Queen Patty, Homecoming '62

Patty Johnson to Reign

Sophomore Royalty From Grand Rapids

Patty Johnson, pert sophomore from Grand Rapids, is Michigan State's homecoming queen for 1962. She will reign over the daylong festivities Saturday and will be crowned at the homecoming dance in the evening.

Presenting Queen Patty with her tiara will be the 1961 queen, Kim Larles of Mt. Clemens. Kim, like Patty, is a Kappa Kappa Gamma. Also on the court is another Kappa girl, Ruthann Helmerich, Birmingham senior.

Queen Patty enjoys sports, especially aqua-sports, such as water skiing, sailing and swimming. In addition, the secretarial administration major, also enjoys music and plays the piano.

The blonde, blue-eyed royalty is a 1961 graduate of Grand Rapids Central High School. There she was a member of the homecoming court, student council, choir and sports editor

Purdue Eyes Win Over Fighting Illini

LAFAYETTE, Ind. - Hopeful of remaining in contention in the tightening Big Ten race, Purdue's balanced football squad will be seeking its third straight conference triumph of the season as it meets steadily improving Illinois here Saturday in the annual homecoming attraction.

In the 44th renewal of a series that marks the halfway point in the Big Ten schedule for the Boilermakers, Coach Jack Mollenkopf had indicated that he will stick to the same two alternating units that have been effective in stopping Michigan and Iowa without yielding a touchdown.

"We had another good, overall squad performance against Iowa, and I hope we can continue the same style of hard hitting play against Illinois," said Coach Jack Mollenkopf as he launched this week's drills.

"Against Iowa, the running of fullbacks Roy Walker and Gene Donaldson sparked our offense," added Mollenkopf. "The play of our tackles, led by always consistent Don Brumm, was likewise outstanding."

The Boilermakers are fully aware of the fact that Illinois is a much more dangerous opponent than its winless record would indicate.

"Don't discount Illinois," says Ned Maloney, assistant coach who has been scouting the Homecoming foe. "In Mike Tallafarro, they have one of the finest passers in the midwest, while Thurman Walker is a top receiver. Illinois started on the upgrade against Minnesota and continued to show improvement against Southern California, particularly in its ground game, last Saturday."

Reports from the training room indicated that Co-captain Forest Farmer, who has missed both the Michigan and Iowa games due to a broken thumb, has an outside chance of rejoining the Boilermaker forces this weekend.

The dance will run from 8-12 p.m. in the auditorium with the music being provided by the Bill May band. The band features Frankie Lester, and at intermission Queen Patty will be crowned. Also at the dance, awards will be presented winning homecoming display units, while Excalibur, senior men's honorary, will tap fall term selections.

Members of the committee for the dance are: Charles W. Fratcher, chairman, Lauren P. Brown, Emery G. Foster, George D. Harris, Elton B. Hill, John R. Kinney and Theodore Wonch.

All are members of the Ingham County Alumni Club, which sponsors the dance.

1952 Spartans Were Best

Unbeaten In Nine Encounters

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is a story of Coach Biggie Munn and the 1952 State football team, which won the only National championship in the school's history. It is followed by a summary of each game played in the '52 season, as told by Munn, while viewing game films.

"The difference between good and great is a little extra effort." These words came from Clarence "Biggie" Munn, former Michigan State football coach and now athletic director.

More than one Munn-coached team heard those oft spoken words, but today they are best remembered by members of the 1952 team, now on campus for their 10th reunion. It is more than just a get-together to talk over a touchdown run or a winning season; it is a time to recall the pleasant memories that go with winning a National football championship.

The 1952 Michigan State College eleven was the only team in the school's history to capture the coveted National title. That year they were 9-0, which was included in a 28-game win streak under Munn.

Following a 34-7 loss to Maryland in 1950, MSC finished the year with six straight wins and then went through nine games in each of the '51, and '52 campaigns without a loss.

Defeat finally did meet Munn's team on the fifth game of the '53 season, when Purdue nipped the Spartans, 6-0 at Lafayette. The Spartans then went on to a Rose Bowl win over UCLA.

In seven years as head coach at State, Munn had a dazzling 34-9-2 mark for an .857 percentage, unmatched by any other coach in Michigan State's history.

During his tenure, he lost only four home encounters, including two to the University of Michigan. His "worst" years as a head coach here came in 1948-49. In '48, his team ended the campaign with a 6-2-2 slate, and in '49 they were 6-3.

Munn played his college ball at Minnesota, where he won unanimous All-American honors his senior year at guard.

His teammates voted him the Gopher's most valuable player in 1930 and '31, while the Chicago Tribune presented him with the Big Ten's MVP award in '31, also.

His Michigan State teams of 1951-52-53 finished in the top three in the country. They were second in '51, first in '52 and third in '53.

For his coaching, as well as playing record, he was elected to the National Football Hall of Fame in 1959.

MICHIGAN

Before a sellout crowd in Ann Arbor, the University of Michigan jumped off to a 13-0 lead. It wasn't long, however, before Michigan State got back into the game.

Behind beautiful blocking, Don McAuliffe went 70 yards for a touchdown. The extra point was good and the score was 13-7. MSU got the ball on the M-45. Wayne Benson picked up two yards. Tom Yewcic passed to Ellis Duckett, who was knocked out of bounds on the four.

LeRoy Bolden went into the end zone standing up on an end sweep to tie the score. It wasn't long before the Spartans forged ahead on another drive. Billy Wells broke inside the Michigan defensive end for the score, while Evan Slonac booted the all-important PAT.

Before the game ended, Yewcic pitched a TD pass to Bolden in the left flat, and Slonac converted for a 27-13 victory.

OREGON STATE

Michigan State broke the ice on a touchdown pass from Yewcic to Paul Dekker. State recorded another easy six-pointer at Multnomah Stadium, which put the Spartans in front, 14-0.

