Illinois Invasion Threatens Spartans

Weekend Plans Show Rose Bowl Prospects

By SUE JACOBY
State News Staff Writer

The prospect of a trip to Pasadena, Calif. for the Rose Bowl is making students forgetfully weather today as campus excitement continues to mount over Saturday's Big Ten Football

Championship game with the University of Illinois. A pep rally at 7:30 tonight on the IM Field will kick off pregame activities. Some of the excitement will be over by then for soccer fans who will watch the Spartan booters play St. Louis for the Midwest National Collegiate Athletic Association championship at 3 p.m. today.

"I'll illuminate the Illini" is the theme for the rally, sponsored by Spartan Spirit. Athletic director Clarence "Biggie" Munn, head football coach Hugh "Duffy" Daugherty and possibly President John A. Hannah will be special guests at the rally. Senior members of the football team will be presented.

Battle Attracts National Interest

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

All roads lead to MSU this weekend, where there's football fever in the air, and the temperature's rising.

Spartan Stadium should be filled to capacity Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. when MSU and Illinois battle for the Big Ten championship in a fitting climax to one of the most unpredictable races in the history of the conference.

The Illini will arrive in East Lansing at noon today and set up their headquarters at the Albert Pick Hotel.

'Go' Fever Intoxicates Thousands

Rose Bowl fever which has been building up all week broke wide open Thursday night as crowds of students, at times numbering over 2,000, swarmed over the campus.

The rally started with two separate groups, one from Brody and one from Shaw which eventually joined at the Kellogg Center parking lot.

The crowd doubled back to the Brody group—picking up more students—and headed for Sparty. The panting students staged a sit-down at the statue, and

Accuse 100 Of Spying

Congo Ousts Reds

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo—The Congolese government ordered the expulsion Thursday of the Soviet Union's entire 100-man diplomatic mission to the Congo. Members of the mission were accused of subversion.

Premier Cyrille Adoula added, however, that the expulsion does not mean a break in diplomatic relations with Moscow. He said his government would consider the credentials of any new diplomats the Russians might send.

Adoula's order followed the arrest Tuesday of two Soviet diplomats on their return from neighboring Brazzaville, where they were said to have made contact with anti-government exiles. They were carrying documents, officials said, proving "irrefutably" that they had been in contact with a government in exile opposed to Adoula.

The premier said he had given orders for the release of the two Soviet officials, Boris Voronin, embassy counsellor, and Yuri Miakodan, embassy press attache.

In New York, a U.N. spokesman said word had been received from the Congo that the So-

A parade beginning from Kresge Art Center at 6:30 p.m. will precede the rally. The parade will stop at all dormitories on campus. The pep band, the cheerleaders, Delta Upsilon fraternity's bell and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity's Sparty will be included. Students can join the parade in cars or on foot.

Ticket manager Bill Beardsley expected the game to be completely sold out by this afternoon.

Spartan fans would be wise to take an umbrella and an extra blanket to the stadium tomorrow. The weatherman predicts cloudy skies and cool temperatures with the possibility of rain mixed with snow by game time.

Council Report Kills Hopes For 4-Year Medical School

By CHARLES C. WELLS
State News Staff Writer

Hopes that the Institute of Biology and Medicine would be extended into a four-year medical program died Thursday.

A Michigan Coordinating Council for Higher Education committee recommended that medical schools at the University of Michigan and at Wayne State University complete current plans before a third medical school is established.

It was hoped here that MSU would be the location for the third four-year medical school.

The report itself stated, "MSU is clearly the most highly developed institution in the state without an existing medical school program. If a new state-supported, university sponsored, medical school program is to be established, then clearly MSU is the logical sponsor."

Last year the coordinating council studied medical education's needs in Michigan and their report stated that a third four-year medical school be established. The council is made up of all Michigan institutions of higher education except Ferris State College.

A subcommittee, called "An Ad Hoc Committee on the Third Medical School," was formed to pick a site for Michigan's third medical school. Instead, the committee reported that existing medical program plans at Wayne and U-M be completed.

The coordination council report has no legal status, but sources indicate that it will carry considerable weight with state legislators as far as appropriations are concerned.

Early news that no new medical school would be established this year came out of a closed committee meeting last October. Public announcement of the committee's findings was not made until the completed committee report was released late Wednesday.

Under the committee plan, Wayne State's medical school will be increased from 125 students per class to 200. Another 75 new students will be accepted each year at either U-M or at MSU's Institute of Biology and Medicine.

The MSU institute will be in operation by 1965.

"It is our intention to prepare medical students so that they can transfer to other American medical schools," said William H. Knisely, institute director. "The majority will probably go to U-M and Wayne."

The committee report also recommended to the state legislature that $10 million be appropriated to U-M to complete its medical science building, started a few years ago. Some $18 million would be appropriated to Wayne and MSU would get $400,000.

Any decision on whether a third medical school at a state university is to be established should be made after 1968, the committee report said.

The American Medical Association announced last Friday that it supported establishment of a four-year medical program at MSU. It said it had cautious optimism that current progress at MSU and other schools will meet the nation's future needs for qualified doctors.

Dean Of Students Played End On '34 Illinois Team

At least one Spartan may have a soft spot in his heart for the Fighting Illini this weekend.

Dean of Students John A. Fuzak, athletic council chairman, is not only an alumnus of the University of Illinois, but a former football player there. Fuzak played end for Illinois in 1934 during his sophomore year until a back injury sidelined him for the rest of the season.

The 1934 Illinois team lost the Big Ten championship in a blizzard, the last game of the season, according to Fuzak.

"Of course, I don't have any mixed feelings about the game," he said. "Illinois is the team I usually like to see us beat the most."

Fuzak, who has been at MSU since 1948, says he has been getting calls from old college friends to see if he can help them out with tickets. "I have to admit I don't have anything to do with the tickets here. But I tell them to call Champaign and see if Illinois can help them out."

Fuzak also played baseball at Illinois. He received his B.S., M.S., Ed.M. and Ed.D. degrees there.

"I'll say one thing—I can't think of any better contest for the Big Ten championship, or a more interesting one from my standpoint."

However, Fuzak is also one of the few people on the campus for whom the football game will not be the main event of the weekend. His daughter Pam, an east Lansing junior, will be married Saturday morning at St. John's Student Center.

'I'll illuminate The Illini' Tonight

AUGS will sponsor a pep rally ("I'll illuminate the Illini") at Old College Field, a small field behind Jenison Field House, tonight at 7:30.

Should State win the Illinois game, the pep rally will probably be an "impromptu, unplanned" demonstration on Landon Field Sunday, President Bob Kerr said.

He also proposed a motion that a letter be written expressing student body support of the team "win, lose or draw."

"If we win, we love them. If we lose, we don't know them," Kerr said. "This isn't right."

The Campus Chest has approved the selling of roses at the Illinois game by Zeta Beta Tau fraternity. The money collected will be donated to muscular dystrophy.

A bill was introduced by Vincent Coffey proposing that regular stop lights be put into effect at Harrison Road, Grand River, and Michigan Avenue between the hours of 11 p.m. and 1:15 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

Coffey said that due to the exuberance of the students and the massive confusion of the coming week-end, this would be a necessary measure in order to prevent "dreadful accidents."

Bob Hencken said that some "basic footwork" was being done to provide transportation in case we do go to the Rose Bowl. He asked that congressmen discourage students from making plans to take trips sponsored by others besides AUGS.

