Seek Easier Off-Campus Housing Rules

Fund Lack Hurts

MSU Hampered In Science Program

Failure by the state legislature to grant adequate funds is hampering the university's ability to set up a top science program and may eventually affect Michigan industry, according to two top school officials.

Philip J. May, MSU treasurer, said salaries, facilities and equipment are the factors in attracting a top science staff to any institution. He said that while other Big Ten schools received large state legislature grants, MSU did not.

"WE ARE competing with industry and other institutions," said May, "but we're standing still and the others are going ahead, and the long range effect here can be bad."

Richard U. Byerrum, ass't. provost, said industry needs top scientists, and very often they are located in universities; if a school cannot provide adequate facilities, both the university and industry are going to come out second best.

THIS WOULD be bad for the state of Michigan, which has been made famous because of its "hard" industries.

MSU is outstanding in the biological sciences and could be very great in this area, but it is not able to expand programs as rapidly as possible because of the lack of funds, space and equipment, he said.

HE ADDED that the University's position on the pay scale is about at the mid-point compared to other Big Ten schools. According to May, it is hard to keep good men once they do come to Michigan State.

Byerrum said, "we raised salaries at the expense of cutting out some programs last year, and we will probably have to do it again this year."

IF THE University was assured of the necessary funds, it would probably begin immediate work on a medical school and a desperately needed chemistry building, he said.

Many new buildings are going up, but not all are in the academic field.

Grants from industry and the federal government could fill in the gap left by the state's failure to grant funds, Byerrum said.

Kennedy OK's New Atom Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy gave the go-ahead yesterday for a long-planned underground nuclear explosion in the salt beds of New Mexico to launch a new search for peaceful uses of atomic power.

The pioneer explosion, about 25 miles southeast of Carlsbad, probably will take place during the second week of December, the Atomic Energy Commission said. It will be in a salt shaft, some 1,200 feet below the surface, that cost about $1 million to dig over the past year.

The total cost of the test was put at $5.5 million.

The power of the explosion, the AEC said, will be 5 kilotons—equal to the power of 5,000 tons of TNT and about one-fourth that of the atomic bombs dropped on Japan in World War II. Originally, the AEC had planned a 10-kiloton shot.

Although only this single explosion was approved by the President, it is expected to provide guideposts for a myriad of other proposals for peaceful uses of the atom—some in advanced stages, others merely dreams.

The White House said the test will be stripped of all mystery—that scientists of all interested UN members, including Russia, will be permitted to be on hand.

However, an AEC spokesman pointed out that the explosion cannot be seen although there will be a vast array of scientific instruments above ground to measure the effects of the blast.

Birmingham; Judy Roff, Maplewood, N.J.; Jan Hoffmeyer, Lansing; Lorelie Hoxie, Armada, Mich.; Marty Brink, Holland; Susie Adams, Williamston, Mich.; and Mary Wolz, Chicago.

Apportionment Bill Offered by Dems

LANSING (AP)—Six Democratic delegates Wednesday submitted the first legislative apportionment plan to the Constitutional Convention.

The proposal informally touched off what is certain to be one of the hottest disputes at the convention. Democrats have set reapportionment of the legislature as one of their top goals.

The sponsoring group, all from the Detroit area, proposed to allocate to each member of the House of Representatives votes equal to the combined vote cast for his office at the last election.

The voting power of each representative thus would be altered after each biennial convention.

If two representatives were elected from a single district, each would cast a number of votes equal to half the combined votes cast for the two positions.

Chief sponsors of the measure are Tom Downs, D-Detroit, a convention vice president, and William C. Marshall, D-Taylor, Michigan AFL-CIO vice president.

Downs describes the plan as the "most equitable we can think of."

He said the same group offer a similar apportionment

Sandburg Talks Of Kennedy, Ike, Mr. K.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Poet Carl Sandburg—he of the white hair and 84 years—spoke his mind to reporters today.

President Kennedy—"chances are entirely he's going to rate as one of the great Presidents . . . He's a great relief from the press conferences of Dwight David Eisenhower."

Former President Eisenhower—"The most ungrammatical President we've ever had . . . He has yet to know the people of the United States."

WORRY ABOUT radiation fallout?—"I'm 84, I've had my life. What do I care? . . . There are those I love . . . I worry about fallout for them, but for myself, I've had enough fun."

Sandburg expounded with hearty enjoyment, chuckling at times and stopping once to remark that "this is the craziest press conference."

He had been to see President Kennedy, had lunch with Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall and then went to the Library of Congress for the press preview of the library's centennial exhibition of the American Civil War.

HE HAD criticism for Eisenhower

Congress Asks Cut In Age Limit

By LINDA LOTRIDGE
Of the State News Staff

Student Congress Wednesday night passed a resolution urging the University to change the present regulations governing off-campus housing.

