

Rose War To Highlight Turkey Day

Game Delay Costly

Delay in announcing the postponement of last Saturday's football game may have cost the University several thousand dollars, it was learned Tuesday.

John Laetz, business manager of athletics, estimated losses at $2,000 to $3,000 in preparing Spartan Stadium the morning before the originally-scheduled meeting with Illinois.

"The game was first called off after many employees had reported in," Laetz said. "In fact our ground crew, which numbers close to 100, was already at work removing the field covering."

"We did manage to notify most employees," he added, "notably ticket takers."

Laetz estimated average expenses at $8,000 to ready the stadium for each game.

Also hit hard Saturday was the Stadium Concessions Department, which was forced to dump over 400 gallons of coffee prepared in anticipation of a sellout crowd.

Loss of a ton and a half of hot dogs, some already on the grills, was spared when Dorm-

Ask JFK Campus Memorial

A proposal for student-financed memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy was initiated Tuesday by Nguyen Chi, Vietnamese grad student.

"This monument would not be for a dead President of the United States. That is not my point," Nguyen said. "John F. Kennedy just happened to be President of the United States."

"J.F. Kennedy is dead. So are Gandhi, Dag Hammarskjold, and many others. Like them, he tried to infuse love, tolerance, freedom, and justice into every human being's heart. Like them, he fell victim of hatred, intolerance, fanaticism, and injustice," Nguyen said.

"Like them, he has become a

MSU Asks $8 Million Budget Hike

Higher education in Michigan needs more money and needs it fast.

That in essence is what a Michigan Coordinating Council for Higher Education resolution said Tuesday. It also indicated that higher education would not be responsible if it could not meet future needs because of lack of state support.

The coordinating council is made up of all Michigan colleges and universities except Ferris State College.

MSU Trustee Warren M. Huff, of Plymouth, who is also council president, telegraphed the resolution to Gov. George W. Romney.

"The issues of higher education are so serious that they demand immediate and responsible answers," it read.

The council said it is confident that Governor Romney and the legislature will move forward because of the report. It also stated that Michigan's colleges cannot, for the first time in many years, plan wisely for the heavy burdens they are being asked to assume.

"If higher education is to assume these burdens, we must have confidence that higher education will be given the financial support that is essential," it continued.

The public colleges and universities are to take immediate and responsible action within the means afforded to them, the report added. If they fail for lack of money, then the failure cannot be charged to their account.

"The report has stated very well what problems all Michigan colleges and universities will face in the future," Secretary Jack Breslin said. "MSU is hopeful the governor and the state department of administration will take into consideration the recommendations."

"It is also hoped the council resolution will be reflected in increased state aid to all institutions of higher learning in Michigan."

MSU heads met last week with the state department of administration to defend the University's $40.5 million budget request for

Students Prepare For MSU-Illini Grid Battle

Illini Arrive Today For Title Battle

Postponed Grid Game Changes Holiday Plans

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

Thursday is turkey day, and the Spartans are hoping to be in gravy when it's all over.

At long last, they're meeting Illinois in a game which has been billed as one of the biggest at Spartan Stadium in recent years, if not in its history.

Both teams are more anxious than ever for a shot at the Big Ten title, and sports-writers have run out of things to say about the contest.

Last week's giant build-up proved premature when the tragic death of President Kennedy forced postponement until Thanksgiving Day.

The contest is still as important as it would have been Saturday, with the Big Ten championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl going to the winner.

Both teams will go into the game with 6-1 overall marks, but the Spartans are 4-0-1 in conference play, and the Illini are 4-1-1.

The five-day delay has failed to give either team any more of an advantage than it had before the game was called.

The Spartan coaching staff has spent the extra time reviewing Illinois film, and the MSU squad has worked out every day.

Monday they ran through a 90-minute session on the stadium turf, and they will take part in a light workout at the stadium today.

Cloudy skies with seasonal temperatures are being predicted for Thursday's 1:30 game, ideal for football.

There is still wide student interest in the game, as evidenced by the fact that thousands of students have decided to delay their Thanksgiving vacation a day so they can attend the contest.

Those attending the game can expect to witness a battle between two teams possessing rugged ground attacks.

Illinois boasts four players who have gained over 200 yards rushing this season.

Leading the list is fullback Jim Grabowski with 368 yards in 83 tries. Halfback Sam Price (269 yards) is next in line followed by halfback Al Wheat-

LBJ Addresses Joint Session Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's address to a joint session today may determine whether Congress adjourns in mid-December or stays on for a civil rights fight into the new year.

Congressional leaders professed not to know what the President will ask them to do but a House action Tuesday touched off a drive to wind up the present session by Dec. 14 if possible.

The House sent to the Senate without dissenting vote a bill to provide emergency financing through next Jan. 31 for any federal agency whose regular appropriations have not been provided.

Originally the date for ending temporary financing was Dec. 31.

