Ike Wants Increase for Post Office

Asks for Additional $149½ Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress Monday for an extra 149½ million dollars to maintain normal postal services through the next fiscal year.

Congress slashed the post office budget by $57,400,000 last month, giving the deparment $3,[illegible],000,000 for its operations in the 12 months beginning July

Eisenhower now is asking not only for restoration of the $57,400,000 cut but for an additional $[illegible],100,000.

If the money is not forthcoming said James C. Hagerty, White House Press Secretary, substantial reductions will have to be made in the mail service.

Postmaster General Summerfield has said these cutbacks would probably include the elimination of all Saturday deliveries, closing "hundreds, if not thousands," of post offices, and arbitrarily reducing the volume and psosibly the types of mail handled.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the senate majority leader, told reporters the President's request will be given thorough study.

"Whatever Congress feels is justified will be appropriated for the post office," he said.

Johnson said Monday he doesn't regard Congressional budget alterations as either "repudiation or support of the President."

"The budget director has one idea about how much money is needed," he said. "The House may have a different idea and the Senate even another idea. Our job is to reconcile these conflicts and determine what is necessary for the country. That is what we are doing."

15 Germans Washed Away

KEMPTEN, Germany (AP) — Fifteen German soldiers apparently were swept to death Monday in a night exercise on the shallow but treacherous Iller River of South Germany.

One body was recovered. An army spokesman said 14 others were missing and, "I don't think they will be found alive."

Sgt. Josef Schaeffler, 33, platoon leader, and Sgt. Peter Julitz, Deputy Platoon leader, have been arrested in the case, the Army said.

The Defense Ministry gave this account:

Julitz told the 33 men in the platoon they could cross the shallow Iller with him or use a bridge upstream. They chose to follow him.

Wearing helmets and fatigues but carrying only carbines, the soldiers entered the water, locking hands. Just then Schaeffler arrived and ordered the men to return to bank but it was too late.

The strong current carried 15 men away. Only one body was recovered.

Struggling with a float for the Water Carnival are Rusty Voorheis, Jo Allen, Polly Heinze and John Crieger. See page three for other picture.

How Did It Ever Happen?

Turn in Oscer to Oscar For Free Carny Ticket

"Can't understand how it happened," stated Oscar, with a puzzled look on his face, as he looked at one of his wooden nickel souvenirs which had his name spelled OSCER instead of OSCAR.

"But to all my many campus friends that have received a nickel with my name spelled incorrectly," he continued, "I will give them a free ticket to Water Carnival."

This afternoon, Oscar, the theme of Water Carnival, will be in the grill and will be handing out some of his wooden nickels.

"Attention all Water Carnival living units chairmen," announced Oscar, changing the subject. "I am calling a very important meeting for Wednesday from 2:30-5 p.m. and all chairmen must be there or else be disqualified from the show."

The meeting will be held at the Water Carnival site on the Red Cedar, continued Oscar, and continuity, lighting and music will all be checked.

Water Carnival will be held Thursday evening at 8:30, Friday evening at 8:30 and Saturday at 9. Tickets may be purchased at the ticket office in the Union and at the main gate the nights of the performance.

Each of the floats will have a title of a movie that has won an academy award, or has a leading star who received an Oscar.

The floats this year will be 12 by 10 feet and bridge clear-

Supreme Court Decides DuPont, GM Must Split

Clayton Act Violated by Companies

'Stock Employed To Open Market'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday called for a split up of one of the world's mightiest industrial empires, the Du Pont Co. and General Motors.

In a 4-2 decision, the court ruled that DuPont's 23 percent stock interest in GM violates the Clayton Antitrust Act.

Justice Brennan, who spoke for the majority, said Du Pont "purposely employed the stock to pry open the General Motors market to entrench itself as the primary supplier of General Motors' requirements for automotive finishes and fabrics."

The decision reversed a ruling by U.S. District Judge Walter J. Labuy in Chicago. After a seven-month trial, Labuy ruled that the government had "failed to prove conspiracy, monopolization, a restraint of trade, or any probability of a restraint."

At Du Pont's headquarters in Wilmington, Del., President Crawford H. Greenewalt expressed disappointment at the High Court's decision.

"However," he said in a statement, "it should be noted that the government's position before the Supreme Court represented a long retreat from the sweeping charges made in the complaint initially filed by the antitrust division."

Greenewalt added that the government, in its appeal, accepted "without question" the Trial Court's finding that there was no conspiracy between Du Pont and General Motors relating to trade between the two companies.

The stock market reacted to the decision, with Du Pont common closing higher and General Motors slightly lower. Brokers said one reason for Du Pont's rise was the hope of stockholders that they would receive the firm's GM holdings in the form of a "spin-off" or distribution.

Du Pont's interest in General Motors is figured to be worth $2,743,300,619 today.

In sending the case back to District Court, the Supreme Court ordered a further hearing to determine "the equitable relief necessary and appropriate in the public interest to eliminate the effects of the acquisition (of GM's stock by Du Pont) offensive to the statute."

Re-Election Scheduled For Today

All rules and regulations pertinent to the May 9 election still stand, Herb Harman, elections commissioner, said Monday.

Because three appeals claiming the right of first term seniors to vote were submitted to the Elections Review Board last week, Harman asked to have this point made clear.

Only full-time students with an accumulation of 91½-141½ credits are eligible to vote, Harman emphasized.

On-campus residents (dormitories) will cast their ballots at the noon and evening meals at their respective halls. Off-campus students may vote in the Union Concourse from 8:30-6 p.m.

Every voting student must present his or her identification card with a filled-in registration slip before receiving a ballot, Harman said. The slips are obtainable at the polls.

I.D. cards will be punched and the voter handed a ballot which is marked and placed in the ballot box with registration. The ballots must be stamped by the poll supervisor to be valid, Harman said.

He added that in light of the re-election on the basis of a narrow margin of scores, and several illegal votes, utmost care will be taken today to assure correct voting procedures.

