Plans Set To Meet Asiatic Flu

Dr. Menzies Assures 'Needed Attention'

Plans have been completed to meet the emergency should the incidence of Asiatic influenza at MSU reach epidemic proportions, the president's office announced Wednesday.

Several universities in all parts of the nation have experienced flu in epidemic proportions. There are now a few more than 100 flu cases of record at Michigan State, the announcement stated.

"We know of instances in which there have been as many as 2,000 cases of flu at universities smaller than MSU," President John A. Hannah commented. "It is only reasonable to assume that we will not be spared, and to plan accordingly."

"It is encouraging to note that in no instance has it been necessary to suspend classes or to close large universities, and that there have been no serious complications among students resulting from this new type of infection," Dr. Hannah continued.

Dr. Clifford G. Menzies, director of the university health service, says that the fundamental principle is to assure that students will receive adequate attention, either on campus or elsewhere.

Dr. Menzies is coordinating plans to cope with the problem. "Obviously, we cannot hope to admit all afflicted students to the university hospital should we experience an epidemic," the doctor said. "As long as there is a relatively small number of cases we will continue to admit students to the hospital."

"Should the threatened epidemic develop we will stop admitting students suffering with the flu to the hospital in order to have room available for those with serious illnesses and for emergency cases."

All students who become ill are to report at the health center as usual, and quickly, the doctor advised.

All students whose homes are within reasonable driving distance, including married housing people, will be directed to their homes where they can be attended by members of their families and under the care of their physicians.

Those whose homes are beyond a reasonable driving distance or who live in dorms, fraternities, sorority or co-ops will be directed to return to their rooms where professional service will be extended to them in the limits of the MSU hospital's capacity.

Students who live beyond reasonable driving distance in the Lansing area will be admitted in emergency wards set up in the dorms.

"The Committee on Virus Diseases of the American Medical Association reports there is no specific cure for this new type of flu; none of the antibiotics have any effect," Dr. Menzies stated.

"This committee recommends that persons having this new type of infection take complete bed rest, increase the intake of fluids to maximum, and possibly take two aspirin tablets three times a day."

Spartan Meeting

All students interested in working for the Spartan Magazine promotion staff are asked to attend a meeting, today at 6 p.m. in 36 Union.

Visiting Prof Holds Organizational Meeting

Professor Sir Ronald A. Fisher, distinguished visiting professor of the College of Science and Arts, will hold an organizational meeting for his seminar in Mathematical Statistics and Mathematical Genetics today at 3 p.m. in the conference room of the Physics-Math building.

Prof. Fisher arrived on campus Tuesday from Cambridge University after a brief stopover in Washington. During fall term he will be attached to the Department of Statistics.

Marloue Maustellar, Pan-Hellenic Council president, presents the all-sorority scholarship trophy to Mary Huff, representing Delta Gamma, as Karen Fox, Pi Beta Phi, holds the Improvement Cup received by her group. Sharon Olson, newly elected corresponding secretary of Pan-Hel, looks on.

Scholarship

Delta Gamma Tops 20, Takes Grade Trophy

The Pan-Hellenic all-sorority scholarship trophy was presented Wednesday night to Delta Gamma, the first sorority in recent MSU history to win the award for three consecutive terms. The Delta Gammas, who topped the 20 campus sororities with a 2.863 average Spring term, were given permanent possession of the engraved cup for their record achievement.

Pi Beta Phi, runner-up in scholastic standing for the past quarter, was awarded the Pan-Hel Improvement Trophy. The Pi Phi's 2.858 point average showed the greatest improvement of any group over their winter term mark.

The all-college academic average last term was 2.438. Pan-Hellenic Council, sorority governing body, is continuing to stress high academic work. The organization's very Creed states, "we stand for high scholarship."

Every sorority demands at least a 2.0 grade average for a member to be initiated. In most cases, this required point average, set by each individual sorority, is higher than the 2.0, in order to encourage and maintain high scholarship among Greek women.

Both trophies are to be displayed at the Pan-Hel booth at Activities Carnival tonight.

The main order of business at Wednesday night's informal meeting, held at the Sigma Kappa house, concerned sorority rush. A workshop was held and plans for a more effective rush were discussed and tentatively formulated.

Dates for Fall Introductory Rush Teas have been set. These teas, in which all coeds are invited to participate, will be held Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 2-3.

Committees were appointed Wednesday to work on the following rush activities: Post Office, Rush Booklet, Supplies, Files and Publicity.