The last-minute switch followed a suggestion from Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana that Congress adjourn soon and give Johnson "time to get his feet on the ground."

Unless the new President asks for action this year on civil rights, Congress is in a mood to quit around Dec. 14. There is no spirit for bickering during the period of mourning for the assassinated John F. Kennedy.

However, if Johnson insists on civil rights action now, his Congressional leaders will try to accommodate him. Such action would be bound to start a battle, for civil rights is the hottest issue pending.

In other action Tuesday, President Johnson told European leaders that he looks forward to personal discussions with foreign officials, possibly includ-

Prof Sees No Change In Johnson Policies

The attention of the world, accustomed to viewing political events in light of the late President Kennedy's policies, now shifts to the nature and ideas of his successor, 55-year-old Lyndon Baines Johnson.

Baljit Singh, a professor of political science, says he believes there will be no real changes in the Kennedy foreign policy during the remainder of Johnson's term of office.

The new President has already expressed complete support for the foreign policies of his predecessor. Singh described the Kennedy policy as "a willingness to negotiate, but a firm stand on that which is essential to the interests of the United States."

Singh says he does not think Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will attempt to "test Johnson's resolution by creating a new international incident. 'I believe there has been a genuine desire for a relaxation of tension on the part of opposing world forces,'" Singh said.

"I do not think the Soviets will jeopardize this. I also believe they know President Johnson is committed to all the old policies and is a strong man in his own right," he added.

Singh also pointed out that while the head of the executive branch of government has changed-

Lincoln Started Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving, the holiday whose name implies joyous feasting, has its roots in strife, fasting and solemnity.

The present-day Thanksgiving observance is directly descended from a proclamation made by President Lincoln in the midst of the Civil War:

"In the midst of a Civil War of unequalled magnitude and severity which has sometimes seemed to foreign states to invite and provoke their aggressions, peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere except in the theatre of military conflict.

"No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the most high God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered his mercy."

For many years the people con-

R.R. Board Rules On Firemen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Railroad Arbitration Board has ruled that 90 per cent of the firemen on diesel locomotives in freight service and yard engines should be eliminated gradually through attrition. But the award, affecting 40,000 firemen, called for preserving life-time job rights for two-thirds of the men and will be binding on carriers and unions only for two years.

Two of five railroad unions involved in the four-year-old work rules dispute immediately announced they would go to court to try to upset the decision on grounds the arbitration panel exceeded its authority.

Mikoyan, Rusk Discuss Disarmament

WASHINGTON - Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said after seeing Secretary of State Dean Rusk Tuesday that "We found some methods of negotiation" on disarmament.

Mikoyan, who saw President Johnson earlier, declined to specify what methods might have been agreed on.

Disarmament so far "has been moving very slowly or not at all," he said.

East West negotiators have been discussing disarmament questions at a lengthy conference in Geneva.

In addition, U.S. and Soviet representatives have been meeting on the matter from time to time. Their most noteworthy achievement so far has been the limited nuclear test ban signed in Moscow last July.

Vietnamese Military Eyes Hoa Hao

HOA HAO, Viet Nam (P)—The leader of Viet Nam's military regime arrived Tuesday to woo the Hoa Hao, a strong religious sect that fought the old Diem government and Communist Guerrillas alike.

"The disastrous policy of the former regime who tried to crush you has ended," Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh declared in referring to the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem he overthrew Nov. 1.

Minh pledged solidarity with the Hoa Hao, who number about 500,000 and whose influence is strong in four provinces of western Viet Nam.

Turkish Party Withdraws From Coalition

ANKARA, Turkey (P)—In a surprise move, the Peasants Nation Party voted Tuesday to withdraw from Prime Minister Ismet Inonu's coalition government.

However, Inonu indicated through a spokesman Tuesday that he did not expect the government's immediate collapse.

Stock Market Regains Strength

NEW YORK (P)—The stock market moved sharply upward Tuesday in a reversal of the plunge that followed the assassination of President Kennedy Friday.

Brokers reported they were swamped with orders to buy stock.

Some brokers interpreted the surge of buying as indicating reassurance among investors that the death of Kennedy will bring no great change in government or business.

The market had regained most of the loss it suffered in the panicky selling of Friday afternoon.

BEADY EYE doesn't know it, but his fate dates back to a Lincoln proclamation during the Civil War. The beginning of the Pilgrim Thanksgiving, the forerunner of Lincoln's, has not been dated.

So We Must Go On

The game will be played Thursday, but it's not the same game that it would have been had it been played last weekend.

Too much has transpired since Friday afternoon and the significance of the big game has now been tempered by the days of mourning.

Yet, on the Spartan Stadium field, State and Illinois will be fighting for the Big Ten Championship and the accompanying trip to the Rose Bowl in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

No one expects the stadium crowd to be in the same frame of mind it would have been on Saturday morning had not the tragic event occurred.

