping the Wolverines.

If however, neither team beats Michigan but they hold Oosterbaan's squad to narrow margins of victory, State still has a chance.

In that case, the Spartans would need an impressive triumph over Minnesota.

Since State's second game of the season, the Spartans have become the best team in the nation and could go to the Rose Bowl even without a U of M loss.

How could it come about? The Big 10 representatives to the post-season classic is decided by the conference athletic directors.

The 10-man vote for a representative team. Representatives on the list could be Michigan, Ohio State, Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Illinois, Minnesota, and Missouri.

Ann Arbor partisans would point to the first Saturday in October as backing for their argument. The Spartans lead in everything but what counted most — points.

Since that time though who has been the better team?

Michigan—barely edged Minnesota 14-13. The Wolverines were lusterless as they beat a victorious Northwestern 11-2 and they had to come from behind to down Iowa 33-21.

The Wolverines blasted an inept Missouri squad, one that lost their quarterback early in the game.

Post Office Positions Available for Holidays

The Placement Bureau has announced that the Grand Rapids and Saginaw post offices would like a list of MSU students available for Christmas season employment.

Registration for both male and female help will be held at the Placement Bureau, 101 Morrill Hall, through Friday, Nov. 18. Only residents of those cities will be considered.

Pair Up on TV Duffy - Bob Make a Team Everywhere

By NAN RIGNEY

It's a small world for Director of Scholarships Bob Stewart and Head Football Coach Duffy Daugherty.

The two former gridiron teammates at Syracuse University, now and themselves on a weekly TV postcast together.

In their college days Daugherty captained the football team when Biggie Munn was line coach and Stewart was captain of the basketball team.

In 1946 they combined with Forest Eashewsky and Rip Taylor to operate the Syracuse Day Camp. Eashewsky is a head football coach at Iowa and Taylor is a former football coach at Oregon State.

Daugherty left the group in 1947 to accept a line coach position at Michigan State. Stewart followed a year later to join the Athletic Department. In 1951 he became Scholarship Director.

Their paths cross again every Sunday when Stewart is host on "The Duffy Daugherty Show." Stewart further maintains his interest in sports on his own five-day-a-week postcast and in refereeing high school football games.

Needless to say Daugherty is still sport-minded too.

Kentucky Professor Studies MSU Folklore

William H. Jensen, associate professor of English and Folklore at the University of Kentucky, is visiting Michigan State this week on a Ford Foundation fellowship.

Jensen is spending this week studying the MSU Folklore Archives established in 1947 under the direction of Richard M. Doerksen of the history department.

Dads' Day Sponsored By Greeks

Groups Set Dinners, Skits

Unlike the last two weekends, a busy three days are being planned for students. Few events are scheduled for Friday and Sunday, but Saturday's activities range from honorary dinners for Dad to term parties and hayrides for students.

The Forestry Club is sponsoring a record dance of Jerry Gray's music at the Forestry cabin from 10 to 12 Friday night. "Haymacker Squad" is the name of the party. Alpha Phi Sigma is giving for all police administration majors and their guests. The affair will begin at 8 p.m. Friday night and will include a hayride followed by a square dance.

Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Xi Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta have planned dinners and skits in honor of their dads for Dads' Day.

Evans Scholars are holding their main fall event Saturday—Evans Scholars "Buddie Day." A dinner following the football game will be held in the Banquet House in Lansing for invited guests.

Hayrides will spotlight Zeta Phi Alpha and Pi Kappa Phi special activities. Rowe Riding Ranch will be the scene of both parties.

Mystery surrounds the Varsity Club's dance as their guest will not be revealed until Saturday night. Tom Aquino and his band will furnish the music for the semi-formal dance which begins at 9 at Kellogg Center.

After Elsworth, Hedrick and Rowland Houses have planned term parties for Saturday evening from 8:30 to 12:30 at American Legion Hall.

Members of Les Gaurments are having their fall party Saturday evening from 8:30 to 12:30 at American Legion Hall.

