

Library To Change Book Code

Books totalling $21,191, appropriated Friday by the Board of Agriculture, will be used to initiate a change-over by the new Department of Agriculture from the Dewey Classification of books to the Library of Congress classification.

The change-over which will cost about 700,000 dollars, may not get under way until next September and may take up to 10 years to complete, according to Jackson E. Towne, director of the department.

The change-over will be made possible by the appropriation of the new Department of Agriculture, which will make possible the addition of several professional librarians and clerks, plus stipends for the project.

The change-over will be made possible by the appropriation of the new Department of Agriculture, which will make possible the addition of several professional librarians and clerks, plus stipends for the project.

The change-over will be made possible by the appropriation of the new Department of Agriculture, which will make possible the addition of several professional librarians and clerks, plus stipends for the project.

IEDS

Ext. 2015

ST and FOUND

PERSONAL

Wolverine

Picture Schedule

Organization Pictures

to be taken

Junior Class Officers

Junior Council

Delta Phi Delta

K.O.P.C.

Armenian Club

A.S.S. Activities

Alpha Zeta

Tau Beta Pi

U.F.C.

Inter Student Foundation

For Men

Women's Athletic Association

Green Splash

Pro-Medical Society

National Women's League

Engineering Council

American Foundrymen

SERVICE

BY PHONE

Phone 2-5000

REPAIRS

Phone 2-5000

REPAIRS

Phone 2-5000

REPAIRS

Phone 2-5000

REPAIRS

Phone 2-5000

REPAIRS

Phone 2-5000

REPAIRS

Phone 2-5000

REPAIRS

Phone 2-5000

An Ike button on this woman puts Adlai Stevenson to work as he sits in the stands for the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game at South Bend Saturday. Mrs. W. K. Warren, Tulsa, Okla., listens to the "pitch" by the Democratic presidential nominee, busy with his campaign.

Kefauver Favors Risk Of Ending H-Bomb Tests

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said Monday the Democrats assume the political risk, "whatever the risk may be," of going along with the Russians or any other atomic power on ending H-bomb testing.

Student Dies In Automobile Accident

An automobile accident resulting in the death of an MSU student was reported to the Lonia state police Monday morning at 10:45.

Gerald Ray Rescorla, Grand Haven junior, was found dead in his automobile by a passing farmer. The car, discovered at the bottom of a steep embankment hidden from the road, had apparently left the road and hit a tree at the point where it was found.

No witnesses to the mishap have been located and the police have not yet determined when or how it happened. The coroner said he might have been dead since Sunday.

The police are checking with the deceased man's brother whom he visited in Ypsilanti over the weekend.

The accident occurred east of Saranac Corners in Lonia on route 16.

RENT A BIKE
COLLEGE BIKE
SHOP
134 N. Harrison

WHY WORRY?
You'll never get out of this world alive

So Enjoy Yourself
With A Delicious PIZZA
DELIVERED
To your doorstep by

CASA From 7-11
Mon. - Thurs.
Call NOVA'S
ED 2-6655

Open seven days a week at 4

Carries Campaign to N.Y. Stevenson's Aides Claim 21-State Lead Over Ike

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign strategists claimed the lead today over President Eisenhower in 21 states with 233 electoral votes. They said Stevenson needs only a driving finish to win a narrow Nov. 8 victory.

Stevenson, who speaks tomorrow night in New York City's Madison Square Garden, is now pointing his campaign toward strenuous efforts to win big city support in some of the larger states among the 21 the Democrats list in the doubtful class.

These strategists have crossed off 15 states, with 105 electoral votes, as definitely lost to Eisenhower.

With the exception of a Farm Day Show speech at Springfield, Ill., Thursday, and a later tour of New York's smaller upstate cities, Stevenson will concentrate on the big town vote in vital areas.

He speaks in San Francisco and Los Angeles Saturday and will go to Boston for a major speech next Monday. On his list for appearances yet to be arranged are Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Chicago. Others may be added.

Stevenson is expected to hit the Eisenhower administration hard on foreign policy tomorrow night.

He chided Eisenhower in a statement yesterday for what he

Wilkinson to Speak At AWS Meeting

Clyde Wilkinson of the Business Administration Department will speak on how to make effective reports at the AWS Activities board meeting tonight. The meeting will be in room 36 Union at 7:30. All interested students are cordially invited to attend. Coffee hour will follow in Parlor A of the Union.

