Announce Lectures Series

A series of five lectures dealing with the general theme "The Artist and Responsibility" will open the 1962-63 Provost Lectures, beginning Oct. 17.

Financed by a grant from AUSG and presented in association with the Provost and the Honors College, all lectures are given on Wednesday afternoons at 4 p.m. in the Kiva.

Admission is free and open to anyone.

The featured speakers for fall term, and the dates of their appearances are:

Paul Goodman, New York author, poet and playwright, Oct. 17; Gerald Elliott, drama and music critic and chief editorial writer for the Grand Rapids Press, Oct. 31; Stanley Idzerda, director of MSU's Honors College, Oct. 31; Everett Clarke, Chicago actor, director and producer, Nov. 14; and John F.A. Taylor, MSU professor of philosophy, Nov. 28.

"This year we've tried to bring more people from outside the University," said Ken Beachler, chairman of AUSG's Academic Benefits committee which oversees the lectures. Three of the five speakers in the fall term series work outside the sphere of the University.

"We haven't tried to give them any snob appeal or tell people they have to go," he said, stressing the informality of the lectures. "The lectures are on a level any student can understand."

They generally are an hour long, followed by a question-answer period. A coffee hour with the speaker is also being planned.

Beachler said this year's lectures are the first in which all the speakers have been selected by a student committee.

Michigan Tech To Build Classroom

SAULT STE. MARIE, (UPI)—Michigan Tech's Soo campus will soon have a new classroom-laboratory to replace the Forestry-Humanities Building which was destroyed by fire recently.

Construction of the new structure is scheduled to begin in the spring of 1963.

Reservists, Civilians, Play Role in Defense

In case of atomic attack a well organized local group of Air Force personnel and civilians will be ready to aid damaged planes, air strips, and other facilities in preparation for counter attack.

Heading the organization is reserve Lt. Col. Howard Zindel who is also head of the poultry science department here.

Speaking before the MSU men's Club members at a luncheon Tuesday, Zindel explained there are about 200 such groups scattered throughout the United States. They remain ready at all times and can bring assistance within 15 minutes.

The program is dubbed DARR which means Dispersal Aircraft Recovery and Reconstitution.

US-Soviet Parley Requested

UNITED NATIONS, (AP)—Indonesia called Tuesday for a meeting between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev on Berlin and related East-West issues preferably at the United Nations during the present Assembly session.

Sukardjo Wirjopranoto, Indonesia's permanent U.N. representative, told the 109 nation General Assembly that the forcible division of Germany, China, Korea and Viet Nam threaten world peace.

"The Berlin issue in particular," he added, "which is at the heart of the problem of a divided Germany, can at any moment plunge humanity into a nuclear holocaust."

OSU Faculty Favors Bowl Bid

Last season, Ohio State won the Big 10 championship, but the council voted against sending the team to the Rose Bowl. Second-place Minnesota went to the Bowl and defeated UCLA, 21-3.

However, the faculty council, in effect, accepting a recommendation of the Ohio State Athletic Council, now has voted 36 to 20 in favor of a policy of participation in the Rose Bowl game.

The council stipulated, however, that a formal contract must be in force between the Big 10 and the Athletic Association of Western Universities on the west coast. Minnesota went to the bowl last New Year's Day without a Big 10 agreement in effect.

The faculty council of Ohio State University has reversed itself and voted in favor of participation in the Rose Bowl game.

Will Ask Change In Housing Policy

AUSG will make a determined effort this fall to secure Board of Trustee approval for certain changes in the University's housing policy.

The campaign will be launched with a resolution expected to be introduced at tonight's Student Congress meeting.

Describing housing in the men's dormitories as "vastly overcrowded," the resolution will propose these policy changes:

1) A rebate for students assigned to rooms originally designed to accommodate a fewer number of persons.

2) Allowing students placed in these rooms an option to break their housing contracts.

In a situation with three men in a two-man room, the resolution recommends a rebate amounting to one-third of that portion of the room fee put toward retirement of the dormitory bond.

The section dealing with the contract option urges that upperclassmen assigned to rooms exceeding their normal capacity be allowed to break their contract at the end of a term, provided two-weeks notice is given.