Gamma Phis complete pre-game practice sessions.

DG's and Gamma Phi's To Vie in Powder Bowl

By JOE HOFFMAN
State News Staff Writer

While Midwestern football fans argue it out as to which is the superior team—Michigan State or Michigan—two other teams of "equal" strength will be battling Saturday for national fame.

The Gamma Phi Betas and the Delta Gammas take to Old College Field at 10 Saturday morning for the first "major" bowl game of the year—the Powder Bowl.

The Gamma Phi's will be coached by Bud McCullough and Chuck Hathaway. Both men were extremely confident after sending their charges through a light workout Thursday.

"We're in pretty good physical shape," said McCullough. "Even though our squad lost five letter men."

Probable starting lineups:

DELTA GAMMA GAMMA PHI DELTA
Thompson	LT	Claves
Rutledge	LG	Sylvius
Morse	C	Barrow
Manstrier	RT	Martin
O'Neil	RB	Harting
Rumman	QB	Turner
Proctor	LT	Link
Tomsett	RB	Turner

There are only eight positions in Grid Football. Emory Jane Galbraith will captain the Delta Gamma water girls, while Lou Eys will do the pouring for Gamma Phi Beta.

Y Groups To Vary Activities

Plans Include Discussions

Guest speakers will be the main feature on the religious scene this weekend. Several parties are slated for Saturday by the various faith groups.

Saturday morning the YWCA will hold a general membership meeting at the Y house. All old and new members and anyone interested in the Y are cordially invited. Breakfast will be served at 9:30 followed by songs and a speech.

After the game Saturday, Spartan Christian Fellowship will sponsor a spaghetti dinner. The dinner will be held at Bethel Manor from 5 to 8 p.m.

Sunday at 3:30 p.m. the Graduate Group will meet at the Y House to discuss family life and culture in various countries. New members are welcome.

Also on Saturday, Newman Club members will sponsor a "Hail Times" party at 8:30 p.m. at Newman Hall. Old clothes will be fashionable for the evening and a contest will be held to determine the strangest outfit.

Rev. Gordon Jones, Jr., Rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, will be the guest speaker at Canterbury Club Sunday. The group will meet at 6:30 p.m. in 31 Union to hear Rev. Jones speak on "What is Christian Marriage?"

Trinity Collegiate Fellowship will host Dr. W. Robert Smith, Professor of Philosophy at Bethel College, St. Paul, Minn., as their speaker Sunday night at 6:30.

Victor Samia, MSU graduate student from India, will speak to United Foundation Sunday. The group will meet at 7 p.m. to hear him discuss "Adjustment to American Ways."

Lutheran Student Association will meet Sunday evening to hear Professor George Rademeyer of the German Department speak on the "Story of a Medical Missionary."

Roundtable

Mentioned in connection with the conference was the matter of greeting the assembled administrators and looking sharp for their stay.

Bill Mansfield, president of student government, initiated discussion on the group insurance plans that have been offered the MSU student body. He described the two plans already presented, one a straight life insurance plan and the other a combined accident and life system.

Talking for the administration Phillip May, comptroller, said that the university had been approached about the matter last spring.

"But," he said, "we didn't feel that it was proper for a state institution to require that students take out a policy." The problem he said should be taken to the students. He and Dr. Hannah agreed that the university is willing to administer such a plan if the students initiate the action and desire such a program.

Bob Gronewald of Union Board next put Athletic Director Biggie Munn in the spotlight for some answers about Michigan State and the Rose Bowl.

Munn told the group that it was unlikely State would be voted into the bowl spot if Michigan won its next two games. "Would we go?" "We have to bounce Minnesota first," Munn replied.

A question was raised as to the possibility of naming the new library.

Dr. Hannah answered that it would be known as "The Library" because that was what it was and it didn't need any superfluous designation.

Shaw dorms was brought up next.

Dr. Hannah and Harold Lawner, university architect, said that such a bridge would come when the campus expanded to the point where Bogue Street became part of the university.

