

Defense Stops Irish For 12-7 Win; Illini Game Winner Goes To Bowl

Yale Prof Returns, Says 'All For Best'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (P)—Yale professor Frederick C. Barghoorn, expelled from Russia after the Soviets accused him of spying, came home Sunday, saying little about his experience.

Barghoorn, who was held incommunicado for more than two weeks in Russia, arrived at New York's Idlewild Airport from London, then flew directly to Tweed-New Haven Airport in a chartered plane.

"I think it all came out for

the best," he remarked on the New York bound plane. "I greatly appreciate what President Kennedy has done in my behalf, and I definitely do not intend to reveal details. . ."

He landed at 2:17 p.m. and was driven into the city for a reunion with his 80-year-old mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Barghoorn.

An expert on the Soviet Union, he was released from a detention cell in Moscow Saturday and expelled.

In London, New York and New Haven, he muttered only a few sentences. He did say he found his treatment "correct" by Soviet standards.

As an expert on Russia, Barghoorn was well equipped to assess the meaning of his arrest and its implications for Soviet-United States relations. Yet he seemed almost unable to accept the idea that he had become a celebrity.

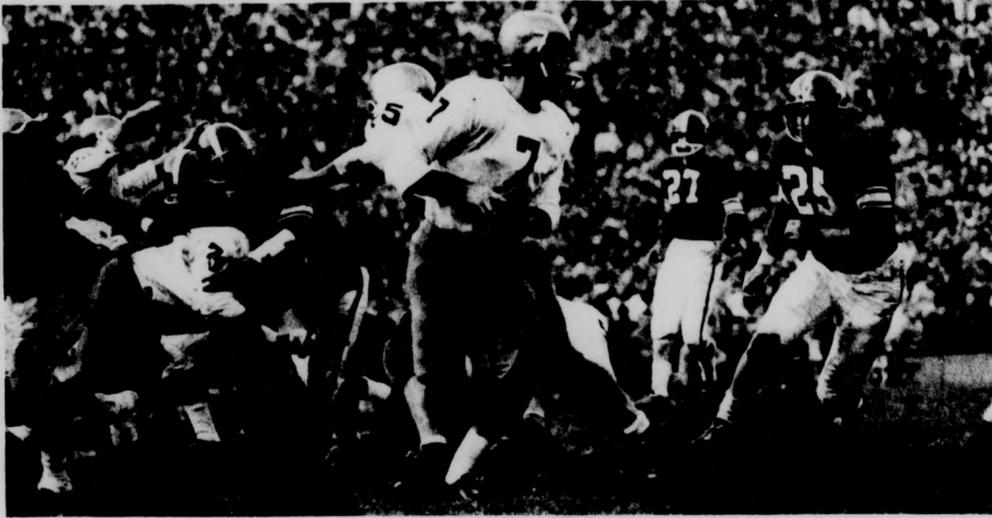

It finally came home to him in London Sunday morning when he saw his name in headlines.

He seemed amused by the suggestion that he would be a star attraction at Yale because of his arrest.

"Never mind that," he smilingly told a fellow passenger on the flight from London.

"I'm on a year's leave of absence now and have no time for lecturing. I'm busy on a book I started a few months ago. It's a study of the Soviets' political system."

It will be his fourth book on (continued on page 6)

Charlie Migyanka (25) Puts The Rush On Notre Dame Quarterback

Two Lewis TD's Level Notre Dame

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

Some say life begins at 80, and Sherman Lewis proved the point once again Saturday afternoon against Notre Dame.

The Louisville speedster ran 85 yards for a touchdown in the final quarter, which proved to be the deciding factor in the Spartans' 12-7 triumph over the stubborn Irish.

Win Or Tie Can Mean Bowl Bid

Next to Sherman Lewis, the most popular man at Spartan Stadium Saturday afternoon was the public address announcer. Spartan fans eagerly awaited the results of the Illinois and Ohio State games, while they were watching the Green and White nip Notre Dame 12-7.

A burst of wild applause broke loose from the crowd of over 70,000 when Northwestern's 17-8 victory over Ohio State was announced. Illinois' 17-7 win against Wisconsin was less warmly received.

What do these scores mean? They mean that Ohio State has been eliminated from the Big Ten title race and that next week's MSU-Illinois game will decide the conference championship.

Sole possession of the Big Ten crown and a trip to the Rose Bowl will be the spoils for the winner of next Saturday's contest.

The Spartans will also gain the bowl bid if the game ends in a tie.

"No team could ask for more than a chance to win the championship outright," said coach Duffy Daugherty after Saturday's Notre Dame game.

Notre Dame was an inspired team, but when the chips were down, it couldn't cope with the State defense whose determination and physical conditioning must bear a resemblance to the men of early Sparta.

It marked the fifth time this season that State's All-American candidate had rejuvenated MSU with runs of 80 yards or more. Two of the 80-yarders have been on pass plays, and one on a punt run-back.

Lewis accounted for the entire scoring show for the Spartans with three-yard touchdown scamper in the second quarter giving MSU its only other points of the afternoon.

Spartan offensive errors gave the Irish the ball seven times, three times within the 25 yard-line.

But the only occasion the Irish capitalized on was early in the first period, two plays after they recovered a fumble at the MSU 15.

Denny Phillips scored from 11 yards out and Ken Ivan added the extra point to put the visitors in front, 7-0, with 9:24 remaining in the first quarter.