The resolution, reported out to Congress by the Student Well-Students 21 and older should be fare Committee, states that permitted to live anywhere they wish.

Also included in the resolution is a clause stating that male students who are not 21 male students who are not yet 21 and who are not otherwise required to live in the residence halls, may, with parental approval, live in unapproved and unsupervised housing.

Robert Hencken, Huntington Woods, sophomore and chairman of the Welfare Committee, said that the resolution is one of the most outstanding pieces of legislation Congress has passed in recent years.

He added that Student Congress is anxious to work with University officials in the future on housing problems.

A report was brought out by the committee on the present housing situation at the University.

This report stated that the rules of MSU, which is an organ of the state, should be consistent with the laws of Michigan.

"In Michigan, a person is legally an adult when he reaches the age of 21. At this time he assumes all the responsibility of a member of our society," the report stated.

The committee said that admittance to the University should not include a forfeiture of these rights.

A resolution to create a temporary Commission on Student Rights was introduced at Wednesday's meeting by Terry Myers, Indianapolis, Ind., junior.

The resolution, which was referred to the Congress Business and Organizations Committee, called for a commission to be set up consisting of representatives from various student organizations. These representatives

Rebel Prof Is Provost Lecturer

The Provost's lecture series will feature Dr. Kermit Eby, University of Chicago professor, at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Kiva.

Eby is referred to by contemporary thinkers as one of the few remaining great radicals and has a highly diversified background ranging from minister to author.

He is best known for his prediction in the mid-1940's that the primary international struggle of this decade would be between the U.S. and communism.

THIS PREDICTION was made while the Russian communists were still allies of the U.S.

Eby will also be the guest of honor at a coffee hour in the Honors College lounge at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Author of "The God in You" and "Paradoxes of Democracy," Eby was once the principal of Ann Arbor high school.

He has also been the assistant director of education for the CIO, has served on the National Commission for UNESCO and the National Commission for Reorganization of Education in Japan.

Dates Set For Bicycle License

The East Lansing police will be licensing bicycles all day Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 30 and 31.

The licenses cost 50 cents and are available at police headquarters on Abbott Road. Normal licensing times are Saturdays except for home football game weekends.

Bomb Cloud Coming

WASHINGTON (AP)—A giant radioactive cloud spawned by Russia's massive superbomb explosion raced across the Pacific at speeds up to 80 miles an hour Wednesday night—headed for the Aleutian Islands. It is expected there late Thursday and over Alaska or western Canada late Friday.

Bearing only a small part of the total fallout debris, the cloud crossed northern Manchuria, southeast Siberia and possibly brushed northern Japan in a 2,000-mile west-to-east swing during the day.

The Kamchatka peninsula, another part of Siberia, also lay directly in its indicated path.

THIS WAS THE picture sketched in Wednesday by atmospheric radiation experts of the U. S. weather bureau.

They explained that the radioactivity pushing toward the Aleutians is in the high altitude portion of the debris hurled aloft by the 30 to 50 megaton blast touched off by the Russians in the Arctic Monday.

IT IS SOARING at about 30,000 feet and mixing somewhat with the lower atmosphere as it travels.

Slower moving lower-level components of the cloud, which disperses over a wider area than the higher level section, may not pass over Japan until later. The weather bureau said this explains a report from Tokyo that scientists there warned all Japanese against the possible arrival of fallout Friday or Saturday.

THE SOVIET UNION has probably already received its first dousing of radioactivity. Dr. Robert List, weather bureau scientist, reported snowfall over a large area south and east of the Soviet bomb test site presumably brought down some of the radioactive material faster than otherwise would have happened.

In any event the radioactivity borne by the cloud involves only a small initial portion of what will eventually come down. The rest, now high in the stratosphere, won't begin to settle until next spring.

Public health authorities are prepared to detect both the initial and later fallout and determine how much of a health hazard it presents. For now, they say it is too early to say.

THE CLOUD bearing down on North America may pass north of the continental United States on its first pass around the world, but is expected to extend over the entire nation the second time around, about 10 days later.

RADIOACTIVE iodine, which can cause cancer of the thyroid gland, will be involved in the initial fallout. Health officials report the amount deposited from the superbomb debris in the next month might equal or exceed levels produced by the 22 or more other Russian tests. The iodine, because it loses most of its dangerous radioactivity in about a month, will not be a hazard in later fallout from the bomb, but radioactive strontium, a potential cause of bone cancer, will. Most of the strontium will be delayed in falling until next spring.

Dr. James Terrill of the Public Health Service reported both the iodine and strontium may have some adverse health effects in small portions of large population groups throughout the world. But he said it will probably remain below detectable levels.

