

Career Carnival And The Students' Future

Today marks the opening of Career Carnival has been Michigan State's 14th Career Carnival.

The Career Carnival is unique among student activities here in that it directly benefits the student.

Some 12,000 students will meet with representatives from approximately 70 companies to discuss their future in business, industry, government and education.

All students from first term freshmen to doctoral candidates are encouraged to go and learn more about specific areas which interest them.

Career Carnival has been known to change some students' majors.

It should be especially interesting to underclassmen, who are still cloudy as to their occupation.

This is an opportunity for these students to discuss occupation ideas with persons who are most qualified to give an answer--the future employers.

The Career Carnival can help you better define your aims and goals by giving you a clearer picture of what the future holds and what preparation you will need to qualify for certain jobs.

Howard Tells Why He Refuses Committee

Editor's note: In this statement to the student body, All-University Student Government President Bob Howard gives his reasons for refusing a seat on the faculty-student committee which is to screen all speakers who wish to appear on campus.

The views expressed are those of Howard's and should not be interpreted as those of State News.

By virtue of my position as President of AUSG, I have been instructed to sit on the student-faculty committee to clear outside speakers. Because I personally disagree with both the policy which it is to implement and the manner in which it has been created, I feel that in all good conscience I must refuse to take a seat on this committee. I feel it imperative that I make clear to the student body my reasons for taking this course of action.

I believe that the policy of clearing outside speakers cannot avoid violating the right of freedom of speech on the campus, and violating its logical extension, the freedom to listen. One of the basic tenets of our legal system is that a man is innocent until proven guilty. Yet this policy presumes to know and judge what a man will say before he has said it. I consider this on its face to be a corruption of our legal system.

It may be argued that even if this committee did not exist, the policy would still be carried out. Unfortunately, this may be true. I see no reason, however, why I personally should take part in carrying out a policy which I cannot agree.

I consider this in itself valid reason for refusing to sit on the speaker clearing committee. But there are further reasons, of a procedural nature, for my taking this action.

The students were confronted with the committee as an accomplished fact. It was created without consulting or informing us in any way. It seems unreasonable to me that students should be told to sit on a committee when we have had no chance to say whether we consider the committee necessary or desirable. I have been openly curious about this, but have been unable to get any explanation of why it was created in this way. I should mention here that I was on campus and conferring periodically with administration officials while the committee was being planned.

Why were students not consulted in the formation of the committee? I should like to point out that students and faculty will be in a poor position to protest the banning of a speaker by the committee, since it will be their representatives who make the decision. It is curious that it is the administration which feels the necessity for enforcing this policy, yet they would be obviated of responsibility for its enforcement by the make-up of the committee--there are no voting administration representatives. If the students are to take the responsibility for carrying out a policy, then we should first have a voice in determining whether there should be any policy and what it should be.

The committee has been created without any specific statement of the need or purpose which the committee will fulfill, or of the charge of responsibility under which it will operate. Any body which is given power has a significant probability of abusing that power. When a body is given power without specification of purpose or responsibility--as in this case--that probability becomes too great to ignore. I can think of few things more ridiculous than a meeting of a committee to determine for what purpose that committee is to meet.

This committee has been created without any specification of the rules of procedure under which it will operate. This again lends itself to abuse of the power held by the committee. It seems patently obvious to me that fair and equal consideration would not be given to each prospective speaker. The time factor alone militates against fairness, for the volume of outside speakers is considerable and decisions should not be made without some investigation. Perhaps there is no intent to give each speaker fair and equal consideration.

President Hannah pointed out on May 21, 1962--four days after the Board of Trustees had banned Robert Thompson--that a regulation existed for clearing outside speakers. The regulation had fallen into such disuse that neither students nor administration were aware of it. If the policy had been operative, it would have been employed through the Provost in the Thompson case. I suggest that before embarking on a new method of implementing a policy dusty with age, the policy itself should be re-examined. The existence of the policy alone does not justify its continuance. Before creating a new mechanism, let's reconsider the need and desirability for the policy itself.