The Irish had two more opportunities to cash in on MSU mistakes in the first period, but couldn't make a first down in either situation.

A bad pass from center forced Lou Bobich to hurry off an eight-yard punt which landed on the

2-Year Course Approved

Med Outlook Brightens

4-Year Debated

The American Medical Association announced Friday that it had "firm commitments" for establishing a medical school at MSU. The announcement by the association's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals was tacit approval of MSU's plans for a two-year program beginning in the fall of 1965.

The association announced in Chicago that it had "cautious optimism" that current progress at MSU and other schools will meet the nation's future needs for qualified doctors.

MSU could start any program it wished, said William H. Knisely, director of MSU's Institute of Biology and Medicine and organizer of the medical education program, but the AMA gives accreditation according to nationwide standards of medical schools.

Knisely said the University has told the American Association of Medical Colleges of its plans.

The Board of Trustees has already given its approval, he said. The resources on campus are sufficient for beginning a two-year program, Knisely added.

The first year of the program would include anatomy, physiology, biochemistry and behavioral sciences such as psychology, sociology, and social anthropology, he said.

The second year would include pathology, microbiology and introduction to clinical medicine.

The fate of the proposed four-year medical school at MSU may be decided by the end of this week.

The Michigan Coordinating Council is scheduled to meet Wednesday, and the council's medical education committee is expected to issue its report concerning the medical school at this time.

Neither William H. Knisely, director of the Institute of Biology and Medicine and head of the medical school project, nor Dr. James S. Feurig, health service director, is overly optimistic over the chances of establishing the school.

Knisely had said earlier that what is finally decided and what is recommended to the council may be two different things.

The medical education committee has said it would recommend expanding the facilities at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University rather than establishing a third medical school in Michigan at this time.

Plans for a two-year medical program at Michigan State will be unaffected by the committee's report.

Feurig, however, pointed out that only two medical schools which began as two-year projects have failed to expand, these being at the University of North Dakota and Dartmouth.

North Dakota, he explained, has not expanded because it lacks facilities and Dartmouth has chosen to "feed" Eastern schools rather than expand itself.

Interest in a four-year medical program was triggered by the 1959 Physicians for a Growing America report of the Surgeon General's Consultant Group on Medical Education, Feurig said.

This report said Michigan was among seven or eight states which should seriously consider augmenting its medical education facilities.

Another report in 1961 said one and probably two new medical schools will be needed in Michigan by 1967.

A third report said that the capacity of the freshman medical class at Michigan is 204, and 200 at Wayne.

Ike Suggests US Withdraw European Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says America's European allies are ready to carry a bigger defense burden.

Eisenhower suggested the United States withdraw five of its six ground divisions from Europe. He said the economies of the allies are strong enough to let the U.S. leave only one reinforced division in Europe. This probably would consist of from 40,000 to 50,000 men.

Oil Nationalization Could Cripple Alliance

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield Saturday described Argentina's action as "unwarranted" and called for immediate compensation to American oil firms.

Fans Find Irish Coffee Not Allowed

Campus police confiscated six bottles of liquor and several beer cans in Spartan Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Official University policy prohibits consumption or transportation of alcoholic beverages on MSU property by all persons. Possible penalties for student violations of the ruling are suspension or expulsion.

Student violations are referred to the Dean of Students Office and Student Judiciary.

Sgt. Adam J. Zutaut of the public safety department said campus police take the names of non-students observed drinking in the stadium and confiscate their liquor.

"It is difficult to observe people drinking in the stadium unless they are actually holding up bottles where you can see them," he said.

Extended Education Disputed

A recent proposal to extend undergraduate education to five years has drawn mixed reaction from several MSU administrators.

Francis H. Horn, president of the University of Rhode Island, said last week at the Association of Land-Grant Universities meeting in Chicago that undergraduate education should be extended to five years.

"The world is too complex and there is too much going on that many of us do not understand," Horn said. "A college education should be lengthened from four years to five and

Citizens Unit Calls For $25,000,000 School Aid

Michigan's colleges and universities should get $25 million more aid if a recommendation to Governor George Romney is enacted into law.

A blue-ribbon citizens committee on higher education issued a report to the governor Saturday recommending that state aid to higher education be increased from $109.8 million to $135.

"This will help meet the need for regaining, at least in part, the competitive position in educational appropriations the state formerly enjoyed in the increasingly important role that higher education occupies in relation to the economic future of our state," the committee report added.

MSU Secretary Jack Breslin said the recommendation is a step in the right direction. "This will help public higher education make up for the ground it has lost with regard to state appropriations," Breslin said. "Past years have been hard times for state support of higher education."

The recommendation to Governor Romney was framed by a sub-committee of the blue ribbon committee. It was presented to the 59 member committee, meeting on campus Saturday, by U. S. Rep. Alvin Bentley, R-Owosso.

The sub-committee report recommended that the increase in educational expenditures be financed through a bond issue. The education committee changed the proposal, saying it did not want to recommend one means of financing over another.

The report said that required new college construction would run about $43 million per year from now to 1970.

"After 1970, I predict there will be even larger capital outlays for higher education," Bentley said.

The subcommittee chairman indicated the group was not giving more priority to education over the other needs of Michigan.