The resolution contends that housing on campus is "causing considerable disadvantage" to men who must live in a dormitory. It predicts that planned increases in housing facilities "will not substantially overcome this situation in the foreseeable future."

Congress Speaker Jim Barnes

said the resolution will be used as a guide-line for a comprehensive investigation of housing conditions.

Meantime, AUSG's financial picture brightened a little Tuesday with the news that Luau has repaid $967.77 of its $2,500 loan.

Finance Committee Chairman John Noud said with the Luau refund, AUSG will have approximately $3,300 in its treasury to carve out the fall term budget. "Several feel AUSG shouldn't go into the hole again," he explained.

Seidman Contributes To Dems for College

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—L. William Seidman, the Republican candidate for auditor general, disclosed Tuesday he made a $50 contribution earlier this year to Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson's campaign fund.

But Seidman said he made the contribution only after a person he described as "a high Kent County Democratic official" intimated the gift would be beneficial for Grand Valley State College. Seidman is chairman of the board of the new school in Allendale in nearby Ottawa County.

Seidman said Tuesday, "this happened three or four months before I had any thoughts about politics. A high Kent County Democratic official was in the office. He indicated it would be to the college's benefit if I made a contribution.

"I didn't want to give it, but decided if it was necessary for the college--well, Grand Valley was most important to me. My family had given $250,000 to it and I didn't want to see it fail."

Seidman said he decided to discuss the contribution because, "people in the Democratic of ice have been talking to reporters that this is so--that such a contribution was made. Apparently they are trying to make an issue of it because they have so little else to make issues about."

Seidman, whose nomination at the Republican Convention spurred charges among Old Guard party members that he was more a Democrat than a member of the GOP, said he discussed the contribution today with George Romney, the party's gubernatorial candidate.

"Mr. Romney told me it was too bad we didn't get into this sooner but that it was ok. I just told him what happened and he understood," Seidman said.

When he was first approached for the contribution, Seidman said, he told the solicitor, "I don't want to do it because I don't support Swainson. I don't support the kind of a job he has done."

"After the call by the Kent County Democrats, however, Seidman told his personal secretary, Mrs. Augusta Eppinga, to 'find out what the smallest amount was I could give.' When she said $50 had been recommended, Seidman told her to go ahead and mail it."

Speaking retrospectively Seidman said, "I think it's too bad that it happened. I should have told them no. But I wasn't in politics then and I was just thinking about the college."

Mrs. Eppinga said the original request came from the "Re-elect John B. Swainson Committee of Lansing." The letter dated June 4, was signed by Zoltan A. Ferency of the Governor's staff.

Congress Revises Student Loyalty Oath

President Kennedy is expected to sign a revision of the controversial loyalty oath and anti-Communist disclaimer provision of the government's loan program to college students.

The House completed Congressional action Oct. 2 on the changes in the student loan programs of the National Defense Act and the National Science Foundation Act.

The revision repeals the disclaimer affidavit which required an applicant for a government loan to swear that he had never joined and would not join any organization advocating the violent overthrow of the United States Government.

"The faculty and student government at Michigan State," Henry Dykema, director of the program here, said, "went on record several years ago recommending the elimination of this affidavit."

Colleges and universities across the country made similar recommendations, Dykema said, with many withdrawing from the program contending that the affidavit was an invasion of personal political rights.

Michigan State chose only to go on record opposing the affidavit and not to withdraw so that the students would not be denied the opportunity to obtain the loans, he said.

The revision, Dykema pointed out, stems from the actions of the colleges and universities in opposing the affidavit.

Retained in the new provision is a separate loyalty oath similar to that required of government officials before taking office.

The bill also adds some new requirements that liberal spokesmen in Washington said were certain to stir new controversy.

If the President signs the changes into law, students applying for loans under the two programs, in addition to taking a general oath to uphold and defend the Constitution, would have to provide a detailed statement of any crimes for which they had been convicted, except those committed as a minor under 16 years of age and traffic infractions for which the fine was $25 or less.

The new provision also would make it a federal crime for any member of an organization identified as Communist-controlled by the Subversive Activities Control Board to apply for or use any scholarship or loan.

Congress Pushes for Adjournment

WASHINGTON--Congress's expected drive for final adjournment stalled again Tuesday with little progress on clearing major legislative roadblocks, particularly the multi-billion dollar water projects bill despite Democratic talk of a wind-up this week.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the Senate's assistant Democratic leader, said Thursday night is the target now. He predicted that goal could be achieved.