But time marches on and wounds, which seem enormous for a while, heal. The scars remain to remind us of what has transpired.

Thursday afternoon two teams will be engaged in a football game. They'll be playing for all the marbles. The team members have had to overcome the same tragedy that had befallen the rest of the world.

Thursday afternoon two squads of football players will demonstrate that things must go on. That while we mourn we must continue living.

It might be nice if the crowd at Spartan Stadium lets the players know that they are now ready to go on too.

What If A Student...

Should Olin Health Center have a night doctor on duty?

Is it unreasonable to expect that a health center which services a community of nearly 27,000 will provide students with this night emergency care?

The college community is a unique one, with the majority of residents ranging in age from 18 to 25. This is the very age group that tends to be most accident-prone, and, therefore, most apt to need emergency care.

Under the present policy, a night doctor is always "on call." This leaves the door wide open. What does "on call" mean? Does it mean that the doctor is waiting for calls at his home, a few minutes from campus? Does it mean that the doctor is asleep in his home several miles and many minutes from Olin?

At present if a night student emergency case is picked up by the campus police, they must make the first aid decision--should the student be rushed straight to Sparrow Hospital or can the student wait for a doctor to be called into Olin.

If the case is taken to Olin, the nurse on duty must decide if the patient needs immediate treatment or if the case warrants calling a doctor.

University officials feel finances prevent Olin from having a night doctor. However, the University operates on a budget of more than $60 million a year. It would seem that a few thousand dollars might be found somewhere to provide the students with better emergency care.

If the situation is bad now--what will it be in the future when our enrollments reach the predicted 35,000?

Any change takes time to be implemented. Why not start now?

Can The Smell Be Leaving?

The students living in the Brody Group endured it, so did passers-by.

But at last hope has arrived; there are definite plans to build a new sewage plant on the Red Cedar. Completion is set for 1965.

To say that construction of such a plant is long overdue just doesn't do justice to the disgusting problem which has lingered for so long.

Surely those skilled planners and budget adjusters responsible for this long-awaited action never had a real appreciation of the situation: Could they ever have walked through the Brody Group on an evening when the air hung close and heavy?

President Hannah claimed the project had moved at a snail's pace.

Indeed it has. The snail took so long in coming, it's a wonder he wasn't overcome.

From Texas To The White House

Johnson Story: Never Quit Running

This is the second in a series spotlighting the new President.

By RELMAN MORIN Associated Press Writer

Washington-Sunshine tinged the tops of the pecan and sycamore trees, swept across the town of Stonewall, Tex., and glowed in the room where Sam Ealey Johnson, Jr. was shaking his son's foot.

"Get up, Lyndon," he said. Everybody in town's got a two-hour head start on you."

Lyndon Baines Johnson began running. He has never stopped. Today, he is President of the United States.

But the greatest race of Johnson's life lies ahead of him. In less than a year, another Presidential election campaign will be under way. To be serving by reason of tragedy is one thing. But to be elected President is the supreme goal of any America politician.

And Johnson is the ultimate politician.

Johnson was born on a ranch near Stonewall, Aug. 27, 1908. On that day, so the story goes, his grandfather said, "He'll be a U.S. Senator some day."

True or not, only a few years were to elapse before Johnson was on his way.

He had a political background. His grandfather and his father both served in the Texas Declaration of Independence.

"I took 40 courses and got 35 A's," he says of his days at Southwest Texas State Teachers College.

To help pay his expenses, he worked as a janitor. Having enrolled in a public speaking course, he practiced speaking while sweeping out the classrooms. He graduated in 1930.

Johnson's first big political move came in 1937. After the death of Rep. James Buchanan, Johnson ran for his seat.

He waged a shrewd, boldly-conceived campaign which was fortuitous for two reasons--it won, and it brought him to the attention of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The other candidates concentrated their fire on him. He got the spotlight, all right, and won. A Texan elected on a New Deal platform!

Roosevelt, who was fishing off Corpus Christi at the time, was delighted. He invited Johnson to ride to Washington on the Presidential train.

He also arranged to have Johnson seated on the important Naval Affairs Committee--a rare thing for a freshman Congressman--and brought him to the White House for Sunday breakfasts.

In short, Johnson was close to the throne from the start of his political life.

Johnson's first try for the Senate, in 1941, failed. Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel beat him by 1,311 votes. Johnson went back to the House.

Then came Pearl Harbor.

Two days later, Johnson, a Naval Reserve Officer, obtained leave from the House and went away to war. He served on a three-man commission inspecting conditions in the Southwest Pacific, and rode on some bombing missions. Gen Douglas MacArthur decorated him with the silver star. In mid-1942, Roosevelt ordered him back to the House.

His victorious 1948 campaign for the Senate is notable in several respects. He campaigned by helicopter. And he defeated Gov. Coke Stevenson by 87 votes out of nearly a million cast.

For a time, thereafter, he was known in Washington as "Landslide Lyndon."