Tem Tripp, director of the Student Committee for Public Relations encouraged congressmen to submit ideas on how to better inform the students of the activities of AUGS.

A fact sheet will be printed about AUGS and placed in the dorms and in every Greek house.

A resolution was introduced by the Congress of Business and Organizations to recognize faculty members who have provided outstanding guidance to organizations and clubs.

The next AUGS meeting convenes next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Student Service building.

World News at a Glance

U2 Wreck Found

KEY WEST, Fla. (P)—The wreck of a U2 plane was found Thursday on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico. But its cockpit was empty, keeping alive a faint hope that the pilot, Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr., might somehow have survived the crash.

Presumably returning from a mission over Cuba, the high-flying reconnaissance aircraft vanished suddenly from radar scopes at 10:32 a.m. Wednesday.

Reds Claim U.S. Provocation

LONDON, (P)—The Soviet Union Thursday night accused the United States of provoking difficulties on the Berlin-West Germany Autobahn.

The Russians delivered a note sharply rejecting American protests over the stalling of a U.S. military convoy there early this month, asserting that any delay to the convoy "was due exclusively to the attempt of American servicemen to break existing rules" for the transit of personnel.

U.S.-U.S.S.R. Propose Space Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (P)—The Soviet Union and the United States proposed Thursday that the United Nations solemnly declare that outer space should be used "for the benefit and in the interests of all mankind."

The two big powers submitted a compromise declaration of legal principles governing space activities, intended for endorsement by the U.N. Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space and for later adoption in the General Assembly.

May Sellout Today; Few Tickets Left

There are still a few student tickets available at Jenison Field House, but University Ticket Manager Bill Beardsley doubts there will be any left by game-time on Saturday.

"We think just about every student has handed in his activity book coupon," Beardsley said. "But for the one or two students who haven't the ticket office will be open 9 a.m.—4 p.m. today."

Beardsley also said that adjacent seat sales will last only until noon.

He also reminded students that ID cards must be shown by persons entering the stadium with student tickets. Student tickets have the stubs already detached.

"We sent 'Fuck Day' tickets, at $1 a piece, out to some area high schools long before we knew the game would be so important," Beardsley said. "We managed to stop the sale of most of them, but some were already sold."

De Gaulle Undaunted At 73

No matter what we think of his political views, we must certainly respect his courage. How many times has he walked forth among his people, defying would-be assassins, to paint his picture of a new France.

With respect for these many years of courageous leadership, we honor Charles DeGaulle on his 73rd birthday. The Napoleon of the twelfth century, he positions himself over the future of Europe like many men have dreamed of but few have ever attained.

His politics - or is it his arrogance - infuriates American diplomats and often confuses even his own European contemporaries. But he rises from each fray undaunted, almost as if he knows the final outcome of things and is willing to put up with the petty annoyances along the way.

We as future leaders of our nation should get to know Charles Europe is an independent Europe-free from its dependence on the United States for its economic and military security.

These are all unfinished tasks from which the "General" is reluctant to take his leave. And we should be glad he is. Because without his influence, the France of today would be a bigger problem to the Western alliance than it is already. Algeria would be aflame and the government itself would be hopscotching from one Prime Minister to another.

But he does cause us some concern nonetheless. We ponder his seemingly unalterable efforts to build France into the leader of a nuclear potent Europe. We understand his quest for a France with an identity of its own, but wish there was some other course he could resort to, other than the nuclear arms mania.

Despite this particular unreasonable enthusiasm, we salute his courage with a hearty, Happy Birthday Monsieur!

CHARLES DE GAULLE

We Hope...

The hour nears when we will know who is the Big Ten football champion, when we will know which team will go to Pasadena for New Year's.

We in East Lansing are not alone in our fond expectations--thousands in Champaign-Urbana must be holding the same hopes.

And so we all wait: some soon to be pleased and other soon to be disappointed.

There will be a winner this weekend and there will be a loser and about all we can do this Friday is hope, and hope.

DeGaulle, because if providence is good to him, he will be playing an important role in the new Europe when we are in our thirties.

We should know that his France is a nationalist France. That his

Unrest Plagues Mideast

From Our Wire Services

The military coup in Iraq may be only part of the main event in Gamal Abdel Nasser's battle for unchallenged leadership of the Arab world.

The struggle in Yemen also appears to be an extension of the much longer conflict which gradually is extending throughout the Mideast. The leadership fight is between Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic, and the Baath party, which won control of Iraq last February and took over Syria last spring. Only to lose Iraq in this week's coup.

The Baathists lost control this time to a man who's expected to swing Iraq into Nasser's camp--Iraq's figurehead president Abdul Salam Aref.

The hand of Nasser also may be seen in the little Republic of Yemen at the top of the Arabian peninsula.

Last April, united nations secretary general Thant announced that both the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia had agreed to withdraw from the conflict within Yemen.

The theory was that without outside help, the civil war between revolutionary Republican forces and the ousted Imam of Yemen soon would collapse and another potential explosion point in the Mideast would be eliminated.

But more than six months later, the civil war continues. Large parts of Yemen are under Royalist control and an estimated 30-thousand of Nasser's Egyptian troops are still inside the country.

A U-N observer mission continues its efforts toward peace in the ancient land of Yemen but a settlement seems about as far away as ever.

Until recently, Baath party leaders have managed to retain control of Syria and Iraq and to spread their influence from the Arabian peninsula to Tunisia. It has limited numbers of followers in both Yemen and Saudi Arabia.

The party is legal in Lebanon but it functions through underground cells in Egypt and Jordan. Baathism began as a philosophy discussed in the Damascus homes of its leaders in 1940 and emerged as a definite force early this year when it seized control first of Syria and then of Iraq. It has resisted Nasser's demands for one-man leadership but, as does he, professes its goal to be Arab unity and socialism.

In Yemen, there have been frequent reports of near-agreement on a government acceptable to both sides.

A major stumbling block has been the insistence of both Jordan and Saudi Arabia that whatever form of government finally is agreed upon, it must come after total withdrawal of Egyptian troops.

But these demands are strongly opposed by Nasser. For one thing, he argues, Yemen's republican regime might collapse without Egyptian aid.

The Baathist-Nasser struggle also extends to Jordan where King Hussein is attempting to counter pressure from Syria and Iraq by moving closer to Nasser, a traditional foe.

In Lebanon, where the party operates legally, there have been clashes between anti-Baathist groups and security forces. Syria has charged that Nasser is using Lebanon as a base from which to foment internal trouble in Syria. In the center of the new mideastern turmoil is Israel which so far has served as a balance wheel. Israeli troops could be expected to move into Jordan immediately should King Hussein be overthrown either by the Baathists or the Nasserites.

Letters To The Editor

Enraged At 'Iron Bars'

To the Editor: We're so mad right now, we can't even see straight! Just what is this great farce we have just read about in the State News?

According to the article on Tuesday's front page, coeds can leave the dorms to participate in a pep rally, but if they choose to stay in, they must all "congregate in the halls" if they hear shouting outside their windows. Pretty soon we won't be able to even leave the dorm when a pep rally arises.

It's truly amazing that we don't need a signed pass to let us out of guarded doors as the situation now stands! The invisible iron bars of the administration will soon appear as a reality in front of every dormitory window if this sort of reasoning keeps up. After all, we're not in the second grade any more -- we're supposed to be college women and we at least like to think that we are able to exercise some good sound judgment!