Chairman Tom Coghill, Harvey Rosenberg, John Cafaro and Bob Hughes happily count up the totals from the Nephrosis Drive. The drive netted $4,800, according to Coghill.

Swingout Set for 7:30 Tonight

By JO BECKER

Michigan State's traditional Senior Swingout will be held tonight beginning at 7:30 for graduates in all schools.

The marching band, under the direction of Leonard Falcone, will begin the program from Ag Hall at 7:30. Graduates are asked to gather in front of their various schools and join the procession when they are passed by the band.

The procession, which will be led by senior class officers and members of Senior Council, will end at Fairchild Theater. According to Laurie Nagler, Detroit senior and chairman of the event, seniors are asked to go directly to Fairchild at 7:30 in case of rain.

President John A. Hannah will deliver the major address of the program, and will honor the two seniors with the highest point averages.

Starr Keesler, director of alumni relations, and Jack Breslin, director of the placement bureau, will also speak.

June Turner, Farmington senior, will be the first coed mistress of ceremonies to emcee the annual event.

Dee Jennings, Lansing senior, will name the outstanding Senior of the Year, and Pat Wilson, senior class president, will deliver the class "milestones."

Joann Brady, Detroit senior, will announce the names of the '57 Club, the 57 seniors who will form the nucleus of the alumni.

Candidates for the '57 Club's offices to be elected by those present at Swingout are: president, Dave Boyne, Mariette, and Dick Hermann, Lansing; vice president, Bob Becker, East Lansing, and Bill Walling, Tallahassee, Fla.; secretary, Laurie Nagler, Detroit, and Joann Brady, Detroit, and treasurer, Mary Irwin, Grand Rapids, and Bobbi Williams, St. Clair Shores.

Yours for Better Cheddar

Dreamy Creamery Takes the Cheese

By PAT MELOY

Science and technology are now well ingrained in the production of the ice cream cone or a Cheddar cheese, as a trip through the MSU Dairy Plant will demonstrate.

This building, forming the southwest wing of the Anthony Hall group, was completed this last fall and, according to Dr. T. I. Hedrick, the faculty director of production operations, MSU now has "as fine, if not the finest, facilities of any dairy department in the country."

This department serves a multi-purpose function of training students and providing research facilities, as well as supplying the dairy needs of the campus.

The main processing room where the products are packaged is a masterpiece in sanitary handling. The war against bacteria is carried on not only through the use of glazed tile with "antibacterial cement" and sealed glass block windows, but also in respect to personnel attire.

No person, who isn't wearing the required uniform may enter the room. All visitors to the plant may watch the complete chain of operation but only through protective plate glass windows, such as those provided in the second floor observation gallery.

All the latest developments in automatic machinery appear, but perhaps the most specialized section is the "pilot plant." This is a new idea in research, developed at MSU, in which dairy processing machinery is built to small scale so that it will be possible to experiment with small quantities of dairy products before any new developments go into regular full-scale production.

The raw materials for all this research and production come to the MSU dairy through 17 selected private dairy farms, as well as from the college herd of 200 head.

The many products of the dairy plant, including milk, cream, cottage cheese, other cheese varieties, ice cream, dairy milk, ice cream specialties and special products, are distributed to the students and also to the general public, through the dairy sales room at the building, plus four retail and two wholesale routes.

Hillsdale Book Made a Boo-Boo

They made a blunder. William Henning graduated last February. His picture should appear in the yearbook. It doesn't. But one of his wife, Lois, does. She never attended Hillsdale.

Beer Flows Anyway

State Drinking Laws Hard On Students

"Sip your steins and drink your beer" is the cry going around Midwestern campuses today. The students want beer and they don't want it off in the bushes somewhere, they want it on their campuses.

A recent survey made by the Associated Collegiate Press National Poll of Student Opinion showed that over half of the students questioned approved of serving beer in student unions or recreation halls and rooms.

Students claim they are going to drink anyway and it's much more sensible and safer to drink on campus than off.

The Michigan Daily, University of Michigan, recently pointed out the fallacies in the State law which prohibits alcoholic beverages on state-owned property and limits the drinking age to 21.

This law forces Michigan schools to [illegible] regulations which even they must realize are unrealistic.

Students are going to drink and all the rules and regulations in the world have not stopped them to date. These rules merely force them to indulge in unhealthy ways.

When students want to drink they have to go away and hide. They drink as much as they can and then some, [illegible] a long time before they get a chance again. This is stupid and [illegible] this, but they [illegible] the only way they can drink. On the other hand, if they could drink at any time they want, they would not feel compelled to [illegible] themselves so often.

When the student is forced off campus for his beer he has to drive and often as not, little thought is given to how he is going to drive back. More than one student has been killed this way.

The automatic suspension ruling regarding drinking on campus has caused many a student to spend a term or two off campus but has probably not stopped many of them from drinking. If drinking laws are designed to keep people from drinking they are defeating themselves. All they seem to accomplish is to make people drink more.

Thirty years ago some do-gooders tried similar devices on a national scale and total chaos resulted. It took over a decade to restore sanity in the country. Today the states hold the responsibility for disseminating these Puritanical ideals and some do a better job than others.

In some states where more liberal drinking laws exist, college students are allowed beer in their living units, unions or recreational halls. New York schools, including state supported colleges, allow such practices. Their standards are just as high and the students' morals are just as solid as any in Michigan.

In Ohio, students under 21 are allowed a watered-down version of the brew that made Milwaukee famous and some claim this is better than nothing. However the [illegible] report indicates that Ohio students will go out of their way for the real McCoy.

It's about time for Michigan to reevaluate some of its laws, namely its drinking laws. In the process they might face a few facts of life.

Seniors Try Again Today

Today marks the second consecutive senior class president re-election in two years. In light of all that has been revealed in the wake of this dreary old campaign, we hope the senior class will have a permanent official president after all ballots are counted tonight.