But his natural talent for getting along in the Senate, and getting things done, soon asserted itself. He was elected Democratic Whip in 1951 and Democratic leader in 1953. At 44, he was the youngest floor leader in history.

Johnson once said he had no Presidential ambitions. "I'm conscious of my limitations," he said. "I think it's fair to say nobody but my mama ever thought I'd get as far as I have."

Letters To The Editor

Tragedy Warrants Game Cancellation

To the Editor:

I have just read, in shock and initial disbelief, your lead editorial concerning Saturday's football game.

Having late last night returned from President Kennedy's funeral, I am saddened to see you still haggling over the unfortunate consequences of yet another University administrative blunder; but worse, readers of your paper may assume that you actually reflect prevalent feelings (or rather, the absence thereof) among students at this institution.

I fought to have the game postponed Saturday, and would have resigned from this University had it been held.

A national day of mourning should not have to be proclaimed; it should be the spontaneous reaction to a disaster. It should cause us not to want to play games; do we have to be told when and when not to mourn? I just refuse to believe that the majority of this University's students would have wanted to wave flags and throw toilet rolls last Saturday, whatever was at stake.

As for your question, "What should we have done?" we, as a great University, should have taken the lead. Many of our students had news come through, all such activities should have been suspended. The soccer game should have been interrupted.

We should have been the first, not the last, to show our respect. Initially we were told that there would be no other date upon which to play that football game; then, it turns out, there is one after all.

But say that there had been no other date, "What should we have done?" True, we would have deprived Illinois of that Rose Bowl chance. Perhaps we should have 1) not played; 2) received the bowl bid; 3) declined in favor of Illinois. I am sure Illinois would have taken appropriate action. But in view of what we are all deprived of in the years to come, can playing games be all that important?

I refuse to believe that the thinking students here feel otherwise, and I protest another series of incredible failures at the highest University levels.

Harm J. deBliz Associate Professor, Geography

Loss Unfortunate

To the Editor:

I find that I must disagree with parts of your editorial in Tuesday's paper and agree with other parts of it.

Certainly, we should not have been forced to postpone the Illinois game. Rather we should have been the first university in the nation to do so voluntarily.

You state, "... the national day of mourning was Monday, not Saturday." This is true, but it does not mean that we should be cheering and happy on the day after the assassination of the President.

I acknowledge the fact that many students will not be able to see the game because of the postponement. This is unfortunate, but it is not nearly as unfortunate as the fact that Mrs. Kennedy has lost her husband and we have lost our nation's leader.

Dan Katz

Great Relief

To the Editor:

It was with great relief that we learned Saturday morning of the cancellation of our football game. Yet, the fact that there was ever any question of it is unbelievably shocking. It appears that it took public indignation to bring about the cancellation of two football games involving Michigan institutions of higher education.

As students and then as alumni of MSU we have held the leaders of this institution in great respect. Unfortunately, we have been forced to do some re-evaluating. The highest honor that an American citizen can obtain is that of the Presidency of the United States.

We have thought that Americans respect and honor the dignity of this office. Yet, disregarding the request of the Governor of the State of Michigan and common decency, the "proper officials" decided that a football game was more important than affording President Kennedy the final respect we could.

That the President advocated physical fitness has become a convenient rationalization for those who gave the game the green light. A phone call Friday evening to a member of the Board of Trustees brought the reply that Yale and Harvard were cancelling their games because one was "his school." We wonder -- are we not Americans, too?

Although we are relieved at the subsequent cancellation we are very much appalled and ashamed to be associated with a University where the smell of roses is more important than morality.

Leonard and Joy Efron 1547-K Spartan Village

Minority

To the Editor:

The President is dead! This is a statement that has been uttered by nearly every citizen of our country and by countless others throughout the world.

But how did we, the students of Michigan State University, react? In general I believe that the majority of the student body was as appalled and dumbfounded as the rest of the world.

However, this particular reaction was expressed by the majority of the students instead of all the students. How did the remaining minority respond?

One student said, "They can't cancel the game just because the President was shot. I've got a big date!" Another student said, "All of this mourning is ridiculous. I did all of my mourning yesterday! After all, when a bum on the street gets shot, that's an assassination too. Why such a big fuss just because it is the President?"

In addition to these comments, a resident advisor here in Armstrong Hall mentioned that he noticed an initial response of sympathy from the men; but that soon changed to bitterness when the game was postponed.

I fully realize that these feelings are a minority action. But this is a minority of great numbers rather than a mere handful.

Lawrence Murray

Sensitivity

To the Editor:

Sadly, the list of administrative and athletic officials who have been censured for their delay in calling off Saturday's games must be lengthened by the addition of the State News and the AUSG President, who wish the game had been played.

I hope the inactivity which gripped the nation was imposed by its grief and was not just perfunctory, as stated in Tuesday's editorial.