When a college coed is forced to leave her room every time there's a little noise outside her window and retreat to the halls, the line is being drawn too far. So long as we're not hollering out of our windows and aren't adding to any of the confusion, just who is it hurting if we choose to sit in our rooms and study? We would like to question the reasoning of the administration. What do they want -- a riot in the halls as well as the one going on outside?

Fodder Gone

To the Editor: The old professor, working late over his quiz papers and his lecture notes and his committee schedules and his foundation proposals, had dozed off and dreamed of the affluence of the affluent society, the impossibility of tax reform, and -- closer to home -- the Educational Development Plan. Perhaps it was this last that brought his dreams back to an oft-told tale of his youth:

A farmer had labored diligently, and had raised a sturdy horse to plow his fields. He had nourished this beast, and the beast had flourished under his care. At last the farmer was the possessor of the largest and finest farms in the land. Then, one day, hay got harder to come by and it was not clear how to keep the farm thriving. Did the farmer proclaim to all and sundry that full harvests could not be forthcoming unless ample fodder were kept in the stall? No, he reasoned that no-one likes to be reminded of stubborn costs and dismal chores. So instead he had his hired hand fashion a pair of green-tinted spectacles for the horse, and he set before the animal a pile of sawdust to eat. And the poor ignorant beast hastened forward to do just that.

Pesticides

To the Editor: I was amazed to read the views of Professor Arthur Mitchell and Harry Bell (State News, Nov. 19, page 8), in which they give their opinions on the critics of pesticide use. They call the views of the critics "spectacular" half-truths coming from two or three small groups who just make a lot of noise.

Messrs. Mitchell and Bell show a complete misunderstanding of Rachel Carson's book. Dr. Carson makes two main points: 1) insecticides are dangerous to animal and human life, and 2) the use of insecticides does not provide a long run solution to the insect problem. It is not enough to claim, as Mitchell and Bell seem to, that the first point is a matter of controversy if there is an alternative (provided by Dr. Carson) which is known to be absolutely safe. They must prove definitely and beyond a shadow of doubt that these pesticides are safe. This they are apparently unable to do since it cannot be established that these pesticides are not harmful. Messrs. Mitchell and Bell are in no position to judge the adequacy of the inspection procedures of the Food and Drug Administration or the Department of Agriculture.

Point Of View

Canned Morals

By George Danzinger

Dean Fuzak made one good point in the article entitled "New Morality, Idea Rapped" which appeared last Wednesday. That is that even if there are new rules by which people are governing themselves, these rules don't change the basic moral rightness of actions. They don't, furthermore, constitute a reason for a change in the rules enforced by the University. The point is that what is right, what has true moral value, is independent of what people do. This is the basic truth that what is correct can never be determined by observing the myriad of different behavior patterns exhibited by people. Morality is derived in some manner independent of what people do.

Dean Fuzak fails, however, to see that moral behavior cannot be imposed on a body of individuals. A morality derived independently of the behavior that exists can be diametrically opposed to that behavior. Enforcement of a moral code is a job for police, peeping toms, and a sex patrol. Interpersonal behavior which occurs with mutual consent cannot be legislated, administered or judged. Moral behavior can only arise from the promptings of the individual's reason and conscience.

Some beg the question by claiming that the housing rules of the University merely keep order and in no way attempt to regulate student behavior. The mere reference to a question of morality by the Dean of Students in this respect refutes this argument. It is by the housing regulations, therefore, that student behavior is controlled by the University.

Women must be in their quarters by a certain time, cannot be entertained in certain places, and in fact, should sign out for their destination. Drinking is disallowed. Students must remain in supervised housing until arriving at a set age. Persons of the opposite sex may not be entertained in student's quarters.

By these rules we can summarize that immoral behavior can occur only in certain places and after certain hours. After a certain age, licentiousness is acceptable, or at least not the concern of the University.

Obviously, these rules fail to stop anyone from doing anything. They merely force students to live in crowded dormitories which choke the growth of the independence and individuality so needed in our society. They merely pay lip-service to the morality they assume to protect by making some types of behavior incommensurate but certainly not impossible.

But, what if immoral behavior did become impossible on the campus of Michigan State? What if by spies and hidden microphones immoral behavior on the part of any Michigan State student became impossible at any time any place? Then, the University would have achieved the only logical end of attempting to regulate behavior at all.

Even if this were possible, morality would not be established, it would be totally destroyed, or rather devoid of meaning and made a vestigial part of the student's faculties. Morality implies choice between two or more courses of action based on considerations of morality, not on those of prudence.

If the administration is willing to sacrifice the growth of a self-regulatory moral sense among the students to a neat surface appearance that will win nods of approval, fine. If it wants to trap students in the stale atmosphere of dormitories to serve the same end, fine. If the administration is willing to be content with making certain behavior inconvenient and is satisfied with an occasional sacrificial lamb to prove that these rules are enforceable, fine. If superficial appearance is worth more than the growth of the individual to the point where ethics have meaning and spring from internal promptings, then all this is fine. But, let us have the honesty of knowing that the end served is appearance, not morality.

De Gaulle At 73- Many Years Left

It is now all but official. French President Charles De Gaulle, who is 73 years old today, will seek another term as President to carry him at least through 1970.

The word comes from sources close to De Gaulle and is significant for two reasons. De Gaulle sees no one capable of succeeding him in the years which he regards as crucial for France and Europe, and the North Atlantic Treaty, signed in 1949, expires in 1969 and the North Atlantic Treaty, signed in 1949, expires in 1969 and must be renegotiated.

De Gaulle believes the NATO Treaty must be refurbished to meet the changing times, including the fact that by that time France will be a full fledged nuclear force able to strike both by air and from polaris-type submarines.

Backed by a French nuclear force, De Gaulle believes, Europe then will be able to declare itself independent of the United States. This also would include European independence of any two-way agreements reached between Washington and Moscow.

De Gaulle supporters believe that at least two recent events are proving the correctness of De Gaulle's attitude both toward NATO and the question of Western negotiations with the Soviets.

One was the unexpectedly heavy criticism of the U.S. proposed Multi-Nation Nuclear Fleet which was encountered among European representatives during a discussion of NATO policies. Predictions now are that the U.S. plan will be shelved indefinitely or at least until after British elections.

viet diplomats had been released. U.N. Secretary-General U Thant made a strong appeal to Adoula asking him to give the Soviets diplomatic protection and immunity.

In Moscow, the Soviet government officially protested the detention of the two men in a note handed by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to the Congolese charge d'affaires. The note demanded the immediate release of the diplomats and punishment of the police officials responsible for their "savage treatment."

Soviet officials reported a Russian correspondent also had been arrested. They identified him as Benik Beknazar-Juzbachev of the Soviet Novosti news agency. He was seized by police in his hotel room last night. Adoula said orders for his release also have been given.

Orphans View Game With 'Parents'

Forty-six orphans from St. Vincent's Home for Children in Lansing will attend the MSU-Illinois game Saturday accompanied by "parents" from Emmons and Butterfield dorms.

The group will sit in the north end zone.

The men of Emmons took up a collection to pay for the orphans' tickets.

Each orphan will be accompanied by a man from Emmons and a coed from Butterfield, Marilyn Dyer, co-chairman of the program said.

A reception after the game will be held in Butterfield.

The orphans, half of whom are Cuban refugees, range in age from 9 to 18.

James Johnson, precinct president and co-chairman of the program originated the idea.

