Pledge Of Civil Rights Action In January Slows Petition

WASHINGTON (AP)—A promise by Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of the House Rules Committee for action on the Civil Rights Bill in January slowed down Thursday a drive to force action on the legislation this month.

Democratic leaders said, however, they still plan to push a discharge petition that would take the bill away from the committee.

Smith, whose refusal to schedule hearings on a bill he strongly opposed led to launching of the petition plan by Democratic leaders, issued a statement saying he would hold hearings "reasonably soon in January after the Congress reconvenes."

The statement was widely applauded on Capitol Hill, particularly by Republicans, who had opposed the discharge petition as disruptive of orderly legislative procedures.

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said Smith's action means "we will have orderly consideration of a highly controversial, complex matter." He predicted the bill would pass the House before the end of January.

Halleck said he made a similar prediction at a White House breakfast Thursday with President Johnson, who has urged Congress to pass the bill with all possible speed but set no target date.

"I'm not going to say he wouldn't like to have the bill by the end of this year," Halleck told newsmen, "but one thing about President Johnson, he's a realist, and I'd have to say he realizes this is the best that can be done."

Legislators Hint Fee Hike

MSU students may be paying more for their education next year.

"There probably will be an increase in tuition" said Sen. Frank J. Beadle, R-St. Clair, and chairman of the senate appropriations committee.

"The costs of education are increasing and those costs should be borne in larger part by the people who are benefiting from this education, the students," Beadle said.

Beadle emphasized that there has been no official announcement of increased tuition yet.

There will be no figures available until January when the appropriations committee gets to work on funds for state-supported universities, he said.

The appropriations committee doesn't determine the percentage increase to students. It can, however, appropriate a certain amount of money for state-supported schools and then designate a certain percentage to be paid in student fees.

For example, the legislature could appropriate $10 million dollars for MSU and designate that $2 million of that sum be paid in student fees, Beadle said.

Representative Raymond C. Wurzel, R-St. Clair and chairman of the House Education Committee said that his committee will not consider appropriations to state-supported schools until the regular session of the legislature convenes in January.

MSU students paid an estimated $3,450,070 in tuitions for fall term 1963. $1,979,488 was paid by Michigan students and $1,470,582 by out-of-state students.

The total fee estimate for the year, beginning with fall term is $8,750,500.

Diploma Procedure Explained

Herman L. King, assistant provost, announced formal plans for fall term commencement to be held Friday at 8 p.m.

Students receiving bachelors and masters degrees should meet in the basement lobby of the Auditorium at 7:40 p.m. Friday, he said. Those receiving doctorate and advanced graduate study degrees should meet in 116 Auditorium.

The procession will begin promptly at 8 p.m., he added. There will be no tickets issued for this commencement because seating capacity is expected to be adequate.

More than 1,200 students will be receiving degrees. Some 762 will receive bachelors degrees, 394 masters degrees and ninety doctors degrees. Eight additional students will be granted diplomas for advanced graduate studies.

Durward B. Varner, chancellor of Oakland University will address the graduates. Oakland is MSU's affiliate near Pontiac.

Today's 'News' Last Of Term

This issue of the Michigan State News marks the end of publication for fall term. The State News will resume publishing on the first day of classes winter term, Jan. 9.

Members of the editorial and business staff of the paper wish to extend heartiest seasons greetings to students and faculty, and the best of luck on final exams.

Feurig Warns Of Risks Run By Stimulant Users

By HUGH LEACH
State News Staff Writer

Students who use artificial stimulants to stay awake to study for finals may actually be harming themselves.

Dr. James S. Feurig, health service director, warned that these "stay awake" pills can harm the individual, both scholastically and physically.

He said use of the pills can cause a student to "think faster than he can write." This destroys continuity in the writing.

Usually a "flight of ideas" can be detected, Feurig said. This is especially evident in essay examinations. The student begins writing on one idea, then quickly switches to another. This is because his thought process becomes disoriented.

Several brands of commercial stimulants are available, but all work in about the same way.

One of the biggest dangers from the pills, Feurig said, is that many students take overdoses. A student may take the recommended dosage and not feel an immediate effect. He may then take more until he gets a noticeable reaction.

Other students go under the

JFK Death Probe Group To Ask Subpoena Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—The presidential commission probing the assassination of President John F. Kennedy decided Thursday to ask Congress for power to subpoena witnesses and records bearing on the tragedy in Dallas.

Congress is expected to vote the power quickly. This raised the possibility that the commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren may hold hearings, public or closed, to make sure it is armed with every scrap of information available.

But Warren, announcing the decision after a 2 1/2-hour initial meeting behind guarded doors, told reporters no conclusions were reached on whether to hold hearings or on other matters. He called a second session today.

