Milan Students Strike For Tougher Courses

MILAN, Italy (AP) - Desk and chairs are heaved against the doors of the University of Milan's College of Architecture to keep the professors out. Three hundred and fifty juniors and seniors are barricaded... They barricaded themselves in their college building a week ago today and raised their battle cry. "We want a tougher course that will fit us for jobs in today's world of architecture. We want lectures that will weed out the unfit and the incapable. We want lectures by modern architects who are making a living at the business and not just talk by professors on out-"

U.N. Confab Starts Today

4 Issues Await Delegates

Four crucial world issues will be on the agenda for debate in the general assembly of the third annual MSU Model United Nations Conference this weekend. Resolutions to debate the Cuban-American conflict, U.N. jurisdiction in South West Africa, the East-West conflict in Berlin, and the Sino-Indian border dispute are scheduled for the general assembly meetings to be held in the Kiva tonight and Saturday afternoon and in the Union Ball Room Sunday afternoon. Twenty one schools including MSU will be here for the conference. MSU, with an estimated 200 delegates, will represent 50 countries. About 170 delegates from other campuses will represent the rest of the 100 nations. Adrian Jaffe, associate professor of English, will address the general assembly tonight at 7 p.m. about his views on international politics and responsibilities. Committee meetings scheduled for Saturday and Sunday mornings will discuss international problems such as: Angola, South African Apartheid, Communist aggression in South East Asia, the Palestine refugees, nuclear test ban, the Malaysian federation, and colonialism. Miso Pavlovic, Yugoslavian ambassador to the U.N., will speak at a U.N. Banquet Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Union. Pavlovic will hold a press interview earlier Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Union U.N. Lounge. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Sound Economy Cited As State's Big Need

By DICK MIDDLETON Of The State News Staff Gov. George W. Romney said Thursday he has asked the legislature for an immediate appropriation of $775,000 for preliminary planning costs for building projects at 11 state colleges and universities. At the same time, he replied to criticisms made Wednesday by officials of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP). The planning appropriation, Romney said, is part of his plan to get a head start toward meeting the sharply increased enrollments anticipated at the state's colleges and universities. Michigan State, with $210,000, would receive the largest share of the funds. The MSU requests include $150,000 for the power plant expansion, and another $60,000 for the proposed $4 million conservation-forestry building. The total cost of the power plant expansion is estimated at $7,500,000. Romney also asked for $10,000 to cover planning costs for a heating plant at Oakland University.

Frats Wait For Decision

The Student-Faculty Social Affairs committee postponed until next week a decision on the Interfraternity Council's recommendation to place Alpha Tau Omega and Zeta Delta Tau fraternities on social probation at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The committee asked Bob Andriings, Wayland senior, and president of IFC, to present a complete report Feb. 26 including specific stipulations of the probation, according to Louis F. Hekhuis, assistant director to the dean of students. Hekhuis said these stipulations are being drafted and were not available Wednesday. Ex-President Bob Howard, Elmhurst, Ill. senior, appealed for passage by saying that presently the organization is too big and that the representatives don't know what is happening. Tom Partridge (East Wilson), Swartz Creek sophomore, tried to stall action on the measure by demanding that bill #24 be brought out of committee. Bill #24 states that there must be a one week waiting period between a bill's introduction and its passage.

All Cars Allowed For Weekend

Students will be allowed to drive non-registered vehicles on the campus this weekend because of the Michigan State University Motor Vehicle Committee made the decision Thursday afternoon in deference to the all-University function. Special permission ends midnight Sunday.

Harvard, Radcliffe Disagree On Sex Study

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - The President of Radcliffe and the editors of the Harvard student newspaper don't agree on what the President said about sex among college students. Harvard and Radcliffe adjoin each other in this city of higher education. Their students mingle freely, even attend some classes together although they are enrolled in separate schools. The Harvard Crimson had a reporter at a news conference held by Mrs. Mary I. Bunting, Radcliffe President. The paper carried a story saying she asked for a study of premarital sexual relations among college students. Thursday a Radcliffe spokesman quoted Mrs. Bunting as replying that the Crimson story doesn't represent her views accurately. The college news bureau said Radcliffe has no plans for such a study on the school's campus. It added that Mrs. Bunting is now out of town and unavailable for further comment. The Crimson quoted Mrs. Bunting as saying: "College officials have not faced the problem of pre-marital sexual relations as squarely as they should." The newspaper added that she charged administrators with shoving the matter under the rug and that "rucking promiscuity away is no longer a sensible solution." The Radcliffe spokesman said Mrs. Bunting had a formal news conference on other matters and that any comments she made on sex were made during an informal discussion. The Crimson quoted Mrs. Bunting as saying she declined to discuss her own views but suggested a careful study of the college sex patterns of Harvard and Radcliffe graduates of the past 25 years could be an important step toward discussion of the problems of pre-marital sex. Last year, Sarah Blanding, President of Vassar, spoke out strongly, the Crimson said, against pre-marital sex relations, and that she believed it wrong for any unmarried Vassar student to engage in sexual intercourse. "In the nationwide fury following Mrs. Blanding's remarks," the Crimson said, "the presidents of several other women's colleges discussed the problems of pre-marital sex. Although no other administrators spoke officially about the conduct of their undergraduates, all were generally in favor of saving sex for marriage." The Crimson also quoted Mrs. Bunting as saying that the question of pre-marital sex has not been of great concern to the Radcliffe administration. The Crimson said a proposal now before the Radcliffe Government Association would allow juniors and seniors to leave the dormitory without indicating any destination. And it concluded that Mrs. Bunting is giving careful consideration to that suggestion and is interested in it.