U.S. Troops Thrust Into East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The United States made an armed thrust into Communist East Berlin Wednesday to enforce the right of U.S. occupation forces to move freely anywhere in this divided city.

The entire 6,500-man U.S. garrison was alerted for six hours. Ten U.S. Patton tanks and two armored personnel carriers rolled up to the Allied crossing point and aimed their guns at the East Berlin police. The British and French also bolstered their border forces.

But the U.S. troops made no move when the East Berliners subsequently turned back two army sightseeing buses.

Twelve husky military police, with bayonets fixed, rode in three Jeeps 400 yards into East Berlin to escort two Americans in civilian clothes, riding in a private car with Army-issued license plates.

Under orders, the two Americans had refused to bow to the Communist requirement to show their identification papers to the East German guards. The United States does not recognize the East German Red regime and insists on maintaining its war-won right that American officials, whether civilian or military, can move freely in this sector of the city without displaying passes.

But the U.S. command refused to press the issue later when the Red guards halted

Party Line Homecoming Swings

By Cathie M. Mahoney

By CATHIE M. MAHONEY
Assistant Women's Editor

Rose-fever at this time of year is unusual. Except at Michigan State, that is. Everyone seems to have caught it.

The symptoms of rose-fever grow worse with the approach of each week end. Students have had spontaneous pep rallies, encircling the campus with chain dances.

With Homecoming this week-end, the rose bowl fever will continue to rise and campus social life with it.

THE HOMECOMING Queen and her court will appear at the all-university Homecoming Dance Saturday night in the Auditorium from 8 to 12. Peter Palmer, his voices and orchestra, will provide the music for the semi-formal dance. Men should wear coats and ties. Dressy wools are appropriate for the coeds.

In a way it's a shame that a school such as ours makes so little over Homecoming festivities. There are very few all-university dances where cocktail dresses can be worn. Certainly Homecoming should be one of those events—especially when tickets cost $4.

The Greeks are busy with their plans to celebrate Homecoming.

Phi Kappa Tau will have an informal "put the finishing touches on the display" party Friday night. A pre-game buffet luncheon from 11 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. for parents, alumni, and guests. Special guests will be members of the Beta Lambda chapter (Indiana University) and Tau chapter (University of Michigan).

"THE RAMBLING LADS" will entertain at pre-game luncheon. If you are looking for a good folk-song group (in the Kingston Trio tradition), "these are they."

Members are: Jim Becker, Chicago, Ill., on guitar; Bill Becker, Wilmette, Ill., on banjo; and Jim Ellickson, St. Johns, on a unique bass consisting of a washtub, wood support and clothesline. All are juniors.

Started this year, the Lads have already appeared at the Union, the Chi Omega house, and the Phi Kappa Tau house.

The Phi Taus will end their party spree with a dance Saturday night. Todd Emsign will provide the music.

A SEMI-FORMAL dance for alumni and national officers of Delta Upsilon will be held at the chapter house Saturday night. The Paragons will entertain at the double celebration, Homecoming and the dedication of the new fraternity house.

NOTE: We are happy to publicize your social events and parties in this column, but cannot do so without your help.

Social chairmen are requested to turn in party information including date, theme, decorations, place, and entertainment to the State News Women's Editor.

Fashion Style Is Feminine For Spring

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Women will be alluringly-curvaceous and appealingly feminine in their fashion this spring.

This comforting style message amidst a troubled world was spelled out in terms of coats, suits and dresses as Herb Sondheim opened the spring fashion market by introducing his line to buyers.

The buyers, in furs only recently retrieved from mothballs, watched a parade of bare-backed models in ice cream pastel linens, cloudy print chiffons and cucumber crisp Rajah silk costumes.

THE "NOTHING" dress—a collarless, sleeveless sheath with nothing much to it but the price tag—has been denounced as on its way out by many experts on haute couture. But at Sondheim's it is very much in— with a wider neck, and with stoles, jackets and coats to go with it.

The voluminous stoles tie at one shoulder or drape and loop low in front. Jackets, short in front, often dip and flare in back. Coats, subtly fitted, are buttoned and belted to be worn by the woman in a hurry—as a substitute for a dress.

Ladies who wear Sondheim labels won't need to shift their hem lengths this spring. Nor will they need girdles. Skirts are shorter and deceptively ample, either bias cut or gathered and tucked generously at the waist.

Belts are on everything, worn high in front (just below the bosom) to make short girls look taller, tall girls look taller. Bows are abundant, too.

Black or navy blue checks and plaids, and red, white and blue are this fashion house's somewhat patriotic suit and coat color schemes. Egg shell white—the dry cleaners dream—is also favored by designer Sondheim.

Homecoming Sets Queen In a Whirl

Kim Larlee, Mt. Clemens junior, admitted to newsmen she was speechless when she was chosen 1961 Homecoming queen.

