'Chivalry Is Dead? Take Another Look'

WETHINKS THE LADY doth protest too much. And Turnabout Week, beginning today, should prove our point. In direct language, the oft-heard coed complaint that "chivalry is dead" on this campus may have some basis. But the reason, we think, is rooted not so much in male boorishness as in the indifference of the fairer sex.

For chivalry to flourish, there must also exist a receptivity to it. The female of the species has to acknowledge the set of savor-faire—the opened door, the dropped handkerchief retrieved—else its expression may slowly fade away.

We suspect that this may be the state of things today. The upturned nose, the tightly-pursed lips, the expressionless eyes—each discourage the would-be knight-errant. Forsooth, coeds, chivalry is not something to be taken for granted.

This is why we see in Turnabout Week, culminating in the Spinster Spin, a chance to set the record straight. For one week, both sexes willing, will be treated to what Sherman called "the very pineapple of politeness."

But in setting the record straight, we'll be hearing it from the flip side—males will be receiving the favors, the females granting same. Aside from the novelty involved, however, the next few days could introduce a trend bordering on the revolutionary. And we'd just as soon see it coming about.

We contend that the best means of renewing the common courtesy is to "turn-about" with a vengeance. Don't play the game half-way, coeds. Chivalrize all the way and maybe a little bit beyond. Show the male you mean business.

Frustrated by unwarranted gallantry in the past, the females, we promise, will not only play along with Turnabout Week gestures, but will requit them with a gusto once they again assume their proper relationship.

And this brings us back to the beginning. Once you have made gentlemen of them, coeds, keep them that way. A simple smile or a "thank you" will do the trick quite nicely.

Again we say this business of politeness is a reciprocal venture—something given in anticipation of something given. Neither party enjoys being short-changed.

The secret of chivalry is enthusiasm. It's a game which can be a lot of fun—and especially when its players master the simple skill of appreciating their opposite's efforts.

'Curve' Question Raised Again

To the Editor

Although I do not wish to necessarily prolong this discussion, the "curve" and its effects on the degradation of our society's standards, I believe Mr. Laognata's opinions as expressed in his letter of Feb. 18 warrant some comment.

First, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Second, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata has not realized the gravity of his misinterpretation of the student body. I, of course, don't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Third, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Fourth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Fifth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Sixth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Seventh, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Eighth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Ninth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Tenth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Eleventh, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Twelfth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Thirteenth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Fourteenth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Fifteenth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Sixteenth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Seventeenth, let me say that it is unfortunate that Mr. Laognata's misinterpretation of my categorization of the student body, i.e., of course, doesn't mean to imply that the only serious students are those with "A" averages and with extrinsic high interest and enthusiasm in all their courses.

Eyewitnesses Tell Of Potsdam Trips

Dispute Over New Passes Caused by Name Changes

BERLIN (AP)—Eyewitnesses said Sunday American, British and French soldiers and officers still travel to and from the western missions in Potsdam, East Germany. The informants were unable to say what sort of passes the men were using.

Western officials in Berlin declined comment. One allied source hinted the travelers may be using temporary passes, but there was no official confirmation of this.

Officials said questions about the Potsdam missions could only be answered in Washington, London and Paris.

Western officials have reported their military liaison missions in Potsdam, a few miles outside Berlin in East Germany, have been halted since Feb. 4 because of a dispute over passes. Formerly, traffic to the missions was authorized by the Soviet military commander in East Germany, who issued passes for travel through the Soviet zone of Germany."

New passes issued Feb. 4 were for travel in the "German Democratic Republic"—Communist East Germany.

The three western powers concluded use of the passes would be a form of legal recognition of the East German regime and formally protested to the Soviet commander Friday that the new passes were unacceptable.

The situation came to a forelast Thursday when western officials said mission personnel was staying at the posts in Potsdam rather than use the passes. Personnel absent from Potsdam at the time the passes became effective stayed away, officials said.

