It's Seldom Been Easier For Grads to Find Jobs

Born during the job-searce days of the depression, this year's graduating seniors will have an easier time getting started in their life's work than their parents did.

Recruiters from all types of business and industry are literally pounding down the doors of university placement bureaus in their search for new employees. Never before have the college-trained been in such demand.

This surge of interest in the university graduate is reflected in Michigan State's own placement program.

In the six-month period from October, 1951, through March, 1955, a total of 379 companies visited the Placement Bureau to interview prospective employees. During the same period this year, 639 companies—a gain of 66 per cent—sent recruiters to campus.

Students in some fields can take their pick of a dozen different companies, each firm offering special benefits in the hope of luring its man.

Explaining the current shortage of trained personnel, Jack Breslin, director of the MSU Placement Bureau said, "The entire economy is expanding. As companies expand and try out new developments, they create markets for other companies, who expand in turn. It's a chain reaction."

Contributing to the shortage is the fact that birthrates were low during the depression. The present demand is expected to continue for another five years, then level off when the first huge crop of "war babies" graduates.

Industry's hunger for the college man is evidenced by the mass recruiting programs being carried on at many universities. One of these was the General Motors program held here in February, the largest ever conducted on any American campus.

Forty-three recruiters, representing 21 divisions of the General Motors corporation, interviewed nearly 200 June graduates for jobs with the company.

More and more companies are discarding the old Horatio Alger theory, where the unschooled office boy rises to become the company president. The increased complexity of our economy and technology makes it necessary for an ever-larger percentage of employees to have a thorough education before they ever start on the job.

"For a boy even to get an opportunity for an interview in many companies," Breslin said, "he must have a college education."

The greatest demand at present, both at State and on the national level, is for graduates in the pure and applied sciences—chemistry, physics, mathematics and engineering.

According to a report from Northwestern University, 160 companies are planning to hire 7,866 engineers and scientists this year. That represents a 47 per cent increase over the number actually hired last year.

Starting salaries for graduates in science and engineering are higher than those in any other field. The average starting pay for MSU graduates in science and engineering is $420 a month for the B. S. degree, $410 to $450 a month for the M. S. Average salaries have increased by 5 per cent since Jan. 1.

Jobs in other fields, although not as plentiful as those in engineering and science, are easier to find than in the past.

The 160 companies studied by North-western are planning to hire 7,507 graduates in accounting, sales, and general business. Starting pay for State graduates in general business averages $380 a month for the B. S., $425 for the M. S.

Teaching is another field where the demand outdistances the supply. "Demands for teachers are critical at all levels," the Placement Bureau reports, "elementary, secondary, college, and university."

Salary rates in education, however, have not kept up with the demand. For MSU graduates who go into teaching, the average pay is $315 a month for those with bachelors' degrees, $350 for those with their masters'.

Although specialists are still wanted, majors in English, history, and other liberal arts subjects also have good job opportunities in industry.

"There is an increasing demand for the good liberal arts student," Breslin said. He added that the Placement Bureau has received at least twice as many calls for liberal arts majors this year as last.

More and more companies are experimenting with liberal arts majors and have found them good," Breslin said. These companies are looking for future executives with a wide general knowledge and an adaptability to all kinds of situations.

What does the personnel shortage mean for university graduates, besides better salaries?

First, it means a host of added benefits; from vacation, insurance, and medical facilities to opportunities for advanced training, often within the firm itself.

A perennial question for graduates, the draft, is also being considered in the companies' recruiting plans. Ninety-two per cent of all companies visiting the Placement Bureau indicate they will hire graduates regardless of their military status.

With so many employers pulling at his coat-tails, the university graduate can afford to shop around. Strangely enough, that's just what many of the employing companies want him to do.

After spending thousands of dollars breaking in a new man, no company wants to wind up with an unhappy misfit on its hands, plugging along in a job which doesn't fit his interests and abilities.

It's a good year for the graduate. He can afford to make the best of it.

This is the last of a series of diagrams the State News has published this week to acquaint students and faculty with locations of materials in the new library. Above is the third floor containing divisions for Physical Science and Biological and Applied Science. Materials located in the Physical Science room are listed under classification numbers of chemistry, physics, mathematics, astronomy, geology, paleontology, statistics and engineering. In the Biological and Applied Science room are materials relating to agriculture and home economics. Adjacent to this room is a section of open stacks which include materials on general science, biology, botany and zoology, useful arts, medicine and agriculture.