Finally, let us consider some of the effects of a speaker clearing policy. I can imagine no greater insult to a prospective speaker than to inform him that he must be "cleared" before he can speak. Remember that this committee should consider each speaker equally, regardless of his seeming respectability.

The policy is certainly a hindrance upon all student organizations. MSU's paternalism has already placed enough obstacles in the path of student organizations and we can well do without this additional red tape.

I feel that this policy is another demonstration of the relative immaturity of MSU in the academic community of the United States. I do not subscribe to the rosy image of MSU's academic standing painted by our administration. I believe the University's academic reputation can ill afford another setback at this time.

I am certainly not opposed to students and faculty exercising more power in the affairs of this University. In fact I think that in the University power structure, students and faculty have much less power than they deserve. But if we are to be given responsibility in this case, I think it should extend to the right to examine the policy itself, and the need and desirability for continuing it. We have not been given that right, and I believe it will not be available through the committee. Therefore I feel I have no alternative but to refuse a seat on the committee.

Letters to the Editor

On Local Liquor, Etc.

To the editor:

This letter is in reply to Richard Johnson's letter stating there is a "grave situation" confronting the students of Michigan State and the residents of East Lansing.

There is a definite issue involved in the proposal to make East Lansing a "wet" community. As Mr. Johnson states, "Vote now to keep America free." The basis for this country's democracy is freedom of choice. If Mr. Johnson feels that democracy may be continued by limiting choice on such subjects, this fine nation would not have survived until 1800. As we all know, this country has survived many internal and external problems. World War I and World War II were started by countries where freedom of choice was limited or completely excluded in the rights of its people.

George Washington, who brought this country through its first major difficulty, did not force his men to drink their daily portion of rum. These men had the choice to drink this liquid, which is purchased and consumed in "smelly taverns," throughout this fine nation.

Why, then, Mr. Johnson, should not the people of East Lansing and the students of Michigan State University have the same opportunity? If this proposal is passed the people of East Lansing and the students will not be forced to enter these dens of sin and moral corruption. They have this choice.

Being a former resident of Midland, I have the opportunity to travel to Mr. Pleasant many times. This community does not have the "stench" as you said. Mr. Pleasant is a fine college community and the beer and wine sold in this city has not downgraded the morals of this city. Liquor is a socially accepted drink in this country, therefore, why should the people of East Lansing be forced to drive into Lansing to drink and endanger the lives of the citizenry by driving a long distance after they have indulged. If the "stench" is in this community there will be a trend to sociable drinking rather than the set purpose of getting intoxicated.

If you believe as strongly as you have professed in the "evils" of alcohol, would it not be better to persuade people of this through moral persuasion than legislation? The Volstead Act tried to legislate morals and as we all know this was a failure. People will do as they please no matter what the laws of this nation prescribe. If you are such an avid prohibitionist, I feel you should attempt to bring up the moral standards of this nation. This cannot be done by legislation as I already stated. You are taking the wrong approach, Mr. Johnson. Have you thought about joining the W.C.T.U.?

MSU Overseas

To the Editor:

Your editorial of Tuesday, October 2, 1962, used Sociology 463 (Social Anthropology) as an example to illustrate "frequent" cancellation of classes. It suggests the reason for the cancellation is "that not enough students registered for the particular class." This reason does not fit the case for Sociology 463. The reason for the cancellation is that a faculty member was suddenly called for temporary research duty on a mission to

Man's View On Fashions

----- Dave Jaehnig

It's about those college fashions! While all the freshmen, especially the coeds, have already left mom and dad broke from demands for new college clothes, maybe they should take a second look at those clothes in the closet before they wreak havoc with that checking account on those "care" envelopes from home, too.

Ever wonder why coeds dress the way they do? Or why male students rarely look like they stepped out of Esquire despite the urging of advertising agencies?

