Detroit Bans Book By O'Hara

DETROIT (AP) — Police Commissioner Edward S. Higgins Thursday banned John O'Hara's novel, "Ten North Frederick," from Detroit book shelves "in any form."

Inspector Melville E. Bullach, head of the Police Censor Bureau, last week ordered the paperback edition of the novel withdrawn from sale, saying the novel contained "obscene passages."

Higgins went all the way and banned the hardback edition as well. He said he would notify the Detroit Public Library of the order.

I personally reviewed the book, Higgins said. The Commissioner said he was for freedom of press and speech unless some endangered public morals.

"Ten North Frederick," he said, is not a book he would want his son to read.

Inspector Bullach banned the paperback edition because it is expensive and might fall into the hands of minors. He said he thought the book might be all right for adults.

In New York City, Bennett Lee, publisher of Random House, publisher of the hard cover edition, said:

"This kind of censorship is disgraceful. Here's a book that has been on sale for a whole year. Now some police chief comes on a hender and declares it obscene."

It is like to know by what authority this police chief has the right to decide what Detroiters can and cannot read. I don't believe he was appointed for that.

In Williamsburg, Va., where he and his wife had stopped on a motor trip, O'Hara said he did not care what Higgins' sons read if they do. But I think," he added, "the sons should have the right to choose what they want to read and not the father, assuming the sons are literate people."

O'Hara noted the book had been published originally in November, 1955. Since then, he said, "the book was available at the bookstands and department stores in Detroit . . . without any effort being made to ban it."

Norton Decides Life in Sewer Has No Future

NEW YORK (AP) — Art Carney confirmed Thursday that he's ending his five-year television association with comedian Jackie Gleason when his contract runs out in June.

Carney's personal agent, William McCaffrey, said the partnership is amicable all around. He said:

"Gleason has other plans for next year and they don't include Carney. That's Carney's liking. We think he's ready to go on his own."

"Our contract with Gleason ends in June. I don't presume to speak for Jackie or comment on what he's going to do. Art and I are very friendly with Jackie. Art owes a great deal to me."

There have been reports that Carney will abandon his weekly comedy show on CBS television next season in favor of a national spot show.

Carney said he had no notice of Carney's decision. However, McCaffrey said Gleason knows about it, and did not raise any objections.

Carney and Audrey Meadows have been Gleason's two chief mainstays in his rise to the top as a TV entertainer. Carney played a variety of roles on the show and has served as master of ceremonies when Gleason was absent.

Top Stars to Perform 'Silver Blades' to Flash Saturday at Ice Arena

A production number, "Salute to Freedom," will open the student government sponsored "Silver Blades" ice show in Dem Hall Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Featured on the show is a family of skating champions, supported by a host of amateur skaters from the MSU campus, Lansing and Detroit areas.

Starting will be Carol Heiss, women's world skating champion, Nancy Heiss, national junior women's champion, and Bruce Heiss, eastern novice champion.

Director of choreography for the AUSA, show is Jean Arlen. Miss Arlen directed the choreography for the 1956 Olympic Fund ice show.

Among the cast presenting solo and production numbers will be Douglas Ramsey, Detroit, 1956 Mid-western novice champion and first place winner in the 1957 Niagara Invitational in the junior men's division.

Also performing in the show will be Tim Hamilton, second place winner in junior men's competition in the Niagara Invitational meet, and Sandra Shaw, first place winner of the junior ladies division of the Niagara Invitational.

Comedy routines, solo and production numbers are included in the program.

All profits from the ice show will go into a scholarship fund at MSU. The scholarship fund will be the only one in the university with a policy-making board consisting of both students and faculty.

An administrative body of two faculty members and two students will decide on all policies for the fund. On the board will be the president of Student Government, director of Academic Benefits for Student Government, Ellwood Voller, assistant dean of students and Robert Steward, director of scholarships.

A perpetual fund is planned and Bob Becker, president of Student Government, said the board looks forward to having approximately $2,000 in the fund by the end of this year.

Tickets may be purchased at the Union ticket desk or in the Dem Hall ticket office.

General chairman of the ice show is Nic Pilger, Lansing junior. Handling publicity is Stan Star, Fredonia, N.Y., junior.

Study Shows Little Debating

Professor Finds Legislators A Quiet Lot

Politicians are not the talkative lot that the long-winded campaigns would indicate according to a recent study made by a MSU professor.

Dr. Fred G. Alexander, assistant professor of speech, found in a study of the Michigan legislature that the lawmakers are considerably less loquacious on the job than when applying for the job.

In his investigation to determine the influence of debate on legislation passed or defeated, Dr. Alexander found that nearly three-fourths of 783 measures coming before the Michigan legislature in the 1953 session were not debated.

He said that of the measures passed without debate about one-fourth might be classified as important. He classified about one-half of the measures passed with debate as non-important.

According to Dr. Alexander, the most influential legislators, mainly senators, were those who debated most actively. These men did not merely confine their influence to "behind the scenes" activity, he added.

Frigid Air Continues Mercilessly

Students' Bundle To Brave Cold

The coldest cold wave to hit Michigan in five years will continue today when the mercury hits its peak at 12 and begins to drop.

Blasty winds and frequent snow flurries will enhance the bitter cold snap which is the worst recorded since Jan. 1951.

The temperatures dropped to zero early this morning, starting the day a little warmer than Thursday when the low was five below. Thursday's temperatures were the lowest since Jan. 13, 1951, when the mercury fell to six below zero.

A wave of slightly warmer air came into Michigan from Canada Thursday afternoon, but was not strong enough to beat out the recent low temperatures.

The ban against winter wearing slacks to class was lifted, but most coats were stuffed with knee socks.

The frozen Red Cedar provided short cuts to South Campus and the major topic of the day was the weather.

Other areas of the state suffered the same plight. Monroe has a six below reading (Grand Rapids and Detroit recorded three below).

One of the coldest spots in Michigan was Hill where the mercury dropped to 10 below zero. A lot of snow and ice was seen where prompting one shivering resident to quip that Hill is frozen over.

UB Petitions Due Monday

Students interested in serving on Union Board must turn in their petitions to the UB office by Monday, Jan. 21.

