blasted parts of the Midwest and south with a jolt of frigid cold Thursday morning. Thousands of schools, businesses and homes took a sharp drop in temperature. In some southern cities than in Alaska or Canada. Residents in several cities in the Midwest and south were numbed by the most frigid weather ever recorded there. Others had the lowest readings of this century.

Low temperatures in Lansing were recorded at 14 below zero reading at the U.S. weather station shortly before midnight Wednesday broke the previous record of 12 below on Jan. 23.

A reading of 13 below zero early Thursday set a new all-time low for Jan. 24.

Service stations in the East Lansing area have been swamped with calls from harried students and staff members who can't get their cars running.

But class absences Thursday were surprisingly low. Students bundled up and fought an icy wind to get to class. Many professors reported "cuts" averaged less than 10 per cent.

"We have to plow continually on the north and south roads," reports Burt D. Ferris, superintendent of grounds maintenance. "Temperatures have been so cold that the salt on the roads hasn't worked, making slippery conditions."

The numbing cold wave in Michigan is expected to relax its bite somewhat today, but it'll still be around zero or below in most sections of the state.

The weather man says light snow or flurries are possible around Michigan. Meanwhile, blowing snow continues to make tracks. 175 persons have been reported dead on the continent, with at least another 100 dead in Britain.

West Germany was making plans to move fuel instead of crude oil through the Rotterdam-Rhine pipeline to get around frozen rivers and canals.

Shipping was delayed or halted on impassable routes, including the straits between the Mediterranean and the Black Sea, and rescuers battled ice and drifts to carry food and medicine to isolated villages in Greece and Italy.

SALTY SMASH—An icy intersection was blamed for this $200 accident on Cherry Lane Thursday afternoon. Francisco Alvarez of Lansing told officers he attempted to stop for a "yield" sign near the Cherry Lane

Laundry and slid into the intersection where he struck a University-owned salt truck on Wilson Road.

Expect 20,000 Farmers

Ag Men To Meet Here Mon.

An estimated 20,000 farmers will arrive on campus Monday to learn the newest developments in modern farming.

Events of the 48th annual Farmers' Week will center around the theme "Science Serves Michigan Agriculture."

Efficient production and current problems involved in growing better crops will be the general theme of the farm crops and soil science departments.

Agricultural economists will discuss topics from the price outlook to leases, property rights and taxes.

Michigan State agricultural engineers aim to tackle the problem of farm operation for 30, 100 or 400 milking cows and for 500, 1,000 or 2,000 feeder pigs.

"Expanding Horizons for Youth" is planned for the thousands of students who come to Farmers' Week. This year's program will center on careers.

Keynote speakers are Dr. Stanley Idzdera, Honors College director, and Dr. Evelyn M. Duvall, family life consultant from Chicago. Students may select from 17 career areas ranging from art to veterinary medicine.

Senator Phillip A. Hart will speak on the opportunities in serving the tourist and sportsman at the resource development luncheon Thursday.

Retired Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, vice president of New York University and former American Commandant in Berlin, will speak Wednesday on "Berlin—Test of American Determination."

Monday will have programs of interest to dairymen. State breed associations will hold annual meetings.

Michigan Editors Convene

Seven hundred and fifty publishers and editors of Michigan newspapers will have an opportunity to query some of the drafters of Michigan's proposed new state Constitution this afternoon at the 95th annual Michigan Press Association Convention.

Members of the public information committee of the Constitutional Convention will answer questions about the controversial document. The discussion will be moderated by the committee's chairman, Ink White, publisher of the Clinton County Republican News in St. Johns.

Speakers for the two-day convention include Pierre Salinger, President Kennedy's press secretary; Gov. George Romney, and cartoonist Al Capp.

Capp, creator of the "Li'l Abner" comic strip, will lead the list of speakers at noon today, with a talk on how newspapers can use cartoons and pictures more effectively. His comic strip appears in 1,000 newspapers in 30 countries.

Salinger, newspaper reporter and editor for 10 years before beginning a career in government, will speak this evening on problems confronting community newspapers in attempting to report news of national significance.

Romney will preview some of the problems he expects Michigan to face during 1963 in a talk Saturday afternoon.

Other scheduled speakers include R. George Kuser, Jr., publisher of the Troy (Ohio) News, who will describe "What's New in Newspaper Production" this afternoon; Edmund C. Arnold, professor of journalism at Syracuse University, who will speak on "Profitable Newspaper Advertising" Saturday morning; and Kenneth McFarland, author and lecturer, will complete the list of speakers at the 22nd All-Michigan dinner Saturday evening.

Women attending the convention have been invited by Mrs. John A. Hannah to attend a tea this afternoon at Cowles House.

2 Ex-MSU Students Freed By Dixie Jury

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP)—The Coahoma County grand jury Tuesday refused to indict two former Michigan State University students charged with violation of the state narcotics act.

Ivanhoe Donaldson, 21, of New York, and Benjamin Taylor, 21, of Camden, N.J., both Negroes, were arrested shortly after Christmas while bringing clothes and foodstuffs to destitute Delta negroes.

City police, who found the two sleeping in a station wagon in front of a drug store owned by State NAACP President Aaron Henry, said barbiturates were included in the shipment.

Donaldson left Michigan State after the fall term of 1961 when he was a junior. Taylor just finished a term as a junior in social science.

Campus Ground Force Wages Snow Battle

Removing snow is an expensive and time consuming job at Michigan State.

"After a heavy snowfall it takes about two days of work to clear the campus of snow," said Burt D. Ferris.

Ferris, superintendent of grounds maintenance, cited an example in the snowstorm we had this last weekend.

"We started at 6 a.m. Saturday and finished at 6 p.m. Sunday," he said.

Thirty five men took part in this snow removal operation, including men in truck and tractor plows and the men who shoveled the intersections, he said.

These men operated 17 various pieces of snow removal equipment, he said. There were 2 motor graders, 3 truck plows, 10 sidewalk units and 2 salt trucks in use.