Let's take a look at those free-spending coed. Nine freshmen coeds out of ten are spending daddy's money, and everyone, including daddy, wants them to make an impression when they get to college.

The only trouble is, the only impression they are making is on other coeds, and that impression ranges from awe to envy.

Generally speaking, the only males at the university who can match the cool fashions of the incoming coeds are other freshmen. And what female freshman wants to impress the freshman boys, anyway?

Instead of impressing the upperclassmen, who in truth most new coeds are interested in, they end up rather embarrassing them.

Junior and senior coeds can quickly tell those freshman coeds that the poorest, most ill-dressed male students, are those upperclassmen. And those upperclassmen have a few ideas on fashion of their own.

No one would ever set up a fashion scale from those upperclassmen, and they regularly leave advertisers flat-footed with their lack of fashion consciousness. But they do manage to look neat, well-groomed and presentable...even with a shaggy seat in their trousers.

In case you coeds wonder what those same upperclassmen think about coed fashion, here's a brief sampling:

"Let's get rid of the dirty, torn, sockless tennis shoes, and go back to those and flats, or knee socks and loafers."

"Get those coeds out of men's coats and back into women's clothing."

"The bermuda shorts are fine, but let's see a few more skirts, and less in slacks, and shorts. What happened to the female instinct?"

"Femininity seems out of style. That clean, just out of the box look seldom shows up in the classroom anymore."

"If they didn't have that no pants rule for classes, that probably all they'd wear there, too. Are skirts out of style?"

We could go on, but you get the idea. The call from upperclassmen is for more femininity in the female, more ladylike the coed.

And as a parting shot at hairdos, let's pass on this gem: "Glad to hear that hairdos are shortening up on the coed."

Thought after the bouffants, bee-hives, and Jackie Kennedy the next Rockefeller would be a hair-spray manufacturer.

Dark scenes with Becket and his brother expounding deep theories on the psychology of man seem to be thrown into the play, possibly for effect. The only effect is that of bewildering the audience.

And "The Temple of Knives" trick, when actually performed on stage, is a fascinating thing to watch, but the audience is left with the feeling it might be watching the Ed Sullivan Show rather than a serious drama.

Mrs. Herbert E. Miller, chairman of the hospitality committee, has planned for a series of small coffee hours to be held Tuesday and Oct. 19. These informal get-togethers will be held prior to the formal reception at the home of President and Mrs. J.A. Hannah.

Monthly meetings will be held throughout the coming year, introducing many University activities.

Carpenter returned with tanks almost dry.

Schirra reported he brought his back 78 percent full for the low thrusters. He did not give a figure for the high thrust tanks, which are used to speed positioning, save to say he turned them on for one brief moment.

The 39-year-old Navy commander also said he felt the temperature control problems for his space suit had been saved though on his first orbit he was quite hot.

At the end of the journey, he added, "I was just shivering. Somebody finally got cold in space."
The amount of water needed to serve as a coolant over a long flight has been one of the problems confronting space engineers. Five gallons of water were used on the Schirra flight and appeared to be sufficient.

sociate professor of political science, portrays the elderly magician with such warmth and credibility that a chill of horror and sadness runs through the audience at his death.

And Waymon Underwood, as the failure-prone Edward Becket arouses compassion, although at times his yelling and crying over his father's death bring forth a sickened cringe.

The cast, an all-male one, deserves a laurel for their performances in this production, the first of the Circle Players current season.

The High-Stepper is an ideal choice for Campus Type #1 for two reasons. First, she is a fairly common species—and second, she is easy to identify.

Ron Rubick Rushes to Spartan Mark

The Spartan football team routed North Carolina, 38-6, Saturday, and showed excellent blocking, but was still weak on pass defense.

Big news of the day was more than the first victory of the season for Coach Duffy Daugherty's charges. It was the running of Ron Rubick. In 14 carries Saturday, Rubick reeled off a total of 207 yards for an average of 14.8 yards per carry.