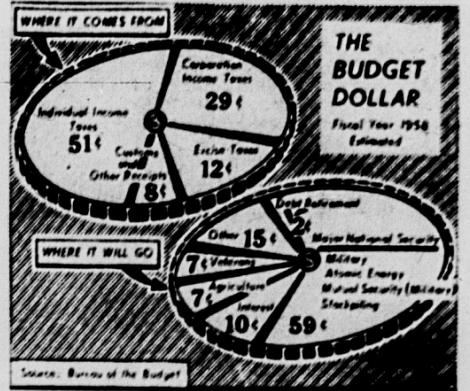

Blush smokers will be Feb. 12-14 and Feb. 19-21 in Union parlors A, B and C. Business will be notified by postcard listing the time they are to attend.

Including new members, there will be a total of about 100 students serving on Union Board.

In addition to its regular committee work, Union Board sponsors the rodeo, dance and bridge tournaments, bridge and chess tournaments, and its newly initiated night club dance.

For Hazing Violation IFC Council Fines Delt Sig Pi's $150

Delta Sigma Pi fraternity Thursday was fined $150 by the IFC Executive Council and ordered to get its pledge training program in shape after illegal hazing activities over the weekend.

A pair of Delta Sigma Pi pledges were left on a country road Friday night, with paper bags over their heads. A passing farmer became frightened and called police.

The pair, Frank Bowman and Dennis Mullen, were arrested and charged with violating a state statute forbidding the wearing of masks on public places.

Bowman and Mullen, a Dearborn sophomore, Thursday the charges were dropped and the case dismissed by Justice A. A. Cochrane of Webberville. In dismissing the case, Cochrane said he realized it was "just a prank" and that the boys should not suffer for the group.

When arrested Friday night the students claimed they were doing investigations for a story on "How Fast Justice Works" which they claimed was intended for the State News.

Challenged on that point the students backed down and admitted they had no connection with the State News—and also refused to admit connection with any student group.

In handing down the sentence, the IFC committee ruled that the fraternity had violated the IFC constitution which reads in part:

"All initiations and other hazing or injurious acts in or outside the confines of the fraternity house are not permitted. Any violation will be punished at the discretion of the executive council."

The specific punishment meted out included: 1) the $150 fine to be paid by Feb. 15; 2) formalization of a re-orientation program outlining re-evaluation of pledge training and public relations program to bring goals and practices into closer harmony. This report is due by Jan. 28; 3) a report of progress made in the above areas to be turned into the executive council by March 1.

In announcing the decision, IFC President Bill Wallace said the action followed IFC policy which requires that hazing be a beneficial pledge training.

Wallace said Delta Sigma Pi has an exceptionally good pledge program in general but had unfortunately allowed this to happen to spoil that record.

Further, he observed, with Michigan legislative sessions limited to three months, some legislation is bound to be neglected. As many as 700 bills may be proposed at a single session.

"It is unfortunate to be sure that we have state legislators who do not debate," he said. "The real tragedy, however, is the absence of citizens who care to listen." This apathy on the part of the public can endanger the right to open discussion and debate, he warned.

In spite of the lack of debate, Dr. Alexander said that he did not feel the legislators were necessarily negligent in serving the public interest. There are numerous instances, he said, in which debate on a measure is unnecessary. He cited cases of routine or non-important bills, on certain measure that appear regularly in every session.

It must be remembered, he added, that discussion and debate do not take place only at the time a bill is presented on the floor. There are numerous other opportunities, such as in hearings, in committee or in caucus, he said.

Some bills are so technical in nature that the average legislator is forced to accept the word of a floor leader or a committee chairman that the measure is desirable. This is particularly true of appropriations bills, he noted.

Further, he observed, with Michigan legislative sessions limited to three months, some legislation is bound to be neglected. As many as 700 bills may be proposed at a single session.

"It is unfortunate to be sure that we have state legislators who do not debate," he said. "The real tragedy, however, is the absence of citizens who care to listen." This apathy on the part of the public can endanger the right to open discussion and debate, he warned.

Assembly Begins Debate on Offer

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Israel offered Thursday to withdraw from the Gaza strip and the Sharm El Sheikh gateway to the Gulf of Aqaba if the UN would arrange lasting protection for Israel's rights in those vital areas.

Mrs. Golda Meir, Israeli foreign minister, announced the conditional offer in the UN assembly as it began the 11th session on the Israeli question in New York.

From her proposed text of withdrawal, she said the withdrawal would be subject to a permanent UN arrangement to protect Israel's rights in those vital areas.

Mrs. Meir said Israel would be prepared to accept a permanent UN arrangement to protect Israel's rights in those vital areas.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United States delegate, answered her with a renewed and blunt demand for Israel to pull out of the Gaza and Sharm El Sheikh immediately. The U.S. view is that work on a permanent settlement between Israel and Egypt can begin only when Israel has pulled back behind the 1949 armistice lines.

Lodge announced his support of a resolution introduced in the assembly by 24 Arab-African countries. It calls for a permanent settlement between Israel and Egypt, and demands that Israel's withdrawal and the UN arrange to maintain the armistice lines.

The resolution asks Hammarskjold to report completion of Israel's withdrawal within four weeks. Lodge said the United States felt it is important that the UN emergency force move to immediately behind the withdrawing Israeli forces in order to assure the maintenance of the armistice and to safeguard the 1949 armistice agreement.

He said the United States hopes Hammarskjold will be in position promptly to announce definite plans for development of the UN force along the Egyptian-Israeli armistice line and in the Sharm El Sheikh area.

Former Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov announced he would vote for the resolution even though he said it is not adequate by itself with the assembly's resolutions. He accused the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East as an attempt by the United States to prevent what he said was the implementation of the UN armistice agreement.

Mrs. Meir said that by next Tuesday Israel will have evacuated approximately 10,000 square miles of territory it held at the end of November when the UN emergency force first arrived on the scene.

Mrs. Meir said Israel is ready to begin discussions of an early date of a solution to the complex problem of the Gaza strip.

Ostrich-Like Game Fraternity Stages Illegal 'Pledge Hazing Mission'

Last weekend Delta Sigma Pi decided that it would send one of its pledges on a "mission" as part of the initiation ceremony known as "hazing." Such hazing is illegal within the framework of IFC but the "mission" was started.
It came to an abrupt halt when two of the pledges were arrested on a lonely country road after frightening a passing motorist who saw them standing with paper bags over their heads.
When questioned the two pledges decided they were on a survey. When that failed to work they told police they were writing an article to be submitted to the State News on "How Fast Justice Works."
This ruse also failed so the two decided to play ostrich. They figured if they stuck their heads in the sand no one would see them—a common defensive mechanism for ostriches.
Unfortunately they failed to realize that when an ostrich, real or make-believe, sticks its head in the sand, it leaves a great big target sticking up on the other end.

