Viet Nam Professors Visit MSU

Plan to Observe Courses, Methods

Two assistant professors from the National Institute of Administration in Saigon, Viet Nam, are scheduled to arrive here this weekend in connection with the MSU Viet Nam Project.

Vu Uyen Van and Tran Van Kien will remain on campus during spring term for the purposes of observing courses in their area of study.

Kien is the brother of Tran Van Dinh, who was here last fall for three months and is planning a return trip to review his activities in other universities and federal agencies, according to Miss Elsie Cunningham, administrational assistant to Dr. Ralph H. Smuckler, dean of the International Program.

An assistant professor of public administration at the Institute, Van's interests lie in the area of in-service training and human relations, according to International Program personnel.

Kien, an assistant professor of economics, is reportedly interested in observing techniques and organization of material in the teaching of economics.

The Institute, as an agency of the government, has as its purpose, the improvement of government. The improvement of governmental administration through a three pre-entry degree program, an evening school, research and an in-service training program.

Organized under the International Cooperation Administration, the MSU Viet Nam Project has as its task, the development of public administration in Viet Nam.

Five programs in the fields of police, field administration, presidency, institute and participant are being carried out in the project.

The visiting Viet Namese will be met by Miss Cunningham and Dr. Smuckler, who is planning to leave for Saigon this month.

Called Spendthrift, Skinflint

Brundage Resigns Post, Stans Gets Promotion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Percival F. Brundage, who was alternately cussed as a spendthrift an da skinflint, resigned Thursday as Budget Director.

President Eisenhower moved Deputy Director Maurice H. Stans up to succeed him in the fiscal hot seat.

The change comes during a lull between budget storms, with preliminary work just getting under way on the 1960 fiscal blueprint which will be submitted to Congress next January.

Brundage, who will be 66 next month, said he was leaving the $22,500-a-year post to "attend to some personal matters that have been neglected."

When reporters asked White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty whether Brundage was leaving because of any policy differences, he replied "of course not."

Brundage has been Director of the Budget Bureau since April 2, 1956.

Eisenhower accepted his resignation effective Saturday, and told Brundage in a "Dear Percy" letter that he was grateful for "outstanding service."

"You have devoted yourself tirelessly and selflessly to bringing about better fiscal standards and management throughout all departments of government," the President wrote.

Brundage has had a rougher ride in the past 15 months than any of his recent predecessors.

Stans, a 50-year-old Republican from Kenilworth, Ill., went to the Budget Bureau last September from the Post Office Department, where he had been deputy postmaster general.

He is a Certified Public Accountant and like Brundage is a former President of the American Institute of Accountants.

To succeed Stans as deputy chief, Eisenhower appointed Robert E. Merriam, now an assistant to the director. Merriam, 39 and also a Republican, is a former member of the Chicago City Council. He became assistant budget director in 1956.

A STUN Reminder

STUN has moved to 24 Student Services building. Their office will be open March 18, 19 and 20 from 10-12 a.m. and from 1-4 p.m. to take in books from students wishing to sell them spring term, according to John Santeiu, publicity chairman.

Forest Convo Set for Profs

More than 200 forestry members of the Wisconsin-Michigan Section of the Society of American Foresters will meet in Milwaukee March 14-15 to discuss the problems of promoting forestry and solving the public relations problems.

MSU will be represented by Professors Terrill Stevens, Lester Bell, Lee James, Jonathan Wright, Dean Freeland, Linton Carter, John Mausteller and Walter Lemmien.

As an example of the public relations problems that foresters have experienced, forester Freeland points out that many people are unaware of the fact that a college education is necessary to become a forester.

Recession Predicted By Unions

Delegation Gives 'Crash Program'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Union labor's top command told President Eisenhower Thursday there's no use pinning hopes on quick economic improvement because all signs point to a worsening recession.

An eight-man delegation led by AFL-CIO President George Meany and Walter Reuther handed the President a "crash program" in a White House conference. It called for reduced taxes, increased unemployment insurance and step-ups in defense and public works spending.

"We do not propose that the government act in a mood of panic," the union men said. "Rather we believe that reasoned and considered actions taken now, without delay, will militate against any climate of panic in the near future."

They said they would send Eisenhower a memorandum today to show that present signs all point to a worsening business and unemployment situation.

"We can see no need for waiting for more statistical evidence of suffering and hardship before acting," they said.

"As a matter of fact, every current economic indicator — such as sales, advance orders, factory hours worked — makes this clear. Waiting for the next monthly unemployment figures (data for March are due to be announced next month) would be, in our opinion, unnecessary and unwise."

They said the government's count of 5,173,000 jobless in February is twice the population of Philadelphia, and equal to the total population of Wyoming, Vermont, Utah, South Dakota, Rhode Island, North Dakota, New Mexico, New Hampshire and Nevada.

Meany and his fellow union leaders told the President that to date neither the Administration nor Congress has proposed anti-recession proposals "big enough to meet the needs of the situation." They called for a combination of tax cutting and government spending.

Meany said his group and Eisenhower had "a very friendly meeting" with no arguments. He said the President promised to study the proposals.

David McDonald, president of the steelworkers union and one of the AFL-CIO chiefs who visited Eisenhower, spoke later to 1,000 AFL-CIO unionists. They have been busy for three days talking to Senators and Representatives on the economic situation in their home states.

McDonald recalled the slogan that "As the steel industry goes so goes the nation." He said, "it stands to reason nothing can sustain the over-all economy at the current position of only 10 percent below last year if the steel industry continues to produce 40 percent less steel than a year ago."

House Attacks Sallade's Plan For Colleges

LANSING (AP) — A proposed 60-million dollar bonding program for building needs at state colleges and universities was assailed in the House Thursday as a move to "escape responsibility."

Sen. Frank D. Williams (D-Detroit) attacked the plan in debate over a proposed watered-down version of Rep. George W. Sallade's blueprint for a 250 million dollar bonding program to cover all state construction needs.

Sallade, Ann Arbor Republican, sought to cut the spending outlay to 60 million dollars to be spent over a five-year period. Bonding would be limited to 12 million dollars in any one year.

If approved by both the House and Senate, the proposition would go before the voters in the November election as a proposed amendment to the state constitution.

Contracts Increased By 4 Billion

Move Initiated To Fight Slump

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department promised Thursday to raise to 10 billion dollars the amount of job-providing contracts it will place during the first six months of the year.

This is four billions more than were placed in the last six months of 1957 and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said, in making the announcement:

"This is another way the economy can be helped."

A little later, President Eisenhower was visited by a delegation of top union leaders who told him immediate tax cuts and expanded public works projects are imperatively needed to meet the slump in jobs and business.

Did Eisenhower show concern? AFL-CIO President George Meany was asked.

"He certainly did," Meany replied.

"We are halfway through March and the statistics show things are still going down," Meany said. "We told the President the administration should not be waiting for any improvement."

The word earlier this week was that Eisenhower will wait for a month before making any decision on cutting taxes.

Further cause for concern came in fresh reports that consumers and industry are both planning to reduce their spending.

A study by the highly regarded University of Michigan survey research center said consumers are less confident of the business outlook and plan to cut down spending on houses, new cars, home appliances and furniture.

The industry report was a joint undertaking by the Department of Commerce and the Securities Commission.