Poll Reveals Optimism For Bowl Chance

MSU students are optimistic about winning the game with Illinois this weekend, a Berkey Hall student poll indicated.

Bill Jacobs, Mason senior, said "I don't want to sound like a prophet, but I think we'll take it. I'm already talking to my parents about Pasadena. You can't beat a combination like Lewis, Lopez, and Lattimer!"

"I have confidence in the team. We've gone this far and we're going to go all the way," said Joel Serlin, Oak Park junior.

Nancy Staples, Saginaw freshman, said, "I think we're going to win. Besides ability, the team has so much spirit."

Some students did not express such confidence.

Karen Schultz, Fenton senior, said, "We're going to lose. Illinois has a better team."

Elaine Robinson, Rockford junior, said, "State will win, but it will be a very close game."

Knisely Displeases Med Fate

William H. Knisely, Institute of Biology and Medicine director, appeared displeased Thursday over a recent decision to limit MSU to two year medical school status.

The Michigan Coordinating Council for Higher Education reported Wednesday that no new four-year medical school would be established in Michigan. Sources blamed intensive lobbying by the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Why God?

By Huron Smith, Jr.

The other day my floormate and I were discussing God. My floormate is a Roman Catholic, and I am a skeptic at best. We had discussed religion once before, but had concluded by using the circular reasoning which so often characterizes such discussions. We were determined that this discussion would yield more fruitful conclusions.

YOURS TRULY: When a new hypothesis is presented, upon whom does the burden of proof lay?

FLOORMATE: The one presenting the hypothesis.

Y.T.: If the supernatural world is beyond the realm of the five senses, it cannot be verified by experimentation and the other tools of the scientific method. But I will not limit you to that. You may prove the existence of God by using philosophy, if you wish.

F.: Well, I don't know much about philosophy, but I believe in God. You have to have faith that God exists. Some people have this gift of faith, and some people don't.

Y.T.: Do you have to have faith without reason for your faith?

F.: Oh, there's a reason. Take my case, for example. Two years ago I was hospitalized for a tumor in my leg. The doctors thought it might be malignant. I had an operation, and all went well. As I lay in the hospital, thinking about it afterward, I thought there must have been a power, something coming out as well as what I did. There must have been some power watching over me.

Y.T.: Is it possible that cases have occurred where the patient thought he was being watched by God and then died? There's a certain probability in these things. Do you think that God was directly responsible for your continued existence in this case?

F.: Yes, there's a probability element, but couldn't the odds have been set by God? That's what I feel. God, though not directly responsible, was the guiding force.

Y.T.: Then there wasn't any power watching over you personally, and the odds for your existence, as predetermined by God, was the reason for everything coming out as well as it did. What would happen if you didn't believe in God?

F.: I'd go to hell.

Y.T.: I don't believe in God; do you think I'll go to hell?

F.: Well, no. You haven't ever believed in God, have you?

Y.T.: Yes, I've believed in God most of my life.

F.: Why did you stop?

Y.T.: Well, when I got to thinking about it, I began to realize that the only reason I had believed all my life, was that I had grown up in a culture where the existence of God is so much taken for granted. Now I feel that the perpetuation of the belief is not a good enough reason for the existence of the belief. Do you think I will go to hell?

F.: Yes, I guess you will.

Y.T.: I don't believe in hell.

F.: That won't make any difference, of course.

Y.T.: Well, at least it means that only those who believe in hell have to worry about going there. On the subject of revelation, the way one comes to a belief in God is through a personal, subjective experience.

F.: Through personal experience and learning about Him, yes.

Y.T.: More than 2/3 of the world's population is non-Christian. Many of the people of other religions have claimed personal revelation pertaining to their religion. Would you say that their personal revelation is in error, while yours is correct?

F.: God puts us on this earth to be happy, to learn more about Him, and thus to earn our way into heaven. He could bring these people to heaven even if they didn't believe in Him. His purpose for these people is that of testing the faith of the Christians.

The essence of the two positions is "I believe," versus "I don't believe." Most of the things in anything his mind is capable of imagining. In no case could such a belief be assumed valid without further testing. Yet here exists such a belief, which in one way or another, is coupled to the emotions of most of the people of the world. The time has long since arrived to examine this belief. Its continued existence is an insult to the rational capacity of the human mind.

'East Lansing Has Race Problem' Negro Tells National Conference

Five MSU students and a campus pastor who attended the National Student Leadership Conference on Religion and Race in Washington, D.C., this week heard a Negro cite East Lansing as "one of those northern communities having problems with segregation." Vincent Harding, director of an interracial movement in New York City, said following his address that he chose East Lansing as an example, "because I heard you've been having some trouble there."

Civil Rights Bill Passage Is Moral 'Must' - Humphrey

A plan for action formed at the National Student Leadership Conference on Religion and Race was realized Wednesday when the delegates from 84 colleges met with Congressional leaders concerning the civil rights bill.

Assembled in the Senate auditorium, the students and religious advisers were addressed by the majority whip in the Senate, Hubert Humphrey (D-Minnesota). In the televised speech, he urged students to speak and write to all senators frankly over their concern with the bill.

"I thank you for coming to Washington because we need a sense of inspiration and dedication," he said. "The representative government does not give you saints, it gives you people."

He urged his audience to arouse the nation to the emergency of civil rights legislation. "Every month delayed is justice denied."

He said that in 1949 very little sympathy concerning the civil rights struggle prevailed in Congress. "In the past 14 years, a revolution of thinking and attitude has taken place in Congress."

Humphrey said that the passage of the civil rights bill is right and sound politically. "Even if it were not politically good, it is morally necessary. The United States cannot take the responsibility of world leadership with segregation, the most abusive force in America." The civil rights bill went to the House Rules committee Wednesday. Humphreys said that the House acts first because no filibuster is possible. He also cautioned that there is no room in civil rights for partisanship.

Students expressed concern that the bill be acted on in the house before Christmas recess so that it will come before Senate early next year. Humphreys said, "We will pass the bill in the House with all its necessary features. It is not important what day it gets started, but that it gets going."

The Senator said that the Senate is going to have a most distressing debate over the bill. One of three things could happen: cloture, retreat or attrition. He urged that students ask their Congressmen to vote on cloture and avoid the ugly business of filibuster.

"We need your action, prayers, help and confidence," he said.

Three plenary sessions were held at night during the conference. Sunday night the religious implications of the racial struggle were voiced by Harding, Rabbi Max Ticktin, director of Hillel Foundation at University of Wisconsin and the Rev. Anthony Mullerley of St. Anselm College in New Hampshire.

The civil rights bill and the importance of its passage was discussed Monday night by students and resource leaders. Students were drilled in methods of approaching their Congressmen Wednesday.

Jews, Christians Must Take Role Of 'Suffering Servant,' Harding

The theme from the Scriptures that strikes home for both Jews and Christians today is that of the suffering servant, Vincent Harding, director of an interracial movement in New York City, said at the first meeting of the National Student Leadership Conference on Religion and Race in Washington, D.C., Sunday.

Addressing more than 350 students and religious advisers, the Negro asked his audience to consider "who we are when we are here and when we think of ourselves as religious people."

For Jews, the servant is the remnant of a people in search for the living God. For Christians, he is Christ. Harding said that for both faiths the servant is the prototype of the entire people of God.

He described the incident in which a white youth, Bill Hansen, was jailed for peaceful demonstration and beaten by his drunken cell-mate.