"We want it to be clearly understood that we have not attempted to assign a priority rating for higher education among other programs and services of

Possible Bowl Trip Travel Plans Made

All-University Student Government (AUSG), in cooperation with the major student governing groups and the Dean of Students Office, is working on arrangements for a possible Rose Bowl trip.

International Travel Service, Inc. has been selected as the agency to conduct the official alumni and student tours.

If MSU is chosen as the Big Ten's representative to the New Year's Day contest at Pasadena, Calif., complete information will appear Monday, Nov. 25, in the State News concerning the types of package tours available for students.

Various methods of transportation are being considered for the trip including plane, rail and bus.

MSU Turns Out Many War Heroes

MSU is not without it's war heroes. From the Civil War on, alumni of the University have distinguished themselves on battlefields from Gettysburg to France. The list of decorated men is not yet complete, and the names of all those decorated for valorous action have not yet been made known.

There are two examples of particularly outstanding heroism one during the Civil War and one during World War I.

Gilbert A. Dickey graduated from State in 1861. He enlisted in the Union Army and was killed in action at Gettysburg. His body was found, after an attack, by his commanding officer nearer to the Confederate lines than any of his comrades. The officer picked up the lieutenant's body himself and commended Dickey's bravery.

Harold A. Furlong, of the Class of 1918, won the Congressional Medal of Honor when he destroyed four German machine gun nests and brought in about 20 German prisoners.

There were 11 men from MSU killed in the Civil War and 42 in World War I.

Men in World War II who received medals for heroic action are Capt. Merwyn C. Plumley, class of '37 who was awarded the Navy Cross and later, when a major, the Legion of Merit and an honor citation from President Roosevelt for his action on Guadalcanal; Pfc. Joseph Louis Balk who received the Distinguished Service Cross posthumously in France; Lt. Cmdrs. Keyes Greenmyer, Class of '28, and Lloyd Van Antwerp, Class of '36, who received the Navy Cross; Capt. Peter L. DalPonte, Class of '35, and Maj. Ferris A. Church, Class of '39, who received the Distinguished Service Cross; Maj. Gen. Donald Stroh, Class of '15 who received the Distinguished Service Medal.

During WW II, 75 Silver Stars, 87 Distinguished Flying Crosses, 1 Soldiers Medal, 126 Bronze Stars, 211 Air Medals, 58 Purple Hearts and 15 Legions of Merit were awarded to MSU alumni.

Many, though they didn't receive awards, gave their lives in combat.

Africans Learn English Here

A select group of French-speaking African students are taking a full load of English proficiency courses this term.

They will earn another university to earn bachelor of arts degrees, following on term here. After tests for English proficiency, the students enrolled for five hours of special English classes per day.

The courses include pronunciation, grammar, pattern practice, composition, language lab, and lectures on American civilization and culture.

The African-American Institute, which is sponsoring the studies, will select the institutions to which the students will transfer.

After graduation, the students will return to their native countries with a knowledge of professions needed there. For example, Daniel Amar of Morocco will study veterinary medicine, while Marcel Andre, Ivory Coast, will concentrate on engineering. Ferdinand Mveng, Cameroon, will study business and work with the government bank.

Transportation for the students is paid for by their home government, tuition and fees by the schools they attend, and spending money, by AID, (Agency for International Development).

Other schools offering the special one-term English course are the University of Michigan, New York University and the University of Vermont.

ND Fans Arrested For Flag Removal

Four Notre Dame fans were arrested about 1:30 p.m. Saturday for removing MSU flags from downtown Lansing streets.

The matter was brought to the attention of police when they received several calls at about 1 p.m. saying unidentified pedestrians were removing flags from the sidewalks. The flags are always raised on East Michigan Avenue when the Spartans play home games.

They were released on $50 bond and ordered to appear in Lansing Municipal court Monday. Due to the arrest, they missed the game.

Local police were also kept busy this weekend handling petty larceny cases.

Coral Gables was the scene of about 10 purse snatchings. Gee Petruske, one of the managers, said all but one of the purses were recovered.

Several purses are still unclaimed at the Gables, he said. Petruske said he picked up about $80 left lying around on tables and returned it to people as they came back to the tables to look for money.

"Carelessness in leaving things around is one of our biggest problems," he said. "We try to get everything back to the owners, but it's pretty hard when we have crowds like we do on a football weekend. Coats are another item people are careless about."

The weekend was also a busy one for campus police. A minor fire in a car caused by a lighted cigarette resulted in $50 damage Saturday.

The car was parked in Lot P during the game and the cigarette had set fire to a blanket. Campus police said damage was confined to the rear panel of the car.

An East Lansing resident was arrested by campus police for drunk and disorderly conduct at 1:25 a.m. Saturday. Robert C. Sutcliffe, 1500 River Terrace Drive, was fined $20 in Lansing Township Justice Court.

state government," he added.

"We have set fourth what we feel are the needs of higher education in the coming year."

Bentley added that it is the responsibility of other groups, namely the governor and the legislature, to fit the educational program into the over-all state budget. They must also be reconciled with the present and future fiscal picture of the state," he said.

"Failure of tax reform does not have any impact on this recommendation at all," he said.

The report will be sent to Romney who will probably include part of it in his financial message to the legislature in January.

SOC Get 'Misty'

The Student Off Campus annual term party, "Misty," will be held Friday at the Lansing Country Club from 9-12 p.m.

Tickets for the all-university semi-formal dance can be purchased for $3.00 at the Union Ticket Office, the Students Off Campus lounge and 313 Student Services.