New members recently elected to serve on the council are: Sue Kelly, Alpha Delta Pi; Marsha May and Nancy Sentler, Alpha Epsilon Phi; Peg Chapman, Alpha Xi Delta; Jean Sparrow, Kappa Alpha Theta; and Judy Buchanan, Pi Beta Phi.

Carney Sets Two Day Run

The Ninth Annual Career Carnival, a vocational information service for all students, will be held Monday evening and throughout the day Tuesday. Carnival hours are: Monday—6:30-10 p.m. Tuesday—9:30 a.m.-noon. 1:15-4:30 p.m. 7:30-10:30 p.m.

This year's theme, "It's For You . . . So Interview!" is an invitation for all students—freshmen through seniors—to discuss informally vocational opportunities and qualifications with representatives from 75 various organizations.

Late permissions will be granted coeds who are requested to return their programs to their living units.

Yanks Cop First Game Of Series

Win 3-1 Behind Ford's 5-Hitter

NEW YORK (AP)—Lefty Whitey Ford limited the Milwaukee Braves to five hits in their first World Series appearance Wednesday and the New York Yankees pounded Warren Spahn to cover in the sixth and took the series opener 3-1. A crowd of 69,476 packed Yankee Stadium and saw the Yanks hammer Spahn for two clinching runs in the sixth inning.

Bill Skowron, the Yanks' clouting first baseman who hadn't played a game since Sept. 13 because of an ailing back, was forced out of action after two innings when he re-injured his back. Elston Howard and then Joe Collins succeeded him.

The veteran Spahn was touched for seven hits before he was removed with one out in the sixth. Ernie Johnson finished that inning but was removed for a pinch hitter and Don McMahon pitched the last two innings for the Braves.

Spahn was the victim of all three Yankee runs, although the third was scored on a squeeze play executed by Jerry Coleman and Yogi Berra after he had been removed.

Hank Bauer drove in Coleman with the first Yankee run with a double in the fifth and Andy Carey's single in the sixth scored Howard with the second Yankee tally.

The Braves didn't score until the seventh when Red Schoendienst's single brought home Wes Covington.

The Yankees offered a couple of mild threats in the first two innings, getting runners to second in each. Then Spahn held them hitless until the fifth when Coleman singled, took third on infield out by Tony Kubek and Ford and scored the first Yankee run on Bauer's double to center field wall.

Ford, meanwhile, had pitched his way out of trouble in the fourth and fifth innings. The Braves got a man to third base in the fourth on a walk to Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron's single, but Joe Adcock hit into a double play. In the fifth, a sin-

Smoke Investigated In Ad Building

A smoke investigation call from the Administration building at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon brought equipment to the scene. Hot wiring in tabulating equipment caused the smoke. No fire was noted in the machinery in the basement, department of public safety officials said.

MSU's Dr. Adams Findings:

Russian Historians Rewrite History

"There is an all-out effort by Russian historians to rewrite history and make America the chief aggressor and enemy of the world."

That is the report from Dr. Arthur E. Adams, associate professor of history at Michigan State University, who has just returned from a 26-day visit inside Russia.

Dr. Adams is preparing a book on the Russian Civil War but believes "American libraries are richer in materials on Russia than are those in Russia itself."

"Russia has suppressed or destroyed everything that is unacceptable to the party," reports Dr. Adams, who had access to libraries in Kiev, Leningrad and Moscow.

He said all Russian history is being written to prove the doctrines of the party. One of the most "depressing" aspects, reports Dr. Adams, "is the firmness with which intellectuals in Russia defend their system and the Marxist-Leninist ideology."

Dr. Adams uncovered a series of articles which was titled "Failure of Imperialist Policy of the United States in the Soviet Union, 1918-1931," and which started by saying that America was the most imperialistic intervening and aggressive country in the world. "You can't call that objective history," Dr. Adams commented.

As for the Russian people, Dr. Adams found them "curious as

Teamster Delegation Vetos Union Scandal Investigation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Teamsters convention delegates dominated by James R. Hoffa tonight listened to a detailing of union corruption charges leveled against him—then gave Hoffa a clean bill of health.

A move to launch a union investigation of the scandals—as developed before the Senate Rackets Committee and involving Hoffa, retiring union president Dave Beck and other Teamster bosses—was booted and shouted down.

The cleanup move was seconded on the convention floor by Thomas J. Haggerty, one of three candidates opposing Hoffa in elections due tomorrow for Teamsters Union control. The motion was offered by Jeffrey Cohelan, Oakland, Calif., delegate. He said the convention could not afford to ignore the charges.