Clearing all this snow entails covering 40 miles of roads, 60 miles of sidewalks and 90 acres of parking lots, Ferris said.

The entire operation of snow removal costs approximate $500 per inch for every appreciable amount of snow that falls on the campus, he said. Included in the operation is the cost of some 400 to 500 tons of rock salt to be used this year. In addition to labor and equipment operation, are repair, replacement costs, chains, and plow bits.

To accomplish the task of orderly snow removal, the grounds department has set up a com-

SG Efforts Fail to Vending Machines For Library

more, said his efforts to install coffee and soft drink vending machines and improve lounge facilities at the library proved fruitless.

William Combs, dean of university services, felt soft drinks and coffee might be taken into the library and spilled on valuable books and documents. The dean said that to prevent this would be too difficult a policing problem.

Erickson said he would try to get a resolution passed through Congress favoring vending machines. He thought that it might influence the library board to understand student needs.

The MSU Sailing Club asked for a $500 loan to build a new club house on the west shore of Lake Lansing. Commodore David Wetzel, Brookfield, Ill. sophomore, said that the money would be used to purchase a pre-fabricated building which would be used to convert to a lodge. The money is to be paid back in June. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

During the discussion period when each member is given three minutes to express his views, West Shaw representative David Miller, East Lansing sophomore, complained of the Shaw dormitory parking problem.

Over Christmas vacation, one of the dorm's lots was converted to commuter parking. Shaw had lots D, located west of the dorm, and V, located in front of Epley. Shaw residents have been banned from parking in lot D and have been given lot U, at the rear of Anthony.

Cold Weather Slows Paper Delivery

A series of troubles caused by the current spell of cold weather plagued the State News delivery team Wednesday.

Five of the 11 cars in the delivery fleet wouldn't start at 5 a.m. on campus from the printer. Jumper cables solved the problem in some cases, but the cars that started were slowed down by the early-morning traffic jam.

One harassed driver whose battery was dead managed to rouse a friend, who drove over to the stalled car with a jumper cable. Neither noticed the difference in battery voltages until the smaller unit had burned out. Both cars had to be abandoned.

Another carrier tried to hitchhike around his route.

The circulation staff will be among the happiest to see the cold spell end, said Bill Marshall, Clarkson Junior and circulation manager.

Rift In The Capitalist Camp

Harrison Salisbury, distinguished correspondent of the New York Times, Tuesday told a Michigan State audience of the rift between Russia and China.

No longer do such words come as news to Americans. Almost daily, articles appear in our newspapers and magazines providing more and more evidence of the deepening split. The recent East Berlin party congress is a clear example.

Now it seems that only the extreme Rightist minority still views communism as a worldwide monolithic movement with the apparent Russo-Chinese rift merely a tactic to dupe the West. Most people, however, see the split as being real, growing and irreparable.

The West's reaction has been, quite naturally, one of great interest and rising confidence. Trouble in the enemy camp is always welcome news.

However, developments in the Western camp provide an unhappy parallel with those in its Communist counterpart.

The United States is also having internal problems. And they probably will grow.

In the wake of the Cuban confrontation, President Kennedy now intends to assert United States leadership more than ever before.

A not-too-successful policy of "making friends" is being junked and replaced by one of "influencing people." Washington expects the new hard line direction to lead to dissatisfaction and sharper criticism from some of our allies; but we will be less sensitive to such reaction.

For example, the British were not exactly joyous over the Skyport cancellation. And they let us know, too.

But the real evidence of the growing "rift" in the "capitalist" camp centers around the aspirations of President Charles de Gaulle.

On July 4, 1962, President

Kennedy made a "Declaration of Interdependence" speech calling for greater unity among the nations of NATO countries.

De Gaulle has other ideas. He wants to build for France an independent nuclear force. The United States is opposed.

He wants to build Europe into a "third force." The United States is opposed.

He is trying -- rather successfully -- to keep Britain out of the Common Market. We would like to see her in the continental economic union.

Of course, it is unrealistic to expect complete harmony among several proud, prosperous and traditionally quarrelsome nations.

But the old maxim, "strength in unity," still applies today.

Wonder how much pleasure Premier Khrushchev is receiving as he sees unfolding the growing rift in the capitalist camp!

50 Percent Flunked

The hardest thing about teaching young Americans what Communism and capitalism stand for may turn out to be the long-prevailing attitude that it isn't necessary for them to learn it—that they get it by a kind of osmosis that comes of being Americans. That, at any rate, is a possible conclusion from the results of the first year of a six-week course in the subject required by state law for high school seniors in Florida. Only half the Jacksonville students who took the final test scored a passing grade of more than 70 per cent.

Furthermore, a third of them failed to pick out as false the statement "It is possible to be at the same time a loyal citizen of this country and a true Communist," which was what the State Legislature had been most particular they should learn. The course says the law, shall lay special emphasis on the false doctrines, evils and dangers of Communism, and ways to fight it.

Some of the seniors had only the most confused notion of what Communists and capitalists are. Eyes averted taking the course, one said, capitalists are "the owners," another that they are "the haves, and the proletariat the have-nots." As for the other system, a graduate of the course described it by saying that "whenever you have a thesis and antithesis you always have a synthesis which is Communism."

All of which suggests that teaching the nature of Communism is not going to be very successful when it is based on crash courses hastily flung together.

Letters To The Editor

On Mass-Produced Education

To the Editor: Having read many articles and comments on President Hannah's remarks on lowering grade standards at MSU, I feel constrained to ask some questions which have been neither asked nor answered heretofore.

Has our republic, erroneously called a democracy, reached the point at which great public institutions must bow to the desires of politics and sacrifice their integrity to become political issues for incumbent legislators?

One of the distinguishing characteristics of this country has been the constant sacrifice of quality for quantity. But is it the time, or will it ever be the time to yield up the ideals and achievements of this university as an institution of higher education for the dubious honor of being the largest or the most popular campus graduating the largest number of third-rate scholars in the world?

Are we to remain a true university and advanced educational institution or are we going to become an extension of high school, mass producing mediocre students with mediocre educations and degrees of decidedly questionable value?