We also pray that any occurrences similar to the outcome of the first election will be absent. Students meet their obligation by coming out to vote, and it is the duty of the AUSC Elections Committee to see that all voting is legitimate, to tabulate the ballots and to announce the victorious candidate.

In the last few days, State News has been criticised for attacking the political antics of one of the candidates. Although the truth was basically present in the editorial, we are accused of exaggerating to some degree, and in addition, singling out only one candidate when both are guilty of the same "under-the-table" political antics. Maybe that is true. Unfortunately, one of the candidates was exposed.

Our intent in writing the editorial that appeared in Wednesday's State News was to present the facts and the truth and not to hand the election to any candidate in particular.

Today the re-election is being held—a re-election that should be based on the abilities of the individuals which they have proven and demonstrated in the past. We hope all eligible voters take advantage of this re-election by voting—and voting objectively.

Such an important decision deserves a vote and some serious consideration.

Of course there are no newspapers or magazines or books in the "Browsing Room."

It's similar to sending a herd of steers into a freshly plowed field to browse—they just have to bring a bale of hay in with them.

Allies Split On Trade With China

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

A few weeks ago it appeared the United States and her allies, especially Britain and Japan, would be able to agree on a liberalization of trade with Red China.

The United States was prepared to agree that they could trade in many non-strategic materials, although intending to adhere, for her part, to a policy of no trade with a regime which stands under the UN brand as an aggressor.

But the United States was unwilling to agree that, as a political concept, the restrictions on China trade should be completely reduced to those directed against Russia and the Communist bloc of Europe.

The theory was for the free world to hold an unbroken line of opposition to an aggressor.

Now Britain, seeing Japan coming into the vestiges of her China trade with West Germany also moving in, has defied the United States and decided to go it alone, permitting trade on the same basis as now allowed with Russia.

The other great trading nations, excluding the United States and possibly but not probably Japan, are expected to follow suit.

Japan, through numerous arrangements including the fact that the United States is primarily responsible for her defense, is put into a difficult position. Good relations with the United States are a necessity for her. Trade with China is as natural to her as breathing. She cannot afford to see other nations moving in without competing. She will have to work out some compromise between these pressing needs.

Indeed the United States will now be under great pressure to sympathize with herself, since the policy of holding a moral line against aggression has been broken from the outside.

At this one point at least the British have formalized one of the differences between their far eastern policy and that of the United States. The British recognized Red China as soon as the Peiping regime established itself as the real government of the Chinese mainland.

A cogent if not conclusive argument can be made that if the United States had done likewise at the time and Red China had been admitted to the United Nations, the Korean War would not have occurred or at least the Peiping would not have [illegible].

Many important splits between the United States and Britain have revolved around this point in recent years.

The question now is whether the British will get enough out of the new trade to make the adventure worthwhile.

Russia has been transshipping to China, and has herself become the supplier of strategic materials. Adjustments in Russian trade demands, in comparison with those she imposes on the European satellites, appear to have prevented much Chinese resentment.

The British attitude toward Red China may be right, and that of the United States wrong. But the British, nevertheless, may find that they have traded off a part of their American friendship for a mess of pottage.

Prof Angry, Student Sore

To the Editor:

It might be of interest to students who lag while walking to class to note that professors have a new method to insure a snappy gait in your walk.

The hit-and-run driver who recently ran over the ankle of an unsuspecting sophomore was a professor who was administering disciplinary action.

It appears he had been held up on his way to class by students on their way to class. He decided to remedy the situation by singling out a lolling student and proceeded to run him down. But to his dismay he almost missed his mission and the lagged, but nimble, student got away with only a bruise or two.

Under severe questioning by campus police the professor's scheme was uncovered and he made this confession: "I don't have any sympathy for those students, they should be taught that time is valuable."

I pity the poor students who are taught this philosophy in the classroom. I might add a reminder to any other professors who advocate this type of disciplinary program: If you proceed too vigorously in its application, you might drive yourself out of a job.

'It's Only Money'

Anonymous Donor Sends Uncle Sam $20

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional mail generally has been falling into two classes: (A) let's save money in every direction, and (B) let's save money in every direction except my pet project.

But Monday Sen. Clifford Case (R-N.J.) wonderingly reported a new classification: The constituent who, instead of asking, is giving.

Cold cash, too. One day's receipts came to $20.16.

Most of this came in one package, a $20 bill from an anonymous donor who signed himself, or herself, simply "In Memoriam."

The letter began with the title "It's only money." The went like this:

"For our Uncle may he always be right, but right or wrong our Uncle."

The mysterious stranger went on to say he or she figured that if any tax cut came it probably would amount to $20, which was being sent along in advance with these suggestions on how it might be divided:

"Approximately 50 cents of this sum may be used to offset the present 'tantrums' on nature in Lyndon's bailiwick and midwest areas"—a reference to Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) and the storms that had hit that section—"and to provide the congress and senate with more commodious and agreeable office space.

2,000 Scientists Urge End of Nuclear Tests

Would Aid In Struggle For Peace

Anderson Wants World Control

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A Nobel Prize-winning chemist said today 2,000 American scientists have signed an appeal urging immediate discontinuance of nuclear bomb tests.

Dr. Linus Pauling said this group objects to the tests on medical and genetic grounds and also feels an international agreement to stop the tests would serve as a first step toward a more general disarmament.

Pauling, head of the division of chemistry and chemical engineering at California Institute of Technology, described the statement he prepared as "An appeal by American scientists to the governments and to the people of the world."

He emphasized that all signers of the appeal did so as individual scientists and not as representatives of any school or organization.

Pauling reported: "Each added amount of radiation causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world and causes damage to the pool of human germ plasm such as to lead to an increase in the number of seriously defective children that will be born in future generations."

In Washington, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined comment on the appeal. But Sen Anderson (D-N. M.), Vice Chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy, said:

Without doubt international control of the testing of nuclear weapons is now necessary and could be the first important step toward ending the threat of nuclear war.