A slight letup by MSU paved the way for an Oregon State comeback. It wasn't long before the West Coast eleven had evened the count at 14-14. The game stayed knotted until only seconds remained before the final gun.

A Yewcic to Dekker aerial set the ball up on the Oregon State eight, and there the Green and White lined up for a field goal. Duckett knelt to hold the ball for Gene Lekenta, and in the fleeting moments Lekenta's kick went wide of the goalposts. However, Oregon was offside and State received new life.

This time they capitalized on the Oregon mistake and made the field goal, which gave them a 17-14 win.

TEXAS A & M

The Texas A&M tilt was nationally televised from East Lansing. State started the afternoon on a Yewcic to Benson completion that set up the first score by McAuliffe.

On the next series of downs, Wells toted the ball to the TCU, three, and from there Bolden scored on a perfectly executed sweep. Yewcic later connected with Duckett on a 60-yard TD aerial.

Just before the half ended, the Yewcic-to-Duckett combination clicked for another long score, and from there on in it was all Spartans in a 48-6 rout.

SYRACUSE

Syracuse received the opening kickoff, but fumbled the ball on the 10 yard line and it rolled into the end zone. State tackled the orange back there and racked up the first two points of the afternoon.

Syracuse took the next kickoff, and State held for three downs. On the ensuing punt, Jim Ellis scooted 55 yards for MSC's first touchdown.

Without running an offensive play from scrimmage, State had jumped to a 9-0 lead.

With time running out in the first period, McAuliffe reeled off a 40-yards to the Syracuse 14. three plays later, the Spartan captain bulled his way into the end zone from the six.

Gaining possession of the ball on the Syracuse-24, Wells carried twice and hit paydirt to run the score to 21-0.

Other Michigan State touchdowns in the 48-7 triumph came on an off-tackle run by Bolden, 12-yard jaunt by Benson, a 30-yard sprint by Bolden and a plunge by Bert Zagers.

All totaled, Michigan State used 62 players in the shellbacking.

PENN STATE

Penn State drew first blood and gained a 7-0 lead. The advantage was short-lived, as Yewcic found Doug Bobo in the endzone with an aerial. Slonac's try for the PAT was good and the score was knotted.

That was the closest the Nittany Lions came to MSU. Yewcic dropped a pass into the arms of Duckett on the 27 and he raced into the end zone. Later, Wells scored on a sweep, and then Yewcic connected with McAuliffe on another TD pass.

The game's final score was a pass from Willie Thrower to Bolden, and gave the final read 34-7 in favor of the Spartans.

PURDUE

MSU received the kickoff and marched to the P-23. Four plays later, McAuliffe slanted off-tackle from two yards out for the six-points.

State regained the ball on the P-25 and a roughing penalty against the Boilermakers moved the ball to the 10. Wells ran a sweep play to the six, and then Yewcic on an option play, kept the ball and went into the end zone standing up.

Late in the game, Purdue made a serious bid to even the score. After tallying a touchdown and converting they were on the move for a second time. A timely pass interception by Doug Weaver, halted the threat on State's nine, as the game ended.

INDIANA

The next game was played at Bloomington Ind., Yewcic displayed his mastery in the air when he tossed a TD strike to Bobo to open the contest. Sandwiched between Bobo's score and a touchdown run by Wells, Indiana scored and converted for a 13-7 advantage for State.

Before the half ended, Wells went into the end zone on an inside handoff and State led 20-7.

MSU got the ball on the IU 10 early in the third period, and two plays later Bolden dove over from the one. Indiana scored again, but then McAuliffe toted the pigskin into the end zone for a TD and Thrower connected on two more scoring pitches to Bobo and McAuliffe to make the final count, 41-14.

NOTRE DAME

Before a sellout crowd a few breaks turned an otherwise even contest into a 21-3 Michigan State win. State's Dick Tamburo recovered a Fighting Irish fumble on the ND-11. Wells drove to the nine before Thrower spotted an open man in the end zone, but Notre Dame interfered and the ball was placed on the two.

From there, McAuliffe hit for a touchdown. Notre Dame scored three points on a field goal at the beginning of the second half to make the score 7-3. Notre Dame fumbled on their own 16 with Tamburo again recovering. Michigan State received a holding penalty.

Thrower tossed a screen pass to Slonac good for a first down. Bolden picked up four. Thrower missed on a pass to Bolden in the end zone, and McAuliffe passed incomplete in the end zone.

Notre Dame took over on downs. The Fighting Irish fumbled and State recovered on about the ND-20. Bolden picked up five, Slonac gained five, and McAuliffe reeled off seven yards. The Spartan captain then scored State's second touchdown. Try for point was good by Slonac, 14-3.

John Lattner made a beautiful pass to Notre Dame's left end to the 5-10. Lattner drove in to the five, and there State put up a great goal line stand. Holding the Irish offense, State took over on about the one. Yewcic punted from his 25, but the ball went over the end line.

Notre Dame took over on their 20. A Lattner pass was intercepted by Ellis, who ran it back to Notre Dame's 24. Slonac scored the final touchdown on a spin.

MARQUETTE

On a rain-soaked field, Michigan State got the ball on the first play, Wells went 23 yards for a touchdown, but the play was called back. State was penalized five yards. McAuliffe on an off-tackle picked up 20 yards, and Slonac went straight ahead for the first score from the seven.

Marquette punted and on a

Alderton Dinner Nov. 6, Named Us 'The Spartans'

By GARY RONBERG
Of The State News

"The Man Who Named the Spartans" retires Dec. 1.

George S. Alderton, for 39 years sports editor of the Lansing State Journal, will call it a day shortly after covering Michigan State's final 1962 football game at Champaign, Ill.

There are many persons high in their praise of Alderton, but it would be difficult for anyone to surpass the sincerity and enthusiasm of MSU athletic director Calrence "Biggie" Munn.