"Everyone's been very sweet," she said. "Everything's in such a whirl!"

The 5'4", blue-eyed blond will reign at the pep rally Friday night, at the Indiana game Saturday afternoon, and will be crowned at the Homecoming dance Saturday night.

Sign-up Today

Sorority rush sign-up will continue today and Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., in room 13 A Student Services Building.

Coeds interested in attending Fall Open Houses and winter rush must register at this time. No extended sign-up will be held.

A $1 rush fee is required.

Social Sidelines...

By SALLY WARD

Traffic on this campus is a great problem this year with more than 22,500 students, but I find my greatest terror is the bicycle! The whine of the two-wheels, or that silent fear that something is approaching from behind just makes me shudder.

Even the bikes which face you are a problem. It's like trying to do a quick soft-shoe routine when you try to avoid them! "I won't dance—don't ask me!"

BIKE RIDERS: Remember, the student you run into may be a friend, worse yet, it may be one of your professors.

When you start feeling sorry for yourself take note of that student in front of you. He has a white cane—and he's smiling!

Trick-or-treating has already started on campus. There's a little beggar and two friends who've been following me to my apartment, and I've even found them waiting for me when I get home. They aren't any problems except—"What would you think if you found that the squirrels were following YOU?"

The squirrels are mascots of Van Hoosen coeds. One has been named Sarah, and the other two are just friends who realize what a good life Sarah leads. Stale bread is the mainstay of their lives, but we hear that chocolate chip cookies (made by these domestic coeds) are their favorite delicacies.

Hooray for George Saimes, hero of the Notre Dame game, a wonderful football team and fans give us the thought: "What shall we wear to the Rosebowl game?"

Were you there to see college students act like they were 12-year-olds at a Saturday matinee? It was at the movie, "The Crucible," Monday at the auditorium. After standing in the rain for one-half hour to see a powerful movie, it was a terrible disappointment to have the movie interrupted by hisses, boos and clapping throughout the movie's action.

In addition to these interruptions were the early risers who didn't know enough to wait until the movie was actually over before rushing up the aisles to leave. Too bad we can't have early matinees for this younger set, so that those who want to see the movie could enjoy it.

Remember, next Tuesday's Halloween. You can take off your mask and put on some serious study caps for midterms!

U-Bette Dancers Chosen

By LINDA GODFREY
Women's Page Staff Writer
Of the State News

Spartans will no longer find it necessary to travel to New York, Chicago, or Detroit to gaze at the flashing smiles and flashing legs of the Radio City Rockettes or the Ziegfeld Girls. MSU has the Red Cedar, the nation's number one football team and the U-Bettes, our number one chorus line.

Wednesday at the Union Ballroom the eight girls who make up the U-Bettes were chosen. The girls were judged on appearance, their dancing ability and their originality. Each girl performed one routine before Judge Vanderberg, who judged the girls. Besides acting as judge Miss Vanderberg is also the combined leader and manager of the group.

The U-Bettes will be performing at the PanHel Ball. They also have engagements with the Union Board and Kellogg Center.

Anyone wishing to have the group perform is asked to contact Miss Vanderberg, who is also handling additional applications for the chorus line.

Indiana Alums Have Dinner After Game

Indiana University alumni have been invited to a post-game dinner Saturday, Oct. 28 in the Tamarack Room of Dine's, 321 E. Michigan Ave., Lansing, following the Michigan State-Indiana football game.

A social hour will be held immediately after the game, followed by dinner. Speaker at the dinner will be Bill Orwig, director of athletics at Indiana University.

Contact James F. O'Neil, 9840 Ingram, Livonia, Mich., president of the Indiana University Alumni Club of Detroit for reservations.

Parents naturally want their children to develop a kindly concern for people. Home economists at Michigan State University suggest a good way to encourage this is by example. A child will act toward others in much the same way that his parents or adults act toward him.

Charts Available In Map Library

A new facility at MSU, the University Map Library, contains a rich store of reference materials now available to students.

Almost 30,000 maps and charts are neatly stacked and labeled in the Maps and Newspapers Room on the third floor of the main library.

Set up in early 1960, the map library contains materials which came primarily from the department of geography, although that department still has an entire room filled with wall and relief maps for teaching purposes.

Since MSU is a depository library for the government, it receives many maps and documents free of charge from the Army Map Service.

Other sources of materials include the Coast Geodetic Survey of the Dept. of the Interior and the Aeronautical Chart and Information Service.

There are maps depicting climate, topography, waterways, soil types, trunk lines and commerce routes in all areas of the globe.

Some are history maps, unfolding stories of development in particular areas of the world. Many are road maps showing major transportation routes and highways, or detailed charts of the network of streets within a city.

For recreation there are maps available on camping, hunting and fishing areas. In addition to these, the library has a large collection of coastal navigation maps and a complete set of atlases.