Dr. Hannah next pointed out that of the $50 million being asked by the university of the legislature for construction in the next few years, all was destined for facilities to house the present enrollment.

"We are not asking for equipment for the 18th, 19th and 20th thousand students we expect someday," he said.

He added, "Our desire is not to be bigger but to be better. We want to be the best in the land."

Bruce Ferris, president of the MSU Vets Assn., introduced the subject of lack of study room on campus and particularly the problem of the "Atoms for Peace" display in the Union browsing room.

Dean William Combs, administrative assistant on academic affairs, pointed out that the new library will about double the present library seating facilities.

Dean Combs also noted that new equipment is on its way and that the new chairs should help decrease the noise problem in the library.

It was hoped that the atom display could be removed sometime before winter term.

Tom King, dean of students, also talked on the proposed "student activities" building.

He said that it more properly should be called the Student Services Building. It will house, he said, all of the groups that service the students as well as student governing bodies, publications and some student service groups.

The center of student activities will remain in the Union, he said.

Inadequate dorm phone facilities, campus parking and cashing of checks in the Union bookstore were also brought up for discussion.

Karl McDonel, secretary of the university, described the new switchboard being installed to lighten the on-campus phone load.

He and Emory Foster, manager of dormitories and food services, said that the dorm phone problem was being looked into also.

Distribution of Opera Tickets Opens Monday

'Die Fledermaus,' 'La Boheme' Choice

Tickets for the New York City Opera Company productions, "La Boheme" and "Die Fledermaus" will be distributed Monday at 9 a. m. in the second floor Union checkroom.

Students may exchange coupon D for tickets to either of the two performances.

Singing major roles in the two productions will be soprano Phyllis Curtin, soprano Peggy Bonini and tenor Jon Crain in "Die Fledermaus," and soprano Dolores Mari, tenor Barry Morell and bass-baritone Richard Wentworth in "La Boheme."

The two performances will begin promptly at 8:15 Nov. 21 and 22.

The 12-year history of the New York City Opera has been one of unusual growth.

From a humble start with a repertoire of three operas, 15 singers and borrowed costumes and scenery, the company has progressed to its present status with more than 50 operas, 54 young singers and a staff of full-time choreographers and scenic designers.

The company also has a corps of ballet, a 60-piece orchestra and a 30-voice choir.

Additional prizes were awarded to Lt. A. S. Ellis, Sgt. Donald Cleaves and Officer Norman Shoemaker.

Give and Take Salesmen Sell Spartans To Bewildered Wolves

An earnest young businessman will do anything to promote his enterprise.

The truth of this statement was demonstrated yesterday morning when four MSU students tried (successfully) to sell Spartan magazines on the U of M campus.

For over three hours, the supersalesmen quartet performed the modern equivalent of selling ice boxes to Eskimos.

Approximately 130 magazines were sold to bewildered Ann Arbor students who couldn't quite realize what their industrious and now quite prosperous neighbors to the north were doing.

Various remarks were cast and accepted on the theory that "customer is always right" at the "peddlers' about MSU in general and the Rose Bowl in particular.

However, the Wolverines shelled out the compulsory 25 shekels in spite of any comments they made.

The brave Spartan foursome was made up of Nan Covey, Battle Creek freshman; Don Hadden, Otsego senior, and new editor of the Spartan, Eric Lundberg, East Lansing junior, and Danne Olinstead, Hayworth, N.J., sophomore, and his mouth's "Spartan Pix."

game, and smashed Army in their best game of the year.

Other than in the Army game Michigan has not shown a sustained offense of any stature. The Spartans have.

State has allowed only 14 points in their last four games against outstanding teams like Notre Dame, Illinois, Purdue and Wisconsin. On the other hand, the Spartans have scored 96 points in those games.

Earl Morrill has no peer among the country's quarterbacks. He runs, passes, punts, kick off, and has even caught a pass. His signal calling alone would make him a top contender for All-American honor.

