Illinois Blast Kills Seven

Bricks and Metal Strike Neighboring Buildings

ROSELLE, Ill. (AP)—An explosion apparently caused by leaking gas Monday killed seven persons, injured nine others and obliterated a two-story hardware store in downtown Roselle.

The blast, followed by a flash fire, occurred shortly before noon, showering this northern Illinois community with debris that, for a time, sealed off a highway running in front of the building.

Bricks and metal slashed through neighboring buildings and so littered Route 19 with rubble it was closed temporarily to traffic.

As far as authorities could determine, all those killed were in the store when the explosion occurred. All except three of the injured were in nearby stores or on the sidewalk in front of the building.

A gas company repair truck, whose crew was working near a gas main in front of the store, was demolished.

Nine persons were taken to Elgin and Elmhurst hospitals with cuts and burns. Several others were treated for slight injuries and were released.

Seven charred bodies, burned beyond immediate recognition, were recovered from the still smoldering wreckage. They were those of four men, two women and a boy.

Albert Richert, Dupage County Deputy Coroner, said there might be more bodies in the wreckage. Firemen from Roselle and nearby Bloomingdale fought the flames.

One of those missing and presumed among the dead was Herbert G. Giescke, operator of the hardware store, which is on Route 19 in downtown Roselle, a community of about 1,000 persons between Chicago and Elgin.

The explosion shortly before noon broke windows throughout the downtown area. Persons on the street nearby were cut by flying glass. The wreckage broke into flames immediately.

Chief of Police Gerald Young said Public Service Co. employees were drilling post holes in the area Monday and that they drilled through a gas main in front of the hardware store.

Young said two repair men from the Northern Illinois Gas Co. were called. They went into

First in Michigan MSU Cadets Get Flight Instructions

By LARRY GUSTIN
State News Night Editor

Flight training for senior AFROTC cadets, the first program of its kind in Michigan, began Monday at Capital City Airport.

The program, headed by Col. Glendon Davis, was initiated at 8:13 a.m. when the first plane, a Piper Tri-Pacer, left the snow-swept runway and headed into a heavily overcast sky.

Cadet Col. Burt Longnecker was the first student to get flight instruction in this first of over 40-45-minute lessons he and other senior cadets will be given during the term.

The program, authorized by Congress last year, will eventually include all juniors and seniors who are qualified physically and psychologically to be pilots.

At the end of the course, trainees will be eligible for private pilot licenses after taking the FAA test.

Art Hebert, head of Hebert Aviation Company which is under contract to supply the planes, has four Tri-Pacers now and expects to include two more within 10 days.

Fifty-seven seniors are slated to take part in the instruction during winter term. All are eligible for future pilot training as commissioned officers. The cadets have already had 30 hours of ground instruction on navigation and weather.

On the first flight the instructor briefs the student as the engine warms up. The student sits on the left at one of the dual control instrument panels.

The flight instructor lets the trainee take over as soon as the single-engine plane is at a safe altitude and he practices turns

995-Pound Steer Worth 20 G's

PS Troubadour Makes Regal Visit Here

By RAY PIERCE
All the royalty is not in Monaco, a King arrived at MSU Sunday night in his special railroad car.

His name is PS Troubadour. He's worth $20.50 a pound and he weighed 995 pounds at his last scaling. That's right—$20,397.50.

PS Troubadour's royal mother was Acadia Queen of Beauty 2nd and his equally royal father, of Scottish Shorthorn lineage, was Calrossie Troubadour.

PS Troubadour was born at Penn State. That's where the PS got in.

PS has been on the celebrity run ever since he was crowned King of beefdom at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago on Nov. 27, 1956.

It all started after the fierce and dips over Lansing-area farms.

The student is at the controls during most of his first flight except for the takeoff and landing. He learns to control the craft and gains confidence in it. After four hours he will be taking off and landing himself and after 12 air hours he will solo, according to Col. Davis.

Cadet Major Craig Sterling, who went up with flight instructor Ray Wheeler and the State News reporter, said he was "a little nervous" at first but soon lost his apprehension.

"I like it real fine," he said after the flight.

Travel Series To Feature Western Film

"Adventurama, A Canyon Voyage," narrated by Charles Egbert, professional cinematographer, will be shown Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Aud.

The film-lecture, a feature of the MSU World Travel series, will be projected on a wide screen with original music and recorded sound.