SHORTHAND
in 6 weeks
TYPEWRITE IN 6 WEEKS
New voice-a-matic method of teaching typewriting makes it easy for you to become a good typist in 6 weeks of day school or 15 weeks of night school (two evenings a week). Write, phone or come in for a free demonstration. L.B.U. has nearly a century of success in training and placing secretaries, typists, and bookkeepers in better positions.

THOMPSON JEWELRY CO.
Maurice R. and William H. Thompson
SPECIALIZING IN FINE JEWELRY and FIRST CLASS SERVICE
FRANDOR CENTER
Two Stores
Mall Court to Serve You
IV 5-0740
EAST LANSING
223 M.A.C. Ave.
ED 2-2293
"SATISFACTION GUARANTEED"

SENIORS—
Are you interested in Detroit as a work area?

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS
ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS
CHEMICAL ENGINEERS
CIVIL ENGINEERS
SCIENCE MAJORS
For career opportunities in the utility field, call or write—
Operations Staff Department

415 Clifford St., Detroit 26, Michigan
Phone: W.O. 4-8000

Nixon Looks to 'Big Mop-Up'

MICHIGAN (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Monday the Republicans made their "big breakthrough" last week in their campaign victory drive and that the final two weeks will be devoted to the "big mop-up."

Nixon made this optimistic evaluation to newsmen as he set out from Washington by plane for his third and final cross-country tour of the campaign.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this fall.

He said President Eisenhower "is running well ahead in electoral votes throughout the country" and that GOP efforts in the last two weeks would be concentrated on winning congressional and state races.

Nevertheless, the vice president said he expected the Democrats to try to "regroup their forces" after the setbacks which he said they suffered last week.

"We are taking nothing for granted," he added, "we remember what happened in 1948."

Nixon started the trip with a slight cold picked up when he spoke in chilly weather at an outdoor rally at Baltimore last Friday night but he said he was sure he would shake it off.

He was forced to cancel the first scheduled stop on his tour at Alpena, Mich., as his chartered DC-6 could not get in there because of bad weather.

The clouds began lifting after an hour but the pilot decided a landing was too risky and finally flew on to Saginaw which had been listed for the second rally of the day.

There he picked up a special train for three days of whistle-stopping in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois—the first use of this kind of campaigning by the Republicans this

'Head-to-Toe' Checkup Ike to Undergo Physical Exam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will enter Walter Reed Army Hospital Saturday afternoon for the complete physical examination he said he would undergo before the Nov. election.

The White House announced the results of the "head-to-toe" checkup by an eight-man medical team will be made public not later than next Monday morning.

It was at a news conference Aug. 8 that the President said he planned a pre-election test of his health. If it shows him unfit for a second term, he said at that time, he will go before the people and tell them.

James C. Hagerty, the White House press secretary, said Eisenhower's health is "fine" right now.

It developed Monday that the President may increase his speaking schedule during the last two weeks of the campaign, making several more major appearances outside Washington.

Hagerty said the White House had received a number of calls Monday about a rumor that the President had suffered another "digestive upset." Hagerty made light of the rumor, commenting:

"If he's ill, he's been doing an awful lot of work."

Eisenhower is expected to leave Walter Reed Sunday afternoon or evening, after a stay of about 24 hours.

He will be examined there by a medical staff including Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist who treated him a year ago, and Maj. Gen. Leon and D. Heaton, commandant of the hospital who performed the operation for ileitis on the President June 9.

Reporters asked Hagerty to arrange for a news conference with the doctors at the conclusion of their examination and after the issuance of their report. Hagerty said he did not know whether this would be possible.

Eisenhower's last complete physical checkup was on May 12. It indicated he was in excellent shape, but it was followed within a month by the intestinal upset which turned out to be a severe inflammation of the ileum—the lower part of the small intestine—which required emergency surgery in June. The President spent the following four weeks at Walter Reed.

Berlin

(Continued from Page 1)

speed laws. Fortunately, there were no mishaps.

Although they do not record together, both von Karajan and the Berlin Philharmonic have put out a prodigious number of recordings. Von Karajan directs the major recordings of the Philharmonia Orchestra of London for Angel Records. The Berliners record for Decca Gold Seal under various conductors.

We might complain at this point that the program that von Karajan will conduct tonight is disappointingly brief (approximately 90 minutes of playing time).

The Union Ticket Office reports that tonight's performance is completely sold out.

Intercollegiate AWS to Hold Meet Here

Intercollegiate Associated Women Students will meet at MSU in March 1957.

Peg Foster, Lansing senior, explained the functions of the organization to the last joint meeting of the AWS boards. IAWS consists of 140 member schools throughout the nation with 13 Michigan member schools.