This earned the junior tailback from Manistique a place in MSU's record books. His 207 yards in a single game, passed the old mark of 184 yards set in 1950 by All-American Everett "Sonny" Grandelius against Oregon State.

Saturday's output coupled with his performance on the coast last weekend gives the explosive runner a total of 265 yards rushing in 28 carries. He also hit on two out of two passes against Stanford for 53 yards, which puts him on top of the Spartan offensive leaders with 318 yards.

Watching from the stands Saturday were Rubick's parents and his 78-year-old grandfather, along with 32 other friends and relatives from the Upper Peninsula. En route to the record, they saw Ron tally three touchdowns—one less than the Spartan record.

One of the first well-wishers in the dressing room after the game was Rubick's father. After being introduced to the team by one of the members of the coaching staff, Mr. Rubick went over to his son. With a shy, sheepish grin, Ron asked his dad:

"Where'd you get the new hat?"

This is typical of the quiet tailback, who stands 5' 8" and tips the scales at 175. As Coach Daugherty exclaimed to newsmen after the game, "He's a pretty good second-stringer."

Despite his one-man broken field running spectacle Rubick had a lot of good blocking. All afternoon the Spartan blockers hit their assignments hard and well and gave all the runners good holes, as they amassed a total of 492 yards rushing.

Sherman Lewis, whom Rubick replaced on offense, turned in a creditable performance with 104 yards in 13 tries. Roger Lopes kept his high per carry average, as he scooted 39 yards in four attempts.

This gives Lopes 94 yards in 11 carries for an 8.5 average.

The Spartans kicked off Saturday, and the first defensive unit, which did not give up a first down all afternoon, held the Tarheels of Coach Jim Hickey. Taking the pigskin over on the North Carolina 47, it took the green and white five plays to move in for the score.

Lewis went the final six yards over-tackle, with Earl Latimer kicking the PAT.

On the next series of downs, Coach Daugherty saw his second unit move into the end zone for the score. In three plays, State moved 80 yards, with Rubick's breakaway jaunt of 67-yards for a TD covering a major portion. With only 2:18 gone in the second quarter, MSU added a third score, when Lewis bolted into the end zone from the eight.

Behind the accurate passing of Quarterback Junior Edge, the Tarheels scored their only score on a 20-yard pass play to end Bob Lacey. It was one of 19 completions by Edge in 27 attempts.

Edge was a thorn in the Spartans side all afternoon, as his aerial completions accounted for 244 of North Carolina's 296 yards.

State scored just before the half to push its lead to 26-6. Rubick went around end 11 yards for the touchdown. Hitting pay-dirt each of the last two periods rounded out the Spartan scoring.