It said businessmen expect to cut their spending for new plants and equipment to 32 billion dollars this year, as compared to last year's record figure of 37¼ billions. Such capital investment is a prime source of new jobs.

All over Washington, there was action and talk on how to make things better, along such lines as these:

1. The Senate Armed Services Committee overwhelmingly approved a resolution calling on the Pentagon to speed action on $1,715,000,000 worth of military construction projects already appropriated for.

2. The House Public Works Committee unanimously approved a resolution calling for quicker action on civilian public works that have been approved and appropriated for.

3. Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) expressed hope that the Senate will pass his speed-up highway bill next week.

4. Postal officials estimated to a Senate appropriations subcommittee that a 50 million dollar appropriation would clear the way for construction of 930 post offices.

Rebels Driven Out

American Oil Fields Freed

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian government Thursday announced the capture of the oil fields near Pakanbaru in rebellious Central Sumatra and said the American Oil Company Caltex was now free to resume operations.

Rebel sources in Singapore said Central Sumatran forces withdrew to the outskirts of Pakanbaru. They said they had no information on casualties or whether the two sides still were fighting around Pakanbaru.

The Indonesian government claimed that Pakanbaru, the Caltex headquarters city 15 miles southwest of the Big Minas oil field, was captured by 300 paratroopers and a combat regiment Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Indonesian army declared Jakarta's forces suffered no casualties in occupying the Pakanbaru area.

Premier Djuanda, who announced the capture, said Caltex could now resume operations "if the company so desires."

The company shut down Monday on the advice of the Indonesian government, and evacuated some women and children of its 3,000 to 4,000 employes to Singapore. Djuanda said there was no need for further evacuation. About 600 Americans are in the area but all were reported safe.

The capture of Pakanbaru and the nearby oil field, if confirmed, would put the government of President Sukarno well on the way to control of vital areas under the sway of the rebel government set up Feb. 15.

The town of 50,000 is almost in the center of the tropical island and astride a still incomplete highway. This is Central Sumatra's only cross island road. At the southwest end of the road is Padang, chief rebel center 125 airline miles away.

On the road 15 miles northeast of Pakanbaru is the Minas field, and farther along is the other major Caltex field at Duri.

Duri is the starting point of a 35-mile, 25 million dollar road and pipeline Caltex has been leading through dense coastal swamps to the oil port of Dumai, which Indonesian government forces claim already is captured.

The rebels intended to deny Caltex Oil to the government in an economic squeeze to force it to bow to demands for a new cabinet completely free of Communist influence.

A Caltex attorney here said the company would "await the government's official instructions to proceed with our operations."

Familiar Figures Acting Strangely For Puddle Dock

LONDON (AP) — They raised the roof on the new theater at Puddle Dock Thursday, and a lot of people want to get into the act. Louis Satchmo Armstrong, for instance, as Othello.

Burl Ives cabled that he wants to play Falstaff in Shakespeare's Henry IV.

Hollywood's Doris Day and Tyrone Power say they want to play anything at all when the theater is finished.

This all came out at the traditional roof-raising at the Thames-side site where the City of London's first theater in 250 years is going up. (The area once barred actors as menaces.)

Congratulations poured in on Bernard Miles, the sponsoring British actor-producer.

"Congratulations, and don't forget Satchmo when you cast Othello," trumpeter Armstrong cabled.

The roof-raising was not stuff. Twenty showgirls in sweaters and shorts ran relays through London's windy streets, with a flaming torch from historic Drury Lane Theater to Puddle Dock.

The torch was plunged into a 50-gallon cauldron of spiced wine. The mulled drink then was served to assembled celebrities.

Miles wants to present everything from Shakespeare to vaudeville and opera as well, in his 500-seat theater.

Hamilton Visits U. of Philippines

Vice president Thomas Hamilton left this morning for Manila to wrap up a current study of the University of the Philippines.

Hamilton will join Dr. Floyd Reeves, professor of education at MSU, and William Middlebrook, vice president for business administration at the University of Minnesota. Both have been in Manilla for four weeks.

The study is being conducted at the request of Philippine President Carlos Garcia. Garcia is contemplating a revision of the university's educational program to make it more responsive to the needs of the Filipino people, something on the order of American land-grant colleges pioneered by MSU.

FCC Appeals Decision of Miami Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) acted Thursday to reconsider its award of a multi-million dollar TV channel in the light of a Congressional inquiry into alleged pressure and influence.

The FCC asked the U.S. Court of Appeals for permission to re-examine its decision in the Miami channel 10 case, which has figured prominently in developments leading to the resignation of Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

The agency acted as a House investigating subcommittee heard a denial of testimony to the effect that Col. George Gordon Moore, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower's brother-in-law, was supposed to have "engineered" the original award.

The TV license, valued at several million dollars, was given to a National Airlines subsidiary in preference to three rival applicants.

One of the losers, A. Frank Katzentine, has testified he learned from a "trusted friend" that the grant to National was engineered by Moore, a business associate of several officials of the airline.

Katzentine's friend, Alfred Barton, told the subcommittee on legislative oversight Thursday, however, that Katzentine misinterpreted a telephone conversation regarding Moore. Barton said Moore's name came up in the conversation since he is a friend of National Airlines President G. T. Baker. But Barton denied relaying a report that Moore arranged the TV award.

The case now is under review by the Appeals Court, but the FCC asked to have it back for reconsideration on two grounds:

1. "Public charges" — in the House inquiry—that Mack should have disqualified himself from voting in the 4-2 decision in favor of National, since he was closely connected with various parties to the controversy.

2. Some applicants, including the National Airlines subsidiary, Public Service Television, Inc., may have tried to pressure the commission.

Leopold Free After Serving 33 Years

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Nathan Leopold, notorious thrill killer of the '20s, stepped into the world of free men Thursday. Then he headed for what he says he hopes will be a lifetime in obscurity serving his fellow men.

The 53-year-old Leopold walked slowly through the gates of Stateville Penitentiary at 10:05 a.m. (CST). He was free on parole after serving 33 years, 6 months and 2 days for the 1924 killing of 15-year-old Bobby Franks.

In 1924, on the night of Sept. 11, a noisy crowd numbering in the hundreds was on hand when Leopold and Richard Loeb, co-authors of what was called "the crime of the century," were brought to the old Joliet Penitentiary menacled by chains.

Water Carny Vamp Sabrina Signs for Spring Term Rush

Sabrina, the vamp of "Port au Call," 1958 Water Carnival theme, will sign by proxy today to participate in spring term sorority rush.

And who is Sabrina? A white baby duck!

Closing day rush sign up will be held in 338 Student Services.

According to a Water Carnival spokesman, Sabrina is too young to be photographed at this time, but by spring term pictures of the "vamp" will be seen on campus.

Birth announcements report last Monday as Sabrina's birth date.

Her statistics? Three hands high!

The "vamp" will accompany rushees through spring term parties beginning April 8. She is scheduled to appear at the opening rush convo the first day of spring term classes, April 3.

Sabrina will accompany rushees to parties on the following dates: April 8 and 10 (one-hour parties at 7, 8 and 9 p.m.); April 12 and 13 (informal coffee dates from 1-5 p.m.); April 14 (preference dessert at 7 p.m.).

Formal pledging will be April 2.