Bill Hansen, representing several hundred white youth who left the "false shelter" of their color and recognized a cause worth fighting and dying for, brings to Harding's mind what it means to be a servant of God.

Harding suggested that Americans start by being honest, look at both society and the people they oppose in a new way, and repent for their long insensitivity and frightened timidity.

Harding received a standing ovation when he concluded with, "It is because God will somehow overcome that we eventually overcome."

Vatican Allows Replacing Latin

VATICAN CITY (AP) - The Vatican Council turned away from disputed declarations on Jews and Religious freedom Thursday and approved a motion to replace Latin with modern languages in Roman Catholic sacraments such as baptism, communion, marriage and extreme unction.

Approval of the use of modern languages in the sacraments came a day after the council wound up work on a similar provision allowing for use of vernacular in parts of the mass. However, Latin was ordered retained in the canon, or heart, of the mass -- the consecration of bread and wine, plus the prayers just before and after.

The provisions covering both will take effect when Pope Paul VI promulgates the complete schema on worship, or liturgy, as the council's first decree, probably next week.

The decree will allow national and Regional bishops' conferences to authorize replacement of Latin in their areas at their own discretion. Latin has been used for sacraments and mass since the third century, when it replaced Greek in the western part of the Church.

The liturgy schema chapter on changes in the sacraments received a final approval vote of 2,107 to 35.

In laying aside for the time the declarations aimed at ending anti-semitism and affirming religious freedom, the council lent weight to reports that the two

NAACP Head Hits Organized Labor

Herbert Hill, labor secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Wednesday night called for more direct confrontation on civil rights issues.

His lecture opened the Labor and Industrial Relations Center's series, "Civil Rights and Employment."

"It doesn't matter whether the Republicans or Democrats are in office," Hill said. "The ritual and rhetoric changes but the situation of the Negro stays the same."

"Since March of 1958 the rate of unemployment among Negroes has been two and one half to three times greater than the rate among whites."

Hill pointed out that President Kennedy said when unemployment reaches six per cent the country will be in a state of crisis.

The present Negro unemployment rate fluctuates between 14 to 17 per cent, Hill said.

Termining discrimination the "Archilles heel" of organized labor, Hill called for a massive, crash program to halt segregation and retrain Negroes.

There are four areas of trade union anti-Negro practices, Hill said.

- 1-Exclusion from membership because of race and color.
- 2-Segregated locals.
- 3-Separate racial seniority lines in union contracts.
- 4-Refusal to admit Negroes into apprenticeship.

"Membership in the union is a precondition for employment," Hill said. "The Negro is denied membership. Therefore, he is denied a job."

Hill said that his condition is worse in the North because the South has segregated locals. However, he said, all-Negro locals carry serious job disadvantages.

Using the Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks as an example, Hill said the white workers become the baggage clerks, but Negro workers become freight handlers.

Turning to job training, he said, "The actual function of trade union programs is to artificially create a scarcity of skilled labor although their function is supposedly to create more skilled labor."

"Over the last ten years there has been a one and a half to two per cent participation in jobs," he said. "This is not progress."

Hill said he sees a growing disenchantment, especially with Negro youth, with the philosophy of non-violence.

shouted hoarse cheers at the flag-waving student on Sparty's shoulders.

Vigor renewed they swarmed across Landon field and stopped at John Hannah's home where the president was entertaining graduating seniors at a reception.

In response to "We want Hannah" cheers, the president greeted the students with:

"It's difficult to talk at a time like this."

His speech punctuated by cheers, he continued, "I thank you for your enthusiasm. We're all looking forward to Saturday."

"We're tremendously proud of our football team and we hope they will win Saturday."

"We will," the crowd shouted back.

With a final cheer for Hannah the students rushed for the Union only to find three campus policemen barring the door.

Chants of "We want a coke" and "Push'em back, push'em back, wa-ay back" met the officers before the students turned and headed by the Administration Building and Berkey Hall.

The swarm split, some heading along Grand River Avenue and the

'Foreign Relations' Stymie Police

Group Finds Little Bias Here

Foreign students create problems for the East Lansing police, Chief Charles Pegg told the local Human Relations Commission Wednesday.

Pegg appeared with city personnel director Timothy Carney and city planning director Michael Conlisk. The commission invited the officials to give them background for their studies on possible discrimination in East Lansing.

The police do not discriminate against foreign students or American students, the chief said.

"We have a problem of misunderstandings with the foreign nationals in attendance at the University," Pegg said.

He indicated that incidents occur because many of the students from other countries are unfamiliar with the customs and practices of Americans.

Pegg cited a recent incident which involved misunderstanding and lack of knowledge on the part of both foreign students and an East Lansing resident.

"An irate father called us saying his eight-year-old daughter had been molested," Pegg said.

Pegg said the little girl was on her way to the library when she met two foreign students from the University. The students, both far from their own families and lonely, asked the girl her name and where she lived.

"One of them put his hand on the girl's head and the other touched her shoulder," he said.

From what the girl told her father, he understood she had been molested, Pegg said.

"We found someone who understood the respect the people of this country have for children, and that the students' actions had been misinterpreted."

"Luckily everything was straightened out."

Robert Morgan, Hamburg, N.Y., graduate student and member of the commission asked Pegg if the group could do anything to help diminish this misunderstanding of customs. Chief Pegg said all incidents had to be taken up individually. "Guns are another problem," he said. "Many of the foreign students come from police states."

"They think someone is likely to use a gun just because he wears one."

Morgan asked if a member of the department could talk to the International Club to explain the position of the police in this country and the use of their guns.

"We'd be glad to come, any time," Chief Pegg said.

Concerning police action on complaints of discrimination

Pegg said his department could only investigate and report findings to the office of the county prosecutor.

"The last report of discrimination we had was about eight or ten years ago," he said, and the matter was cleared up completely.

There have been no other reports, nor are we aware of any discriminatory practices in East Lansing," Pegg said.

Carney offered the commission copies of all application forms which potential city workers must complete before employment.

"The only place where race is specified is on the medical history form," he said. "This is a confidential form and the category of race is there only for medical reasons."

ZBT Boosts Dystrophy Campaign

The Zeta Beta Tau will sell roses in the area surrounding the stadium before the Illinois game Saturday as a kick-off to their muscular dystrophy drive.

The fraternity has ordered 2500 roses-- white and green for MSU and orange and blue for Illinois-- to be sold at 25 cents apiece. The green and orange are natural colors developed by a Detroit florist.

"We hope for tremendous support from both faculty and students," said Greg Warren, Detroit sophomore and head of the Zeta's MSU campaign.

The Zetas hope to take in from $400 to $500 through their drive beginning Monday for the Lansing muscular dystrophy fund.

"We have had terrific support from the faculty, especially Steve Keesler, a assistant secretary, who helped us get approval," Warren said. "Both the University radio stations and WJIM have cooperated in publicizing the campaign."

Name Four New Pi Phi Actives

Four Pi Phi pledges have gone active at the house on Harrison Road.

New actives include Elizabeth Zack, Grosse Isle, sophomore; Teri McCurry, Birmingham, junior; Linda Yacobush, Elma, N.Y., junior, and Prudence McIntosh, Port Huron, sophomore.

"I do not suggest they will initiate violence," he said, "but they may be defensive. Turning the other cheek can not work in a society as corrupt as ours."

Hill said he foresees an increase of Negro caucuses within trade unions to fight discrimination and more use of mass public demonstrations.

