Will MSU Join?

NSA Viewed by AUSG

By IIZ TROESTER
State News Night Editor

The National Students Association workshop held here last weekend by All University Student Government to give AUSG members a chance to get information on NSA and its operations did not just that.

In coffee hours and discussion groups, at executive regional sessions and meals, at the basketball game and parties throughout the entire weekend, NSA, its structure and operations got more conversational time than even the Wisconsin basketball game.

Don Clifford, NSA executive vice president reviewed the history, financing and activities of the Association at the Friday night meeting.

The NSA resulted from an international meeting of student groups held in Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1946. At that time there was no national student union in the U. S. Delegates to this Prague convention were sent by individual schools and campus religious organizations. After this conference, meet-

Accident Mars NSA Workshop

Two Student Congress members and a delegate to the National Student Ass'n workshop were involved in a two-car collision early Saturday morning, according to Sgt. Ramey, department of public safety.

Reinhardt Schumann, Temperance junior, sustained a possible head concussion. He was held in Ohio hospital for observation and released Sunday. Carroll Sattler, Coker senior, had lacerations of his right hand and face and a fractured left thumb, Ramey said.

The NSA delegate, David Brown, Flint JC, had a sprained ankle, Ramey reported.

ings were held at different times at the Universities of Chicago and Wisconsin. Permanent headquarters were eventually set up in Philadelphia.

The association's finances come from members' schools dues which pay for a third of the NSA activities, publications produced by the association and grants from individuals and foundations.

Saturday a panel of NSA members answered specific questions. Members of the panel were: Terry Sheahan, Marygrove, NSA regional president; Jean Cohen, Wayne, Tom Scholter, Ferris, NSA regional secretary; Dave Brown and Dennis Catrell, Ferris and Nancy Williams, NSA regional vice president, Wayne.

Questions to the panel ranged from what help the NSA could provide small campus organizations to whether membership in the Big 10 Ass'n would be more beneficial to MSU because all members of this group face the same problems and have the same background.

The answer to both these questions was essentially similar. Small organizations, panel members agreed, can benefit by obtaining information on how similar organizations on other campuses handled their problems.

This was basically their answer to the problem of why this school should join NSA. Panel members emphasized that all Big 10 schools were not the same and that membership in their organization would provide a wider variety of opinions and solutions to problems.

Workshop delegates heard Louis of Students Tom King say during Sunday dinner at Shaw that while no one could quarrel with the NSA general objectives, it would be difficult to point out any one specific act it had accomplished in its 10 year history. The greatest opportunity for accomplishing things lies in the regional area, he felt, rather than the national because it is too diffused at this area.

The meeting ended Sunday afternoon following a chance for AUSG members to participate in discussion groups similar to those that will be held at the NSA regional meeting at Ferris in April.

NSA member schools represented at the workshop were Hope, Fair Junior College, University of Michigan, and Pat Winters, Chicago.

AWS Primaries Slated Tuesday

AWS primary elections for president and vice president of the judiciary and activity boards are slated Tuesday for MSU coeds.

Women living in residence halls will vote for AWS officers at the noon and supper hours while voting for dorm officers.

Off-campus and sorority coeds must bring MSU ID cards to the Union concourse for voting from 9-5.

Final elections will be Thursday using the same procedures as in the early vote.

Candidates for officers, all juniors, are:

Judiciary: Rebecca Kirshenman, Portland, Nami Grass, LaSalle, Karen Milligan, East Lansing; Judy Siemmetz, St. Joe, N.J., and Pat Winters, Chicago.

Activities: Judy Danhof, Detroit; Drew Giesley, Monroe, and Lolly Lohman, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Law Curbing Wire-Pulling 'Thwarted' by Congressmen

Two Coeds Fight Off Assailant

Student Teaching In Benton Harbor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two MSU student teachers were robbed and threatened with rape in Benton Harbor at midnight Friday. Their assailant escaped with $72 from the coeds' purses.

The women, Marcia Bertoluzzi, Ironwood, and Susie Stein, East Lansing, both seniors, were on their way home from a movie when the incident occurred.

They told police a man wearing a handkerchief over the lower part of his face approached behind them on the street and told them to turn down a side street or he would kill them.

Holding one hand in his pocket he told them all he wanted was their money.

They were forced into a garage, the coeds told police, and their money taken. Miss Bertoluzzi's scarf was used to bind her hands behind her back.

At that point the man attempted to rape Miss Stein, the women asserted. They fought him off. The man fled when their screams threatened to arouse the neighborhood.

The women reported they kicked and scratched the man who took $60 from Miss Stein and $12 from her companion.