Soblen's Death Ruled Suicide

LONDON--A coroner's jury Tuesday returned a verdict of suicide in Dr. Robert A. Soblen's death. It found the ball-jumping spy killed himself with an overdose of sleeping pills which he had hidden in a secret pocket of his trousers.

The verdict, reached after 82 minutes of deliberation, left unsolved the mystery of how and where Soblen got the pills with which he knocked himself into a fatal coma Sept. 6. He died five days later without regaining consciousness.

Kennedy, Lodge Opponent To Hold Auction

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.--H. Stuart Hughes, the Harvard historian who is an independent candidate for the U.S. Senate, came up with an arty gimmick Tuesday to raise campaign funds. The Hughes headquarters announced there will be an auction of original paintings, drawings, sculptures, poetical and musical manuscripts Oct. 19 at the Stebbens Auditorium in Cambridge. The works were donated by their creators.

Hughes is opposing Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, Democrat, and George C. Lodge, Republican.

Communist Threat Reported in Thailand

WASHINGTON--General James Collins, commander of the U.S. Army forces in the Pacific, warns that a new communist threat in Southeast Asia may be shaping up this time in Thailand. He said the communists appear to be in the first stages of an attempt to take over Thailand. The country adjoins Laos and the beleaguered South Viet Nam.

Dorm Thefts, Car Stripping on The Rise

By Dave Joehng
Of The State News
Eighth of a Series

A patrol car moved slowly over the dark pedestrian bridge at the rear of the Kellogg Center. At the end of the bridge it stopped.

Two pairs of eyes sifted through the crowded parking lot.

Movement at the center of the lot caught one of the officer's attention.

In the lighted lot, two figures moved cautiously around a new sedan.

Listening carefully, the officers heard a clink as a piece of metal hit the ground, then another clink.

Backing the car off the bridge, the two officers got out of the car, careful to close the doors quietly. The men recrossed the bridge on foot.

They had radioed another car which had moved to the corner of Kalamazoo and Harrison Road to block any escape of the suspects by car.

The foot-officers crept in behind the car, using other vehicles for concealment.

A curt command from one of the officers halted the suspects who were just about to leave.

Two faces turned toward the officers.

"Put it down," ordered one of the officers.

Again a clink was heard.

The two figures wriggled around, and finally up popped an MSU "No Parking" sign, standing on its metal base.

"We were just going to put it in the Kellogg lobby on our way to our room," said one of the faces.

The other face just grinned.

The two officers herded the two guests into Kellogg Center, took them to their rooms, and left. They returned the sign to the station.

"They could have been car strippers," the older officer said. "We have a lot of trouble with them in the Kellogg lot."

Instead, they were just two mildly intoxicated alumni up to the old tricks they had performed as undergraduates.

Higher Education In Mississippi

What Happened At Ole Miss

Following is a letter sent by a graduate student at the University of Mississippi to a friend at the University of Texas. A copy of the letter reached a Michigan State student who submitted it to the State News. Names have been omitted to protect the people involved.

Tuesday night,
10 p.m.
October 2

Dear -----

Perhaps you may recall some of our group's discussions at Columbus in which Will ----- and I repeatedly predicted that this would be a mess here. Many of the seminar participants, especially you and Ron, really could not believe what I was anticipating. Remember? Well, unfortunately I was only too right.

Tonight, surrounded by 11,000 soldiers and marshall's, we have relative quiet--with only occasional tear gas guns exploding, a few jeeps rushing by, and, perhaps, only 2,000 guards at entrances to the University--that's a big improvement over Sunday and Monday, when the campus was truly a battleground. Two dead, more than 100 wounded. About 1,500 students have withdrawn from school. More leave daily.

You have by now heard the complete story. I'll only mention a few personal incidents.

I saw the Mississippi highway patrol flee the campus--at the height of the battle leaving the marshall's to the mercy of the crowd--after Barnett had promised they would help preserve the peace.

I charge the Governor and his "efficient" highway patrol with not only abandoning their rightful responsibility to keep law and order but also with willingly and knowingly contributing to the general disorder of the mob.

