Ike Requests Fund Boost For Defense

Extra Half-Billion Asked for Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eisenhower asked Congress for an extra half billion to build up the atomic bomber fleet and strengthen the continental radar screen.

The administration's decision to seek military appropriations and spending for the fiscal year starting July 1 came in the wake of action in Congress that the United States is lagging behind in its preparedness program, and that the Pentagon lacks a sense of urgency in obtaining new weapons.

The Senate's Democratic leader, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, said he regarded the move as "in effect, an admission" that Secretary of Defense Wilson "has been given too much rein" in defense policies.

Johnson said Congress will look with favor on any realistic effort, however belated, to build up our defenses. Johnson added that comment from other congressional leaders, both Democratic and Republican, was generally sympathetic to the request for additional funds.

The amendment to the military budget totaled $547,100,000. More than two-thirds of the total would be used by the Air Force. Wilson said $248,500,000 would go to increasing the number of B52 heavy jet bombers on order and stepping up the production rate of these atomic and hydrogen bomb carriers.

The second largest slice of the defense money would go to extending and supporting the distant early warning system now being constructed along the northernmost main-land stretches of the American continent. This radar screen is for the detection of any enemy attacking by air across the polar regions.

All the armed services would receive some of their added funds for the purpose.

The Egyptians charged that Israeli armored and foot soldiers crossed the Gaza strip border and that an Israeli plane violated Egyptian territory over the Suez Canal Zone.

Israeli army spokesman announced that troops and police hunting down bands of raiders which have penetrated deep into Israeli territory since Saturday night, had killed nine suicide squad commandos. Four more were reported captured, three of them wounded.

Altogether Israeli authorities have reported about 20 gun and bomb attacks by the commandos and six Israelis killed and 21 wounded in the forays.

One hand penetrated as far as Nirgalim, only 17 miles south of Tel Aviv and 20 miles north-east of the tip of the barren Gaza strip.

An Egyptian military spokesman at Gaza charged that Israeli armored cars transported Israeli soldiers who crossed the demarcation line and opened fire on an Egyptian outpost near Deir el Ballah, south of Gaza. The spokesman said there was an encounter lasting about an hour in which the Israelis lost many wounded and then retired. Two Egyptians were reported wounded.

An Egyptian spokesman in Cairo charged that an Israeli plane flew over the Sinai Desert Sunday night and penetrated Egyptian territory as far as the Suez Canal Zone.

Cairo, largest city in the Arab world, had a test blackout Sunday night.

Civil Rights Commission Proposed

Racial Lawsuit Increase Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration formally asked Congress Monday to create a federal civil rights commission.

It asked also that a civil rights division be created in the Justice Department, partly because of an expected flow of lawsuits over racial integration.

It called, too, for a new law to "prevent anyone from threatening, intimidating, or coercing an individual in the exercise of his right to vote."

Further, the administration sought authority for the attorney general to bring action in the courts on behalf of any aggrieved person.

It proposed that Congress throw out the present requirement that administrative and judicial remedies in the states must be exhausted before a civil rights case can be taken to federal court.

Whether Congress will do anything about the requests, submitted by Atty. Gen. Brownell with the approval of President Eisenhower, remained in question.

Eisenhower first asked for the commission more than three months ago. He proposed then that it look into charges that Negroes are being deprived of the right to vote in some localities and are "being subjected to unwarranted economic pressures."

Sen. George (D-Ga.) said that while he hadn't studied Brownell's proposals closely, "I would question that they would pass in this session of Congress."

Eisenhower said on March 31 that he hoped Congress would act on his proposals but that if it declined to do so, he would consider calling conferences of one type or another to consider racial problems.

One big obstacle facing the Brownell proposals is the fact that they would go before the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.). Eastland has opposed previous administration actions in the racial field.

Despite his victory, Slusher seemed no better off.

President Harry L. Gideonse of Brooklyn College said in New York Slusher, professor of literature and German, would be reinstated and then suspended on "charges that will be professionally appropriate."

Gideonse said it will be possible to prefer charges "on the broad professional ground that untruthfulness and perjury are conduct unbecoming a member of a college staff."

U. S. to Assist Mid-East If Subject to Agression

Fresh Fight Ordered for Farm Bill

GOP's Reject Compromise Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders in Congress ordered a fresh fight for administration farm programs Monday after President Eisenhower told them a proposed compromise measure does not "meet the test of a good bill."