"The statement of the 2,000 scientists should serve to focus attention on that situation and should help start conferences looking toward control of the amount of fission products put yearly into the skies."

Signers of the appeal included two other Nobel Prize winners, Dr. H. J. Muller of Indiana University and Dr. Joseph Erlander of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Before Disarmament

Reunification Must Be Discussed First

LONDON (AP) — The United States said Monday that political issues such as the reunification of Germany will have to be settled before any form of a comprehensive disarmament treaty can be signed.

Harold E. Stassen told the UN disarmament subcommittee that a "partial" disarmament plan such as the United States is readying could go far toward improving East-West relations.

Stassen, President Eisenhower's special adviser on disarmament, said the partial plan could open the door to agreement on political issues. He emphasized, however, that such political matters will have to be settled before broader forms of disarmament can be considered.

Stassen, who returned from Washington a week ago with the new U. S. disarmament proposals, again delayed presenting the plan to the subcommittee despite expressions of impatience by Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin.

Zorin again proposed as a "first step" toward disarmament an immediate agreement among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union to halt nuclear weapons' tests. He got no reply from Stassen at Monday's session.

The suggestion has been rejected previously on the grounds the Russians do not make adequate provisions for inspection.

Zorin complained that Stassen already had discussed new proposals for limited disarmament accord with other members of the five-nation subcommittee and "other organizations." The latter was a reference to Stassen's attendance last week at a NATO Council meeting in Paris.

Western sources indicated the U. S. plan probably would not reach the subcommittee before next week.

U. S., Britain Begin Talks On 'Swapping'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain began confidential talks Monday aimed at getting the kinks out of their agreement to swap some atomic secrets.

Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority, met with a U.S. delegation headed by Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to discuss exchanging information about America's atomic submarine for data on Britain's atomic power reactor.

Government agencies drew a tight secrecy curtain around the talks reporting only that they involved a review of the new British-American agreement to swap classified data on some phases of atomic weapons and peacetime use of atomic energy.

Responsible informants reported, however, the three days of conferences would seek to ease some friction which has developed over such information exchanges in recent months.

Ike's Home May Have New Annex

Eisenhower Staff Sold on Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House — "outmoded, overcrowded, inefficient," a new report says—may get a modern annex.

The report, submitted to President Eisenhower Monday by a study commission, calls for a $32,350,000 expansion program which would involve razing the dingy old state-war-navy building next door to the executive mansion.

Eisenhower's staff apparently is sold already on the proposal. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said current occupants of the White House believe the plan "is the best suited to the purposes of the President and his office."

Congress, in its present economy mood, isn't likely to vote money for any such program at this session. In any event, the work could hardly be completed before the end of Eisenhower's second term.

The study group, set up by Congress last year and headed by Washington banker Robert V. Fleming, was unanimous in recommending:

1. Tearing down the renaissance-style "old state" edifice now known as the executive offices building. This now houses a number of White House personnel. Eisenhower holds his news conferences on the fourth floor.

2. Erection of an office building on the site of the 19th century structure to house the President's staff.

3. Construction of still another executive office building, to accommodate various agencies attached to the White House, across Pennsylvania Ave. northwest of the White House. Congress already has approved this project.

4. Remodeling of the White House west wing, where the President and most of his staff members now have offices, to provide quarters for visiting dignitaries now entertained in the President's guest house.

The program would be the most extensive of its kind since the five-million-dollar reconstruction of the White House itself during the Truman administration.

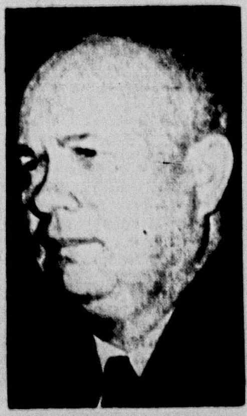
Nikita Entertaining—But Not Informative

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nikita Khrushchev's American audience appeared agreed Monday the Soviet Communist boss was more entertaining than informative.

Reaction to Khrushchev's television appearance showed a general agreement that while the Red leader failed to advance world knowledge of Soviet policies, he was a relaxed and confident performer who might even give home-grown crooners a run for their ratings.



NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

There was some thought that Khrushchev's apparent success on U. S. screens may turn out to be a propaganda boomerang. His remarks on the filmed CBS "Face the Nation" program Sunday produced a Western challenge to Moscow to make similar facilities available to a Western leader, with equal freedom for Red audiences to listen.

Khrushchev's comment that his listeners' grandchildren would "live under socialism" — meaning a Soviet-like system — brought scoffing response from present and future grandfathers in the United States.

The U. S. government challenged Moscow to present acceptance proposals on world problems. Luther Reid, State Department press officer, told a news conference any proposals backing up Khrushchev's television remarks would get "a ready reception."

"Perhaps," said Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California, "it would be more accurate to predict that the grandchildren, maybe the children, of the present rulers of the Kremlin may be living under a free form of government before the Khrushchev predictions comes about."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, commented: "I think that in time the people of the Soviet Union will see the light and come over more and more to our side."

Other Congress members challenged the Russians to give some American a similar chance for direct communication with the Soviet people.

A CBS spokesman, estimating that about 10 million Americans saw Khrushchev's interview, called it "the greatest newsbreak of any regularly scheduled TV-radio program." He said comment was "overwhelmingly favorable."

Rountree Says Aid Essential

Senate Begins Probe Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Secretary of State William M. Rountree said Monday President Eisenhower's $3,865,000,000 foreign aid program is "indispensable to the total United States fight for peace."

Rountree was the first administration witness as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee began an area by area consideration of the program of military and economic assistance for the fiscal year starting July 1.

In testimony, released after the closed session, Rountree told the committee the United States can lose the fight against international Communism "only at the expense of war or our heritage."

There are growing Congressional demands for a minimum slash of from 500 to 750 million dollars in money authorizations. Many Senators also are opposed to the long range flexibility sought by the President for the program.