These 13 schools will work through MSU in sponsoring the convention for the four to five hundred expected delegates.

Already working on the convention are committee chairmen Cathie O'Hearn, food planning; Sue Berg, hostess and guide; Louise Duren, transportation; Jan VanDerJaag, housing; Silvia Jackson, and Peg Arnold, office staff; Mary Selway, directors; Liz Schneider, religion; Jane Dumas, dean's arrangements; and Pat Hertler, newspaper.

Also helping will be Lea Ferguson, publicity; Betsy Freeman, finance; Nancy Lee, registration; Connie Rosenberger, decorations; Sally Gibson, workshop; Marcelle Server, sign; Ann Sterling, favors; and Sally Schwem, packets.

More than two-thirds of Arizona is owned by the federal government, in national parks and forests, Indian reservations and military installations.

Graham Condemned To Die

DENVER (AP)—John Gilbert Graham, 24, was condemned to die in the Colorado gas chamber the week ending Jan. 12 for the murder of his mother in the dynamiting of a commercial airliner.

Forty-four persons perished when the DC68 plane aboard which Graham planted 25 sticks of dynamite exploded in flight and crashed minutes after take-off from Denver Nov. 1, 1955.

"I expected it," said Graham calmly when told the Colorado Supreme Court had upheld his first-degree murder conviction and set the date for his death.

He was convicted May 4 by a Denver District Court jury after a 17-day trial.

Graham was arrested Nov. 14, 1955. He had taken out six flight insurance policies on his mother's life, one of which named him beneficiary of $37,500 in event of her death. There has been no disposition of the policies.

If Graham is executed during the week set by the Supreme Court, he will die a few days before his 25th birthday. Executions at the penitentiary usually are carried out on Friday nights. This would make the probable date of execution Jan. 11.

"We will file the usual petition for a rehearing with the supreme court," Charles S. Vigil, one of Graham's court-appointed lawyers said.

Graham was originally sentenced to die in August but the execution was stayed automatically by the filing of the appeal.

Burned Out Motors Cause Minor Fire

Two electric motors burned out in the Administration Building Monday afternoon and electric service was temporarily out of order. The East Lansing fire department answered the call at 4:33 p.m.

The Voters Speak — As Lubell Sees It

(Continued from Page 2)

dominated by this conflict. As they argue among themselves, the fact that the last three wars were fought under Democratic Presidents gets pitted against the memories of the depression and the feeling "the Republicans are for the rich man."

In Woodland, Pa., a 55-year-old truck driver, told me, "I haven't forgotten Hoover but I may vote for Eisenhower this year just for one reason. I've got a 16-year-old boy and I'm afraid of war. Still I'm worried like won't live. That Nixon dies off the handle just like Truman."

The third emotional current stirred by the "peace" issue can be described as one of revenge for the past. It shows up strongest in so-called "isolationist" areas.

Take the Sunset Park section of Brooklyn, N.Y. Not far from the Brooklyn Terminal, it consists of 40 to 50-a-month apartments.

One man had turned Republican in 1941, when Senator Wagner (the New York City Mayor's father) voted for lend-lease. When I asked his 23-year-old son what he felt was the difference between the parties he replied, "To me the Democrats are the war party."

In their campaigning the Republicans, of course, have sought to stir such feelings. Stevenson's pledges to seek and end to the threat of an H-Bomb war and Catholic, mainly of German, Irish and Italian descent. Many harbor an intense hatred of England. They were against our getting into World War II.

In 1940, with the war in Europe underway, these precincts broke spectacularly against Franklin Roosevelt. In 1945, with Roosevelt gone and the war over, they returned to the Democratic party, being one of the keys to Truman's surprise victory. In 1952 they swung for Eisenhower, giving him some of his heaviest gains over 1948 in all of New York City.

In my recent interviewing I found 27 persons in these precincts who voted for Eisenhower in 1952. All but one were sticking with the President. Several gave as their reason "I'm working and eating. Why change?" But the more common response was expressed by a 22-year-old subway conductor, "If the Democrats win we'll be back in war."

One man had turned Republican in 1941, when Senator Wagner (the New York City Mayor's father) voted for lend-lease. When I asked his 23-year-old son what he felt was the difference between the parties he replied, "To me the Democrats are the war party."

In their campaigning the Republicans, of course, have sought to stir such feelings. Stevenson's pledges to seek and end to the threat of an H-Bomb war and the draft have failed to shake off this "war party" label. Only rarely does a voter make the point, as did one Ohio woman, that "all the ways we fought were forced upon us by aggressors abroad."