"Adventurama's" trip begins on the Green River in Wyoming and follows the route of Maj. John Wesley Powell's 1840 expedition reaching Lake Mead some 60 days later.

The boat trip covering more than 1,000 river miles includes 16 canyons, among them Lodore, Yampa, Desolation, Glen, Marble, Flaming Gorge, Cataract, and Grand Canyon. This is the first professional film record of this vast wilderness.

Egbert is Director of Motion Pictures for the National Parks association in Washington, D.C.

Wilson Raps War Dodgers

Claims 'Guard' Protected Kids

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said Monday there was "draft dodging" during the Korean War by youngsters joining the National Guard. The president of the National Guard Assn. called that "a damn lie."

Wilson's statement was made at a meeting of the House Armed Services Committee. He was discussing the Pentagon's recent decision to require six months of active duty training by National Guard enlistees, and said at one point:

"It was a sort of scandal during the Korean War, a draft dodging business. A boy of 17 to 18½ could enlist in the National Guard and not be drafted to fight in Korea."

Some of the Congress members blasted at the statement.

Wilson agreed the Guard now is not "a draft dodging proposition," but said "there was some carry-over."

The "damn lie" characterization came from Maj. Gen. Ellard Walsh who speaks in Washington for the Guard's 405,000 members. He told a reporter, he facts about the Guard during the Korean War were quite the reverse of those implied by Wilson.

Walsh said that when the conflict started the Guard Assn. "begged and pleaded with the Army to mobilize the entire Guard."

The administration did not order the full mobilization, he recalled, but said 37 per cent of the Army Guard was mobilized and 84 4/10ths of the Air Guard was called into active federal service. He noted that six National Guard divisions were federalized and served on active duty during the Korean War.

Walsh said that the Guard and none of its members ever had assurance throughout the Korean hostilities that the remainder of its units would not be called up and Congress had authorized the Guard to maintain its strength by enlisting pre-draft age youths between 17 and 18½.

"Not one of these young men was a draft dodger," Walsh declared, adding that none of them was yet eligible for the draft.

He said that many of these young men enlisted in Guard units that had already been designated for active duty.

Outpull Ohio Team State Horses Beat National Champions

The high spot of the opening day of Farmers' Week was the show at the Livestock Pavilion where the Michigan state heavyweight horse pulling team outpulled the National Championship team from Ohio.

The Michigan champs, owned by John Hutzenga of Grandville, moved a 3,750-pound load 27 feet six inches.

The Ohio team, owned by R. F. Oakley of Tiffin, Ohio moved the load 26 feet seven inches.

In the lightweight contest, an easy winner was the Missouri state champs owned by Harold Gilbert of Shelbyville, Mo.

Margorie Gunn, Midland freshman, was named Champion showwoman of the student's Little International showing and fitting contest after winning in the horse showing contest.

Phillip House, Rosebush freshman, won the steer showing contest. Short Course men, Ken Bortel of Britton and Wallace Hestek of Vassar, won the lamb and swine divisions respectively.

Today the Dairy part of the Little International will be in the Livestock Pavilion at 9. Students will compete for fitting and Showmanship honors aided by members of the MSU Dairy herd.

A program sponsored by the Agricultural Economics Department, in Fairchild Theater at 10, on the question "Should Young Folks Start Farming Today?" will be of special interest to potential farmers.

Discussion will cover how to get started, how to get capital, and experiences of young farmers and their wives.

J-Hop Sales To Continue

Due to the many requests, J-Hop ticket sales will be extended throughout this week until Friday. The tickets will be distributed on a first come-first serve basis at the Union ticket office.

All tickets for Saturday's semi-formal dance have been sold out, but there are still some remaining for Friday night.

Help is needed on the J-Hop decorations, according to Sally Boone and Jim Clyma, committee chairmen. All juniors interested in helping are invited to come to room 29 Aud. during afternoons and evenings today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Quiggle's 21 Points Paces '5'

Win Moves State Into 6th Place Tie

By JOE HOFFMAN

Michigan State's revitalized team played its best game of the season Monday night to upset highly favored Ohio State at Jenison Fieldhouse, 73-64.

Paced by Jack Quiggle's 21 points, the Spartans kept front-running Ohio State in check for most of the latter stages of the game after the lead changed hands nine times in an evenly-played first half.

It was on the boards where the Spartans excelled, outrebounding the Bucks, 48-23. The offensive rebounding was especially helpful in many of State's scores, as John Green, Larry Heddon and Quiggle took many missed shots and converted them into two points.