"The commission has a very sad and very solemn duty to perform, but one that is of great importance to the country," the Chief Justice said.

"We are deliberating somewhat in the dark," he added, "because we have no reports as yet from any agency of the government."

"The information we have now is little more than what we have learned through the news media."

The FBI's report on the case, embracing findings of a half-dozen other federal agencies, is not yet complete, Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach attended Thursday's meeting, but it was learned later that he gave no indication when the FBI study will be available.

President Johnson is expected to forward the report to Warren as soon as it reaches the White House, Government sources said.

Registration Schedule Announced

Registrar Horace C. King released today the winter term registration schedule. Registration runs Jan. 6 through 8.

Seniors and graduate students who registered early will not have to be back until the first day of classes, Jan. 9.

The schedule for Monday, Jan. 6 is: LA through MORO, 9:30 to 11:45 a.m. Honors students register from 1 to 2. MORP through ROS will register from 2 until 4:30.

Tuesday's schedule is: ROT through WID, 8 to 11:45 a.m. WIE through ZZ registers from 1 to 1:30. AA through CROF registers from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Wednesday, CROG through HOLC registers from 8 to 11:45 a.m. Short Course students register from 1 to 1:15 p.m. HOLD through KZ registers from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. Late registration is 3:30 to 4 p.m.

The complete schedule will be sent out along with fall term grades.

Faculty Denied Housing

Citizens Hear Six Cases

Evidence of racial discrimination by real estate agents in both rental and sale properties was reported to the East Lansing Human Relations Commission Wednesday evening.

Six cases involving Negroes who sought to obtain housing in East Lansing through brokers and realtors were cited by Robert L. Green, instructor of education, and member of the commission.

Prospective buyers or lessees were informed by real estate agents that no houses were available, according to Green. This occurred after telephone contact had indicated numerous listings, he said.

A faculty member said two real estate brokers told him of an unwritten agreement barring the sale or rental of houses in certain areas of East Lansing to persons of minority groups, Green said.

Describing discriminatory practices experienced personally, he related the highlights of a telephone conversation with a representative of a "prominent East Lansing real estate firm."

Green told of being encouraged to come down immediately to discuss purchase from a number of possible house listings.

Upon his arrival the real estate woman said she must leave at once, he said.

"Apparently her mother had died within the five minutes or so it took me to get to the office," Green commented.

Of the six Negroes in question, five are willing to come before the commission personally, he said. The names of those involved were withheld at the meeting.

Jack Down, 2510 Haslett Road, spoke to the commission about a telephone threat he said he had received after placing an ad in the State News to sell a house "to anyone."

He said his wife first answered the phone and was abusively spoken to by a "well-known Lansing real estate agent."

Upon returning the call, Down said he was threatened with

Millionth Text 15th Century Manuscript

The library collection has passed the million mark with the acquisition of a rare 15th century illuminated manuscript.

The one-millionth volume is a "Book of Hours" produced in France about the year 1440, before the development of the printing press.

It is an illustrated handmade book of religious devotions, lavishly ornamented with gold illuminated initial letters and borders.

Its Latin title reads "Horae Beatae Mariae Virginis."

The rare manuscript, valued at several thousand dollars, was presented by the Friends of the

Poll Shows Strong Approval Of Early Registration Process

Students going through early registration, Nov. 20 and 21, indicated in overwhelming numbers that they liked the innovation.

It was the first time that early registration had been tried on seniors. Graduate students and freshmen were registered early for fall term this summer.

The Senior Council in conjunction with the registrar's office polled students going through early registration.

Of the 2,223 students polled,

2,203 or 99 per cent said they preferred early registration to regular registration at the Men's IM Building. Some 1,524 seniors or 69 per cent and 699 or 31 per cent of the graduate students going through early registration were included in the survey.

About 73 per cent of the students went through the process in 15 to 30 minutes. Three per cent finished in less than 15 minutes and only 3 per cent took 55 minutes or longer.

Ninety-three per cent had no trouble getting class cards for the courses they wanted. Some 95 per cent found it easy to schedule their meetings with academic advisors and 86 per cent had no trouble getting the money to register early.

"About 9 per cent of the students offered criticism of the system," King said. "Their criticism was very constructive and helpful, however."

The registrar said the survey turned out to be more favorable toward early registration than he expected.

Venezuelan Reds Free American

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Red terrorists freed U.S. Col. James K. Chenault unharmed at dawn Thursday belatedly keeping a promise they made when they kidnapped him Nov. 27 to propagandize their faltering fight against Venezuela's government.

"It's a great feeling to be free again," said Chenault, Texas-born, 46-year-old deputy chief of the U.S. military mission in Venezuela.

He was released in a residential district east of the capital's business center. He looked tired, but otherwise was in good condition after 191 hours of imprisonment which he said he was forced to spend in pajamas in a modest home somewhere in Caracas.