The overwhelming vote to clear Hoffa, so far as the Teamsters Union is concerned, along with the lack of support given Haggerty's cleanup move, showed Hoffa a practically cinch winner for the Union's top job.

For two hours delegates listened in absolute silence as Larry Steinberg, head of a Toledo Teamsters local, read a 64-page report from the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee detailing the bulk of the Senate investigating committee's charge against Hoffa and other Teamster leaders.

Then pandemonium broke loose among delegates. Although it was the dinner hour, they refused to break up the session and went on to vote down the scandal cleanup proposal and finally wipe the entire list of corruption charges from the convention record.

There were no record votes but there was no doubting the result was overwhelming.

The action almost guarantees Teamsters' ouster from the AFL-CIO in December. The federation had directed that in order for the Teamsters to conform with ethical standards, Hoffa, Beck and others involved in the corruption charges would have to be booted out of the Union.

Hoffa took the convention floor after the voting and denied there was any basis for corruption charges against him. He denied having misused Union funds, and defended his associations with New York labor racketeer Johnny Dio.

In an earlier convention demonstration Hoffa had been carried on the shoulders of some delegates.

In the morning session, the convention seated the bulk of the delegates from locals which Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee had charged had improperly selected their convention representatives.

Hoffa repeated to the convention most of the explanations he already had given the McClellan Committee on charges against him.

J-Hop Prize Highlights Band Contest

A "mystery prize" will highlight the 1958 J-Hop committee's "Name the Band" contest, which will be announced tonight at the junior class booth for Activities Carnival.

The contest involves guessing the names of the well-known bands and the intermission entertainers, who will appear at the dance, sponsored annually by the junior class.

According to John Cafaro, Seneca Falls, N.Y., publicity chairman for the event, the "mystery prize," which will go to the first-place winner, has a close connection with the popular personalities named in the contest.

The second and third place winners will receive a tuxedo rental and a J-Hop ticket respectively.

Cues for the contest will be given out at the junior booth tonight, in the State News Oct. 7-11, and over WJIM radio in the afternoons and evening of the same week.

The winners, who will be announced at the half-time of the Purdue game Oct. 19, must submit both answers written on one of the entry blanks which will appear in the State News next week.

Integration's Next Move Up to Ike

Early Withdrawal Of Troops Hoped

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus stood fast Wednesday on terms of a school integration compromise already firmly rejected by President Eisenhower. The governor left the next move up to the White House.

"I've given until it hurts," Faubus maintained.

Although neither the governor nor Eisenhower budged an inch, Sherman Adams, the President's top assistant, said in Washington.

"In our opinion a basis will be found for an early withdrawal of federal forces from Little Rock."

Federalized National Guard troops again patrolled Central High School, where tension rose again Wednesday over the classroom presence of the first nine Negroes ever admitted to a white school in Little Rock.

Two white students spoke of a plan to make school life so miserable for the six Negro girls and three boys that they won't want to continue in Central.

Two of the Negro boys were shoved about and kicked by white male students in the school corridors during the day. However, the two, with their seven Negro classmates, emerged at the end of the day with no visible marks from the encounter.

The nine laughed and talked as usual when they left school. As they were driven away in a military station wagon, a clap of thunder heralded the advent of a short, heavy autumn downpour.

A court effort to rid Little Rock of federal troops was launched during the day by Mrs. Margaret Jackson, vice president of the Pro-Segregationist League of Central High School mothers. She has two teen-aged daughters in the school.

In federal district court here, Mrs. Jackson sought an injunction against the presence of the troops at the high school. She said they were here unconstitutionally, since neither Gov. Faubus nor the state legislature asked Eisenhower to send them in.

She claimed the troops "did . . . intimidate, mutilate, bayonet and bludgeon private citizens."

During the day also, Gov. Theodore McKelvin of Maryland, accused Faubus of double-crossing himself and three other southern governors who worked out Monday's compromise that fell through. It was intended to end federal troop occupancy in Little Rock.

Frank Bane, an aide to the southern governors, flew in from Washington during the afternoon and conferred with Faubus. Neither man would reveal the nature of the discussion.

Faubus denied any double-cross.

Court Petitions Ready Monday

Petitions for students' interest in filling three vacancies on the Michigan State All-University Student Judiciary will be available beginning Monday through Friday in the Union Concourse.

Openings include positions for two male sophomores and one male junior. Those petitioning are asked to leave the petitions in the concourse.

Interviews will be held the following week by Lynn Campbell, Detroit senior, and Marsha Kierland, Rochester senior, chief justices of the judiciary, and Marne Gleason, Student Government president.

