Kathy Arnold Crowned Miss MSU at J-Hop

Kathy Arnold, Battle Creek junior, was named Miss MSU at the J-Hop's intermission Friday night. An estimated 3,000 dancers saw Jan Kwanter, Saginaw junior and Miss Mid of 1956, crown the new queen. Miss Arnold, the 1955 Purpose Queen, will represent the university at the Miss Big 10 contest.

Eight new members of Blue Key, junior-senior men's service honorary, were tapped at the Saturday intermission.

They are: Rex Dawson, Toledo, Ohio senior; Gene Clendenon, Norfolk, Va. junior; Max Gozenbach, Milbank, S.D. junior; Robert W. Marsh, East Lansing junior; John Schramke, Kalamazoo junior; Burton Sheppard, Sheboygan, Ohio junior; Fred Raymond, Detroit senior; and Dan Worcester, Saginaw junior.

Also during Saturday's intermission Bill Bopp, Wauau, Wise, junior, president of IFC scholarship committee awarded the IFC trophy for scholastic improvement to Phi Kappa Psi.

Favors for Laputans carried out the watery theme of the dance. They were mermen, a kind of stuffed animal pillow.

During the two nights of the dance approximately 6,000 people danced to the music of Les Brown, surrounded by fish motifs and aquarium scenes.

During both intermissions, Turk Murphy and his group played old time dixieland jazz. Noel Stokey emceed.

Student Teacher Applications Due

Fall term student teaching applications will be accepted anytime from now until Friday, according to William V. Hicks, coordinator of student teaching.

Application blanks are available in the Student Teaching Office section F, 1 Wells Hall. The deadline listed in the University catalog was Feb. 1, but since many students have not yet applied the date has been extended, Hicks said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Dockmen Near Settlement

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen and shippers were reported near agreement Sunday night on a three-year contract to avert a threatened coastwide waterfront strike. Federal mediators said the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ind.) and New York Shipping Assn. were close to agreement on a new company proposal similar to one made by the union last night. The only major point still at issue, it was understood, was whether the shippers would insist on a clause giving them the right to change working conditions as new machinery is introduced to the job.

Red Infiltration Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) said Sunday the first group of Hungarian refugees admitted by the United States after the revolution started may have contained many communists "coming from the ire of their fellow countrymen."

New Inquest Scheduled

CHICAGO (AP)—A second inquest session was set for today as investigators continued to probe for a key to the baffling puzzle of the Grimes girls' fate. Police still had little more than theories to go on. One premise was that the girls might have been disrobed by youthful hoodlums who enticed them into a car, and then abandoned without clothes as vengeful retaliation for refusal to permit sexual molestation.

Israel Turns Down Six UN Proposals

Economic Pressure Won't Force Gaza Strip Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Golda Meir, Israeli Foreign Minister, said Sunday hardships incidental to any UN economic pressure would not drive Israel away from the Gaza Strip and the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba.

She told a reporter Israel can't leave these points without guarantees of security against renewed Arab raids from the strip and against a renewed Egyptian blockade of the Gulf, which leads from the Red Sea to the Israeli port of Eilat.

She was interviewed on Arab delegates talked of asking Israel to pull out of those localities withdrawing her invasion corps behind the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice line.

UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, meanwhile, worked on a report that would tell the Assembly Israel had not complied with the Assembly's six successive resolutions calling for withdrawal.

Aliza Eran, Israeli Ambassador to the UN and Washington, talked with Hammarskjold before returning home to the Intercontinental Hotel, invitation. Hammarskjold showed him a report before making it public today.

Israeli circles said Ethan got no answers from Hammarskjold to his questions whether US troops would be deployed to protect free navigation in the Gulf and whether Egypt would agree to abstain from belligerency, including blockades, in the Gulf and in the Suez Canal.

Earlier Ethan said in a TV interview he would have further conference at the State Department today "at the highest level."

Before Ethan's visit U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. conferred with Hammarskjold.

Born in Vienna of Austrian, Italian and Hungarian ancestry, Miss Gueden made her operatic debut in Zurich. At the end of World War II she was engaged by La Scala and the Vienna State Opera as a leading soprano.

Currently on her fourth American tour, she has appeared on major radio and TV programs and recordings.

Flash Flood Hits Ohio

PORSCHE, Ohio (AP)—Residents here and in neighboring Scioto County began cleaning up layers of mud and dirt caking their homes and streets after a flash flood that hit here early Sunday.