Chenault said he was watched constantly by two guards, but "received reasonably good treatment, considering the circumstances."

Foreign Aid Compromise In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House and Senate compromise team has okayed a foreign aid bill authorizing expenditures of three-billion-599-million dollars.

The amount is nearly one-billion dollars less than originally requested by the late President Kennedy. The conference committee agreed to restore the President's power to extend most favored nation trade treatment to Poland and Yugoslavia.

On Acquiring Our Millionth

Is the library best fulfilling its responsibility to the students by spending in the neighborhood of $9,000 to acquire a 15th Century Book of Hours as its millionth volume?

It is increasingly apparent that as enrollment booms and research and independent study by students grows, the library's facilities will be put under further strain.

Already the situation is difficult as the University approaches an enrollment of 30,000 and

Good Sense

The last week of the term may be the time many students remember why they are on campus and begin work on all that reading for the first time, but at least 300 students started earlier in the term and were rewarded for it.

They are the 300 who have been helped by the all-University tutoring service offered by four sophomore honoraries between mid-terms and finals. About 150 members of Green Helmet, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Lambda Delta and Tower Guard took part, under the direction of Joel Heath, president of Omicron Delta Kappa men's service honorary, and Alexander Butler, professor of humanities.

All those connected with this service are to be commended. They have shown intelligence and good sense in directing their energies to such a worthwhile cause.

Congress Delays Loan Bill

A bill lying dormant in the Congressional House Rules Committee is keeping necessary loan funds from college students across the nation.

The National Defense Education Act (NDEA) bill, probably the most popular and most important program for college students, is being delayed because of a feud between the House and Senate.

It is conceivable and probable that the bill will remain in committee for further study through the end of the current Congressional session.

Different versions of the bill have passed in the House and Senate. The House, however, rather than accept the Senate version of compromise on the central issue of the bill, sent its NDEA bill to the Rules Committee yet remains ninth in the Big Ten in the number of volumes in the library. Illinois tops the list with well over three million volumes.

But this is understandable, since for years the library served only as a fine agricultural library. This has changed, and under the direction of Richard E. Chapin, who has said that "we cannot have a great University without a great library," the library service has expanded.

The demands of the future have not been neglected, as we see plans being made to decentralize the library system, thus compensating for the wide dispersal of the student body about an enlarging campus. This would involve a series of branch libraries. The science collections would also be dispersed so as to serve the immediate needs of the various departments.

All this will require a great number of new books. Chapin has said that about 50,000 titles are needed to serve the undergraduates' needs. In addition extra copies of some volumes are always needed to meet the demands of required reading.

These are just some of the problems confronting the library and, in a larger sense, the University. We are heartened by an awareness of the need to meet the inevitable growth of the near future. But it is also in this light that we question the appropriateness of purchasing one fine, old book with illuminated borders and miniature paintings.

for further study.

The Senate-approved three year extension of the NDEA appropriates $35 million annually above the current $90 million budget, with an $800,000 ceiling at any school. The House version has no ceiling on funds for any school.

The real debate is whether or not there should be a ceiling on the amount of money available to a school, an issue on which House leaders evidently do not want to compromise without further study.

House leaders have a good point with which to bargain. For the first time since the act began in 1958, NDEA is out of funds.

The result may be a larger NDEA bill and no ceiling or a much higher ceiling than the Senate suggests.

Letters To The Editor

Bullet Halted Justice

To the Editor: I was very happy to see the State News support a collection for the wife of Lee Harvey Oswald. To support this fund is to support the foundations of American freedom.

At the time to his death, Mr. Oswald was an innocent citizen. He was innocent of killing the Dallas policeman and of killing our beloved President, John F. Kennedy. No matter what amount of evidence had been found against him, he had not been proven guilty.

Oswald had his rights, but was not able to exercise them. He was brutally and maliciously murdered, the same as the policeman and our late President. None of them had a chance to defend himself.

Lee Harvey Oswald may have been guilty in the minds of the nation, and may be proven guilty posthumously, but will this erase the injustice? No. His murder will always be contrary to the American principles of justice.

Can Lee Harvey Oswald's wife and children feel any less grief than Mrs. Tippit, Mrs. Kennedy and their children? I don't think so.

On Lebanon

To the Editor: Twice in your news story "Unrest Plagues Mideast" the wire service asserted that the Baath Party "is legal" or "operates legally" in Lebanon. Please permit me to say that this simply is not true. As a matter of fact, the Baath Party has been struggling very hard to obtain formal recognition by the Lebanese Government, which has been reluctant to grant it for the following important reasons:

1. Lebanon cannot legally sanction the activities of a party seeking to dissolve Lebanese independence in a larger Arab Union.
2. The Lebanese Minister of Interior (Mr. Kamal Jumblatt), who is largely responsible for granting such recognition, is himself the leader of the Progressive Socialist Party, in which the Baath poses an obvious threat.
3. Officially and unofficially, the political sentiment in Lebanon at present is overwhelmingly pro-Nasser.