The victory moved State into a sixth place tie in the Big 10 with Minnesota and Iowa, all three with a 2-3 record. Overall, Michigan State is now 6-7. Ohio State retains the top rung with a 6-1 mark.

It was a great team victory for the Spartans — Quiggle played the best game of his college career, hitting on 56 per cent of his shots and snaring nine rebounds; Heddon contributed 17 points and did a great defensive job in the second half on Frank Howard, the Big 10's second leading scorer; Green played the full 40 minutes for the first time this season and captured 16 precious rebounds, and Capt. George Ferguson played his usual fine defensive game despite a heavy cold.

Sophomores Bob Anderez and Dave Scott both played well, scoring 12 points between them; Pat Wilson served as the Spartan sparkplug in the first half, and Chuck Benzie delivered two fine passes in the short time he saw action.

The crowd of 6,777 saw an exciting first half in which neither team could mount a sizable lead. Ohio State twice led by six points, 30-24 and 35-29, but both times the Spartans quickly closed the gap.

Probably the greatest thrill of the first half and the play which psychologically led the Spartans to victory came in the final second. Quiggle tried a desperation set shot from near mid-court and missed, but Green almost banged his head into the rafters while tipping the ball to put State ahead by one point at halftime, 40-39.

Ohio State grabbed two one-point leads early in the second half, but a layup by Heddon with 17:23 remaining put the Spartans ahead for good.

After building its lead to as many as nine points, State saw

Dorm Heads Urged to Get Ballot Boxes

Dormitory elections chairman must pick up ballot boxes and supplies for the primary elections of the Student Congress representatives on Wednesday between 7-8:30 p.m. in the AUSG office, according to Jan Cooper, elections commissioner.

Each dorm is responsible for seeing that the supplies are picked up at that time.

Petitions for vacant seats are due today at 4 p.m. They must be signed by 35 members of the district from which the candidate is running.

Vacancies are in Bryan, East Shaw, West Shaw, Gilchrist, East Mayo, West Yakeley, East Landota, Sororities, Fraternities (two seats), Bailey, Men's Co-ops, Enmons, East Lansing (three seats), Married Housing (two seats), and Armstrong.

U. S. Supports Hammaraskjold

Lodge Demands Israel Withdraw From Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States Monday threw its full support behind Dag Hammarskjold in his efforts to get Israeli forces out of Egypt and put UN peace troops on guard between Israel and Egypt.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the 80-nation General Assembly that Israel must withdraw from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh sector along the Gulf of Aqaba. He said UN emergency troops should move in as Israel withdraws.

A new and intensely-awaited debate on the Middle East opened in the assembly with Sudan's Foreign Minister Mohammed Ahmed Mahgoub, demanding that the assembly condemn Israel for not withdrawing from Egypt.

Mahgoub, who is one of the Asian-African delegates urging strong punitive measures against Israel, called for economic, military and financial restrictions but failed to offer a formal resolution.

Abdel Monem Rifa'a of Jordan urged the assembly to consider the expulsion of Israel for what he called defiance of its resolutions and for a series of alleged crimes against the Arabs.

Signs that the powerful Asian-African group was not unanimous on such harsh steps against Israel appeared when Ceylon's delegate, R. S. S. Gunewardene, urged a dispassionate examination of the situation.

He said Israel must first withdraw and this would create an atmosphere for talking about a settlement.

Lodge did not offer a resolution charting a course for the assembly but diplomatic sources said he is discussing a proposal with Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson and other delegates.

These sources said the resolution under consideration would call once more—for the sixth time—for Israel to leave Egypt. It would authorize Hammarskjold to put UN forces along the armistice line between Israel and Egypt from the Gaza Strip to the Gulf of Aqaba, on Israeli territory as well as Egyptian. It would permit UN forces to be sent to the Sharm El Sheikh area to act as observers against any belligerent acts by anyone.

All of this would have to be done with the consent of Egypt and Israel. One of the toughest assignments before the assembly would be to obtain their consent.

Unions Hit Amendment Use

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO Monday ordered ousted from office any officials of member unions taking the fifth amendment "for personal protection" to avoid testifying on union affairs.

The strong stand calling for full co-operation with a communist Congressional investigation of alleged union racketeering was adopted by the AFL-CIO Executive Council at its opening winter session.

The teamsters union, largest AFL-CIO member union, soon afterward announced defiance of the new policy.