"George is without a doubt one of the finest men I've ever met," Munn said. "He's done so much for sports in general and Michigan State in particular--there's not many like him."

"You know, he went and named Michigan State the Spartans--and now we have Spartan gas, Spartan oil, and even Spartan boats!"

The "Spartans" became Michigan State's nickname in the spring of 1926 as MSC's baseball team was playing in Atlanta, Ga., on its annual southern trip.

A correspondent traveling with the team sent back a story to Lansing, and used the old title of "Aggies."

Alderton crossed out the name and substituted "Spartans from the north" in its place.

"Yep, I misspelled the name the first two times we used it," he now says, "and it wasn't until I got a call from a professor out at the university that I realized it was spelled with an 'a'."

Biggie Munn continues:

"You know, George is a great sportswriter, and without a doubt he could have made a lot more money some place else if he had wanted to. But I think he just grew to love Michigan State so much that nothing could pull him away from here."

A banquet is being held in recognition of Alderton's retirement Nov. 6 in Kellogg Center and Munn is a member of the planning committee.

"I'll tell you--we're doing this thing up right," he said. "There are going to be more than 500 people over there and it's going to be a grand occasion."

"Michigan State University President John A. Hannah is going to attend as well as Ted Smits of the Associated Press. And anyone can come who can afford a $5 ticket."

According to Biggie Munn--and a lot of other people, too--it couldn't happen to a greater guy.

Max Messner, linebacker for the Detroit Lions, was considered a better basketball prospect than a football player during his high school days at Ashland, Ohio.

DEAN OF MICHIGAN SPORTS WRITERS -- George S. Alderton, State Journal sports editor, is retiring Dec. 1, after nearly four decades as head of the Lansing paper. A party, in honor of the man who named the Spartans, will be held at Kellogg Center next week.

Soccer Team Leads For NCAA Tourney

By LARRY MOGG
Of The State News

The Spartan booter brigade, currently the Midwest's No. 1 outfit and only undefeated, untied club, will be favorites in the battle for the NCAA Midwest tournament berth, as the tension-packed race goes into the stretch during the following two weeks.

But favorites or not, the fate of the Green and White will hinge on one tilt, the schedule-ending St. Louis battle. The NCAA soccer committee will undoubtedly extend a welcome hand to the winner of the Spartan-Billiken game.

A 3-3 deadlock with Notre Dame is the only mar on the Billikens' record in seven games. A victory over State would give St. Louis an edge in season records and permit them to walk off with the Midwest bid.

Likewise a victory or even a tie by the Spartans would insure

State of a place in the NCAA tournament field.

This sudden death situation is not a novelty to State soccer skipper Gene Kenney or the veteran members of the squad. Last season the same two teams faced this identical situation, with MSU coming out on the short end of a heartbreaking 1-0 score.

Both clubs last week knocked off the only serious challengers to the top spot.

St. Louis edged undefeated cross-town rival Washington of St. Louis 2-1, while State blanked once-beaten Ohio University.

The Midwest representative will meet the Far Western selection in a first-round playoff game Nov. 17 or 19 at the home field of the Midwestern champ.

The Spartan booters are favored to make the Indiana team their eighth straight victim tomorrow, when the two squads tangle at Bloomington. The Hoosiers have a 2-5 season mark.

Marquette

beautiful return, Ellis went down the right sideline for the second touchdown, but again the play was called back and the Spartans were penalized for offside. Wells on a reverse play traveled the 32 yards for the touchdown MSU led 14-7.

On a very spectacular play Wells took it to the seven yard line and Bolden smashed over for another Michigan State touchdown.

A pass to Dekker set up a quarterback sneak by Thrower. The score read 28-7.

McAuliffe on a beautiful off-tackle run galloped the remaining 20 yards for the next score. A screen pass to Slonac with a 60-yard run for a touchdown made it 35-7.

The final gun sounded and MSU had closed its second straight undefeated campaign with a smashing 62-13 victory and a National Championship.

Flatley Top NW Receiver

IU Gets Shot at Wildcats' Myers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.--Indiana gets its turn Saturday at trying to accomplish what no other team has achieved this season--stopping Northwestern's passing wizard, Tom Myers, and his undefeated Wildcat teammates--in the Hoosiers' Homecoming Day game.

Thus far, Indiana's pass defense has been respectable, allowing 45 completions in 101 attempts, good for two touchdowns and 560 yards. The Hoosiers also have intercepted eight aerials.

But against the top "battery" of ace passer and ace receiver, the Hoosiers have had trouble.

Ron VanderKelen, of Wisconsin, hit on seven of ten, and connected on four to his favorite target, Pat Richter. Dave Mathieson, of Washington State, completed nine of 16 for 134 yards, and seven of them went for 120 yards and the winning touchdowns to Hugh Campbell, the Cougars' National Collegiate pass-receiving champ of the last two years.

And Northwestern's combination of Myers and Paul Flatley is more dangerous than either pair, according to Coach Phil Dickens.

"From what our scout tells us," said Dickens, "Myers is as great a passer as we've been up against in many years. As a sophomore he's as good, if not better, than Wisconsin's Ron Miller as a senior. Flatley is the equal of any receiver we've met this year, comparable to both Pat Richter and Hugh Campbell. He has more speed and is more hard-nosed than Campbell, although probably not as 'sticky'."

Other Northwestern attributes also pose worries for Dickens.

"Fans tend to overlook their running game in light of that tremendous passing," Dickens commented. "With running backs like Bill Swingle at fullback and Larry Benz at halfback they can move the ball on the ground. If you remember, Northwestern stayed on the ground to score its winning touchdown over Ohio State."

In addition to heavy concentration on pass defense this week, the Hoosiers are likely to do more overtime on their lagging defense against kick returns.