Block 'S'

To the Editor: Congratulations are in order to all those students who did such a fine job participating in Block "S" this year. For the third year Men's Halls Association and Women's Inter-Residence Council have sponsored the card section that performed during half-time of our home football games.

For each show, more than 100 man-hours of preparation were necessary. It was only through the cooperation of many students that such good quality shows were executed. These people worked behind the scenes and the result of their labors could only be fully appreciated by those who viewed the performances.

Because of the fine support given Block "S" each year, it has been able to improve and attempt new and more spectacular stunts. Already plans are in progress for making next year an even better one for Block "S".

On behalf of MHA and WIC, we thank you for a job well done.

Kiddies' Antics

To the Editor: A month or so ago, a concerned student voiced her alarm at the inconsideration and discourteousness shown by a great many students toward their instructors during the final minutes of class time. I am also alarmed and more than that, plain irritated by books being slammed shut and the general distracting commotion that is inevitably heard three to four minutes before every class is dismissed.

In one of my classes, the instructor, being conscious of the possibility of his going over time, has a student raise his hand five minutes before the hour to alert him of the time. In spite of this, the instructor has to compete with seventy percent of the class shuffling around noisily to get the jump on his or her neighbor for the door.

These are grade school antics and it seems to me college students should have shed them long ago! College students like to be thought of as mature young adults; it should be realized that this type of behavior hardly places us in that category.

Ralph Tromater

In Retrospect

To the Editor: Perhaps after all the constructive criticism our University officials have received regarding their indecision of the course of action to take during the recent tragedy that engulfed our nation, we might now consider the magnitude of such action and the necessary steps involved to halt an operation as large as the University.

Indecision was not a product of mercenary gains nor selfish intent, but the outgrowth of shocked and dismayed officials, individuals like ourselves, who, along with the rest of the people of our country were trying to adapt to the events that were taking place.

I do not believe that Michigan State University was pressured by others setting examples, but like some of us during stress, the University was weighing heavily the consequences of each course we might pursue.

I give my kindest thoughts and great admiration to President Hannah and others for accepting the challenge and making the right decision, which, after all, is the only thing of any importance.

Leoni Leads In Venezuela

The name of a Latin politician with unusual characteristics is arising from the smoke of Venezuela's violence-punctuated presidential election.

The name is that of 58-year-old Dr. Raul Leoni, the government's hand-picked successor to President Romulo Betancourt. Leoni is a stockily-built, almost reticent man who spent much of his life organizing the Democratic Action Party, and then rebuilding it after it was broken up.

Dr. Leoni is known in Caracas as a deliberately undramatic man in manner but a man who is devoted to party-building and who is firmly entrenched in party councils, although heretofore half hidden from public view.

He's not regarded as a fiery public personality like Betancourt by any means, but he's regarded by close friends as a warm solid, sensitive individual in private. He's married and the father of five children.

Leoni was born in Upatu in the Guayana backlands region on April 26th, 1905. He left the back country at the age of 14 and later attended the Central University of Caracas, where he became president of the Student Association.

There's a story about young Leoni's first visit to Caracas that provides some insight into his sensitivities.

At his first carnival, he noticed that crowds of boisterous Venezuelans were parading around and around a low, circular building. Upon closer examination, Leoni found that the building was the rotunda where the dictator of the day--Juan Vicente Gomez--kept his political prisoners.

It was arranged for the carnival crowds to march around the rotunda, singing, shouting and laughing so loudly the prisoners inside would hear them as they exercised their freedom.

Afterward, Dr. Leoni called this "the cruelest thing I could imagine."

The Student Association which Leoni headed up joined young army officers in 1928 in an attempt to overthrow the Gomez dictatorship. The effort failed and the conspirator's fled to Colombia.

During the coup plotting, Leoni worked with several future leaders of Venezuela--Betancourt, included.

In Colombia, Betancourt and Leoni ran a fruit stand for a time and then after Gomez died, they returned to Venezuela only to be thrown out of the country again. But when the Medina regime came to power they were allowed to remain in Caracas.

It was Betancourt and Leoni who then organized a political party which developed into the Democratic Action with Leoni as behind-the-scenes organizer and Betancourt the campaigner.

Dr. Leoni became Minister of Labor after the fall of President Medina's government, but then was forced to flee again when Marcos Perez Jimenez took over in 1948. After that dictator fell, Leoni went back to Caracas and organized the campaign that put Betancourt in the presidency in 1959.