These are some of the questions called to mind by the thought of lowered standards and I hope some little thought precedes our answers and the answers of our administrators.

R. Duffy
A-308 Emmons

H.S. Standards Low?

To the Editor: I am writing because I am concerned about our university. Because several statements made by Dr. Hannah in his "State of the University" address are based upon premises which appear to have gone unquestioned too long. And because I feel Dr. Hannah, his advisers, and most of the students here are concerned with the university also.

After quoting some impressive statistics on the percentages of MSU freshmen in the upper ranks of their high school classes, (and this is not the first time we've been told by those who should know that the quality of incoming freshmen is constantly increasing) Dr. Hannah in effect contrasts this with the fact that, based upon grades obtained by students at MSU, the quality of our graduates is not increasing.

Dr. Hannah then questions the accuracy of the grading system at MSU, and possibly suggests that the requirements for entrance into an upper college and for graduation be lowered.

From the known facts, this is a legitimate question. And it should be answered. At the same time, I pose an alternative question: Is the quality of pre-college education decreasing? And I suggest that if it is, rather than lower the standards of the university, should we not raise the standards of the high schools?

I feel this question is no less legitimate, and also deserves an answer. Dr. Hannah is quoted as saying: "We must effect radical change in our procedures if we are to accommodate the larger numbers of students headed our way without diluting the quality of the education we can offer to them."

I suggest that the only changes radical enough to accommodate the projected enrollment would, in fact, dilute the quality of the education.

Hasn't it occurred to anyone in the administration that there may be an optimum size for a healthy university? That beyond this point the quality of education must decrease. That we may be approaching this point. And that the only way to start new schools.

I agree basically with Dr. Hannah when he says the job of the state university is to provide educational opportunity for all intelligent persons in the state. With one addition. It should be: "The job of the state university SYSTEM is to provide..." etc.

Is it so ridiculous to suggest that we might fund a new state university to provide for the increasing educational demand?

The philosophy behind the eternally growing (quantitatively) university, carried to its logical but absurd conclusion, must lead to the need for fifty minute "passing periods" in order to negotiate the distances involved, leaving only ten minute classes.

Point of View

I.C. SHAH

The following article was written by I.C. Shah, a graduate student from Bombay, India. Before coming to Michigan State, Shah attended the law school at the University of Bombay where he studied constitutional law for one year.

The Republic of India celebrates its 14th Republic Day Saturday. It was on Jan. 26, 1950, that 550 princely states were incorporated in the Republic.

For the Indian people, adoption of a constitution was difficult, indeed. The country was in the process of political, economic and social revolution when it acquired independence.

The most remarkable thing about the constitution of India is that it was drafted by an untouchable, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar.

The Indian Constitution is based to a large extent on the American and British models. The American model has been followed in making the constitution the supreme law of the land and giving the courts the powerful weapon of judicial review.

On the other hand, the British model has been followed in setting up the governmental machinery both at the federal and state levels.

The Executive is elected by the legislature and is directly responsible to that body.

For parliamentary government to succeed, a strong opposition and an alternative government are essential. In the past, India has lacked both of these elements. Fortunately, the party in power has a true democrat as its leader -- Prime Minister Nehru -- who will not permit the one-party rule to degenerate into a tyranny.

Having a bicameral legislature, the lower house (Lok Sabha) is elected on the basis of adult suffrage. The upper house (Raj Sabha) represents the states according to population.

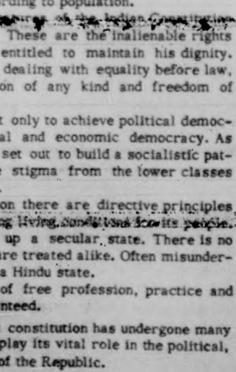

The most important feature of the Indian Constitution include the Fundamental Rights. These are the inalienable rights to which every individual is entitled to maintain his dignity.

Part three is a vast section dealing with equality before law, prohibition against discrimination of any kind and freedom of speech and expression.

The constitution is written not only to achieve political democracy, but also to achieve social and economic democracy. As one of its objectives, India has set out to build a socialistic pattern of society, to remove the stigma from the lower classes and to create a casteless society.

SOLUTION OF SATURDAY'S PUZZLE

Au Contraire Bus, Stop!

It's like I got this great idea for a heart-rending love and land grant university who meets a cowboy (B. Howard) waiting for a bus (J. Garrett).

(Theme song in background: "Bucket of Blood" sung to tune of "Buttons and Bows". The blond is seen walking to large classroom with a friend as the clock strikes four, snowing and cold, the wind is blowing and the bus is late, as the camera pans in on the blond's face, rattling dramatic over a sewer grate.)

BLONDE: Gosh I'm cold! Let's take the bus today.

FRIEND: Sure, but I got it from a pal that the driver stops a cup of coffee between runs and reads "Gone With the Wind" a couple of times. You should have worn more than that sweater today. After all, Homecoming was three months ago. And those roses you still carry have got to go!

COWBOY: (walking up because his car has been impounded) Howdy, Ma'am, Free speech is the essence of society! How have you been waiting?

BLONDE: (coolly) About an hour. I sure wish it would get here.

FRIEND: Yeah.

COWBOY: While we're waiting, would you like to join our club? It's called "The Society For The Prevention of Communist Speakers Who Want To Talk To The Students By The Administration Won't Let Them So Let's Protest With Vigor And Get Suspended" Club.

BLONDE: Huh?

FRIEND: Maybe some other time, creep.

COWBOY: (drawing) I love you.

FRIEND: Thanks.

COWBOY: Not you.

FRIEND: Thanks again.

BLONDE: Maybe some other time. Right now I'm waiting for the bus. Gosh, it's been three hours now. Maybe there's been an accident.

FRIEND: Give it another three hours. The side probably off and they ran out of scotch tape.

COWBOY: It is every man's right to say as he pleases.

BLONDE: Huh?

COWBOY: Don't tread on me.

BLONDE: Say, that's pretty clever. I like you. Tell me, how do you like the bus?