Bill Would Provide Free Polio Shots

By JERRY JENNINGS
State News Capitol Reporter

Michigan children will receive free polio shots in periodical school clinics if a bill introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives Monday night is passed.

The bill, authored by Representatives Holly Hubbell (R-Saginaw) and Robert Gilbert (R-Saginaw), provides that polio immunization clinics will be set up in Michigan schools at regular intervals.

It also provides that all physicians and public health officers will give polio shots to children over three months old whose parents consent to the protection. The shots would be furnished by the state.

Similar procedures are now in use for immunization against diphtheria, smallpox tetanus and whooping cough.

Free polio shots would also be given to adults in cases of actual or threatened epidemics.

An identical bill was introduced in the Senate by Senators Clarence F. Graebler (R-Saginaw) and Perry W. Greene (R-Grand Rapids).

A resolution permitting Michigan State to construct $600,000 worth of women's co-operative housing on a self-liquidating basis passed the Senate. It was introduced in the House and referred to the Committee on Rules and Resolutions.

Trippi May Quit Cards

CHICAGO (AP)—The absence of Charlie Trippi from recent meetings of the Chicago Cardinals coaching staff Monday touched off a rumor that the former All-America football player from Georgia may be contemplating a job at his alma mater.

A Cardinal spokesman said Trippi is scheduled to be in Philadelphia Thursday for the National Football League player draft but that he has not attended sessions of the Cardinals' coaches in preparation for the draft. He has remained at his home in Athens, Ga.

It was learned that during the coaches' meeting in St. Louis earlier this month there was a rumor that Trippi might forsake his assistant coaching job with the Cardinals for a similar one with Georgia.

Staff Column College Fix Over?

By MEL REITER
State News Night Editor

THOSE who are deprived of an education because of poverty, generally regard universities as cathedrals of enlightenment. Some think of them as places for the fortunate, rich in wisdom, and inhabited by only ethical men.

Alumni will sing their school's songs as long as they live but I tend to reject these visions when I hear of the college athletes getting a "bum deal."

It is not my intention today to denounce all colleges as immoral institutions that betray the ideals of amateur athletes.

Last November, the NCAA reprimanded six more colleges for violations of the protocol of its constitution. It excludes them from participation in bowl games and restricts them in minor ways.

Now 17 colleges are on probation because of various violations.

The college athlete is being victimized by such brain trusters that use him as an unscrupulous fight manager role a pug.

The payments are trivial compared to the amounts of money earned by universities playing in profitable tournaments.

The boy is being taught to grab an easy buck, while in the lecture rooms the professors explain the value of character.

Years ago when the basketball scandal broke, it was discovered that the fixer's dollar was buying as much as the school's dollar. They saw the schools competing with each other to entice athletes to be used for a profit.

But the colleges couldn't match the fees of the fixers and so the kids took the best price.

No one goes to jail if a college purchases a boy's services. But the payer may do time if he allows himself to be put on the payroll of the chisellers. What loyalty could a kid have to a school that buys his skills?

Naturally, there are amateur athletes that make the simple trade of their skills for an education and rebuke when approached by the burglars. However, the temptation is immense. The prize is bigger if he sells himself for the second time.

Over the Christmas vacation, the Big 10 proposed an athletes "letter of intent." Under this rule, the athlete must record his choice of college to the Big 10 office which would restrict him to only that school.

Prior to this proposal, the school had the boy under lock and key. Now they are simply throwing away the key.

I mention this, not because I have heard rumors of any deals, but it would be easier to settle a football team than a basketball club.

The quarterback in the T-formation would be all a gambler needed to tap out on a football game. The T quarterback runs the game and handles the ball on every play.

It hasn't happened yet but remember no one believed a national conspiracy could take over college basketball.

Reform of the football racket would be hastened if guilty institutions were hit with the book. If they don't straighten it out, they are liable to become involved in a gambling mess.

OSU's Star Makes Relay Appearance

Davis Scheduled to Enter
6 Spartan Relay Events

By MAL BATEMAN
State News Managing Editor

Glenn Davis, Ohio State's Olympic champion, takes on a familiar role at the Michigan State Relays Saturday.

The Buckeye ace is entered in six events, but he is used to such a busy schedule. In the outdoor Big 10 championships last year, Davis placed in four events and scored 12 of his team's 19 1/2 points.