Leoni was at that time elected president of the party, and the way was cleared for his assumption of the job Betancourt is vacating--the presidency of Venezuela.

Sanders, Seidel Seniors Of Week

Sheila Sanders and Jim Seidel, Seniors of the Week, are members of Union Board and will head committees for this year's Water Carnival.

Miss Sanders is presently secretary for Union Board and was last year's director of publicity. She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority and is now rush counselor and Campus Chest representative from her house. She was pledge trainer last year.

An Elementary Education major from Lambertville, Miss Sanders has a 2.5 all university point average. She has worked on the publicity and community project committees for Greek Week in the past. She will be sub-chairman for public relations for the 1964 Water Carnival. She is also a member of SAECA.

A Zoology major from Little Neck, N.Y., Seidel is a member of the student services committee for Union Board. He was a member of the Iuau committee, J-Council, decorations chairman for the J-Hop and acted in the University Theatre Summer Circle productions.

He is now a member of Senior Council, program chairman for the coming Water Carnival and commencement chairman for the class of 1964. He is also a member of Blue Key honorary.

The past three summers Miss Sanders has worked as a waitress in resorts in Toledo, Cape Cod and the Adirondack Mts.

For the last several years Seidel has taught horseback riding and jumping at camps and has participated in horse shows in the East.

After graduation Miss Sanders would like to teach fourth grade in Syracuse, N.Y. while working on her Master degree in Personnel and Guidance at Syracuse University.

Seidel plans to enter medical school after graduation this spring.

36 Seniors Win Gold Bars ROTC Ceremony Today

Thirty-six graduating seniors from Army and Air Force ROTC will receive the gold bars of a second lieutenant in a ceremony this afternoon.

Jack Breslin, secretary of the Board of Trustees, will be the guest speaker at the joint Army-Air Force commissioning program. It is scheduled for 3:00 p.m. in Union Parlor C.

George R. Meyers, associate professor of education and a reserve Air Force chaplain, will conduct the invocation and benediction. Maj. James H. Harris, commandant of Army cadets, will administer the oath to the new officers.

The commissions will be presented by Breslin with the aid of Col. James F. Skells, professor of military science and Col. George E. Davies, professor of air science. On hand to witness the ceremony will be Col. Dorsey Rodney, retired, MSU coordinator of military affairs.

Parents, or close friends, will pin the gold bars on the 36 newly commissioned officers.

The following seniors will receive Army commissions as Distinguished Military Graduates: Michael D. Beres, Barberton, Ohio; Paul F. Bergdolt, Vassar; Ronald E. Fritz, Mt. Clemens; Max A. Hasse, Teaneck, N.Y.; Gary K. Lance, Wyandotte; Gregory W. Mason, Tecumseh; Daryl E. Rolfe, Lansing; Jack F. Schmidt, Granville, Ohio; Clyde E. Walker, Kalamazoo; and Gary R. Wilson, Detroit.

Forrest J. Gibson, receiving an Air Force commission, has been designated a Distinguished Military Graduate.

Other seniors to be commissioned in the Army are:

John S. Alguire, Flint; Darryl E. Apps, Milford; Earl A. Chisa, Almont; Edwin L. Demerly, Owosso; Don R. Hammigan, Hart; Robert C. Held, Rumson, N.J.; Richard L. Howe, Sioux City, Ia.; Robert J. Jacobson, Paynesville; and Charles E. Klatt, Belding.

Also Kenneth L. Larson, Park Ridge, Ill. Jerry M. Mann, Benton Harbor; Terry J. McKane, Lansing; Thomas J. Miller, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Peter R. Morey, Escanaba; Leroy M. Peterson, Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; Jon C. Ritchey, Valley Station, Ky.; Dennis W. Schaefer, Detroit; Ronald G. Shores, Charlotte; and William S. Supernaw, Charlevoix.

Rounding out the Army contingent are William F. Swanson, Ludington; Paul F. Vaupel, Fowlerville; and David W. Weber, Grosse Pointe.

To receive commissions in the Air Force are Wayne A. Goetz, Milwaukee; Thomas W. McKinney, Grand Ledge; and Richard A. Riegel, Detroit.

Saigon Protest Suicide Identified

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A man who burned himself to death Tuesday night near the home of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was identified Thursday as an unemployed, 22-year-old bicycle-taxi driver.

The flaming suicide was the third of its kind in Saigon since last Saturday, but none apparently had political significance.