He's Against It, But Congress Passed It

Rigid Farm Bill Is Ike's Baby

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following, compiled by the Associated Press, describes the major provisions of the farm bill passed by both houses of Congress Wednesday. It scraps the flexible price support system President Eisenhower fought for and won after a congressional battle two years ago. Some observers have called the bill the worst legislative defeat Eisenhower has suffered since entering the White House. He now has a choice of signing the bill into law or vetoing it.)

THE SOIL BANK
One section sets up an acreage reserve and the other a conservation reserve, both designed to cut production and reduce surpluses.

The bill provides 750 million dollars a year in payments to farmers joining the acreage reserve and 450 millions for participation in the conservation reserve.

Farmers in the acreage reserve plan would agree not to plant corn, wheat, cotton, rice, peanuts, most types of tobacco and feed grains on a specified number of acres they otherwise would have used for these crops.

Under the conservation reserve, farmers would be encouraged not to plant some of their less productive cropland.

PRICE SUPPORTS
Mandatory price supports at 90 per cent of parity would be established for this year on these basic commodities: wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. The flexible system of price supports at 75 to 90 per cent of parity would resume in 1957. Tobacco is already supported at 90 per cent.

Parity is a price level designed to reflect a fair price to the farmer in relation to the cost of things he must buy.

In figuring parity, the secretary of agriculture would have to use either the old parity formula based on the 1909-14 period, or the new modernized formula, based on price relationship within the 10 years immediately past—whichever is higher.

OTHER FEATURES
A two-price system for wheat would go into effect in 1957 if approved by farmers this summer.

The secretary of agriculture could sign contracts with farmers to enter into conservation practices on designated acres.

The conservation practices would include such things as converting cropland to grass cover, tree planting and water storage projects.

CORN FARMERS IN THE COMMERCIAL CORN GROWING AREAS could plant up to 51 million acres in 1956—eight million more than the secretary had proclaimed—and still be eligible for price supports and soil bank payments.

Cotton growers would be given protection against any cut in their acreage allotments in 1957 and 1958 below the 1956 level. No matter how much cotton is in surplus.

There would be 500 million dollars available for buying programs to support prices of surplus commodities. This would apply mainly to perishables such as beef, hogs and dairy products.

There would be a minimum dairy price supports at 80 per cent of parity, with a maximum of 90 per cent. The present system permits supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent. Higher than 80 per cent supports would be directed for the marketing year ending next March 31.

Jordan has become the prize of the political tug of war between Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Iraq's Premier Nuri said.

Since the September Czech arms deal, Nasser has been the hero. Suddenly overnight, there was a drop in his stock among the refugees—who are a powerful political force in this country. Palestinians were killed in the latest attacks and there was wrath among fellow Palestinian refugees here. They are asking loudly why Nasser is not using his shiny new Communist arms.

Yet the situation here is full of danger. In stone huts, tin shacks and tents on the Jebels hills around Amman there is far less calm.

Passions among the half million Arab refugees in Jordan run higher with each report of an Israeli attack.

This confused little nation has been thrust suddenly to the forefront of Middle East power politics. The entire Western defense position is linked up with its future. That is why pressures bear down so heavily on the shoulders of the young king who would rather think about dull carburetors, jet planes and

Israel Border Like 'Edge of Volcano'

Jordan—'Lull Before Summer Storm'

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—Here on the edge of the volcano there is an unnatural calm like the lull before the summer storm.

"Israel has humiliated the Arabs again," leading Arabs are saying, "but we must wait. We are not strong enough yet."

There is clearly a feeling among leading Jordanians that time is running out for Israel.

"Why did they attack in the Gaza Strip?" one Arab leader asked me. "It was because Israel is desperate. She knows we are getting stronger every day. She must provoke us to action that will bring Western intervention and freeze the status quo as she will be safe. But we will not fall for this trick."

Debators Win Trophy In Tourney

MSU's forensic squad earned five first place gold medals to win the Sweepstakes trophy at the regional Pi Kappa Delta Speech tournament in Grove City, Pa., this week.

Mary Martin, Flint junior, June Turner, Farmington junior, Bill Martin, Jackson senior, and Bert Sheppard, Shreve, O., junior represented State at the tournament.

According to Coach Dr. F. G. Alexander, MSU's showing at the tournament was the best the university has done in recent years.