TV Station Managers Give Talks

Two guest broadcasting station managers led discussions at meetings of the TRF 485 class (Radio and Television Station Management) this week, according to Leo Martin, head of the department of television, radio and film.

On Tuesday, William Schroeder, president and general manager of WOOD and WOOD-TV, Grand Rapids, discussed station personnel.

Martin said Robert Greenhoe, president and general manager of WBCH, Hastings, will be the guest lecturer on Oct. 30.

As U.S. officers aboard the bus argued vainly with the border guards, the U.S. Commandant in Berlin, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, drove past them into East Berlin unmolested to see the Soviet Commandant, Col. Andrei I. Solovyev. Watson spent two hours at the Soviet headquarters in the East Berlin suburb of Karlshorst negotiating what his spokesman called a complicated situation.

Early in the evening the U.S. tanks and armored personnel carriers were ordered to return to their barracks, but a U.S. spokesman said they could be brought back at any time in case of emergency.

Dr. Holmes To Talk On Languages

Eleven romance languages will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Urban T. Holmes, visiting consultant to the foreign language department, at 3 p.m. Thursday in 33 Union.

Dr. Holmes will give a brief history and general description of the romance languages. He will show their common characteristics, but place emphasis on the oddities.

A distinguished visiting professor in 1959, Dr. Holmes has returned to the University twice a year as consultant. He is a romance philology professor at the University of North Carolina and is a specialist in the history of romance languages and medieval civilizations and literature.

On campus for a week, Dr. Holmes has spoken to classes on medieval civilization and drama.

Dr. Holmes will visit the campus again in April.

Sock At Soapy Nets $5,600

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—The Rhodesian who punched G. Mennen Williams, U.S. Assistant Secretary for African Affairs, at Lusaka airport has received about $2,000 pounds ($5,600), mainly from Americans, his wife said Wednesday.

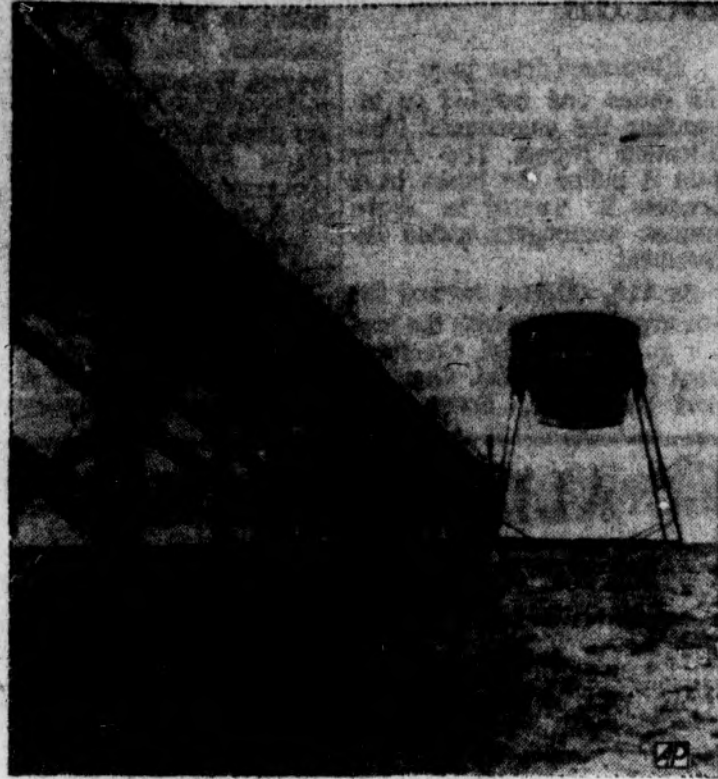

Stuart Finley-Bissett was fined 50 pounds ($140) September 12 for assaulting Williams.

Mrs. Finley-Bissett, who is spending a vacation with her sister here, said her 58-year-old husband received letters, currency and checks from the United States to pay his fine.

Her husband returned the larger amounts to the senders and kept small sums as souvenirs, she said.

Summer Quarter Replaces 'School'

There will be no more summer school at MSU.

The board of trustees voted to abandon the use of the words "summer school" in favor of the more appropriate "summer quarter." This step was taken because summer session is now, and has been for the last three summers, comparable to fall, winter and spring in length.

Now George No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The top rusher for the nation's No. 1 football team—fullback George Saines of Michigan State—has been named Associated Press back of the week.

Saines, a junior from Canton, Ohio, ran wild in the second half to lead the Spartans to a 17-7 comeback win over Notre Dame.

He sprinted for 24 and 25 yard touchdowns runs within two minutes and 46 seconds, and also escaped on a 26-yard dash to set up a field goal. Saines collected 142 yards in 14 carries in his afternoon of glory and leads MSU in rushing with 318 yards in four games.