In the conference meet, he won the 220-yard low hurdles, tying the Big 10 record, took third in the 220-yard dash and captured fourth in the 100-yard dash and the broad jump.

Ohio State Coach Larry Snyder, who has also had Olympic champions in the great Jesse Owens and Mal Whitfield, has entered the Barbenton, Ohio, junior in the broad jump, high jump, and 75-yard intermediate hurdles in addition to the sprint medley, shuttle hurdles and mile relay teams.

Davis' versatility goes back to his high school days when, as a senior, he singlehandedly won the state track title for Barbenton.

However, his greatest triumph came less than two months ago at the Olympic Games where he won the 400-meter hurdles championship. Michigan State's Dave Lean placed fifth in the same race.

It was only last spring that Snyder entered Davis in the intermediate hurdles event. He received notice when he beat Lean in that event at the Ohio Relays.

A week later he won the Penn Relays title and then didn't compete in the event until he set a NCAA record at the Central Collegiate championships.

And then the Buckeye flash came on with a rush. After being upset by Notre Dame's Aubrey Lewis for the NCAA title, Davis won the National AAU crown and then went into the Olympic Trials, where he became the first man to break 50 seconds for the 400-meter hurdles.

Davis posted a 49.5 in the race, easily shattering the world record. When the U.S. Olympic team reassembled in the fall there was some skepticism that Davis would go to the Games. He had had trouble with conditioning but became fit enough to make the trip.

In the Olympics it was all Davis. After breezing through the trials and semi-finals, he capped the Olympic title in record time.

Saturday's relays will be the first meet for Davis since he left Australia, but the competition here may be just as tough as the Olympics.

Davis will be the favorite in the intermediate hurdles but he must dispose of Lewis first. The Notre Dame junior, a halfback on the football squad, is the Irish all-around man and the only runner to beat Davis in his specialty.

THE DRESS PARADE

What will the American college student wear this spring? Gather round, you rascals, and light a good Philip Morris Cigarette, and puff that rich, natural tobacco, and possess your souls in sweet content, and listen.

As we know, college fashions have always been casual. This spring, however, they have become makeshift.

The object is to look nudly improvised, gaily spur-of-the-moment! For example, girls, try a peasant skirt with a dinner jacket. Or matador pants with a bridal veil. Or Bermuda shorts with bronze breastplates. Be rakish! Be impromptu! Be devil-take-the-hindmost!

And, men, you be the same. Try an opera cape with sweat pants. Or a letter-sweater with kilts. Or a strait-jacket with hip boots. Be bold! Be daring! Be a tourist attraction!

Rock and Roll is Giving way to the Minuet

But all is not innovation in college fashions this spring. In fact, one of the highlights of the season turns time backward in its flight. I refer to the comeback of the powdered wig.

This charming accoutrement, too long neglected, has already caught on with style-conscious students all over the country. On hundreds of campuses rock-and-roll is giving way to the minuet, and patriotic undergraduates are dumping British tea into the nearest harbor. This, of course, does not sit well with old King George. For that matter, a lot of our own people are steamed up too, and there has even been some talk of revolution. But I hardly think it will come to that. I mean, how can we break with the mother country when we are dependent on her for so many things—linsey-woolsey, minie balls, taper snuffers, and all like that? She, on the other hand, relies on us for turkeys, Philip Morris, Cinemascope, and other valuable exports. So I say, if Molly Pitcher and those other Bryn Mawr hotheads will calm down, we may yet find an amicable solution for our differences. But let not our British cousins mistake this willingness to negotiate for weakness. If fight we must, then fight we will! Paul Revere is saddled up, the rude bridge arches the flood, and the ROTC is ready!