Published on class days Monday through Friday inclusive, during the winter and spring terms, weekly during summer term, and one special freshman issue between summer and fall terms. Entered as second-class matter under act of March 3, 1879 at the post office, East Lansing, Mich.

Mail subscriptions, payable in advance, for one term, $2; for two terms, $4.50; for three terms, $6.50.

Had Stalin had Khrushchev's sense of humor, he would not have lost the blood of so many of his colleagues on his hands. Stalin could only solve political problems by murder.

Khrushchev does it more cheerfully. He exiles his colleagues to remote parts of the world, reduces them in rank and thereby makes them ridiculous figures.

Molotov, who has been the very top man in charge of Soviet foreign policy, for almost two decades, and who had served under Lenin, Stalin, Malenkov and Khrushchev, who had represented his country at the most important international conferences, was reduced to the rank of Ambassador to Mongolia, a small country, populated mostly by nomads, a country that has not been really independent since the days of the 13th century Khan.

There he will be able to gaze at the sky, to study the materials of the tents, to eat yogurt made of mare's milk, to see women who grease their faces with butter to save their skins from the biting winds of the Gobi Desert.

He will not know the language of the people although there will be many who now can speak Russian.

Molotov might try to communicate with his pal Malenkov who runs an electricity plant, far from the caviar pots of Moscow or Kaganovitch who runs a cement plant in the middle of nowhere.

Saudi Arabia Calls For UN 'Hands Off'

Blames Western Nations For Middle East Tension

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Saudi Arabia Wednesday blamed western nations for Middle East tension and called for a UN "hands off" policy toward Syria.

Ahmad Shukairy, minister of state for Saudi Arabia, told the 12-nation general assembly "It is the policy of the West that is destroying ties with the Arab."

He proclaimed Saudi Arabia's "solidarity with Syria" and accused shipments of Communist arms to that country as a "violation of the United Nations."

He called for the United Nations to establish an agency to "facilitate the repatriation of Israeli to their former homes." He said "We do not intend to throw the Jews to the sea," but wish them "a better and happier life in their homelands, where they can settle under UN auspices."

Shukairy is a Palestinian Arab who represented Syria at past UN sessions. He is head of the UN delegation for Saudi Arabia, whose King Saud is regarded by the United States as a friend in the Middle East.

A British spokesman said the speech "can hardly be regarded as a helpful contribution to the affairs of the United Nations, with particular reference to the Middle East." A U. S. spokesman said the speech will be given careful study.

Shukairy denounced as "sheer fallacy" a suggestion by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd that the Soviets may be establishing a forward base in the Middle East by an arms buildup in Syria.

Shukairy said such statements are "Nothing but an insult to our national honor, which we must reject outright without hesitation."

He said the UN has been told that "The true patriots of Syria have been driven from positions of power" and that "Syria is getting arms from the Soviet Union, thereby endangering the security of her neighbors."

He declared "This is no matter that could be seized by the assembly. The affairs of Syria are for Syria and not for the United Nations. Who is in power, who is not in power, is the concern of Syria and Syria alone."

Shukairy indicated he would oppose any concrete Middle East proposals in the UN, as suggested by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and others that the UN invoke resolutions condemning intimidations of one member state by another.

"We shall resist any attempt to interfere in the affairs of Syria," he declared. "We shall refuse any discussion of the Middle East in the context of division between East and West. We shall not allow the Middle East to be plunged into any cold war of any character. The affairs of the Middle East are, should be, and should remain, the concern of the Middle East."

Shukairy added there is "Only one proposal that squarely meets the situation—a proposal that urges the western powers to settle their differences with the Arab world in Palestine, in Algeria, in Yemen, in Oman and in Burundi—in accordance with the principles of the UN charter."

Entertainment Featured at Carny Tonight

The tenth annual Activities Carnival sponsored by AWS and Men's Union will be underway tonight at 7:00 in Spartan Stadium.

Over 75 organizations depicting Cartoon Carnival will be participating to acquaint new and old students with its activities. Opportunities will be available for students to sign up for the various activities.

Featured on the entertainment program will be Phil Hough and his band, the Arabian Knights, professional novelty group and Bob O'Hara, disc jockey. The shows are scheduled for 7:45 and 9:15.

Cooks attending the carnival will be granted 11:00 permissions. They must show the Activities Carnival program upon returning to their living unit.

Final Play Tryouts Scheduled Tonight

Final tryouts for the plays planned for production this term by the drama department will be held tonight in the Auditorium.

