Miss Laura Miller interviews one of the many foreign students who appear on her program "You Are Here." The show is presented each Tuesday on WKAR-TV.

You Are Here

Living Geography and History Enjoyed on Weekly TV Show

Living geography and history are enjoyed by Lansing area students through a weekly television program, "You Are Here," originated from WKAR-TV.

Young foreign students from Greece and Ghana take part in the program, providing a living experience of history and customs which goes beyond the material in textbooks.

The Channel 60 program, presented in Lansing area classrooms each Tuesday, is a segment of the daily afternoon television series designed especially for the Lansing schools.

Miss Laura Miller, for 37 years a teacher of world history in the Lansing Public Schools, is producer of the show and its hostess.

She talks with the foreign students about dating and other local customs, about industries and climate. Answers may concern diverse particulars as how to catch fish in the Bay of Algiers or how to tap rubber in Liberia.

Education systems in the various countries are examined and compared to the United States.

New York Strike Causes Vast Turmoil

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of women struck the New York City system for the second time in 18 months Monday, in defiance of court orders. They threatened to press the walkout.

The strike turned the city into an angry place of vast confusion. Tens of thousands of stranded commuters stormed railroad stations in a grave evening rush-hour.

Police on the scene at Pennsylvania State declared a state of emergency at one point as an estimated 10,000 elbowing commuters fought for limited railroad space.

Later, superior police officers and the emergency proclamations were overly-hasty. They said the strike was "serious trouble" from the thronged mass of commuters.

However, several persons collapsed in the mob and one man suffered a heart attack. Ambulance stood by an alert outside the station.

Grand Central Terminal, streaming, pushing commuters contended for train windows, some areas of the station.

Charles Herbert, Lansing freshman, and Barry Boughton, Lansing freshman, were one of five teams out of a total of forty to gain an undefeated record winning four debates.

Tom Case, Hazel Crest, Ill., sophomore, and Bill Tillotson, Elise sophomore, also had a good rating, winning three and losing one.

MSU won a total of 10 debates out of 16 with Lynn Miner, Grand Rapids freshman, and Carol Stuart, Saginaw freshman, splitting with a 2-2 record. Gretchen Brown, Ft. Collins, Colo., sophomore, and Kathy Brown, Coleman sophomore, won one and lost three in very closely scored debates.

All of the debaters received excellent individual speaker ratings.

Twelve MSU debaters traveled to two tournaments at Northwestern and the State University of Iowa over the week end.

Four students went to Iowa where they collected five excellent ratings.

Deaton Sheppard, Strevie, Ohio, senior, Tom Whelan, East Lansing freshman, and Hugh Wilbur, Lansing freshman, received excellent ratings in discussion.

Sheppard teamed with Patricia Nash, Pineville, La., junior to receive one of four excellent team ratings in debate. Sheppard also received an excellent individual speaker rating in debate.

Panelists Philanthropic committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Eugene Gleason, has served in an extra capacity during the Christmas season, working with the Christmas Clearing Bureau in Lansing.

The committee has been instrumental in setting up projects and organizing campus security forces during the holidays.

The group served with the Clearing Bureau in checking on needy families and in providing them with Christmas stockings, cooking fuel, and other necessities as gifts.

The Anna Xi Delta, last weekend held a Christmas party for students, distributing gifts and refreshments. A project of the Kappa Delta, was buying stockings for the children's nursery.

The Phi Mu held a dance last weekend and staged an admission to a child.

The Delta Gamma, a Christmas basket for a needy family is being filled by the Delta Gamma.

These are a few examples of security Christmas projects being cleared through Panelists Philanthropic committee.

Committee Slates Further Discussion

Fails to Reach Agreement Over Change in Regulation 10

After nearly four hours deliberation Monday afternoon, the Student-Faculty Motor Vehicle Committee failed to reach a formal decision regarding AUSG proposals to change Regulation 10.