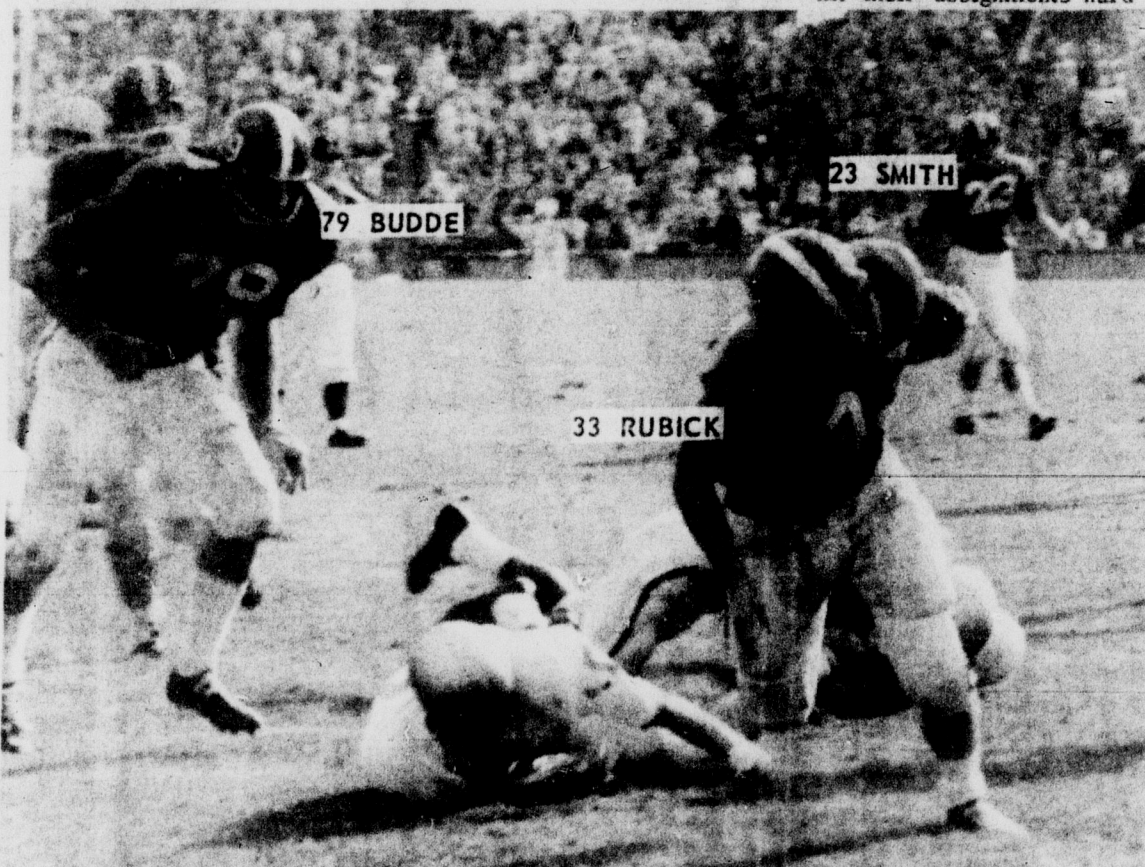

Lopes bounced off one tackler and went into the end zone from four yards out in the third, and Rubick shot over right tackle from the 15-yard line in the final stanza.

Ohio Captures Triangular

Harriers Second

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Of The State News

All of State's varsity teams were involved in routs Saturday, but the harriers were on the receiving end as they were overwhelmed by Ohio University in a triangular meet at Athens, Ohio.

Final score was Ohio 19, MSU 51, and Ohio State 71.

Ohio U. runners nearly monopolized the race as they took five of the first six places. Only Ohio State's Frank Parks, with a second place, prevented Ohio from scoring a perfect 15.

Individual honors went to Ohio star Roy Fleming with a time of 20:56.

Spartan co-captain Roger Humbarger paced his mates with a seventh place. He was clocked at 22:08.

Other State point-scorers were Orin Larson, Don Castle, Mike Kalnes and Ron Berby. The Spartans were hurt by the absence of sophomore Jan Bowen. Bowen earned a place on the team, but sprained his ankle in time trials Wednesday. At first it was thought he could make the trip, but the team doctor prohibited it Friday.

N. Campbell 1-S, Campbell 1; Butterfield 5-6; W. Mayo 1-2. Old Gym, court 3 - Wilson 1-2; Rather 1-2; Wilson 11-Abbott 1; N. Williams 1-Snyder.

First game at 7 p.m., others at half hour intervals.

Pete Mauthe of Penn State kicked eight field goals in the 1912 season, a State record which still stands.

Just What You've Needed for Your Books!

Erecta-Shelf®

Design it yourself...
To Fit Your Space
and Needs

So easy... So economical!

Countless Units
can be designed with these 4 PANEL SIZES

You don't have to be an engineering major to design and assemble your own bookcases, room-dividers, or TV and Hi-Fi units with Erecta-Shelf. It's fun...simple...practical and inexpensive!