Co-chairman Kathy Randall, Lansing junior, and Jim Pearce, Lansing senior, said there will be 2 a.m. late pers for all women students.

Music will be provided by the Modernaires. The Jeffersons, campus folk singing group, will entertain during intermission.

5 Year Plan

undergraduates should postpone specialization in their major field of study until they reach graduate school."

A high administration source said he does not believe that Horn meant all he said. He said the speaker was just stirring educators to think about the world around them.

Attacking the idea that specialization should be done in the graduate area, he said, "What do you do about the student who doesn't have the money or the ability to go to graduate school?"

"Does he just get an education in the liberal arts and neglect his special area of career interest?"

He also said extending the undergraduate requirements from four to five years would place undue financial strain on colleges.

"If this idea is so good, then why doesn't Horn's university adopt it," he added.

Herman L. King, assistant provost, said there was some merit to Horn's ideas.

"There is some trend at MSU toward postponing specialization until the graduate level," King said. "Undergraduate studies have tended to be directed towards general liberal arts training."

He said he did not think MSU would adopt the five year undergraduate requirement. Costs were cited as a major reason.

Also for many students the University College requirements give them enough liberal arts training for their specialized field of career interest, he indicated.

He cited the fact that enrollment in the graduate school is increasing as an indication that students are specializing later in their college careers.

Humanities Honors Open

Students who wish to enroll in the honors section of Humanities 242 winter term must apply from Nov. 18-22, according to Thomas H. Greer department chairman.

Stebelon H. Nulle, professor of humanities will teach the seminar group, Sec. 320. Students who have a A in Humanities 241 or are Honors College members should apply to Nulle next week. The class will be limited to 20 students.

Nulle will see applicants 9-10 a.m. every day, by appointment, in 186 Bessey.

Students in the honors section will use the regular syllabus and final examination, but will be required to do additional reading and submit one book report. It is hoped students will benefit from the small-group situation and the added opportunity for oral and written expression.

Farnum Denounces GOP

Democratic Auditor-General Billie S. Farnum joined his party Thursday in denouncing the Republicans and Governor George Romney for their actions in the death of Michigan's fiscal reform program.

Speaking to the Young Democrats in the Union less than four hours after the House of Representatives killed the program, Farnum said Romney doomed Democratic support by withholding information on his revised bill.

He said that the Democrats could not vote for the income tax since it was tied to the rest of Romney's program, and Democrats could not vote for something they hadn't seen.

The tie-in amendment was one which the governor proposed as an addition to the income tax bill. Romney asked support of both the bill and the amendment.

He believes that Romney made his mistake by not allowing more discussion from legislative leaders in the formative stages of the bill.

"A governor negotiates. He doesn't dictate," Farnum said. Farnum outlined the present tax structure of the state as a patchwork system without any order that did not meet the needs of the state.

Farnum said he agreed with a statement issued by Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski after the House vote.

"Fiscal reform died on Sept. 12 -- the wake is over," Lesinski said.

Sept. 12 was the date on which the governor introduced his program to the legislature.

Spartan 38, Bobich ended the threat by intercepting a Notre Dame aerial.

Tom MacDonald picked off an MSU pass on the Spartan 38 on the ensuing series of downs, but the Irish could gain only four yards in four attempts for a first down.

The Spartans had a chance to score mid-way through the period when Dewey Lincoln recovered a fumble on the Notre Dame 38.

The Green and White advanced to the 22, and Roger Lopes took the ball to the five with a determined run of 17 yards.

A five-yard delay-of-game penalty pushed the Spartans back to the 10, and Lopes fumbled on the next play with Bill Pfeiffer of Notre Dame recovering.

MSU scored for the first time with 2:52 left in the half when Lewis tallied on a three-yard run. The TD scamper was the fifth play in a 26-yard drive which ended in the score.

Lewis set up the touchdown by carrying the ball from the 16 to the three just before the scoring play.

A pitch out to Lopes for the two-point conversion failed, and the Irish retained a 7-6 lead at halftime.

Notre Dame had an opportunity to pull away from the Spartans late in the third quarter when another bad pass from center on a punt attempt gave the Irish the ball on the MSU 18.

The visitors could advance no deeper than the Spartan 13, and when the ball was turned over to MSU, it marked the beginning of the end for the Irishmen.

Quarterback Dave McCormick plunged for two yards to the MSU 15, and Sherman Lewis broke loose for his 85-yard touchdown gallop on the next play.

Lewis skirted through right tackle and received a good block from Mike Currie at the line of scrimmage. The Spartan halfback weaved his way through a host of Notre Dame defenders and broke into the clear with the aid of a block by Tom Krezmien-ski.

The Spartans gained 223 yards rushing to Notre Dame's 105. Lewis' long run enabled him to become the leading groundgainer with 138 yards in 10 carries, but Roger Lopes picked up 77 valuable yards in 17 tries.

The Spartans came out of the contest with a lengthy injury list. Center Don Ross sustained a sprained ankle, and Mike Currie picked up a knee injury while he was throwing a block in Lewis' 85-yard run. Both may miss next week's championship game with Illinois.

Less serious injuries were incurred by Bill Benson (charley horse), Dave McCormick (bruised shoulder, and Jerry Rush (dislocated finger).

Chris Sets Another Record, As Fem Swimmers Dunk VU

The MSU Women's Swimming team, paced by the recordbreaking performances of Chris Kluter, defeated Valparaiso University Saturday afternoon, 63-23.