Floodwaters hit Portsmouth and other rural parts of the county after a two-inch rainfall sent rivers and creeks swelling beyond their banks.

Six Finned Spartans, donned aqua-jungs and rubber suits, broke through the ice at Lake Lansing last Monday and descended to a depth of 15-20 feet.

The aqua-men chopped a 3 by 4 foot hole and went down in pairs in what was termed "mainly training work" by Truman Schrag, president of the Finned Spartans.

Although a relatively new and inexperienced club, the Finned Spartans are on 24-hour call by State Police and Conservation Department, should their services be required.

Among those who dove were Schrag, Rog Hommer, Detroit junior; Bob Easterbrook, Detroit junior; Ted Seale, Lansing junior; King Harvey, Kalamazoo junior.

Reporter Defies State Department

NEW YORK (AP)—William Worthy, one of three United States newsmen who went to Red China despite a State Department ban, said Sunday he still has the passport U.S. authorities tried to take away from him.

The 35-year-old Negro reporter discussed the passport after arriving here by plane from Boston.

Worthy defied a U.S. government order that newsmen must remain away from Communist China as long as American were imprisoned there.

In Budapest several days ago, Worthy said his passport was formally demanded by Vice-Consul Richard R. Shultz Jr.

Worthy refused. He later went to Vienna by train and arrived in Boston by plane earlier today.

In Boston, Worthy said Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai told him in an interview that he does not think President Eisenhower is a "man of peace."

In answer to a question, Worthy said the Chinese Premier replied: "Eisenhower a man of peace?" His Middle East Doctrine seems to refute that."

Worthy also quoted Chou En-lai as saying:

"The fact that the United States government revoked the passports of the three U.S. newsmen who visited (Red) China shows the United States has not taken into consideration the desire of the American people to improve relations with the Chinese people."

Worthy said he found the attitude of the man-on-the-street in Red China is "We like the American people but we don't agree with their government."

Coupled with an earlier Carnegie grant of $12,000, the new gift will finance the 2½ year study.

Dr. Edward W. Weidner, head of the department of political science at MSU will direct the study. He said:

"A main objective is to determine the contribution that these programs make to the development of American universities and institutions abroad."

Since programs conducted by American universities overseas contribute significantly to American foreign policy objectives," Dr. Weidner said, one of the first objectives of the study will be to list and total the number of such programs. Then the scope of the programs themselves will be studied.

Rattner is one of eight lecturers scheduled to speak in the series, "The Creative Personality," offered by the University of Chicago. Co-sponsor is the Art Directors' Club of Chicago Tuesday.

The artist will build his talk around a film, "Genesis of an Idea" which describes his work, and was written, filmed and directed by Allen Leepa, assistant professor of art.

The paper is a report on a portion of the extensive theoretical and experimental program on static electrification being carried out by Professor Montgomery and his students.

Montgomery will be interviewed.

Seek 5th Straight Win

Cagers Face Purdue After Dumping Illinois

By JOE HOFFMAN

Finding itself right in the thick of a torrid basket ball race, Michigan State tries for five straight tonight by taking on Purdue at Lafayette.

The game will be broadcast over WILX and WKAR-FM beginning at 6:30 (EST).

The Spartans captured No. Four Saturday by upsetting the University of Illinois, 15-14. It gave State a 4-3 conference record and shoved the Spartans into a four-way tie for fourth place. The race is so close that the first seven teams are only a game apart and even eighth place Iowa is only two games back.

State will be out for revenge tonight as the Boilermakers were one of the two teams to defeat the Spartans by one point earlier in the season. Purdue was upset by Iowa Saturday night and is now in third place with a 5-2 record.

It is noted that MSU students and faculty will beat the nation's collegiate record of 4,629 points set by Stanford University in 1953.

Prospective donors may register any time this week in the Union concourse. Blood is being taken on the fourth floor of the Union from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. The hours Thursday will be from 2-5 p.m.

Approximately 45 minutes is required for the whole process of giving blood. A physical examination is given each donor. Coffee and doughnuts will be served following the donation. The Lansing Red Cross Regional Blood Center is in charge of taking the blood.

It is perfectly safe for MSU students to donate blood in each term's drive, according to W. G. Wilkinson, manager of the Ingalls County Red Cross. He says that the Red Cross recommends that it is safe to give blood every two months, but no more than five times a year.