World News at a Glance

From AP and UPI Wires Department Given Action Orders WASHINGTON - The American Defense Department has been given orders to take action against any Cuban plane which "attacks any U.S. naval or air craft. President Johnson announced the move in his afternoon news conference. The move is the first since the Cuban missile crisis. A spokesman said he has ordered "any necessary steps" in standing instructions to cope with any new attacks. A steam boat was attacked by four MIG jet fighters in international waters off Key West, Florida. The Pentagon reports the Russian-built warplanes fired rockets "close" to the disabled craft. Blasts Typographers' Head The president of the Typographical Union on strike against New York City newspapers, Joseph Blumenthal, said he has ordered the union to "show a sense of responsibility." The strike, he said, is for the union movement, but for the newspapers, and the newspaper public. The President did not think compromise was the answer, but did suggest both parties discuss the matter over to non-federal mediation.

No Excess Flu Cases Reported On Campus

Respiratory flu infections remain normal for this time of year, Dr. James Feurig, medical director of Olin Health Center, said. "There has been no increase of flu cases among the student population," Dr. Feurig said, "and there have been no reports of Asian flu." The flu bug is biting the rest of Michigan, however, and doctors say it might continue to spread. Some cases of Asian flu, which has cut a swath westward across the nation, have been reported in Lansing, Detroit and Ann Arbor. Throughout the state persons have reported many respiratory ailments. At Sandusky Community School more than 300 students missed school because of the flu. The school was closed for the remainder of the week yesterday. The Martha T. Berry Hospital in Mount Clemens has barred visitors to the hospital for the duration of the flu threat. Detroit Health Commissioner Charles P. Anderson said, "We are jammed at Receiving Hospital and have 500 calls from physicians to make home calls. That's an all-time high for one day." Wayne County Health Commissioner Dr. Joseph G. Molner said six schools in Dearborn double the normal absenteeism.

New History Collection At Museum

Old business records, company correspondence, and stock records of the Reo Motor Company from 1904-1954 may sound unimpressive, but Marvin R. Cain, museum curator, is pleased with the new collection. "We believe the collection is one of the most important in this section of the country on business and transportation history," he said. James H. Soltow, professor of history, said: "There are few collections in company materials like the Reo collection that cover such a long period of time." Instrumental in the acquisition of the collection was Glenn Niemeyer, professor of history. After writing a doctoral dissertation on the founder of Oldsmobile, Niemeyer suggested that the museum get the Reo collection. Cain sees storage problems for the collection, which covers 10,000 square feet. It is currently stored in a quonset.

Sydney Wants Single Room

Cleveland (UPI) - Sydney Balogh of Grafton, Ohio, received a pamphlet from all-male John Carroll University aimed at inducing freshmen to enroll. Sydney made a few inquiries: "Are we allowed to have private, 'single' rooms, because somehow I believe my roommate and I would either not get along or we would get along too well. I don't mind participating in your ROTC (Reserve Officers Training Corps) program, but could I possibly be given a choice of rooming with a girl?" "Your thumbnail description of your athletic program sounds exceptional, but I wonder if I could somehow have a physical education class by myself, since I am rather modest?" Sydney is a girl.

The First Step In AUSG's Revolution

Student Congress has given the go-ahead signal on a plan to reorganize the Student Senate for a Student Senate will be put before students March 7.

We're pleased that Congress approved the measure in one meeting. It was a long, stormy session, but the proposal passed 43 to 6, without amendments.

We feel that the re-evaluation committee did an excellent job. Jim Barnes, AUSG President, initiated the committee fall term. It was the first committee in three years charged with the task of reorganizing Student Congress, and the first one to come up with a concrete proposal.