The administration wants all appropriations available on a permanent basis — to be used "until expended" rather than have balances revert to the Treasury at the close of each fiscal year.

Senate Democratic Leader Johnson (Texas) has said that Congress will not grant this "blank check" authority.

Col. Harry H. Critz, speaking for the Defense Department, said the administration proposes to continue military assistance to Greece, Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan, Ethiopia and Libya in a total of $390,400,000.

Israel OK's Ike's Doctrine For Mid-East

Five Communists Vote Against Plan

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, (AP) — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion Monday won the Israel Parliament's hesitant approval of his acceptance of principles of the Eisenhower doctrine.

The Legislative body endorsed the Prime Minister's policy 59-5.

The Prime Minister had appealed for support of his policy with the argument that Israel was not neutral in its relation with those countries where Jews are deprived of their rights.

He said the Eisenhower doctrine strengthens Israel's position in the Arab world and in the eyes of Russia because those countries realize "we are not entirely isolated."

Government coalition forces easily defeated two motions of non-confidence submitted by the Herut and general Zionists and a third non-confidence motion put up by the Communists.

The first two were defeated by the same vote, 12 in favor and 81 against with 12 abstentions. The Communist motion was rejected by a vote of 100 against with the five Communist delegates in favor.

Patterson, Jackson To Hold Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson will defend his World Heavyweight Boxing title against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, Monday, July 29 at New York's polo grounds with a sponsor paying $175,000 for the radio-television rights.

[illegible]

In the event of a rainout, the show would be held Tuesday, July 30, Monday, Aug. 5 or Tuesday, Aug. 6, whenever possible.

[illegible]

Les Arnow, who is handling the TV radio rights for the promoter, said he once had four sponsors interested in the show. He said his problem has been to find a network with the open time on Monday.

[illegible]

"I'd like to fight this fight for nothing," said Jackson, [illegible] "I'm not going to say what Jackson said," said Patterson. "No fighting for nothing. The last fight was a very hard fight and I think this one will be even tougher for both of us. I hope the people get their money's worth."

Patterson beat Jackson on a split decision in a 12-round elimination match, June 8, 1956, and went on to win the title by knocking out Archie Moore at Chicago, Nov. 30.

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, told the boxing luncheon group "before the race is run he (Patterson) will go down in history as the greatest fighter that ever lived."

Manager Lou Brodhurst was only slightly more modest in his [illegible] of Hurricane's chances. "After you see the next fight," he said, "you will all know that he has been mis-judged on many occasions. In my opinion, he'll be the next champion."

New 'Golden Age?'

By LARRY GUSTIN

Only recently, when home televised fights were putting small fight clubs out of business and scandals and law suits were rocking the game at the top levels, boxing looked to be on its last legs.

While the controversial sport has by no means solved its many internal problems, a blush of prosperity is beginning to show that a new "Golden Age" may be just around the corner.

The one man most responsible for boxing's new life is Sugar Ray Robinson, world middleweight champion. Robinson has always been a favorite with the fans because of his beautiful, graceful style, his awesome punching power and his dramatic ability to win fights that he isn't supposed to win.

If he ever meets welterweight champ Carmen Basilio in an outdoor contest it could be the first time in history that a match outside the heavyweight division would draw a million dollar gate, excluding TV-movie revenue.

The million-dollar gate is a promoter's dream, a dream realized in only nine other bouts in history. Jack Dempsey was the drawing card in five, Joe Louis in four, and the first Marciano-Walcott fight was the other. This last included theatre-TV revenue, however.

While many experts decry the lack of talent in the boxing world today, four division titleholders are superior champions.

These include Pascual Perez, the little-known flyweight king, Basilio, Robinson, Archie Moore, light heavyweight champ and heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

Seldom, too, has there been the possibility of so many interesting matches, and it will be a major tragedy for the sport if at least some of them don't come off.

Besides Basilio, Robinson could take another crack at the 175-pound crown in a match with Moore. Patterson has two good possibilities in Tommy Jackson and Eddie Machen, if the champ comes out of hiding.

Gene Fullmer, although kayoed by Sugar Ray, is still very much in the picture and a clash between him and Basilio is possible after Robinson steps out. Tony Anthony is a rising young light heavy contender who could be the man of destiny in that class.

Patterson is only 21, and may yet be one of the all-time greats. He has done little to get a following yet, but boxing's future popularity may depend on him, just as the present is depending on Robinson and Basilio. These three men have the color and ability to lead boxing into a new "Golden Age" and one which through pay television might well be the most prosperous yet, even more lucrative than the days of Dempsey.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates collected 10 hits off five pitchers Monday night to edge the New York Giants 6-5 in the rubber game of a 3-game series. The Pirates, who used four pitchers, went into a tie with the idle Chicago Cubs for 7th place.

Nelson King, the second Pirate pitcher, was credited with the victory. The loss went to Joe Margoneri, who relieved starter Ruben Gomez.

The Pirates knocked Gomez out of the box with a three-run blast in the second inning and the Giants got rid of Pirate starter Vernon Law in the third when they tied the score with a three-run blast. King came on to end the inning by striking out Willie Mays and Dusty Rhodes.

The Pirates got two runs off Margoneri in the third inning in a four-hit attack which included doubles by Frank Thomas and Gene Freese.

The Pirates scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth as Johnny O'Brien singled and scored on a squeeze bunt by King.

The Giants scored single runs in the 6th and 8th innings. In the eighth little Roy Face came on to end a rally which Mays started by walking and stealing second for his 17th stolen base in 24 attempts this season. Mays reached third on a single by Daryl Spencer and scored on a sacrifice fly. Then Face settled down to get Valmy Thomas on an outfield fly after shortstop O'Brien had gotten him in trouble with the second of his two errors of the game.

Pirate first sacker Dee Fondy, who entered the game with a .372 batting average, went hitless in two official trips. He walked twice.

Only 7,504 fans watched the game, which was a "make-up" contest for a game previously postponed by rain.