Although he's considered a lightweight for a big college

fullback—186 pounds—Coach Duffy Daugherty declares him

GEORGE SAINES
AP back of the week

"the best conditioned athlete on the squad."

Saines built up his leg muscles last summer by wearing 5½ pound weights on each ankle. This also helped the handsome, dark-haired 20-year-old of Greek descent to win the campus championship dancing "The Twist."

"He's the best all-around fullback I've ever had," Daugherty enthused. "He's the coach's dream... the perfect athlete... the all-around player. He does equally well on the defense and is such a team player, he'd blow up the football, too, if you asked him."

Saines won out over some rough competition. Other top candidates included quarterback Matt Szykowsky of Iowa and Eddie Wilson of Arizona.

Saines was also named No. 1 by United Press International and was picked as "Player of the Week" by Sports Illustrated.

He has also been featured in several other national magazines this week.

Harriers To Test Strength

The results of Friday's cross country meet at Notre Dame should be an indication of whether the Spartans will retain their Big Ten title this season, says Coach Fran Dittrich. "Indiana beat Notre Dame by about 10 points this season," said Dittrich, "and if we can beat Notre Dame by more than that, we should take the Big Ten."

Iowa, Indiana, and Michigan State should be the top runners for the Big Ten championships in mid-November, commented the MSU coach.

Iowa has beaten Northwestern and Wisconsin this year, while the Spartans lost to the Badgers.

"Michigan State, Iowa and Northwestern all have four good men," said Dittrich, "but the winner of the meet will depend on the fifth man to cross the line."

The Spartan harriers should beat the Fighting Irish since Notre Dame has a weaker team than last season, said Dittrich.

Last year MSU defeated Notre Dame 18 to 54.

"The Irish will be tough on their own five-mile course, and they have a real good sophomore runner," said the Spartan coach. "However, I think Jerry (Young) can beat him."

Notre Dame finished third in a triangular meet last weekend to Western Michigan and Ohio University, respectively. The State harriers defeated Ohio University in the first meet of the season.

Dittrich will be sending the following men to South Bend:

Captain Jerry Young, Rog Humbarger, Pat Stevens, Dick Gyde, Don Castle, Al Duncan, Bob Fulcher, Bill Stewart and alternate Ron Berby.

The local distance men have been preparing this week for the Irish by running one mile loops, hills and wind sprints.

raincoats

anonymous

Have you ever walked off with a strange raincoat? Worse still, has someone ever walked off with yours? Few things are easier on a wet day when every hook on the hat rack is loaded.

How can a man identify his own? He can feel for the gloves in the left hand pocket, but that can so easily be misconstrued. He can try it on for fit, but that can be even more embarrassing in case of a mistake.

We have a solution. Every raincoat we sell now has a little name-and-address tag buttoned inside. It's a sort of miniature version of the tag that the wise traveler fastens on his suitcase.

This little tag has been so successful in bringing errant London Fog and Alligators home to roost that it wouldn't be fair to deprive all other raincoats of it, just because they didn't come from SMALL'S at two eleven s. washington. So we've put in an extra stock and you are welcome to come in and pick one up. No charge. We won't even ask you to prove you have a raincoat.

Behrman Expects A Busy Saturday

Dave Behrman, the burly Michigan State center shifted from tackle, will have to carry a man-sized load against Indiana Saturday.

Behrman, a 247-pound junior from Dowagiac, made the switch because of injuries at the center slot.

"It takes a stupid coach and a very great athlete to make a success of such a change," Duffy Daugherty commented after the move worked out well in the Notre Dame win.

Centers Tom Jordan and Mike Currie now appear to be out of the meeting with the Hoosiers because of injuries.

Only other starter lost will be team captain and defensive specialist Ed Ryan, knocked out of action with a shoulder injury in the game against Michigan.

'Rocky' Is Back With Spartans

Rocky Ryan was back with his teammates Wednesday.

The 191-pound senior halfback and captain returned to the practice field to join in his first workouts since he dislocated his shoulder in the Spartan's 28-0 victory over Michigan.

"He won't play Saturday," Coach Duffy Daugherty said, "but we hope to have him ready for Minnesota."

Ryan will still take part in the pre-game toss of the coin.

A special shoulder harness has been fitted to the gritty competitor which restricts upward movement of the injured shoulder.

He will wear this when he returns to action to prevent further injury.

Showers fell on the practice session Wednesday, but didn't dampen the spirits of the players.

Among those who turned in good yardage were fullbacks Ron Hatcher and Roger Lopes, Halfbacks Earl Lattimer, Gary Ballman and Ron Rubick.