Long Wait

Bigger and better air travel may be near for MSU students who spend long hours at Capital City Airport waiting for perpetually late planes.
At present allocation of airport franchises is handled through the Civil Aeronautics Association, with headquarters in Washington, D.C.
Lansing civic leaders, well aware of the desperate need for better service, have been pushing hard in a battle for 10 more airlines to service the state capital and 20 more frequent runs by both the existing service and any additional companies.
The Lansingites realize they are fighting a tough cause. Other cities besides their own are trying hard for improved service, thus limiting the chances of Lansing being one of the successful campaigners.
In addition there is the ever-increasing cry for more safety which springs up quickly on the heels of any major air disaster. One of the oft-spoken complaints in collision cases is that the air is just too crowded with airplanes for safe flying.
If such is the case, adding service to Lansing or any other city would only complicate the air lanes.
Thus the question resolves itself to simple dilemma, as so often happens in this world that gets more and more crowded everyday.
On the one hand, the city certainly could use more service than is presently provided by a single company.
Safety enters in, however, on the other hand in the form of overcrowded airplanes.
Like everything in this country of "due process" the whole matter will take time but it can provide something interesting to talk about the next time someone is stranded waiting for the late, late plane.

By refusing to talk to a reporter from the Lansing State Journal, the pledges forced the reporter to acquire his facts from other sources—the police, the farmer and the justice of the peace.
Of course no one knew that they were on a fraternity hazing project—not more than 95 per cent of the people who heard about the incident.
Thursday one of the pledges was contacted and was still playing his game of ostrich—he refused to comment on anything except the fact that he was living.
Because other people, notably IFC officials, had more sense about them, the true facts of the story came to the surface, despite the ostrichlike attack on the part of the pledges.
The fraternity was wrong from the very beginning in deliberately and willfully violating the rules of its own governing body. To accidentally break a law is one thing, to set about it as systematically as a 15-mile ride in the country is quite another.
Fearing "bad" publicity, the whole matter was hushed up—forcing reporters to look at other than the primary sources of information. If the pledges wouldn't talk, where did they think that the information would come from?
Thirdly, IFC acted intelligently and quickly, bringing the fraternity to swift justice—although the penalty is hardly what could be termed severe. Not nearly as severe as some groups have received for much more unintentional violations than the Delta Sigma Pi "mission."

It is most unfortunate that students and faculty members alike proceed under the assumption that the best way to avoid "bad" publicity is to stick one's head in the ground.
Rather than admit that a mistake has been made and talk about it in an effort to get the correct facts before the public (which is going to find out sooner or later), students and staff members alike prefer the blank look, "I don't know whatever you are talking about, huh," attitude.
Thus the primary source of accurate information is damned and the reporter must look elsewhere to find the information about a story he already knows exists.
Then when the "big target on the other end" is hit by the "bad" publicity, the cries of indignation are loud and long.
"You didn't get the facts right, that isn't what happened at all."
Why weren't the facts right? Because that same person who sits behind her desk, or his desk, or on the other end of the phone had said only the day before, "I don't know whatever you are talking about, huh."

In a university that boasts of a course in Communication Skills and has one of the country's newest and best College of Communication Arts, the communication is pathetic.
But then, what ostrich—animal or human—can talk with a mouthful of sand?

Success of Eisenhower Doctrine May Turn Economic Provisions

By DAVID L. BOWEN
Associated Press Feature Writer
The United States Congress continued this week its debate on the form and extent of the Eisenhower Doctrine in the Middle East by the sudden violent demise of British and French prestige in the Middle East after the abortive invasion of the Suez.
American citizens, who in the past have supported through taxes the rehabilitation of Western Europe and efforts to perform a somewhat similar job in the non-Communist areas of Asia, are now being prepared for tackling the job of combating communism through raising living standards in the Middle East.

greatest income. However, this income is almost solely derived from oil royalties, which flow into the commodious coffers of King Ibn Saud. The general populace only enjoys benefit from those public works the king sees fit to inaugurate, and from work natives can do for the oil companies. An economic program sponsored by the U. S. government would be hard put to provide a bigger lift to the Saudi Arabian economy than that which U. S. oil companies already are providing.

Egypt, the next largest nation, has the greatest population of the five—22½ million, 95 per cent of whom are concentrated along the banks of the Nile River. Agricultural development has not kept up with the country's rapidly increasing population, whose large "fellahin" or peas-

Letters to the Editor
U. S. Pressured Eden

The editorial on "A Zig Zag—Now Wait" in the Jan. 11, State News provoked me to send this critical comment. In scanning various U. S. newspapers and magazines for their editorial comments re: Sir Anthony Eden's resignation, I received the impression that all of them, including the ones in the State News, seem to neglect one possible cause for the deposed Suez fiasco: U. S. pressure to stop the invasion.
Having recently returned from a three week visit to Europe during the aftermath of Suez and Hungary, I feel obligated to make known to your readers some of the European sentiments about the Suez crisis and about Sir Anthony's "guilt" or "bad decision."
The general opinion of Europeans I talked to—representatives from four countries who are very acute observers of the world situation—is that American pressure on Eden was such that he had to stop the invasion about two days early—i.e., two days before he could have been in possession of the total Suez Canal area, and a day or two before Col. Nassar could have been toppled. This U. S. pressure coming from Augustus-bound President Eisenhower and Sec'y Dulles, according to these Europeans, is primarily responsible for the "fiasco." The general opinion is that Eden had to act, act immediately, and was right in acting the way he did.
Nevertheless, Eden had to go—this seems to be the political law for unsuccessful prime ministers. What struck me as a grave injustice to the outstanding personality of Sir Anthony were the high unanimous signs of relief reverberating in the U. S. press. It seems to indicate a narrow-minded and short-sighted ethnocentrism of the truly dangerous sort. Could it not be that American foreign policy was at fault too?