COWBOY: Give me free speech or give me death. Paternalism is the cancer of dictatorship. A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

BLONDE: Wow!

FRIEND: Bye, honey, I think I'd rather walk.

BLONDE: Gee, you are neat! What else do you know?

COWBOY: Life, liberty, and the pursuit of anything I feel like.

BLONDE: (snuggling up close) Gosh-a-ronnie!

COWBOY: (showing off) Our country was based on the principle of free speech of the people, by the people, and for the people.

BLONDE: Oooo--neat!

COWBOY: All's fair if you can get away with it.

BLONDE: Oh, cool! Wait 'til I tell my home ec prof about you.

COWBOY: Have I impressed you?

BLONDE: Uh-huh.

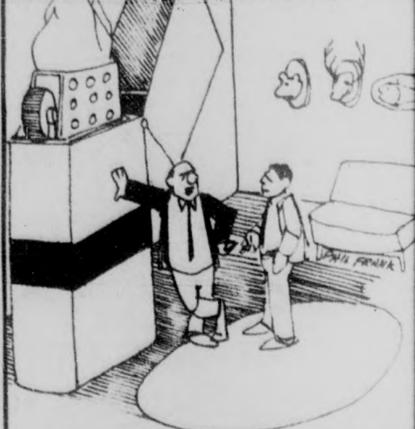

COWBOY: Let's get married and fight for freedom of speech together and live in a rose covered cottage forever and ever.

BLONDE: Sounds neat, let's do.

(The bus has pulled up alongside the happy couple now, dragging its tailpipe, but they do not notice. All of their concentration directed toward each other. The camera peeks through the doors at them and in the background you can hear them muttering plans for revision of the AUSG constitution.)

Need United Europe, Kennedy Says

Appeal Aimed At De Gaulle

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy made a fresh appeal Thursday for western unity against Communism and its dangers.

He said this unity must be based on personal or national differences.

Kennedy's words, at his first news conference since Dec. 12, appeared to be another gambit in a sort of war of nerves with President Charles de Gaulle of France.

However, the President did not mention de Gaulle in calling for recognition of the reality of dangers and power.

Kennedy volunteered his little talk on the relations of the United States and Europe.

He said the real danger is not all free men and nations but under the threat of Communist advance. The Communist apparatus, he said, controls more than a billion people and is well equipped, despite some "disarray" to present.

In unity, the Atlantic Alliance has ample strength to hold back the expansion of Communism until it loses its momentum, he said, but neither the United States nor Europe could be certain of success alone.

Therefore, he said, what tends to unite us is right and what tends to divide us is wrong, and the past three administrations of the United States have built unity on these realities.

Other highlights of Kennedy's news conference included:

Cuba buildup--there has been a new military buildup. "The information we have is that the ship arrived since the Cuban crisis, which may have been on it, possibly military cargo." It is estimated that some 100 or 17,000 Russian technicians still remain in Cuba.

Bay of Pigs--no U.S. air cover was planned for the invasion but failed. The dispute over air cover was planned to be resolved by air strikes by B26 planes which were flown by pilots based in Cuba.

Strategic Air Command--has been reorganized. "That strike was postponed--that was one of the failures."

De Gaulle--Common Market--The invitation to Europe is to be strong, and to join with us as an equal partner in meeting the problems of other parts of the world. The United States does not have the resources to meet them alone, and we hope Europe and the United States together can do it on the basis of equality.

On-site Inspection--"The fact that the principle of on-site inspection was accepted (by Russia) was very important, and that is the reason we are participating in these negotiations at the top level to see if we can make breakthrough here."

Income Tax Savings Possible For '63

Fight Slated For Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressional leaders said Thursday they see a rough fight for President Kennedy's tax revision program.

Reducing taxes by $13.6 billion would be easy, they said. The hard part comes in the President's proposals for knocking out some special benefits and deductions to raise an off-setting $3.4 billion.

"The president should not feel confident he is going to get that without a hard fight," said Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, second-ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee.

A Democrat, Sen. A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, predicted that "What we will get out of all this is a deficit at least as big as the President predicted, and probably bigger tax relief for those in the low income brackets, and no tax reforms whatsoever."

Kennedy's own party leaders in the House and Senate took a cautious stance as the President's 12,500-word special message, outlining his proposals in detail, was delivered on Capitol Hill.

House speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told newsmen "I am confident that a bill will pass this year," but he did not comment directly on Kennedy's proposals.

"Problems Bothering Farmers -- And the Answers" and "Young Farm Families Face the Future" are included in Tuesday's program. Lawrence Witt, department of agricultural economics, will discuss the impact of the European Common Market at the annual livestock banquet.

Three prominent Michigan agricultural leaders will receive Michigan State's "Distinguished Service to Agriculture" awards at a noon luncheon Wednesday. The program will honor persons who have attended Farmers' Week for 30 years or more.

The Department of Agricultural Engineering will report on tillage methods, varieties, soil problems and insect control will be considered at a meeting on cash crops.

In a session Thursday on modern farm management, more than 30 members of the Department of Agricultural Economics will look at the modern farm business. The program will be climaxed by the annual farm management banquet at which awards will be made for management achievements, production efficiency and retention of 20-year farm account keepers.

Guest speaker will be Robert C. Liebenow, president of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Gail Priddy, Michigan Dairy Princess, will attend the noon luncheon of the American Dairy Association of Michigan Friday.

Included in the exhibits for Farmers' Week will be the "Spacecraft No. 1," the first production capsule to be flight-tested in the Mercury program and a pressure suit worn by American astronauts.

Subs Will Replace Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy's confirmation that Polaris missiles will replace Jupiter rockets in Italy and Turkey appears to pose a temporary decrease in the depth of target coverage from Mediterranean bases.

It has been a pretty well-forgone conclusion that nuclear-powered submarines using Polaris missiles would supplant the obsolescent land-based Jupiter missiles in Italy and Turkey. But the President's statement at his news conference today pinned it down definitely for the first time.