Esquire's World of Jazz

By THE EDITORS OF ESQUIRE
The most informative, most lavish art book ever assembled on the subject of jazz: a chronicle in words and graphics of this vibrant world from its earliest days in Lulu White's New Orleans bordello, through Dixieland, the Swing Era, Boogie Woogie and Bop, to the academic rebirth of today's cool intellectuals. The text, which is presented as a narrative, is enlivened by observations of some of today's most gifted jazz writers, and by personal recollections of jazz stars. All of this is enhanced by what is perhaps the most stunning gallery of jazz photographs, paintings and sculptures ever reproduced between the covers of a book, incl. 16 color tip-ons. (G&D)

Faith On Campus

Married Students' Dilemma

Trudie Barreras

In recent discussions of faith on campus, one topic seems to have been neglected--faith of the married student.

The married student, however, has bound his entire life with that of at least one other individual.

A very important purpose of marriage is that the individuals involved may "grow together" in a way in which they could never grow alone.

The arrival of children intensifies the duty of the married student to face and answer these important questions--for now he not only has the responsibility of helping a previously formed character to develop further, not give his children a shallow and meaningless view of life and their place in it.

The student without faith or religious affiliation must seriously examine what religion has to offer to make absolutely certain that he is not depriving his family of one of the real necessities of life, more important in the long run than a good roof over their heads and good food in their bellies.

On the other hand, the student who does belong to an established religious congregation has the serious duty of deeply, thoughtfully and prayerfully re-investigating its claims.

If he does come to the conclusion that religious faith and affiliation is important, then he had better sincerely strive to make it a living part of his life, not just a one-hour-a-week-on-Sunday-morning deal.

If, on the other hand, the student's searches lead him to believe that religious faith is not necessary or reasonable, then he had better be able to provide his family with some really workable alternative in order to give care and importance to their lives--and by this I do not mean a good insurance policy or a color TV set--because while a "drifting" student may be charmingly happy-go-lucky and "collegiate," a drifting family is one of the most tragically chaotic bundles of cross-purposes and conflicting interests that ever existed.

Pope Paul To Visit Holy Land

Vatican City, 4--Pope Paul VI will go the Holy Land next month on a pilgrimage dedicated to Christian unity and peace among men.

The Holy Land is Palestine, whose great Christian shrines have been divided between Moslem Jordan and the Jewish state of Israel since the Arab-Israeli war of 1948.

Israel holds Nazareth, where Christ lived and first preached. Within Jordan's 2,125-square-mile segment west of the Jordan River are such religious centers as the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in the walled old city of Jerusalem.

This will be the longest trip any reigning pontiff ever made. It will be the first time any Pope has left Italy since Pius VII went reluctantly to Paris in 1804 to crown Napoleon.

And if Pope Paul goes by air--as he is expected to do--it will be the first papal plane trip.

Pope Paul made his announcement at the close of the second session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council Wednesday.

He did not set any exact date or itinerary, but said he wanted to visit the holy places "where Christ was born, lived, died and ascended to heaven."

His disclosure stirred speculation that he eventually may make even longer trips to the Americas or the far East.

Edgewood Church sponsors film showing of "Lonely are the Brave" tonight at 8 p.m.

The film, selected by a committee composed primarily of university personnel, portrays the struggles and triumphs of modern times.

The Rev. Truman Morrison said that the films chosen for the series are not necessarily "religious" in theme, but "deal with the struggles of man and are more implicitly religious."

Sea Scrolls Unearthed

JERUSALEM--Fragments of two newly-found desert scrolls nearly 2,000 years old are being studied by scholars in Jerusalem.

The discovery, described by Israel's leading archaeologist, Prof. Ygal Yadin, as "sensational," was made during a recent excavation of King Herod's palace on the isolated Masada Cliff of the western shore of the Dead Sea.

The relevant belief in God is not an insult to reason. Those who believe in God have as much reason on their side as those who do not.

The first proof of the existence of God has been quoted often by deists and Unitarians. The creation itself, the existence of the universe, testifies to the existence of God.

Abdul Baha, the son of the Persian prophet, Baha'U'Llah. He says that imperfection is a proof that perfection must exist.

Similarly, the existence of evil, weakness, and sickness prove the existence of goodness, strength, and health.

The third proof also comes from Abdul Baha. "It is certain that the whole contingent world is subject to a law and rule which it can never disobey; even man is forced to submit to death, to sleep and to other conditions--that is to say, man in certain particulars is governed, and necessarily this governed one must have a governor."

Abdul Baha concludes his arguments by saying, "These obvious arguments are adduced for weak souls; but if the inner perception be open, a hundred thousand clear proofs become visible.

When man feels the indwelling spirit, he is in no need of arguments for its existence; but for those who are deprived of the bounty of the spirit, it is necessary to establish external arguments.

Staff To Work Regular Hours

University services for students and public in the East Lansing area will continue to operate during Christmas vacation.

All University business and administrative offices will be open regular hours with the exception of the afternoon of Dec. 24 and Christmas and New Year's Days.

Students cannot borrow money between terms, but the loan office will be open for interviewing throughout the holiday break in classes. Money can be obtained when winter registration begins.