Character roles are still open in "Hobson's Choice," and several mature men are needed for "Time Limit."

Student ID Cards Available This Week

Student ID cards are being distributed today and Friday from 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. on the second floor Union concourse.

Asiatic Flu

In other action, congress approved a resolution passed during the summer session asking that college rather than high school students be given preference for university employment during the coming summers.

The problem of freshmen wanting tickets to the Michigan game who have not yet been able to pick up their ID's was suggested solved by having the ticket office call the Dean of Students' office, men's or women's division, for confirmation of the student's status.

Block S Cards Ready At Activities Carnival

Students who signed up for Block S may pick up their membership cards at the Block S booth at Activities Carnival tonight.

Outlook Dim for Three Surviving French Quintuplets

TOULON, France (AP)—Quintuplets were born here yesterday, but one of the two baby boys died last night and one of the three baby girls died early today.

The infant Philippe died before midnight. An hour and a half afterward his sister Helene died.

Doctors said the outlook was dim for the other babies, Roland, Genevieve and Michele.

Helene had been pronounced dead once before last night after 30 minutes of apparent lifelessness.

The mother, Mrs. Camille Christophe, 29, was reported doing well. Her husband, 35, is a social security employee. They have been married eight years and the quintuplets were their first children.

The two boys and three girls ranged in weight from 2 pounds to 2.3 pounds each at birth.

Two other sets of quintuplets are known to have survived the first days of birth—the Dionnes of Canada born in 1934, and the Diligentis of Argentina born in 1943. The Dionnes were all girls. Emilie Dionne died at age 20 three years ago. The Diligentis are two boys and three girls.

Second Meeting Set By International Club

The International Club will hold its second in a series of meetings Friday at 8 p.m. in 31 Union.

Dr. Edwin Witte, visiting professor of the department of economics, will speak on "Social Security Outside the United States." A color film entitled, "The Widening Circle," refreshments and dancing will follow.

Navy's Forrestal Rated With Best in Country

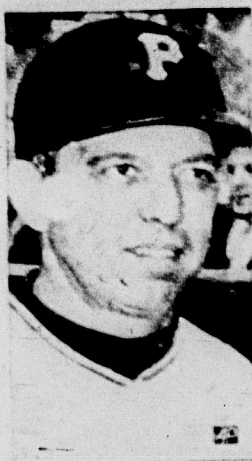

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Coach Eddie Forrester Wednesday tabbed Navy quarterback Tom Forrestal as good as there is in the country, and made him look like a star in the Cleveland Clinic, senior to Navy's attack to the enemy at North Carolina Saturday.

Forrester, who took over the reins of the team last year, said the potential of Navy's offense is "more than 100 percent" as good as that of any other team in the country. He said the team's attack is "more than 100 percent" as good as that of any other team in the country.

3 Teams Challenge Spartans

Last of a Series
By LARRY WROBLEWSKI
State News Night Editor

In another Big 10 times the team in best was the Wolverines of Michigan and this year, again they are considered a favorite title threat.

Back to head Coach Bennie Osweiler in his drive for another Rose Bowl trip (last time 1952) are 26 lettermen.

Many national periodicals rate the Wolverines number one, but last year's 1956 title was not theirs.

The vacancy caused by the departure of 1956 All-American end, Ron Kramer will hurt the defense.

Also missing because of graduation are Tom Maestas, Terry Hart and Jim Swadlow.

The Wolverines' main style of offense is the single wing and the T-formation.

Fullback John Hermitey, All-American quarterback, is the focal point of the offense. The 220-pound player was the team's leading ground-gainer by carrying 4,237 yards on 124 carries.

Other key personnel include center halfback Jim Pace along with Mike Stutsky and Bob Plasek. Filling Kramer's position is Gary Prater, a fine receiver.

Coach Terry Osweiler leads the team. He has won 10 Big 10 titles and is considered one of the best coaches in the country.

of last fall's, concerning size and depth.

From last season's team seven players are returning and 30 of the 44 that made the trip to Pasadena.

The major losses by graduation is the brilliant quarterback, Kenny Ploen. Don Suchy, the offensive center and defensive line-barker and versatile Frank Gilliam at end.

No worries predominate about the halfback positions, with dependable as Bill Happin will put in his bid for All-American honors.

Jim Gibbons, left end, who placed low in the Bowl by catching the winning touchdown pass against Ohio State, is rated as one of the top flankers in the nation.