'Spin' Chairmen Announced

Turnabout time is almost around the corner as MSU women have the chance to do the asking for the Spinster Spin. Selected on the basis of petition and interview, chairmen for the 1964 Spin have been announced by the Spin Advisory Board.

MORE KINDS OF CHEVROLETS THAN EVER BEFORE!

JET-SMOOTH LUXURY CHEVROLET

15 models. Four series. One brand-new series—the Impala Super Sports. More luxury, too. Even the Biscaynes are now fully carpeted. There's seven different engines worth of power—140 hp to 425 hp (optional at extra cost). It's a matter of knowing if you'd like your luxury on the gentle side or on the other side.

Model shown: Impala Sport Coupe

TOTALLY NEW CHEVELLE!

11 models. Three series. An entirely new line of cars sized a foot shorter than the big cars, so you get the handling ease of smaller cars. But don't sell it short! Chevelle gives you generous passenger and luggage room. Engine choice: 120 to extra-cost 220 hp.

Model shown: Malibu Sport Coupe

NEW CHEVY II

Six models. Two series—Nova and Chevy II 100. Both now offer an extra-cost 195-hp V8 or a 155-hp six, to give you more Chevy II power than ever before. Match this added power with Chevy II thrift, and you can see why Chevy II will be harder than ever to keep up with this year.

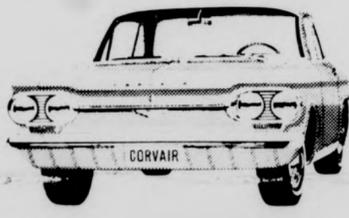

Model shown: Nova 2-Door Sedan

NEW CORVAIR

Seven models in four series. Two Greenbriers. A new standard 95-hp engine (nearly 19" livelier). An extra-cost 110-hp engine on all Corvairs and a 150-hp Turbo-charged engine in the Monza Spider. Styling? Never been cleaner. Interior? Never been brighter. Fun to drive? Never been more so.

Model shown: Monza Club Coupe

NEW CORVETTE

Two models—the Sport Coupe with a new one-piece rear window plus improved interior ventilation, and the dashing Sting Ray Convertible. Both boast smoother rides, improved sound insulation. Both go with four big V8's, including a new extra-cost 375-hp engine with Fuel Injection.

Harriers In NCAA's Monday

By LARRY MOGG
State News Sports Writer

State's on-again, off-again harriers will be confronted with a difficult uphill fight here Monday in their efforts to make a strong bid for NCAA honors.

Although Coach Fran Dittrich's injury-riddled squad has been given a clean bill of health for the season's cross country finale, the top position seems to be out of the reach of the Spartan runners.

Tourney favorites are many in a top flight field of 32 teams. Coach Dittrich has termed the team race "a potential mad scramble" with anyone of a dozen outfits coming out on top.

Squads from all over the nation will stream into East Lansing today and Saturday for Monday's championship meet on the rugged four mile layout at the Forrest Akers' Golf Course.

The meet will begin at 11:30 a.m. with the public invited at no charge. Excellent vantage points for the championship event are available to spectators.

Six squads are given a good chance to unseat defending titlist San Jose State, including Oregon, Houston, Notre Dame, Kansas, Villanova, and Western Michigan.

However, when title contenders are brought up the San Jose State Spartans must top the list. The Spartans can rely on three returning veterans, all of whom placed in the top twenty finishers in the NCAA's last season.

Headling this successful cast is Danny Murphy, who turned in a third place finish as a sophomore last year.

Jeff Fishback and Ben Tucker, who placed 17th and 18th in the title win, are also back and can be expected to finish just as high this time out. If the Spartans can come up with some fourth and fifth place depth, they should be a shoe-in for an NCAA throne repeat.

A proven Notre Dame squad is the most serious challenger to a second consecutive NCAA crown for the west coast club. The Irish flashed five runners into the top twenty finishers in the talented IC 4A meet last week to humble all foes. The hub of Notre Dame's success this season has revolved around their swift twosome of Frank Carver and Bill Clark. Carver wrapped up ninth place in the NCAA last year, while Clark ran 22nd. Other outstanding Irish runners are junior Bill Welch, and sophs Mike Coffey and Ed Dean.

Houston, NCAA champions of two years ago, should be back in the thick of the title struggle this season. The strong running threat of Geoff Walker and Laurie Elliott (brother of sub-four minute miler Herb Elliott) should boost Houston into title contention.

Slated as a genuine threat in the NCAA last season, Kansas slumped to tenth place with a poor performance. The Jayhawkers, paced by senior Paul Acevedo, have come on strong this year to take the Big Eight conference throne. Two weeks back Kansas swept team honors in the Central Collegiate tournament. Sophomore's hold the key to a possible NCAA win for Kansas.

Oregon boasts one of the strongest individual performers in talented senior Keith Forman.

Booters Face Bills

By DICK SCHWARTZ
State News Sports Writer

Michigan State's soccer team will attempt this afternoon to establish a precedent no other team has ever accomplished, defeating St. Louis for the second time in the same season.

The Spartans and Bills meet head on at 2:45 p.m. on the soccer field south of Spartan Stadium in the first round of NCAA playoffs. Admission is $1, by NCAA ruling.

The recent MSU-St. Louis episode, two weeks ago, saw the Spartans triumph, 4-3, and capture the Midwest Conference title. It was State's first win over the Bills, who have been the stumbling block to an undefeated season in past years.

Spartan Coach Gene Kenney is predicting another "rough and tumble game," which has become a trademark for MSU-St. Louis outings.

The winner between these two soccer powers will face the Far West regional champ Nov. 27.

In the West Coast playoff, Stanford will take on San Jose State or San Francisco State College. Kenney says he has no special tactics up his sleeve, "just hustle, spirit and good hard soccer."

What concerns Kenney most is getting his squad to click "from the first whistle 'til the last and not take a period to start moving." He was specifically referring to the last St. Louis match where the Spartans allowed two goals in the opening quarter before scoring.

"Nothing you can do about it," Kenney said. "It's all mental outlook. And you have no pill for that."

St. Louis, still licking its wounds from State's upset win, can be expected to put up a grueling fight. At stake is the defense of the NCAA title they earned last year for the third time in four seasons.

State will be sticking to the same line-up as in its last meeting with St. Louis:

'Bombers' In Initial Showing

Friday night the "Spartan Bombers" will make their initial appearance of the year at the Okemos High School gymnasium. The game between the Bombers and the Harlem Ambassadors will be sponsored by the Okemos Kiwanis Club. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Spartan Bombers basketball team is composed of MSU faculty members. Included in the group are Tom Rand and Lance Olsen, members of the State varsity hoop squad from 1958 to 1961. Other team members are Jack Shingleton and Don Harden of the placement office; from the Admissions Office: Bob Bliss and Bob DeYoung; from bio-physics: Leroy Augenstein; and from the College of Engineering: Chuck St. Clair, Matt Medick and Woody Phend.

The Spartan Bombers amassed a 11-1 record during the 1962-63 season. Business Manager of the Bombers is Carl Mensendick of the College of Engineering.

Final Stadium Game For 20 Seniors

Twenty seniors will be playing their hearts out Saturday as they make their final gridiron appearance at Spartan Stadium. The State-Illinois contest is the last regularly scheduled game on the docket for these veterans of three very successful seasons of head knocking in a Green and White uniform.

Yet there is a chance of playing one final collegiate game as a Spartan unit. A victory or tie against Illinois Saturday can clinch a January date in California for the Spartans. With this added incentive these 20 veteran gridders should be riding high for the Illini tilt.