No decorations, favors or fancy refreshments are permitted for any parties. Sabrina will find informal dress the rule, according to Alice Grout, PanHel spring rush chairman.

Miss Grout has pointed out to Sabrina that she must maintain a 2.0 this term in order to be eligible to rush.

45 Years of Press, President Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everything seemed routine in the nation's capital 45 years ago this week . . . three robbers shot a groceryman and escaped . . . suffrage leaders cried: save this nation! let the woman vote! . . . a despondent fireman cut his throat.

You have to go back to page 6 of the Washington Star to find this headline:

Mr. Wilson Greets
Members of the Press
Appreciates That He Has Been
Kindly Treated By Newspaper Men

Woodrow Wilson admitted he had had his differences with the Press, the 1913 story said. "That sense of injury, however, did not extend to the Press as a whole, which he regarded as the best means at the disposal of a public man to reach the ears of an entire people."

Nowhere was there a hint that this was an historic moment, that on March 15, 1913, the modern presidential news conference was born.

Wilson continued to hold press conferences until World War I. He dropped them because he was afraid the questions might embarrass his administration.

Clinton Rossiter in "The American Presidency" gives this description of Wilson's successors:

"Harding made such a mess of several hot grounders hit in his direction that he changed the rules and required questions to be written out and submitted in advance. Coolidge continued this practice and generally kept the press at arm's length, and Hoover, who also insisted on written questions, held fewer and fewer conferences until finally, as the darkness gathered, he abandoned them altogether."

By now the presidential news conference has become a part of our political life. Franklin Roosevelt held 998, Harry Truman 324 and, so far, Eisenhower has had 128.

What with illnesses and one thing and another, Eisenhower has had a tendency to cut down on their number. In the last year, for example, he has held 24.

But two years ago he gave the most glowing tribute of all to this Presidential custom.

"I think this is a wonderful institution," he said. "While I have seen all sorts of statements that presidents have considered it a bore and it is a necessary chore to go through, it does a lot of things for me personally."

Awesome Twosome Bid Fond Farewell

Well, they come and they go. And over a period of four college years, not the least of the come-and-goers are those who have dedicated themselves to activities other than affairs academic, specifically in this case—to the State News.

We are just such a pair. We've tried at all times (we hope) to act in accordance with the ethical standards of professional journalism in newspaperwork.

If we've failed occasionally, we can rightfully chalk those inadequacies off to the fact that indeed we are not professionals. But we like to bask in the light of a knowledge that we have devoutly tried to be good newspapermen, and that we've succeeded far more often than not.

A college newspaper enjoys certain freedoms a professional paper cannot have for various reasons. Yet paradoxically we are subject to pressures also not foisted upon our professional brothers.

We have sincerely attempted to not take advantage of the freedoms. In a parallel manner we've tried to work with the pressures in mind, occasionally speaking out when those became (to our minds) oppressive or incongruous to our attitudes, the attitudes of a free and responsible press.

We hope we've helped to instill in our successors and those who continue to offer their minds and hours to the State News, that certain "extra something" that makes a devoted newspaperman or woman.

That "something" is a desire to know what makes this sometimes crazy world spin calmly, or more often, eruptedly on its axis.

We have both discovered something which we suspected before starting on this last one. You can't write off three years with one column.

Come to think of it, we don't want to write them off. We'll always remember, because we never want to forget.

We remember the people we've worked for and the people who have worked for us. All the way down the line, they've done a lot for us. We wish we could thank every one of them, but we know that's impossible so you let it go.

This is the last State News of the term with Mel and Dave at the helm. Some students, faculty, administrators and organizations have been waiting for that statement for quite some time.

Most of you, however, have been appreciative of our efforts to keep you an informed group in world as well as campus affairs. You're a praiseworthy body so don't let your critics bog you down with their comments.

And to those who have looked at us through something less than admiring eyes—we also bid a fond goodbye. You have sometimes been right in your criticism and likewise were occasionally shortsighted.

Regardless of who's right or wrong, we've both exercised the right to speak and criticize and praise. That right is inherent in this American society. We hope that none ever forget it or even temporarily lay it aside.

Reserve that privilege and employ it advisedly. But always remember, too, it is your duty to speak when something needs to be said.

But say "something," don't just blab. We hope we've said "something."

Four years at MSU, most of them with the State News, have given us a magnificent education. We appreciate the opportunity. You do the same.

Zoo Tactics Shock Fans

To the Editor:

What is happening to Michigan State University? Is it turning into a jungle full of wild animals without control? Last Saturday we were first in line to be sure of good seats for the Indiana game.

We had a good time until 12:30 p.m. when the mob came. Then as people came and filled in the roped-in area, a fireman tried to show some authority by mashing everyone into a mess as close to the doors as was possible. By 1 p.m. those of us who were up front could not move. We begged the crowd in back of us to move back and relieve the pressure. They laughed and pushed harder.

This "fun" for those in back continued until after 3 p.m. when the doors finally opened. By then tempers were at a peak. In another few minutes a riot would probably have started. Then, like wild animals in a panic, the mass push began. It's a wonder that someone didn't have ribs broken or get seriously hurt.

We would like to know where the so-called campus police were. Were they afraid to come and relieve the pressure and stop someone from getting hurt, or were they over feeding the ducks, a suitable pastime for our big, brave militia?

What's the matter with the Michigan State student body? Is it turning into a snarling jungle of animals, not willing to listen to reason or someone's pleas, and who just doesn't give a damn about anyone else?

Who were they booing at the game's end? Was it the Indiana Hoosiers or their own Spartans? Both played a good game and deserved applause instead of boos.

To those of you who were the offenders mentioned: think it over and grow up. Either that or get the heck out of college—you don't belong here, you belong in a zoo.

S'News Snub

To the Editor:

Since it is the usual policy of the State News to print reviews of events in the Lecture-Concert Series, I feel that it is both unfair and incorrect to print a review of one event to the exclusion of another. I am referring, of course, to the two concerts which were given earlier this term—one by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the other Mantovani.

The amount of column space given to review of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra was precisely "nil," while Mantovani's presence gained both a preview and a review—a total of 36 front page column inches, including two photographs. This is definitely not the unbiased, impartial reporting at which a university newspaper should aim. The fact that so many students enjoy listening to the music of Mantovani does not justify entire neglect of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra which gave just as delightful and well appreciated performance as did Mantovani.

I can only conclude that the State News showed such an abominable lack of interest in the Symphony Orchestra that it failed even to send a representative to hear the performance. I sincerely request that this is not allowed to happen again.

Robin Bowers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Regrettably a last minute circumstance prevented a State News review of the fine Paul Paray performance two weeks ago. We hoped readers would understand our lack of a story was not "discriminatory" or in preference to the next night's showing of Mantovani.)

Glee Club

To the Editor:

In order to avoid some possible misunderstanding by the student body, I would like to explain why the Men's Glee Club did not participate in the Pep Rally Friday night for the basketball team.

The Glee Club is limited to 10 performances per term by the University. This number has already been filled. This might have been waived, however, except for the fact that the group was not asked until Wednesday evening prior to the rally. Naturally, this made it impossible to have a representative group of singers available.

The Glee Club considers it an honor to sing for the Student body and certainly the performance last fall at the football pep rally was to us one of the high points of the fall term. We hope to appear often in the future at such functions, however, we do hope that it is possible to plan such activities far enough in advance that we will be able to accept.