Michigan was the team that shocked a perfect Hawkeye season by winning last year, 17-14. In four previous attempts Evanschitzky was unsuccessful to defeat his alma-mater. This year's victory could possibly determine the Western Conference title-holder.

There's a poll pick, the Golden Gophers of Minnesota as one team that will represent the Big 10 come January 1.

From last fall's indications Minnesota might live up to its press clippings. The Gophers routed Michigan State, 14-13, and came away from Ann Arbor with the Little Brown Jug by downing the Wolverines, 20-7.

Coach Murray Warmath's only problem is to keep his squad from becoming over-confident. Concerning the Minnesota lineup only five lettermen are not returning.

The deciding factor which may stop the Gophers' statewide westward march is their schedule. Among the other conference opponents are playing six or seven league games Minnesota engages eight conference games. Also six of the eight games are to be played away from home.

Offensively, the standout performer will be Robby Cox, a definite All-American quarterback threat. Last year Cox led his mates in practically all departments. He was tops in total yardage gaining 551 on 156 carries, completed 18 out of 32 passes for 240 yards and topped the team in scoring with six touchdowns.

Other veterans include halfbacks Bob Schmitt, Ken Romberg, fullback Dick Bakke, center Frank Young, Ed Buck, guard Jim Jacoby and Norm Anderson.

The encounters with Michigan, Iowa and Michigan State would make no break the Gophers' hopes.

Stengel Praises Spahn, Ford After Yankees' Victory

WARREN SPAHN
praised by Stengel

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the triumphant New York Yankees paid generous tribute Wednesday to the veteran Milwaukee Braves pitcher who slugged knocked out of the box.

"That Spahn, he pitched a helluva game," said Stengel as soon as he reached his dressing room. It was obvious the Yankee manager admired the professional artistry of the Yankee Warren Spahn. He counted him in all his praise of his own left hander ace Whitey Ford, the winner.

"In the clutch Ford can pitch, just like Spahn can pitch," said Stengel.

"Ford pitched himself into one jam and he pitched himself right out again," Stengel remarked concerning the sixth inning. That was when Ford walked the first two men to face him, Johnny Logan and Ed Mathews, and then struck out Hank Aaron, got Joe Adcock to ground out, and struck out Andy Pafko.

"What did you tell him when you went to the mound then," he was asked. "Did you tell him to be careful?"

Casey snorted.

"You gotta be careful all the time. He knows that. I just reminded him he still had one base open."

Stengel will send Bobby Shantz (11-5) out to pitch for the Yankees today.

"I might have gone with Bob Turley, but I had Turley and Bob Grim in the bullpen at the end of the game warming up, so I can't start Turley tomorrow."

Taking some of the edge off the Yankee victory was the fact that Moose Skowron, the hard hitting first baseman, aggravated an old injury in the first inning and had to leave the game. It is doubtful if he can play again in the series.

Skowron got to first on a fielder's choice—"and I tried to put something extra in my running. I felt something go again. Now my back is more cranked than when I hurt it the first time. The doctor says there is a muscle spasm on the left side."

Stengel said he might use either Harry Simpson or Joe Collins at first today.

"Just because Elton Howard dropped that ball, don't think he can't play first," said Stengel. "He's pretty graceful on the bag. That's the first ball he has dropped like that."

Howard's error in the fifth broke up a double play and for a time appeared to have put the Yankees in a hole, but Ford put down the threat.

Ford was the center of hearty congratulations after his sparkling victory.

Mathews and Wes Covington impressed me most of the Braves," he said. "Mathews never seeing a bad ball."

Ford said he thought his best pitch was his curve.

Sal Maglie was very helpful to me before the series in going over all the Braves' hitters, and our scouting report on the Braves fitted in exactly with what he told me," Whitey went on. "We used to talk about the Braves' hitters when we were doing sprints in the outfield."

Someone asked Stengel when he gave the sign to Jerry Coleman to bunt in the sixth, resulting in the perfect squeeze play that brought in the second Yankee run of the inning.

"Oh, he had an idea of what he was going to do," said Stengel, evading an answer. "He executed it real good."

Coleman, one of the heroes with two hits in addition to the squeeze, said he didn't know he was going to start the game until he saw the lineup in the morning papers.

"I hope we can continue to win," he smiled. "I hope I can play next year. I feel wonderful."

"No complaints, we may didn't get the hitting and they whiffed us in a good ball game."

Fred Hatfield, the snow-haired little manager of the Milwaukee Braves, thus shrugged off his team's 3-1 opening game defeat at the hands of the Champion New York Yankees.