By combining just 4 panel sizes in satin black or gleaming brass wrought iron, there's no limit to the number of arrangements you can design to fit your space and needs. Note that straight panels can be used horizontally or vertically...and horizontal panels may be attached at any desired height on the vertical panels.

EASY TO ADD TO OR TAKE APART

Anytime you wish to make your unit taller, longer or deeper simply add more Erecta-Shelf panels...or change the arrangement completely. It's a cinch to disassemble for moving too. Plan your unit (we'll help you if you wish) and come in for your Erecta-Shelf panels and free detailed brochure.

Year's Fires Cost Farmers $175 Million

Fire annually extracts more than $175 million dollars from the pockets of farmers in the United States and takes the lives of about 750 persons. More than six million dollars worth of farm buildings went up in smoke in Michigan alone last year.

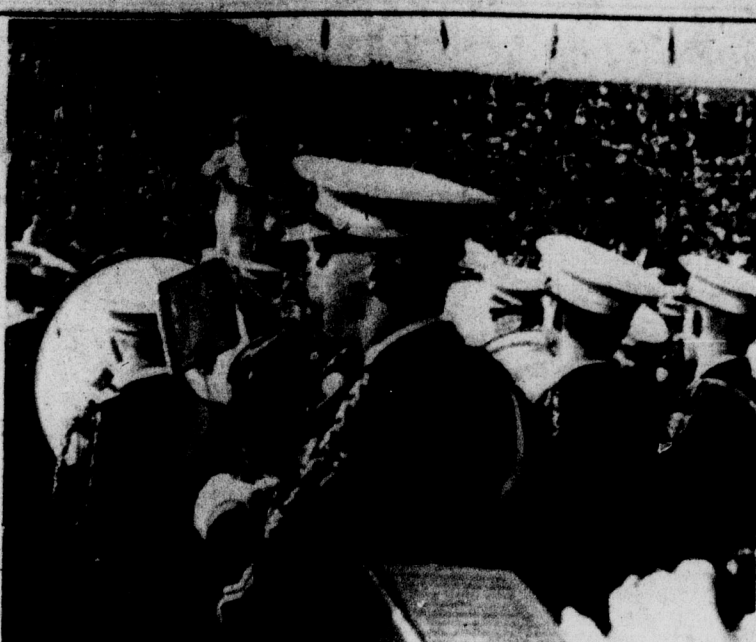

President Kennedy has set aside the week of October 7-13 as National Fire Prevention week to remind everyone that most fires can be prevented. This special week offers a special opportunity for promoting the year-around need for fire safety and convincing people to help eliminate fires.

Most fires can be blamed on defective equipment, poor construction, poor maintenance or poor management practices. During 1961, 235 Michigan residents lost their lives because of fire. And the yearly fire loss to Michigan homes is equal to the complete destruction of new homes located 600 feet apart on both sides of a 60-mile highway.

Newly Formed Social Science College Required to Incorporate Former SLIR

The formerly independent Labor and Industrial Relations Center is now operating as a school of the newly-formed College of Social Science. The LIRC was transferred this summer to the new college headed by Dean Louis McQuitty. The School of Labor and Industrial Relations (SLIR) was run as a center independent of any University college until it encountered sharp opposition from the Michigan legislature for alleged pro-labor policies.

The center was integrated into the full academic program to avoid suspension of funds by the legislature.

President's Visit Hurried

(Continued from page 1) might have caused to be near him. Agents checked all persons entering and leaving buildings at the time of the talk while others joined the crowd to seek out crackpots.

One woman held aloft a picture of Kennedy throughout the speech. She had croakily printed "I love you" on the blank side of the double paper frame. "I'm going to kiss him if it's the last thing I do", several reporters and apparently decided it was unwise to further broadcast her intentions. She didn't get to kiss Kennedy.

Signs bearing "We like Caroline's Daddy", "Keep Michigan Free—Vote Democratic" and "Vive Cuba" appeared over the heads of the crowd. Signs along the motorcade route through a run down area.