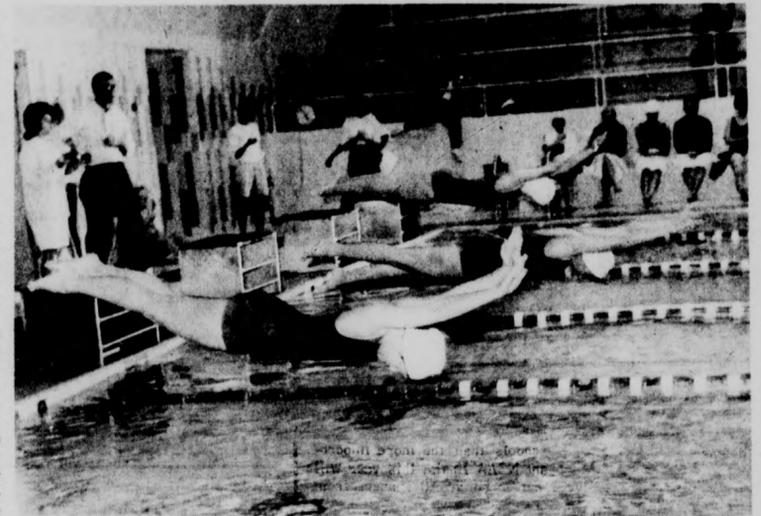

It was the fourth straight victory for the fem swimmers, since they dropped their opening meet to the University of Michigan.

Miss Kluter, team co-captain, equalled her own Women's Collegiate National record of 29.4 seconds in the 50-yard backstroke and set a new mark of 1:06.9 in the 100-yd. individual medley. She chopped .5 seconds off the record established last year by U of M's Peggy Wirth during a meet at State.

Co-captain Marcia Jones was also a double winner. Miss Jones captured first place in the 50-yd. breaststroke and in the 200-yd. freestyle. Californian Janet Langland posted another double for the Spartans, taking the 50 and 100-yd. freestyle titles.

The MSU 200-yd. medley relay team remained undefeated in intercollegiate competition. The team this week was composed of Miss Kluter, Miss Jones, Carol Kowalewski and Dolly Graening.

Miss Graening captured the blue ribbon in her specialty, the butterfly, with a timing only 1.5 seconds over the national record. Coach Ann Chadwick feels that Miss Graening will probably set a new record before the season ends.

50-Yard Freestyle Race Start

Diver Lola Miller continued her win skein, but only had to defeat her own teammates to capture her first place. Valparaiso didn't bring divers and the diving score was not figured in on the team totals.

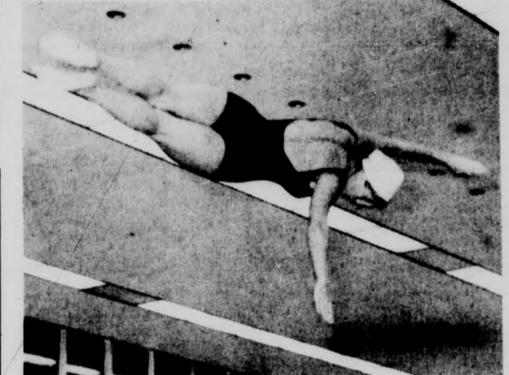

The Indiana-based team was recently organized and has, according to State Coach Chadwick, a few good swimmers who should improve with more practice.

This Saturday morning at 9:30 the Spartans will host the Women's City Club and the Golden Lyons Club from Detroit. The Golden Lyons are paced by National AAU 100-yd. breaststroke record holder Cynthia Goyette.

Miss Goyette's mark of 1:12.7 was set last spring at the AAU Indoor National Championships. She was also a member of the USA's swim team at the Pan American Games this summer at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Again there will be no admission charge for the meet, but Coach Chadwick reminds students there will be a charge for admission to the National Championships on Dec. 7.

"We are going to be up against two good clubs this weekend," the Spartan coach said. "We hope we will be able to continue winning, but we will really have to swim hard," she added.

Hoopsters Rest

With coach Forddy Anderson off to Champaign, Ill., to assist in conducting a coaches' clinic for the University of Illinois, the varsity basketball squad wound up a hard week of practice with a light workout Friday.

Assistant Coach Bruce Fossum had a few varsity members remain after practice to scrimmage the freshman team, but the majority were given an early dismissal. "We have had a good, strong, hard week of practice," said Fossum, "and I thought a long weekend would be good for the boys."

The team continued work on the press defense and the fast break last week, and began practice on offensive plays against a zone defense.

The team will continue work on this zone offense for the first part of this week.

Harriers One Of Favorites In Today's IC4A Running

NEW YORK, N.Y.--State's newly-crowned Big Ten cross country champs will undertake to augment their title collection here today by nailing down the top spot in the rugged IC4A championship.

Starting time for the grueling five mile run on the troublesome Van Cortlandt Park course is slated for 12 noon.

Coach Fran Dittrich freely admits that his harriers will have their hands full in outlegging some potent opponents to capture team honors in the IC4A's.

As many as six squads, including the Spartans, have been labeled as "the team most likely to succeed" in the primarily eastern school tourney. These half dozen teams seem to fall into a trio of two-somes. Unbeaten midwestern powerhouse Notre Dame and the east's mighty defending champs, Villanova, pose as the top contenders. Probably a notch back are the Spartans and Cornell. A couple of eastern threats, Georgetown and Manhattan, are also considered in the running.