The Committee, held to "diversity of opinions" on proposals for a special $1 registration fee for off-campus driving, announced it would hold another special meeting Thursday at 9 a.m.

Marne Gleason, AUSG president, sat with the committee members for nearly four hours during the special meeting Monday discussing specific recommendations for changes in the controversial Student Motor Vehicle Regulation 10, which went into effect last term.

Gleason defined "campus" as that portion of MSU shaded in blue on the present Regulation 10 map.

This would give each student the opportunity to choose whether or not he wished to use campus parking and driving facilities, Gleason said.

The proposal also would clarify the area within which student automobiles must be registered. Gleason suggested the area include MSU property, East Lansing that portion of Meridian Township bounded by the east limits of East Lansing, Rurham Road, Hagadorn Road and the Red Cedar River, and that portion of Lansing Township bounded by Harrison Road, the Grand Trunk Railroad, and the Red Cedar River.

He also suggested clarification of certain ambiguous instances in Regulation 10, including the wording of Section 2, A.

Daugherty Top Prospect For Texas A & M Post

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Duffy Daugherty, coach of Michigan State, Monday became the top prospect for the coaching job at Texas A&M.

Clarence (Biggie) Munn, when asked to comment, replied that the story was "All news to me. The A and M people have never made any comments to me nor has Daugherty."

The State News asked Dr. Hannah to comment and he said that he thought that the story had nothing to it. He mentioned that during the last year Daugherty has been approached by several schools and that he is still here.

Reportedly Daugherty was meeting in Texas with A&M officials and may have already signed a contract to replace Paul Bryant, who resigned as coach of A&M to go to Alabama.

A review of the history of Daugherty at A&M and how Munn, Daugherty was the No. 1 prospect and he hoped to have the Michigan State coach signed to a contract before Daugherty left Texas.

Rumor or Fact?

Duffy Daugherty may still be in Dallas conferring with Texas A&M officials, the State News learned from a Dallas newspaper at 7 a.m. this morning.

The newspaper said attempts by the Associated Press and Texas dailies to contact members of the Texas A&M board of directors have been futile.

It was believed that Daugherty may already have signed a contract as coach of the Aggies, the source said. Early reports said Duffy had left Texas for Chicago, but the Dallas paper said there is much speculation that he is still in Dallas.

Jack Finney, of Greenville, Chairman of the Athletic Committee of the Board, was quoted by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Monday as saying an announcement was likely "in a day or two." Finney could not be contacted last night.

Hooker Heads Potato Assoc.

William J. Hooker, associate professor of botany and plant pathology, has been named president-elect of the Potato Association of America. His election took place at the group's annual meeting in Beltsville, Md., earlier this week. He will serve as president in 1959.

Ernest J. Wheeler, assistant professor of farm crops, is director of the association for a 1957-59 term. Research reported on was designed to improve the position of Michigan potatoes on the state's and country's markets.

President Feels Fit as a Fiddle

ST. LOUIS (AP)—President Eisenhower's Chief Assistant said Monday the Chief Executive is "back in the saddle" and on his way to "complete recovery."

But the White House Aide, Sherman Adams, added that the President's mild stroke on Nov. 25 points up the need for a constitutional amendment making it clear just when the Vice President shall take over in the event of a president's inability to fulfill his duties.

Adams made his comments in a speech prepared for a Republican finance meeting.

He was the first White House official to refer publicly to the President's seizure with the commonly used term, a minor stroke. The White House physician had described it as a blockage of a small artery in the brain.

Adams told the group: "I left behind me in the White House a man who looks strong, acts strong and a man who is strong."

The presidential aide also said Eisenhower was in little affected by his ailment that he put up a "vigorous argument" when the doctors wouldn't let him come to his office the next day and then talked seriously about holding a press conference.

Speaking further of the President's illness, Adams said: "We have been fortunate and we can be thankful. But we still must remember that the possibility remains of being less fortunate in the years ahead. In a time of emergency we might not have a President with the extraordinary ability that President Eisenhower has to bounce back."