Negotiations now are under way for the purchase of 15 Polaris submarines and 30 from Italy, with the vulnerable, above-ground, land-based rockets giving way to the undersea-borne Polaris system.

The Jupiter missile has a range of approximately 1,500 miles, while the original Polaris, the A-1, has a range of 1,380 miles. But, military men figure, the Jupiters in Turkey actually are some 400 miles closer to targets in the Soviet Union, taking into account that the Polaris submarines must operate well off shore while the Jupiters are inland near the Soviet border.

The Polaris missiles, as used by the U.S. Navy, are launched from the 16 tubes in each ship while submerged, using compressed air to take them to the surface. There the first stage of a missile's solid fuel propulsion system ignites.

As the missile lifts off above the surface of the water, its self-contained, inertial guidance system begins correcting the heading and trajectory of the missile to put it on the course previously "cranked into" the missile's electronic brain.

The guidance system, self-contained within the missile, is supposed to be proof against enemy attempts to upset its course.

The U.S. decision to use the Polaris missile only in submarines was dictated mainly by the capability of nuclear-powered submarines for submerged concealment.

Workers Battle Students

TEHRAN, Iran, (AP) - Workers supporting Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's sweeping social reforms stormed into the Tehran University campus today and beat up students for shouting slogans denouncing the ruler.

The invasion by 2,000 young workers came as steel-helmeted police clashed with mullahs near the downtown bazaar area to break up a demonstration by religious leaders opposed to land reform projects.

Tension built up throughout the ancient southwest Asian kingdom over the social revolution instituted by the youthful monarch.

The Shah went ahead with plans for a nationwide referendum Saturday to get popular approval for his reforms, including distribution among peasants of large land holdings, rental to the peasants of shrine lands owned by Moslem religious groups and a 20 percent profit-sharing plan for factory workers.

The shah, ruling with strongman powers since dissolving parliament in May, 1961, has support from a majority of the population.

The land reform program already has gone into effect, with the shah turning over to the peasants large royal holdings.

North campus, the main roads and main roads have a priority after a storm.

"These areas must be kept clear for fire and police protection," Ferris said.

Events such as the basketball game at Jenison and the World Travel Series at the Aud. last weekend had high priority.

So far this winter almost 30 inches of snow has fallen in below zero weather. High winds have caused extensive drifting, he said.

"The work never ceases," said Ferris. "It continues around the clock."

"Right now we are plowing an entire field to get ready for Farmers Week," he said.

Thinclads Meet Buckeyes In Indoor Track Opener

By TERRY GOMOLL
Of The State News

The Michigan State thinclads will be out and running tomorrow in their first meet of the indoor track season at Ohio State.

Heading State's squad are two runners that coach Fran Dittrich calls "very good students and athletes" - co-captains Don Castle and Sherman Lewis.

Castle, sometimes called "The Turk" or "Turkey" by his teammates because of his turkey raising business, competes in the 880-yard run, the 1000-yard run and the mile. A senior, he has lettered three times in cross-country and twice in track.

In the 1962 track season, Castle placed fifth in the 1000-yard run at the Big Ten meet. His best time in the event was 2:13.8.

In the Big Ten outdoor meet, Castle finished third in the mile, second in the 1000-yard run and fourth in the 880-yard run.

Castle believes Michigan State can give Wisconsin a battle for first in the Big Ten meet.

At high school in Utica, Castle set the mile record. At State he is majoring in physical education with a minor in history.

Lewis, besides being a fine track performer, is better known as a top rate football player. As a halfback for the Spartan gridgers, he was named to the second All Big Ten team. He will be competing for the Big Ten football letterman post, and is captain of the team with Dan Underwood.

In the Big Ten indoor meet last year, Lewis placed first in the broad jump at 24 feet 6 inches, first in the 300-yard run in 31.2 seconds, and second in the 60-yard dash in 6.3 seconds. Outdoors in the Big Ten, he finished second in the 100-yard dash, second in the 220 yard dash, and fourth in the broad jump.

NCAA CHAMP--Billy Carter, outstanding Sooner 137-pounder, captured the 1956 AAU championship as well as last season's NCAA title.

Big Ten Cage Teams Battle Powerful Outside Opponents

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Of The State News

Only two conference games are on tap Saturday, but Big Ten basketball teams should be involved in some of the most exciting games of the season with four league members playing powerful outside opponents.

Highlighting the schedule is the clash of the first and third-ranked teams in the nation--Cincinnati and Illinois. The once-beaten Illini will tangle with the mighty Bearcats in a "dream doubleheader" at Chicago Stadium. Second-rated Loyola of Chicago plays Santa Clara in the other game.

Another Chicago team, DePaul, which is pushing for national recognition with a 9-2 mark, travels to Bloomington to battle the Indiana Hoosiers.

Illinois, Loyola and DePaul, with combined records of 37-3 are having a banner year's basketball.

Two other Big Ten teams face impressive foes. Ohio State is home against Creighton and Wisconsin will entertain St. John's.

The most important game in the conference is the MSU-Minnesota clash at Minneapolis. If State can dump the Gophers, the pair will be knotted in third place with three and two records.

Otherwise, the Spartans will slip back into the league's second division with a two and three mark.

Purdue plays at Northwestern in the television game of the day. The winner will break into the win column for the first time in conference play.

Scoring averages for the Big Ten are as follows: Rayl, 20.0; Bradds, 19.8; Sanders, 18.5; Williams, 17.5; Downey, 16.5; Falk, 15.5; Kunze, 14.5; Bessone, 13.5; Roberts, 12.5; and Johnson, 11.5.

MARCUS SANDERS
Ten show Jimmy Rayl of Indiana at the top of the list. The "Splendid Splinter" has a 34.5 average for two conference games. Ohio State's Gary Bradds is

Ice Run Set For Sports Cars

The Spartan Sports Car Club and the Capital Corvette Club will co-sponsor a sports car ice run Sunday, Jan. 27, at Lake Lansing Across from the Post-1811.

Practice runs will begin at 10 a.m. and time trials start at 1 p.m.