With the help of Tom Rasmussen, Students Off Campus

representative; Anne Furdy, committee chairman, Jim Mor- dent; Dennis McGinty, speaker of Congress; and Jim Billings, elec- tions commissioner, the group drew up the plan. Former AUSG President Bob Howard also added his ideas.

Barnes is confident that the student body will approve the plan. We are, too. No student refer- endum has yet failed.

The Student Senate plan means a much-needed "new start" for AUSG. It means a chance for effi- ciency and true student rep- resentation in a group whose pri- mary purpose is serving stu- dents. We urge students to vote "yes".

The Desire Is There But Not Always The Money

Charities, we have lots and lots of charities. This is the familiar lament of more than one married housing resident on campus.

We have the Campus Chest and the Community Chest. Then come Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts with cookies, loaves of bread and other comparable items.

If a group is raising money in the area, the married housing units are never overlooked.

For one thing the units are conveniently close together, and at least half are out of the rain.

Moreover, college students tend to be fairly generous in their Au Contraire gifts to charities of all forms. However, the problem in the married housing units is basically lack of money. Most house- holds are run on a tight budget.

These are the lean years, until the husband and/or father can graduate and begin paying his family back for the sacrifices they have made.

It would seem that the chari- table and civic organizations in the area should carefully con- sider this situation before they decide to canvass Cherry Lane or the two villages.

These people really don't have the money to give.

Poor Reporting, Shaw Spirit

To the Editor: It was disturbing to see the panel discussion of Wednesday, Feb. 13 described so poorly in the State News (Feb. 15, 1963). I was there and I didn't get the idea that the major idea brought out was that "The Bright Negro Must Lead." In fact, there was some question as to who should lead, if anyone. Ayo Azikiwe was not the dominant member of the panel that night, although the implication in the State News article was to this effect.

as much so as anyone else, and this is a fact, regardless of any views I might find it my pleasure to hold.

Shaw Spirit

To the Editor: In reference to your editorial of February 19 which seemingly implies a greater superiority to those residence halls which are coed and have precincts with names the following points are relevant:

Since your article deals with residence hall spirit you are implying by quoting Mr. Chandler that East and West Shaw do not have the spirit which is associated with "houses" have. This is obviously false to anyone con- nected with the residence hall program.

East Shaw leads in the race for the dormitory all-sports trophy which requires intensive participation both on a precinct ("house") level and on a dorm- wide basis.

West Shaw leads in the resi- dence hall scholastic program. This again requires cooperation (spirit) among the members of the precinct.

East and West Shaw have consistently placed first and second over the past four years in the homecoming display competition for dormitories.

East and West Shaw have planned programs designed to stimulate intellectual develop- ment. For example West has a series of art exhibits.

East and West Shaw have the highest number of returning stu- dents each spring term when it comes time to sign for rooms for the next year, directly at- tributable to "spirit."

Coed dormitories have self- evident advantages, but evidence is lacking that this builds spirit. Case Hall obtained a greater re- turn of students, perhaps, as a result of being the only coed residence hall; not as a result of spirit and interest in general dormitory activities.

The above points are demon- strating the fact that East and West Shaw do have the spirit which men's residence halls at Michi- gan State University, not as a result of being coed or having precinct names; but rather, by building spirit through a long range series of programs de- signed to meet the interests and needs of the residents.

We appreciate the coverage the State News has been giving to the dormitory program this year; however, clear and true facts are the essence of news- paper editorials.

Suggest Subsidies For Doctoral Candidates

University aid to doctoral candidates was suggested as a solution to the increasing need for qualified business administration instructors.

"The number of Ph.D.'s would greatly increase if universities could subsidize the student for an additional year beyond his course work," said Kullervo Louhi, associate dean of the graduate School of Business Administration.

The cost of obtaining a Ph.D. is one of the main reasons there are only one-tenth the number required to take care of the normal turnover in business ad- ministration professors.

Besides the expense of a bachelor's and master's degree and doctoral courses, the stu- dent often has to spend money for travel to his dissertation, Louhi said.

"Many are forced to stop work on their degree because of press- ing financial problems and those who leave aren't likely to finish."

There are about 20 candidates from our school doing research on their dissertations and about 30 enrolled in the doctoral pro- gram. They are working on the required six subject-matters of administration, quantitative methodology, two functional areas such as finance, market- ing and industrial management and an outside area, preferably directly related to the area in which the research dissertation will be written.

Applications For Seminar

Applications for the eleventh International Student Relations Seminar sponsored by the National Student Association are now being received, according to Rich Haller, LaGrange, Ill., junior and Michigan State NSA coordinator.