Hungary
To the Editor:
A lot has been printed in the recent months in an attempt to justify our inaction in Hungary. Here I would like to give the other side.
The free Hungarian radio is silent now. So are the guns of the last Hungarian patriots. But only two months ago, these proud people almost threw off the yoke of tyranny, only to be ruthlessly crushed by the superior forces.
There was a time in this country when men were willing to fight for liberty. They weren't afraid to defend their ideals with deeds, instead of only brave words in the U. N. True, it was our own liberty we were fighting for then; nevertheless, it was for an ideal.
Somewhere along the way, the concept of liberty has been replaced by that of peace. Peace at any price. Peace and prosperity. Being a peace-loving people not only helps to avoid the horrors of war, but it gives us a wonderful justification for standing by while others suffer. We're so peace-loving that we won't stop a murderer because we may have to end up fighting him. I can't help thinking of Patrick Henry's words "... Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?" Apparently it is, as long as the chains bind somebody else.
We are hard-headed realists now and we can't worry about people who are across the sea. Oh, we'll send them food and money all right. (We have a little to spare along with our sympathy) but we're too rich and sophisticated to think about such things as ideals.
Everyone tells me that "We have to be practical about this." However, being practical means to turn our heads away while the short-lived free Hungarian radio is pleading for help, if being practical means that we cannot defend the very ideals that once gave us our freedom, if being practical means standing by idly while Hungary is being massacred and brave men die for a principle, then all I can say is "To hell with being practical!"

Williams Winds Up Budget Hearings

May Submit Requests To Legislature Wednesday

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams wound up the last of four days of budget hearings Thursday and prepared to go to work with administrative assistants to whip his spending recommendations into final shape.

A steady stream of state agency and department heads presented requests for appropriations from the state's general fund totaling roughly 500 million dollars, a record high, for the 1957-58 fiscal year. Last year appropriations amounted to 330 million.

At the conclusion of Thursday's hearing, Williams said, "I shall continue to spend night and day on this (budget) problem so that I may have a budget to present to the Legislature which will represent nothing more than the bare minimum needs of the people."

However, he said, "It is evident after these hearings that trimming this budget substantially is going to be an even tougher job than it appeared to be when we started discussions."

Williams said he planned to present his budget recommendations to the Legislature Wednesday, two days after the lawmakers reconvene.

Representatives of various administrative agencies appeared before the Governor in a morning session Thursday. Heads of the Departments of Conservation and Agriculture, together with the Tourist Council, the Soil Conservation Committee and the State Fair Commission, made their appeals in the final afternoon session.

Major requests for budget increases came from the Conservation Department, which set its needs for the coming fiscal year at $12,600,000, nearly double the appropriation of $6,534,000 for the 1956-57 year.

Most of the increase would go for land acquisition for additional and expanded state parks and for projects in existing parks, including improved roads, sanitation facilities and parking areas.

Film to Show Sahara Trip

"Two Tickets to Timbuctoo," a color film of a trip across the Sahara to the most remote city in the world, will be narrated by Kenneth Richter Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Aud.

The travelogue is a feature of the World Travel series.

Richter, photographer and lecturer, and his wife made an 11,000-mile trip in a station wagon from Algiers across the often roadless Sahara Desert into the Belgian Congo and back to show that crossing the desert is within the possibilities of a careful traveler.

Included in the film are the Seven Sacred Cities of Moab; the classic oasis of the Sahara with its modern luxury hotel and rose gardens; In-Salah where there is a sandstorm 300 days of the year, a 600-year-old mosque made of mud; and the tropical rain forest of French Equatorial Africa.

12 Crewmen Killed in AF Plane Crash

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, (AP)—An Air Force plane with 12 crew members crashed and blew to bits in snow and pre-dawn darkness Thursday after its takeoff on a 3,700-mile weather observational flight.

Territorial police and Air Force officers said there were no survivors.

The Air Force reported eight bodies had been found. Five of them were burned beyond recognition in the twisted and charred wreckage of the fore part of the plane.

The four-engine plane, heavily loaded with gasoline for its long mission, crashed and exploded in all-engulfing flames two minutes after the takeoff from the Eielson Air Force Base.

The fuel and wreckage burned like an inferno along a path 200 yards long and 50 yards wide on the flat land three miles north of the base. Eielson is 26 miles southeast of this central Alaska city.

The plane, an improved version of the famed B29 Superfortress of World War II, had taken off from the 14,000-foot Eielson runway, one of the longest in the world. The mushroom of flame from the crash was visible to the Eielson Tower crew through the murky darkness.

The cause of the disaster was a mystery. The takeoff appeared to have been normal.

Macmillan Says Suez Justified

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Thursday night he believes history will justify last Fall's British-French invasion of the Middle East.

The Prime Minister made only passing reference to the Middle East venture which led to the downfall of his predecessor, Sir Anthony Eden. But in a speech devoted largely to the future of Britain as a nation, he said, "I believe history will justify what we did."

"The difficulties we are up against are the price we are paying for action," he said in a nationwide TV and radio address. "But the price of inaction, the price we would have had to pay for letting things slide, that might have been very high indeed."

Macmillan said emphatically that no new election will be called, but he and his new government propose to "get on with the job" with great energy.

Of relations with the United States, which took a nose dive after the invasion of Egypt, the Prime Minister said: "A lot of people are worried about our relations with the United States... we don't intend to part from the Americans and we don't intend to be satellites. The stronger we are, the better partners we shall be, and I feel certain that as the months pass we shall draw continually closer together with mutual confidence and respect."

Rushes Are Urged to List Preferences

Sorority rushes must make out their preference lists today, naming the sororities they are willing to pledge.

These lists may be made out from 9:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. in the Park Postoffice. Rushes officials emphasize that these lists must be filled out in order to be eligible to pledge a sorority.

When making out the preference lists, coeds are asked to list the sororities in the order they would be willing to pledge them. They must have visited a sorority three times in order to pledge it. This may include the fall teas.

A coed is not asked to pledge a sorority, even if she did not attend the preference meeting of that sorority. Rushes are advised to list three or four preferences, but they must be willing to pledge any sorority listed.

The preference lists made out by the rushes will be compared with lists sent in by the sororities. Paid workers will do this, and the sorority members will not see the rushes' preference lists.

Formal bids to pledge sororities may be picked up by rushes from 3 to 5 p. m. Saturday. Coeds, who do not receive invitations, will be called before-hand by their counselors.

Rushes who decide after they pick up their bids that they don't want to pledge a sorority should call the house.

The sororities will hold formal pledging Sunday and the invitations will include directions as to time of the event and what to wear.