I am quite sure that the competitiveness and spirit necessary for this game would have been much more perfunctory, at least to the players and spectators who are sensitive to the inappropriateness of college games just 24 hours after such a national tragedy.

Donald E. Dickson

Day To Mourn

letter to the Editor:

I take strong issue with your editorial decrying the postponement of Saturday's game.

You say, "the national day of mourning was Monday, not Saturday." I say, "What a disgustingly shallow concept of the nature of mourning!" Is anyone so mechanically constructed that he can flippantly say, "On Monday I shall mourn, but today I will cheer?" Of course not. Grief is an attitude of mind which cannot be perfunctorily clicked on and off in a time sequence scheduled according to a legalistic proclamation.

Those that grieved our great President's death grieved from the moment they heard the horrifying news. Those that were not mourning on Saturday could hardly begin to mourn Monday.

Only those who could not grasp the tragedy or those that know not the meaning of respect could have cheered at a football game in the circumstance we have all faced.

Our Leader

To the Editor:

OUR LEADER

He was brave -- With a spirit of courage And a small PT boat He helped us win a World War, But he died without a fight.

He was eloquent -- His speech showed great wisdom With confidence In every phrase, But he died without a word.

He was happy -- The glad spirit was glowing In his face, But he died without a smile.

He was loving -- For God, his country, And his family He devoted his life, And he died with love.

Students Sign Mr. Kennedy's Memorial Book In Union

Campus Sympathy To Fill Books For Mrs. Kennedy

Three books have been placed on the main floor of the Union to be signed by students and faculty in memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

When the books are filled they will be sent to the White House, said Pat McCollough, Young Democrats president.

There is a portrait of President Kennedy and flowers with the books, across from the main desk. A message of sympathy has been written in the books; it reads:

"We cannot forget to ask not what our country can do for us but what we can do for our country. Mrs. John F. Kennedy, It is far beyond us to imagine the magnitude of your loss. However, it is not a grief which you bear alone. There was never a President who so captured the hearts and minds of the youth of this country. Now that he is gone, many of us feel as though we have lost someone near and dear to us. But then there are things he has left us; his courage, his ideals, and his inspired ideas. These will live with us always."

'Giovanni' A Success

By LEON WHEELER
State News Reviewer

John Reardon, singing the part of Don Giovanni, led the New York City Opera Company through a highly successful performance of Mozart's opera, "Don Giovanni."

but Giovanni refuses and is driven down to the fires of Hell. Anna, Elvira, Masetto, Zerlina and Ottavio appear seeking vengeance, only to be told by Leporello of the supernatural punishment of the Don. The principals step forward to remind the audience that "virtue triumphs in the end."

The opera tells the story of the female conquests of the Spanish lover Don Giovanni, who barely escapes one revenge-bent pursuer before setting out on his next conquest.

Don Giovanni pursues Donna Anna, Donna Elvira, Zerlina and Donna Elvira's maid. He kills Donna Anna's father, the commandant, in the opening scene as he tries to protect his daughter's soiled honor.

With but one exception the principal singers possessed fine voices which carried extremely well in the "barn." Males voices were of the first order. McDonald's voice began to show strain in the aria "Il mio tesoro intanto," in Act II, but he more than made it through the aria and went on to end the performance well.

The idea originated with the Young Democrats Club, McCollough said, but it is a message from all of the University.

After many escapes from would-be killers, Don Giovanni dies in the final act:

Miss Endich, as Donna Elvira, replaced scheduled soprano at the last moment. She did a creditable job but on the whole she gave the weakest performance. Her middle voice was strong but her head and lower ranges were fairly weak.

2,700 Expected To Stay In Dorms During Holiday

The campus, usually quiet on holidays, will brim with life Thursday as students postpone their Thanksgiving dinners to remain in East Lansing for the MSU-Illinois Big Ten football championship game.

Dormitories will stay open to accommodate nearly 2,700 students staying for the game. Many more off-campus students are expected to stay in town for the game.

1,000 women are expected to stay in their residence halls in order to attend the game. Men will be able to use their rooms the entire weekend if they wish. Arrangements have been made to accommodate women in specific dormitories.

continued to observe the feast with Sabbath reverence.

Lincoln's issuance of the Thanksgiving proclamation, Oct. 3, 1863, came as a result of agitation by Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, editor of Godey's Lady's Book. For years she bombarded the public with editorials and governors and Presidents with letters.

For most Americans, however, the Pilgrim fathers' celebration is the forerunner of Thanksgiving Day.

The date of Governor Bradford's appointed Thanksgiving Day is not known.

Breakfast, lunch and dinner will be provided for dormitory residents. Not all the cafeterias will be open. Meals for dormitory complexes will be served in one residence hall. Lists of cafeterias open will be published in the residence halls.

Singh also said there may be more foreign policy change if Johnson were to win his party's presidential nomination and be re-elected.

"Until then, I do not believe there will be any radical policy changes," Singh said.