"What the devil, we're not discouraged," the crease-faced skipper added. "We've lost games before and come back. This one doesn't mean a thing. I think we'll still win the series."

"Our boys just weren't getting hold of the ball, but they will and that'll be a different story."

Haney and his athletes had highest praise for Ford, the Yankee lefthander who set the National League champions down with five hits and pitched himself out of trouble in the sixth after walking the first two men.

"That fellow was curving us to death, and he had great control," the Milwaukee manager said.

"I don't think we have a pitcher in the National League quite like him—one who throws so many curves. He must have thrown curves on 80 per cent of his pitches."

Aaron, the Braves' cleanup man and 322 hitler, registered a mild complaint about the third strike call in the sixth inning when he tried to check a swing.

Logan and Mathews had walked to start the inning and then Aaron, with two strikes, and no ball—waited for a low pitch, then tried to hold back.

"I'm sorry I checked it," he said.

But Haney refused to second guess the plate umpire, Joe Paparella. "If the umpire said Hank swung, he must have swung. You don't argue things like that."

The crowd and eager Braves were crestfallen when they listened to their dressing room from the playing field after the defeat, moaning single file into the quarters, with lips set tight.

They talked of the game in a quiet, matter-of-fact fashion, blaming their own lack of hitting for the setback and taking no credit away from the Yankees' Ford.

"We have seen better pitching and won," said Red Schoendienst, "but you have to hand it to that little guy (Ford) out there. He had wonderful control and that's what counted."

Aaron said, "I don't know why we weren't hitting but we weren't. No, the stadium shadows didn't bother us at all."

Will 'Get Even' Today

Burdette Promises To Defeat New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Burdette said Wednesday he was going to beat the Yankees today. He said it simply, quietly, matter-of-factly. His voice carried no trace of a boast. He wasn't trying to buoy his spirits. He wasn't talking for effect.

"I'm going to win tomorrow," the Milwaukee right-hander said. And you could tell he meant every word of it. "I'm going to go down for Hooker here. We're going to keep the room, you know."

When you were familiar with Burdette and his sometimes off-beat, sometimes quaint manner of speech, his words, except for his reference to winning, had little or no meaning. But there was plenty of meaning behind the words of this man with the solemn face except for eyes that always appear to be laughing at you.

"Hooker," of course, is Warren Spahn, Burdette's pitching partner, roommate, pal and constant companion. It is anybody's guess whether the nickname is derived from his big curve or his not-so-small nose.

"Keeping the room" was simply Lew's way of saying it was his job to maintain the superiority of this famous two-guy team.

"Warren pitched a fine game," Burdette said. "He deserved a better fate. But we didn't score six runs for him. Baseball may have changed some but essentially it's the same. You got to have runs to win. I rooted as hard for him to win today as I do for myself. We're always pulling for each other."

The Braves got only three of their five hits off Whitey Ford and no runs in the five and a fraction innings Spahn pitched in a losing 3-1 game. Spahn left under fire with one out in the sixth after giving up seven Yankee hits.

Did Burdette learn anything from the game?

"I think I did," Lew said. "You know I don't pitch either like Spahn, who started, or (Don) McMahon, who finished, but I think I did pick up a few things."

For instance, I learned that Mantle strikes bunts even with two strikes on him. I learned that even a supposedly light hitter like Jerry Coleman will be given the saving sign when the situation calls for a bunt. Then, on the next pitch, if he doesn't hit the ball, he will bunt.

Handy Man

Elston Howard, the Yankee catcher-outfielder-first baseman, had played only 16 innings at first base when he was called on to replace reinjured Bill Skowron at first in the third inning. Skowron hurt his back again in running out a grounder the first inning.

Along the Sports Trail

Series Opener Dvoid of Thrills

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—The first 1957 World Series game was played Wednesday at Yankee Stadium before a paying crowd of 88,476, and one non-paying visitor which spent most of the evening, after a noon strutting around behind second base, stealing signs.

It was a quiet, "I was there" crowd. The once-a-year customers who can afford it and go because it is the thing to do, and who were vaguely aware that the Yankees' Whitey Ford was pitching some pretty fair clutch baseball in beating the Braves 3-1.

It also was a ho-hum game devoid of thrills, with the Yankee manager, Casey Stengel, playing very conservatively and limiting his master-minding to the use of three first basemen, one of whom, Elston Howard, rated that designation only because he had a mitt and played there. He had a total of 16 innings of Major League experience there before Casey aimed him in that direction Wednesday.