The seminar has two ob- jectives:

To provide a select number of student leaders with high quality international relations and to instruct them in methods and case studies to prepare them for leader- ship roles in international youth and student activities.

The seminar, to be held in Philadelphia, Pa., runs June 16 to Aug. 13. Participants will be able to take part in the National Student Congress on Aug. 15-29.

A full scholarship, in excess of $1,700 including travel ex- penses, tuition, and room and board for the entire period, is available to participants. The deadline for applications is March 14.

The Editor Says

Fallout Shelters

Ben Burns

Recent news releases indicate that the Kennedy administration wants a $195 million fallout-shelter program.

- 1--The administration may want to awaken the American people to the realities of possible nuclear attack.
- 2--The Democrats may want to do something "coercive" to endear themselves to Republican suburbs.
- 3--It is possibly a move to stimulate the economy and building trades unions by providing work.
- 4--Perhaps the shelters are supposed to protect Americans during nuclear attacks.

Using the shelters as monuments to the possibility of such attacks has some validity. The structures might make Americans more interested in negotiating an end to the arms race.

The fallout shelters would probably be cheaper and more easily built in suburban areas than the proposal made by at least one individual--to build giant furnaces to dispose of the bodies after nuclear attack. Fallout shelters should be just as effective furnaces in bringing an awareness to Americans.

There is some legitimacy to the idea that the fallout shelter would cause Republican suburbs to look with more favor Democratic office seekers, too.

The shelters could become a part of the civic complex. They might serve as Girl and Boy Scout halls, libraries, U. Centers, Town Halls, etc.

The shelters might also serve as rest stations for foot- members of the Peace Corps during 50-mile hikes.

Financial encouragement to the economy appears to be the best reason for spending the $195 million. This money paid in at the lower end of the social structure would provide work for carpenters, stone masons and bricklayers.

Protection of Americans during nuclear attacks is probably the poorest reason for building fallout shelters.

Recent books analyzing the capabilities for destruction of U.S. and Russia, speak of nuclear warheads that could be plo- ded high in the atmosphere over the nation that would lit- erate scorch everything on the earth over a sizable region.

This means that suburban dwellers in their federal shelters would fry along with the rest of us.

Other questions fallout shelter critics raise: How much is a fallout shelter if the air is polluted? Is it worth $195 mil- lion to live two weeks longer than the rest of the nation's citi- zens?

Shelters may be worth $195 million in awareness, econ- omy, social and civic values, but probably aren't worth two weeks in protection.

Small Classes Won't Be Dropped

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles about the MSU Educational Development Project.)

Doubling faculty productivity to provide 48,000 students with a better education will call for imagination and flexibility from the whole faculty as its members move forward on the MSU Educational Development Project.

Faculty members will be wrestling with the problem of doubling student credit hours by doubling the productivity of each faculty member.

The number of courses offered tends to increase as enrollments increase, as new research opens up new areas of study, and as the composition of the student body changes.

For example, the number of undergraduate courses offered by the university actually declined five per cent from 2,507 in 1961-62 to 2,386 in 1962-63, the number of graduate courses increased 100 per cent from 626 to 1,254. The total effect was an increase of 16.1 per cent in number of courses listed in the University catalog from 3,133 to 3,640 during this period.

Relatively few courses were offered to large numbers of stu- dents. In 1961-62, 658 courses enrolled 10 or fewer students, including 41 courses at the 200 level or below, 637 courses en- rolled between 11 and 20, and 431 enrolled between 21 and 30 for the year. More than half the courses met with 10 or fewer students.

This does not mean that the faculty can solve its problem simply by eliminating courses with low enrollments. Diverse areas of knowledge are so important that the university must always offer instruction in them to meet the needs of society.

Instruction at the graduate level could be crimped if enrollment limits were set. Many teachers are at their best in small groups, and many students learn more in the give-and-take of small class discussion.

New combinations of course content arranged in new and in- novative ways might make it possible to increase the number of credits per course, serve greater numbers of students, and make better use of faculty teaching time. Such new combinations might also make possible the reduction of overlapping courses in the same content is handled now by several departments.

Monday: Possible plans for handling large classes.

They Brought Glory To Michigan State

Jim Yost

Each generation of college students has its records, and MSU has had no few moments of glory. The following are a few of the more notable ones.

But what about the little-known facts and facts that originated at MSU?

After long hours of careful research through yellowed copies of the State News I have collected what I believe to be some records that still stand, fought for by MSU students and faculty to bring glory to the University, glory that has been long since forgotten.