As a result, Adams said, Congress should get to work at its

Constitutional Change

"Neither does the Constitution describe specifically how presidential incapacity is determined," Adams said, "nor what the vice president's status should be. Neither does it specify how the president could resume his office upon recovering from a temporary disability." Eisenhower himself urged Congress a year ago, following his heart attack and debilitating operation, to enact an amendment providing the president himself or the cabinet might declare the chief executive incapacitated

Defense Minister Orders Control of Dutch Land

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Defense Minister Djuanda Kartawidjaja ordered all Dutch plantations and allied enterprises put under government direction Monday night.

The order did not spell out whether the purpose was to nationalize all Indonesia's rich rubber, coffee, tea, palm oil and spice estates — by far the oldest and richest segment of Dutch investments which may total 1 1/2 billion dollars — or merely to keep the swelling anti-Dutch campaign under the government thumb.

Plantation managers in Jakarta said they welcomed the defense minister's action as it might slow up efforts of estate workers to seize the properties on their own and so prevent ugly incidents.

A campaign of anti-Dutch strikes, boycotts and deportations was started a week ago by the government in an effort to force surrender of West New Guinea by the Netherlands. It spread into a movement by Indonesian workers, many of them Communist-led, to seize Dutch banks, hotels, factories, estates and other businesses.

The occupation of Dutch premises was without official government sanction and in many cases in direct defiance of a stream of pleas by government leaders for a halt to unauthorized take-overs.

The examination will be arranged between the student and the department requesting the special scheduling of its examination.

Senior Cadet Solos At Capital City Airport

"It was great, it really was . . . I thought I'd probably get shook, but I didn't clutch at all."

That was the comment of Richard S. Lang, the first senior cadet to solo at Capital City Airport Monday afternoon under this year's Air Force ROTC Flight Instruction Program.

"I didn't even know I was to solo until I started for the airport," Lang said. "They told me I had a couple more dual hours to fly yet."

His dual flying time with an instructor from Spartan Aviation Company in Piper Tri-Pacers before the solo totaled eight hours. In addition, Lang had completed 35 hours of classroom instruction, including courses in navigation, weather and Civil Aeronautics Administration regulations.

Lang, who lives in Spanish Village, said the spins, loops, the Piper Cub were the most thrilling in the flight instruction program.

"Once, after I pulled up to a stall and kicked the rudder, I dropped the wing into a spin," he said. "We went around three times before I pulled the stick out. The ground was all around like a first-engine spin. It was terrible, but it was great. I felt a little whiplash, but I'd like to fly every day if I could."

Lang said he will fly 20 more solo hours, including one solo across country flight before he finishes the program. Then he will qualify him for a pilot license.

Jemilo Turns Pro; Gridders Bowl-Bound

By LARRY GUSTIN
State News Sports Editor

IT'S TIME TO CLEAN UP the odds and ends and make a few final comments before hitting the books.

Bob Jemilo will be following the footsteps of Chuck Davey, Jed Black and Chuck Speiser when he begins his career as a professional boxer early next year. Jemilo, who fought at 132 pounds for Michigan State last season, has signed a short-term contract with Bernie Glickman, Chicago manager who handles Virgil Akins, the world's No. 1 rated welterweight.

Jemilo said the formal signing takes place Dec. 17 at a luncheon in a Chicago hotel. Among those present will be Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, and Tom King, Jr. (son of Dean King), a former publicity man for Jim Norris, IBC president.

"I will be fighting twice a month until June, when I will accept my ROTC commission in the army," Jemilo said. "This will be sort of a training period and will give me a chance to decide if I want to continue in boxing after I leave the army."

Spartans' Fate This Season

A true test of Michigan State's hockey squad will come between now and the beginning of next term.

The Spartans host Colorado College, last year's Western Intercollegiate Hockey League champion, and Denver University, Colorado will be here for games December 17 and 18. Denver University will be here on December 20 and 21. This means that the Spartans will play four games in five nights. A test of the pucksters' physical condition may be the deciding factor in these games.