Germany 'Must' on Summit List

Dulles Asks for Deadlock Break

MANILA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Thursday ways must be found to break the deadlock over a summit meeting but he again emphasized that the East-West leaders should discuss Germany and Eastern Europe.

The Soviet Union has rejected any summit discussion of German reunification or the political status of Communist nations in eastern Europe.

Dulles reiterated the U.S. position that in addition to these subjects the conference agenda should include discussion of the use of outer space for peaceful purposes and steps to reduce the threat of nuclear warfare.

He said discussion of the control of other space would in itself be worth a meeting of the East-West heads of government.

"The Soviets seem to be interested in having a conference," the Secretary of State told a news conference. "We are interested in reaching some significant agreement. The value to us of a conference of any kind is a likelihood of reaching some agreement."

Dulles said that "we have got to devise some procedures to break the present impasse."

He spoke after adjournment of a three-day conference of South-east Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) ministers. He met privately during the conference with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

"We arrived at some conditions of our own which we will submit to the NATO council," Dulles said.

He added that after the NATO council acts the conditions then will be submitted to the Soviet Union.

The Secretary met privately with Lloyd and Australian Foreign Minister Robert G. Casey. The subjects of their talk were not disclosed.

The SEATO ministers ended their closed sessions with sharp criticism of governments which they said fail to distinguish between the policies of Communist nations. None of the neutral Asian countries were named.

Student Exhibits To Spark Show

All or any phases of engineering, with students' work on exhibit, will keynote the 1958 Engineering Exposition, Engineering Council publicity chairman Fran Weihl, said Thursday.

Any student may submit an exhibit, preferably one that stresses the application of some engineering principle, Miss Weihl said.

Four divisions will be open for entry in the May 9-10 exposition with prizes awarded. The divisions are: Basic College students, juniors and seniors, societies and groups and an open classification for more expensive displays.

Application, level and extent of knowledge exercised, correlation of exhibit with its purpose and quality of workmanship and execution are standards to be used in judging.

Further information can be obtained from any member of the Engineering Council or the officers of campus engineering societies, Miss Weihl assured.

UB Names Members To '58-59 Committees

Union Board members have been selected for 1958-59, according to Dwight Ebeling, Almont senior; Joni Lysett, Birmingham junior; Jackie Hattner, Detroit sophomore; Marg Harder, Utica freshman; Toni Nissen, Detroit freshman; and Jer[illegible] English, Saginaw junior.

Police Guards Doubled

Havana Student Riot Possibility Stilled

HAVANA (AP)—Threats of Havana University's 1800 students to stage a new anti-government demonstration faded Thursday as police sealed off all assembly areas.

Tension continued in this gun-ruled capital however as rebels circulated rumors a major revolutionary attempt to overthrow President Batista might be made "within 48 hours."

A "state of alert" was maintained in all police, army, navy and air force establishments.

Batista ordered police and armed forces to "crush any disturbance" as soon as it developed.

Police guards were doubled or tripled at all public buildings and military establishments. Machine gunners behind sand bags guarded the presidential palace in the heart of Havana.

Fifty uniformed and plainclothes police guarded the big Roman Catholic cathedral near the University of Havana. Radio cars stocked with machine guns and grenades were stationed at street corners. Police quickly broke up small groups of students wherever they attempted to congregate. They chased away Associated Press photographer Harold Valentine trying to take pictures and ordered him back to his hotel. They arrested his taxi driver.

Leaders of the students' federation said the demonstration might yet be attempted later in the day.

They called upon all Cubans to observe 10 minutes silence starting at 3:40 p.m. in memory of Federation Pres. Jose Antonio Echevarria. He and about 40 others were killed during rebel attacks on the presidential palace a year ago in an attempt to kill or kidnap Batista.

Rigid censorship was enforced preventing publication of any news about continuing waves of bloodshed and violence throughout the island. Batista's suspension of constitutional guarantees Wednesday stripped Cubans of all civil liberties for 45 days.

Informed sources said elections Batista had set for June 1 will have to be postponed possibly until November. The suspension of guarantees prohibits public assembly and therefore rules out pre-election campaigning.

Roman Catholic church prelates met secretly Wednesday night. They were reported seeking a new mediator in attempts to restore peace after failure of the national conciliation commission.

By Tunisian President

Tunisia? France? U. S. Is Given 7 Days to Decide

TUNIS (AP)—President Habib Bourguiba Thursday gave the United States seven days to decide whether to support Tunisia in its dispute with France or see this country turn its back on the West.

He told a nation-wide radio audience events between now and the second anniversary of Tunisian independence, March 20, will determine his attitude.

"We are at the crossroads. We must choose," he said, after reminding Tunisians of his sympathies with the West.

Bourguiba claimed the continued presence of French troops here means "we are not truly free." As a sign of protest, he cancelled celebrations planned for Independence day.

He warned that the Tunisians might have to start their battle for independence from France all over again, but did not say whether he meant by military means.

Since the French bombed what they claimed was an Algerian village base in Tunisia on Feb. 8, Bourguiba has been demanding that French troops quit his country.

The fiery Tunisian earlier told U.S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy and British diplomat Harold Beeley he would not make his regular weekly talk Thursday in order not to hamper their "good offices" mission.

He changed his mind at the last minute, stung into action by what he called French comments on the British-American efforts to ease French-Tunisian quarrels.

Murphy and Beeley did not see any Tunisian officials Thursday.

Bourguiba claimed "French intransigeance" had "brought the good offices to a crisis." He added:

"America must choose a position—if in this situation, where the right path is not in doubt, we do not get enthusiastic support from the United States, exerting pressure on France to follow the path of righteousness, then people will be disillusioned with the oldest and greatest member of the free world.

"If America does not prove to me, to the Tunisian people and to all the other peoples of the world that they have left behind the world of imperialism, then the situation will be vastly changed.

"The 20th of March is the appointment we have given to the free world.

"I hope that on the 20th of March I will be able to say something in the Constituent Assembly which will drive away this gloom."

Former BMOC Returns as Aide

John Wilson, 1953 senior class president and 3-year MSU halfback under "Biggie" Munn, returned to Michigan State recently to work as assistant to Vice President Thomas Hamilton.

Wilson, an alumnus of Sigma Nu fraternity and senior men's honorary Excalibur, spent two years at Oxford University in England as a Rhodes Scholar from the United States.

After attaining an MA degree in English, the student, who excelled both academically and in athletics, returned for a two-year tour of duty with the Air Force as a second lieutenant.

"On the Oregon Trail" won Dan Stillwell, Durham, N.C., first place in the Brody Group photo contest held recently. Robin Bowers, East Lansing freshman, took second and Bruce Scorsone, Saginaw sophomore, third. Entries were judged by the West Shaw Photo Club.

Senate Refuses to Cut Farm Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a slap at Eisenhower Administration farm policies, the Senate voted 50-43 Thursday against allowing cuts in farm price supports this year.

Then by the same numerical margin it refused to pass a second bill freezing supports for dairy products alone. This measure was rejected 50-43.

The first bill, which now goes to the House, would freeze federal supports under most major farm products and crops, including dairy products, at no less than last year's levels.

It also would bar any reduction in acreage allotments below 1957 levels.