"Me, I don't hate anybody," Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State's jovial football coach, likes to tell banquet audiences. "But I have a list prepared, just in case I ever change my mind."

WHAT IS THE LUCKY STRIKE JINGLE?

YOU'VE PROBABLY HEARD of torch songs (music to cry by), Air Force songs (music to fly by) and Aloha songs (music to bye-bye). The Lucky Strike song is music to buy by. It's a pretty ditty that's devoted strictly to Luckies. Naturally, that makes it a Cheerio Lario! It reminds you that Luckies are tops and that better taste is the pleasin' reason. Luckies' taste comes from fine tobacco—mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. So, as the jingle says, "Light up a Lucky, it's light-up time!" Clubs Face Showdown Today

Wagner To Meet Owners

City Has Money For Improvements

NEW YORK (AP) — A showdown session at city hall today with Mayor Robert F. Wagner on one side and club owners Walter O'Malley and Horace Stoneham on the other may determine whether the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants stay here or shift their franchises to the west coast.

The meeting has been requested by the mayor for the purpose of finding out exactly what is in the minds of O'Malley and Stoneham, who last week received approval by the National League to shift their clubs to Los Angeles and San Francisco, respectively, if and when they make the request.

"We have no idea whether the meeting will produce any concrete results," said William [illegible], executive secretary to the mayor. "We hope it does, one way or another. But the main purpose of the meeting is to get answers to several questions we'd like to ask.

"We're curious about several things. First of all, we intend to ask Mr. O'Malley and Mr. Stoneham point blank whether they intend to move or stay. We've raised $200,000 for studies of various improvement projects that include the possibility of building a ball park for the Dodgers. We want to know whether to continue giving thought to a ball park.

"O'Malley has told the mayor he would like to keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn. We would like them to remain too, but as the mayor said, we don't intend to [illegible] ourselves to be 'blackjacked' into helping either the Dodgers or Giants financially.

"If we learn that they are determined to move to the west coast, if we find that O'Malley and Stoneham are dead set on leaving New York, then we'll just have to pick up our marbles and go home. That's all there is to it."

The only sign of irritation the Dodgers' president showed was when he was informed of a statement made by Rep. Rooney (D-N.Y.), charging him with "profit making" motives at the expense of the city.

"Let them (the Dodgers) move to Los Angeles if the alternative is to succumb to an arrogant demand to spend the taxpayers' money to build a stadium for them in Brooklyn," Rooney said.

"I am opposed to uprooting decent citizens living in my congressional district . . . In order to put more money in the pockets of my friend Walter O'Malley and the private profit-making Brooklyn Baseball Club stockholders. I'd rather have a local AAA club or even a local Three Eye League team representing Dodgertown."

The New York Post reported Monday that the Giants were wavering on the move-to-the-coast idea and pictured Stoneham, the club's president, as "a reluctant dragon caught in the middle."

"Stoneham has been dragged into the fuss almost unwillingly on the shirttail of the storm created by O'Malley maneuvering between the threatened shift of the Dodgers to Los Angeles and the dickering for a new park in Brooklyn," the Post story continued. "Stoneham has not yet been completely sold on the idea of moving the Giants to San Francisco."

Dee Fondy Takes Lead In National League Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Five weeks ago the Chicago Cubs traded Dee Fondy and Gene Baker to Pittsburgh and received Dale Long and Lee Walls. None among the four was doing anything particularly noteworthy at the time.

Baker, Long and Walls have continued their fair-to-middlin' pace. But Fondy has been a most pleasant surprise for Pittsburgh.

Hitting at a terrific .404 clip since the May 1 transaction, Fondy has climbed 48 points while collecting 38 hits in 94 times at bat. This surge has enabled the 32-year-old first baseman to take over the National League batting lead with a .372 average.

In last week's games alone, Fondy, who is in his seventh major league season and shows a lifetime mark of .285, had 14 hits in 24 trips (.583) and moved all the way to the top from 10th place.

Baker is batting .233, Long .245 and Walls .226.

Stan Musial of St. Louis, the pacesetter a week ago, dropped to second place. He fell three points to .358 with 10 safeties in 29 at bats. Frank Robinson of the league-leading Cincinnati Redlegs moved up three notches to third place at .354. The hard-hitting outfielder gained nine points on an 11-for-27 showing.

In the American League, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox continued to hold a commanding lead while maintaining his 400-plus average. The 38-year-old slugger dropped four points to .407, garnering nine hits in 23 official at bats.

Williams was the last major leaguer to reach the coveted .400 mark, finishing with .406 in 1941. On June 3, 1941, incidentally, Williams was batting .424.

Fifty points behind Williams comes Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, who moved up one place to second. The peppery second baseman increased his average 13 points last week with 13-for-32.

Fox's .357 is followed by Mickey Mantle's .343. The New York Yankees' switch-hitter lost 19 points with only nine safeties in 32 trips to the plate.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee still is the National League's leader in home runs and runs batted in. He had one homer and drove in five runs last week to lift his totals to 19 circuit blows and 36 RBIs.

Williams and Mantle are running one-two in the American League home run competition. Williams has 12 and Mantle 11. Each had two last week. Roy Sievers of Washington is the [illegible] batter with 36, a gain of five over last week.

Atterberry 2nd At California

Freshman Willie Atterberry placed second in the 440-yard dash Friday night at the Compton (Calif.) Invitational Track Meet.

Atterberry, world outdoor 600-yard record holder, ran the 440 in a good 47.6 to place second to former Southern California runner Mike Larrabee who was an easy winner with a 46.5 clocking.

The Detroit frosh also ran in the 880-yard run but failed to place. Atterberry won the 400-meter hurdles title at Compton last year, but could not defend his title because the event was not run this year.

Duke Maas Opens Tiger Home Stand

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers open a home stand tonight against Washington that will include all of the eastern American League teams.

Duke Maas, who was 0-4 at this time last season, will be seeking his seventh victory against a pair of losses. He will be opposed by Truman Clevenger for Washington who holds a 2-0 record.