Harriers Place Fifth In NCAA Title Run

Zwolak, San Jose Winners

By LARRY MOGG
State News Sports Writer

San Jose State's package of harrier dynamite exploded here Tuesday and when the fireworks were over the aroused Spartans stalked off with their second successive NCAA crown.

The Spartans edged out West Coast rival Oregon 53-68 to command a talented cross country field in the 25th running of the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship at Michigan State.

Villanova ace Vic Zwolak wheeled across the finish line first to snatch the individual title with a clocking of 19:35 on the grueling four mile Forrest Aker course.

Coach Fran Dittreich's hopeful MSU harriers duplicated their fifth place spot of last year behind the fine tenth place finish of Dick Sharkey. Point total for State was 175.

San Jose State garnered three high ranking positions in the top ten finishers to help the West Coast maintain a three year stranglehold on the NCAA team title. Two years ago Oregon State squeezed by San Jose State to grab top billing. The Spartans are the first team to put a NCAA championship back-to-back, since another Spartan squad, Michigan State, did so in 1958 and 1959.

Under Coach Dean Miller's reins the West Coast Spartan's have hurdled to the top of the nations cross country ranks in a time of three years. Since SJS entered cross country competition three years ago, they have been almost unbeatable. Except for their close runner-up finish in the NCAA meet in 1961, the Spartan's overall record is spotless.

The top ten teams in order were: San Jose State, first with 53 points, Oregon, second with 68, Notre Dame, third with 128, Kansas, fourth with 130, MSU, fifth with 175, Ohio and Houston tied for sixth place with 192, Miami of Ohio 214 in eighth place, Villanova ninth with 236, and Western Michigan tenth with a point total of 245.

Despite the top ten flurry of SJS, the West Coasters had to hang on to best Oregon. The Web-foot's fifth man finished nine places up on the Spartan's number five man, but the high flying San Jose State crew grabbed off several important high spots to put away the victory.

The champions' first finisher was Jeff Fishback, who notched third place. Veterans Danny Murphy and Ben Tucker scaled the top ten also with fifth and eighth place efforts respectively. The other Spartans to gain places were Herman Gurule (18th) and Richard Fernandez (40th). Murphy and Fernandez were both high school proteges of SJS' present coach, Dean Miller.

Coach Miller credited his squad with "a great performance," saying "they ran even better than last year, mainly because of a tougher, more talented field."

Michigan State's harriers didn't have enough big guns to crack the top two-some, but they still gave a good showing of themselves before the home crowd. Sharkey polished off an exceptional sophomore campaign in grand style by registering a timing of 20:07.6, less than a second behind SJS eighth place finisher Tucker.

Jan Bowen was State's second placer, finishing in the 32nd position. Soph Paul McCollam finished 48th as State's third finisher. Lettermen Ron Berby and Mike Kaines rounded out the Spartan five placers.

Zwolak, who just last week captured first place in the IC4A tourney, came from back in the field to take the lead for good at the second mile turn. The hard running Wildcat staved off a stretch drive by unheralded Kansas State Teacher harrier, John Camien, to win by ten yards.

The following top fifteen finishers all will receive medals. 1. Vic Zwolak, Villanova 2. John Camien, Kansas State Teachers College 3. Jeff Fishback, San Jose State 4. Geoff Walker, Houston 5. Dan Murphy, San Jose State 6. Douglas Brown, Montana State 7. Rich Schramm, Miami of Ohio 8. Ben Tucker, San Jose State 9. Art Scott, Idaho State 10. Dick Sharkey, Michigan State 11. Clayton Steinke, San Jose State 12. Walt Hewlett, Harvard 13. Bill Clark, Notre Dame 14. Ken Moore, Oregon 15. Dave Wighton, Colorado.

Lots Of Game Seats Available

There are lots of seats available for the Thanksgiving Day football contest between State and Illinois.

Ticket Manager Bill Beardsley said he expects about 70,000 to attend tomorrow's game, barring bad weather. "We'll have plenty of seats on sale all day today at Jenison Fieldhouse and Thursday at the Stadium before the game," Beardsley added.

Beardsley also said that the refund picture was "pretty satisfactory", although admitted that it is really too early to tell just how many tickets were sent in for refunds.

The refund period at Jenison ended yesterday, but refunds still can be secured by mail if the envelope bearing the tickets was postmarked by midnight last night.

About 23,000 students originally picked up their seats during last week's ticket coupon redemption period. It is not known, however, how many will actually attend the game, because of the change of date from last Saturday.

A sellout had been announced prior to the original game time on Nov. 23, but with the postponement the crowd will be smaller. Many people did buy tickets for the game this week, but one university source commented that the refunds slightly outran the new sales.

Busy Jenison Window

Holiday Opener For Hockey Team

State's hockey squad will open its 1963-64 season this week against a pair of Eastern powers on a Thanksgiving holiday swing into New York State.