Eleven Republicans joined 39 Democrats to oppose the measure. Supporting it were 35 Republicans and 8 Democrats.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who already has announced plans for cutting 1958 supports wheat and dairy products, told a news conference before the Senate voted that President Eisenhower would veto the measure if it ever reached him.

The 50-43 margin by which the general freeze bill failed was well short of the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto.

It was with a veto threat in mind that some dairy state senators tried to pass a separate legislation dealing with their products. They figured Eisenhower might allow a dairy product bill to stand while vetoing the all-inclusive measure.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) opposed the separate dairy plan as a measure that would "split the farm bloc into pieces."

Agreeing, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said the separate dairy freeze might "permit the President to veto the general bill, sign this one, and hold it as the protector of the dairy farmer."

Benson has announced an average wheat support for this year at $1.78 a bushel, or 22 cents less than last year's $2 average.

Benson also has announced reductions in dairy price supports effective April 1. These would still be barred by the general freeze bill if it becomes law.

GM Finishes Going Model Of Monorail

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors engineers are putting finishing touches on an operating model of a superhighway-monorail system to be shown as one of its exhibits at the Brussels Universal and International Exhibition opening April 17.

The system is an engineer-scientist concept of transportation that may be used in the year 2000. It would be a tri-level project. Two top levels would be three-lane electronically controlled highways, one carrying vehicle traffic in each direction.

Beneath the lower highway would be suspended a two-way monorail train system. General Motors engineers envision the the system as traveling "rifle straight," fording rivers and urban areas and tunneling through mountains where necessary.

The contemplated electronic guidance would be an advanced form of the system demonstrated by GM recently in which a car automatically steered itself by following the magnet field of a wire buried in a highway.

The transportation concept will be part of a 15,[illegible] square foot exhibit by GM in the transportation pavilion at the Brussels fair. Also to be shown will be a scale model of General Motors' new 330-acre technical center near Detroit, a 100-ton 1,750 horsepower GM diesel powered locomotive, large earth moving equipment and other General Motors products.

Senator Hits Union For Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) declared Thursday he is convinced the United Auto Workers planned and executed violence in the four-year-old Kohler Co. strike.

Goldwater is a member of the Senate Rackets Committee, which has been trying for weeks to find out whether the company or the union was chiefly responsible for the trouble at Kohler, Wis. The company has a bathtub factory there.

Addressing Donald Rand, administrative assistant to Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, at a committee hearing, Goldwater said:

"I'm getting a bit tired of you representatives of the International Union sitting here and telling us you are innocent."

Rand had just denied that he or the Union was responsible for a dockside outbreak which occurred when the Kohler Co. tried to unload a shipment of clay at Sheboygan, Wis., July 5, 1955.

"I am convinced," the senator told Rand, "that these incidents, these riots, were planned by the union and were executed by the union, no matter what you say."

Goldwater accused Rand of knowing a lot more than he was telling. He said the committee should get at the truth "even if we have to drag every man in Wisconsin down here" to testify.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), presiding at the hearing, commented he didn't think that would be necessary. But he added, "I'm not convinced this big union and all its representatives are so innocent."

As Rand persisted in his denials, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) asked the chairman to send a transcript of the testimony to the Justice Department for a perjury check.

The Kohler strike is still going on but the company has resumed operations and violence which marked the early years of the strike has subsided.

Rand testified that, rather than encouraging disorder at the dockside, he tried to persuade the crowd to go home.

Under questioning by Mundt, he denied he had told Cornelius Buteyn, a Sheboygan contractor, that he would "pull out all the stops" if Buteyn tried to take off the shipload of clay. Buteyn told his story Wednesday.

"Buteyn also testified that you called him . . . a dirty, filthy scab," Mundt told the witness.

"No, I did not say that," Rand replied.

Everyone Doing 'Fine'

5 AF Volunteers 'Orbit' in Hangar

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — From the standpoint of physics, it can't be done, but five Air Force volunteers today are "orbiting" the earth at an altitude of 17,650 miles at a speed of only 7,550 mph.

This does not mean that the mock-up 1136 "spaceship" cabin is "falling." It has remained stationary in a Wright-Patterson Air Force base hangar ever since the pretended space flight started Wednesday morning. The descent from the previously announced 144,000-mile altitude is only a "recalculation" on the part of the Wright Air development center.

The fact that a missile must travel at least 18,000 m.p.h. to stay in orbit means little to the crewmen at the moment, even though they are traveling theoretically less than half that speed.

"As a matter of fact," said an Air Force spokesman, "It doesn't make a darn bit of difference to the guys in the cabin. It only changes our calculations. We figure the craft will pass over Jacksonville at 9:26 Thursday night."

The five airmen are only trying to prove one thing: whether a crew can live together and operate efficiently on a five-day flight in the cramped quarters of a 12 by 7 by 6-foot cabin.

They are most interested in the personal stresses and strains and the possible loss of efficiency involved in the tedious flight.

With more than 30 hours of their 120-hour ordeal past, reports from the hangar are that everyone is "doing fine."

Klan Head Convicted For Riot

Of N. Carolina's Lumbee Indians

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — Preacher James W. Cole, acknowledged grand wizard of North Carolina's Ku Klux Klan, was convicted here Thursday of inciting a riot among Lumbee Indians last Jan. 18.

Judge Clawson L. Williams, a veteran at handling Klan trials, deferred sentencing until Friday. Cole and James W. Martin, another Klan official convicted on the same charge, could get up to two years on the charge, a misdemeanor in North Carolina.

The all male, all white jury deliberated 43 minutes before returning its verdict.

A crowd of 350, predominantly Indians, packed the small court room when the verdict was returned.

Cole, a self-styled minister in the Southern Free Will Baptist church, was indicted on the riot charge after a crowd of Indians broke up a Klan rally near Maxton with gunfire.

The Indians said they became angry after the Klan burned two crosses in front of Indian homes the week before the widely advertised rally. One of the crosses was burned in front of the home of an Indian woman whom the Klan accused of having an affair with a white man. The other cross was burned in front of the home of an Indian family which had moved into a white neighborhood.

Cole, who since has confined his appearances in North Carolina to "Evangelistic meetings," has been free under $1,000 bond. After his conviction Thursday, Judge Williams ordered him taken into custody to await sentencing.

Williams, 71, presided at the trial in Whiteville, N.C., early in 1952 when more than 100 Klansmen either pleaded guilty or were convicted of a series of kidnapings, floggings and other acts which terrorized that area for months.

Judge Williams sentenced the then Klan chieftain Thomas L. Hamilton of Leesville, S.C., to 4 years in prison.

Library Week Starts Sunday

Awakening Americans to the rewards of reading, whether for pleasure or profit, is the aim of the first National Library Week, March 16-22.

In Michigan, in addition to demonstrations and special events planned by civic committees, the MSU Library will sponsor several cooperative county meetings.

This drive for a "better-read, better-informed America" is led by the American Library Association and the National Book Committee Inc., a non-profit organization devoted to wider and wiser use of books. Major communications media supporting the drive include newspapers, magazines, radio and television.

The MSU library is assisting citizens committees and librarians in numerous counties to promote study and understanding of new standards for public library service. Discussion meetings for this purpose have been keyed to Library Week.

'Viewpoint' Airs Space Conditions

Conditions in outer space will be discussed on "Viewpoint" over WKAR Sunday at 2 p.m.