Democratic Senate Leader Johnson of Texas, retorted that Eisenhower "has succumbed to the pressure of front" Republicans and joined the lobby against the farm bill.

The new battle will begin in the House Wednesday when a merger of legislation already passed by the House and Senate comes up for approval.

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts, announced an all-out attempt would be made to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference Committee for major revisions. "I'm quite hopeful we are going to recommit the bill," he told reporters.

But House Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) predicted the House would approve the measure as it stands, with its return to price support at 90 per cent of parity and other features opposed by the administration.

Martin, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, and the party whips, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Rep. Amden of Illinois, conferred for nearly two-and-a-half hours with Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Reporters usually get the off-the-cuff reports on such White House huddles, but Monday Martin came out with a type-written statement. It said that the President "is concerned that the conference report bill will not give the real and permanent assistance which is so necessary for the security of our farm families and all Americans."

Martin and Knowland reported the President didn't say specifically whether he would veto the legislation if Congress approved it in its present form. Secretary Benson already has said the compromise version is unacceptable to him.

The GOP leaders did not say specifically what changes they would seek. But Martin indicated strongly an attempt will be made to knock out high, rigid price supports for basic farm commodities.

Skaters Give Magnificent Show

Pass the Good Word . . .

During intermission of Monday night's "Ice Capades," the announcer said:

"Please tell your friends that 'Ice Capades' will remain here at the Ice Arena all the week. Everybody should be told that 'Ice Capades' will be around all week, because the group of national and world champions put on a magnificent and dazzling performance. The opening night audience was treated to a superb, our spectacle on ice, a spectacle combining precision with artistry and acrobatic stunts with comedy routines."

There wasn't a poor act among the 20 nor a poor performer among the 65.

The husband-and-wife team of Margaret Field and Jimmy Lawrence led the star-studded parade. The two did an exceptionally fine job as the hero and heroine in the show's featured production, "With You Were Here."

In the adaptation of Leland Hayward and Joshua Logan's Broadway musical, Miss Field and Lawrence teamed together as a lady skater vying for a national title and her coach who was more interested in the skater than in her skating. A featured in the number was Sandy Lieberman, a 17-year-old miss making her first professional appearance. Miss Lieberman was also featured as Little Bo Peep in "Humpty Dumpty on Ice."

The highlight of the first act was "Dragnet," featuring the actual voice of Jack Webb. The Ice Capades and Ice Cadets brought to an end the icy trail of an icy killer.

Ike Views Situation As 'Serious'

Political Leaders To Confer Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower, viewing the tense Middle East situation as one of "utmost seriousness," declared Monday the United States is "determined to support and assist any nation" subject to aggression in that area.

A White House statement issued with full approval of the President said this country, in accordance with its responsibilities under the charter of the United Nations, will observe its commitments within constitutional means to oppose any aggression in the strife-torn area.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles, acting with Eisenhower's express approval, asked Republican and Democratic congressional leaders by a meeting today to discuss the Middle East.

The White House statement put out shortly after Eisenhower arrived here for a week of golf combined with work, did not go into any detail regarding U.S. responsibilities under the U.N. Charter, nor was there any explanation in the statement with respect to commitments within constitutional means in moving to put down any aggression.

But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who issued the statement, said it clearly meant that if the U.N. declares any nation an aggressor in the Middle East, the U.S. is pledged to support and assist any nation which might be subjected to such aggression.

The statement added: "The United States is confident that only nations will act similarly in the cause of peace." Hagerty noted that Eisenhower and Dulles had a 10-minute conference before the President left Washington Monday morning. He said they discussed "repeated incidents of hostility in the Middle East."

The statement came on the heels of fresh outbreaks of shooting and killing in the bitter dispute between Israel and Arabs along the Gaza strip.

In advance of the statement, the State Department said U.S. ambassadors in the Middle East were urging both Israel and the Arabs to observe a strict cease fire.

The White House statement amounted to a reaffirmation of Eisenhower's assertion last month that the United Nations should be the agency for settling the dispute. The statement said Eisenhower and Dulles "regard the situation with the utmost seriousness," and added:

"In their discussions concerning the area, they are guided by fundamental principles of United States foreign policy, which are designed to promote and strengthen world peace."

To that end, the White House said the U.S. will support any "fair measure" the United Nations might take in the Middle East in the interest of working out a settlement.

Drill Sergeant Marches Men Into Swamp

6 Recruits Lost, 5 Bodies Found

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—A Marine drill sergeant marched 75 recruits into a swamp near this training base Sunday, possibly as a disciplinary measure. Six recruits came back.