The event is not limited to sports cars. There are three classes and trophies will be awarded to each winner in addition to a raffle for the best time of the day.

The three classes are sports cars, compact and sedans and Corvettes.

All cars and drivers are welcome. For information call Earl Van Valkenburg at IV 9-8145 or Jim Hoppin, president of the Capital Corvette Club at T12-9784.

Cars are run individually around a marked course on the lake and run against the clock.

Pucksters Entertain Nation's Top Sextet

If line changes and attitude have anything to do with it, Michigan State is ready for hard-staking Michigan Tech here tonight and Saturday.

The Spartans, after a three-week layoff from league action, run smack into the defending NCAA champion Huskies in two crucial games at the MSU ice arena. Face-off time for both affairs is 8 p.m.

State skated through spirited practice sessions all week long while Coach Amo Bessone watched closely the changes he made.

Thomas now skates from the left side, Lackey on the right, Captain Dick Johnson, who leads the WCHA in goals with nine and has 11 for the season, will center the unit.

State's first line of defense consists of husky Irish-Canadian Marty Quirk and Jim Jacobson. All-American John Chandik will again be in the nets.

"Both teams know how important this series is," Bessone said. "How we do against Tech will go a long way in determining whether or not we make the playoffs. The same is true for them."

Matmen Seek To Settle Score

Michigan State's wrestlers will be trying to settle an old score Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when they tangle with the University of Oklahoma's powerful grapplers in the IM building.

State has yet to defeat a team from Oklahoma. The Spartans have been whipped twice by teams from the Sooner State, and hope to make amends this weekend.

MSU's a definite underdog against last year's runnerup in the nationals, but Grady Peninger, Spartan wrestling coach, says his squad is looking forward to the chance to show these invaders from the southwest what they can do.

The Sooners will be bringing in a swarm of the nation's top wrestlers, including two national champs and several standouts from last year's national meet.

DOUG ROBERTS
Senior Carl Lackey, switched from defense to right wing on the "Red Door" line, "booked" sharp in working with Bob Doyle and Rich Hargroaves.

Sophomore Doug Roberts, formerly a winger on the second line, will now throw his 216 pounds around on defense as he teams up with Mark Williams.

Art Thomas and Tom Lackey switched wings on the first line.

Brainy Baseballers
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Two St. Louis Cardinal baseball players are employed at Washington University out of season.

Outfielder Charley James is an instructor in electrical engineering and shortstop Dal Maxvill is a recruiter for the university's engineering department.

"FRANDOR IS JUST SOUTH OF US"

This said, "It costs a lot of money to go to class."

This may be true, but not at Campbell's. Where else can you get a shirt like Gant for 5.95, trousers by Corbin for 20.00, all wool of course, or sweaters by Alan Payne for only 13.50, and that's with sleeves. These, as in any good line are the starting prices for those who have the means to go upwards. How about a Gant shirt for 12.00, a Corbin trouser for 27.50, or the ultimate (and this is for the man who really has two of everything) an Alan Payne sweater for 135.00 --the $e we limit one to a customer and must be ordered and paid for well in advance to insure delivery.

Did you ever hear of anyone paying 15.00 a pound for tobacco? I haven't, but we have some coming in at the White and Puff Bar to go with our 30.00 pipes. Of course, we also have 3.95 a pound tobacco to go with our pipes at 3.50 and upwards. We will have a sample of our 15.00 a pound tobacco, which incidentally is packed in half-pound containers at 7.50, because who can scrape up 15.00 a cruce for tobacco--so bring in a very small pipe and try some. The tobacco by Lane Ltd.--naturally.

Since I am Scotch, and tighter than the bark on an elm tree, as you well know, I would not have spent the money mentioning Gant shirts in our ads. The fact is, one of my competitors would have you believe. In fact, we can hardly wait for the spring and summer line, which will start coming in in February.

Due to the fact that we have gone to the expense of filling the candy barrel with butterscotch, we are pleased to see members into the Century Club, welcome, Pete, and thanks--I think!

Hoosiers, Chippewas To Perform

By MIKE JASENAK
 Of The State News

The Indiana Hoosiers and the Central Michigan Chippewas invade MSU tomorrow, to face the Spartan gymnasts at the IM Building.

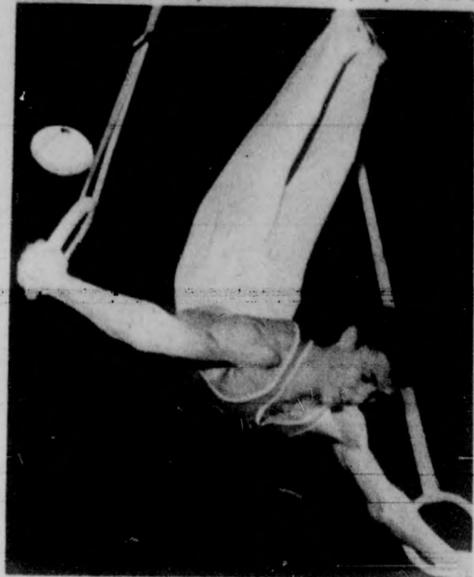

Indiana enters the match following losses to powerful Michigan and Iowa by scores of 81-30, and 70 1/2-40 1/2, respectively.

Indiana and Central Michigan are plagued with depth problems.

Indiana graduated five gymnasts and three others did not return to school last fall.

"We're skeleton thin," says coach Otto Ryser. "Our depth is so weak that our boys, all returning lettermen, are not without their share of... The Chippewas have only four...

Ryser has the same problem as Spartan coach George Szypula—a host of sophomore performers.

Hot Rod Show Opens Tonight

Lansing's 1963 Rod and Custom show opens at the Lansing Civic Center at 6 p.m. today. The show will feature experimental autos, rods, customs, racers, bikes and go-karts. Also on display will be the stereo-equipped "Spectron" and a $25,000 customized car still under construction. Several cars owned by MSU students will be displayed.

Of the four... Indiana has four sophomores on their six man squad.

Emerging from the Indiana's crop of untested performers is Ron Fowler, from Hamilton Ohio, who participates in six events.