The net result is that the campaigning is strengthening the sense of disillusionment over foreign affairs in the nation—a development which is bound to weaken the possible foreign policy either the Republicans or Democrats will be able to pursue in the future.

One further point about the "peace" issue is worth noting. Among many voters the strength of the "peace" feeling is largely a tribute to President Eisenhower personally. This is not so in the so-called "isolationist" areas.

In 1952 when I sampled set Park, many voters said they were voting for Eisenhower only as the lesser of two evils—a sentiment which was in other "isolationist" areas.

This year the President is what more popular. So, interviewed in two precincts, the President's health.

Among the "isolationist" voters, in other words, year's vote will not be for man, but for the Republican party. How this is changing voting balance between parties is important enough to be worth examining more fully in the future.

SPECIAL PURCHASE!

handsome
cape skin jackets

19.90

Soft supple leather jackets that usually sell for 29.95, now yours at wonderful savings! Choose smooth cape skin in white, charcoal, camel, or taffy—the clever belt effect is achieved by buttoned side tabs. Both, sizes 12 to 18.

Sport Shop

Jacobson's

EAST LANSING

DATE	COMPANY	PLACEMENT INTERVIEWS
Oct. 25	The Midland Steel Products Co.	Mech. & Indus. Engineers.
Oct. 25	A. O. Smith Corp.	Mech., Elec. & Indus. Engineers. Also Accounting majors.
Oct. 25	Ravonier Inc. - Eastern Research Division	PhD. Chemistry majors, MS-PhD-Chem. Engineers.
Oct. 25-26	Shell Chemical Corp.	BS, MS-Chem., Chem. Engr. Also Mech., Civil & Elec. Engrs.
Oct. 25	Shell Oil Co.	BS, MS-Mech., Elec. and Chem. Engineers.
Oct. 25-26	Kawneer Co.	Bus. Admin., Indus. Arts, Lab. Arts, Mech., Civil & Indus. Engineers.
Oct. 25-26	The Iodine Chemical Co.	BS, MS, PhD-Chem., Elec., Indus., Mech. & Met. Engrs. Also Chem., Physics, Acctg., Bus. Admin. and any degree with one year of Chemistry.
Oct. 25-26	Linde Air Products Co.	BS, MS-Chemists, Physicists & Engineering Physics. Also Chem., Mech., Elec., Civil & Indus. Engineers.
Oct. 26	Marquardt Aircraft Co.	Chem., Math & Physics majors. All interested, regardless of major.
Oct. 26	Shell Oil Co.	Acctg., Econ., Lib. Arts, Gen. Bus., Retailing, Home Econ., Hotel, Rest. and Institutional Management majors.
Oct. 26	Marshall Field & Co.	Mechanical Engineers & Metallurgy majors.
Oct. 26	Federal-Mogul-Bowyer Bearings, Inc.	All Engineers plus Physics, Chemistry and Math majors.
Oct. 26	Honeywell-Micro Switch Division	Mech., Elec. and Industrial Engineers.
Oct. 26	Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co.	BS, MS, PhD-Met. Industrial Mech., Elec. & Aero. Engrs. Acctg., Chem., Elec. & Mech. Engrs. Also Math, Physics and related fields majors.
Oct. 26	Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co.
Oct. 26	Boeing Airplane Co.

By appointment: purveyors of soap to the late King, George VI, Tardley & Co., Ltd., London.

Instant! Yardley Shaving Foam

- super-wetting lather at the push of a button
- stays extra moist—doesn't dry on the skin
- remains firm until your shave is complete
- leaves face feeling smooth, fresh

Cuts normal shaving time by half!
At your campus store, $1

Yardley products for America are created in England and finished in the U.S.A. from the original English formulas, combining imported and domestic ingredients. Yardley of London, Inc., 527 Fifth Ave., N.Y.C.

Do You live in a dorm?

Tomorrow . . .

Wednesday, October 24th, will be the ONLY time WOLVERINE salespeople will be selling in your dorm during the dinner hour. Have your $6 in cash or check handy if you wish to purchase your copy of the newest, most modern in yearbooks—The 1957 WOLVERINE.

Watch for us . . .

1. In your dorm Wednesday
2. At the tent between Berkey and Olin
3. In the Union Concourse
4. On red fire engines
5. At football games
6. On television

Don't forget . . .

to enter the Wolverine Word-Building Contest. The contest closes Friday, so deposit your entry soon. You can deposit it with the salespeople Wednesday evening in your dorm, at the tent outside of Berkey today or tomorrow, or at the WOLVERINE sales booth in the Union Concourse any day this week.