The IC4A meet, which annually attracts more runners and schools than the more important NCAA finals, this year will include some 250 runners from over forty schools. Only several of the representative colleges come from outside the east, Duke, Michigan State, and Notre Dame are the most important of the outsiders.

As close as the team race should be, the struggle for individual honors should be even better. A seven-man battle is shaping up, highlighted by the

Many Illinois Tickets Available

There are still "quite a few" tickets available for Saturday's football game with Illinois, according to Bill Beardsley, university ticket manager.

But Beardsley thinks that the tickets last long and the game will be a sellout.

Seniors and graduate students were in line as early as 4:30 this morning waiting for the student ticket redemption booths to open in the outer areas of Jenison Field House Ticket Office.

The Jenison outer areas booths will be open 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. daily, including the lunch hour period. Tickets, if the game is not a sellout, also will be available at Booth No. 2 at the stadium Saturday morning. Beardsley advises all students to obtain their tickets during the week to avoid missing the game.

It now appears certain that a one season attendance record will be broken. The crowds for the Notre Dame and Wisconsin games exceeded 70,000 and another crowd of the same size will boost Spartan attendance figures over the old 575,396 season mark.

Mickey Mantle's first manager was Harry Craft at Independence, Mo., in 1949. Craft now manages the Houston Colts.

Booters Face Bills In Tourney

Michigan State's soccer team will meet St. Louis University for the second time this season in the opening round of the NCAA soccer tournament, according to the pairings released Saturday.

The Spartans and the Billikens, will play on the MSU field either at 3 p.m. Friday or on Saturday morning. State defeated St. Louis 4-3, in a match for the Midwest Conference title earlier this month.

The winner of this weekend's contest will take on the winner of regional preliminaries in the Far West the following weekend. Stanford University and San Francisco State College or San Jose State will be bidding for that spot.

Other regional pairings will pit Army against Adelphi, Fairleigh Dickson against West Chester State (Pa.) and Navy against Howard.

Sixteen teams across the nation will see action this weekend in the opening round of play. A second round of preliminaries will take place next week.

Direct elimination will eventually narrow the field to four teams, which will then meet at Rutgers University in New Jersey for the semi-final and final games.

Hugh G. McCurdy, Wesleyan

University Athletic director who serves as chairman of the NCAA rules committee, said four large teams have not been selected yet.

They will be picked from the following nine contenders: Temple, Maryland, Bridgeport, Cortland State, (N.Y.), Drexel, Trinity and Princeton.

Michigan State Coach Gene Kenney expressed dismay about the NCAA arrangement which will allow 16 teams to compete, rather than the customary eight.

"This is a very bad setup as far as soccer in this country is concerned," said Kenney. "This is because in most cases you have teams which have played each other once before during the season."

"Unless some other arrangement is made," he said, "it's not to rosy a picture ahead for the NCAA."

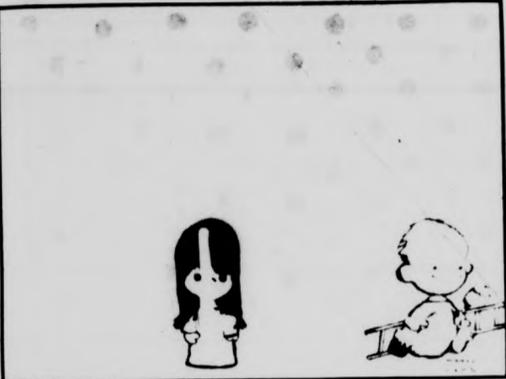

Kenney feels the present seedings do not allow teams to play as many games outside of their own regions.

"One thrill of NCAA competition is meeting teams of other areas in the country," he said. "The way this is set up now, it can't be done unless you're the team winning in your district play-offs."

Rights Head Views Jobs

Herbert Hill, labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, (NAACP), will speak on

"Civil Rights and Employment" Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Kiva of Erickson Hall. Hill, who heads the NAACP's efforts to secure equal opportunities for training and employment of Negroes, has long been active in the labor movement.

Hill has conducted lectures in England and France sponsored by the U.S. Information Service on American race relations. He has also lectured at colleges and universities across the nation and has made numerous radio and television appearances. In 1959 he served as special consultant to the second United Nations Conference on the Eradication of Discrimination held in Geneva, Switzerland. Hill is editor of "Soon, One Morning, New Writing by American Negroes--1940-1962" and co-author of the book, "Citizen's Guide to Desegregation." His writings have appeared in a number of magazines and journals. James Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, will follow Hill in the lecture series, speaking Jan. 28.

Ambassadors Meet Tonight

Spartan Ambassadors who could not attend Thursday's meeting in the Kiva will meet in 31 Union tonight at 6:30.

"Those who attended Thursday will not have to come to this meeting," said Bill Evans, East Lansing sophomore and chairman of the project.

Under the Spartan Ambassador program, sponsored by the Fresh-Soph Council, freshmen return to their high schools to speak to incoming MSU freshmen.

Teke Colony

Richard Schwartzman, Detroit sophomore, said Thursday that he is interested in starting a Tau Kappa Epsilon colony on campus, with a hope of gaining chapter status.