Saturn Project Topic of Talk

William F. Parker, vice president and S-II program manager of North American Aviation, Inc., will give a talk on "The Saturn S-II Progress Report" on Tuesday, 11-12 a.m. in room 136 Engineering Building. Parker will discuss the problem of manufacturing concept of Saturn S-II and will emphasize component fabrication and special tools and equipment for this project. Interested persons are invited to attend.

Police Problem

traveled by bicycle confronting roads, who later described him as an exhibitionist.

The fight against sex offenses on the University can be won only by informed students, not by an undermanned police force, said a harassed supervisor whose officers were chasing a suspect who had accosted a coed on the way to Case Hall.

Coeds who report prowlers or window-peepers a half-hour after they see or hear them are doing a disservice to the other coeds on the campus, police emphasize.

The police are constantly catching suspects around the women's dormitories, but usually it is through the patrol of a lone officer who pits his skill and experience against a potentially dangerous criminal.

Homosexuals are still a problem. Plainclothes officers, unarmed and alone, are constantly seeking out these deviates. Many are caught and taken to court.

Men of the department working on the "sex crime detail," do so on their own time due to an inadequate working budget police department heads say, in an effort to protect the student.

Officers can't do it during their regular working hours because they are too busy on patrol or in other investigative work, the supervisors say.

"Yes, our men work on the sex problem constantly," said a platoon supervisor. "Yet it's another service that no one ever hears about."

Young Democrats To See TV Debate

The Young Democrats will meet Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. in the Tower Room of the Union.

Members will see the TV debate between Swainson and Romney and a TV program with congressional candidate Don Hayworth. Hayworth's campaign manager will comment on the evening's TV fare.

Michigan State will have football meetings with Eastern power Penn State in 1965 and 1966.

Helped Integrate Little Rock

Student Discusses 'Ole Miss'

"If I had to go through it again I would do it," said Ernest G. Green, a MSU graduate student who was one of the first Negroes to integrate Little Rock Central High School in September of 1957.

Like James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi this week, Green was protected by troops from rioters.

"I felt that I was right and there was no other alternative," he said.

He said he began to feel how stupid some people can get when they go to extremes to keep their convictions.

"I didn't think of myself as a precedent setter and did not think about the impact of the situation on history," Green said. "All I wanted to do was start school and begin studying."

He said the situation in Mississippi is similar to the one he experienced in Arkansas, though more violent since people were killed.

"Archaic prejudices influenced the older rioters in Little Rock," Green said. "As far as the younger kids are concerned, it was a chance for them to let off steam. If they were alone they wouldn't know any real reason for being there."

Green received a scholarship to MSU after his graduation from Little Rock Central high school. He was president of the NAACP while an undergraduate and is now working on his Masters Degree in Sociology. He was graduated last spring term.

"The first crack in the dam has been opened in Mississippi," Green said. "Even if Meredith is removed it doesn't mean it is over. Meredith is only the beginning of the end of segregation in Mississippi."

He pointed out that when the taxes are paid that support state education in Mississippi both Negroes and whites foot the bill.

He said the Civil War was fought 100 years ago and things won't remain unchanged as some people would like. Times have changed.

"The South loses a lot of talent because of its backward way of reasoning," Green said. "Those people can't build a state with men of Barnett's caliber. If they keep trying Mississippi will always be low in income and large in illiteracy."

He said that when Barnett claimed to have expressed the feelings of all of the people of Mississippi in his Monday night television address he was wrong. Forty per-cent of the residents of Mississippi are Negroes.

"Barnett couldn't have been elected by all of the people of Mississippi," Green said.

"I think things in Mississippi will work out as they did in Arkansas," he said. "Integration in Little Rock is working smoothly now with 65 to 70 Negroes in Central high school at present."