Do you remember?

Cleveland "Maw" Brundy, class of 1900, was the Duncan House (Pewee) Alchemist glass by originating 17 new ways to use old truck tires in campus meals. (1949)

Delbert "Lumpy" Rasmus (1910) gained immortality during the spectacle of 109 by starting eight targeteers in his car.

Arnold "The Knife" Pizzalapa (1915) This Lansing butcher appropriated by fame when he entered the wrong door and successfully removed a patient's pancreas at Ohio Health Center. (1953)

Michael "Mickey" Flewty (1920). When the campus went crazy for slugs, Flewty won, known for such catches phrases as "It takes me to know the" and "Lad, now it is a better way." His most notable slogan came in later life when, in 1936, he originated this famous slogan -- "Let's help our friends of the Young Sun, and that's what you're for!"

Martin "Grunty" Grunt (1924), for the contemporary record for sheer business. When the sewers backed up and campus maintenance crews were slow in fixing them, "Old Grunt" as his distant friends called him, formed a one-man pocket line at the campus utilities office and let us let them to take action. Ceremonies were held at five-side that night where students burned Grunt's clothing and presented him with a bar of Ivory soap in gratitude of his accomplishment. (1923)

Peyton "Squitty" McGruder, (1925), Alumni-Faculty member, gave a three hour speech on the evils of Communism to three dogs, six cats, and a parakeet at Giltner Hall, thinking he was at a graduate seminar.

Arnie Hutchins, Louie Brunderson, and Alet Kepple, (1931). When the campus went wild over athletics, Hutchins, Brunderson, and Kepple thrilled crowds with daring and skill in the 300 meter Biscuit Pushing Relay, Olympic hopes were dashed when Hutchins, in a practice session, pushed the biscuit into a parking meter and broke his nose in three places.

Mary Lou "Ma-Yu-Kid" Zemar, (1933), chemist extraordinaire, found a way to marinate goldfish alive, opening new vistas in the realm of goldfish swallowing.

Lawrence "Big Brother" Sibling, (1939), well known bird watcher, always carried a pair of high-powered binoculars. Sibling was credited with the discovery of 340 new species of bird at the time of his arrest outside Campbell Hall by campus police.

Arnold "Slick" Dimples, (1957), sold Beaumont Tower to 33 different freshmen during Welcome Week. (1956)

Ernest "Fins" Twillinger, (1959), Professional Evil Seeker, was determined to prove that the student body was socially corrupt. When he appeared in the Inter-cultural Gardens late one spring night with a pair of hedge shears he was promptly stoned by an enraged mob of floral enthusiasts.

Boyd "Nice Guy" Thampton, was voted most popular A.T.L. prof of 1962 when he failed to show up at 41 consecutive classes. Students wishing to thank Thampton can find him at the Lansing office of the Michigan Unemployment Securities Commission.

Matmen Michigan Bound

Last Friday there were three undefeated wrestling teams in the Big Ten. Defending champion Iowa came to East Lansing—then there were two. State downed the Hawkeyes, leaving only the Spartans and the Michigan Wolverines among the elite.

on the Michigan mats at 4 p.m. The outcome of the match could determine a favorite in the upcoming Big Ten meet.

two unbeaten records to defend should all contribute to an outstanding wrestling contest.

Tankers Cast Eye To Championship

Spartan swimming coach, Charles McCaffree has his eyes set on new dates these days. Instead of planning solely for the Illinois meet, he has been thinking of the meet with Michigan and also of the Big Ten Championships in Purdue on March 7-9.

"In spots Illinois will give us trouble," said McCaffree, "but for the overall meet they shouldn't be able to cause enough damage to cost us a loss."

Assistant coach, Richard Fetters also is pointing toward the meet with the Wolverines.

"Ever since the beginning of practice in October, I have had a red line drawn under the date of March second," said Fetters. "Michigan's coach, Gus Stager is a good friend of mine and there is no joy like beating a friend at his own game."

More important than either of the coming dual meets, however, are the approaching championships.

After the Michigan meet, the Spartan tankers will be involved in championship meets for three out of four of the following weekends.

First comes the Big Ten in Purdue. In that meet the Spartans will be attempting to improve upon their fourth place finish of a year ago.

"We are really going to have a job even holding on to fourth place this year," says McCaffree. "Last year we edged out Minnesota for the fourth spot but they are greatly improved this season as was evidenced in our meet with them."

As it stands now, Indiana should win the meet easily. Then in any order will come Ohio State, Minnesota, Michigan and the Spartans.

The Spartan tankers will get one weekend off following the Big Ten affair. The Michigan State High School Swimming Championships will be held in the IM pool on March 15, and 16.