Following Washington into Briggs Stadium will be the New York Yankees who open a four game set Friday night. Then will come Baltimore and Boston for three each.

Voted as most valuable player on Michigan State's hockey team in 1957 was Bob Jasson, defenseman from Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Hitless White Sox Hold 5 Game Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — It's way too early to start calling the current Chicago White Sox the hitless wonders — a tag placed on them in 1906 when they won the pennant with a .228 team-batting average.

The Sox have opened a five game bulge in the American League lead with a piddling .246 team mark. This leads Manager Al Lopez to comment that the club will improve.

"We've got to improve," he says, "because we're bound to get more hitting than we've had."

Only one regular is hitting over .300. That is Nellie Fox with a whopping .357. Pitching, speed and defense so far have been the key to the success of the Sox who have their biggest lead in the race in 37 years.

Sox pitchers have completed 18 games and have a combined 2.65 earned run average. Only two out of the 10 hurlers are over 3.00 in the era column. Lefty Billy Pierce, who will open the series tonight with Boston, is the major's winningest hurler so far with 8-2.

The team has stolen 32 bases out of 49 attempts, led by Jim Landis with nine and Luis Aparicio and Minnie Minoso each with six.

But defensive speed is even more spectacular. Manager Jack Tighe of Detroit was impressed by this when the Sox took three of four games from the Tigers over the weekend.

"They stole hits off us," he said. "They seem to get a jump on the ball and time after time turn what ordinarily would be a sure hit into an out. With the kind of pitching they're getting and this kind of speed, they don't have to do a lot of hitting."

Another big reason for the Sox spurt into a 5-game edge is that they have been winning while the New York Yankees have been taking their lumps.

"I think the last 10 days have done more to convince the Yanks that we're in the pennant fight to stay than anything else could do," said Fox. "Since May 24 we played 13 games, 11 against pennant contenders (Cleveland and Detroit). In that same time, the Yanks played 13 and 11 were against seventh and eighth placers. Yet we gained a full game on 'em."

Seldom have the Yankees yielded ground when the Sox got hot. In 1951 the Sox forged a 14-game winning streak and had won 15 straight on the road but picked up only four games on the Yankees.

They eventually worked into a 4½ game margin in the lead only to fade as the season wore on and finish fourth. Since then they have finished third each year.

Sam Snead, Dick Mayer Qualify

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Sam Snead and young Dick Mayer shot one-under-par 141's over the Knollwood and Metropolis Country Club courses Monday to lead a star-studded field in sectional qualifying for the National Open Golf Tournament.

Snead, forced to qualify for the second time in 20 years of open play, fired a two-under-par 69 over the 6,433 Knollwood course and then shot 72 on the 6,816 yard Metropolis layout. Both courses play par 71.

Mayer, touring pro at St. Petersburg, Fla., had the same figures — 69-72 — the courses reversed.

A total of 141 players, including many of the leading pros, fought for 18 places in the trials for the open at Toledo, Ohio.

The cutoff point was 145. A playoff among five men for four places would have been necessary but amateur Elliott Spencer of Briar Cliff Manor, N.Y., withdrew.

Failures included Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., one of the top touring pros (151), 1936 champion Tony Manero (161), former British and U.S. Amateur Champion Willie Turnesa (154), former Masters champion Claude Harmon (153), Metropolis home pro Harry Cooper (155), and former British amateur champion Bob Sweeny (150).

Gene Sarazen, winner of the Open in 1922 and 1932, had to put on a string of four threes on the Knollwood course in the afternoon to qualify with 74-72—146.

Tom Carroll Sets High School Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Carroll, a Fordham prep senior, Monday set a National Schoolboy record for the half-mile, running the distance in 1:50.6 in the New York City Catholic High School championships.

The record he broke was 1:52.3 set by Don Bowden, who only last Saturday became the first American ever to break the four-minute mile barrier.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Northwestern and the Univers[illegible] All-Star baseball team announced Monday.

The Selection Committee, headed by Charlie Maher, head baseball coach at Western Michigan University, picked athletes from 20 schools in a seven-state area extending from Ohio to Iowa for berths on the first, second and third teams.

Charley Tyra Signs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Charley Tyra, high scoring center of the University of Louisville basketball team, said Monday he signed a contract with the New York Knickerbockers.

The National Basketball Assn. professional club reputedly gave Tyra one of the best contracts in history. It was estimated at $10,000 a year for three years.

6 Yanks Receive Fines Amounting to $5,500

NEW YORK (AP) — Six prominent New York Yankees have been slapped with $1,000 fines as a result of their May 16 "birthday party" incident at a New York night club.

Outfielders Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle, infielder Billy Martin, catcher Yogi Berra and pitchers Whitey Ford and Johnny Kucks — all regulars — were the players fined.

Most of the players were unavailable but Bauer was located at a barbershop before the Yanks left on the night train for Cleveland for their second western trip.

"I don't know how it leaked out, but it's true," said Bauer. He declined further comment.

The fines were believed to be the largest ever handed out in Yankee history. The total of $5,500 was even higher than the $5,000 fine against Babe Ruth in 1925 after a row with Manager Miller Huggins for "misconduct off the playing field."

Until Ted Williams was docked $5,000 last year for his spitting incidents at Fenway Park, the Ruth fine had stood as baseball's all-time high.

A birthday party for Billy Martin that ran over into the early morning hours of his 29th birthday resulted in the incidents that led to the club's action. Bauer was charged with beating up a man at the night club (Copacabana) but denied the charges.

The alleged victim, Edwin Jones, owner of a Bronx delicatessen store, said he suffered a fractured nose, bruised ribs and a brain bruise in the 2:30 a.m. battle in the club. Bauer faces a hearing after a civilian arrest on June 21.

On May 23 Dan Topping, co-owner of the Yanks, called the players into the office of manager Casey Stengel and told them "as you know, you will be fined." The players didn't know how much they would be fined until they received their bi-monthly salary checks.