Some reports said about 30 western soldiers are in Potsdam. But a West German newsman said Sunday the total is 65-34 Britons, 17 Americans and 14 Frenchmen.

The eyewitness who reported travel was still going on said: "Allied military vehicles have been traveling regularly back and forth to Potsdam since then (Feb. 4). It is true traffic has decreased, but it is still going on."

"The last American vehicle went Saturday at 3 p.m. The last French vehicle went at 10 a.m. Sunday."

The informant said British traffic was continuing, too, although he was unable to give the time of departure of the last British car.

The issue over passes has been interpreted as a sort of test case over Berlin—an issue that may dominate the east-west summit meeting in Paris next May.

The western powers refuse to have any official dealings with the East German government because they maintain the Soviet Union, as one of the conquerors of Germany, is the only legal authority in East Germany.

The missions at Potsdam were set up under four-power occupation agreements to maintain liaison with the Soviet occupying army. The Russians have similar liaison missions in each of the three western zones.

Western informants have said the dispute over passes could lead to closing down these missions. From the western point of view the missions have some value in checking on what goes on behind the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet memorandum of Jan. 13, released in Bonn last week, revived another angle of the German issue. It renewed the threat to sign a separate peace

Seniors of the Week

... GINGER JOHNSON ...

Virginia Johnson, Midland senior, has run the gamut of campus activities from the Swedish gym team to Student Congress.

The newspaper claimed the possibility of a war over Berlin was "greater Sunday than ever before."

It made the statement in connection with its allegation that West Germany has a plan for conquering East Germany with a 24-hour blitz.

Nazi Group Linked With Ku Klux Klan

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Australian police announced today that a secret Nazi underground group recently uncovered here had close links with the Ku Klux Klan of the United States and an international Fascist movement with headquarters in Sweden. Three leaders of the group were arrested on charge of neo-Nazi activities.

A police spokesman said large quantities of anti-Semitic propaganda material seized during a police raid on a Vienna printing plant had been shipped to Austria from the United States and Sweden.

Part of the material—anti-Semitic pamphlets, drawings and posters—bore the inscription "Ku Klux Klan of America," the spokesman said. Some were marked "printed by the White Brotherhood," an alleged European branch of the Klan.

Other books and pamphlets were printed in Malmö, Sweden, by the Fascist "social European movement," the spokesman said.

He said the Austrian underground group served as cover-up for six outlawed Nazi organizations. Its members communicated through a secret code.

QUESTION:

How can safety glasses help protect me from penetrating flying objects which come at me from the side?

ANSWER:

Protective side shields must be worn to repel flying objects from getting under or inside the lenses. Where the danger of flying particles is prevalent the shop usually installs that protective eye-wear must include side shields. It is difficult to enforce the wearing of side shields (ask any safety director) but none the less vitally important in a proper program of protective eye-wear.

QUESTION:

How long have contact lenses been fitted in the United States?

ANSWER:

For approximately 30 years. However, the manufacture and use of contact lenses has increased tremendously in the last 15 to 20 years.

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

Dr. Frood, Ph.D.

Dear Dr. Frood: Would you please explain Einstein's theory of relativity in simple terms.

—Physics Major

Dear Physics: Gladly. It is a theory. It is about relativity. It was thought up by a man named Einstein.

—Friendless

Dear Dr. Frood: I wear button-down shirts. I wear grey flannel trousers. I wear fine tweed jackets. I wear British-made shoes. I wear thin striped ties. But still I have no friends. Why?

—Friendless

Dear Dr. Frood: My sociology Professor says parents should be held responsible for juvenile delinquency. Do you agree?

—Sociology Major

Dear Dr. Frood: Only if they are very young.

—Friendless

Dear Dr. Frood: Very soon the major corporations will be scouting the colleges for capable seniors. They'll be offering fabulous salaries, big titles, golden opportunities. Whom should I work for to guarantee myself a secure future and top income?

—Capable

Dear Capable: Dad.