The bodies of five recruits, all believed to have drowned, were recovered.

An all-out air and ground search went on for the sixth man.

The drill instructor, identified by the Marine Corps as Sgt. Matthew C. McKoon, Worcester, Mass., is in custody pending the outcome of a court of inquiry already started by Col. John B. Heles, the depot intelligence officer.

The Marine Corps commandant, Gen. Randolph Pate, flew from Washington immediately for a "personal" investigation. With him came the Marine Corps inspector general, Brig. Gen. Carl S. Roberts.

But why the recruits were sent into the dangerous swamp area was somewhat in doubt.

An official statement was provided.

Capt. Ralph Wood, base public information officer, reported to Marine officials at the Pentagon that the forced march was disciplinary action for the 75 men. The nature of the instruction wasn't stated.

Capt. Wood said Sgt. McKoon, a Korean War veteran who joined the Navy in 1945 and the Marine Corps in 1947, marched the men into the swamp area about 5 p.m. Sunday.

Parris Island Marine base is normally a basic training center. Recruits are brought here for a three-week basic training course after which they are sent to other bases for further training and permanent assignments.

Clayton B. Hill, Jr. expects to receive his B.S. in Electrical Engineering from Tufts College in 1957. His interest in electronics was aroused, in part at least, by summer work in Du Pont's Photo Products Plant at Parlin, N. J. But Gaylord's interest in technical work goes much farther back. He received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award at his high-school graduation.

"Gay" Moss wants to know:
At what location would I work for Du Pont?
Clayton Hill answers:

Clayton B. Hill, Jr., joined Du Pont's Jackson Laboratory at Deepwater, N. J., in 1949 and left for the Air Corps in 1942. After military service he obtained a B.S. Ch. E. from Pennsylvania State University, 1949, and returned to Jackson Laboratory. Clayton was assigned to Du Pont's Atomic Energy Division for a period before transferring to the Personnel Division. As a representative of this Division, he currently visits many colleges and universities.

Yanks Picked to Repeat in AL

By JACK HAND

The New York Yankees should do it again this season with Cleveland and Chicago dropping back when the "Yanks" finally settle down for a stretch drive in the American League.

The Indians still have enough pitching to be dangerous with youngsters like Herb Score, Don Mossi and Ray Narvesi to help the "old guard." But Boston looks like the chief contender for this dugout.

Boston Manager Mike Duggan is lone on offense with Bob Porterfield to go with Willard Nixon, Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer. Most important, he will have Ted Williams from the start of the season and both Jackie Jensen and Jim Pier-sall fresh from a blazing spring.

But the Yanks are loaded, despite a series of spring training injuries that found men like outfielders Ly Noren, Bob Cerv and rookie Norm Siebern and infielders Gil McDougald and Billy Hunter remaining in Florida when the club broke camp.

Until Mickey Mantle pulled a muscle, he was blasting long home runs all over the Florida landscape. He should be off to his best start in years. Yogi Berra, taking his time in the spring, hit his stride in the final games.

With Mantle and Berra to do the heavy work and Hank Bauer, Bill Skowron, Joe Collins and McDougald to bring up the second artillery, the Yanks have the old home run punch.

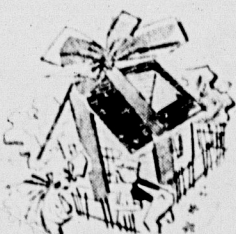

Chicago probably will make a scrap of it as long as its front line players stand the pace. The pitching is questionable after Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan and Jack Harshman although the club received a much-needed shot-in-the-arm with the addition of power-hitting Larry Doby.

Detroit is plagued with a second base problem that may be remedied by a deal before opening day. With Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn hitting the ball, the Tigers will get plenty of runs and with pitchers like Frank Lary, Billy Hoft, Steve Gromack and Ned Garver they can be dangerous at all times.

Kansas City showed good batting power in Florida games but needs pitching. Baltimore and Washington need plenty of everything.

MSU Okays Rose Bowl Pact

The faculty athletic council has voted on behalf of Michigan State for the extension of the Rose Bowl pact. The council, which is the governing body of the university's athletic program, unanimously approved the pact on Monday night.

The renewal of the pact with the Pacific Coast Conference came up before the faculty representatives at the winter Big 10 meetings held at Michigan State.

A unanimous vote of the faculty representatives was needed for the conditional acceptance but the final vote was 7-3, and the renewal was referred to the faculties of the member schools.