Cycling Spartans

The Cycling Spartans will hold their first meeting of the year Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in room 215 of the Men's Intramural Building. All members or anyone wishing to join MUST attend this meeting.

The picture for the Wolverine will be discussed at this time, along with other important matters.

Professor Displays Paintings In Flint

A one-man show of recent paintings by Martin Hurtig, MSU painter-professor, is now being featured at the Flint Institute of Arts. The show will run until Oct. 29.

Three examples of Hurtig's work can be seen locally in the staff exhibit now at Kresge art center.

Hurtig is an accomplished artist who once succeeded in realistic drawing but left it for newer expressions. As an abstract-expressionist, he emphasizes the character of paint as a physical substance and uses it to define only intangibles.

To Hurtig, the perception an artist experiences is more real and more important than the external objects he sees. Hurtig's use of color is unusual. He plays one color against another and dares to use complements together in his paintings. The result is exciting and highly individualized. Each minute detail is an impression, a feeling expressed in vivid colors.

He likes straight lines or blending French lines which curve slightly. In his paintings one will not find the misshapen amoebas or cloud-like shapes so often used for forms in paintings.

"My painting is not an abstraction of our conceptual world but a concretion based on responses to my total environment," he said.

"Embodied in them are interpretations of felt responses to experiences directly or indirectly encountered by me."

Arab Club Meets

The Arab Club will hold a special meeting Sunday at 4 p.m. in 33 Union Building.

"Dr. Fawzi Najjar, assistant professor of social science, will speak on the topic, 'U.A.R.: What went wrong? Reflections on the recent Syrian revolt.' Dr. Najjar was awarded last year a Rockefeller Fellowship for research in the Middle East on Islamic Political Theory as it bears on democracy."

Improvement For Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Heartened by their 33-7 victory over Washington State but sobered by the schedule ahead, Indiana's scrappy Hoosiers strive this week to continue their self-improvement program in preparation for the nation's No. 1 team, mighty Michigan State, at East Lansing Saturday.

In going against the Spartans, who in the last two weeks have knocked off previously undefeated powerhouses Michigan and Notre Dame, the Hoosiers are wading deeper into a schedule which reads like a "Who's Who" in football.

With Iowa already behind them, the Hoosiers within the span of four weeks will have met in Michigan State and Ohio State three teams who have at one time or another been listed the country's No. 1 outfit and who seem certain to end up somewhere in the top five of the nation.

The question Saturday is how long Indiana's undermanned squad can stand up to the Spartans' deep and talented squad.

"We've been improving gradually each week and if we could have some of the breaks we got against Washington State spread over the earlier games, we'd be taking a much better record into this game," said Coach Phil Dickens.

"But it's going to take more than gradual improvement to bring us up to the point we need to be for Michigan State."

Michigan State wrestling captain Norm Young was named to the 1961 All-American mat squad.

Wagner Chorale a Hit Despite Late Audience

By JACKIE KORONA

State News Feature Writer

Seven encore numbers and the loudest applause heard in the Auditorium this year proved that various technical and audience disruptions could not harm the singing quality of the world famous Roger Wagner Chorale.

"We try to give something for everyone," Wagner said during an interview, and that the group did.

The 24-voice chorus, directed by Wagner and called "second best to none in the world" by Leopold Stokowski, presented a two-hour concert ranging from great religious music to American folk songs and Negro spirituals.

THE FIRST five numbers of the show, were sung without a word from the conductor. Four pauses for the seating of late-comers and an almost total stage blackout during one number marred the continuity of the performance. But, the music itself was quietly beautiful.

Then Wagner turned to the audience and explained the words of Hayden's "Eloquence." "If we don't get a blackout, we'll sing it for you," joked the man in tails.

Backstage, after wiping his brow and posing for several pictures, Roger Wagner proved to autograph seekers that his personality is as magnetic off-stage as it is on.

He related some previous experiences in his work.

THE CHORALE and I have done a great deal of work with

Roman Catholic nuns, he said, and proceeded with a pantomime of his story, to the delight of onlookers.

"It was a good audience," he said.

When asked what he thought of the late-comers, Wagner politely replied that in bad weather he could understand tardiness, but Tuesday's weather was good.

Dr. Wilson B. Paul, director of the Lecture-Concert Series, called arriving late for a performance a serious breach of theatre etiquette. "We held the curtain for seven minutes," he said.

But despite the late arrivals and lighting problems, the Chorale performance proved a delightful evening for all.

NCAA Has A Problem To Solve

NEW YORK (AP)—The policy-making council of the NCAA wound up its three-day fall meeting Wednesday with another major headache tossed in its lap.

After taking steps to combat gambling on college basketball games and drawing its battle lines to gain a bigger say in international basketball during the first two days, the council turned to a complaint by the Athletic Association of Western Universities (Big 5) to do something about scheduling football games far in advance.