In order to show students how easy it is to give blood, an MSU crew, Corrie Spamer, Detroit freshman, will donate her blood on WJIM-TV at 2 p.m. today. Also as a feature of the show, Country House Party Line, Dean Vane, Royal Oak sophomore, and co-chair of the drive, is in charge of taking the blood.

Prof. Awarded Two Citations For Designing

D. Newton Glick, Associate Professor in the Department of Landscape Architecture and Urban Planning, was presented a "Plant America" award and citation at the annual banquet of the Michigan Association of Nurserymen at the Hotel Park and Grand Rapids on Jan. 21. In nationwide competition, his work was honored for one of the biggest awards.

Professor Glick was the landscape architect for the site development of the office building of the Michigan Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in Lansing. This design, a unique pattern of plant materials and paving, received recognition by the American Association of Nurserymen.

Uncomplimentary

Positive Approaches Suggested for Rules

Strong student opinion has swelled up recently about restrictions in general and the forbidding of visits from men's rooms in particular.

Some of the opinion is emotional and based on it is well founded and mature. The strength of the rule if not its mere presence indicates that some actions consideration should be given the problem among the powers that be.

Recently the State News noted that the Michigan State student body had a sort of "old" attitude toward life. Perhaps that attitude is a direct outgrowth of the present system which places the harsh, unrealistic maternal restrictions on both the coeds and men of Michigan State.

Complaints center around the question of who and what is mature. At what arbitrary point is someone mature? When are students to be allowed to think as adults and to conduct themselves as adults? Not when will they—when will they be allowed to?

Elsewhere in the world persons who turn 21 acquire the legal ability almost, even accept the legal liability to start for themselves to decide who they will associate with, under what circumstances and with what results to decide how much to drink when and where to decide whether to smoke and how much. They are allowed or forced to accept the finality of deciding whether a room is fit to live in, whether food is fit to eat or whether it is time to go to bed.

Not, however, at Michigan State. Here a student must be at least 21 before he may even pick his own living quarters.

There are, however, no local age limits at which coeds may decide where they will keep the company of males or at which they can decide it is time to go home and go to bed.

Rather, the university sets its regulations for this purpose.

Thus, "coming of age" at Michigan State is not at the 21st birthday but when graduation arrives. Then, suddenly, all at once, we are adults—with little training in thinking for ourselves and a whole bag full of decisions to make immediately.

Would it not be better to prepare the students for this final step in maturation rather than make it the first step. Would it not be better to teach students to think for themselves in preparation for this rather than do their thinking for them for four years?

Admittedly some rules, in fact a good many rules, are necessary to run the university smoothly. However, is it necessary that they be as restrictive and, in some cases, downright harsh as they are?

It seems that perhaps a positive approach would be more sensible than the present negative philosophy that people will always sin if given half a chance.

Certainly it is not in the least complimentary to students that they have been judged incapable of handling themselves like adults.

It must be admitted that a certain segment of the population is going to get in trouble. But this segment is the same minority that will get into trouble despite any and all precautions.

At any institution that does not have cells and barred windows, those who want to do something are going to be able to do so. If they want to have a party, they do.

If they cannot do so legally and above board, they will find a sneaky, behind the back, in a dark alley method of doing it.

We have few candidates who tell the student body exactly what they stand for. All they tell them is a name on a series of vividly painted posters.

In due time, size may become the criteria. We can see it now, the front of the Union "cardboarded" up.

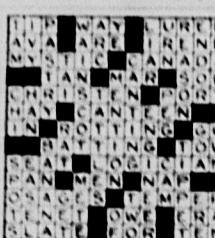

Because of this "poster habit" it is evident that we must travel the extreme road. Abolish them.

If this is done, it will force candidates to use other methods which will more accurately express his desirability to Michigan State.

It will tear down the shielding poster and put the candidate before the students.

It will put the emphasis where it belongs—on the candidates' qualifications, ability and platform, not on his name or art work.

Regulations Prevent Maturity

To the Editor:

It is indeed a sorry state of affairs when a university finds it necessary to automatically expel students for receiving visits from coeds in their apartment.

The lack of individuality and maturity of many MSU students is not hard to understand when confronted by a maze of regulations put out by an administration which seems to be trying to turn out ones produced graduates, molded to the identical pattern and capable of thinking up to the point of what textbooks have to say, then it is well on the way. For those students who respect their individual personalities, will leave to find a place where they are free.