The following week, the Spartans will travel to Yale for the NAAU and Pan American try-outs. The dates for this meet are March 20-23.

Coming on the heels of the Yale affair will be the NCAA Championships in Raleigh, North Carolina on March 28, 29 and 30. Due to Indiana's absence because of probation, the Spartans will be attempting along with several other strong tank squads, to dethrone the defending champion Ohio State Buckeyes.

Basketball

Cliff Keen, one of the nation's top wrestling coaches, will have his matmen well prepared for the invading Spartans. Weight class adjustments have been made.

Grady Penninger, Spartan coach, has a few aces of his own. Among these are undefeated conference wrestler Cecil Holmes (130), Gary Smith (123), Homer McClure (heavyweight) and unbeaten Alex Valcanoff (177).

Holmes' appearance, however, is questionable due to his recent recovery from influenza. The rest of the Spartan squad is in fine physical shape.

Rivalry, two strong teams, and Michigan defeated Pittsburgh, one of two non-conference foes that downed the Spartans, by a one-point margin, 14-13. Last year the Wolverines finished second to Iowa in the conference. The Spartans finished fifth.

Wordsmen Rival Powers In Detroit

State, sporting a 5-2 record, will counter with such headliners as Dick Schloemer to his captains Ron Brooks and John Pelletier in epic, and satirical Paul Slayton and Lou Salmons.

Schloemer is the Spartan pace-setter with a 16-2 week. Brooks and Pelletier led the open record with 16-3 and 14-5 showings and Slayton is tops in satire at 15-0, with Salmons running a close second at 14-3.

FALCON IS "NEW KING OF THE MOUNTAINS" IN TOUGHEST 2,500-MILE MONTE CARLO RALLYE

Special edition Falcon V-8 "Sprint" defeats the world's best in final 490-mile test section on icy Alpine cliff roads... then outperforms every sedan on famous Monaco circuit!

Falcon picked the world's roughest winter ordeal to reveal an astonishing new brand of total performance. Four days and three nights through an inferno of ice, snow, freezing fog, endless curves—2,500 miles against an implacable time schedule—Falcon gave a convincing demonstration of reliability, roadholding and performance to the ultimate. Experts said a first-time car couldn't hope to finish—and two-thirds of the 296 competitors did drop out. But Falcon not only placed first and second in its class, it defeated every car, regardless of class, on the brutal Chambery-Monte Carlo final leg, set best time among all finishers in all of the six special test sections—and showed its heels to every sedan in the dramatic five-lap elimination on Monaco's famous round-the-houses course. You couldn't get better proof of total performance anywhere!

*You can read the dramatic report of the world's most rugged winter Rallye in Sports Illustrated's February 4 issue. And you can get the full story of this and Ford's other total performance accomplishments from your Ford Dealer.

DEEP SNOW on the Col de Turin special section didn't even slow the "Sprint." And sure-footed Falcon amazed the Rallye experts by its traction on glare ice.

STORMING ALONG IN THE FRENCH DUSK, a Falcon plunges into the third night behind the special lights that let a Rallye driver see around curves, spot patches of ice, penetrate fog.

FALCONS TOOK CURVES LIKE THESE—hundreds upon hundreds of them—and proved that roadholding is not a European monopoly. In fact, Sports Illustrated magazine called them "the new kings of the mountains" and quoted a London newspaper as declaring, "The Falcons are part of a power and performance plan that will shake up motoring in every country of the world."

"LACES" a French Rallye driver, the "BEST OF ALL" TOURING CATEGORY CARS in the three-lap elimination was the Falcon, piloted by Swedish ace expert Björn Waldegaard. He won the three-year, all-around Rallye stability, brakes and shows all durability.

America's liveliest, most care-free cars!

Engineers Dedicate Monument

A bronze symbol commemorating one of the top engineering achievements in the United States, the Tau Beta Phi engineering honor in the courtyard of the engineering building.

The eight-foot structure symbolizes a railroad bridge. James R. Burnett, one of the faculty sponsors of the MSU Tau Beta Phi chapter, said railroads were "extremely important to engineers during the 1800s when the national fraternity was founded."

The MSU chapter, founded in 1892, was the second established in the nation.

"The founding of Tau Beta Phi at MSU made the organization a national fraternity," Burnett said. There are now 112 chapters.

More than 100 engineering alumni attended the dedication Tuesday coming from as far away as Florida.

"This is an indication of the importance of the fraternity to its members," Burnett said.

Romney

Romney's budget recommendations for MSU and Wayne State University "niggardly" and "miserly."