The odds-on favorites have been floundering in recent days, losing seven of nine games to the seventh and eighth place Baltimore and Washington clubs. The early season slump has left the defending world champions five full games behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox in the American League race.

Of the players involved, only Mantle is hitting over .300. Mantle's average dropped to .343 as he made only two hits in his last 19 at bats. Bauer is batting .253, Martin .244 and Berra only .222. Ford has shoulder trouble and despite a 2-1 record, has pitched only twice since April 28. Kucks, an 18-game winner last year, has a 2-5 record.

The World Telegram and Sun said a serious split has developed between Manager Stengel and General Manager Weiss over the fines.

A story by Joe King said Stengel "blurted his resentment over the handling of my team by those fellows."

King quoted Casey as saying:

"That poor boy (Kucks) oughtn't to be fined the same as the rich players (Mantle, Berra, et al). The punishment in a thing like this ought to fit the pocketbook.

"They seem to think that, if there's a rule and it's broken, it doesn't matter who breaks it, they all get fined alike."

Five of the players — outfielder Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle, infielder Billy Martin, catcher Yogi Berra and pitcher Whitey Ford — were plastered with $1,000 fines. They all are in the higher earning brackets.

Pitcher Johnny Kucks, the sixth member of the party, was fined $500, presumably he does not make as much money as the others.

Originally he too was reported to have been fined $1,000.

Michigan State's swimming team has two former all-army champions. Don Motey, senior diver, was winner of the all-army diving event at Hawaii in 1955, and Wally Dobler, junior breaststroker, was named for service honors in 1954 and 1955.

U. S. Joins Baghdad Committee

5-Member Council Opens Meeting

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — The United States Monday joined the military committee of the anti-Communist Baghdad pact, just a step short of full membership.

The announcement was made shortly after the opening of a meeting of the pact's ministerial council representing the five member nations: Britain, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan.

Invited formally to join the military committee, the United States accepted through U. S. deputy undersecretary [illegible] Loy Henderson, attending as chief U. S. observer. The United States already belongs to the pact's economic and counter-subversion committees.

Members of the pact placed particular importance on U. S. membership on the military committee because the group might evolve into a joint military command similar to that of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Informed sources said Britain would like to see a joint command but it is uncertain whether the United States is ready to join one. The informants said Iraq and Pakistan are against the joint command idea and that Turkey is opposed to setting one up now.

Pakistan is understood to prefer putting Baghdad pact forces under NATO in event of emergency.

The United States took an active part in launching the pact to prevent Soviet penetration into the Middle East along the Russian frontier, but refused to join for fear of alienating Arab opponents.

Given Hearty Welcome

Eden Back in England, Decides to Quit Politics

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Former Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden returned to England Monday and said his health will bar him from ever holding public office again.

Eden was given a warm welcome. Queen Elizabeth sent a plane to take him and Lady Eden to his country cottage in Wiltshire where he will live a quiet life far from the bustle of the political scene.

The former Prime Minister looked suntanned and fit as he arrived aboard the liner Empress of Britain with Lady Eden from Canada.

But he told reporters at a shipboard news conference: "There is, I know, a probability that the condition I had may recur. But I have nothing to complain about in that because I am very lucky to be alive."

He added: "I cannot expect to be fit enough to take part in active political life again. But that does not mean that a little later on I might not have something to say."

Eden said he plans to settle in at his country cottage in the south of England and devote himself to gardening. He said doctors had told him a quiet life was the best chance he had of staving off another attack of the bile duct trouble for which he was operated on in a Boston clinic about six weeks ago. He had been convalescing in Canada.

Eden resigned the Premiership in January on doctors' orders after the strain of the Suez crisis. He sailed in February for a holiday in New Zealand. While there he was stricken with a sudden return of his long-standing abdominal complaint and rushed to Boston for the operation.

Eden returned still convinced he had acted rightly in ordering the attack on Egypt during the last few months of his office.

"I still believe it on all points," he told reporters.

The hearty welcome he received from government and Conservative party leaders appeared to be a sign they shared this view. On the quayside to meet him were Conservative party chairman Oliver Poole and chief government whip Edward Heath, amid a crowd of other friends and former government colleagues.

Arab League Council Plans New Strategy

Boycott System To Be Created

CAIRO (AP) — The nine-nation Arab League decided Monday night to step up its economic warfare on Israel.

Its economic council adopted recommendations made by the permanent Arab boycott committee:

1. Blacklisting motor firms that sell vehicles to Israel.
2. Blacklisting foreign firms that are under contract to provide Israel services or goods.
3. Creating a unified boycott system to control exports and imports between Arab countries and others in order to prevent Arab goods from reaching Israel directly or indirectly as well as to prevent Israeli products similarly reaching Arab nations through third countries.

The Arab League nations are Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq, Yemen, Libya and Sudan.

The council decided to take better advantage of oil as the Arab countries' main resource. With the aim of unifying Arab policy on oil, the council called an Arab Congress to meet in Cairo next February.

The communique stressed what it called the importance of this product without going into detail but it was obvious that with the air forces of Arab countries such as Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia expanding the demand for aviation gasoline is constantly increasing.

South Campbell's Late Per Records Stolen Saturday

An attempt was made to destroy South Campbell's late per record sometime Saturday night, according to Mrs. Erba Brown, resident advisor.

The slips were put down the incinerator, according to Miss Brown. However none were destroyed because there was no fire lit over the weekend.

Mrs. Brown discovered the theft Sunday afternoon when she went to record the late pers taken Saturday. The police suggested searching the incinerator where all but four were found.

If the records had not been found, the information on the late per cards could have been found by going through each girl's records.

Police are considering the possibility of interviewing the 74 coeds who remained in the dorm over the weekend, Miss Brown said.

From now on, any coed wanting to check the number of late pers she has left will have to do it through the housemother because the cards will be locked up from now on instead of being left out on the desk as they were before, the housemother said.