Dear Dr. Frood: Recently I saw this slogan for Lucky Strike: "Remember how great cigarettes used to taste?" Luckies still do. I wonder if the Lucky Strike people realize there is a most serious obfuscation here. The modifier is awkward. Does "great" modify "taste"? Or does "great" modify "cigarettes"?

—English Professor

Dear English: You can answer that one yourself. Simply put a match to a Lucky Strike and puff.

—609 609 609

Dear Dr. Frood: For many months I have worked nights in the lab, developing the formula that I am convinced will make possible the perfect crime. It is a deadly poison that works externally, rather than internally. To test my formula, I have placed a large amount of the poison on this letter that you are now holding in your hands. Sorry it had to be you, old man.

—Wolfgang

Dear Wolfgang: My secretary received your letter. Now that there is no one to care for them, I'm sending you 14 cats.

Ohio State Nips Spartan Tankers, Winning Close Decisions, 57-48BY SUZETTE RAMSEY

Michigan State swimmer's came heartbreakingly close to Ohio State Saturday, but were beaten by the Buckeyes, 57-48.

After gaining eight quick points in diving through the efforts of champions Capt. Sam Hall and Tom Gomis, the Bucks took the slight margin from State and didn't relinquish it.

But it wasn't until the second to the last event, when Tom Kovacs beat Denny Ruppert and Frank Modine in the breaststroke, that Ohio State completely sewed up the meet.

The Spartans swam hard in the last race, the 400-yard freestyle relay, but lost it by a hair. If they had won, the score difference would have been only one point.

The crowd was treated to a number of close, exciting races. Dag Convis, despite two false starts, burst out in the 50-yard freestyle for a Spartan win.

Carl Shaar, ahead until the last length, was on the short end of a close decision, as OSU's Artie Wolfe cracked the dual meet record to win.

MSU's Dave Dige built up a lead over double winner Kovacs in the individual medley, then lost it in the breaststroke lap, and placed second.

Dick Brackett won his two lead races, the 220 and 440-yard freestyles. Chauncey Johnson followed him in the 440, almost overtaking Brackett.

One of the five new dual meet records broken was attributed to MSU. The 400-yard medley relay team of Ron Gage, Denny Ruppert, Carl Shaar and Larry Jones altered the old 3:54.0 mark to 3:49.0. The other records in individual medley, butterfly, backstroke, and breaststroke went to OSU.

Summary of Spartan scorers:
400-yd. medley relay: 1. MSU (Ron Gage, Denny Ruppert, Carl Shaar, Larry Jones). Time — 3:49.0. Dual meet record.

220-yd. freestyle: 1. Dick Brackett. Time: 2:08.5.

50-yd. freestyle: 1. Dan Convis. Time: 23.5.

Spartans Barely Miss Upset, Lose to Ohio State, 84-83

By KEN ROSS

Michigan State threw a scare into the mighty Buckeyes of Ohio State before falling to its tall visitors from Columbus, 84-83, before a jam-packed crowd of 12,500 at Jenison Fieldhouse Saturday night.

The win assured the Buckeyes at least a tie for the Big 10 title, leaving into East Lansing a 10-game conference winning streak. Ohio State was held until the final buzzer by Fordy Anderson's scrappy crew, who exchanged hands 10 times during the game and Ohio State didn't go ahead to stay in the 438 mark in the last 19 seconds after Jerry Lucas, who led the Buckeyes with 28 points, had a tip in at that point to the Bucks ahead 76-75.

Both teams scored 35 field goals each (Ohio State cashed in on 14 of 20 free throws while State hit on 13 of 15).

Both teams scored 38 points in the last half after OSU had taken a 46-45 halftime lead. The Bucks hit on 60 percent of their field goal attempts in that first half, 21 of 35, while State hit on 20 of 30 for a 50 percent mark.

State kept up their shooting average in the last half to wind up with the 40 percent mark while the Buckeyes slipped to 49 percent.