They described the assailant as a "light-colored Negro, about five feet 10 in. height, 30-35 years old, wearing a short beige jacket and grey cap.

Police were leading a man picked up for questioning. Miss Stein is student teaching at Mott Hill elementary school in Benton Harbor. Miss Bertoluzzi is in the teaching program at Benton Harbor high school.

WKAR Airs Discussion On Indonesia

"Rural leaders in Sumatra are in a position to cut off the two major sources of the Indonesian government's revenue, the proceeds from rubber and oil exports," said Dr. Willard Hanna, of the American University Field Staff, who recently returned from an 18-month visit to Indonesia.

Dr. Hanna, who made a stop at MSU on his lecture tour of the United States, spoke on "Viewpoint" over WKAR radio Sunday afternoon.

"President Sukarno now seems more like a dispirited ultra-nationalist, intense in driving out western influence and opening Indonesia up to international communism," he said.

"Sukarno's own position is precarious," he continued. "Provincial governments are demanding that he reform his government and curtail the Communists he has introduced into it."

Also heard on "Viewpoint" were the host of the program, Major John Barron and Dr. Bruce Smith, assistant professor of political science who plans an Indonesian visit this summer.

AE Rho to Present Radio Dramas

Alpha Epsilon Rho, national radio and TV honorary, is sponsoring a radio-drama, beginning tonight for students interested in acting, sound effects, directing, music and audio.

One drama will be done each week through spring term. These will be taped and aired over radio.

The first play, "Benedict Arnold," will be cast at 7:30 tonight in 246 Aud. according to Kay Klotzburger, AE Rho president.

Stanley Doh (left) and Ryukichi Ikashima, both from the University of Hawaii at Honolulu, stand by while Emory Garlick, president of MSU, civil engineering honorary Chi Epsilon, shakes hands with national supreme council president Alfred Ingersoll. Chi Epsilon's national conference met here this weekend for two days of discussion at Kellogg Center. More than 110 delegates from 49 schools in 10 states and Hawaii attended the meeting.

Girls Dismay—They Must Pay!

It's Here Again, Men-Turnabout Week!

By DALE FRANZ
State News Night Editor

Rejoice, gentlemen, it's Turnabout Week!

Coeds will again have their annual chance for true equality. In fact, every girl will be required to switch social duties with males for a week.

Initiated, ultimately, by the code of chivalry to be taken over by the women are such duties as opening doors for the upside-down, carrying books for its varied members, assisting in the donning and doffing of coats, and the maintaining and operating of automobiles.

A most rare privilege, in the opinion of those who know of such things (men), will be the opportunity to purchase refreshments, such as hamburgers, hot coffee, or snacks and ice cream, when it comes to a meeting.

These whole exciting affairs begin first thing this morning. Climaxing Turnabout Week is the year's big dance for which the coed arranges the date, gets the ticket, drives the car, takes the male friend to dinner, and looks additional hills—Spinster Day.

Another duty, which coeds, according to tradition, usually exchange to use for revenge, is the creation of a "cougar." The men, in token of appreciation for the week's services, are thereby required to wear the hand-made product throughout the dance.

Channel 10 Case Believed Connected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Harris (D-Ariz.) Sunday said he believes a law to curb wire-pulling on Federal Communications Commission (FCC) decisions was "thwarted" in the Miami channel 10 case and in other cases.

The said congressmen left the gate open for abuse when it passed the law in 1952. He said Congress members feared the legislation would shut off their own access to the FCC on pending cases.

Harris heads the House Commerce Committee and its special subcommittee, which recently today an inquiry into whether the supposedly independent Federal regulatory agencies are doing what the law intended in their ruling-making over far-flung business interests.

The subcommittee stated Florida Lawyer Thurman Whiteide for questioning today. Ousted subcommittee counsel Bernard Schwartz has testified that Whiteide paid $2,650 to FCC Commissioner Richard Mack.

He pictured Whiteide as working for the winner in a contested FCC award of broadcast TV channel 10 in Miami. Whiteide has accused Schwartz of lying and Mack also has denied the allegations.

So far the hearings have been marked by a sort of testimony about efforts by both sides in the channel 10 case to win the FCC's order. This has led to Congressional calls for a code of ethics to cover regulatory agencies.

Rep. Udall (D-Ariz.) Sunday urged the FCC to adopt rules which would prevent members of Congress or anyone else from intervening in commission hearings.

Etiquette Emphasis Week

Spartans, Watch Those Manners!

By MARY HUFF
State News Night Editor

Eddy Etiquette, the smiling cartoon character whose face will become familiar at MSU, themes Etiquette Emphasis Week, being sponsored for the first time by Spartan Women's League.