The Spartans are due to play St. Lawrence at Canton, N.Y. on Thursday and again on Saturday. Sandwiched in between is a Friday clash with 1962 NCAA semi-finalist Clarkson at Potsdam, N.Y.

The squad of 16 Coach Amo Bessone has assembled is one which has undergone heavy rebuilding from last year when the record over-all was 11-12 and in Western Collegiate Hockey Association play was 6-10 for fifth place.

Gone are the first six ranking scorers including all of the first forward line as well as All-America goalie John Chandik.

"We are probably the least experienced team in our league," said Bessone. "But early practice has been encouraging. We have a hustling and hard-working squad capable of some good things," he added.

Eleven lettermen are on hand for the new season, with the defensive corps the strongest. Veteran defencemen Carl Lackey, Jack Ford, Jim Jacobson and Nick Musat will be back in action.

Most of the offensive punch likely will ride with the first forward line composed of wings Tony Elliot and Rich Hargreaves and center Mac Orme. Backing this trio is the No. 2 unit of wings Jim Lawrence and Lyle Miller and center Gary Goble.

Tending the nets will be Harry Woolf, who operated behind Chandik the last two years.

Brody, Owen To Feed Band

Off-campus members of the Michigan State Marching band will have their meals served in Brody Hall on Thanksgiving Day. Breakfast will be served at 8 a.m., lunch at 11 a.m. and dinner at 5 p.m.

Out-of-state members staying on campus over the weekend will be served meals at the Owen Graduate Center cafeteria. There will be band rehearsal at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving Day.

Jury Indicts Ruby In Oswald Slaying

DALLAS, TEX., (AP)—Jack Ruby was indicted Tuesday for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy. A state grand jury handed down charges that could send him to the electric chair.

Ruby, stocky 52-year-old owner of a Dallas night club, shot Oswald during a jail transfer Sunday, just 48 hours after a sniper killed the President during a gala motorcade through downtown Dallas.

Because Ruby committed the homicide in full view of more than 200 persons--and also of thousands of American television viewers--the only point of importance in the indictment was the degree of the crime charged.

It was specified as murder with malice, punishable upon conviction by death. Trial was set tentatively for Dec. 9.

Ruby is expected to plead temporary insanity. The only motive seriously suggested thus far is that Ruby, distraught over the President's assassination, took it upon himself to mete out vengeance.

Tom Howard, Ruby's attorney, visited him at the county jail after the indictment and told newsmen:

"He was much more calm than he was yesterday. He has had a shave and a bath. He was dressed in the county jail coveralls, with the letters 'C.J.' on the back...he talked in more normal tones but he is still an excitable person when he talks normally."

Speaking of Ruby's concern over the Kennedy assassination, Howard went on:

"On one occasion he mentioned seeing the picture of Jackie (Mrs. John F. Kennedy) with blood on her dress. Tears came into his eyes. Ruby showed tremendous concern for the Kennedys."

Circle Players To Do 'Alchemist'

"The Alchemist," a comic satire on two shysters by Ben Johnson, will be presented by the Community Circle Players, 8:30 p.m., Friday, Saturday and Dec. 5 through 7 at the Circle Playhouse in Lansing.

John Hurd, assistant instructor in speech, rewrote some of the dated script and directed the production.

MSU performers include Ron Byrne, East Lansing freshman, Carroll Hawkins, professor of political science, and Ginger Vary, Okemos freshman.

Student tickets may be reserved at half price by calling IV 5-8040 after 7 p.m.

1964-65. The University is requesting an $8,232,906 increase over last year. The University of Michigan is requesting $9,350,000 more.

Past statements made by President John A. Hannah, away on a 30-day tour of educational institutions around the globe, have been in agreement with the council resolution.

Secretary Breslin indicated Tuesday that MSU's declining state aid per student is reaching the crucial point.

In 1957 MSU received $1,059 per student, but in 1963 received $876 per student, he said. During these years MSU has enrolled about 14 per cent of all students enrolled in Michigan's public and private colleges.

"Since 1957 undergraduate enrollments have risen 40 per cent and graduate enrollments 90 per cent, but our state aid has only increased 20 per cent for each student."

"If MSU is to maintain its present programs and its faculty pay scale, it must have a higher base support appropriation from the legislature."

Breslin said the per credit hour appropriation was $25.57 in 1957 and has declined to $21.25 for this year.

Memorial

symbol of the ideals to be pursued by peoples all over the world.

Bob Kerr, AUSG president, and Joylyne Cappo, National Students Association Campus Coordinator, have joined Nguyen in his appeal to the students and faculty.

"One idea that has been presented is the renaming of the International Center, now under construction, to the John F. Kennedy International Center. A plaque or bust could then be placed just outside, on, or within the building commemorating him.

"It is very important that we and future students remember the sacrifice and international importance of Kennedy," Nguyen said.

Nguyen suggested that ideas for the memorial be submitted by students and that a committee of students and faculty members chose from them the design for the monument.