The lack of points scored against State this year speak for the caliber of the line. The work of Capt. Buck Nystrom and Norm Masters have rated most of the acclaim but Coach Duffy Daugherty also has strong men in John Lewis and Dave Kaiser at the ends, Pat Burke, at right tackle, and seniors Joe Badaczewski and Embry Robinson.

When Robinson was hurt at Wisconsin, sophomore Dan Currie came in to successfully fill the left guard position.

Daugherty has blended his sophomores with the veterans perfectly. At the season's start the amiable Spartan mentor had 17 sophomores out of 74 candidates. This was to be a rebuilding year.

Daugherty has set a construction record as evidenced by State's third place ranking in the Associated Press and United Press polls and their 6-1 record.

Line Coach Burt Smith, who scouted Minnesota when they played Michigan and the Gophers are not to be underrated. Smith said Coach Murry Warmath has a team with a lot of potential.

Bob Rasmussen, a sophomore, has been a standout in the big Gopher line which averaged 219 pounds per man. The line has good speed for its size, according to Smith and the backfield, one of the smallest State has faced this season, is fleet footed.

The Gopher's best performance to date was against Southern California in a snow storm in Minneapolis when they upset the Trojans 25-19.

Against Iowa last week the Gophers did not have the services of their first string halfbacks, Dick (Pinky) McNamara and Bob Schultz. Both will be ready for the Spartans.

The Spartans will be in good physical shape for the game. The full squad worked outside Thursday for the first time this week. Coach Daugherty cut the drill to an hour tapering off the practice session.

Evans Golf Chapter Functions on Campus

By JERRY ROBBINS
This fall the Western Golf Association took another step in its surge of expansion by establishing a Chick Evans caddy-scholarship on the Michigan State University campus. The group, which is open only to those with two years of caddy duty and a scholastic standing in the top 25 percent of a graduating class, has active chapters at 27 colleges and universities throughout the country.

The organization dates back to 1930, when golfer Charles (Chick) Evans and his mother took on the idea that they wanted to help caddies who had a high scholastic standing and were in need of financial aid through college.

After winning the USGA open and amateur titles in 1916, Chick's deep-seated devotion to amateurism led him to forego the gains of professionalism and instead, devoted his energies toward establishing scholarships for worthy caddies. Under the sponsorship of the Western Golf Association his dream has become a reality.

At the present time the MSU chapter is composed of 13 members. The house is temporarily at 327 MAC Ave, however, the chapter reported that the Detroit Golf Association plans to purchase a larger house in the near future to accommodate future Evans scholars.

Officers of the State chapter

Include: Melvin Stevens, president, Jim Gallagher, vice president, Charles Flaim, treasurer, and Robert Block, secretary.

Other active members are: Richard Block, Charles Butterworth, Anthony Char, Jim Douglas, El Kotlar, Jerome Raceno, George Svanereng, Charles Varic, and Roger Vrabec.

The local 13 members participate in college intramural sports and as many of the religious, social and political functions as possible.

Ranger Star Gravely Hurt

BOSTON (AP)—Dave Creighton, New York Ranger center, suffered a cerebral concussion and was under observation for possible brain injury Thursday as a result of a collision during the first period of a National Hockey League game with Boston.

Dr. Edward Browne, Boston Bruins physician, said a neurosurgeon was consulted after Creighton was taken to Carney hospital.

The former Bruins star collapsed after colliding with Boston defenseman Fernie Flaman along the boards.

On Grid Menu Traditional Tilt Takes Spotlight

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most of the 46,000 spectators who'll watch the 78th Yale-Princeton football game Saturday likely would wonder why a lot of other folks are getting steamed up about a game between Clemson and Maryland—and vice versa.

Clemson hasn't even been founded and Maryland was just a little cow college when Yale and Princeton played their first game in 1873—Saturday's meeting between the two southern institutions is only the fourth in an association that came about through the formation of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Clemson-Maryland winner likely will go on to the ACC championship and to the Orange Bowl game.