Dorm coeds help decorate Brody Hall for the annual Sno-Ball. This year the theme is, "As You Like It."

Here are brief descriptions of the important work performed in the five separate divisions of the Hughes Field Engineering Department. Each of the engineers engaged in these activities holds a degree in electrical engineering or physics. All divisions form a highly trained organization to support the armed services and others using Hughes fire control systems and guided missiles.

How do you check out here?

ENGINEERING WRITING—Engineers in this division work with research and development engineers during formation stages of new equipment to produce clear, concise technical manuals, for use in maintenance and training, as well as specialized handbooks for USAF aircrews.

TECHNICAL TRAINING—A completely equipped and staffed school is operated to train qualified military and company personnel in classroom and laboratory programs on advanced systems work in the fields of radar fire control, electronic computers, guided missiles. Instructors are graduate engineers or physicists with backgrounds in development work or university instruction.

FIELD ENGINEERS—Hughes technical advisors are required in the field wherever operational bases are located. They serve military agencies employing Hughes highly complex radar fire control systems for all-weather interceptor aircraft, at home and abroad.

AIRCRAFT MANUFACTURER LIAISON—Engineers are assigned to all-weather interceptor manufacturers whose aircraft employ Hughes fire control systems, and are responsible for pre-installation testing of the systems. They work with airframe designers in cases where their operational knowledge bears on equipment installation problems.

FIELD MODIFICATION—Hughes policy is not only to get reliable equipment into the field promptly and in sufficient amount, but to modify and develop this as soon as field information and test data become available. Engineers correlate information from the field and indicate changes to the Research and Development Divisions. Write...

Skating Champion Has Busy Schedule

Spartans' Friendliness Impresses Carol Heiss

"When I'm in training, I practice five hours a day, six days a week. It's funny, though, with all the practicing I have to do, I've never regretted choosing a career in sports." Speaking was the vivacious and talented Carol Heiss, 16-year-old world's figure skating champion and star of Silver Blades.

Carol, who lives in Ozone Park, N.Y., has spent two summers at MSU perfecting her routines at the ice rink under the able direction of her friend and coach, Pierre Brunet.

"One thing that impressed me on my summer visits to State," she commented, "was the friendliness of the people I met. Everyone was so nice to my family and me."

The greatest thrill for this young star was winning her 1956 world's figure skating title in Garmish, Germany, while her proud grandparents, who live in Germany, watched the event.

"After skating in many countries," Carol commented, "I have found the people in Germany to be more enthusiastic over ice skating than in any other place. Every skater who visits that country is treated like a king or queen."

Like most teenagers, Carol loves to wear beremudas and dislikes schoolwork. When she is in New York, she attends the Professional Children's School, and while traveling, she keeps up with her reading assignments so as not to be too far behind when she returns.

"But in the summer," she continued with a smile, "I have a month and a half vacation at Lake Charlevoix to which our entire family, including me, looks forward."

"There are two people to whom I would credit the success of my career," she stated quietly. "One is my mother who sacrificed more than I will ever know to further my skating, and the other is my coach whose knowledge, patience and guidance have been a constant source of inspiration and encouragement."

"But baseball's just too slow for me," she commented. "It

Climate Changes For Annual Dance

Weather, 'As You Like It' Highlights Social Weekend

The weather problem has hit the MSU campus with full force. There are those students who long for the atmosphere of the sunny tropics, and others who enjoy the brisk winter air.

"As You Like It," the annual Sno-Ball presented by the Men's and Women's Interdom Councils, will give everyone a chance to choose their favorite climate. The dance will be held tonight from 9-12 in Brody Hall. Bob Eberhart will furnish the music along with intermission entertainment by the Kappaliers.

One end of the dance floor will represent a winter scene with snowbanks, evergreen trees and snowmen. For those who prefer a warmer climate, the opposite end of the floor will be a spring scene, complete with palm trees, park benches and a wishing well.

To create an evening setting, stars will be suspended from the ceiling at both ends. A bridge will also close the gap between the two seasons. Tickets may be obtained from any dorm social chairman for this dressy affair.

Charles Addams' "Monster Rally" is the theme for the Delta Tau Delta party tonight from 9-12. Dress will be casual. The fraternity house will be boarded up and there will also be bats and cobwebs to carry out the theme.

"Prohibition Era" is the theme of the Delta Upsilon party tonight from 9-12. The upstairs of the house will be decorated as "Panicky Pete's Pawnshop" to serve as a front for the speak-easy downstairs. There will also be a bookie joint upstairs with card games, a shell game and horseshoeing.

Music will be on record and special entertainment will be presented by the Delta Upsilon Combs. Everyone who comes will have to pawn a small article at the door. Dress will be casual.

"In a Japanese Garden" will be the theme of the Sigma Chi dance Saturday from 9-12 p. m. Music will be furnished by Kenny Davis.

The dining room will be decorated with a wishing pool and gold fish. Japanese lanterns will also add to the oriental atmosphere.

The Phi Kappa Sigma's are having a Skull Swing Saturday from 8:30-11:30 p. m. at the East Lansing American Legion Hall. Music will be furnished by the Playboys.

The Skulls from U of M will be guests and during the intermission there will be a serenade for all girls from other schools that Skull members are pinned to.

Decorations will consist of black and gold streamers with a large illuminated skull hanging in the center of the ceiling. Other decorations will be pledge paddles and flags. Skull key chains will be given as favors.

Delta Upsilon will hold its formal winter initiation, awards banquet and Birthday Ball at the Olds Hall Saturday. John Tanton, former chapter president, will deliver the "Charge" at the initiation.

Speakers at the awards banquet will be Burr Lee, fraternities deputy for the Chicago area, and Don Swell, faculty advisor for the Michigan State chapter.

Bob Eberhart's orchestra will furnish the music for the Birthday Ball to be held in the hotel ballroom from 9-12 p. m. Noel Stosky will provide intermission entertainment.

"The Basket Ball" is the theme of the Union Board dance Saturday evening from 9-12 in the Union Ballroom. Records will provide the music. Tickets for the dance are 75 cents.

Kenneth Richter will show the film, "Two Tickets to Timbuctoo" Saturday evening at 8 in the auditorium.

Long Lines of Fans Honor Actor Bogey, Maestro Arturo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two of America's top artists—actor Humphrey Bogart and conductor Arturo Toscanini—were paid final homage and tribute Thursday, in Hollywood and New York.