It was largely long returns which deprived Indiana of its chances against Wisconsin and long returns by speedy Michigan State backs created most of the trouble last Saturday.

"We've had a hesitancy in closing on the ballcarrier," Dickens said. "I know we're not a quick club and it may be we lay back in fear of taking the feint at a point past recovering."

The team shapes up to be a much stronger outfit than last year's.

After six games the Hoosiers are averaging 179 yards per game on the ground, where last year's game-average was 148.8 yards. At the same time they've trimmed opponents' rushing average from 172.8 to 164 yards per game.

A passing attack which has come on well in the last four games is averaging more than 91 yards a game, well over 1961's 76.8 per game. Meanwhile, opponents have been cut from 100.7 per game in the air to 93.3 yards.

The most amazing facet of the Hoosiers is their ability to fight back and bring themselves up each weekend. After two all-out efforts which brought only heartbreakingly narrow losses to Iowa and Washington State it appeared Indiana was in for a "flat" day after Michigan State jumped off to a 20-0 lead. But the strong-hearted Hoosiers gathered themselves together and battled on better than event terms the rest of the way.

50 Years Ago

Eleven former Indiana University athletes will be inducted into IU's most exclusive organization--the Fifth Year "I" Men's Club--Saturday in pre-game ceremonies at the Hoosiers' homecoming day battle with undefeated Northwestern.

Bill Smith, of Indianapolis, President of the "I" Men's Association, will make the presentation of pins and scrolls to the five who will be able to attend. They will be guests of the Department of Athletics and will sit on the bench with the Indiana squad.

The five attending will be Hugh A. Barnhart, football '12, Rochester, Ind.; Otto T. Englehart, baseball '13, Hamilton, Ind.; Telfer L. Mead, football '12, Colorado Springs, Col., and Clay A. Phillips, track '13, Terre Haute, Ind.

Others who earned their first letter 50 years ago but who will be unable to attend are: Former Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton, football '12, New Albany, Ind.; John C. Cochrane, track

'13, St. Cloud, Minn.; Robert H. Fisher, football '12, address unknown; Arthur C. Krause, football '12, South Pasadena, Calif., and Harrison A. Walker, football '12, Miami, Fla.

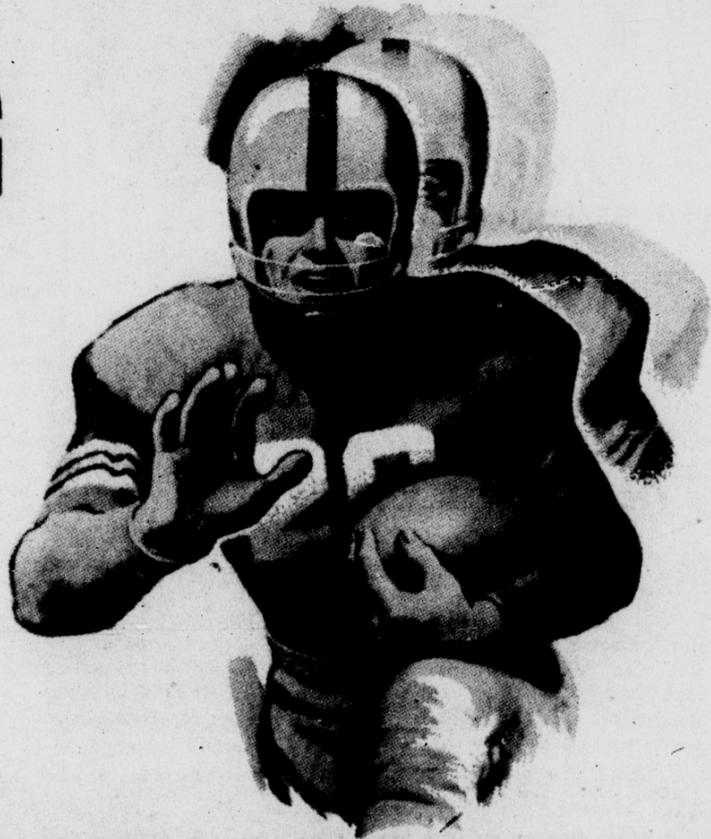

Deceased are Alfred M. Foelinger, baseball '13, Cline E. Clouse, football '12; Clifford O. Dice, football '12; John F. Meizer, wrestling '13; John S. Wicks, track '13; Clem Wilder, wrestling '13, and Ivan A. Zaring, football '12.

Iowa Field Holds Jinx Over OSU

IOWA CITY—Pick up the pieces, regroup and try again: that's the inevitable situation of the University of Iowa's football team, with mighty Ohio State looming all too close on the schedule horizon.

The Buckeyes, 2-1 in the conference after beating previously undefeated Wisconsin, appear in Iowa stadium Saturday before another Hawkeye sell-out crowd. Ohio State has beaten Illinois, 51-15; and Wisconsin, 14-7, but lost to Northwestern, 18-14.

And that Iowa Stadium is one of Ohio State's most unfavorable spots. Coach Woody Hayes has watched his teams lose three of the last four games there.

In 1952, it was 8-0, in one of the league's all-time great upsets and in 1956, a 6-0 win sent Iowa to its first Rose Bowl. Ohio State won a tremendous scoring duel in 1948, 38-28, a week after Iowa had clinched its second title.

The greatest Iowa performance, however, was in 1960, when the Hawkeyes subdued the Buckeyes, 25-12, making 487 yards and scoring 28 points in the first half. The win gave Iowa a share of the conference title.

Two games by decisive scores won't have a bad effect on the team," Coach Jerry Burns said. "Our players have a lot of per-

Lushwells, Goobers Readied

DWARFY DOUGHEARTY SAYS..

If the State News team, Lushwell, doesn't sober up before Saturday's game, victory over the A.U.S.G. Goobers is inevitable. A.U.S.G. Goobers is inevitable.