ENDOW THE AFFLERBACH COLLECTION

OR

Nobody ever lost an Eagle Tabsnap® under the dresser

MANY men who would like to wear tab collar shirts do not do so because they object to the tyranny of collar buttons. It is not just that collar buttons are hard to find when you need them. (Contrary to popular belief collar buttons do not always roll under furniture. The only sure way of finding a collar button is to walk around barefoot in the dark until you step on it. Now there is an experience.) No, there is something else: some men are simply not built for collar buttons. Their Adam's apples are in the wrong place. Or their hands are not the right shape for wrestling with all those empty collar button holes. So they end up wilted and out of sorts before they ever hit the street. It is the haberdashery equivalent of cutting yourself shaving. But that is a thing of the past. An Eagle Tabsnap Shirt is secured by one simple, inaudible click. As you can see from the illustration, it lies inconspicuously flat and neat. The snap enclosure is covered by the same material as the shirting itself. Eagle Tabsnaps are available in a wide range of colors and patterns, with short sleeves or regular. Yes, it appears that the collar button will join the button fly in the museum of clothing antiquities. Say, that is a good idea. If you can find your collar button please send it to us and we will start one (The Afflerbach Collection) right here in Quakertown. In return we will tell you where in your town you can find Eagle Shirts. Otherwise how would you know?

WHAT TO WEAR TILL THE DOCTOR COMES

Now that you have enrolled and paid your fees and bought your books and found your way around campus and learned to hate your roommate, it is time to turn to the most important aspect of college life. I refer, of course, to clothes.

What does Dame Fashion decree for the coming school year? (Incidentally, Dame Fashion is not, as many people believe, a fictitious character. She was a real Englishwoman who lived in Elizabethan times and, indeed, England is forever in her debt. During the invasion of the Spanish Armada, Dame Fashion, not yet a Dame but a mere, unlettered country lass named Moll Flanders—during the invasion, I say, of the Spanish Armada, this dauntless girl stood on the white cliffs of Dover and turned the tide of battle by rallying the drooping morale of the British fleet with this stirring poem of her own composition.)

Don't be gullus,
Men of Britain,
Suing your collars,
We ain't quittin'.
Smash the Spanish,
Sink their boats,
Make 'em swim,
Like a horse makes out.
For Good Queen Bess,
Dear sire, you gotta
Make a mess
Of that Armada.
You won't fail!
Knock 'em flat!
Then we'll drink all
And stuff like that.

In 1589 she invented the layette

As a reward for these inspirational verses Queen Elizabeth dubbed her a Dame, made her Poet Laureate, and gave her the Western Hemisphere except Duluth. But this was not the extent of Dame Fashion's service to Queen and country. In 1589 she invented the laying hen, and she was awarded a lifetime pass to Chavez Ravine. But she was not to end her days in glory. In 1591, alas, she was arrested for overtime posting and imprisoned for thirty years in a butt of molasses. This lady became known as Guy Fawkes Day.

But I digress. Let us get back to campus fashions. Certain to be the rage again this year is the cardigan (which, curiously enough, was named after Lord Cardigan, who commanded the English fleet against the Spanish Armada. The sweater is one product of this remarkable Briton's imagination. He also invented the plottal stop, the gerund, and the eyelid, without which winking, as we know it today, would not be possible.)

But I digress. The cardigan, I say, will be back, which I believe, cause for rejoicing. Why? Because the cardigan has nice big pockets in which to carry your Marlboro cigarettes and that, good friends, is ample reason for celebration as all of you will agree who have enjoyed Marlboro's fine, counterbalancing mellow flavor and Marlboro's filter. So why don't you slip on your cardigan and tie yourself to your tobacco instead of your good Marlboro? They come in soft pink or flip-top box. Cardigans come in pink for girls and blue for boys. © 1962 Max Chabon

Cardigans or pullovers—it's a matter of taste... And so is Marlboro a matter of taste—the best taste that can possibly be achieved by experienced growers and blenders—by experience, diligence, and tender loving care. Try a pack.