The U.S. marshall's were beaten, cursed, and attacked for hours without provocation by students (not outsiders) before the marshall's opened fire in self defense. I personally watched (from a distance) several hundred animals demolish a reporter's car in which he and his wife were driving toward campus. It was horrible!! State policemen mearily said, "Let's get out of here!" and left.

Afraid? Scared? I was terrified all night long! Several liberal friends from the north and I sat in darkened rooms watching students wreck the campus and listened to gunfire all night. The tear gas covered the campus for two days.

We wept for hours Monday--I from disgust and shame, as well as the gas.

No one has spoken to Mr. Meredith yet. He is attending classes under guard. He lives about 100 yards from here, but his dorm is off limits (we are practically under martial law--it's necessary) and he is guarded by about 100 airborne troops. Only 15 students remain in his dorm built for 3 or 400--the rest have left in protest to his presence.

Not 50 yards from here, he is hung in effigy from a dorm window. Everywhere he is cursed, booed, and damned! Many desire his departure; some his death!

Yes, there are 10 of us who should act! Perhaps even 10% of the students favor law and order over provincial fetishes and stupid social codes, but we are powerless to act. One prof and a priest were beaten for their moderate views. My thesis director's 1952 automobile was burned to cinders (used as a barrier against troops). He had no insurance to cover rebellions against the government.

Moderation is not tolerated! Liberalism is crushed!

Until the troops came, we were in a state of anarchy! What better mode of government for imbeciles and barbarians!!

As long as troops remain we will have order. I do not dare voice my thoughts on what I would do here were I in command! Even you--as a great liberal--would be shocked at the extent I find myself (a pacifist) willing to go to destroy this rebellion and these asses in power here. I must soon leave here, or I fear risk speaking once too often to my "intellectual colleagues."

For centuries this will stand as Mississippi's greatest claim to infamy. To quote Barnett, "May God have mercy on his and Mississippi's soul!"

To mankind, to the Negro race, to Meredith--I apologize. Forgive us!

Your friend -----

Wage Hike Asked For Unskilled

Decent labor standards should be extended to include the low-paid service workers of our economy, said Mrs. Estee Peterson, assistant secretary of labor and director of the women's bureau, U.S. Department of Labor.

Although Mrs. Peterson was ill and could not attend a University conference in Kellogg Center recently on Employment Problems of Working Women, her speech was read by Mrs. Agnes Douy of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Sound labor standards which respond realistically to the needs of workers are essential to economic progress and security, Mrs. Peterson said. The United States hasn't attained prosperity when 80 per cent of our families have incomes of $1,000 per person as they did last year, she continued.

Mrs. Peterson said she was referring to low-paid service workers. These include laundry, domestic, hotel and restaurant, farm, migrant and other workers who are not covered by state or federal laws.

Neither public relief services nor contributions by religious and other special groups and individuals has proved adequate, Mrs. Peterson maintained.

Estell New Manager of WKAR

Richard D. Estell has been named acting manager of WKAR and WKAR-FM, replacing Lawrence T. Frymire, manager, who has been granted a one-year leave of absence from the University to become head of the education branch of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

Estell has been associated with WKAR since 1955, as chief announcer, program coordinator, and most recently as production and facilities manager. A 15-year veteran of broadcasting, Estell was formerly program director of WLEW, Rad Ave, and announcer-engineer with WTVR, Coldwater.

A native of Hillsdale, Estell graduated cum laude with the A.B. degree from Michigan State in 1957, and is presently a candidate for the M.A. degree here. He is also a graduate of the Don Martin School of Radio and Television, Hollywood, California.

MSU athletic fans will recognize Estell as the public address voice of the Spartans, an assignment he has held for the past five years at all home Michigan State athletic contests.

Estell is a member of the National Association of Broadcasters and the National Association of Educational Broadcasters, serving as a member of the Program Acceptance Committee of the latter group.

He is a veteran of World War II, when he served as a radio operator and gunner with the U.S. Army Air Force. Estell is married and the father of one son.

Theatrical Season Getting Underway

Building of Sets Studio 49 Stages Begins for First Original Dramas, Experimental

UT Production

Beneath the auditorium stage, students are building another world. Set production for "Angel Street," first play of University Theatre's 42-52 season, has begun.

Volunteers armed with hammers and paint brushes are building a box set for the Oct. 24-28 performances.