The Big 5 pointed out that the current practice is to schedule games 6 to 8 years in advance and that things may come to a point where games are scheduled 10 to 12 years in advance.

Theatre-In-Round Located In Aud

Theatre-in-the-round will be a permanent fixture at Michigan State with the opening of the Arena Theatre on Nov. 8.

Located in the basement of the Auditorium, Arena Theatre will have a seating capacity of 200 and permanent facilities for full-scale productions. Rehearsals are going on now for the first production, "Right You Are," "If You Think So!" and Arnold Williams of the English department. These will be staged Nov. 8 through 11. Arena Theatre has also been tentatively picked as the place for a series of medieval plays to be put on by Frank C. Rutledge of the Speech department and Arnold Williams of the English department. These will be staged Feb. 14 through 17. Tickets to these events are included in the University Theatre coupon books.

tives would meet with members of the University administration as well as the campus police and the East Lansing police.

"Purposes of the commission," the resolution stated, "would be to seek answers to questions concerning the infringement of students' rights by local police officers and administration officials."

Dr. Eldon Nonemaker, advisor to Congress and representative of the administration, urged students to ease up on "Rose Bowl" rallies.

"When and if we do go to the Rose Bowl," he said, "the University will make every effort to secure transportation for the students."

He added that the football team still must play five games.

In the absence of AUSG President Larry Campbell, Charles Bruce, vice president, gave the executive report to Congress.

Walid Khadduri of the Campus UN and Charles Bruce recently attended a Campus United Nations meeting at Ohio State University.

"MSU probably has the best Campus UN in the Midwest," Bruce said.

He said that the University hopes to have the regional Campus United Nations conference held here this year.

THINK ABOUT IT BILLIE—Says Paul Verral to Billie Dawn, the classic dumb blond of "Born Yesterday" fame. This Broadway hit will appear Nov. 1-5 as a University Theater presentation. Nick Harvey will star as Paul Verral and Barbara Messing as Billie Dawn.

'Born Yesterday' Play Stars Dumb Blonde

A "dumb blond" ex-chorus girl who learns culture, a double-dealing king of the junkyard who learns the ways of people and a horn-rimmed reporter who proves a good teacher, will be the featured characters in the University Theatre's production of "Born Yesterday," opening Nov. 1 at Fairchild Theatre.

A $235 per day suite in Washington D.C.'s swankiest hotel provides the background for laughs, misdoings, laughs, bribery, laughs, violence, and more laughs in this Garson Kanin comedy.

Billie Dawn, the show-girl, will be played by Barbara Messing, a brunette turned blond for the performance.

Miss Messing, Brooklyn junior, will have no trouble covering an accent for Billie Dawn is a fellow New Yorker.

A theatre major, Barbara has been involved in University Theatre productions of "Hansel and Gretel," "Macbeth," "Man and Superman," and "Kismet."

The domineering scrap iron king, Harry Brock, will give Ray Shermeyer, Braddock, Pa. grad student, an opportunity to put his acting experience to work.

Shermeyer, also a theatre major, has been involved in show business in Pennsylvania, Florida, and South Carolina, as well as France, Japan, and New York City.

The "steely" villain of "Born Yesterday" is a man of moods, first hard and violent, then almost tender, and Shermeyer must play them to the full extent.

Seen as the teacher-crusader-reporter will be Nicholas Howey, E. Lansing senior and speech major.

Nick's adventures as Paul Verral should cause the audience to laugh and possibly cry as the young "good guy" becomes involved with the junk magnet and his dumb girlfriend.

Many may remember Nick's appearances in the University Theatre stage in such productions as "The Cave Dwellers," "The Lark," and "Skin of Our Teeth."

The comedy which ran for four years on Broadway will play through Nov. 5, with a special matinee on Nov. 4.

hower for "shooting off about the Youth Corps before it's begun to have a trial," referring to Eisenhower's calling the Peace Corps a juvenile project.

With Eisenhower, Sandburg said, the words Socialist and Socialism were dirty words, "very nearly as dirty as the welfare state."

Eisenhower never had to buy a suit of clothes or a meal or look for work for a day after leaving his boyhood home in Kansas, Sandburg said, adding:

"HE'S LIVED in a welfare state ever since he left the creamery in Abilene and went to West Point."

Does Sandburg see any hope for the world or will it just blow itself up?

"Whenever I get to thinking about that question . . . he started off. Then he recalled men he had seen in Moscow with artificial arms and legs and his impression of Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Sandburg said:

"I think basically there's a peasant heart . . . I think he loves people . . . and he knows the next war, if it ever starts, would bring more death and destruction to Russian than the last war."

Sandburg had talked with newsmen earlier while waiting at the White House to chat with Kennedy about a preface he has written for a forthcoming book of the President's speeches and messages.