The complicated regulations at MSU cover so much of the student's activities that the average student has a shocking lack of freedom. Technically speaking, students can be expelled or censured for attending an uninvited party in New York City. This sort of regulation pertains to every aspect of student life which in essence violates the spirit of an education of higher learning.

The uniqueness of a university education lies in the opportunities it offers the individual to finally put to use and expand on everything that has been drummed into him by family and the high school. A university is not a nursery where he is told everything he should do and all that he shouldn't.

The university's responsibility is to provide a suitable atmosphere for the maturing of the student. That is being treated as a mature member of the institution, fully capable of placing a major role in adult life. To this end we propose an open meeting of forms of interested students and administration members for the purpose of a mutual airing of views on outstanding matters.

The question is not whether the student drinks or not, or whether he has female visitors or not, but rather whether he practices moderation or not. It is only when he is incapable of conducting himself in a responsible manner that the University is justified in taking measures to expel him.

The assumption by the administration that the average student is immature and incapable of looking after himself, even though he might be a Korean veteran, is anything but.

The continued immaturity on the part of the student.

Continued having to continually act in a sneaky manner, and

The continued dependence on others for his decisions.

In the process he loses more and more the ability to face up to decisions by himself and to use his discretion as he will have to do the rest of his life.

Spoon feeding will not serve him in later years. The student will not act in a mature manner unless he is treated as such.

Finally, some questions. Would the administration prefer students to see a trash movie rather than gather at someone's place and discussing life, listening to records and acting in a normal civilized manner? Would the administration rather have students retire to dark alleys in their cars for more wholesome entertainment because they have nowhere else to go?

Is the administration in favor of a few students being expelled for drinking when the majority of the student body indulges in drinking in one manner or another? Isn't it unfair to accuse a few unfortunate one for the practices of many? Isn't it wrong to treat the coeds in a negative light?

What right does this university have to restrict our growth and development as responsible members of our community? What right does it have to channel our thoughts and actions in what it considers to be the proper and right path?

Clearly, some of the regulations of this institution are outdated. American society prides itself on progress, and yet with the physical growth of this university, nothing has been done to promote our safety, security, happiness, and growth without the consideration of a far older Big Brother. If this university is trying to turn out ones produced graduates, molded to the identical pattern and capable of thinking up to the point of what textbooks have to say, then it is well on the way. For those students who respect their individual personalities, will leave to find a place where they are free.

And one more point before I close my pen to this institution that is making a valiant attempt to raise its standards and improve its reputation. May I suggest that it is starting with the effects and not the causes. May I suggest that it is working with the superficial symptoms that other universities with the finest reputations in the country do not feel the need to stand over their students, social groups in hand, ready to strike at the slightest indiscretion.

Trust Is Lacking

To the Editor:

I agree wholeheartedly with the statement that the women on this campus are treated like "babies in diapers." I realize that we must have some rules, after all our society could hardly exist without rules. But our rules go to the extreme.

Numerous psychology classes teach that a negative command is answered by a refusal to obey. It's human nature. It seems a shame that such well-educated administrators should fail to follow what they have been taught.

I'm wondering how we are expected to leave college and enter the world as well-educated, well-adjusted women if we can't be trusted while we're in college. Such things as hours restricted resident visiting, liquor laws and numerous others only point out that we are not trusted.

I feel that if something isn't done about these very unfair, undemocratic, undemocratic and unreasonable laws that the enrollment here will sadly lag in a few years.

High schoolers look forward to college because that's the time when you're on your own. You're supposed to be treated as adults. Well, you're really mistaken kids. Go back to 10th grade again, you'll have more freedom there.

Big Brother Act

To the Editor:

I would like to add my voice to that of my fellow classmates in requesting one more right which we have been deprived of. It has gotten to the point where we women students are treated as RETARDED children. We were given more encouragement in high school than we have in this institution. Not only has the governing board removed our right to think for ourselves regarding living, cleanliness and smoking, but also has restricted what we can and cannot do when under direct supervision.

Most of the girls have felt insulted by this latest proof of distrust of our private ideals. However, let me leave the personal angle of this situation for more crucial and basic question a moment. There is a much involved in this matter than appears at first glance. This is just one more blow at the growth of college students in general. Perhaps I have labored under a misconception these past few years, but I believed college was supposed to encourage one to think for oneself. Furthermore, I believed that college was to support individual achievement and initiative. What right does this university have to restrict our growth and development as responsible members of our community?