The A.U.S.G. squad has suffered several set backs during the last week. Last minute replacements and substitutions leave us dubious as to their actual rushing ability. There are many obstacles which lay in their path aside from the actual strength of the Lushwells. The intellectual background they claim left them void of comuthem void of communication in the past and threatens to do so again. The Goobers are a team built on diplomacy and integrity and these two factors alone are the known causes of severe fumbles and concessions.

The big issue in this game will be the clash between brains and brawn. The question pending is will the abundance of Lushwell power compensate for their obvious lack of intelligence?

Fred level-headed Levine, Big Ben scorching Burns, and Dave hit-em-hard Harfst are the might behind the State News. Backed by Bruce fair play Fabricant, wheeling Jim Wallington, able, lanky Artie Langer, and fair Frank fighting Senger will provide the extra necessary spasticity to lead their "team" to victory.

The back bone of this team is a strapping, powerful lass. Movement on Marletta coaches the Lushwells with a strong hand. Her comment on the prospects of the game was "The law of averages is on our side so the lovely Lushwells can't lose."

sonal pride, realize that some of the breaks cannot go against them forever, and will be ready for Ohio State."

Coach Burns said that Scout Bill Happel reports that the big Buckeye team is somewhat different from the usual Ohio State eleven. Main difference is that it uses quarterback running plays and that it throws a variety of offensive sets.

Iowa injuries include a severely sprained ankle for Gus Kasapis and hip ailments for Captain Larry Ferguson and Center Gary Fletcher. Ferguson was injured on the second play of the Purdue game but kept going despite considerable discomfort.

Five-game team figures show 1,503 yards for Iowa to 1,269. Iowa runners have averaged 3.7 per trial with 804 yards and opponents have 564 for 2.9.

Forward passes have netted Iowa 699 yards on 62 completions in 118 shots for 5 touchdowns and .525. Opponents have 55 in 111 for 705 yards, 5 scores and .499.

Other team marks include 77 first downs to 68, 38.3 punt average to 36.4, 30.9 to 35.8 on kick returns, and 15 fumbles and ball lost 13 to 7 and 6.

Iowa's three top rushers are Capt. Larry Ferguson, 4.2 and 225 yards; Bill Perkins, 5.6 and 158; and Bobby Grier, 4.0 and 152. Matt Szykowny has a .567 percentage on passes, 38 of 67 for 495 yards and five touchdowns.

Best receivers are Paul Krause, 13 for 178; Ferguson, 12 for 169; and Cloyd Webb, 10 for 157.

The Ohio State-Iowa series started in 1922 and in the past 40 years the teams have met 24 times. Buckeyes have won 13 games to Iowa's 9, with two ties. The 1961 game at Columbus was won by Ohio State, 29-13.

Wrestlers Open Looking for Big Ten Win In Oklahoma

State's wrestling team is scheduled for 14 appearances next winter on a schedule announced by Athletic Director Clarence "Biggie" Munn. Highlighting the card are home meet with Oklahoma, Iowa and the State College of Iowa. These clubs finished second, third and fifth in last year's national championships.

Grady Peninger begins his first year as head coach and inherits a team that compiled a 6-1-2 dual meet mark while placing fifth in 1962 Big Ten competition and tied for ninth in the NCAA meet.

The complete schedule: Dec. 27-28--Pan American Tryouts at Norman, Okla.; Jan. 5--Quadrangular Meet at Evanston, Ill.; Jan. 11--At Purdue; Jan. 19--At Ohio State; Jan. 26--Oklahoma; Feb. 2--Pittsburgh; Feb. 4--State College of Iowa; Feb. 9--At Illinois; Feb. 15--Indiana; Feb. 16--Iowa; Feb. 23--At Michigan; March 2--At Minnesota; March 8-9--Big Ten Championships at Evanston, Ill.; March 21-23--NCAA Championships at Kent, Ohio.

U-M Battles Badgers

ANN ARBOR - Hoping to get its revamped offense under way, Michigan's football squad -- thrice-beaten in Big Ten play -- tackles Wisconsin's fast-moving Badgers here Saturday before 55,000 fans in the Wolverine Stadium. Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

Once more the Wolverines will face a vengeful opponent, seeking to rebound after defeat. While the Maize and Blue was dropping its third straight game to Minnesota, 17-0 here last weekend, the stubborn Badgers were going down before Ohio State's powerhouse, 14-7.

Scoreless for the third straight game in Big Ten play, Michigan's varsity went through a rugged scrimmage against the freshmen Monday in an effort to spark its ailing defense. Bob Timberlake again was at left half, the starting spot he'll hold Saturday. Either Bob Chandler of Frosty Evashevski will be at quarterback at kickoff time, with Dave Raimy at right half and probably Wayne Sparkman at fullback.

Last week against Minnesota, Coach Bump Elliott sprang a surprise offense against the Gophers and although it started effectively enough, misplays robbed it of any real chance. That combination found Harvey Chapman as a flanker back, with Timberlake and Raimy, and Evashevski at quarter.

The Wolverines, who have lost John Houtman, regular left tackle, and Dave Glinka, starting quarterback, with knee injuries, possibly will face the Badgers without Captain Bob Brown, left end. If Brown's injured ankle doesn't respond to treatment, sophomore Jim Conley will be moved up to the left wing.

A cheering note as practice opened was the return of Joe O'Donnell at right tackle, to full strength after being handicapped the past two games by an injured ankle.

Elliott said that he hoped this week to develop his new offense further since additional practice time would be gained. Chandler's showing at quarterback was a cheering note and if the rifle-armed LaGrange, Ill., athlete can continue to improve, he may give the Wolverine offense a needed shot in the arm.

While the Wolverine defense showed decided improvement last Saturday, it will be severely tested against the running and passing of the Badgers. All-American Pat Richter at end will be a tough scoring threat. Two years ago he received a broken collarbone against the Wolverines at Madison and was lost for the season but he's since rebounded into one of the country's greatest wingmen. In that game he caught a 50-yard pass from Ron Miller to set up the first Badger score as he was injured.