Maryland ranked for a big victory to go ahead of Oklahoma. Clemson's Tigers haven't even scored on Maryland's Terrapins in three previous games, but they've brought the margin down each year and are hoping for an upset this time.

The 41st in a tradition-packed series between Texas and Texas Christian is another which may have an important bearing on the bowl situation but the Southern Conference race probably won't be settled before Thanksgiving Day.

Texas and TCU now are second and third in the standings, behind Texas A. and M., which is unbeaten in conference play but ineligible for the Cotton Bowl or other post-season competition. The Aztecs are favored over Rice.

The other big games this weekend could stir up a lot of excitement and possibly furnish a few conference races, but they aren't expected to settle anything.

Oklahoma, the No. 1 team in the AP rankings, is expected to continue its all-out march toward the Big Seven title and the Orange Bowl when it plays Iowa State Saturday. But Colorado could sneak Nebraska loose from its place at the conference head.

Michigan State, No. 3 team nationally, tackles Minnesota as part of its effort to get a second Rose Bowl bid. But Michigan, tied with the Spartans for second in the Big Ten.

plays Indiana and Ohio State at the top of the standing but ineligible for the bowl game, faces Iowa.

UCLA, leading the Pacific Coast march to the Rose Bowl, plays Washington and runner-up Oregon State meets California. The ranking teams are expected to win handily.

In the Southeast Conference, where both the Sugar and Cotton Bowls are evening the leaders, first-place Mississippi plays Houston in a non-conference night game, second-place Auburn meets Georgia, Mississippi State encounters Louisiana State and Georgia Tech plays Virginia Tech in Alabama.

Another bowl-hopeful, West Virginia, already winner of the Southern Conference, opens the final stage of its campaign against its oldest rival, Pittsburgh. Notre Dame, a leading team that spurns bowls, moves south to play North Carolina.

Playing football on a team that one year has a Luke Bolden and the next year a Gerry Planutis doesn't make it easy for a player to break into the lineup.

Such is the case with Steve Lowe, 5'11", 188-pounder, from Detroit.

Michigan State, No. 3 team nationally, tackles Minnesota as part of its effort to get a second Rose Bowl bid. But Michigan, tied with the Spartans for second in the Big Ten.

Michigan State, No. 3 team nationally, tackles Minnesota as part of its effort to get a second Rose Bowl bid. But Michigan, tied with the Spartans for second in the Big Ten.

In high school he made All-State in both football and basketball and he also excelled in baseball. The Rose Bowl trip in his sophomore year is the reason he never went out for basketball here.

Lowe's marital status is not known but his draft status is A-1. In the future, the Army will call on his first call and he is undecided as to whether he would like to go professional football or not.

While playing football, Lowe considers the 1955 Notre Dame game the best he has played. He liked the 1954 Notre Dame team the best he has played against.

Lowe believes that the best plays on this year is a key play, mainly because of its utility.

Red Wings Tie Hawks in NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
National Hockey League action Thursday evening in Detroit. Red Wings were involved in their sixth deadlock in their last ten outings when a Johnny Wilson third period goal brought the Chicago Blackhawks into a 2-2 tie.

Meanwhile at Boston Garden, the Bruins' Vic Stasiuk went on a scoring binge, slamming home two goals and accounting for one assist as the Bruins' sudden home standers entertained the visiting New York Rangers, 3-1.

As a result of these two games, Boston moved past two teams into third place and Detroit advanced into a tie with the ailing Toronto Maple Leafs for fifth spot in the scorching race.

AP Honors To Nystrom

NEW YORK (AP) — Line-men are coming in for more than ordinary attention in 1955 All-America football appraisals as the defense shows statistical signs of regaining some of the ground lost to offense in recent years.

Reports from Associated Press Regional All-American Boards give full credit to the forward wall for the performances of some of the nation's top ranked teams.