MSU's budget recommendation of $25,497,823 fell nearly $6 million short of the requested figure. Wayne's appropriation of $10,000,000 fell $1.5 million short of the requested amount.

"I'm convinced that strengthening higher education must be done by strengthening the state's total economic picture," he said.

In the past, he said, the state has been spending more than it has been taking in.

Before education's problems can be tackled, Romney insisted, confidence must be restored in the state's financial integrity.

MSU Employed 20,000 Last Year

A total of 20,082 W-2 forms were signed by MSU employees last year.

Philip J. May, University treasurer, told the Board of Trustees Friday that the employment figure for 1962 included 10,440 students and 9,642 members of the faculty and staff.

Family Unit Gets Leader

Doris Wetters, formerly of the consumer information office, has been named the new assistant program leader in the family living unit.

Student Leaders 'Seniors Of The Week'

"Seniors of the Week," Nancy Jelinek, Three Oaks, and Ken Beachler, Greenville, were chosen on the basis of leadership and service to the community.

Nancy is still debating between teaching and working with the International Farm Youth Exchange following graduation.

Ken plans to work at "Melody Circus," a new 2,100 seat professional musical summer theatre, which opens in Grand Rapids June 17. He'll leave the theatre fall term to begin graduate work in theatre.

Nancy is a member of Circle Honorary and won one of the outstanding junior awards, last year.

Ken, a member of Honors College, has been president of Excalibur, vice president of Blue Key, a two-year recipient of the Hinman scholarship and a member of Phi Eta Sigma.

Ken Beachler, vice president of the University of Michigan, was at the University of Michigan this past fall.

While serving with the U.S. Army in Germany for 18 months, Ken produced six shows and worked as a 5-8 lesson for German, French, Canadian and American cultural exchange.

Student Asks Return Of Research Papers

Two books and irreplaceable research papers belonging to John K. Belaski, Wyandotte senior, were taken Wednesday from his locker in the Men's IM building.

"Whoever took the books can have them," Belaski said, "but they contained research papers which I've been working on for a term and a half that I do need."

Also taken were two research papers belonging to Sidney Ulmer, associate professor of political science and a monograph belonging to Glendon Schubert, professor of political science. This material had been loaned to Belaski.

Belaski lives at 4646 Moore St., Okemos and can be called at 332-4287. The research material can be returned anonymously to Belaski or to campus police.

To Lecture At Salzburg

Albert A. Blum, associate professor of social science and assistant to the director of labor and industrial relations, will lecture on labor and industry in America at the Salzburg Seminar on American Studies in Austria in March to 40 European students.

College President Pleas Realistic Schooling

Realistic schooling for 40 per cent of American students who do not graduate college was made at a Michigan School Administrators Conference held Tuesday at the Kellogg Center.

"In the 1960's we must dedicate ourselves to providing a comprehensive and useful education for all students," Spenberg said.

Out of every 10 children now in grade schools, three will not finish high school, Spenberg said. Four will go on to college, but only two will graduate.

Despite the critical need for skilled technicians of all kinds in our society, Spenberg said, vocational education today enrolls less than 20 per cent of the high school students.

Community colleges, he said, should work hand-in-hand with vocational schools to provide the technical education and re-training for adults that may be necessary two or three times during a life cycle.

Spenberg warned the group of nearly 200 school officials from 18 southwest Michigan counties that time is growing short.

Schweitzer Probes Mind Of Christ

The genius of a major prophet in the twentieth century is reflected in The Psychiatric Study of Jesus.

In his study he refutes the theory that Jesus suffered from paranoia. Meeting psychologists who advocate this theory on parolp.

No one is better qualified to speak about Jesus' mind than the man who has been most Christ-like in his love and concern for humanity.

The author points out that contemporary society tries to make Jesus harmonize with its own ideals of life and conduct.

Schweitzer's personal evaluation of Jesus' divinity is found in the opening of his book.

"In the knowledge that he is the coming son of man, Jesus lays hold of the wheel of the world to set it moving on that last revolution which is to bring all ordinary history to a close.

Nations To Unite In Prayer

Prayer will be the invisible space ship orbiting the world Friday, Mar. 1, the 77th World Day of Prayer.

The theme of the 1963 service inspired by the Apostle Paul's words to the Romans that neither tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nakedness, peril nor sword can separate us from the love of Christ, for "in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us."

"The World Day of Prayer service is not just a program. It is planned as an active experience of prayer, to give us a sense of unity with the whole church," said Mrs. Paul Moser, national chairman.

An offering, the dedication of gifts and money to assist the work of those giving time and talent in many fields of service, is part of the observance, necessary to help put into tangible form response to those concerns for which the prayers are offered.