MSU, the Big 10 rebounding leaders, outrebounded Ohio State as a team, 30 to 46.

State's entire starting five scored in double figures. Walker led the pack with 23, followed by Olson with 19, John Young with 17, Dave Fahl with 13 and Art Schwarm with 11. Thirteen of Young's points came in the second half.

Lucas' 28 points was high for OSU but Mel Novell added 19, Joe Roberts, 16, and Larry Siegfried, 11.

Coach Fordy Anderson takes his cagers to Northwestern tonight to try to score some of the "pain" encountered in Saturday night's heartbreaking one-point loss to Ohio State.

State will be trying to climb back up to the 500 mark in conference play as they stand 3-6 after Saturday's loss.

Northwestern is now at 31 points after losing to Purdue, 15-10, Saturday night. Their Big 10 record is now 3-3.

The Wildcats' overall record now stands at 8-11.

Northwestern's leading scorer is Willie Jones who has been averaging 18.1 points per game for the ending season. Two other Wildcats are averaging better than 10 points per game. They are Chuck Brandi with an 11.8 mark and Floyd Campbell, close behind with an 11.6 mark.

State's leading scorer is Harlan Walker with a 22.4 average for all games. Lance Olson carries an 18.7 average and Dave Fahl has been averaging 12.1 points a game. The game will be aired by WKAR-AM WILS, and WJIM, starting at 8 p.m. East Lansing time.

Montreal Tops Red Wings, 6-3

DETROIT (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens whizzed in three and a 51-second span in the first period Sunday night for a 6-3 NHL triumph over Detroit Red Wings.

James (The Rocket) Richard and Guy Lafleur each scored a goal, and each had a hand in the stirring comeback for a standing room crowd of 14,600 buzzing with excitement.

The three killed off Detroit's hopes of ending the Canadiens' long unbeaten streak on home ice. Not since Jan. 23, 1958, have the Red Wings beaten Montreal here.

Red victory snapped a four-game losing string for the mid-Canadiens, who were about the services of Jean Beliveau and Dickie Moore.

Montreal rocked rookie goalie Dennis Riggan with 32 goals and would have scored many more goals except for dazzling saves by the 23-year-old substitute.

Marked by Alex Delvecchio's goal, Detroit held a 3-2 advantage in the early stages of the period.

Richard started the bombing sealing the puck and rifling a 21-footer. Twenty-eight seconds later Don Marshall deflected a shot at the goal mouth. Only 23 more seconds elapsed before Claude Provost scored on Lafleur.

Richard wound up the scoring with a power play goal.

Michigan State's defense sags in the first half, but comes back in the second half to win the game.

Defense Sags

Pucksters Clobbered: Gophers Roll, 5-0; 10-2

Michigan State's hockey team returned from Minnesota late Sunday afternoon after experiencing the worst of everything the game can offer. The Spartans, in dropping their final road games to Minnesota, 5-0 and 10-2, have failed to win on foreign ice this year.

State's defense sags in the third shut-out of the season Friday night as the Gophers won going away, 5-0. MSU coach Amo Bessone said, "They beat us right, but I seemed that all the post-game talk was about our own Eldon VanSlypens. Although we were beaten both nights, everyone thought he was truly sensational skating event."

Whether the Spartan pessimism was "sensational" or not is hard to tell, because it has been a known fact all year long that the 180-pound senior has not been able to depend upon the defensemen in front of him. VanSlypens has found that just about all the defensive responsibility has been placed in his hands both on the road as well as at home.

Minnesota broke up a fairly tight Saturday night game with a barrage of scores in the last five minutes of the game. Trailing, 3-2, the Spartans had a double penalty called and two men went to the box. In a minute and a half, the Gophers scored three times to sew up their sixth conference win.

Bessone said, "Again I thought experienced an awfully lot of bad breaks, such as hitting the net post six times and missing scores."