Another important aspect of these two series will be their importance in the league standings. Four victories by the Spartans would give them eight points, one-third of the possible total for the season.

Inasmuch as they only play Colorado College and Denver University twice this season, instead of the four game series with the rest of the teams, Michigan, Minnesota, Michigan Tech, and North Dakota, each game carries two points instead of the usual one point.

State, so far this season, has been conquered and been the conqueror—State was overpowered by the Detroit Red Wings, 10-3, and then rebounded with an 18-0 victory over an inexperienced Ohio State team.

Coach Arno Bessone will probably start his first line of Fred DeVos, Ross Parker, and center Dick Hamilton against the defending WIHL champions, Bob Jemilo and Bob Norman are the probable starting defensemen. Joe Selinger will be in the nets for the Spartans.

State, having injuries in the next week of practice, should be in good condition for the games. Defenseman Ed Pollock with an injured back, and Gary Bowman, with a bruised knee, are the only injured Spartans. Both will be ready for the two series.

State's performance in these games could well tell the story of their chances for the WIHL championship.

Ernestine Beats AAU Champion

Ernestine Russell defeated Muriel Davis, 1957 AAU All Around champion, in the all-around event Saturday at the Indiana Turners Invitational Gymnastic Meet.

Besides winning the all-around event, "Ernie" also took three firsts and a third in other gymnastic events.

The 108-pound blonde Michigan State coach, four-times Canadian gymnastics champion, won first place in the horse vault, balance beam, and tumbling events.

She took third place on the uneven parallel bars, but lost out in the exercise event because she stepped out of bounds.

Lions Give Contract To Wilson

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions broke precedent Monday by giving coach George Wilson and his assistants new one-year contracts before the National Football League season ends.

Wilson, who stepped into the job two days before the team's first exhibition game last August when Buddy Parker unexpectedly resigned, got a salary increase and the right to name another assistant coach.

It is likely he will call on Red (Scotty) McLean, his long-time friend who now is coaching coach for the Green Bay Packers. The other assistant is Buster Ramsey, Aldo Forte, Bob Nussbaumer and Red Coleman.

This is the first time in the 21-year history of the Lions that the Board of Directors have awarded new contracts to their coaches during the regular season. The directors stuck to another policy, though, by making all the contracts one-year affairs.

Wilson's status and that of his assistants was assured even before the Lions defeated the Cleveland Browns Sunday 20-7 and stayed in the battle for the Western Conference Championship. President Edwin J. Anderson, who made Monday's announcement at a press conference, earlier in the season expressed satisfaction with their work and indicated that all would be back in 1958.

Anderson said Monday he liked the way "George picked up the loose reins" after Parker ended a successful career with the Lions.

Wilson has done a solid coaching job and we think he will be with us for a long time, said Anderson. "Everyone is pleased with the way he has handled the club. He is a gentleman and an outstanding coach."

Do Women make better Pilots than Men?

We have seen a woman lead the field against the best of them in a cross-country race. We have seen a woman come out with top honors in a thrilling performance of aerial acrobatics. We have seen women accomplish feats of daring in the air where men of courage fear to follow, and we have seen women excel in practice by our instructors and students. So it's really pretty hard to say who makes the better pilots — men or women. But it is clear that every woman who is sound in mind and body can become a darn good pilot — if she just sets herself to it — why not you? We'll teach you! It's easy and amazingly economical! Let's talk it over.

Cagers to Host Colorado

Spartans Seek 3rd Triumph

Play 5 Contests During Vacation

Colorado, sporting a 1-1 record, invades Jenison Fieldhouse at 8 p.m. Saturday to battle the Michigan State cagers who are undefeated in two contests.

The Buffaloes, coached by Coach "Doc" Walsch, was the league champion a year ago by finishing fourth in the league by compiling a 14-9 mark.