A majority vote by the faculties is needed for the conditional acceptance with only negative votes reported to the commission's office.

If more than four negative votes are received by May 7, the pact will be rejected. An acceptance by the faculties will mean that the conference will negotiate with the Pacific Coast Conference regarding matters as the length of the agreement and the fact of the pact.

The original pact was a five-year agreement voted by the conference schools on Sept. 1, 1950.

The pact was renewed for a three-year period on May 25, 1951 with the understanding that no Big 10 school be permitted to compete more than once in a two-year period.

The faculty representatives voted for renewal on May 26, but after a three-year period after the invitation had been rejected by the PCC.

Illinois was the first team to play in the Rose Bowl under the agreement. The Illini had little trouble in trouncing UCLA, 45-14, setting up the Big 10's victory string.

The Michigan Wolverines rolled up the largest score of the series with a 19-0 drubbing of Southern California in the 1949 classic.

Michigan State first went to the bowl in 1954 and beat UCLA, 28-20. The Spartans became the first team to go within the three-year period when they were selected for the 1956 game.

Champ Racer Given Warning

MILANT Italy (AP) — Former world champion driver Giuseppe Nino Farina has been warned by an Italian race expert to have no excessive illusions about his chance in the 500-mile Indianapolis auto race May 30.

Writing in Gazzetta dello Sport, Giovanni Canestrini said, "Farina will have no time to waste. He is 31—and years count for all men, particularly when one has to maintain a speed of 210 kilometers about 130 miles an hour for about four hours."

The article said "it will be a considerable step" if Farina is able to familiarize himself with the Ferrari-Bardahl experimental racer and the Indianapolis track.

"But Indianapolis is a very hard bone, even for pilots of his caliber," added Canestrini.

Jack's Big One Finally Comes

Plays Conservative Golf To Win Masters Title

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Burke Jr., a handsome little Texan, had begun to think he'd never win another golf tournament.

Not since 1953 had he picked up the big check.

But he made up for the long lean span with one stirring victory Sunday by capturing one of golf's most cherished championships—the Masters title.

Burke, 33, came from eight strokes off the pace to catch and beat Ken Venturi and "old pro" Gary Middlecott, who had been one-two since the first day.

And once again the huge woods lined Augusta National Course with its rolling, elegant greens proved that it reserves its championships for the man whose putter is on target.

Venturi, the San Francisco whiz who led the first three rounds, took three putts on the 18th green, including a "Mickey" second putt, an almost unbelieveable four putts on one hole and three on another.

In contrast, Burke had seven one-putt greens.

I had only one three-putt green the whole tournament, Burke said. "That was No. 6 in the second round—45 feet."

"And I never tried to make a putt. I'd get 15 to 18 feet of the cup and try to make it in two putts. Of course, I'd try to put them on line so they'd go if they got there."

The only reported injury for the Canadians was a swollen thumb of Pocket Rocket Richard who tangled with the Wines Normie Linn in the first period. He kept on playing.

The Wings, whose third-period performance Sunday night ended at a pretty leg-weary crowd, already have a long list of wacko moments.

MONEY ISN'T EVERYTHING

I have asked the makers of Philip Morris — an enterprising and aggressive group of men, yet at the same time warm and lovable, though not without acumen, perspicacity, and drive, which does not, however, mask their essential greatheartedness, a quality evident to all who have ever enjoyed the beneficence and gentleness of their wares; I refer, of course, to Philip Morris Cigarettes, a smoke-fashioned with such loving care and tenderness with such kind regard that these old eyes grow misty when I think upon it — I have asked, I say, the makers of Philip Morris — that aggregate of shrewd but kindly totalists, that covey of enlightened Merry Andrews, that cluster of good souls bound together by the profit motive and an unflagging determination to provide all America with a cigarette forever gentle and eternally pleasing — I have asked, I say, the makers of Philip Morris whether I might use today's column to take up the controversial question: Should a coed share expenses on a date?

"Yes," said the makers simply. We all embraced then and squeezed each other and exchanged brave smiles, and if our eyes were a trifle moist, who can blame us?

To the topic then: Should a coed share expenses on a date? I think I can best answer the question by citing the following typical case:

"Poseidon Nebenzal, a student at Oklahoma A and M, majoring in hides and tallow, fell wildly in love with Mary Ellen Flange, a flax weevil major at the same school. His love, he had reason to believe from Mary Ellen's sidelong glances and maidenly blushes, was not entirely unrequited, and by and by he mastered up enough courage to ask her the all-important question: "Will you wear my 4-11 pin?"