The Michigan-Wisconsin series is one of the oldest in the Big Ten, beginning in 1892 as Michigan scored a 10-6 win over the Badgers at Madison. Overall, Michigan holds an 18-6 edge over their Badger rivals. Only one game was tied, a 7-7 deadlock in 1921.

Wisconsin has won the last two games of the series, scoring a 19-10 win in 1959 and a 16-13 decision at Madison two years ago.

Michigan State's football team allowed conference opposition only 50 points.

Golden Gophers Seek To Upset Spartans

The big stakes will be down on the turf of Spartan Stadium Saturday when football teams of the University of Minnesota and Michigan State University clash in one of the nation's highlight collegiate games.

The Spartans with two Big Ten victims (Michigan and Indiana) behind them are gunning for the Conference title and the Rose Bowl bid. Coach Duffy Daugherty and his crew are also avowedly interested in recouping the national prestige lost in their opening-game setback by Stanford. This week's Associated Press poll finds them in seventh place nationally. Then, too, fresh is the stinging memory of the 13-0 humiliation handed the then No. 1 ranked Spartans a year ago in Memorial Stadium here. As if this isn't already enough incentive for the Staters, they will be performing before a stimulating Homecoming audience of some 66,000.

Minnesota, with its Conference record of two wins and a loss, retains hopes of capturing the championship. Another setback will dash these hopes. The Gophers will make an all-out effort Saturday to remain in contention. A victory would be the first scored by Minnesota in Spartan Stadium and would swing the all-time series edge to the Gophers at 5-4. The assignment before them is not an inviting one, however. The Spartans boast the nation's most devastating ground attack sparked by the USA's outstanding backfield combine in the persons of Charlie Mogyanka, Sherm Lewis, Dewey Lincoln, and George Salmes. Perhaps no other college backfield boasts as impressive a combination of speed (Lincoln and Lewis), and power and break-away threat (Salmes). News media throughout Michigan are proclaiming Salmes as "the greatest Michigan State back of all time" and are boosting him for the Heisman award which goes annually to the nation's outstanding college back. Enough said! The weight advantage of the huge Michigan State line (Average from end-to-end 230 pounds) will be the largest given away by a Minnesota football team in the modern era of the sport. The Gopher average is 212 pounds, - a deficit of 18 pounds per man. The Spartan forward wall is anchored by Dave Behrman, 263 - pound consensus All America at tackle in 1961; Tackles Jim Bobbitt (252 pounds) and Ed Budde (247); and Matt Snorton, 245-pound, 6-4 end.

Against the Michigan State juggernaut Minnesota will throw a stout defensive outfit that has blanked four of five opponents this season, and has limited Missouri, Navy, Northwestern, Illinois, and Michigan to an average of 24.4 yards per game by rushing. With all due respect to Northwestern's fine team, the Minnesota coaching staff is of the opinion that the Spartans will pose the most serious defensive problems of the season to date.

The emphasis in Minnesota practices this week is on "hanging on to the ball." The Gophers fumbled seven times in downing Michigan 17-0 last week, dropped six of seven enemy passes that were within their reach, and booted at least six passes that were "on target."

The Minnesota squad is in good physical condition with all regulars available.

Weekend travel plans call for departure by charter plane at 12:30 p.m. today, from Minneapolis - St. Paul Metropolitan Airport. A brief, light workout is scheduled immediately after arrival in East Lansing. The Minnesota squad will be housed at the Kellogg Center on the Michigan State campus.

Rubick's Name Added

CHICAGO -- Seventeen new players have been cited for early season performances by the American Football Coaches Association. It was announced by Bill Burray, AFCA president and Duke University coach.

Seven linemen and ten backs, including Ron Rubick of MSU, have been added to the roster of candidates for the 1962 All-America team--to be selected by the AFCA at the season's conclusion.

A total of 64 players--including 47 grid stars selected in a pre-season poll of coaches--now comprise the nominating list for the 73rd consecutive squad of the nation's oldest and original All-America team.

Started by Walter Camp, in 1889, this coaches' All-America team is sponsored by Eastman Kodak Company for the third consecutive year. More than 500 head college coaches, using evaluations furnished by analyzing many game movies, will select the honor team. Final balloting will be reviewed by the All-America Board of Coaches led by Murray. The first, second, and third All-America teams will be announced in the December 1 issue of TV GUIDE.

Moving into contention at end is unheralded junior college transfer Verne Burke of Oregon State. After three games, he grabbed the lead among the nation's pass catchers with 25 receptions. Burke caught eight passes in Oregon State's upset over Stanford.

Among emerging tackle stars are Scott Appleton, 6-3, 227-pounder from the University of Texas, Daryl Sanders (6-5 and 237) of Ohio State, and Fred Miller (6-5 and 227) of Louisiana State's defensively-tough Bengals. Sanders teams with Bob Vogel, a previously-announced candidate, to give Ohio State a two-man tackle entry in the AFCA All-America ratings.

At guard, Jack Cvercko, a 236-pound, 6-0 junior, has been a key

Detroit Los Angeles To Tangle

In the words of Detroit Lions captain Joe Schmidt, "We're expecting nothing but trouble from the Los Angeles Rams Sunday."

This terse analysis came on the heels of the Rams first victory of the season, a 28-14 triumph last Sunday over the San Francisco 49ers in Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

The Lions open up a three game road campaign against the Rams in the Los Angeles Coliseum, Sunday, Nov. 4, follow up with games against San Francisco, Nov. 11, and the Minnesota Vikings on Nov. 18.

The Ram victory came as no surprise to Lions Coach George Wilson. Wilson has maintained since the start of the season that once the LA club "put all the pieces together" they were going to cause a lot of trouble in the Western Conference.