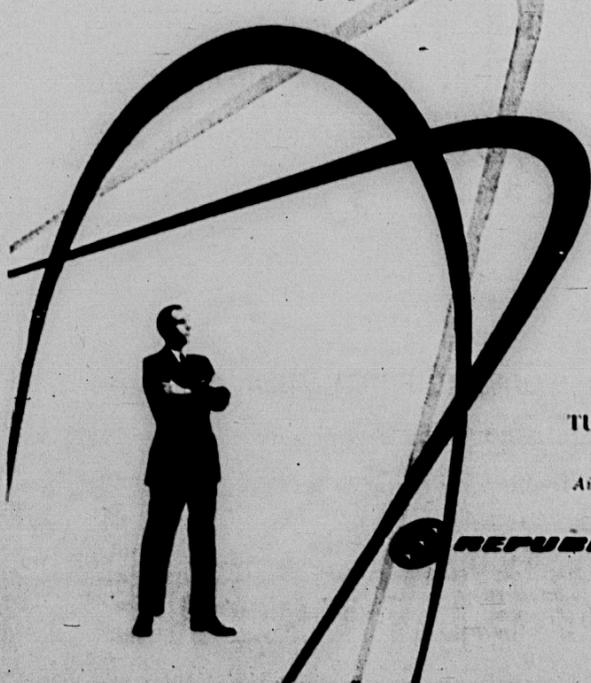

But I digress. We were smoking a Philip Morris Cigarette—O, darlin' cigarette! O, happy smoke! O, firm! O, fresh! O, fragrant! O, long-size! O, regular! O, get some!—and talking of new spring fashions, let us turn now to the season's most striking new feature: pneumatic underdrawers. These inflatable rubber garments make every chair an easy chair. Think how welcome they will be when you sit through a long lecture! They are not, however, without certain dangers. Last week, for example, Rimbaud Sigafos, a University of Pittsburgh sophomore, fell out of an 18th story window in the Tower of Learning. Thanks to his pneumatic underdrawers, he suffered no injury when he struck the sidewalk, but the poor fellow is still bouncing and it is feared that he will starve to death.

Fashions come, fashions go, but year after year the Philip Morris Company, sponsors of this column, bring you the tastiest, plumpiest cigarette your money can buy—Philip Morris, of course!

BonSalle Ineligible Illinois' Title Hopes Shaken

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The hopes of the University of Illinois for the Big 10 basketball title were dimmed Monday when its star center, George Bon Salle, was declared ineligible for flunking a Sociology class.

However, the announcement by Dr. Robert Browne, Illinois Big 10 faculty representative, said that the 6-foot-8-inch center from Chicago would be eligible until second semester classes start Feb. 7.

This was somewhat of a relief for the Illinois fans, as well as Harry Combes, for it meant that Bon Salle will be able to play the pivotal conference games at Purdue Saturday and against league-leading Ohio State at Champaign Monday.

Illinois' national ranking team currently shares second place in the Big 10 championship struggle with Michigan and Purdue, each with 3-1 records. The Illini have a 10-2 overall mark and Bon Salle has averaged better than 20 points in keeping the team in contention.

In all, he will be ineligible for eight conference games—two with Michigan State, Northwest-

MSU to Host Sixth Annual Ski Meet

Michigan State has been chosen the host team for the sixth annual Michigan Intercollegiate Ski Association meet to be held at Boyne Mountain, Feb. 2-3.

The meet promises to be one of the biggest ski events ever held in the state with entries coming from practically every college in Michigan.

It will consist of downhill and slalom races. A trophy will be awarded to the winning team. Prizes will also go to the first three individuals in the downhill and slalom combined.

The downhill race is scheduled for Feb. 2, at 10 a.m. and the slalom for Feb. 3 at 10 a.m.

Last year the Michigan Tech ski team took first place honors and Michigan State's entry was second. The Spartan team was first in 1955.

There are no women team entries but the girls entered will ski for individual honors.

Members of the Michigan State ski team include: Ross Hohn, Dick Huey, Jerry Iverson, Dan Perry, Don Haag and Ed Wahlberg.

North Carolina has seven basketball lettermen back this season. Only Jerry Vasda is missing from last season's team.

'Cats Fall To Purdue, 81-77

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Purdue took sole possession of second place in the Big 10 conference basketball race Monday night by defeating Northwestern, 81-77.

Purdue took an early 21-13 lead with seven and one-half minutes in the game but Northwestern rallied and went ahead, 28-27, before Joe Campbell canned a field goal and added a free throw. This gave Purdue a 30-28 lead which the Boiler-makers built into a 48-39 halftime lead.

Campbell scored 13 points in the first half and added 11 in the second half to tie Northwestern's Dick Johnson for scoring honors with 24 points each.

What a MATHEMATICIAN can do at IBM

Mathematics is an ancient but ever-advancing science that contains many forms. It shouldn't surprise you then that it took some time before John Jackson discovered the one brand of mathematics that seemed custom-tailored to his ability and temperament. John is an Applied Science Representative, working out of the IBM office at 122 East 42nd Street, N. Y. C.