"This boy is good enough right now to break Woodward's point record of last year," Ryser frankly admits. "He learns more rapidly than any other gymnast I've ever coached."

Once again the key performer for the Spartans is expected to be captain Jerry George. George won two events in the Spartans Backing up George is senior Bob Carman, who has proven to be an outstanding performer in three events, especially the horizontal bar.

Szypula is enthusiastic about the tumbling performance of Dick Gliberto.

"Gliberto could develop into one of the top tumblers in the Big Ten," said Szypula.

Szypula maintains that only time and practice will determine the position of the Spartans in the Big Ten race.

Lack of depth will have Ryser watching with fingers crossed. "If one guy gets hurt, we're shot," says Ryser.

Swimmers Face Busy Schedule

Spartan swimmers are going to be very busy for the next few days. On Saturday, they swim against the Boilermakers of Purdue in Lafayette. Then on Tuesday, the Spartans take on Bowling Green, Wisconsin and Wayne State University at the IM pool beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Bowling Green is the toughest of these opponents. The defending champion Falcons have won Mid-American Conference honors six of the last seven years.

Eight returning lettermen head the powerful squad. The returnees include co-captains Howard Comstock and Rick Pixley, Bob Knauer, Marty Schenk, Roger Southworth, Wayne Stiffler, Dan Yost and Dick Saylor.

Comstock was the 1961 MAC backstroke champion and a finalist in three events in 1962. Pixley was 1962 MAC champion and runner-up in all of the breaststroke events. These two swimmers form the heart of the Falcon team and should give the Spartans their greatest problems.

Rough Times Mar Short NSA Stay

By GERRY HINKLEY
Of The State News
(Editor's Note: This is the last in a four-part series on the United States National Student Association.)

The United States National Student Association at Michigan State has treaded rough water. In the ten months since Michigan State joined the association there have been six campus coordinators.

One coordinator resigned fall term in protest to Bob Howard being barred from the office of AUSG president.

The next coordinator was placed on academic probation at the end of fall term.

The sixth coordinator, Rich Haller, was officially approved by Congress Wednesday night. Haller has been working with NSA for the last two weeks.

Also during the short time NSA has been on campus, AUSG has had three presidents. Since NSA is represented on campus by the student government, the change in presidents has had its effects on the association's programs.

When Michigan State joined NSA last year, it was not for the first time. Over the last ten years, Michigan State has been in and out of NSA four times.

Independent travel and with the Union Board travel plan.

A travel convocation for all students interested in travel abroad will be held Feb. 5.

"The purpose of the convocation, is to bring together students interested in traveling so that we may tell them about what NSA and Union Board have to offer and where they may write for further information," Sue Fischer, NSA travel coordinator, said.

How to spend a summer in Europe on $850 will be among the topics discussed. Speakers who have been to Europe will discuss what to expect, what to do and where to go.

The planning stage is a convocation on women's hours and the convocation on travel abroad, probably to be held in the spring, to discuss discrimination in housing, Haller said.

NSA provides a film service through the University of Illinois. Many of these films may be of interest to campus organizations or to professors for use in their classes, he said.

"As coordinator," Haller said, "part of my job will be to inform organizations of the material of interest to them that we have available."

Any group that wishes background information on an educational topic should contact the NSA office, Haller said.

NSA provided such information to the residents of North Case for their discussion this week on the due process of law.

"Our major problem is a lack of help," Haller said. "At present, we have six students working on NSA."

"We hope that when the students find out what NSA is they will come and work."

A meeting will be held Friday at 4 p.m. in 335 Student Services for all persons interested in working on NSA.

The national president Denny Shaul visited campus Jan. 16 to help the local chapter solve its difficulties. He plans to return Feb. 14 to discuss NSA with all interested people.

There have been murmurs on campus of calling a referendum vote on NSA.

At the time of his visit, Shaul challenged Michigan State to stay in and to help reform the national association rather than withdrawing.

What Is A Christian?

Ward Wilson, an Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship staff member, will speak at an open Spartan Christian Fellowship meeting today at 8 p.m. in 3J Union.

His topic will be, "What is a Christian?"

A skating and tobogganing party at Kensington Park is planned for Saturday at 1:30 p.m. with a spaghetti supper afterwards.

For further information call Bethel Manor, ED 2-1437.

VERY FUNNY
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—As a joke, Richard Vietinghoff placed this sign in the window of the liquor store where he worked: "Come In, We've Been Expecting You. Everything is going wrong today."

A few minutes later a gunman entered and emptied the cash register.

Audio-Visual Educators To Convene

"Education: Brazil's Need for the Future" will be discussed at the Michigan Audio-Visual Association conference Saturday at the Gull Lake Biological Station near Kalamazoo.

Horace Hartsell, assistant professor and assistant director of the audio-visual center, and Odette Aguilar, professor of education from Brazil presently working with the audio-visual staff at MSU, will address 75 educators.

The address will highlight the work of six study committees which will consider: discussion topic lead, program learning, educational television and instructional materials centers.

Wilfred L. Veenendaal, assistant professor of audio-visual technique, and assistant director of the audiovisual center, will lead the committee on instructional materials centers.

OH DEAR, NOT MRS. ODEAR

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Atty. Robert M. Odear objected to a prospective juror in a civil case, Judge Joseph J. Bradley smiled and excused the lawyer's wife from jury duty.

Odear told the judge: "I haven't won an argument with her since we were married. And I don't want to take a chance in this case."

Three Faiths Unite In Week Of Prayer

Millions of members of the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Catholic faiths, join in a week of special prayer for a cause expressed by Abbe Coururier in these words:

"That the unity of all Christians may come, according to Christ's will, in His way, in His time."

Generally in Roman Catholic observances in the past, and still in some of them in this country, the specific intention of the week's special prayers has been for "return" of other Christians to the Church of Rome.

Members of other churches could not consistently join in that specific plea.

But this year, for the first time in the annual observance, the same prayers, scriptures and meditations are being used by the World Council of Churches and the Catholic-Christian Unity Association of Youth headed by Abbe Coururier.