"Yes," she said simply. They embraced then and squeezed each other and exchanged brave smiles, and if their eyes were a trifle moist, who can blame them?

For a time things went swimmingly. Then a cloud appeared. Mary Ellen, it seems, was a rich girl and accustomed to costly pleasures. Poseidon was bone-poor and he quickly ran out of money. Unable to take Mary Ellen to the places she fancied and too proud to tell her the reason, he turned surly and full of melancholy. Senseless, violent quarrels developed. Soon it appeared that the romance, so promising at the beginning, was headed for a breakup, but at the last moment, Poseidon managed to blurt out the truth.

"Oh, beloved agrarian!" cried Mary Ellen, grappling him close. "Oh, proud husbandman! Oh, foolish reaper! Why have you not told me before? I have plenty of money, and I will contribute according to my ability."

Poseidon, of course, protested, but she finally persuaded him of the wisdom of her course. From then on they split all expenses according to their incomes. Rather than embarrass Poseidon by handing him money in public, a joint bank account was set up to allow him to write checks. Into this account each week they faithfully deposited their respective allowances — 25 cents from Poseidon; $2500 from Mary Ellen.

And it worked fine! Gone was all the arguing and bickering. They were happy — truly happy! And what's more, when they graduated they had a nice little nest egg — eight million dollars — with which to furnish a lovely apartment in Lubbock, Texas, where today they operate the local laundromat.

So you see? You too can salvage your failing romance if you will only adopt a healthy, sensible attitude toward money.

Lucie is no obstacle when it comes to Philip Morris. Popular prices still prevail for this America's gentle cigarette, whose makers bring you this column every week.

New Dorms Get Personal Touch

Three new dormitories to be added to the Brody group next fall bear the names of men who have made significant contributions to MSU as well as the fields in which they specialized.

Styled in accordance to the other dormitories in the Brody group, Bailey, Emmons and Armstrong will house over 2,000 students next fall.

Liberty Hyde Bailey, 1858-1935, a graduate in the 1882 class of MAC, was the most widely known botanist and horticulturist in the world.

While a student at State, Bailey was active in many student organizations. He was editor-in-chief of the College Speculum, predecessor of the State News, and a strong editorial publication, highly respected by other schools.

He was the first professor of horticulture at State and was responsible for the designing and building of the present Hort Building.

Bailey was widely known as an explorer, collector and botanist besides having contributed greatly to the field of horticulture.

Floyd D. Emmons is the retired dean of the school of science and arts. He also acted as administrative assistant to the president of the college.

Emmons also helped with the high school co-operation program.

Winifred G. Armstrong was a member of the State Board of Agriculture, the governing body of MSU, for over 18 years.

The whole group of dormitories is named after Clark L. Brody, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture. The Brody Building serves as a central dining recreation unit for the dormitories.

Brody graduated from State in 1904 and became a member of the Board in 1922.

New Traffic Jam Arises In Berkey

Students Congest At Center Stairs

Further observation Monday of the new traffic plan in Berkey Hall by the Department of Public Safety saw a new problem develop, while an old one was being eased.

Students were congested at the center stairways on the second and especially the third floor following classes. At times it became impossible for anyone to move in the third floor hallway according to the Safety Department.

Officials reported that only a handful of students were using the North stairway to exit, while everyone else was flocking to the center stairs.

An officer from the Safety Department timed most of the exits from the center stairs and found it took up to three minutes to get out of the building. Most of this time was spent trying to reach the stairway, he said.

The entrance problem of too many students using the West entrance to be better.

The officer reported that at no time did it take more than 9 seconds to reach the third floor. Also, he stated, more students were beginning to use the East entrance.

The Department of Public Safety Monday issued a notice asking that students use the East entrance and North exit whenever possible. The notice also stated that every effort is being made to make the system as effective as possible.

The conclusion of the notice thanked the student body for its cooperation thus far and hoped it would continue.

1st Banking Curriculum Now Offered at State

"Help wanted" signs are going up in bank windows throughout the country.

According to the Michigan Bankers' Assn., top management jobs in the banking industry are going begging. The association and Michigan State are co-operating to fill the demand for qualified administrators.

Starting this term, Michigan State is offering what is believed to be the first banking curriculum of its kind in the United States.

Students majoring in the program will study banking operation, lending, investments and capital formation problems, said Dr. Kenneth Wilson, assistant dean of the College of Business and Public Service.