Maj. John Barron will have as his guests science writer Dr. James Stokley, associate professor of journalism, and Dr. Richard Schlegel, professor of physics.

Sun Spurs Style Spree

Geared to resort wear is the modern middy in a new washable celanese-arnel flannel.

In a new celanese blend sharkskin are capri pants printed in vivid flowers.

Southern Resorts Beckon Collegians

Vacationing MSU Students Shed Flannels, Fur Coats

While a large number of MSU students are still sporting wintry red flannels and fur coats, many fortunate coeds and collegians are happily shopping for hot-weather clothes in preparation for winter vacations.

Come the end of next week these lucky individuals will be heading toward the warmer climates of Florida, California, Bermuda and other tropical locations.

This year resort shopping offers plenty of excitement to all State students planning vacations. Innovations in fabrics and fashions for both men and women are vast and varied.

Manufacturers have come up with styles that are even more miraculous than usual, what with new techniques that make travel clothes shed wrinkles, pack into a minute space, wash as easily as a pair of stockings and dry ready to wear with little or no ironing.

In addition to all these practical attributes, travel and resort fashions are gay, bright, stimulating and eye-catching this season just the thing to put one in a high-spirited holiday mood. Colors are vibrant, prints are vivid and splashy and fabrics have that extra-special luxury-like touch.

There's a new arnel triacetate sharkskin that is as crisp and cool as an ice cold tall lemonade, washes like a breeze and doesn't fade. There's another blend of celanese, arnel, triacetate and rayon that has all the appearances of flannel but washes and dries as quickly and easily as nylon.

In men's wear handsome, wrinkle resistant wool jersey is combined with white cabretta leather for some of the neatest-looking shirts and sweaters to appear on the fashion scene in many a moon.

As to the much discussed silhouettes for women the chemise and the middy blouse are tops for practically all occasions except those which require shorts, bermudas, or slacks. In the case of slacks, they're skinnier than ever, and often decorated with wild, colorful prints.

For men, the stylish look is casual, easy and understated — no more blinding printed sports shirts. The conservative look is approved as to color, the wide-shouldered wide-collared Italian look as to cut.

CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world — the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began — across the blazing Argentine pampas, into the ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2½ miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of grades up to 30 percent. Then a plunge to the Pacific at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes — and the engine was never turned off!

*Extra-cost option.

The sure-footed Chevrolet purrs past a road sign that says "danger"—and ahead lies the toughest part of the perilous Andean climb!

Hair Stylist Advocates Short, Sleek Coiffures

Ladies who are hiking their hemlines in tune with current fashions, had better pick up their hair line, says James Caesar, New York hair stylist.

"Shorter skirts," says Caesar, "leave us no alternative but shorter hair to maintain figure proportions. You don't have to adopt a mannish coiffure to meet the style. Hair can be shortly cropped, and still look feminine."

Caesar advises that the bob of the Twenties is an excellent coiffure to adopt, for it complements the short-skirted shift. A short, sleek line that is tailored to suit the face and figure of the wearer is ideal for the purpose, he says.

The first step toward a new bobbed coiffure is proper styling, so be sure you get a good hair shaping when you choose a new style.

Daytime trend is toward softness about the face, achieved by fullness below the cheek or with a hint of curl on the face itself.

Another idea for softening the brief bob effect is with bangs, popular revival of the short-skirted Twenties. But if you choose one of the short cuts, it must be based on a proper permanent wave.

Although the short bob that Caesar advocates requires cutting only three-quarters of an inch more than for a bouffant effect, it will give the silhouette a better line, he says.

"The bouffant hairdo," Caesar says, "makes the head appear larger, and out of proportion to the lines of the new fashions. Women must realize that if they are going to change their dress styles drastically they will also be required to change their hair styles to suit the fashion picture."

Boxers to Bow Out at Madison

Michigan State's boxing team closes out its intercollegiate dual meet history against arch-rival Wisconsin on Saturday at Madison, Wis.

The Spartans will drop boxing after this season.

Both the Spartans and the Badgers will be tuning up for the NCAA tournament scheduled for March 27-29, in Sacramento, Calif. In an earlier match this year, Wisconsin and State fought to a 4-4 draw.

Coach John Brotzmann's top entries will be 178-pound John Horne and heavyweight Tom McNeeley. Horne is undefeated in five bouts and McNeeley sports a 3-1-1 record, with his latest victory coming over Idaho State's Harold Espy, 1957 NCAA heavyweight champion.

Horne will meet Wisconsin's Bill Urban, whom he decisioned 30-24, and McNeeley and Ron Freeman will meet in the heavyweight bout. The two fought to a 29-29 draw in their first encounter.

At 132 pounds, Wisconsin's Ralph Nesbit will try to even things up with State's Harvard Lancour. Lancour decisioned Nesbit last month, 30-28.

Brotzmann will round out his lineup with Joe Koehn, 125; Schneider, Rogers, 139; Stuart Hoover, 147; Bob Epperson, 156; and John Gebart, 165.

Title Chance

By DAVE ROGERS

The Michigan State Swimming team under veteran Coach Charles McCaffree deserves a tremendous hand from the Michigan State students for their successful season.

Spartan tankers, led by such outstanding stars as Billy Steuart, Don Patterson, Frank Modine, Roy Harmon, Wally Dobler, Gordy Fornell and Les Lobaugh, set records all over the place in winning eight dual meets by wide margins. Their loss to Michigan was the only flaw on a perfect record.

The Wolverines have perhaps the nation's best swimming team. This includes all the eastern schools. They should be a shoo-in for the NCAA Championships at Ann Arbor Mar. 27, 28 and 29. However, the Spartans have an outside chance at the title if enough of the eastern and midwestern stars offset the Wolverines' concentrated power.

* * *

LOOKING AT THE NCAA situation from strictly a comparative time viewpoint, it appears as though the balance of the nation's swimming power rests in two schools less than 100 miles apart, Michigan and Michigan State. Perennial top finishers such as Yale and Ohio State have inferior times to the Michigan schools. Individual stars are sprinkled through the east and midwest, but none have the depth of either the Spartans or the Wolverines. It looks to be a two school battle in the National Championships. Last year Michigan was the winner by a close margin over second place Yale and third finisher Michigan State.

The 1957-'58 season marked the last swimming meet to be held in Jenison Pool. Ending on a high note, the Spartans outclassed Wisconsin, 62-43. The swimmers proved their merit by setting a dual meet record in every event, tying an NCAA record and breaking another NCAA mark set by Yale last year by more than two seconds. Don Patterson's [illegible] 100 [illegible] the freestyle relay was phenomenal. This time topped the NCAA championships mark of 49.3.

Frank Modine [illegible] of the NCAA mark of 2:2[illegible] in the 200 yard breaststroke which was set by Big 10 winner Cy Hopkins of Michigan in our dual meet the previous weekend.

* * *

NEXT YEAR the swim team will move into spacious headquarters in the Men's Intramural Building. This pool will rival Michigan's magnificent set-up. With a separate diving tank, our divers can practice more and should improve their quality. The pool should attract more top high school swimmers and the seating capacity will make this tank one of the best in the country.