An assemblage of celebrities—one of the largest funeral crowds in recent years—packed All Saints Episcopal Church in Beverly Hills to attend the memorial services for Bogart.

Writer-director John Huston appeared to capture the feeling of all when he said in his simple eulogy:
"With the years he had become increasingly aware of the dignity of his profession—actor, not star. He regarded the somewhat gaudy figure of Bogart, the star, with sort of an amused cynicism. Bogart the actor he held in deepest respect."

The top stars in Hollywood were present and Bogart fans were there too. A thousand of them lined the street outside the church. Shortly before the ceremony, the doors of the half-filled church were opened to the public. And the crowds surged forward. Police soon restored order.

Actress Lauren Bacall, Bogart's widow, arrived with the Bogart children, Stephen, 8, and Leslie, 4. All were composed as they listened to the Rev. Korman Castellan read the 10 Commandments, which he said had "special meaning" in Bogart's life.

While the service was going on, Bogart's remains were cremated according to his wishes. The ashes will be buried at Forest Lawn Memorial Park on a hill that overlooks Hollywood, Pasadena and the Sierra Madre Peaks.

He died early Monday from spreading of cancer which was discovered in his esophagus. He was 56.

In New York, princes and commoners, musicians and singers, housewives and students all paid tribute to Toscanini, the most eminent conductor of his age.

In biting cold, a long line of mourning music lovers formed at the Manhattan funeral home where the great Italian conductor's body lay in state.

He lay in a bronze-finish casket, slightly open to show the silk conductor's jacket with velvet collar and cuffs—the kind he had worn countless times over the 70-year course of his remarkable career.

The first persons to arrive at the funeral home had to wait two hours in 20-degree cold before the doors opened.

Toscanini died in his sleep Wednesday at his Bronx home. He would have been 90 in March. He had suffered a stroke on New Year's Day. Two days before his death he asked for a priest and received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Inside the funeral home the casket was banked with flowers. A solemn requiem mass will be held for Toscanini at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York Saturday morning. The body will be flown to Milan later for burial in the family chapel.

Red Chief Hails Stalin As 'Model'

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist Boss Nikita Khrushchev Thursday praised Stalin as a model Communist in his fight for the workers.

Nearly a year ago Khrushchev denounced the late dictator as a mass murderer, assailed "the cult of the individual," and questioned Stalin's Communism.

The party chief was needed by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

With Soviet brandy and Chinese wine flowing freely in toasts of friendship and mutual praise, the red-faced, exuberant Khrushchev grabbed a microphone to make a speech that began:

"I don't need to say that I'm a Communist."
Bulganin interrupted: "But some people say you are a Stalinist."

"I am a Stalinist," Khrushchev whipped back, "but I don't separate Stalinism and Stalin from Communism. As a Communist fighting for the interest of the working class, Stalin was a model Communist."

We have criticized Stalin, we still criticize him, and if necessary we will do it again. But we do not criticize Stalin as a bad Communist as far as the interests of the working classes are concerned.

Stalin had his bad points, Lenin saw them before we did and pointed them out. They were borne out. The defects were bad.

But in the things that counted, that is, the interests of the working class, God grant that every Communist should fight for the interest of the working class as Stalin did."

Chou Invites Correspondents To Red China

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Chou En-Lai again Thursday invited American correspondents to visit Red China. He said "three of our American friends are already in Peiping."

Chou in a brief interview at a Chinese Embassy reception said:

"It is not the Chinese Government which is keeping American correspondents from our country. They must first get permission from their government but the three now there did not wait, and they were warmly welcomed."

Speaking slowly in English, Chou told correspondents: "Personally you can come any time, but your government won't like it."

The Premier said he had given interviews to the three—a correspondent and a photographer who flew to Peiping from Moscow and another correspondent who entered from Hong Kong. They are William D. Worthy of the Baltimore Afro-American and Edmund Stevens, reporter, and Phillip Harrington, photographer, of Look Magazine.

Chou shied away from questions about the possible release of Americans still imprisoned in Red China.

He lay in a bronze-finish casket, slightly open to show the silk conductor's jacket with velvet collar and cuffs—the kind he had worn countless times over the 70-year course of his remarkable career.

The first persons to arrive at the funeral home had to wait two hours in 20-degree cold before the doors opened.

Toscanini died in his sleep Wednesday at his Bronx home. He would have been 90 in March. He had suffered a stroke on New Year's Day. Two days before his death he asked for a priest and received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Inside the funeral home the casket was banked with flowers. A solemn requiem mass will be held for Toscanini at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York Saturday morning. The body will be flown to Milan later for burial in the family chapel.

MSU Strongest in Tumbling Gymnasts Seek 2nd Victory

By JOHN VANDEN HEUDE
Michigan State's Gymnastic team will travel to Columbus Saturday to meet Ohio State. The Spartans will be seeking their second win, last week they romped over Illinois Navy Pier, 70-41.

Ohio State was defeated in their first showing of the season by Illinois, 71-41.

The Spartans will be heavily counting on Capt. Roland Brown and Don Leas, both won two first in last week's match. Brown captured first in free exercise and tumbling, while Leas capped first in flying rings and trampoline.

Leas will face some tough competition on the trampoline in the person of Ohio State's

Howard Sets Big 10 Pace

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Howard, 6 feet, 8 in. forward, who has led unbeaten Ohio State's surge into the Big 10 basketball lead, is making a strong bid for the No. 1 spot in the individual scoring race.

Official conference statistics Thursday credited Howard with a three-game average of 23.0 points, just a shade behind pace-setting Archie Dees, Indiana center, who has a 24.2 mark for four games.

Howard's deadly .526 shooting percentage from the floor has helped him pile up 69 points, against Dees' 97 total in one more game.

Minnesota's Jed Dommever is third with a 21.0 average, followed by George Bon Salle of Illinois with 20.2, George Kline of Minnesota with 18.7, Don Ohi of Illinois and Tom Payne of Iowa with 18.0 each.

Iowa at Wisconsin: Iowa is fast improving as the sophomores are beginning to come through. The Badgers have still failed to impress anyone IOWA.