"I don't know whether there are any other Tekes on campus," Schwartzman said, "but if there are I wish they would contact me in 229 North Wonders, telephone 353-2686."

Tau Kappa Epsilon is the largest national fraternity with over 206 chapters.

Faculty Win Nat'l Posts

Five faculty members have won key posts on policy-making groups of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Thomas K. Cowden, dean of the College of Agriculture, has been named chairman of the Division of Agriculture; Richard M. Swenson, assistant dean of the College of Agriculture, is chairman of the Resident Instruction Committee on Policy; Lloyd Turk, Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station director, is vice chairman of the North Central Regional Committee on the Experiment Station section.

N.P. Ralston, director of the Michigan Co-operative Extension Service, is a member of the National Extension Committee on Organization and Study; and Herbert A. Berg, assistant director of Michigan Co-operative Extension Service, has been named secretary of the North Central Region Extension Director's group.

Livestock Judges Take 3 Awards

The MSU livestock judging team has won the intercollegiate contest of the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition in Harrisburg, Pa.

The team ranked first in beef cattle, second in sheep, and fourth in swine judging.

HONORARY BRIGADIER GENERAL -- That's the title Jan Crosby, Three Oaks sophomore, won at the Coronation Ball Saturday night. Miss Crosby is shown marching under an arch of swords and rifles on the arm of her escort, Brigadier General Richard Van Lowe, Birmingham senior. The ceremonial arch was provided by members of Spartan Guard, the Army Drill Team and the Air Force Sabre Drill Team.

Library's Million Book Campaign $50 Ahead

An article in the State News has resulted in a net gain of 50 cents toward the library's goal of $9000 for the purchase of the library's millionth volume in early December, Richard E. Chapin, director of libraries, said Friday.

The November 7 issue of the State News quoted Chapin as having jokingly said, "If we could get all the students to donate a quarter, we could pretty well buy the books right there."

The remark got results. Chapin received a letter from a graduate student, which read, "My wife and I want to contribute." Inside the envelope were two quarters.

Upon the suggestions of several faculty members who thought his remark was a good idea, Chapin has now placed a donation can at the library's exit to net more quarters from students and faculty members.

"If we can get student contributions for the millionth volume, it will help," Chapin said. Contributions have currently bogged down.

The millionth volume will be a prestige factor for MSU, he said. There are only about 30 libraries in the country with a million volumes.

The Friends of the Library have been trying to raise money for the project since the fall term began, Chapin said. "Just nickels and dimes from the students will help," he added.

Red Press Hits Berlin Tour

BERLIN (AP)—The press of Communist East Germany launched a new campaign Sunday against tours of East Berlin by Western military vehicles.

The controlled newspapers carried identical news stories accusing American and French soldiers of traffic violations in East Berlin. They quoted police headquarters as saying: "Members of the Western occupation forces coming from West Berlin have again several times endangered the public safety and order of the capital of the (East) German Democratic Republic with their vehicles."

American, British, French and Soviet military vehicles frequently tour the two parts of the divided city.

Sees Opening

John E. Dietrich, speech department chairman, recently attended the official opening of the permanent national office of the Speech Association of America in New York. Dietrich is a former president of the organization. The SAA executive committee appealed to the public to join in a "militant crusade" to help their sons and daughters to achieve greater opportunity for education in speech.

Drury On Bridge

By A. L. DRURY

There's a general rule in bridge which warns against opening the bidding in fourth position unless you have a good hand or the major suits. Witness the sad outcome for West when he forgot this.

This is one of the hazards of having a part score--he needed only two for game, so he forgot about the need to shut out the opponents.

The king of diamonds was ruffed by South. He led a heart, taken by East, who returned the five of spades. South took with the king, led a heart to the North king, came back to his own hand by ruffing a diamond, then led a third heart and ruffed in the dummy, set up the Heart suit.

A spade was taken by the South ace, hearts led until West ruffed in, and West had only one more trick, his ace of clubs.

South thus loses a trump, a heart and a club, so not only makes his bid, but actually makes an overtrick--game on a total of just 16 high card points, and distribution.

Notice that four diamonds, if bid by E-W, can be set as they have to lose one trick in each of the suits.

North dealer, both vulnerable; each side with 60 part score.

The bidding:

Opening lead: king of diamonds. West had a minimum hand to open the bidding. He did have three cards in each of the majors, but no more than one trick. He should have expected that N-S would reply in one of the majors if he opened the bidding. East missed a bidding chance by bidding only two diamonds instead of going to three diamonds at once, which might have shut South out of the bidding.

DG's Win 'Powder Puff'

Delta Gamma sorority beat Gamma Phi Beta coeds, 6-0, Saturday morning, in the annual Powder Puff football game.

The game, played on the IM field across from Wonders Hall, was refereed by IM officials and played under regular IM rules.

Beverly Barich, Birmingham senior, scored the sole touchdown for Delta Gamma.

Delta Gamma's team was led by quarterback Sue Williams, Holland senior; halfbacks Ann Paine, East Lansing sophomore; and Elaine Sperry Grand Rapids, sophomore.

Also Ann David and Sue Darling, Grosse Pointe Juniors guard and center positions.

Joel Higgins, St. Louis, Mo., sophomore, and Delta Tau Delta, was selected Powder Puff queen at half time.

Burmese Government Arrest Red Leaders

RANGOON, Burma—Burma's Communist Party has been beheaded. Beginning Friday night, combined military and police squads struck at Communist headquarters throughout the country, arresting virtually every known Red leader. The latest official reports Sunday say 435 persons have been taken into what the announcements call "protective custody."