Students can pay loans at the cashier's office in the Administration Building 8:15 a.m.-4:15 p.m. Monday through Friday during vacation.

The Dean of Student's Office remains open to catch up on paper work and plan programs for winter and spring terms.

"This break gives us a chance to catch our breath, review the past term and plan for the coming months," said Dean of Students John A. Fuzak. "We are freed from the immediate student needs which have to be met during classes."

Most Union Building services will be available during vacation. The U.N. Lounge will be open until Dec. 20 because many foreign students remain on campus after finals. The lounge will reopen Jan. 6.

Cafeteria services will be available Dec. 17-Dec. 23, and Jan. 2-6, weekdays, breakfast, lunch and dinner; and Dec. 26-Dec. 31, lunch. The cafeteria will be open weekdays 7:15 a.m.-4 p.m. for snacks because the grill will be closed until Jan. 5.

Athletic facilities will also be open during vacation. The Men's IM will be open 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Thursday 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Fridays, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturdays and 1-6 p.m. Sundays. Friday nights have been set aside for co-recreation.

Universal Bible Day Gets World Comment

Since observance of Universal Bible Sunday falls on this Sunday, "It is a good spiritual exercise to ponder the significance of the Bible," Wilfred Buckelma wrote in the Tuesday issue of the "Lutheran Standard."

book, and it should also be the best read."

Dr. Helmut Thielicke, noted German theologian and preacher now touring the country told an audience his answer to a fundamentalist who insisted upon a "yes" or "no" answer to the question whether there are errors in the Bible.

"My concern for the Bible centers in the fact that it is like a ship that is carrying Christ. Now my friend, what you are doing is running all around that ship trying to learn whether or not there are any leaks."

Kenya Freedom Climaxes Emergence From Terror

Kenya will join the list of free African states next Wednesday, climaxing one of the strangest sagas to come out of that great continent.

Only TEN years ago the nation was racked by the terrible ordeal of Mau Mau terrorism. Then, Jomo Kenyatta was accused of leading the terrorists and was threatened with the death penalty. Today Jomo Kenyatta is the new nation's respected prime minister. Behind the slogan "pull together," he has won support of both blacks and whites.

Certainly his greatest accomplishment to date has been his success in persuading countless European settlers to remain in the land.

He has also managed to stifle inter-tribal rivalry, always a potential problem in the rapid changing of the old Africa.

Kenya possesses great potential. Situated in East Africa, it has an abundance of fine agricultural land.

In a population of 8,676,000 there are over 8,000,000 Africans. This is in comparison to 63,000 Europeans and some Asians and Arabs.

Kenya has one of the highest rates of primary education in Africa. There are 41 teacher training colleges and 10 technical and vocational colleges.

Coffee is Kenya's principle cash crop.

Livestock also plays a significant role in the economy.

Harvard To Build Kennedy Library

BOSTON (AP)—The two brothers of the slain President and the head of Harvard University Thursday opened a fund-raising drive to build a John F. Kennedy Memorial Library that will belong to "all the people."

Announcement of the plan to raise $6 million entirely by public subscription was made at a news conference by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard.

Robert Kennedy said, "The organization of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library represents the fulfillment of a cherished hope of my brother."

Pusey said Harvard has donated more than two acres of land for the library building at a site within view of Winthrop House, President Kennedy's dormitory in his Harvard undergraduate days.

Title to the land and building eventually would be turned over to the U.S. government as public property under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Archives, Pusey said.

Students To Meet For N.Y. Trip

Year Sees Killings, New Leaders, Scandals

The year 1963 was one of assassinations, changes in government, sex scandals and continued cold war.

The biggest event of the year for the entire world was the Nov. 22 assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, Texas. In the aftermath were the murder of suspected assassin Lee Harvey Oswald and the succession of Lyndon B. Johnson as the 36th President of the United States.

The governments of two other nations in the big four occupied the minds of the world shortly before the assassination.

Ludwig Erhard stepped up in the West German government to replace retiring Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, and Lord Alec Douglas-Home became prime minister of Great Britain when

by the Catholic regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem. Sacrificial suicides and unrest erupted, and the president and his brother were assassinated Nov. 2.

The head of the Roman Catholic Church, Pope John XXIII, died on June 3 and was succeeded by Paul VI. With Pope John's death, the 21st meeting of the Church Ecumenical Council terminated, but his successor recalled the Council, showing the continuing efforts of the Catholic hierarchy toward modernization.

In this country the civil rights movement in both the North and the South was brought into the spotlight with a march on Washington, D.C., on Aug. 28. Some 200,000 Negroes and whites attended the mass rally requesting civil rights and equal job opportunities.