Matmen Test Tough Hawks In Jenison

Saturday night Coach Fendley Collins will send his wrestlers against a strong Iowa team which features such men as Terry McCann, two years a National Collegiate Champion in the 110-pound division, and Gary Kordelmeier, who finished second in the Big 10 Conference and third in the National Collegiate championships in the 110-pound division.

McCann, however, is now in the 123-pound class and will face States' Don Stroud, who last year as a sophomore won the 123-pound Big 10 championship and landed fourth spot in the NCAA tournament.

Probably, Kordelmeier will face either Leo Smedley, who has been in the 147-pound division, or Lefroy Fladseth, who won six, lost six and one draw in the 177 and 191-pound divisions last year.

State's Jerry Hoke, who won 21 points while losing only three in dual meets last year will probably oppose Gene Luttrell, a promising Iowa sophomore, in the 130-pound class.

Ken Maidlow, winner of the National AAU Greco-Roman championship in the 191-pound division and winner of 23 of 27 points in dual meets in the 1956 season will face Iowa's Baron Bremner in the heavyweight match.

The Spartans will weight in 10 men as Coach Collins has not yet determined who will wrestle in the 147 and 177-pound divisions.

Since 1953 State has defeated Iowa three times, losing only once, in 1956 by two points.

Tankers Host Indianapolis AC Undeclared Spartans Ready for Big 10 Opener

By JERRY ROBBINS
State News Sports Editor
Coach Chuck McCaffrey's stylish tankers take to the waterways again Saturday in a non-conference dual meet with the Indianapolis Athletic Club. The opening event is scheduled to get underway at 3 p.m. in Jenison Pool.

The meet will provide the Spartans their last opportunity of non-conference competition before they swing into Big 10 action against Ohio State next week.

McCaffrey stated Thursday that his starting lineup were not yet definite but he does plan to use three men in most of the individual events instead of the normal two.

In the initial event of the 400-yard medley relay, the Spartans will use Don Nichols in the backstroke, Paul Reinke or Dee Edington in the breaststroke, Rog Harmon will handle the butterfly duties and either Larry Ellis or Gordy Fornell will swim the freestyle anchor.

Denny Baker and Capt. Jim Clemens are slated to go for the Maegen in the 220-yard freestyle while Fornell, Don Patterson, Ken-Gest and Ellis will be ready if needed for the half-century freestyle.

Harmon and Tom Kwansy lead a powerful one-two punch in the 200-yard butterfly event. Last week Kwansy surprised Harmon by coming from behind and touching him out at the last second.

Bill Barton will provide this duo with some stiff competition in what could develop into the best race of the afternoon.

Although Indianapolis dropped a 60-35 edge against Ohio State last week, Barton was one of the bright spots as he swam his way to a first in the butterfly event.

Veterans Frank Parrish and Fornell will swim the 100-yard freestyle and Nichols and Phil Gundel, a pair of sophomores, will probably see action in the 200-yard backstroke.

Time Trials Scheduled for Thinclads

Michigan State's track team will see through its second time trials of the season this afternoon and Saturday at Jenison Fieldhouse.

This afternoon starting at 4:15, head coach Karl Schladenman will run the 75-yard high hurdles, 880 yard run, 60 yard dash and in conclusion everyone will run the 300 yard dash.

Saturday's events, which are slated to start at 10 a.m., will include the three-quarters mile, 75 yard dash, 600 yard dash and 75 yard low hurdles. Everyone will run in the last event, the 440 yard dash.

In addition, the field event men will record their best efforts during the two workouts.

As the thinclads round further into shape, Schladenman will make the distance runs longer. The Spartans highly-regarded crew of distance men will run in the three-quarters mile Saturday.

Capt. Selwyn Jones and Tom Flynn are expected to run this weekend after missing last week's workout because of illness.

Coach Schladenman was satisfied with the performances of the thinclads last Saturday, especially the times posted by Dave Lean, the Spartans' top middle-distance threat.

Lean, Olympic silver-medal winner, ran an astounding 1:11.7 for the 600 after running an easy 2:17.1 for 1,000 yards.

Spartans Seek Win; Face Leading Bucks

Ohio State Unbeaten in Big 10 Play

State Looks for First Conference Victory

By JOE HOFFMAN

The bottom of the Big 10 visits the top of the Big 10 Saturday night when ninth place Michigan State journeys to Columbus to face league-leading Ohio State.

The Buckeyes have the only unblemished record in the conference at 3-0. The Spartans have yet to win a league contest having dropped one-point decisions to both Purdue and Michigan.

Couch Fordy Anderson will start Capt. George Ferguson, Larry Hedden, John Green, Pat Wilson and Jack Quigley in an attempt to stop the high-flying Bucks.

Ferguson is currently tied for 10th in the Big 10 scoring race with a 16-point average. Other Spartans in the top 30 are Hedden, 16th, Quigley, tied for 22nd, and Beneke, 30th.

Forward Frank Howard is the big gun of Ohio State. The 6'6" forward has averaged 23 points a game, second only to Indiana's Archie Dues, is second in field goal percentages with 52% and is in the top five in rebounds.

Howard was a standout for the Buckeyes last year but was forced to play in the shadow of All-American Robin Freeman, who has since graduated.

In addition to Howard, other Buckeye starters are Ken Sidel, eighth in scoring; Jim Laughlin, tied for 36th; Larry Huston, tied for 28th, and Gene Millard, 35th. The Bucks are coached by Floyd Stah.

Despite their low showing in the standings, Michigan State is third in shooting percentage with 41% Ohio State is way in front with 45%.

Anderson said Friday that if the mental attitude of the club is what it should be and everybody plays together all the way, an upset could be in the making. "Otherwise," he added, "we'll be pushing Wisconsin for the basement."

Detroit Ties Bruins, 2-2

BOSTON (AP)—Boston battled Detroit to a 2-2 standoff Thursday night in the Bruins' first National Hockey League test since Goalie Terry Sawchuk left the team.

Veteran Detroit winger Ted Lindsay tipped Gordie Howe's blue line, shot past Boston rookie-goalie Norm Defelice at 13:13 of the final period to effect the tie.

Defelice, who had filled in for Sawchuk earlier this year when he was ill, appeared nervous in the first period but settled down as the contest progressed.

NHL Standings

	W	L	T	Pts.
Montreal	25	12	6	56
DETROIT	22	11	8	52
Boston	21	12	8	50

Violates Anti-trust Law

National Football League May Face Destruction

WASHINGTON (AP)—A pro football attorney said Thursday the National Football League "may very well be destroyed" if the Supreme Court orders trial of a suit charging the league with antitrust law violations.