Wilson is hopeful that flanker Terry Barr will be available for duty against the Rams, but a decision probably won't be known until late in the week. Barr, with twenty-five catches in the Lions first five games, good for 425 yards and three touchdowns, has missed the New York and Chicago games with a damaged knee.

lineman in the upsurge of the Northwestern Wildcats. Tom Hertz (212 and 5-10) of Missouri also has been cited by coaches for outstanding play.

Center Wayne Lee, a 6-2, 200-pounder from Oklahoma, has moved up to challenge for All-America recognition.

Two sophomore quarterbacks --Tom Myers of Northwestern and Joe Namath of Alabama-- have been impressive with their early-season passing accuracy. Bill Lothridge of Georgia Tech, an old-fashioned triple-threat, has had a hand or foot in virtually every point scored by the Georgians. Directing the powerful Arkansas attack is quarterback Billy Moore.

Five halfbacks have been recognized for their early-season performances. Eldon Fortie of Brigham Young, recovered from '61 injuries, moved ahead of all rushers for the first four games with 621 yards in 75 carries. UCLA's Kermit Alexander, an all-purpose back, ripped 45 yards for a touchdown in the Bruins' big upset over Ohio State.

Speedster Mel Renfro of Oregon and Byron Weaver of Houston--who set an alltime NCAA one-game record with five interceptions against Baylor -- have also been nominated at halfback by the coaches.

Rubick moved up when he gained 207 yards against North Carolina. He broke a 12-year record held by Sonny Grandelius of MSU.

Bill Thornton of Nebraska has been nominated for the fullback position.

65 Freshmen in 'Modern' Band

Precision marching and interpretation of popular music in movements is stressed by the modern MSU band, Leonard Falcone, director, says.

Ten years ago the band placed more emphasis on picture formations and shows built around a central theme, Falcone added.

The Spartan band marched at the Notre Dame game in South Bend and will make the trip to Evanston for the Northwestern game Nov. 17.

Falcone said the band is the most widely traveled one in the Big Ten.

A band's reputation is established on a different basis from that of a football team, Falcone commented. He said football teams can be compared on the basis of their records while bands are subject to opinions of people not connected with music. The 160-member band has 65 freshmen this year.

"These include some of the country's outstanding instrumentalists who, as music majors, chose MSU because of the fine reputation of the marching band and the school of music," Falcone said.

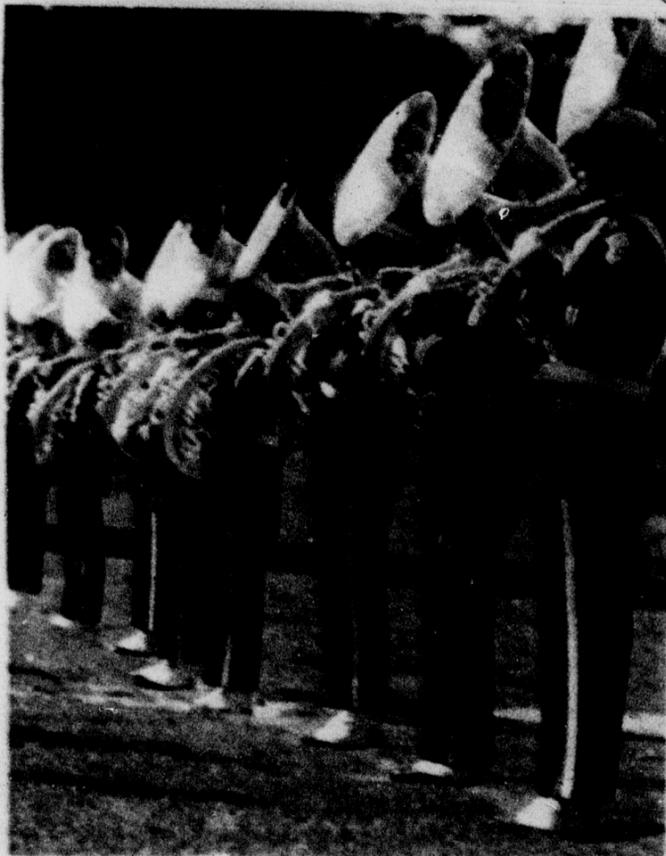

MSU band members practice at Landon Field every weekday during football season from 5 to 6 p.m. They practice in Jenison Fieldhouse Wednesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

A final rehearsal Saturday morning completes the preparation of the band for the halftime show in the afternoon.

Band members arrive on campus a full week before fall registration. They practice four hours each day learning basic music and fundamentals of marching.

Forecasters Pick Spartans

The following are Smerthel's and Dormpishes predictions of the Big Ten games and the other top teams in the nation for Saturday.

MSU vs. Minnesota--one of the really great Spartan teams should make a fine showing for their homecoming game. MSU

Purdue vs. Illinois--Boiler-makers have the edge in all departments over lowly Illini. PURDUE.

Wisconsin vs. U-M back on their feet again, its WISCONSIN.

Ohio State vs. Iowa--Buckeyes are too much for Hawkeyes. OHIO STATE.

Northwestern vs. Indiana--Wildcats should remain undefeated for another week. NORTHWESTERN.

Alabama vs. Mississippi State--Mississippi State is no match for Crimson Tide. ALABAMA.

Washington vs. University of Southern California--two strong West Coast teams; both in top 10. A squeaker. USC.

Behrman, Saimes Aiming for Honors

Dave Behrman and George Saimes, acclaimed by many as two of the greatest grid stars in MSU history, are already being considered for National honors. Behrman, an Associated Press' and Football Writer's All-American last year, has won much praise from Coach Duffy Daugherty for his outstanding play this fall.

"If Dave Behrman was an All-American last year, he certainly is this time, too. He is better than ever," said Daugherty.