Miss Martin and Miss Turner took first in debate on both the affirmative and negative side of the Guaranteed Annual Wage question.

MSU took top honors in discussion with Miss Turner and Sheppard winning first place in the men's and women's division. The topic for discussion was how the United States could best implement the Supreme Court's decision on segregation.

Miss Martin placed second in oratory with an oration dealing with the uninformed American public while Miss Turner won the extemporaneous speaking contest on juvenile delinquency.

Thirteen schools from Maine, West Virginia, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana participated in the regional tournament.

Promenaders to Attend Saginaw Dance Party

The Promenaders will attend the Saginaw Square Dance Festival Saturday.

The festival is a get-together of square and folk dance clubs from lower Michigan. The group from State will put on a demonstration during the festival.

It pays to add Gibbs secretarial training to your college accomplishments if you are ambitious to get and hold one of those better positions in business.

Spartacade, Parties Slated For Weekend

Spartans this weekend will have a chance to compare tans and bunk accounts, past memories of spring vacation, at Spartacade which will be held Saturday night from 7-12 in Jenison Fieldhouse.

In keeping with the southern trend of spring vacation, Zeta Tau Tau is having a Bermuda party and everyone is invited, providing they wear bermudas. The party will be held at the house from 9-12, Friday, and couples will dance to the music of the Mello-States.

The Alpha Epsilon Pi's and their dates will dance to records from 8-12, Friday night, in a south sea island atmosphere. Bermudas or slacks will meet the casual dress requirements.

A dressy springtime dance from 9-12, Friday night, at the Delta Chi house, will feature the Delta Chi Quartet and the music of Mickey Taylor and his band.

Dr. Elson To Speak at Conference

Faculty to Attend
All-State Meeting

A dinner and discussions have been planned this week by several of the religious groups.

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, of the National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D.C., will speak at the All-State meeting of Methodist Men at MSU April 14. Dr. Elson is pastor of the church at Detroit.

More than 750 laymen and ministers from Methodist churches in Michigan will attend this fourth annual educational conference. University staff members will preside at many of the forums at this leadership training project.

The YMCA is busy working on a booth for Spartacade under the chairmanship of Paul Ronney. Another activity the Y is planning a bike hike for the Cycling Spartans Saturday morning at 9. The group will meet in front of the Y and to prepare to leave.

Several meetings have been planned by the Christian Student Foundation. On Sunday at 9 a.m. Rev. George T. Krome will speak at the Westminster Foundation at College House on "The Meaning of Trinity — the Eternal Triangle."

Stanley Izderda, humanistic professor, will speak on "The Seven Deadly Virtues" in the social hall of Peoples Church at 7 p.m. Sunday. There will be a discussion and refreshments after the speech.

Only 17 Years Old Pert Blonde Featured In 'Ice Capades'

By NAN RIGNEY
State News Night Editor

It has been eight months since 17-year-old Sandy Culbertson was offered a professional contract, signed it and appeared as a featured performer in the "Ice Capades."

It all happened in a matter of days last August—so suddenly that the pert little blonde still shakes her head in amazement.

Sandy agrees that it has certainly been a thrilling transition from the neighborhood ice pond to the spotlight of "Ice Capades." Most thrilling of all, Sandy recalled, was the night in Fresno when she filled in for "Ice Capades" star, Margaret Field. "I've never been so scared in my life," she said.

Sandy first became familiar with the ice in the rough and tumble action of hockey played by the youngsters in her neighborhood. When she was 12, her father rewarded her enthusiasm for the sport with a membership card in the Chicago Figure Skating Club.

As the sport became a skill requiring constant practice, Sandy's parents moved within two blocks of the arena. With this new opportunity to practice, she spent much time watching the precision showmanship of the professionals, who inspired a desire to skate for the public.

Sandy was coached by Michael Kirby, former skating partner of Barbara Ann Scott and by Gus Lussi, who trained Dick Button, U.S. Men's Figure Skating Champion.

My mother and father were two of my best coaches too," she said. Their interest brought them to as many practices and performances as possible. Her parents have attended many of her professional appearances throughout the country, following the circuit very closely.

Sandy trained for competitive skating and entered the Mid-Western contests in Lansing in 1954, where she placed second in the junior ladies division. She entered again in 1955 and won.

Her favorite costume in the show is the tailored wool outfit and beanie she wears for the "Wish You Were Here" finale. This corresponds with her taste for tailored, simple clothes for streetwear.