Perhaps even student interest will increase. The appalling turnout this year is disgraceful for a defending Big 10 title holder. Excuse the constant references to Michigan, but the Ann Arbor pool was filled to capacity when the Spartans met the Wolverines there on Feb. 22. Their pool was jammed with enthusiastic spectators, and they numbered more than three times our largest turnout this year. Spartan fans should take notice of this oversight on their part.

Special compliments should be given Coach McCaffree and his six departing graduates competing in their last collegiate swimming meet at the NCAA's. They will be Co-Captains Wally Dobler and Gordy Fornell, Jerry Garbus, Tom Kwasny, Jim Lanke and Les Lobaugh.

Hoosiers Face Irish At Lexington

Interest will be centered on two "naturals," games involving four of the nation's top-ranking teams, when regional elimination begin tonight at four scattered centers in the National Collegiate (NCAA) Basketball Tournament.

At Lawrence, Kan., Cincinnati, the No. 2 team in the Associated Press final poll, plays Kansas State, Big Eight conference champion and No. 3 in the regular season rankings.

At Charlotte, N.C., Temple, with a 23-game winning streak which is the longest among major basketball teams, goes against Maryland, the giant killer which won the Atlantic Coast conference crown over such teams as North Carolina, North Carolina State and Duke. Temple was No. 5 in the AP poll, Maryland No. 6.

North Carolina won the NCAA crown last year in a triple overtime final against Kansas. Neither North Carolina nor Kansas qualified for the 1958 event.

The two feature games promise interesting individual performances. Temple, an iron man squad which has seen five players carry the brunt of the load all season, is led by All-American Guy Rodgers. Maryland has a deep, well-balanced squad with Nick Davis the ace scorer.

The Cincinnati-Kansas State battle may develop into an individual duel between Oscar Robertson, the nation's leading scorer from Cincinnati, and the talented Bob Boozer of Kansas State.

Seattle, with All-American Elgin Baylor scoring 26 points, beat Wyoming's Skyline Conference champions 88-51 to qualify for a regional spot. Idaho State's Rocky Mountain champions won over Arizona State at Tempe 72-68.

Finals in the regional tournaments will be held Saturday night, with winners qualifying for the semifinals and finals scheduled at Louisville March 21-22.

Here's the schedule:

Eastern at Charlotte, N.C.: Maryland (21-6) vs. Temple (24-2), Manhattan (16-8) vs. Dartmouth (21-4).

Mideast at Lexington, Ky.: Kentucky (19-6) vs. Miami (Ohio) (18-7), Notre Dame (23-4) vs. Indiana (12-10).

Midwest at Lawrence, Kan.: Oklahoma State (20-7) vs. Arkansas (18-8), Kansas State (20-3) vs. Cincinnati (24-2).

Western at San Francisco: Seattle (20-5) vs. San Francisco (25-1), Idaho State (22-4) vs. California (18-8).

'Cold' Hoosier Squad Delayed in Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (P) — A snowstorm closed the Bloomington airport Thursday and Indiana University's Big 10 basketball champions, who planned to take a chartered plane to Lexington, Ky., at 1 p.m. (CST), had to go to the Terre Haute airport by auto.

About 500 missing tickets for the game, shipped from Lexington Tuesday after I.U. fans gobbled up an allotment of 1,900, were located this afternoon on a bus in Chicago. It was too late to bring them back and special tickets were sold to 400 fans who will exchange them at Lexington.

Olympic Winners Entered

Ron Delany Defends Banker's Mile Title in Star-Studded Chicago Relays

CHICAGO (P) — The scene will be different but the race track the same as Ron Delany defends his Banker's Mile title with another world record try in the Chicago Relays tonight.

Five Olympic gold medal winners and six defending champions will compete in the indoor track season's semifinal before a capacity crowd in the International Amphitheater.

Held in the Chicago Stadium the past 18 years, the Chicago Relays return to the Amphitheater where they started in 1937 and were contested through 1941.

However, the same fast board track on which Delany scored a 4:03.8 Banker's Mile victory in the stadium last year has been set up in the Amphitheater, hard by Chicago's stockyards.

This may be Delany's last 1958 chance to crack the current world indoor mile mark of 4:03.4 set by Denmark's Gunnar Nielsen in New York in 1955. Delany makes his final indoor appearance next week in the Cleveland K of C meet. However, in Cleveland Delany would run 12 laps to the mile. Tomorrow night it will be only 11 laps around.

Delany ran his best indoor mile this season, 4:01.7, in the National AAU Championships in Madison Square Garden last month. His Villanova coach, Jim Elliott, pointed out: "That was on an 11-lap track, too. I think Ron won the last quarter in :56."

Ireland's 1,500 meter Olympic champion will have three rivals in the Banker's mile: Burr Grim of the University of Maryland, Jim Beatty, formerly of North Carolina, and Chicago's Phil Coleman.

Delany and Grim had a jostling match in the K of C Games last Saturday in Madison Square Garden as the Irish Dubliner won his third consecutive mile and 25th consecutive indoor victory.

With a lap and a half to go, Grim bumped Delany and knocked him off stride. Delany was forced to drop back and then go around Grim and Coleman. In the process, Delany clipped Grim's heels and the Maryland runner nearly went sprawling.

The other Olympic gold medal winners competing tomorrow night include broad jumper Greg Bell, Glenn Davis, 400 meter hurdles; Charley Jenkins, 400 meter champion, and Ira Murchison, who ran on the victorious U.S. 400 meter relay team.

With no broad jump on the program, Bell will try to dethrone Murchison in the 60 yard dash. Davis competes in the 60 high hurdles while Jenkins defends his 600 yard crown.

Tigers Blast KC 'A's', 8-6

Six Home Runs Belted By Bengals

Rookie Pitcher Receives Credit

LAKELAND, Fla. (P)—The Detroit Tigers, with Bob Shaw turning in six sparkling innings, won a battle of wind-blown home runs from the Kansas City Athletics Thursday by an 8-6 score.

The Tigers hit six home runs, four of them in the third inning when they broke the contest open with six runs, and the A's hit two.

Second baseman Frank Bolling and right fielder Al Kaline each hit a pair of roundtrippers and Lou Skizas and Jim Hegan added the others. Hector Lopez and Woody Held homered for Kansas City.

Shaw, the winter league sensation who is trying to win a job with the Tigers, yielded only three hits and two runs over the first six innings. The only runs off him came in the third inning when Lopez dropped a home run over the left field fence with a man aboard.

Hank Aguirre allowed the other Kansas City runs in the eighth inning. Vic Power drove in two of them with a double and Held accounted for the other two with the eighth home run of the day.

Ralph Terry worked the first three innings for the Athletics and absorbed the loss.

Burdette Inks Contract With Braves

BRADENTON, Fla. (P)—Lew Burdette signed his 1958 contract with the World Champion Milwaukee Braves Thursday, ending a record 17-day holdout, and then took batting practice against his pal and roommate, Warren Spahn.

Burdette, who Preacher Roe once said "would make coffee nervous," received an estimated $35,000, a sizeable increase over his 1957 salary.

Asked if he got what he wanted, the lean 6-2 righthanded pitcher replied:

"If I didn't I wouldn't be here."

It was reported that he had been holding out for $40,000 on the basis of his 17 regular season victories and his 3 complete game World Series triumphs over the New York Yankees last season.

The Braves were said to have offered him $30,000.