In their opener, the Buffaloes won a 64-55 decision to Colorado State University, but bounced back Saturday to defeat Montana, 77-60.

Colorado holds the distinction of tabulating the highest points in the Big Seven Tournament last year in both teams first game at the Big Seven Tournament.

Loss of height is a big Buffaloes problem, too, and one which could be solved if 6'8" Jim Johnson recovers fully from his knee operation of a year ago.

Walsch will likely start Don Wicks (6'6") at center and Les Howard (6'5") and John Musgrave (6'3") up front and Gerry Schenck (6'1") and sophomore Darrell Boien (5'11") at the guards.

Like the two first games of the year, Colorado will pose as a high opponent. Early season records give no indication of how a certain team will perform. We must definitely improve the teaming of our offense. The Buffaloes and Detroit teams showed they handled the ball loosely giving up its possession by making bad passes and fumbling the ball away," Coach Fordy Anderson declared.

Although final exams are scheduled for Wednesday the team went through a stiff workout stressing offense. However, lighter practices are slated for the remainder of the week.

It seems evident Anderson will go along with the same combination he has started in the Buffaloes and Detroit tilts. The lineup includes center John Green and Les Anderson and Larry Hedder at forwards with guards Dave Scott and Jack Quiggle, who scored 30 points against Colorado last winter.

To break the tension of exams students could take in the game. On Dec. 21 the cagers play at powerful Notre Dame. Then the cagers will travel to the West Coast stopping off to play Iowa State Dec. 23, Southern Cal Dec. 27, UCLA Dec. 29 and coming out against Washington Dec. 30.

The first conference game for the team is with Ohio State at Columbus Jan. 4.

If Injury Mends Okay

'There Is No Reason I Should Retire'—Layne

DETROIT (AP)—Bobby Layne, whose 10-year professional career has been threatened time and time again by an assortment of injuries, had another one to contend with Tuesday.

The veteran Detroit Lions' quarterback said he would not make an immediate decision on whether a broken ankle sustains him.

More than the seriousness of the broken right ankle, that bothered Layne Tuesday as he rested comfortably in his hospital bed.

"If it mends all right and I can go at full steam, then I see no reason why I should retire," he said. "Other than the injury, I don't think I'm so old that I can't play for a little longer. I felt fine all season until this happened."

Layne, who came to the Lions in 1949 after his rookie season with the old New York Bulldogs, will be 31 in 10 days.

At about this same time a year ago Layne suffered a head injury in the season's final game against the Chicago Bears.

There was scattered speculation that Layne would stop then, but he signed another contract for about $20,000, and it carries through the 1958 season.

Layne was injured late in the second period of Sunday's game, which the Lions went on to win 20-7 to remain in the Western Conference championship chase.

His mud cleats caught in the turf as he was being tackled by the Browns' Bill Quillen and Paul Wiggin.

"There was nothing dirty or deliberate about it," said Layne. "My cleats just simply stuck in the mud—and when I turned or went down it happened."

It was the recuperation, rather than the injury, that is the problem.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ron Kramer, Green Bay's rookie end, suffered a broken leg in the Packers game against Los Angeles Saturday.

Kramer, a standout performer for the University of Michigan in his college days, was hurt when tackled hard after catching a first period pass. He limped off the field and it was not announced until after the game had ended that his leg was broken.

Basketball Poll Rates MSU 7th

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan State's cagers received 363 votes good for a seventh place ranking in the nation in the first weekly Associated Press poll.

Coach Fordy Anderson's cagers defeated Butler University, 74-55, and Detroit University, 71-59, in their two outings this week.

North Carolina, the defending national basketball champion, is rated the No. 1 team in the nation in the first weekly Associated Press poll. In fact, North Carolina, Kansas and Kentucky, which finished 1-2-3 in the final balloting last spring, again are ranked in that order.

On the basis of points, 10 for first place, nine for second, etc., North Carolina had 1,018, Kansas 965 and Kentucky 869. The voting Saturday.