Also sports-minded in her activities, Sandy enjoys horseback riding and tennis next to skating. During the off-season when—fall in late summer, she hopes to find time for her hobbies.

As for her future plans, she grinned and said "Skating."

Gridders Hold Heavy Drills Before 1st Spring Scrimmage

Wilson Fills Quarterback Position

Kowalezyk Works On Passing Game

By PETE WALTERS

Staging its final "dress rehearsal" for Saturday's intra-collegiate competition at Macklin Stadium, Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartan grid team ran through a series of bodily contact drills, its heaviest work so far this spring. Thursday afternoon at the secret practice field.

The just string team, led by backfield combination of quarterback Pat Wilson, halfback Walt Kowalezyk and Clark Peaks and fullback Don Gill, pumped heads with several heavy lineups during the practice.

Marked the first time this spring that the number one unit will scrimmage action.

Wilson, who seems the likely choice to fill the vacancy left by American signal called Earl Smith this fall, led his team through several familiar plays as well as a couple of not-so-familiar ones.

Kowalezyk indicated that he might be paying more attention to his passing game by tossing long aerial from a fake left end sweep in one of the practice plays.

Kowalezyk's only pass in intra-collegiate competition was made in a similar play in the 1955 bowl contest when he connected with Peaks for a 32-yard touchdown.

Changing line positions on the squad were ends Dave Kaise and Les Rutledge, guards Currie and Cliff LaRose and center John Matsko.

Pat Wilson, team physical instructor who also helps at coaching wrestling, will also compete at 191. While Thomas has worked with Maitlow during the year, the two have met officially only once.

It was in a NAAU meet several years ago, and Thomas won. But Maitlow was the only contender Thomas didn't pin in the tourney.

Coniglio was first string 160-pounder during the past season, but two other matmen, Lennox and Ferguson, will also compete in that class. Ykimoff and Hurley will be pitted at 147, and O'Hara is matched at 137 pounds.

There will be both freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling at the tourney.

Partchin injured his right knee, and will be out of the tourney indefinitely.

Saturday's scrimmage, the fifth of six allotted practice sessions, will be the first in Macklin, this year and will be closed to the public.

State Nine Works Out After Win

Team Has Drill, Inter-squad Game

Even though the sunny skies subsided and a cool breeze swept over Old College Field Thursday, the Spartan baseball squad wasn't on its laurels after its 19-3 win over the University of Detroit the day before.

Coach John Kobs put his team through light drills and then called for an intra-squad game.

Jack Wenner started on the hill for the regulars and seemed to have his control and speed as he sent several hitters down by way of the strike-out route.

The big left hander saw action only as a pinch runner for Ray Collard in the fifth inning against the Tigers.

In the hitting department, both Jim Sack and Roscoe Davis continued to hit the ball on the nose.

Davis, who had a perfect day at the plate with two for two Wednesday, drilled a sharp single to center his first time up and later sent the left fielder near the 340-foot marker for his long drive.

Capt. Ed Hobaugh and Walt Godfrey were given a day's rest by Coach Kobs. Both hurled three innings against the Detroit nine and only went through a light workout.

Weightlifting Club To Enter NCAA

Two Michigan State teams, the Weightlifting Club and the Ping Pong Club, will travel to Ohio this weekend to compete in NCAA meets.

The weight men will vie against the best of the country's college weightlifters at Ohio State in Columbus. Earlier this year, the Spartan team defeated Ohio State, the defending champions.

Spartans competing will be Dick Greiner, 181 pound class, Dave Norton, 148 pound class, and Bob Quenell in the 198 pound class.

The Ping Pong Club goes to Athens, Ohio to play its tournament at Ohio University. The six-man squad consists of Elliot Greenberg, Gerald Zeleaga, Chien Shun Cheng, Don Huzingh, Richard Kankam and Charles Dunsmuir.

Matmen Enter Ypsilanti Regional Olympic Trials

By LARRY GUSTIN

Eight Michigan State grapplers are among those entered in the Olympic regional trials at Ypsilanti today and Saturday.

Ken Maitlow and Chris Coniglio of the varsity, former members Dale Thomas and Ted Lemox, and freshmen Jim Ykimoff, Chuck O'Hara, and Ralph Hurley are the MSU contenders.