Singled out for special commendation are Bob Bolinger, guard on Oklahoma's No. 1 team; Bill Walker, end for No. 2 Maryland; Buck Nystrom, guard for No. 3 Michigan State; Hardiman Cureton, guard for No. 4 UCLA; Jim Mense, center for No. 5 Notre Dame; Bruce Bosley, tackle for No. 6 West Virginia; Ron Kramer, end for No. 7 Michigan; Hugh Pitts, center for No. 8 Texas Christian; and Jim Parker, guard for No. 10 Ohio State.

Northwestern Shakes Athletic Department; Payseur Demoted

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern University Thursday announced a reorganization plan for its athletic department in which Ted Payseur was dropped as athletic director and named assistant business manager.

The plan was announced by President J. Roscoe Miller after consultation with the Faculty Athletic Committee and with university administrative officers.

Dr. Miller said no successor to Payseur has been named but he will continue to serve as athletic director until the Faculty Athletic Committee makes recommendations for a new director.

"Northwestern has no intention of withdrawing from the Big 10 in any sport in which we now compete," Miller said today. "The re-organization requires a new director of athletics who will be free to evolve a program consistent with membership in the Western Conference."

From the Infield Do or Die

By HAL BATEMAN
State News Sports Editor

The Spartans are again in the Big 10 title picture but could use some help from outside teams this weekend.

The Michigan Wolverines meet the Indiana Hoosiers at 10 and the Wolves will have to do or die. A loss or even a tie to either Indiana or Ohio State will mean disaster for Michigan. The Hoosiers have a squad that is very capable of defeating the highly touted Wolves.

Gene Chichowski, the Hoosiers top quarterback, has been improving every week and played a good game against the Buckeyes last week even though Indiana lost.

My weekly average in the Lushwell poll was a meager .600 and the season average dropped to .608. It can't get much worse so here goes for another week.

- ### Selections in Capitals
- Indiana at MICHIGAN — The Wolves need this one.
 - Northwestern at PURDUE — Everyone beats the hapless Wildcats.
 - Ohio State at OHIO STATE — The Bucks are on their way to a second straight Big 10 crown.
 - Wisconsin at WISCONSIN — The Badger passing may prove too much.
 - West Virginia at Pittsburgh — The Mountaineers are a heavy favorite.
 - Syracuse at SYRACUSE — The Orangemen turn back the Red Raiders.
 - Tennessee at DETROIT — The Titans win their second game in a row.
 - Arkansas at SMU — The Mustangs take the measure of the Razorbacks.
 - Auburn at Georgia — Wildcats claw the Bulldogs.
 - Tennessee at Florida — The Volunteers were mighty impressive in the Georgia Tech tie last week.
 - Mississippi State at LSU — The Maroons are really starting to roll.
 - Texas at Texas — A slam bang wide open battle.
 - Vanderbilt at Tulane — The Commodores ride the Green Wave.
 - Nebraska at NEBRASKA — Oklahoma's going to the Orange Bowl anyway.
 - Kansas at KANSAS — Neither team has been very impressive.
 - Dartmouth at Boston U. — A cross-town rivalry with no holds barred.
 - North Carolina State at VPI — Believe it or not Earle Edwards has won three in a row.
 - Army at Penn — The Quakers had their game last weekend.
 - Wake Forest at Virginia — The Cavaliers bow again.
 - Oregon State at California — Pappy Waldorf has some more trouble with the aiums.

Nystrom, guard-captain of Michigan State, has 225-pound Norm Masters to help him at tackle. Pat Bozella, a guard calls the defensive signals for Notre Dame and backs the line. Tom Maentz has shone for Michigan at end.

JIM PACE

Pace to Start For Michigan On Saturday

News out of the Wolverine camp in Ann Arbor has it that Jim Pace, speedy left halfback, will be Michigan's "man of the hour" on Saturday.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan, in an effort to add snap to his offensive corps, has signified that he will start Pace at the pivotal left halfback slot.

Michigan sources consider the Arkansas Tech, fastest man of the Wolverine squad. Pace is feared throughout the Big 10 as a breakaway runner who can score from anywhere on the field.