The diversified schedule for fall term also includes Archibald MacLeish's Pulitzer Prize winning play "J.B.," an arena production of "The American Dream" and a presentation by student directed Studio 49.

The world of the University stage is created by the MSU Players and Theta Alpha Phi.

Membership in both organizations requires an accumulation of points. The points are earned according to an individual's work on theatre productions.

An open meeting for those interested in joining MSU Players will be held Sunday at 7:00 p.m. in Studio 49 of the auditorium.

Students interested in expanding their ability to create theatrical adventures may sign now on the human board in side room 41 in the auditorium.

These students will then be eligible to participate in the experimental productions of Studio 49, the student workshop sponsored by the department of speech.

Each year Studio 49 presents several plays, most of them original productions, giving students the opportunity to gain experience in acting, directing and writing.

Any original plays may be submitted to the speech office, auditorium. Applications from those wishing to direct may be obtained in 41 auditorium.

The average season running in East Lansing is 15 plays. In summer, 25 degrees in average rainfall is 3.28 inches.

"Something for everyone" is the aim of Carol Harding, new director of the Women's Intramural Program at MSU. The program has designed the IM program to include individual sports and individual events. This IM program will include basketball, volleyball, tennis, and swimming. The program will be held in the IM building and pool are open afternoons and evenings.

"Physical education should be the first place for women to become involved in learning tools and techniques for recreational activity," says Miss Harding.

Dorm Thefts

Grand larceny are becoming an increasing problem to the University police.

Dormitory thefts alone have jumped nearly 100 percent in the last few years.

Police efforts have kept up with the increase in crime. Arrests for theft have generally kept pace with the rise in property loss.

Even the dormitory thefts, notorious among the students, who believed them to be unsolvable, have been cleaned up in many cases.

The development of a highly skilled investigative section under the direction of Lieutenant Donald Harek, has boosted the respect for the department.

In the last Spring term, the department carried an investigative work which led to the arrest of students involved in producing false identification to DEARBORN, (UPI) - The John Birch Society has been given permission to hold a seminar here despite criticism of the right-wing group's request by local residents and a Dearborn newspaper.

Mayor Orville L. Hubbard ruled Monday a local chapter of the society can rent the city's youth center Oct. 27 for an all-day seminar with four national officers giving addresses.

Do Living Systems Exist Elsewhere?

DETROIT, (UPI) - A University of California professor said Tuesday there is a strong possibility of living systems existing in the universe.

Prof. Melvin Calvin, Nobel Laureate in chemistry, said "There must exist elsewhere in the universe not one but many terrestrial type planets upon which will have evolved living systems of a kind that we would recognize as such. Given the time scale of five to 10 billion years, it is clear that some of these living communities may have existed much longer than the one on earth."

Calvin spoke at the dedication of Wayne State University's Life Sciences Research Center. He also was honored by the University and World Affairs.

Hannah To Speak In Ann Arbor

President John A. Hannah will speak at the Association of Governing Board's meeting Thursday in Ann Arbor. The topic of the meeting will be "The University and World Affairs."

The association will meet at Michigan State Saturday, and the members will be guests at the Michigan game.

Do Living Systems Exist Elsewhere?

"The first has been to stimulate scientists to create hypothetical schemes leading from the primordial non-living earth to the present day."

This has led, he said, to the setting up of experimental areas in laboratories for testing some of these schemes.

Calvin said there are two processes which most scientists agree must be present to generate living system.

He said one is "the ability to transfer and transform energy in a directed way and the other is the ability to remember how to do this and transfer that information to another system like itself which it can construct."

Rougher Than Old

DETROIT.-Raymond Brennan, 42, Harper Woods, and his son, Terry, 12, were in fair condition in Saratoga General Hospital here Monday, recovering from wounds inflicted when they fell on a spike fence while straining for a glimpse of President Kennedy Saturday.

They suffered wounds under the rib cage from the six-inch spikes.

The Great Art

Of Looking

Superbly Casual

Take one traditional short-dress, mix with baby-fine cotton corduroy, add a front

zipper for ease and a pinch of Cherberg's own special tailoring magic... and you've got a great recipe for casual beauty. Sizes

in red-red, 7 to 15

olive green. $17.98