Maitlow, a sophomore, 191-pounder, won the national AAU Greco-Roman championship in his class during spring vacation. He also placed fourth in the AAU free-style division.

Thomas, a physical education instructor who also helps at coaching wrestling, will also compete at 191. While Thomas has worked with Maitlow during the year, the two have met officially only once.

It was in a NAAU meet several years ago, and Thomas won. But Maitlow was the only contender Thomas didn't pin in the tourney.

Wojey Makes Bid for Majors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pete Wojey, the much-traveled veteran who spent years of frustration in the minor leagues, has strengthened his bid for a major league job with the Detroit Tigers.

The 33-year-old pitcher says he knows what will put him in the majors and keep him there—a lot of hard work.

"My biggest trouble has always been control," says the stocky right-hander. "When I can't get the ball over the plate, I've had it. And sometimes on days when I feel best, I have the most trouble."

Wojey pitched four innings in the 14-inning scoreless duel with the Milwaukee Braves Wednesday. He faced only 13 men—one over the minimum. His control was near perfect, and he walked only one batter while permitting a single hit. A double play erased the extra runner.

Wojey—his full name is Wojciechowski—figures the breaks have to come along sooner or later. "I think I've been pretty patient—maybe this year will be it."

Breaking into baseball back in 1941 with Brooklyn's vast farm system, Wojey later entered service and wound up in the Chicago White Sox chain, from there it was back to the Dodgers' chain. Finally he won 12 and lost six with the Dodgers' chief farm club, Montreal, of the International League, last season. The Tigers drafted him in December and have liked most of what they have seen.

"I've had this control problem on and off. Finally in 1952 I was in Fort Worth under Bobby Bragan (now manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates). One day—and this was while I was having a lot of control trouble—he called on me to relieve.

"No one was more surprised than me. The other team had the tying run on second and the winning run on first and there was only one out—and to top it off the count on the batter was 3 and 1.

"I'll never know why Bragan picked me, but I went out there and got one strike over, then the batter hits an easy one back to me—I throw it to second the second baseman gets it over to first for a double play—and I'm out of the inning. We went on to win and Bragan comes out in the newspapers saying that he wouldn't be afraid to put me into any tough situation.

"I guess that helped a lot. And I don't care if it's starting or relieving or both—I get the ball over better. Some pitchers are that way, and I guess I'm one of them."

Little wonder, then, if a fellow with this kind of perseverance finally makes the jump to the big time after 14 years in the minors.

Final Brief of Insurance Plan Being Drawn Up by Company

The Great West Life Assurance Company is preparing a brief to present by April 20 to the insurance commissioner of Michigan for approval of the proposed group insurance plan at State.

In his report to Student Congress Wednesday, Bill Wurm, Highland Park, Ill., senior, said that 71 per cent of those students who voted for the possibility of such a plan expressed an interest when they voted yes. The next step was to submit the program to the insurance commissioner.

Wurm, chairman of the student government insurance committee, explained that this vote of the commissioner's approval does not necessarily mean the plan would be adopted.

If the insurance company's brief is approved, students will again vote fall term. Sixty per cent of the enrollment will have to commit themselves to buy the plan. If they do the insurance will be offered.

Ralph H. Young, executive chairman of Spartan Olympic Night, also spoke to Congress Wednesday about the benefit rehearsal program to be held May 8 to raise funds for the Olympics.

Young, who has been associated with the Olympics since 1934, said:

"Michigan State is setting the pace for other schools. Since the Olympic games originated in Greece and we are Spartans, it is proper that we be leaders of such a project."

Spartan Olympic Night is the only telethon held for the U. S. Olympics except for the 13-hour national Bob Hope-Bing Crosby show produced four years ago, according to Young.

In other proceedings, Nick Smith, Addison junior, was appointed chairman of organizations executive branch. He replaced Bill Klein who was graduated winter term.

Two resignations were also submitted to Congress. Ann Rutledge, sorority representative, is student teaching spring term. Pat Moynihan, East Lansing representative, has another meeting scheduled for the same evening.

New Officers

Prowler Spends Cozy Evening

A prowler spent Wednesday night in the Home Ec building, cozily running a motion picture projector until its motor burned out and keeping warm by turning an oven up high.

Damage to the projector was estimated at $75 and no damage was done to the oven, which was left on all night.

The increase in U.S. population from April 1, 1950 to Oct. 1, 1955 was about equal to the population of New York State on July 1, 1934.