Seniors in their final game at Spartan Stadium will be: Joe Begeny, John Badaczewski, Bill Benson, Charley Brown, Mike Curie, Robin Doty, Dave Herman, Earl Lattimer, Sherman Lewis, Dewey Lincoln, Mike Lesch, Roger Lopes, Ed Lothamer, Mike Marciniak, Fred Mushinski, Larry Paulik, Ron Rubick, Matt Snorton, Dan Underwood, and Ed Youngs.

Unquestionably these seniors have been the heart of State's fine showing this season. In a supposedly lean year, it was the hard work of the seniors that put State on top of the Big Ten, with a chance of gaining their first unshared Big Ten crown.

Outstanding senior linemen have been plentiful over a three year haul.

A trio of ends, Co-Captain Dan Underwood, Ed Lothamer, and Matt Snorton, have been a pillar strength for State. Although unspectacular in the pass catching department, Underwood, Lothamer, Snorton have shone time and time again on defense and have been the wrecking crew in front of the devastating runs of Sherman Lewis, Ron Rubick, Dewey Lincoln, and Roger Lopes.

Linemen Bill Benson, Mike Curie, Dave Herman, Earl Lattimer,

Charley Brown, and Ed Youngs all are former letterwinners and have been standouts for "Duffy's" team this season. All except Youngs have seen action as starters sometimes during their career.

Lattimer is a good example of the spirit that the seniors have shown during their stay at East Lansing. Lattimer played end in his sophomore year and was switched to fullback in his junior year. This season the Spartans had a shortage at the vital guard spot, and Duffy called on the versatile Texan to hold down a key guard post. Lattimer did so and with success.

Joe Begeny and Ron Rubick have had good moments as fill-ins in the State backfield.

Grid News From The Illini Camp

URBANA, Ill.--The Illini squad ran through a semi-contact scrimmage here Thursday in preparation for their Saturday game with Michigan State.

It marked the first time the Illini have held an intra-squad scrimmage since the week before their game with Northwestern early in the season.

Coach Pete Elliott had decided to "let the momentum of early season drills" carry the Blue and Orange through the season, but changed his plans in anticipation of the title showdown with State.

Elliott now lists end Rich Callaghan as a doubtful starter, but a likely participant in the game.

Fem Hockey, Swim Teams In Finales

The women's hockey and swimming seasons come to a close Friday morning with both squads assured of winning records.

The hockeyettes will be meeting a team from the Detroit Field Hockey Association on Old College Field at 10 a.m. At the same hour the swimmers will be hosting a triangular meet with the Golden Lyons Swim Club and the Women's City Club of Detroit providing the opposition.

The fem swimmers have a 4-1 season mark, losing only in their opening contest on Oct. 12 to Michigan. They defeated Kent State, Valparaiso, Purdue and the University of Western Ontario.

The hockeyettes, with a 4-2-2 showing, have topped Western Michigan, Central Michigan, Valparaiso and an alumni squad.

Leading scorers on the team have been Kay Stoney, co-captain

Game Playing Site Factor In Grid Series

The Spartans and the Illini have met six times since their football series began in 1955, and neither team has been able to win a game on the other school's field.

In the first meeting between the two teams the Spartans defeated Illinois 21-7. In the East Lansing encounter State quarterback Earl Morrall passed for 136 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Green and White to victory.

The next year the Spartans traveled to Champaign-Urbana boasting the top rated team in the country. But Illinois, trailing 13-6 at the end of the third quarter, produced two final frame touchdowns to win the contest 20-13.

Abe Woodson scored both of the fourth quarter TD's for Illinois, racing 77 yards on one play and catching a pass from reserve quarterback Bill Offenbecher on a play that covered 84 yards for the tallies.

In 1957 the two squads met again at East Lansing and the Spartans came out on the winning side of a 19-14 score. In a game marred by ten fumbles halfback Blaine Martin raced for two scores to give State the victory.

Illinois won at Champaign in 1958, 16-0, and again in 1962, 7-6. In last year's game it was a 31-yard pass from Illini quarterback Mike Taliaferro to Jim Plankenhorn that topped the Spartans. State's lone score came on a three yard run by Sherman Lewis, but the try for two-points after the touchdown failed.

State won in 1961 at Spartan Stadium, 34-7, easily defeating a winless Illini eleven.

Should the "home team wins" axiom hold up this year the Spartans would be able to take the lead in their series with the Illini, as well as take the Big Ten Crown.

Margo Lusch and Nancy Dash. Pacing the swimmers have been National Collegiate Champion Chris Kluter and Dolly Graening and diver Lola Miller. Team co-captains are Miss Kluter and Marcia Jones.

Many of the State swimmers will compete in the Women's National Collegiate Championships, which will be held on campus on Saturday, Dec. 7.

Weightlifting Meet Sunday

The State Weightlifting teams will face Saginaw YMCA at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the IM Sports Arena.

The Spartan squad placed second in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Championships last year and will be host to the tournament this March.

For those watching the meet the Weightlifting Club has provided an explanation of the scoring: The sum of the points awarded for three different lifts--the two hand press, two hand snatch and the two hand clear and jerk--determine the class winner. There are seven classes of competition.

Agility Key Word Of Top Seniors

Mary Jackson and Sherman Lewis, Seniors of the Week, have a key word...agility.

Miss Jackson, who has danced in various University Theatre productions and taught modern dance in a Lansing dance studio, stays agile through constant practice.

SHERMAN LEWIS

his ability to slip away from would-be tacklers.

Miss Jackson, a radio-TV major from Royal Oak, is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She has been corresponding secretary and activities chairman for her house.

She was secretary of the Campus Chest a member of Union Board, chairman for Activities Carnival, vice-president of MSU Players, a Spartan Ambassador and arrangements chairman for AWS Blood Drive. She is presently a member of International Relations Club and the Campus U.N.

Miss Jackson had a principal role in the University Theatre production of "Brigadoon" and danced in "Of These I Sing" last spring.

She was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Theta Sigma Phi and Theta Alpha Phi honoraries. She is now a member of Mortar Board and has a 3.5 all university point average.

A Physical Education major from Louisville, Ky., Lewis is a member of Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

He was co-captain of the track team last year and will be captain this year. He has been on the varsity track and football teams for the past three years.

Lewis is a member of the NAACP and has a 2.4 all university point average.

Miss Jackson is presently a floor director for WMSB-TV. Last summer she studied in Cologne Germany for six weeks.

"I just loved it," she said, "and living with a family gave me a real opportunity to meet the people."

"I've done most of my traveling through sports," said Lewis. "The place I liked most was Pasadena," he continued, "and I'm planning on going back there soon."

After graduating at the end of winter term, Miss Jackson plans to continue for a Masters degree in Radio-TV. "Then I'd like to work on the production end of international communications," she said, "something with The Voice of America or like."

"As it stands right now," says Lewis, "I plan to go into pro football for a few years." Later he plans to coach. Lewis will graduate this summer.

Race Readings Due Monday

The Rev. Malcolm Boyd, Episcopal chaplain at Wayne State University, will present "Readings on Race," 8 p.m. Monday at All Saints Episcopal Church, 800 Abbott Rd.

Mr. Boyd, a leader in the movement for racial equality, has been called, "one of the 100 most important young men and women in the United States" by Life magazine.

He will visit East Lansing under the sponsorship of the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity.