ROTC Major

Retires Saturday

Maj. Morris F. Tague, director of leadership training, was honored by the Department of Air Science Tuesday at a Kellogg Center luncheon.

Maj. Tague will retire Saturday after a career that includes service in the Arkansas and Missouri National Guards, the Royal Canadian Air Force and the United States Air Force.

He joined MSU's Air Force ROTC staff in 1960. He will retire to his farm in Rome, N.Y.

Grad Tutors Rock-Roll Sensation

A 1961 MSU graduate is a teacher with the world for his classroom and a 13-year-old rock 'n roll star as his only student.

Ted Hull, 26, of Okemos, is a traveling tutor for "Little Stevie" Wonder, whose recording "Fingertips" has sold over a million copies.

Stevie, a student at the Michigan School for the Blind in Lansing, and Hull share a common bond. The boy has been blind since birth and Hull is partially-sighted.

Next week the pair will leave for a two-week engagement in Paris.

World travel is not new for Hull, as he has visited more than 20 countries during two summers.

Hull, who lists music as a hobby, formed a trio when at MSU and gained a contract as a song writer.

But the teacher takes lessons from his pupil in the music department. Stevie plays several musical instruments and specializes in pounding out hits on the piano.

Emmons Hall Asks Toys For Children

Emmons Hall needs toys and dolls for its Christmas party for underprivileged children in the Lansing and East Lansing area.

Any old toys and dolls which are still in good condition may be left at the main desk in Emmons.

READYING THE REPAST -- Tony Fortino, head cook at Shaw Hall, prepares a 15-pound turkey won by West Shaw Hall in the IM Turkey Trot several weeks ago. "It tasted great," said West Shaw Athletic Chairman Jim Hardee.

Turkey Tradition May Remain In East Shaw

Turkey mascots may become a tradition in East Shaw Hall, if the current activities of East Shaw's precinct nine are any indication.

Mike Ponitti, Ispeming freshman, started the whole thing when he came back from the I.M. Turkey Trot with a turkey. He placed second in the mile-long marathon. The precinct decided to make the bird a mascot.

The mascot made his first appearance at the M.S.U.-Notre Dame football game, as he and his trainers bounced around the stadium during halftime festivities.

"Since then, we have added two more turkeys to our growing collection," said Steve Hayscar, Plymouth junior.

"Shortly after the Notre Dame game, we were all sitting in my room discussing the fate of our new mascot when we got a phone call from the head advisor, Mr. Tombaugh," Hayscar said.

"He told us that our bird was loose in McDonel Hall grill and that we had better get right over there and get him."

"After we caught the bird, we discovered that ours had never escaped, so we had two to protect instead of one."

Hayscar said that several days after that, another turkey was apprehended in the halls of East Shaw and once again a turkey check revealed that the boys of precinct nine were one turkey richer.

Although the University has ordered the turkey lovers to move their mascots off campus, Hayscar has said that they will definitely not move them.

"Nothing is going to happen to those birds," Hayscar said. "They're pretty tame now. When we got them, they were wild and afraid, but now they know that they are safe and they look to us for protection."

Hayscar said that there have been several attempts to steal them, but all have failed.

The turkeys are moved every two to three days to foil theft attempts.

So far the men of precinct nine have overcome all the obstacles to maintaining their birds, but Hayscar admits that Christmas vacation will present a problem.

"You just can't come home with a live turkey under your arm, and say 'Mom, this is my friend, he's staying with me during Christmas.'"

"One thing is for sure," Hayscar said. "If the Spartans go to Pasadena, the problem will be over. Our birds will have a sunshiny New Year's Day."

Lookin' Back

November 23, 1933

Plans are being made by Prof. P. Herbert of the forestry department for the employment of men from the newly organized civilian works administration on the college campus and college owned experiment stations throughout the state. Crews of 25 to 30 men will be employed in the campus woodlots, at a potato station at Lake City, and at timber tracts at Agusuta and Bath. The CWA has been created by the recent release of federal funds.

November 27, 1943

Michigan State's third annual Mardi Gras will highlight this week's social calendar tonight from 9 to 12 in College auditorium.

November 24, 1953

Excavation for the new library was begun as planned Monday, with construction set to be completed by 1955.

November 26, 1962

The Michigan Coordinating Council on Higher Education meets Tuesday to consider an outside speaker policy for all state supported colleges and universities in Michigan.

Treasury Issues New $1 Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new type of dollar bill was put into circulation Tuesday.

The Treasury announced that 50 million new $1 Federal Reserve notes have been released through the 12 Federal Reserve Banks and their 24 branches.

The notes are similar to silver certificates, which are gradually being withdrawn from circulation. The major difference is that the new bill will not contain any reference to silver.

The 1.8 billion silver certificates will gradually be replaced as they wear out and the silver that is freed will be sent to the U.S. mints at Philadelphia and Denver.