There were good plays, but not sensational plays during the afternoon. There were also unusual plays, such as Johnny Logan gloving backhanded hard smash by Mantle, and then fishing for the ball in the welling until it was too late to make a throw.

There also undoubtedly were many small wagers as to just when Wes Covington would be skunked by a fly ball in left field. He accepted every chance perfectly, after weaving around like he was following a trail through the woods, but there were moments when there were grave doubts he and the ball would end in a tie.

Warren Spahn deserved a better fate. Bauer's blow was the only real blast off him.

Each team got one break. The Yanks got a lucky hit when Johnny Logan couldn't get Mantle's roller out of his glove in time to make a play in the first. Of course, the Braves got help when Howard dropped the double play ball in the fifth.

It was after this Yankee splurge that the pigeon deserted his spot behind second to come in and strut up and down in front of the Braves' dugout looking over his fellow pigeons.

Married Students Vote Nov. 5 for Annexation

By JOHN ALISON
In a special election, November 5th, married students at MSU will vote on a proposal to annex a large piece of Lansing Township to East Lansing. This piece, all in the East Lansing school district (see map), includes University Village, Spartan Village, and the Spartan Shopping Center.

Because annexation means in this case that married students living in University Village, Spartan Village, and the Spartan Shopping Center will become citizens of East Lansing and vote as citizens of East Lansing, Married students on the other side of the road will not vote in this election. This election is being held to decide whether or not the township will be annexed to the city of East Lansing.

school is in the East Lansing school district but not in the city of East Lansing. Because of this these taxes have not helped to support this school.

On a second annexation proposal, East Lansing residents must consider the annexation of the Spartan school district. This school district is a part of Lansing Township and will be considered on a separate ballot in this election.

For an annexation to go through both of the involved parties must approve the proposal.

To vote in this election both groups must be registered before Oct. 1. The Attorney General has ruled that married students with their families are in legal residence. Therefore any married student with family who can fulfill the following conditions are eligible to vote. To be eligible to vote you must have been a resident of Michigan for six months, and have had residence in the city or township as the case may be, at least 30 days prior to the election.

'Apple' Volunteers No Longer Needed

Apple Day volunteers are no longer needed by Dr. F. H. Lewis, of the horticulture department. He said Wednesday he had enough people to successfully complete the experiment. However, the doctor said, interested people who have already registered for the project may still make application for the weekly nation of apples.

gle by Wes Covington, an error by Howard, who dropped the throw to first with an easy double play in sight, and a walk to Spahn put runners on second and first. But Carey speared and forced Del Grandall at third for the third out and ended the threat.

Ford again pitched his way out of trouble in the sixth after leaving walks to Johnny Logan and Matthews at the start of the inning. He got the next three men out, two by strikeouts, after Manager Casey Stengel had come out of the dugout for a conference.

Then the lead fell in on Spahn in the last half of the sixth and Ford went the rest of the way with a comfortable lead for his fifth Series triumph.

The Braves, who had made only three hits in the first six innings, finally scored off Ford in the seventh. Covington opened with a double into the left field corner. Nippy Jones, batting for Johnson, the second Milwaukee pitcher, moved Wes to third with an infield out and Schoendienst drove in the run with a ground single through the middle of the diamond.

The Yanks' big sixth started when Howard singled after one out. Bertr received the first pass given by Spahn and Carey's single over second brought Howard home and Bertr to third. That was enough for Spahn. Coleman, the first man to face Johnson, dropped a bunt near the mound with the squeeze signal on and Bertr scored easily, while the pitcher joined the ball and threw Coleman out at first.

Some observers thought Johnson should have lined for a play at the plate but he was not in a good position to throw there.

The Yanks threatened Matthews in the eighth, when Mantle and Bertr got hits but a double play killed off their chances.

The second game will be played in Yankee stadium later with Bobby Shantz (11-3) expected to pitch for the Yankees and Len Buntz (17-8) for the Braves.

Guatemala Expels Algerian Rebels

GUATEMALA CITY—The Guatemalan government expelled three Algerian rebel leaders Tuesday, accusing them of being Communist agitators.

The three, who have been touring Latin America to whip up support for the Algerian rebels, were believed to have flown to Mexico. They have arrived Sunday from Honduras.

Leading the group was Ferhat Abbas, 58. He was the only leader of the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN) at large after the French a year ago diverted a Tunis-bound Moroccan plane to Algeria and forced five other FLN leaders, Abbas then was in Ecuador.

Those expelled—with Abbas—were Ameliane Attache, 26, and Hussein Thiki, 42.