Eddy will be reminding Spartans every day of the particular importance of good manners and consideration for others in social relationships through special stress through the efforts of SWL this week.

According to Miss Mabel Peterson, assistant director of the women's division and one of the sponsors of SWL, the need for such an emphasis has been felt by many on this campus.

She adds that "Part of MSU's good name and reputation for friendliness stems from the politeness and friendliness of every student here. Etiquette Emphasis Week is designed to give an extra boost to remind students of the importance of good social practices."

SWL, an all-university women's service organization, plans to highlight each day a particular portion of social etiquette. Today, manners on campus are featured, special stress going to the importance of friendliness and a cheerful smile.

Today boy-girl relationships will be of primary importance. Dating procedures, asking and answering dates, fitting, active courtesies, and the common courtesies to be maintained in dating are to be accentuated.

Guest etiquette, including dining manners, social poise, and good form in company of guests, is the theme of Wednesday.

Sportsmanship is to be the leading topic of Thursday's feature, with particular importance falling to good sportsmanship of spectators.

On Friday SWL will seek to remind students of the duty to recognize those who serve the

Dr. Tukey to Speak at Dinner Honoring Liberty Hyde Bailey

Dr. Harold Tukey, head of the horticulture department, is scheduled to speak at a mid-March centennial dinner at Cornell University honoring Liberty Hyde Bailey.

March 15 marks the birthday of Bailey, Cornell's world-famous botanist, explorer, teacher and author who died in 1955. Bailey was graduated from Michigan Agricultural College in 1882.

Bailey's almost incredible achievement during his 90-year life included writing 75 books, including two encyclopedias, some verse and philosophy. 124 plants—collecting expeditions, some alone at age 91 in the Amazon, and founding the fields of plant pathology, nature study and soil technology.

Preston General Arthur Stinson will officially release a "Map—Honoring American gardening and horticulture at the banquet.

Spartans Disqualified In 2 Events

By DAVE ROGERS
Special to the State News

ANN ARBOR — Michigan's star studded swimming squad was too much for Michigan State Saturday as they powered to a 67-30 victory.

The Wolverines, possibly the best team in the country which could beat the Spartans, poured on, taking eight first places in the individual events and one in the two relays.

World record holder Dick Hanley swam to wins in the 100 and 100-yard freestyle while Tony Tashnick took the 200-yard individual medley and the 500-yard breaststroke. Carl Wooley capped the 50-yard freestyle and finished second in the 100.

A series of catastrophes which kept the Spartans added to the Michigan victory margin.

1. Billy Stewart lost his first race of the season but pushed himself to a 2:05.7 pool record in the 220-yard freestyle. Hanley took the world record in the 100 at 1:01.5.

2. Luckless Don Patterson couldn't whip overconfident Hanley and Wooley in the 100-yard freestyle but was ruled disqualified for failure to touch on his second turn.

3. Michigan State's freestyle relay squad was also disqualified.

4. Frank Modine suffered his first defeat of the year by Cy Hopkins. The Michigan star took a very close victory and a new American record at 2:24.6.

THE RESULTS

Swim Medley Relay: Michigan State (Don Nihole, Frank Modine, Cy Hopkins, Gordy Farnell) 3:54.9. Michigan disqualified. Time 3:54.9.

Swim Freestyle: 1. Dick Hanley, Michigan 2. Billy Stewart, MSU 3. Dean Taylor, MSU Time 2:05.7 (New pool record old record 2:08 by Hanley, 1953).

Swim Freestyle: 1. Carl Wooley, Michigan 2. Don Patterson, MSU 3. Lee Lohach, MSU Time 2:24.6.

Swim Individual Medley: 1. Tony Tashnick, Michigan 2. Cy Hopkins, Michigan 3. Wally Dohler, MSU Time 3:12.7.

Swim Breaststroke: 1. Dick Kimball, Michigan 2. Al Giacola, Michigan 3. Jerry Chadwick, MSU Time 2:25.3.

Swim Butterfly: 1. Tashnick, Michigan 2. Hopkins, Michigan 3. Harbison, MSU Time 3:10.6.

Swim Freestyle: 1. Stewart, MSU 2. Wooley, Michigan 3. Dohler, MSU Time 3:01.7.

Swim Backstroke: 1. John Smith, Michigan 2. Ted Relasing, Michigan 3. Nichols, MSU Time 3:14.4.

Swim Freestyle: 1. Stewart, MSU 2. Pete Fries, Michigan 3. Lohach, MSU Time 4:39.9.