The 6-4, 263-pound giant from Dowagiac, is only the third of 28 Spartan All-Americans to win first string spots on both the AP and Football Writers poll as a junior.

"If there is a college lineman anywhere in the country with his speed, power, quickness and intelligence, he has been well hidden," claims Daugherty.

A couple of outstanding plays which illustrate Behrman's diverse talents came in this year's 28-0 win over arch-rival Michigan.

Early in the first quarter, Wolverine fullback Wayne Sparkman received a handoff. The play ended right there.

"Big Bear" smashed into the Wolverine center, sending him crashing into his own guard pulling out of the line. The latter bounced back into Sparkman, causing the Michigan back to fumble. Spartan guard Herb Paterra recovered the ball on the Wolverine 43, to set up the first score of the day. It has been play such as this which has made the Spartan center of the line well nigh impregnable.

Despite his great size, Behrman is one of the club's two fastest linemen. He is so perfectly proportioned that he looks like a magnified halfback, not the usual lump of a huge lineman.

Behrman established himself as a versatile and durable performer early in his college career. He has played tackle, guard and center his first two years, shifting whenever problems arose. This fall "Big Bear" has remained at center on offense and middle guard on defense.

As a soph in 1960, he attracted a great deal of attention by playing the entire 60 minutes against Purdue, making him the first Spartan since 1955 to play a whole game. Behrman led the squad in 1960 playing time with 321 minutes and his 1961 total of 297 was topped only by George Saimes' figure of 301.

Behrman arrived on the MSU campus after winning prep All-American and All-State grid honors at Dowagiac High School and establishing a reputation as a top wrestler.

During the summer of 1959, just prior to his entry into college, Behrman entered the U.S. wrestling trials for the Pan American team. Although just a 17-year-old youngster of very limited experience, he placed second in the heavyweight division against the nation's finest amateurs.

A business administration major at MSU, Behrman feels his future may be in professional football.

So does Daugherty. "He's great now, but he has an even bigger future," Duffy says.

Saimes, the MSU captain, is being groomed by many as Michigan State's first Heissman trophy winner.

Appraised by Daugherty as the team's best all-around player, George is leading all Big Ten scorers with 48 points and has been continually singled out for his defensive maneuvers.

The Canton, Ohio, senior played what many called his greatest game against Notre Dame when he scored three touchdowns.

Daugherty named Saimes "Spartan of the Week" for that performance, but insisted, "A great game is nothing unusual for George; he plays great all the time."

Appraisal for Saimes goes far beyond the home camp. Every coach of Spartan opponents has called Saimes a great all around player.

Harriers Prepare For Championships

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Of The State News

The regular season is over for the Spartan cross country squad, but Coach Fred Dittrich has his charges hard at work preparing for the championship season.

State will participate in the Big Ten, IC4A, and NCAA championship meets.

In spite of a losing record in dual meet competition, Dittrich rates his squad as a contender for all three titles.

The Big Ten meet will be run Nov. 12 at Iowa. The Hawkeyes are the defending champions.

Iowa is favored to win again, with its strongest challengers expected to come from Wisconsin and MSU. Dittrich also regards Indiana and Illinois as dark horses.

The individual rated the best performer by the Spartan coach is Al Carious of Illinois. Other good prospects are the Iowa duo of Gary Fischer and Ralph Trimble and State's Roger Hamburger.

When State travels to New York City's Van Cortlandt Park Nov. 19 to defend its IC4A crown, it can expect its strongest competition from Villanova, Army and Penn State. The Nitany Lions beat State in a dual meet earlier this year.

Individually, the leading runners on the five-mile courses should be Villanova's Vic Zwolak and Pat Traynor and Yale's Bob Mack.

The NCAA meet at Forest Akers Golf Course Nov. 26 stacks up as a battle between defending champion Oregon State and San Jose State. Others rated high in this meet are Ohio, Houston and Kansas. The winners of the Big Ten and IC4A races will also be considered top contenders.

Last year's individual leader, Dale Story of Oregon State, is back and is rated as the favorite. Jeff Fishback of San Jose State is regarded as his top competition.

Coach Dittrich is still undecided about his squad but probably will go with Roger Hamburger, Don Castle, Jan Bowen, Orlin Larson, Ron Berby, Bob Fulcher and Mike Kaines. A time trial Friday will help to determine the makeup of the MSU team.

Others trying for positions are Jack Amie, Pat Stevens, and Dick Gyde.

In earlier practices this week, Dittrich has had his runners running the course to make sure they know it. He doesn't want a repetition of Saturday's incident when Jan Bowen ran off the slated course.

It didn't affect the outcome of the meet, as State won, but it might have cost Bowen first place.

Evans Chapter Numbers 57 At MSU

The Evans Scholars Foundation, one of the best known organizations in both the sports and the scholarship fields has a 57-man Evans Chapter active this year at Michigan State University.

The 42 upperclassmen who returned from last year's chapter have been joined by 15 pledges. They are among the 127 new winners of Evans Scholarships during the past summer.

The Evans Scholars Foundation is a nationwide program with a record total of 455 scholars enrolled in 26 universities. The majority of them live in the chapter houses maintained by the Foundation at eight major Midwestern schools.

This is the eighth year for the Evans Chapter at Michigan State which is located at 243 Louis Street.

Other chapters are established at Marquette, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois, Northwestern, Ohio State, and Wisconsin. The Michigan State and Michigan chapters are sponsored by the Golf Association of Michigan and are supported entirely by contributions from Michigan golfers.

The Evans Scholarship program was initiated by Chuck Evans, veteran amateur golf star who still is active in guiding the program that is administered by the Western Golf Association. A total of 1,352 Evans Scholarships have been awarded since the first Evans Scholar entered college in 1930.

An Evans Scholarship covers full tuition plus housing and is renewable for four years by meeting the Foundation's academic standards. Each scholarship is valued in excess of $1,000.