An aggressive band of upstart Indiana Hoosiers provide the opposition to the Ann Arbor outfit in a Big 10 contest which could make or break the Wolverine Rose Bowl hopes.

ATO Cops Last Second Victory From Sigma Nu

By MEL REITER

In a contest of the undetected, which attracted the largest crowd of the season to any intramural football clash, Alpha Tau Omega came from behind to defeat Sigma Nu with only 27 seconds left in the game. The score was 31-26.

Both teams scored in all four quarters, which had each squad securing victory with every score. Nine touchdowns were scored and eight times the lead changed hands which brought the tilt up to one great climax.

Sigma Nu drew first blood when quarterback John Grismond scored on a 40 yard gallop in the opening minutes. ATO wasted no time in knotting the score. After taking the kickoff they moved deep into their opponents territory and scored on a short pass from Doug Bruce to Tom Kratt.

With the score tied at 6-6 and play in the second quarter, the same combination of Bruce and Kratt clicked on a 50 yard aerial which brought the squeak to the one-yard line. On the next play from scrimmage Bruce plunged into the end zone to give ATO a 12-6 lead.

With less than a minute left to the half, Doc McDonald took a late and raced half the field to pay dirt to knot the score at 12-12 by halftime.

Both teams continued their scoring spurs after intermission as ATO took the kickoff and moved 40 yards on three downs. On fourth and final try, Bruce once again tossed to Tom Kratt in the end zone to break the deadlock, 19-12, after adding the extra point.

Still leading with time running out in the third quarter, Grismond threw a desperation heave to end Doug McFeters. The big receiver pulled the ball out of the air and carried it past the red markers to bring Sigma Nu to within one point of the leaders.

The scorers reached in on their extra point attempt to even the score at 19-19.

The fourth period proved to be the most exciting as the most scoring was done here. ATO took the lead once more when Bill Steng threw an accurate toss to teammate Bill Werner for another marker. This gave the Evergreen men a 25-19 lead as they were one step closer to victory.

The fighting Sigma Nu wouldn't accept defeat and struck as quick as their opponents had just before. Versatile Grismond lobbed a short pass to Joe Collier who ran the ball 10 yards and then tossed the buss pigskin to John Brown who was wide open in the end zone. Brown pulled the ball in and the contest was tied again at 25-25.

It looked as though Sigma Nu would pull the game out after they took the lead on a successful extra point pass to Doug McFeters.

ATO came to life after the referee had indicated less than two minutes left to the encounter. Deepin their opponents' territory, Doug Bruce continued his phenomenal evening when he threw to Bill Werner at the Sigma's 10.

With seconds ticking away, Bruce took the ball from center and slid into the end zone for six points to give ATO the lead and the contest, 31-26.

With this triumph, ATO, the undisputed champs of Block IV with a 4-0 record, will play the winner of the Lambda Chi Alpha Alpha Gamma Rho classic for the championship.

There are two important reasons why the Martin Star is rising—and why your career can rise along with it.

The finest aircraft plant, engineering, electronic, nuclear physics and research facilities on the eastern seaboard.

An entirely new management concept in Advanced Design and weapons systems development, embracing creative engineering ranging upward from nuclear powered aircraft to anti-gravity research and tomorrow's satellite vehicle.

There are exceptional opportunities for dynamic, young engineering talent at the Glenn L. Martin Company in Baltimore, Maryland.

Drill Team to Show Precision

By ANN TURKEY
Precision marching will be the order of the day at the Minnesota MSU football game tomorrow.

In addition to the usual MSU marching band performance, the 65 members of the Naval Drill Team will show football fans how to keep in step in a program of intricate drill maneuvers.

The team, composed of naval aviation cadets, are undergoing intensive flight training at the Annapolis, Md., U.S. Naval Air Station at Pensacola Fla.

The cadets will arrive in Lansing early Saturday morning and plans are already made for their amusement during their stay on campus.

Five spectators and each of the women's organizations will be having several members of the drill team for dinner. Immediately after the game the cadets will take a tour of the MSU campus.

guided by their dinner escorts. After supper cadets will attend an open house at the Delta Gamma house and leave for its back to Florida early Saturday evening.