First of all, what's it all about? What does a fellow like John Jackson do all day? In his own words, "I keep in touch with the executives of many different companies—advising them on the use of their IBM electronic data processing computers. I personally consult with these customers, and analyze their scientific and technical problems for solution by IBM. Occasionally, I'm asked to write papers, and give talks and demonstrations on electronic computing. All in all, it's pretty fascinating... something new pops up every day." In other words, John is a full-fledged computing expert, a consultant... and a very important person in this

Shopping out a computer program

The aircraft people decided that they couldn't afford to wait that long, so they called in IBM. After discussion with top executives, John helped to map out a computer program that saved the organization over 100 days of pencil-chewing, nail-biting arithmetic. Later, for this same company, John organized the establishment of computer systems for aircraft performance predictions... for data reduction of wind tunnel tests... and for wing stress analysis. At the same time, he worked with this company's own employees, training them in the use of IBM equipment. John still drops around to see that everything is running smoothly.

Another service that John performs is the constant reappraisal of each customer's IBM operation. Occasionally, a customer may tie himself in knots over a procedural "snicker." Periodically, in fact, John brings IBM customers together... just to talk over what's happening in each other's business—how everybody else handled that old bugaboo in any industry... details.

New Gold for Mathematicians

John is exercising his mathematical know-how in a field that was practically unheard of ten years ago. Even now, this kind of work may be new to you. It was to John Jackson a few years back when he was an undergraduate at the University of Colorado. At that time, he was considering actuarial work or mathematical research. But John liked the excitement and diversification of science and industry and he wanted to use his mathematical background in both of those areas. It was not until he was interviewed by IBM that field computing whetted his scientific appetite. A few months later, John launched his own IBM career as an Applied Science trainee.

Promotion was, John has come a long way since that time. He's now an Applied Science Representative in one of the busiest, most responsible offices in the IBM organization... mid-town Manhattan.

With his wife, Katherine, and daughter, Lisa, 20 months, and John,

Discussing a problem with colleagues

For 6 weeks, he enjoys his suburban Port Washington home. He's happy and he's satisfied. And then, too, John knows a few vital statistics about IBM... such as the fact that the Applied Science Division has quadrupled during the past three years, and that in 1956 alone, over 70 promotions were conferred. If ever a future held promise, here it is.

IBM hopes that this message will help to give you some idea of what a mathematician can do at IBM. There are equal opportunities for E.E.'s, M.E.'s, physicists and Liberal Arts majors in IBM's many divisions—Research, Product Development, Manufacturing Engineering, Sales and Technical Services. Why not drop in and discuss IBM with your Placement Director? He can supply our latest brochure and tell you when IBM will next interview at your campus. Meanwhile, IBM will be happy to answer your questions. Just write to Mr. F. H. Bradley, IBM, Dept. 8701, 590 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y.

The Buckeyes score six straight to narrow the gap to 63-60 with 4:21 left. But Quigley and Healy combined for eight consecutive free points to put the game permanently out of reach.

Green, who seems to have sewed up the starting center berth gave the fans quite a treat as he continually blocked would-be Ohio State scorers by stuffing the ball down the throat of Buckeye throats.

Howard, despite being held to four field goals, led Ohio State in scoring with 19 points. He sank 11 straight free throws. Gene Miller scored 16 and Tom Sallis 15.

The Spartans after play at Northwestern, Indiana, had a beautiful job of staying in the winning 49 seconds. With coach Forde Anderson pointing off the last second with his pocket, Healy tossed the ball high into the darkness. In the Ohio State players watched their undisciplined conference record slip to 1-1 in the air.

Atom Power Plant Model On Exhibit

The scale model of the nation's first commercial atomic power plant is now in the MSU museum.

The nuclear power plant now being constructed in Monroe is a $77 million project. The Detroit Edison Company is the leader of 18 private utilities and a 100-man manufacturing firm which are financing and operating the plant.

The revolutionary new plant will train a conventional 100,000 kilowatt steam plant to the first commercial fast breeder type of nuclear reactor to produce power.

A Detroit Edison spokesman said that the atomic reactor will be so efficient it will produce more fuel than it consumes.

The building at Monroe is scheduled for completion in 1960 pending the outcome of current atomic energy commission hearings on its safety for the population. Detroit Edison also

The model will be on display for at least two weeks. Museum hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Meites Named Biology Society Vice-Chairman

Dr. Joseph Meites, professor of physiology and pharmacology, has been named vice-chairman of the Michigan Section of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine.