Their mutual theme, from Ephesians 2:14—"He (Christ) is our peace."

In countless Protestant, Orthodox and Catholic churches, members will utter the same litany and petitions, including:

"O God of peace... give us penitence for our divisions, wisdom to know Thy truth, courage to do Thy will, love which shall break down the barriers of pride and prejudice and unswerving loyalty to Thy holy name."

Abbe Coururier, often called the "Apostle of Unity," once said:

"Christ's unity is not purely and simply coexistent with the idea of a 'return,' because history is irreversible, and one can never again place oneself at the point of separation. It is not a return to a former state of unity, but rather one of maturity from within."

Christian reunion, he said, "will be a stupendous miracle of the mercy of God, and this miracle must be asked for by all Christians, for all are guilty, more or less, of the sin of separation."

The week's meditations, for both Catholics and Protestants, include these words:

"Only Christ can heal the deepest scar. This is why we seek unity in Him alone. And while we all come closer to Him, we are united ever more closely in His peace."

Dinners Promote Understanding

New understanding of international neighbors is gained through dinners sponsored by the United Campus Ministry.

The first dinner, Jan. 13 in Peoples Church, provided 120 with an Arabian menu including hummus, kibbee, malfoof and dolma.

The Arab Club joined the United Campus Ministry in planning the event, taking part in discussions and showing slides.

Chairman of the dinner committee, Eddie C. Stone, Ankara, Turkey, junior, said that the idea of the dinners was motivated by a "concern for the deeper realms of personal sharing and encounter beyond the traditional divisions of nation, culture, race and religion."

The committee has no definite plans for the profits. They will be used to establish an emergency fund for foreign students.

The committee will meet again Sunday to plan another dinner of this type during spring term.

The United Campus Ministry was established in June, 1962. It is a cooperative venture on behalf of many Protestant denominations on campus to work together for the fulfillment of their common task.

Faith on Campus

By Linda Miller

The search for faith on campus becomes increasingly complex when we try to fully comprehend the nature of God. We are frustrated when we find that it is not possible to draw a character sketch of our Supreme Creator.

The easy way out is the rejection of belief in God. Because we cannot understand every aspect of God, we sometimes reject Him completely. If He does not exist, we do not need to trouble our thoughts with questions about His nature. He simply does not exist in our lives. Then we can turn our thoughts to material interests. But this is a narrow, illogical viewpoint.

Just because we cannot psychologically analyze God does not mean He is non-existent. Belief in God is contrary to science, philosophy, history, humanity and conscience. Next week we will examine specific proofs for His existence.

We cannot completely know God because He is infinite. He is eternal, always existing because it is His very nature to exist. May He be a finite creature, but on a lower level than God, in a different dimension. However, history has demonstrated that we can know something of the nature of God because we, having been created by Him, are His dependent "creatures."

God and man are both of mixed perfections. God's infiniteness lies in the belief that His imperfections are purified by His goodness. Although God created man in His own image, He gave him freedom in his life on earth. As a result of this act, man is finite; evil and imperfections arise when he misuses this gift of freedom.

Those who reject God because they cannot fully comprehend Him place themselves on an equal level with His nature. They become a law unto themselves and are responsible to no higher authority because they cannot see it.

Only when we realize our dependence upon God as finite beings, can we begin to learn something about His personality. An amount of humility is involved, a virtue that many of us fail to realize the impact in our daily living.

"The greatest conqueror is he who conquers himself."

Campus Assists St. Vincent's

MSU students who have shown an interest in the St. Vincent de Paul Home for Children are assisting the home.

John Sloney, director of the society.

Dormitories, fraternities and sororities have annually entertained the dependent and neglected children with parties during the Christmas holidays. But students have followed through in their personal interest, according to Magr. Sloney. Throughout the year they give aid in correcting reading and speech problems and providing general recreation. The problem of ground maintenance has been lessened through voluntary work.

Founded in 1952 by Bishop Alberg of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lansing, the home now cares for 51 children with emotional problems or coming from broken homes and unfit or ill parents. Cuban refugees numbering over 20 have also been referred by psychiatrists, Probate Court and the Department of Social Welfare, usually ranging from 5 to 14. The Cubans are mostly teenagers.

Sisters and lay employees aid the children in developing normal relationships with people. Case work is done by Catholic social services. Magr. Sloney says that one of the big problems is the necessity of sending the children to five different schools in the Lansing area.

Located at 2800 West Willow St., the home is financed by the diocese of Lansing, Probate Court, Department of Social Welfare, Social Security and payments from those responsible for the children's care.

Negro Pastor Takes Post In White Church

Detroit, (AP) - Trinity Episcopal Church at Farmington, whose congregation of about 140 families is white, is getting a Negro pastor.

The Rev. Joseph A. Pelham, 32, of Detroit, a member of the Michigan Episcopal Diocese staff, was chosen pastor last week at a meeting of the parish in this suburb.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge, Mass.

He will succeed the Rev. James Guinan, who left last October.

Warden of Trinity Episcopal, said Mr. Pelham was chosen from among more than a dozen candidates for the pastorate.

"Buesser said Mr. Pelham was 'head and shoulders' above all the group and the parishioners have accepted him with 'wide-spread enthusiasm.'"

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Episcopal Bishop of Michigan, recommended Pelham for the post.

Gospel Echoes In Paris

Paris UPI - "Is everybody happy?" shouts the gospel singer.

The sophisticated Parisiennes clap their hands and shout, "yes!"

The Champs Elysees Theater has been turned into a revival meeting hall by a group of 15 American Negro gospel singers and dancers. Their show, "Black Nativity," has been the surprise success of the season all over Europe.

The group left a successful New York run to appear at the Spoleto Music Festival in Italy last June. They had such a warm reception that, except for a triumphal return to New York, they've toured Europe to pack theaters since.

Good-bye, hearing on the part of the stars of the group, Marion Williams of Philadelphia.

"That's what gospel does for you. Just hear a gospel song, and it gives you joy because gospel is joy."