"This is the biggest setback the Communists have suffered since Burma won independence in 1948," said one top source. "All their frontline leaders, together with their best professional organizers and agitators, have at one stroke been removed from the political scene. Communist rebels who arrogantly boasted of their power and influence only days ago are now on the run."

The nation's tough military boss, Gen. Ne Win, thus scotched any suspicion that his regime might be swinging to the left. He struck following a breakdown of peace talks by the government with the Reds.

In a dramatic bid to end the conflict, Ne Win invited all rebel minorities to come out of the jungles for peace talks, and was harshly criticized for attempting to deal with them.

He accused the Communists of being dishonest and insincere in their desire for peace. The talks broke off after the Communists used the opportunity to make speeches against Ne Win's regime.

He is continuing talks with a right-wing group of rebels, who are agitating for more state autonomy.

JFK Talks In Florida

PALM BEACH, Fla. (P)—President Kennedy will make at least five speeches today in Tampa and Miami—cities where he must make a good showing in the 1964 presidential election if he is to take Florida out of the Republican column.

Before leaving on his Florida speechmaking tour, he called two Latin American policy advisers to Palm Beach Sunday.

Kennedy is confronted with an Argentine decree canceling multi-million-dollar oil contracts with American producers. And he has to devise a policy line in the light of strong statements last week by several Latin officials who expressed disenchantment with the Alliance for Progress.

Educators Will Meet

Over 300 college and university instructors will attend the Michigan Conference on Higher Education at Lansing's Civic Center, Nov. 21 and 22.

Herbert Hengst, chairman of the conference planning committee and director of higher education for the Michigan Education Association, said, "The conference has been called to consider the impact and implications of the expansion of Michigan higher education."

John Dale Russell, emeritus director of institutional research, New York University, will open the program Thursday, Nov. 21, at 1:30 p.m. with the topic "Statewide Planning for Higher Education."

Redistricting Proposed

A plan for dividing Ingham County among three state representative districts was presented to the Legislative Apportionment Commission Friday.

The plan, proposed by William F. Hanna of Muskegon, a Republican commission member, would place East Lansing and Lansing in two separate districts and the remainder of Ingham County into a third district.

The first district would consist of the out-county district—which includes 15 townships and the cities of Mason and Williamston, Hanna said.

The second Ingham district, Hanna said, would include roughly the west half of Lansing.

Under Hanna's plan, the third Ingham district would include the east half of Lansing and all of East Lansing.

This plan would give the out-county district a population of 66,655, the second district a population of 71,534 and the third district, 73,107, Hanna said.

Earlier, a Democratic commission member, A. Robert Kleiner, presented a plan placing Lansing's two northern wards plus adjoining sections of Lansing Township in the first representative district, the remainder of the city plus adjoining sections of Lansing and Delhi Township in the second and the remainder of the county—including East Lansing—in the third district.

Feathered Fugitive Condemns Holiday

"Thanksgiving should be outlawed. Its original meaning has been lost and has turned into an outlet for man's sadistic impulses," said Turk, East Shaw's Precinct Nine mascot.

It had become known to the turkey and his companions that Shaw graduate advisers and "a few others" had begun to make definite plans for a Thanksgiving feast with Turk as the "guest of honor."

Turk's cynical view of man has resulted from the pressure to send him "underground" for his own protection.

To care for their fugitive friend, Precinct Niners are often forced to cut classes, said Bill Noch, Fenton sophomore.

Turk was won by Michael Pontti, Ishpeming freshman, in the Turkey Trot two weeks ago.

Nov. 19, 1962

A list of 150 students involved in a raided Haslett drinking party Saturday night is expected to be sent to AUSG judiciary today from the dean of students office.

The list includes 115 Michigan State College students, and a possible 35 University of Michigan students. The party, held in the Haslett American Legion Hall, was raided as a result of complaints received from neighbors.

Other action involving drinking includes consideration of punishment for Sigma Chi fraternity and Phi Delta Theta, for unapproved parties.

Four coeds involved in bringing liquor into a dorm are also up for punishment.

Nov. 18, 1943

Three coeds who for fun threw snowballs at a passing group of marching air crewmen had the tables turned on them as the section leader called "break ranks" and pursued the coeds, giving them a good face washing with snow.

'Frightened People Betray Today's Child,' Says Cutler

"Today's school child is being betrayed by people so frightened by stress that they will do anything to escape it," a University of Michigan consulting psychologist told 500 Michigan educators at Kellogg Center Friday.

Richard Cutler, speaking at the annual conference of the Michigan Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, urged educators to defy public demands for simple solutions to today's school problems.

"The public--suffering unparalleled psychological stress from the atomic bomb, emerging nations, racial revolution, chronic unemployment, automation and experiences which cast doubt on past beliefs--searches for simple solutions," he said.

It has also resulted in a fascination with "gim cranks and gadgets," he added.

"The teaching machine will become the dulllest thing to which children were ever exposed, once the novelty has worn off" Cutler said. "These things promise a simple solution which they cannot and will not deliver. They promise an ever-increased subversion of the individual, and this they will deliver."

"In all of these simple easy solutions the most complex unit of all, the individual student, really gets lost. The child will lose, we will lose and eventually our systems and our values will lose," he concluded.