Swim Breaststroke: 1. Hopkins, Michigan 2. Modine, MSU 3. Al Hachen, Michigan Time 2:24.6.

Swim Freestyle Relay: 1. Michigan (Rosa Browne, Tashnick, Wooley, Hanley) MSU disqualified Time 1:38.1 (New Pool record old record 1:24 by Iowa in 1951).

Final Score—Michigan 67, MSU 30.

U of M Nips Wrestlers, 14-13

By CHUCK RICHARDS

Michigan State's wrestlers just missed out on the most dramatic finish of the year.

The Spartans had a crowd of more than 1,000 spectators on the edge of their seats before falling to the University of Michigan, 14-13, at Jenison Fieldhouse.

The climax went like this:

With the Spartans behind, 11-2, they needed decisions in every match to win, or two pins and a decision in four matches.

Bob Moser came through in the 157 class with his sixth decision of the year. But Jim Conley fell to conference champion Jack Marchello to drop State behind, 14-5. Its only chance for a victory was to get pins in the final two matches.

Tim Woodin was equal to the occasion. The 177-pound sophomore put on an awesome display of strength in overpowering his opponent for a pin at 1:18 for the meet's best performance.

The Spartans had a crowd of more than 1,000 spectators on the edge of their seats before falling to the University of Michigan, 14-13, at Jenison Fieldhouse.

The climax went like this:

With the Spartans behind, 11-2, they needed decisions in every match to win, or two pins and a decision in four matches.

Bob Moser came through in the 157 class with his sixth decision of the year. But Jim Conley fell to conference champion Jack Marchello to drop State behind, 14-5. Its only chance for a victory was to get pins in the final two matches.

Tim Woodin was equal to the occasion. The 177-pound sophomore put on an awesome display of strength in overpowering his opponent for a pin at 1:18 for the meet's best performance.

That put the pressure on

Michigan State's wrestlers just missed out on the most dramatic finish of the year.

Boxers Fight Here Tonight

San Jose (Calif.) State's boxing team moves into Jenison Fieldhouse tonight at 8 for a meet with Michigan State.

San Jose publicly released claim "perhaps the best sophomore heavyweight in intercollegiate ranks" in Archie Milton.

But Tom McCreely, the Spartan heavyweight, is also considered one of the NCAA's best. This shapes up to be the best fight of the night in the opinion of MSU Coach Jack Bodemann.

San Jose defeated Wisconsin, 4½-3½, Saturday. The Badgers had "deadlocked" the Spartans, 4-4, the week before, which seemingly makes San Jose a slight favorite.

The Spartans are in their last year of varsity competition and, barring any reversal of decision by the Athletic Council, tonight's meet will be one of the last two in MSU boxing history.

The probable lineup:

MICH STATE: 122-Lancour, 128-Bogers, 147-Haynes, 156-Pettyjohn or Epperson, 165-Johnson, 178-Horne, 185-McCreely.

SAN JOSE: Akana, Nelson, Rubin, Coolidge, Buck, Milton.

Moroney, Christofferson battle Nodaks in Saturday's game here.

"LOST HORIZON"

"Get More Out of Life — Go Out to a Movie!"

Research Physicist Robert W. Pike, like many other physicists, engineers and mathematicians, came to IBM directly from college. His degree is a B.S. in Engineering Physics. Here he tells you why the electronic computer field is fascinating to the graduate with a physics background.

What's it like to be with IBM?

"I became interested in computers and transistors at college," Robert Pike recalls. "In fact, my senior project was building a small computer. So, when I graduated from the University of Maine in June, 1955, I naturally turned to the computer field. IBM, recognized as a leader in this expanding electronics area, looked like a good place for me."

Bob Pike began his IBM career as a Technical Engineer, starting with a training program that lasted several months. Then, asked to select the work area of his choice, he picked the Semi-Conductor Device Development Group in Research. "My first assignment," he says, "was to plot various electrical and physical device parameters for a large number of transistors in the form of graphs or histograms in order to obtain correlation coefficients of the device characteristics."

Many fascinating assignments

Other projects followed in rapid succession: Work on a germanium drift, diffused base transistor (he was the second of his group to enter this field) . . . work on silicon as a transistor material doing evaporations of impurities on the silicon (he is known as the "pioneer silicon device man" of his group).

"Silicon is better than germanium because of better temperature and voltage breakdown points," he mentions. "But it is difficult to find a material to wet silicon to form alloyed junctions. I recall making the small contacts with an ultrasonic soldering iron."

Bob Pike was promoted to Associate Physicist in December, 1956. His present assignment is leading a group of technicians in fabricating high-frequency, high-power PNP drift transistors. "We use a process I developed," he says. "These transistors will be used as core drivers in a high-speed memory array."