The Dishwashers routed Sigma Chi 47-20, to win a well earned All University Basketball Championship Title Thursday night

Dishwashers Top Sigma Chi, 47-20

By BARRY FUTTERSAK

The Dishwashers, representing the independent league, defeated Sigma Chi, fraternity champions, 47-20, to win the All-University Intramural Basketball Championship.

Center Jim Walsh was high scorer for the Dishwashers and the game with 22 points. Teammates Skip Rohe and Jim Donnilin followed him with nine points each.

Ken Winnert, also with nine points, led the Sigma Chi attack.

The Dishwashers were never in trouble as they led throughout the entire game.

Donnilin opened the game's scoring by sinking a foul shot. The score immediately became 3-0 when Rohe swished in a long set.

A tricky pass from Jim Mitchell to Rohe widened the Dishwashers' lead to 10-3.

With less than three minutes remaining in the first half Donnilin netted a long set making the score 22-11.

At halftime the Dishwashers led 28-11 with Walsh, a rebounding specialist, scoring 13 points.

The Sigs could not get going in the second half until Dan Follis sank a set. However, the top-notch shooting and rebounding of Walsh and Co. put the score at 40-17 with two minutes remaining to play in the game.

Play ended with the Sigs down by 27 points.

Starting the game for the champion Dishwashers were Jim Mitchell, Dick Rohe, Skip Rohe, Jim Donnilin and Jim Walsh.

Ed Kay, Dan Follis, Dale Holland, Ken Winnert and Bob Gemmund began for Sigma Chi.

The Dishwashers swept past West Shaw Tuesday night 33-15. Their other victories were over the Saints, Vikes and Skulls.

Sigma Chi topped Alpha Kappa Psi to win the Fraternity championship. They rolled by E. Shaw 44-36 on Tuesday night to gain entrance to the finals.

A trophy was presented to the victorious Dishwashers at the conclusion of the game to proclaim them as All-University intramural champions.

Thinclads In Chicago Relays

Coach Karl Schlademan will take five Spartan runners to the Chicago Daily News Relays tonight at the International Amphitheater in the Windy City.

Entered in the one-mile and two-mile relays is the foursome of Bob Hughes, Dave Lean, Willie Atterberry and Brian Castle. A fifth entrant is Crawford Kennedy, who will go in the two-mile run.

In last weekend's Big 10 meet at Champaign, the MSU mile relay team set a new varsity mark with a 3:18.4 effort but was only fourth in a great race behind Ohio State, Indiana and Purdue.

Kennedy ran the best mile of his career in the Big 10 meet, being clocked in 4:11.8. But it was good only for fifth place in a closely bunched finish which saw Iowa's Charles Jones win with a time of 4:10.5.

Skaters Vie In Ice Arena

Mrs. Jeanne (Robinson) Omelenchuk, Detroit, who succeeded Barbara Marchetti in the affection of Michigan's ice racing fans, will be defending her Senior A title in the state indoor championship meet in MSU's ice rink Saturday.

She has won the following outdoor titles this season: the National at St. Paul, Minn., and the North American at West Allis, Wisc., and finished second in the indoor meets for the same territorial crowns.

Saturday she will be seeking to annex her third successive Michigan indoors championship. She already holds the outdoor title which she won last year in Alpena and still claims because of no competition this year.

Jeanne is a "school marm" while not skating, being an art instructor in Columbus School, Detroit.

She also is a good bicycle racer, having won the U.S. title on two different occasions.

MSU's Mike Carey will also compete in the Michigan indoor speed skating championships. He will enter the one-quarter mile, one-half mile, three-quarter mile, mile and two mile.

Carey now holds the state record for three-quarter mile.

Preliminaries start at 6 p.m. Saturday and the finals are slated for 8 p.m. One $.75 ticket admits to both sessions.

The meet is being sponsored by the intramural program committee.

The Big Fight

By LARRY GUSTIN
State News Sports Editor

PERHAPS THE BIGGEST FIGHT of the year—and perhaps the biggest fiasco—takes place March 25 in Chicago. Sugar Ray Robinson, who has never been beaten twice by the same man, takes on Carmen Basilio in a do-or-die attempt to regain his middleweight crown.

Their first fight, one of the best in years, was indecisive. Basilio scored heavily in the eleventh round, but Robinson nearly kayoed his man in the twelfth. When it was all over, Basilio had the nod of the officials and a slim majority of the sportswriters at ringside.

It is hard to predict what will happen this time. Sugar Ray could make a stunning comeback as he did against Gene Fullmer, but, considering his age, he may suffer an early knockout, putting an inglorious end to his fabulous career.

I don't think the latter will happen. Robinson is a man of pride, and, as always, will go all out to win. Basilio may now be the tougher fighter, but he will need all his power to win again.

There will be no home television for the bout and tickets are scaled from $40 for ringside, down to $5.

Sugar Ray Robinson trains for fight.

If Robinson defeats Basilio, it will be the fifth time he has won the 160-pound crown. In 1951, he moved up from the welterweight title to gain a TKO over Jake LaMotta in 13. He lost the championship to Randy Turpin by decision in London, then knocked out Turpin in 10 in a return. After he collapsed from heat prostration in his almost successful bid for the light heavyweight crown, Robinson retired.

He made a successful comeback two years later, knocking out Bobo Olson in two rounds to regain the title. After losing to Fullmer, Robinson scored a surprise knockout in the fifth round of a return. Then he lost to Basilio.

THE STATE NEWS will send a delegation to the bout of Pete Alters and myself and there will be a roundup of sidelights on the fight at the beginning of next term.

Spartan Gymnasts To Compete in Finals

By KATY REID

After setting this season's record at 7 wins and 3 losses the Spartan gymnasts are now looking forward to the important Big 10 championship meet to be held March 28 and 29, at the University of Iowa.

Last year the Spartans placed third in the Big 10 meet. They were beaten by Michigan and Illinois, and Iowa was in fourth place, behind the Spartans by only half a point. Michigan, Illinois and Iowa are the only teams that have beaten the Spartans this season.

Entering the competition this year for the Spartans will be sophomores Dick Becker, junior all-around champion of the American Turners in 1955, Cal Girard, seventh highest individual scorer in the 1957 Big 10 meet and high bar specialist Stan Tarshis, who is the Junior National AAU champion.

Also competing will be Jim Cook, Captain Russ Paul and Angie Festa who is, according to Coach Szypula, one of the top all-around men in the Big 10. Other potential point gatherers for the Spartans will be Tom Temple, Roger Tonoli, Tom Wertheimer and George Hopely.

Commenting on the team and their opposition in the Big 10 meet Szypula said: "We've got a couple of possibilities for the title with Becker in free exercise and Tarshis on high bar."

"Girard and Festa should be among the first three in some events. Our biggest strength seems to lie in the parallel and high bar events. We're counting on scoring a lot of points on these two events."

"With the way the teams are stacked up it should be a very close fight to determine the winner. Any one of the four teams (Michigan State, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa) with a hot day could win."

Boston Puckster Injured Thursday

BOSTON (P)—Boston right winger Jerry Toppazzini suffered an injury to his right eye tonight in the first period of the Bruins' National Hockey League game with Montreal at the Garden.

Toppazzini, a high scorer with 24 goals and 24 assists and Boston's top penalty killer with Fleming Mackell, was taken to the Massachusetts eye and ear infirmary.