What right does it have to channel our thoughts and actions in what it considers to be the proper and right path?

Someday we will be adults. We will be responsible members of our society. Let us hope that day comes soon.

Ag Board Nominees Announced

GOP Convention Held in Detroit

Republican candidates for the State Board of Agriculture, MSU's governing body, were nominated at the GOP convention in Detroit Saturday.

Frederick H. Mueller of Grand Rapids and Frank Merriman of Deckerville will run against Democratic contenders for the two vacant seats on the State Board in the April election.

Mueller, who has served nine years on the board, was nominated by acclamation. He is now serving in Washington as assistant U.S. secretary of commerce.

Merriman won a close race for the other nomination over Louis H. Schimmel and J. Kermit Clegg.

The other State Board incumbent, Forrest H. Akers of Detroit, is not seeking re-election. A former MSU professor won the Republican nomination for superintendent of public instruction at the convention.

In Edgar L. Harden, new president of Northern Michigan College at Marquette, won handily over Charles G. Burns of Harrisville. The nomination was made unanimous on Burns' motion.

Harden was former head of school of hotel, restaurant and institutional management, and MSU's representative to the Big Ten Conference.

After leaving MSU, Harden served as executive secretary of the Drop Forge Industry Assn. He took the Marquette post only a few months ago.

Dr. Clair Taylor, present superintendent of public instruction, announced his retirement as of July 1 to accept a "once in a lifetime" job at MSU.

The 1,500 convention delegates named Lawrence B. Lindemer of Stockbridge as state chairman, replacing the retiring John Feilens.

The nomination of Lindemer, a former state legislator, was hailed by political observers as a victory for the "progressive" Eisenhower wing of the party.

Mrs. Ella Koze of Grand Rapids was nominated as vice chairman of the state organization, replacing Mrs. Catherine Gibson of Monroe.

George M. Foster, deputy state highway commissioner, was unopposed for the state highway commissioner nomination. The incumbent, Charles M. Ziegler, will retire July 1.

Unanimously nominated for regents of the University of Michigan were Alfred G. Constance and Mrs. Ethel Watt of Birmingham.

George W. Dean of Detroit, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor, was nominated for the State Board of Education which supervises the state teachers' colleges.

Russell Kirk of Muskegon, former MSU humanities professor and author of "The Conservative Mind," was nominated also, but his name was withdrawn.

Nominated for justices of the Michigan Supreme Court were Michael J. O'Hara of Menominee and Robert A. Childs, instructor at Wayne University, for full eight-year terms.

Joseph A. Moynihan, Jr., former chief assistant U.S. district attorney in Detroit, was nominated to fill the remainder of the term of retired Justice Emerson Boyles.

Sweden has practically no domestic resources of coal or oil, says Swedish Minister of Commerce Gunnar Lange.

Cagers Dump Illini

was Kehrt who dumped in that long set shot with 12 seconds remaining to defeat the Spartans in their Big 10 opener at East Lansing.

Saturday's Illinois win was a good one in that it kept the Spartans in the middle of things. Not only was it the game's high score with 26 points but its defensive play was nothing short of sensational. It stole at least eight balls from the befuddled Illini with its quick hustle and alert reflexes.

The crowd of better than 7,000 saw State continually throw the ball in every direction but toward the basket. But as Anderson said afterward:

"It's great when you can play a poor game and still come out ahead."

Ferguson played the outstanding game of the afternoon. Not only was he the game's high scorer with 26 points but his defensive play was nothing short of sensational. He stole at least eight balls from the befuddled Illini with its quick hustle and alert reflexes.

Green once again electrified the fans with his ape-like jumps ability as three times he dunked rebounds, one from over his head, facing the other way.

It was Green's best all-around game since he became eligible against Michigan.

Green's 14 points tied him with Holden and Quiggle three in 16 to keep up State's balanced scoring attack.

After the middle of the first half, the game was never much in doubt. State led by nine at halftime and never fell less than six ahead in the final stanza.

Illinois just couldn't seem to get going and the loss of George Boni, Salle, was quite evident.

Manager Joseph S. Manning discusses a customer service request with Office Supervisor Katherine Hazleton.