Dr. Meites, who will also head the program and nominating committee of the group said the first program meeting of the section will be Feb. 27 at Michigan State University. Four papers dealing with current research by Michigan members will be presented.

The society is a national organization of senior investigators in the fields of biology and medicine with about 70 members in Michigan. The Michigan Section was formed at a December meeting in Ann Arbor.

Missing 10 Days Search For Coed Continues

Search For Coed Continues

ANN ARBOR, (P) — The fruitless search for a University of Michigan coed missing 10 days continued to puzzle police Monday.

The girl, blonde, blue-eyed, 5-foot-10, 120 pounds, was last seen Jan. 19, but Ann Arbor police were not notified until a week later.

The last person to see the missing girl reportedly was Jean Gandy, a junior classmate from Franklin, N.Y. She told police she had seen Miss Adler Jan. 18 about noon in a campus library.

"We had talked about getting an apartment," Miss Gandy said. "Bach said she'd go over to the administration building and see if there were any advertisements there. We were supposed to meet back at the library in an hour. She never came back."

Det. Lt. George Blumh and Det. Sgt. Claude Danton began while continuing to trace their missing leads. They remained busy a tough one to follow up.

A second article of the girl's room in a private home was conducted by Danton and the girl's father, Herman, who arrived here Sunday from Pennsylvania.

Yes, Orville finally decided that he was sick and tired of beating around the bush... this lovely damsel had been avoiding him for too long... ACTION was the course to take... He strode briskly up to her, grabbed her by the arm and told her point blank, "Olivia, you are going to the J-Hop with me."

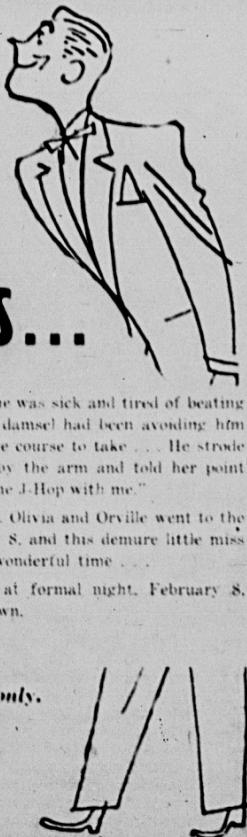

And as all good stories end... Olivia and Orville went to the J-Hop on formal night, February 8, and this demure little miss and dashing young man had a wonderful time.

Despite Snow and No Water Water Carnival Work Gets Underway

By AUDREY MACKNESH

Even though snow covers the ground, and the Red Cedar is frozen over in many spots, work is already beginning on Water Carnival which will be held the latter part of spring term.

Tonight a rush smoker will be held in room 11 of the Union from 7:10 instead of 7:9 as originally announced for all those interested in working on this annual event.

The nine division chairmen and all committee chairmen, representing the different areas in each division will be present. They will explain the functions of their group and will answer any questions.

Applications will be taken for all committees. All students are urged to attend the smoker. Experience is not necessary for membership in most committees.

The various divisions and committees are as follows: 1. Production division, which consists of staging and layout, policy, and securities, rules and regulations, costumes, decorations and the long and open boat.

2. Theme and continuity division including copy and layout, art and photographs and advertising.

3. Publicity division, responsible for radio and TV, news and direct mail, magazines and judges and trophies.

4. Public relations division consisting of advisory and off-campus committees.

5. Band division.

6. Tickets division.

7. Water Sports and side-lighting division.

The '57 Water Carnival theme contest began Monday and will continue through Friday. The winner of the contest will receive a $25 gift certificate for clothing at the Style Shop in the Leffler's.

Students are encouraged to submit as many ideas as they like. Entries should include the name of the theme plus various sub-titles to indicate how the theme should be carried out.

Names, addresses and phone numbers should accompany all entries.

Last year's theme was "Media Mania" and each float illustrated the name of a radio or TV program. The three top winners from last year's Carnival were from the Chuck, Disneyland and Mr. First.

Entries should be placed in the petition box located in the Union concourse. The winner will be announced Feb. 4.

Water Carnival began work back when MSU was MAC. It was originated by students looking for an unusual novelty to pattern water-side activities after their Indian ancestors featuring canoe tilt and races.

This event gained in popularity, until in 1926 the senior class presented a Mardi Gras on the Red Cedar. In 1927 the seniors, who were in charge of this event gave the job to a Water Carnival Board, which was appointed by the senior class president. And thus our present day Water Carnival came into existence.