Food Science Club Meets

The Food Science Club Tuesday held its final meeting of the fall term.

Food Science Club is an organization for food science majors and only undergraduates may hold office.

An introductory meeting for freshmen is planned for the second Tuesday of winter term.

Patrick Heslip, East Lansing senior, is president. Sigmund H. Schanderl, assistant professor of food science, and Charles Stine, associate professor of food science are the advisers.

Philip E. Dakin, director of the Michigan State University Co., spoke at Tuesday's meeting on "The Science and Technology of Brewing."

Foreigners Plan Visit

Foreign students will travel to the thumb of Michigan Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving weekend with farm families near Mayville and Caro.

Visiting foreign professors and their families are also eligible to participate in the trip, sponsored by the Office of International Programs. Two MSU buses will leave East Lansing at 6:30 Wednesday night and return Sunday, Dec. 1. Round trip fare is $4 per person.

The families near Mayville and Caro will provide housing, food and entertainment for the weekend. Interested students may register for the trip in 304 Morrill or 302 Student Services.

Judy Vollender State Runner-Up

Judith Vollender, Beaverton senior, recently was chosen first runner-up in the Miss Michigan Farm Bureau contest.

Miss Vollender, who represented Gladwin County in the contest, was among 30 girls to enter. She was selected as a finalist from an autobiography which she submitted to judges. Finalists were required to make a five-minute speech on "What Farm Bureau Means To Me." Speakers were judged on the basis of poise, appearance, and speaking ability.

Miss Vollender, a social science major, is a resident of Butterfield Hall.

Pick Up Your Art At Union

Art pieces which are not now being displayed in the Union can be picked up in the Union Board office according to A. J. Harris, Walled Lake, junior and social chairman of Union Board.

Works now on display may be picked up Monday, Nov. 25 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"To avoid damage to the pieces, we ask that everyone pick up their work as soon as possible," Harris said.

Dorm Coeds Go Scottish

'My Bonny Lives In McDonel'

On the bonny, bonny banks of... the Red Cedar stands McDonel Hall with the most Highland lassies to set foot on MSU ground in a long time.

The twelve precincts of East McDonel have chosen names, according to tradition, which begin with the same letter as the name of the hall.

The names are: McAlpine, McArthur, McCallum, McEwn, McIntyre, McKay, McKenzie, McKinley, McNaie, McNeil, McPherson, and McQueen.

Each precinct has its own authentic coat-of-arms and plaid. The girls are pricing authentic plaids from Scotland to adorn their precinct doors and hope to get plaid name plates. All of the girls in the precincts plan to learn more about the origin of their names and the history of their "clans."

Vocalists Plan Recital

Two voice students from the music department will present a joint recital Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Music Aud.

Rae Ramsey, East Lansing senior, and Donald A. Schramm, Buffalo, N.Y., sophomore, will alternate solo vocal performances and open and close their program with duets.

Miss Ramsey and Schramm will perform songs by such well-known composers as Schumann, Handel, Mozart, Purcell, Mendelssohn, Strauss, Ralph Vaughan Williams and Wolf.

Miss Ramsey and Schramm will be assisted in the concert by pianists Lois Gerber, South Orange, N.J., junior, and Barbara Dixon, Pigeon sophomore.

Profs Discuss College Growth

The implications of expansion of higher education were discussed by 300 college and university instructors in Lansing Thursday at the Michigan Conference on Higher Education.

The two-day meeting was led off with a talk on "State-Wide Planning for Higher Education" by New York University's Director Emeritus of Institutional Research, John Russell.

Engineers Eye Magazine Sales

The Spartan Engineer, published by students of the College of Engineering, is now on sale.

The magazine can be purchased at the Union desk or in the lobby of the Engineering Building. Price is 25 cents.

John B. Locke, Farmington freshman and editor-in-chief of the publication, said he hopes it will soon be sold at several drug stores near campus.

Locke said the magazine would focus mainly on campus activities this year rather than industry.

Harwood Phend, of the engineering department, is principal adviser for the Engineer.

Adams Writes Novel Critique

Hazard Adams, professor of English, has written a critical introduction to British novelist Joyce Carey's newly reprinted "Power in Men".

The book, a political treatise developing a theory of man's individuality and creative power, was first published in 1939, and is presently being issued for the first time in the United States by the University of Washington Press.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: JOHN M. CORUTHERS

A challenging job dealing with people and figures—that was John M. Coruthers' career goal when he left college seven years ago with an electrical engineering degree.

And John found the job, responsibilities and long-range career opportunities he wanted with the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

His first assignment was supervising telephone installation and repair crews. Recognizing his leadership abilities, John's company promoted him to District Installation Superintendent. And in only a short time, he was advanced to his present position of District Plant Manager—an even more responsible job.

But does the job deal with people? Well, thousands of businesses and residences in the heart of Chicago depend on John, and the more than 200 people he supervises, for the smooth flow of communications.

John M. Coruthers, like many engineers, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Students Petition For Olin Policy Changes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a three-part series on Olin Health Center.

By OYARS BALCERS
State News Staff Writer

At that time the student population was about 17,000. This year the same reasons have been given against maintaining a full-time night doctor at Olin. However, Dean Tom King informed them that the administration felt such a hiring would be impractical and too expensive. At that time the student population was about 17,000. This year the same reasons have been given against main-to be lessened, service would probably never be immediate. A medical school would probably be the best means of providing more extensive services, Feurig said. The teaching staff could then supplement the existing staff, he added. Also, emergency services would be facilitated because resident doctors and interns would be available for such duties, he said. Such a program is presently operating in the University of Michigan, Feurig said. However, the cost of a present expansion of the staff at Olin would be greater than the extent of expansion, Feurig said. William H. Knisely, director of the Institute of Biology and Medicine, said that it was very difficult to come up with an ideal plan for medical services to Michigan State students since this population could not be compared to an ordinary community. The type of service required by a civic community of comparable size is quite different, he said. A college population is a very select group, with the majority of its members between the ages of 19 and 30, he said. Also, the college group is basically very healthy since those with active diseases are not admitted, he added.

Lookin' Back

Nov. 23, 1933

The Michigan State Intercollegiate Extemporaneous Speaking Contest will be held on the campus Tuesday, Nov. 25. Preliminaries will take place in the afternoon and will include speakers from approximately eleven colleges in this state.

Nov. 23, 1943

One violin, a pair of skates, bowling shoes, one Aunt Jemima doll, a lavender shower cap, and an unfinished pink sweater... all of these have strayed from their original owners and are a part of the extensive collection of missing articles in the Union Lost and Found, according to Gordon Hueschen, chief custodian.

Nov. 23, 1953

More than 9,000 students went on a mass "toot" last night, but the only ill effects they're feeling this morning are a severe lack of completed homework and a slight ringing in the ears. From 8:30 Sunday night when the Big 10 decision was announced until after midnight, joyous Spartans circled the traffic islands of Grand River Avenue and the winding campus streets in processions of tooting cars bearing "Peat UCLA" banners, fraternity flags, and in some cases an overload of students.

Nov. 21, 1962

The Student-Faculty Speaker Committee recommendation which proposed establishment of an advisory forum committee on speakers at MSU will be presented to the Academic Council Dec. 4.

However, he indicated, the administration and the Board of Trustees have opposed such a move in the past and probably will continue to do so in the future unless the student body shows it would accept a fee for the health service.

In 1961, Feurig said that although the long waiting situation at the Health Center was trying