The Spartans will find the going quite a bit tougher this weekend when they play hosts to Denver's Pioneers Friday and Saturday nights. Denver, fighting its way to the WCHA lead with Michigan Tech, is termed by Bessone as "simply the finest collegiate-hockey team in the country."

Wrestlers Upset Iowa

Michigan State's wrestling team pulled their biggest upset of the season Saturday at Iowa when they handed the Hawkeyes their second Big 10 loss, 18-9.

Senior 157 pounder Bob Moser remained one of the three MSU grapplers who are still undefeated as he outmaneuvered Joe Mullins of Iowa for a 4-3 decision.

Mike Senzig, of Michigan State, returned to the winner's circle after a two-meet drought by decisioning Iowa's Calvin Roulson, 7-3, in the 177 pound event.

In the opening division, 123 pounds, the Spartans' George Hobbs was held by M. Barnhill to a 6-6 standstill.

Besides Hobbs' tie, and Young's 130 pound even decision against Kelly, one of Iowa's best grapplers, and a winning 4-3 performance by the sophomore James over the Hawkeyes' Dennis Lucey.

Whifert, who like James was making only his second start this year, suffered the Spartans' only loss in the meet.

Schlitter, however, kept his winning streak in tact by shutting out his Iowa opponent, Bob Walston, 4-0.

To Meet Communism

Khrushchev Invites Students From Indonesia To USSR

JOGJA KARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Nikita Khrushchev Sunday invited cheering Indonesian students to visit the Soviet Union and "feel and taste" communism.

About 3,000 university students in this cultural center of Java mobbed the visiting Soviet premier at the finish, ignoring his host, President Sukarno.

Neutralist Sukarno did not appear to enjoy the performance of his guest, who mixed his praise of communism and Soviet science with scathing denunciation of capitalism.

President Sukarno sat grim-faced a few feet behind Khrushchev on the stage at Gadjah Mada University, fanning himself tamely in the heat. He never smiled.

Sukarno had an unpleasant time with Khrushchev a short time before at an exhibition of the pride of Indonesian art—beautiful hand-painted cloth and finely worked Jayavanes silver. Escorting Khrushchev around a table laden with colorful batik cloth, Sukarno asked the premier: "Which would you like?"

"I don't like anything. I don't like anything," Khrushchev said then added, as an afterthought: "the workmanship is good."

Sukarno, a lover of the arts, tried to explain the intricate hand work in the exhibit.

"They represent a hygiene day, an era that is past," Khrushchev said. "They cost too much, not only in price but in human life. If we go on like this there will be no progress. Life will be very expensive. Machines, machines are what you need."

Once he relaxed and posed with a broad grin for photographers in a soring Sukarno wrapped around his waist. He whispered to his host: "Don't you wear pants under these things?"

Looking grim and hot, Khrushchev later walked out before the end of a ceremony at the heroes cemetery at nearby Semarang, where he laid a wreath.

But his face lit up and he raised his arms in a boxer's sign of victory when he marched down a crowded aisle to the cheers of the students at the university. Khrushchev stood with feet planted squarely, his face sober.

and expressionless, as an interpreter read his prepared speech.

Then as the speech ended, he stepped to the microphone, raised his right fist, and exclaimed: "Why don't you come to the Soviet Union and see for yourselves what life is really like there and how we live?"

His voice rising higher and higher, Khrushchev declared that socialism is so bad, why is there a Soviet rocket on the moon? Why not one of the so-called free people?"

The students cheered loudly.

"The system which gives more to the people will win in the end and the other system, the capitalist system, must die and give way to communism," Khrushchev said, then added in a smiling aside:

"I mean the capitalist system must die, not the people under capitalism. They will just turn to socialism and start to grow and blossom."

As Khrushchev began walking out of the auditorium, students jumped over benches to shake his hand. Sukarno was lost in the crowd until Khrushchev pushed his way back to him.

Communism is strong in Jakarta but only a small crowd was at the airport to see him arrive with Sukarno from Bandung. About 20,000 to 30,000 Indonesians lined the route into the city.