Bernard I. Nordlinger, Washington lawyer, told the high court that "harassment and utter chaos" might result.

NFL attorneys fought an appeal by William Radovich, a former University of Southern California and pro guard whose bid for $105,000 damages from the league and some of its clubs was dismissed in lower federal courts.

Radovich contended he was blacklisted for jumping from the Detroit Lions of the NFL to the Los Angeles Dons of the now folded All America Conference in 1946. He charged the NFL seeks to monopolize the professional grid sport. And Maxwell Keith, his San Francisco attorney, asked the Supreme Court to order a trial on merits of the complaint.

District and circuit courts at San Francisco tossed out the suit, saying football was a team sport like baseball and thus entitled to exemption from the anti-trust laws.

The Supreme Court has held that baseball is not a business of interstate character which would be subject to the Sherman Anti-trust Act. But it also has ruled professional boxing and legitimate theater bookings do fall within the scope of anti-monopoly laws.

The government joined Radovich in his appeal to argue that pro football is covered, that Radovich clearly charged violations and that the case should go to trial.

Marshall E. Leahy of San Francisco, another NFL attorney, said football claims no general exemption from such legislation. Now, he added, does football believe that baseball has such an exemption.

But Leahy contended that none of the offenses charged by Radovich are forbidden by anti-

Sawchuk Announces Retirement

Recently Named NHL All Star

BOSTON (AP)—Terry Sawchuk, suspended Boston goal tender, left by train Thursday night for his Milford, Mich., home vowing he has quit hockey for good.

Surprised by newsmen as he arrived for the train, Sawchuk was tense and resentful.

He prefaced what little he had to say with the statement, "I'm not talking."

Then he said: "I've quit and I'm gonna stay quit. I'm mad. And I got news for you. I'm gonna sue four Boston papers for what they said about me, after I get home."

After he calmed a bit he denied he had disappeared.

"I was locked in my room. I didn't answer the door or take any telephone calls. I'm going home and then I'm going out to Winnipeg to see my mother. She's sick."

Sawchuk was named to the National Hockey League all star team in midseason balloting Wednesday, only a few hours before Coach Milt Schmidt suspended him indefinitely for failure to report at practice as ordered.

Under hockey law the suspension could be for life. Schmidt ordered Sawchuk to the practice Tuesday night when the goalie called on him at his home and told him he was through.

The coach, himself one of hockey's greatest in his playing days, left the door open by saying if Sawchuk is sick "I'll be the first to apologize and we'll try to help him."

Sawchuk, 27, missed seven games in December because of a blood ailment (infectious mononucleosis) which leaves a person debilitated.

His place was taken by Norm Defelice, 23, who played for the Bruins against the Detroit Red Wings Thursday night.

Many consider Sawchuk hockey's best goalie. Before coming to Boston in a nine-player deal after the 1954-55 season, Terry thrice won the Vezina Trophy as the top goal keeper and several times was named to the all star team.

'The Body' Sobs After Questioning

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marie McDonald emerged in tears Thursday night after a three-hour and 20-minute session with the county grand jury which is investigating her disappearance two weeks ago.

The blonde actress embraced actor Michael Wilding, talked to her attorney, and then told a crowd of waiting newsmen that the jury had questioned her about what she termed "so-called glaring discrepancies" in a statement she gave to police in Indio, Calif., Jan. 5.

Miss McDonald—"The Body" of film fame—was found, bruised and hysterical, on the desert near Indio the night of Jan. 4. She told detectives a story of having been kidnaped from her Encino home by two men.

"I was in a state of shock when I made the statement," Miss McDonald said. "And then I never had a chance to correct it."

The jury moved into the investigation after police announced they were unable to find evidence to prove or disprove her story. She told newsmen the jurors went into detail about her Indio statement.

"I'm glad to clear up these so-called glaring discrepancies in my statement taken in Indio," she said. The jury had been "very kind," she said.

During the period the men held her captive, Miss McDonald has said, she was able to phone Wilding, her agent Harold Plant and film columnist Harrison Carroll.

All appeared before the jury Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Yugoslavia are reported to have agreed that Marshal Tito should visit the United States in late April, around Easter time.

Tito also would tour the United States for about two weeks afterward, visiting cities all the way to the west coast.

Chicago Sisters Exit Over Elvis 'Gone' 3 Weeks

CHICAGO (AP) — A three-week search for two young Chicago sisters, avid fans of Elvis Presley, turned Thursday to the singer's home state of Tennessee.

The Grimes sisters—Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13—disappeared from their south side home Dec. 28 after attending an Elvis Presley movie they had seen several times.

U. S. Joseph Morris of a special police investigation unit assigned to the search, said that a clerk in the State Employment Agency in Nashville, Tenn., Thursday definitely identified pictures of the missing girls.

The search first turned to Nashville Wednesday when Miss Pearl Neville, 54, of St. Paul, Minn., told Chicago police she met two girls resembling the Grimes sisters in Nashville. She said the girls used the last name of Grimes and told her they were seeking jobs.

Elvis Presley's home is in Memphis.

Prior to the Suez crisis, the much publicized Aswan High Dam—which would conserve for irrigation Nile waters now wasted in the Mediterranean during the flood season of late summer—was regarded as the keystone of the Nasser government's domestic economic program. However, even before the United States withdrew its offer to help finance this project, many economists maintained it was too massive an undertaking for the thin and insubstantial Egyptian economy.

Success

In Jordan, there is little irrigation so most of that country supports only a small semi-nomadic population. Barely 5 per cent of the land is under cultivation.

Syria also is primarily a pastoral and agricultural country. Manufacturing is done only on a small scale and confined mainly to the cities of Aleppo and Damascus.

Lebanon is a tiny mountainous country which grows grains, vegetables, corn, fruit, nuts and cotton. Mulberry trees sustain silk culture and there are extensive olive groves and vineyards.

There also are cotton and silk weaving industries and shoe manufacturing. Beirut is a busy transit port and Tripoli and Saida are the termini of oil pipelines from Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

In addition to these nations there are numerous independent sheikdoms strung out along the fringe of the Arabian peninsula, and area sometimes called the "land of the tollgate sultans" in view of the sheiks' proud insistence on tribute before travelers are permitted transit through their kingdoms.