Both two-year and four-year courses are offered with the four-year course leading to the degree of bachelor in business administration. Michigan banks are providing students with vacation jobs during the summer months.

During the first two years, students take the Basic College courses and introduction to business, geography for business, accounting, economics and business and economic history.

Third year courses include principles of management, business statistics, business speaking, intermediate accounting, financial administration, money, credit and banking, financial institutions and federal income tax accounting.

Senior banking students will take business law, private enterprise and public policy, principles of marketing, bank operation, business policy, investment and securities, markets and office management.

Michigan bankers will visit classes this term, Dr. Wilson said, to lecture on the different aspects of the profession. Students recently made a field trip to Detroit where they toured the Federal Reserve Bank and several other large banks.

MSU Grants Unsettled

The legislature wound up its 1956 session last week without settling the appropriations bill containing MSU construction grants.

Included in the bill is $1,130,000 to complete the new animal industry building, $2,000,000 to begin work on an education building, $800,000 to start an electric generating plant, $160,000 to complete plans for a mechanical engineering building, and $40,000 for preliminary plans for a business administration building.

A bill granting permission for the construction of the student service building, intramural buildings and new married housing units was also left unsettled.

The legislature will return to Lansing for its final adjournment May 10-11 to complete work on 14 unfinished bills.

Although the legislature was expected to pass the appropriation bill before the end of the session last week, there is no reason to be concerned about the delay, President John A. Hannah said.

To Visit 14 Nations on 10-Week Jaunt

Dr. Tukey on AEC Tour of Asia

Dr. H. B. Tukey, head of the department of horticulture, left last week on a 10-week tour of 14 Asiatic nations as part of an eight-man Atomic Energy Commission-sponsored team of inspection.

The team will inspect the countries in preparation for developing preliminary technical plans regarding facilities required and needs to be met by the Center of Nuclear Research and Training for Southeast Asia, to be located at Manila in the Philippines.

On October 20, 1955, the United States proposed the development of the center which will be a research center for all atomic energy matters of interest to the area, in furtherance of President Eisenhower's "Atoms-for-Peace" program.

Dr. Tukey said the United States is now preparing to move rapidly with initial plans for the cooperative center as a means of putting atomic energy to work for the economic and social progress of Asia.

This country will provide funds for laboratory facilities and equipment and supply a reactor for research and training purposes. The center will supplement existing facilities in Asia for training engineers, physicians and chemists at the college level.

The center will offer facilities for research in medicine, agriculture and industry and make available at a single site laboratories and major equipment required for training and research.

In addition to these uses the center will serve as a convenient meeting place for international conferences of scientists, government officials, industrial leaders.

Dr. Tukey said he expects to see Professor F. L. O'Rourke, on leave from the department of horticulture at Bangkok, Thailand, Dr. H. Von Oppenfeld, formerly of the same department and now in the Philippines, as well as MSU officials at Saigon and Okinawa and a number of graduates in the respective countries.

"The United States government is placing great hope that the plan for the nuclear center will prove to be an important link between the free peoples of the world and in the shaping of American scientific knowledge and facilities for the countries of Southeast Asia," concluded Dr. Tukey.

Other members of the team include: Dr. Marvin Fox, Chairman of the Reactor Department of Brookhaven National Laboratory (physics); Dr. Victor Bondi of Brookhaven (medical physics); Dr. Solomon Chafkin, International Cooperation Administration (economics); Dr. J. F. Hogarty, Vitrco Corporation of America (chemical engineering); Dr. Harold Smith, Cornell University (genetics); Dr. Horace Smith, Department of State (foreign affairs); Dr. Amery Vandenberg, University of Kentucky (political science); and Dr. F. C. Vandehey, Oakridge National Laboratory (theoretical physics).

Dr. Tukey will represent biology and agriculture.

Time In

U. S. to View Rainier-Kelly Wedding

MONTPELIER, Monaco (AP)—Prince Rainier III Monday night patched up his differences with American television and newsreels. He indicated he will fix things so U.S. viewers can see his marriage to Grace Kelly.

The Prince previously decided to bar American TV and newsreels from his civil marriage on April 18 on the grounds that the ceremony might be "vulgarized by the wrong kind of commercials."

After a session with newsmen and network representatives Monday afternoon, Rainier agreed to let them photograph his wedding.

The Prince was assured that while commercials will be used, the actual ceremony will not be interrupted for them. Presumably they will come before and after the film of the wedding ceremony.