Gamma Delt Confer Here

The MSU, Alpha Omicron chapter (Lutheran) of Gamma Delta invites other chapters throughout Michigan to an inter-chapter conference Saturday.

The morning sessions will be held at the Martin Luther Chapel and Student Center at 444 Abbott Road. An introduction by the Rev. Paul Maier, Lutheran pastor at Western Michigan University, will be given at 10 a.m.

Foreign students from campus will then discuss Christianity in their own countries. A lunch will be served at the Chapel at 12:45 a.m.

The Regional Gamma Delta president will begin the afternoon session by analyzing Gamma Delta's role in international Christianity. A movie, "The Faith of Yuan Tai," dealing with the difficulty of being a Christian in a Communist nation, will follow.

The Rev. Mr. Maier will then present the theme for the day, "The Scope and Current Problems of Christianity-International," in topic and discussion form. These sessions will be held in Room 31 of the Union.

Coffee will be served at the Chapel at 4:30 p.m. In keeping with the international theme, the banquet at Emanuel Lutheran Church in Lansing will feature such exotic foods as Fong Moo Goo Chay and Arroz Con Pollo. Conference participants will close the day with Vespers led by the Rev. Theodore Bundenhal, pastor at Martin Luther Chapel.

Faith On Campus - The Atheistic Challenge

By Linda Miller

Once we have determined our faith, we often feel the need to witness, to express our beliefs to others in the hope that they might be inspired by our own experiences. When we are not an atheist, we are often disillusioned by the rejection we receive.

There are five general types of atheists. One does not openly deny the existence of God, but lives without regard for His moral law. An approach of describing God in a manner making Him impossible is pantheistic. The agnostic professes that God is unknowable. Belief that man is the only superior being is held by the humanist. The type most difficult to communicate with is the one who declares openly, "There is no God."

Discussion with an atheist often leads us to think our witness is futile. We become confused and upset. It is sometimes like talking to a repeating phonograph needle. It plays the same words over and over; our words do not change the endless reiteration. But it is important to the strength of our faith that we understand some of the characteristics of atheistic beliefs.

Non-believers wish to father the thought. They acknowledge no supreme being or creator. It can be said that they often break the moral law by promising unlimited freedom, since they have no one to reckon with other than their own conscience. If they do not believe in God, their conscience is not influenced by any revelation.

The atheist denies the proof of causality for the existence of God. He either claims that there was no first cause, "some things just are," or that the beginning happened by chance. This belief implies a closed mind. He not only rejects the need for an eternal being who has in himself the reason for existence, but he cannot give the cause of his own atheism.

The atheist is often blinded by passion. He shrinks from honest inquiry into the nature of man, who has instilled within himself the need for a purpose in life. If the non-believer's parents were extremely dogmatic in their approach to religion, the church represents a tyranny to him. His inherent feeling of independence causes him to reject this religion and the God associated with it. Or he may have been raised in an environment totally bereft of any religious concern. It is difficult for him to see the importance of a faith absent in his upbringing.

The atheist cites war, human sacrifice and other cruel actions of man in the past to prove that a good and perfect God could not have created the universe. He does not seem to realize that God has given man free will; the choice to deny or take up a faith in his own. The perverted treatment of humanity is the result of man's abuse of his freedom, not the result of God's design.

Some atheists do study all facets of religion and still reject the existence of God. His investigation could not have been completely open-minded. For he would have discovered that man's whole being craves more life. Human existence cannot be aimless and worthless and looked upon as a desirable cessation. For the atheist there is no hope of happiness beyond the grave. His beliefs do not satisfy the intellect or the heart. He destroys the need for courage in misfortune.

It is strange that the atheist often finds it necessary to repeatedly defend his beliefs. If he is truly convinced that most men are in error, why doesn't he sit back and laugh at the futile attempts of humanity, past and present?

It is no sin to doubt. Man must question all sides of the argument before he makes his decision. He cannot acquire certitude until he considers all evidence. But if he seeks a purposeful, happy, moral life, after weighing proofs on both sides and understanding revelation, he must acknowledge his own limitations and the existence of a perfect being.

STEEPLE GOES UP URBANA, Ill. (AP) - The new Wesley Foundation Church at the University of Illinois campus finally has its steeple - a slender, 75-foot spire raised by crane to its tower, while 2,000 spectators watched. The church, for the Methodist student group, was completed in 1959, but funds were not then available for the steeple.

This is my commandment that ye love one another. (John 13:35)

The more we hold to vision of every person as a child of God, the easier we find it to know and understand others and the happier is our association with others.