Ask him about this "most interesting" project and he'll tell you, "Working with the evaporation of alloying impurities and designing 'new' semi-conductor devices."

Sold on IBM

Bob Pike is enthusiastic about IBM as a place to work. "The glowing descriptions of my work," he says, niacs, "the extensive research facilities and the friendly employee-management relations brought two E.E. friends of mine to IBM from Maine, my Alma Mater."

His future? At the rate IBM and the electronic computer field are expanding, he sees great opportunities. Of course, his own progress will be in accordance with IBM's promotion policy—"strictly on merit." He has set a tentative goal of Project Engineer within the next five years and expects to continue to specialize in semi-conductor work.

Bob Pike lives in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., near the Research Laboratory, with his wife and young son. He finds time to garden around his new home and to participate in the IBM Camera Club and a local Audio (Hi-Fi) Society. "It's a busy life," he says, ". . . and one with a stimulating future."

This profile is just one example of what it's like to be with IBM. There are many other excellent opportunities for well-qualified college men in Research, Development, Manufacturing, Sales and Applied Science. Why not ask your College Placement Director when IBM will next interview on your campus? Or, for information about how your degree will fit you for an IBM career, just write to:

Heart Attack Kills Sergeant Saturday

An Army T.S. William W. Tillman, 36, was fatally struck on by a heart attack Saturday at his family's home in Anderson, Ind.

Sergeant Tillman, attached to the 47th Infantry, died after a week-long visit at his parents' home. His wife and children had been visiting in Lansing at their home, 819 Eureka St., Lansing.

The soldier was apparently in good health, a report from the 47th Infantry officials said. With 10 years of active duty including World War II service, the sergeant came here to assume duties as a supply specialist with the 47th Infantry.

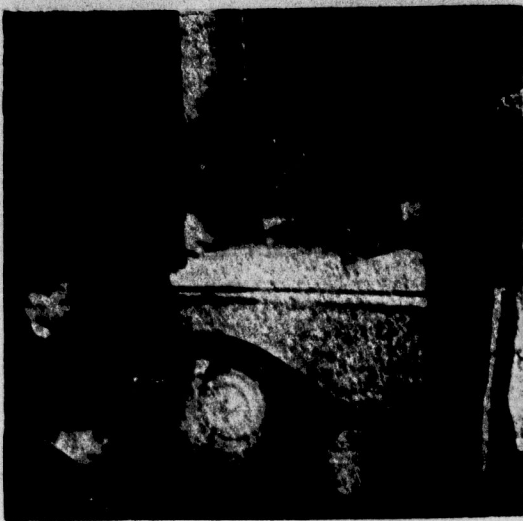

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tillman, 13 and Detroit, 12. Arrangements for a military funeral at Anderson are being made by the Anderson Daily Press. Burial will be at the Anderson cemetery.

Sergeant Tillman was a fine man, one of our best non-coms and was popular here. The soldier was killed at his home.

Russell Hare Made Cadet Brig. General

Russell Hare, New Baltimore, Mich., was awarded promotion to Cadet Brigadier General in the ROTC program last week. Hare, a versatile retail manager of the State News, was promoted for outstanding leadership and the military work he has done.

The student is cadet commander of the ROTC program.

No decisive decision one way or the other on joining NSA was made directly after the workshop. AUSG executive personnel and interested Congress members attended as many sessions as possible while making up their minds.

A report on the workshop will be presented to Congress Wednesday. At that time a bill to join NSA will probably be presented. It is not expected that it will receive an immediate vote but rather will be sent to committee for a week.

STUN Texts Go To Book Drive

Student Texts, Used and New (STUN) is planning to aid the 1958 Pantel book drive this week by turning over many of the unsold texts at their shelves. Students with books registered for sale with STUN whose card number is below 3,000 must claim their books from 2-4 p.m. Friday, a spokeswoman said Sunday.

All books, numbered below 3,000 will be given to the book drive. STUN is located in Quonset 32, south campus.

Wolverine Offices Hit by Small Fire

Fire doesn't always come with smoke, and staff members of MSU's yearbook, the Wolverine, are just as happy that's true. A burnt-out fluorescent light transformer brought post No. 2 of the East Lansing Fire Department up to 344 D Student Services building Saturday evening at 6:25.

Wolverine editor Tom Andrews called the department of public safety when smoke began pouring out of his photography editor's office. Andrews said photographic equipment in the office is valued at $2,000.

Fire department officials noted the damage as light on the routine smoke investigation.

Prof. Coons to Speak On Northwestern Law