"Like having your own $3,000,000 business"

Joseph S. Manning graduated in 1950 from Wesleyan University with a B.A. degree and a major in Bio-Chemistry. But chemistry, he decided, was not to be his career. He became intrigued, instead, by the opportunities in the telephone business, and joined New York Telephone Company in 1951.

Today Joe Manning is Business Office Manager in Parkchester, Bronx, New York. In this position he is responsible for about 27,000 telephone accounts which bill some $250,000 a month. 35 people work under him.

"It's like having your own $3,000,000 business," Joe says. "And it's pretty much an independent operation, which I enjoy. I'm in charge of all business office functions, and of personnel training and development. I also spend a lot of time out with my customers, making sure that they have the telephone service they want and need. It's an absorbing job."

The phenomenal growth of the business is one of the reasons why advancement opportunities are so good in the telephone company. Since 1943, for example, the number of telephones in our area has almost tripled. Growth such as this, going on all over the country, makes the telephone business especially attractive to anyone seeking a career with a future."

Bell Telephone Companies offer many interesting career opportunities, as do Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about all Bell System Companies.

Matmen Squeeze Out Win

Making a tremendous comeback which included two pins, the Michigan State wrestling team defeated Iowa State Techers 16-14.

State took the first match as John Strand defeated Don Corrigan 7-1 in the 123 pound class.

Teachers Ed Masteller defeated Jerry Hoke 4-1 in the 130 pound match. This tied the meet 3-3.

The Teachers then built up an 11-point lead by winning the next three matches.

Jim Young gained State's Edgar Wiles 5-4 in the 137 pound match. Dick Heaton defeated the Spartan's Norm Gill 8-3 in the 147 pound division and Pat Halligan took a close 5-4 decision over Walt Jones in a match that could have gone either way.

In the 177 pound class, the Spartans Lettay Gladstein needed only two minutes to pin Dale Price. The full time was 6:59.

Ken Matlow, the only under-rated Spartan, gave State its fifth victory in six dual meets as he pinned Jerry Olson at 5:29.

In the 187 pound class, the matches remaining, State not only had to win all three, but had to get one pin to tie or two pins to defeat the Teachers.

In the 167 pound division, State's Jim Ferguson did everything but put Tom Murphy's shoulders to the mat as he won by a disputed 11-1 score.

In the 177 pound class, the Spartans Lettay Gladstein needed only two minutes to pin Dale Price. The full time was 6:59.

Ken Matlow, the only under-rated Spartan, gave State its fifth victory in six dual meets as he pinned Jerry Olson at 5:29.

Track Team Duals Jayhawks Today

Michigan State's track team meets the Kansas Jayhawks tonight in a dual meet at Jenison after coping three tests and tying for another at the Michigan AAU meet last Friday in Ann Arbor.

The field events for today's test will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the first running event, the mile, starting at 8.

The Jayhawks, one of the top teams in the nation, will be led by Olympic discus champion Al Gerten and several Big Seven athletes.

Kansas placed second in both the NCAA cross country and track meets besides sweeping the Big Seven indoor and outdoor track titles and the harrier meet.

Michigan State will be led by Guy Leam, Olympic silver medal winner, and NCAA champions Edwin Jones and Henry Kennedy. The Spartans placed fourth in the NCAA and Big 10 indoor and outdoor meets plus winning the Big 10, IC4AA and NCAA winter crowns.

Michigan State's victories last Friday came in the two mile relay, two mile run, 600 yard run while the first-place tie came in the pole vault.

The quartet of Pordy Kennedy, Ted Treloff, Jones and Leam won the two mile relay in a good 9:11, with Leam contributing a 2:16 anchor leg.

Guy Jones pulled away in the late stages to easily win the two mile run in 9:34.6.

Freshman Willie Atterberry won the 600-yard run in a good 1:14, but only after holding off a rally by Charles Rhine of Chicago.

Atterberry's time is a freshman record, breaking the old mark of 1:13.0 set by Leam two years ago. Atterberry also placed third in the 1,000-yard run.

Michigan State gained its tie in the pole vault when freshman Mike Kleinhamer vaulted 13' 5 1/2", a freshman record. He tied with Michigan's Marion Gibson and Bob Appleman of the Chicago Track Club.

Kleinhamer's vault broke the old front record of 13 feet set by Francis Bowerman in 1947.