Each member of the team, that marches on routines at 150 steps per minute, will be a commissioned officer in the U.S. Navy's air arm after 12 months of training.

They hail from colleges and universities throughout the country.

Dance to Feature Spanish Rhythms

Fiesta de Las Americas will migrate to the Union Ballroom tonight from 8-12 p.m.

Sponsored by the Spanish Club, the all-university dance will have a Latin American atmosphere set to the music of Panchito's band from Detroit. Rhythms from the samba to the fox trot will take their turn on the dance floor.

Tickets can be purchased at the Union ticket office and from members of the Spanish club.

try. Two members are former MSU students: Charles R. Lee-man and William J. Palmer.

Cadets are granted no special privileges, voluntarily giving up much of their spare time to practice the demonstrations of precision marching they execute all over the nation.

Eligibility rules for the team are strict and falling behind in academic work means being dropped from the group.

Equally fast steppers are the 125 members of the MSU marching band who will present pre-game and half-time entertainment.

Sporting bandmen have prepared a show devoted to "Memories From Musical Comedy."

A variety will also be directed to entertain MSU team trainer Jack Heppinstall as part of its pre-game routine. Heppinstall is now in his 42nd year as Spartan trainer and is the oldest member of the athletic department staff.

Arms for Israel Sought by Minister

NEW YORK (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said Thursday his country would accept arms from any source if her survival were at stake.

Asked if the Soviet Union had offered to supply arms, Sharett told a news conference:

"I know of no offer from that side." Czechoslovakia, a Moscow satellite, recently agreed to supply arms to Egypt, engaged in border warfare with Israel.

Sharett, here to seek U.S. arms for what he call Israel's legitimate self-defense said:

"If driven to a tight corner and our existence is at stake we will seek and accept arms from any source in the world."

Sharett arrived Thursday from Israel. He will make a two-week tour in behalf of Israel development bonds and the United Jewish Appeal.

He said at Idlewild airport he was "disconcerted" at a territorial reference in British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's offer of his services to help resolve Israel-Arab differences.

"I was disconcerted by the reference to the need of a compromise," he said.

He added that "Israel is under no moral or political compulsion to concede any territorial sovereignty."

Expanding on that point in his news conference at the Savoy Plaza Hotel, Sharett said Israel would welcome mediation but not at the price of territorial concessions.

Sharett referred to President Eisenhower's appeal Wednesday that there be no Middle East arms race.

The Prime Minister said he particularly welcomed that part of the President's statement which said the United States would consider requests for "legitimate" self-defense arms.

That is actually the purpose of our seeking arms, Sharett said. He said Israel's need for such armament was "most compelling" and expressed hope the United States would supply it.

Just In Case You're Curious

The big, boarded-up hole on the corner of MAC and Grand River, just in case you've been wondering, is going to be a four-story building.

The owner, George Byrnes, proprietor of the Byrnes Drug Store, expects the building to be completed about March. As yet he has no renters, he said.

East Shaw to Sponsor Sound Demonstration

A demonstration of high fidelity binaural sound will be given by Bill Cruise, owner of Tape Recording Industries of Lansing, at 6 p.m. Sunday in the East Shaw living room.

The show is being given as a part of Shaw Hall's Little Lecture-Concert Series and is open to everyone.

tory and not U.S. bases overseas or those of America's allies.

3. It is too costly and prolonged an operation.

4. It would aggravate suspicion rather than increase confidence.

5. It provides no security for the Soviet Union, and in fact, would supply Russia's enemies the "appropriate" information for a surprise attack.

Molotov added that his government would alter its "negative attitude" if the President's proposal were made part of a general reduction of armaments and prohibition of atomic weapons. But this would have to be "at the final stage."

Molotov proposed to reach global disarmament in three stages, starting off with an immediate pledge by the Big Four powers not to be the first to use atomic and hydrogen weapons against any country.