Shotputter Sam Kibbeler broke the varsity record in that event for the second straight week when he tossed the iron ball 56' 3 1/2", bettering the mark of 49' 1 1/2" he set at the MSU Relays last week. He placed third in divisional, gaining first place for Bryan.

Emmons took first place in the 55-yard medley relay in 39.3, while West Shaw's time of 47.0 captured first in 100-yard freestyle relay.

Batterfield finished with 37 points, followed by Armstrong and Barker with 16 each, Bryan and Bailey 5.

Tankers Win, 63-42

By JERRY ROBBINS
State News Sports Editor

Michigan State's swimming team rolled to its sixth dual meet win in seven starts Saturday, 63-42, scoring an impressive 63-42 win over Indiana.

The Spartans captured five of the nine individual events and both relays in posting their 11th win over the Hoosiers against six sets backs.

Spartan tankers established five dual meet marks and tied one other.

Michigan State's combination of Don Nichols, Paul Reinke, Ring Harmon and Gordy Fornell slashed the 400-yard medley relay pool record with a time of 3:59.8. The old mark of 3:59.4 was set earlier this season by Nichols, Reinke, Harmon and Larry Ellis.

Don Patterson broke the 100-yard dual meet mark of 56.5 set by Clarke Stevens in 1952. Patterson was clocked at 56.1.

With a week off before traveling to Northwestern Feb. 23, Coach Chuck McCaffrey has scheduled his annual variety-fest meet for 7:30 Friday in Jenison Pool.

West Shaw captured the IM inter-college swimming championship for the seventh time Thursday night by defeating a stubborn Kalamazoo team, 45-42.

The road to victory was a tough one compared with last year's easy triumph for West Shaw.

Emmons Hall, competing for the first time in the meet, presented the winners to the final event.

West Shaw gained valuable points by placing regularly throughout the meet.

In the 50-yard freestyle event Ed Ralph of Butterfield took first with a time of 24.8. Dick Womack of Armstrong and Tim Hand of West Shaw finished second and third respectively.

Emmons' Reynolds Smith captured the 50-yard breaststroke with a clocking of 28.5.

John Kramer of Butterfield was timed in 2:19.7, winning the 220-yard event.

West Shaw placed first, second and fourth in the 50-yard backstroke with Jim Johnson's 39.4 leading the field.

Lynn Morse of Emmons entered the 100-yard freestyle distance in 1:06.9 to earn first honors.

Dick Shottell's score of 119.8 in diving gained first place for Bryan.

Emmons took first place in the 55-yard medley relay in 39.3, while West Shaw's time of 47.0 captured first in 100-yard freestyle relay.

Batterfield finished with 37 points, followed by Armstrong and Barker with 16 each, Bryan and Bailey 5.

Nichols picked up his first win in three weeks in the 200-yard backstroke by swimming his way home in 2:15.8. His time bettered the old dual meet mark of 2:16.4 set by Indiana's Larry Meyer in 1951.

Paul Reinke touched out Indiana's Barry Yap in the tightest race of the afternoon, the 200-yard breaststroke. Reinke's time of 2:32.2 bettered his old pool mark of 2:33.5 and Yap's former dual meet record of 2:32.4 set last season.

Another dual meet record fell in the 400-yard freestyle relay. The Spartan foursome of Patterson, Lee Dohagan, Frank Parrish and Wally Belder swam an amazing 3:26.2 to better the old 3:26.6 time set by Michigan State's Al Conroy, Jim Clemens, Fornell and Parrish in 1956.

Devers Tom Morey and John Mason placed one-two from the spring board to aid the winning cause.

With a week off before traveling to Northwestern Feb. 23, Coach Chuck McCaffrey has scheduled his annual variety-fest meet for 7:30 Friday in Jenison Pool.

West Shaw captured the IM inter-college swimming championship for the seventh time Thursday night by defeating a stubborn Kalamazoo team, 45-42.

The road to victory was a tough one compared with last year's easy triumph for West Shaw.

Emmons Hall, competing for the first time in the meet, presented the winners to the final event.

West Shaw gained valuable points by placing regularly throughout the meet.

In the 50-yard freestyle event Ed Ralph of Butterfield took first with a time of 24.8. Dick Womack of Armstrong and Tim Hand of West Shaw finished second and third respectively.

Emmons' Reynolds Smith captured the 50-yard breaststroke with a clocking of 28.5.

John Kramer of Butterfield was timed in 2:19.7, winning the 220-yard event.