Sex in Great Britain made news when John Profumo resigned as British Secretary of State for War on June 6, admitting he had lied to Commons when he denied intimate relations with 21-year-old Christine Keeler.

While major events occurred throughout the world in the first few months of the year, New Yorkers were deprived of their regular newspapers by a 114-day strike by the International Typographical Union.

In Michigan, citizens voted in a new constitution, but Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program died in the legislature.

Legislature Seeks Action On 80 Bills

The state legislature suspends its regular rules Thursday and set a schedule to allow quick consideration of some 80 bills introduced to implement the new constitution.

The legislature is scheduled to complete its work December 19th.

Meanwhile, Governor George Romney has asked the lawmakers to consider a $35 million building program for state government facilities.

The governor expanded his original call for the second special session by asking the legislature to finish planning and start building a $6,700,000 highway department building and a $5.5 million revenue department building.

Library, a private organization of some 300 members interested in book collecting and library development. It was purchased with contributions from the Friends of the Library and the Development Fund.

"It has taken Michigan State 108 years to accumulate a million volumes," said Richard Chapin, Library director, "but the University will have its second million in 12 years at our present rate of acquisitions."

The library adds some 80,000 volumes a year, including books, bound periodicals and government documents.

The Latin text of the newly-acquired "Book of Hours" is written in a Gothic liturgical script on vellum. Some 300 intricately designed borders and 86 multicolored miniature paintings adorn the book.

Books of hours were popular with the European aristocracy from the 6th to the 16th century. Monasteries and secular artists vied with one another in producing elaborate editions of this traditional work.

Today's art historians rank the surviving manuscripts with other works of art.

The "Book of Hours" was created by an artist belonging to the school of the famous master painter of the "Hours of the Duke of Bedford."

"Our copy is a superb example of manuscript illumination and a valuable addition to the University's research collection of rare historical and scientific volumes," said Henry Koch, assistant library director.

The library, he said, is especially outstanding for its special collections in the biological sciences and in French history.

Paar Claims He's Quitting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Entertainer Jack Paar, who has had dramatic on-the-air differences with the NBC television network in the past, Thursday announced he would quit his weekly program next season because of another rhabarb.

The immediate reason appeared to stem from the fact that his one-hour Friday night program will not be expanded to 90 minutes, as had been expected.

'Mobility, Urbanization Lead To Violence'

Mobility and urbanization have come to mean violence, irresponsibility and lack of control either formal or informal according to a Western Michigan University professor.

Donald H. Bouma, who is also a Grand Rapids community worker, explained his view before national YWCA leaders at their program planning institute at Kellogg Center.

"Mobility," he said, "means anonymity—a breakdown of such primary control as Mrs. Grady peering out the window."

"It means the Walker Syndrome--The Dallas Complex," he continued. Bouma then derided Gen. Walker who, he said, taunted the army and hung an American flag upside down when the mayor of Dallas apologized to Adlai Stevenson for crowd incidents.

"You all know what happened there (Dallas) two weeks later," Bouma said, alluding to the assassination of President Kennedy and the shooting of Texas Governor Connally, a police officer and the accused Kennedy assassin.

"Urbanization has come to mean secularization. It's hard to maintain religious values in a city," he said.

There is more of the mystery of life in rural areas and more monuments to man in the city, Bouma said.

"Mobility means problems go inter-state. This means local control becomes less significant than it once was and federal controls must increase. It means the concept of states rights has less significance and meaning. The educational restrictions of Mississippi become the problems of Detroit.

"Urbanization means the problem of heterogeneity and dissimilarity. This provides tremendous opportunity for an organization working to develop a more sophisticated understanding of the reasons for differences.

"Urbanization means the problem of uselessness," Bouma added.

"If you think drop-outs are a school problem, you are crazy," he said. "This kid is going to ride my back and yours until he dies. He is going to live to be 70, and where you have three children, he will have eight."

Bouma urged the YWCA planners to support the demand for a more relevant curriculum in schools and to fill the gaps in the community until such a curriculum is available.

"Urbanization means slums," he said. "You pay $8 for every dollar the self-interested investor get out of them. You subsidize the tenement. When you back better housing, you do yourself a favor."

Bouma's talk, "The Challenge of Mobility and Urbanization" is one of eight talks on challenges of today's world which are being presented at the conference. The YWCA intends to relate its national program to the challenges.

Film Offers Sneak Preview Of Registration Procedure

The office of the registrar will sponsor a movie preview of registration procedure for the Intramural building Jan. 6, the first day of registration.

Registrar Horace C. King indicated the movies will help those students who went through early registration this summer.

The movie will be shown at Erickson Hall Kiva every half hour 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., and at 1:30 and 2 p.m.

Residents living in the Case-Wilson-Wonder's Complex can view the movie during the same hours as the Erickson showing in C-101 Wondes.

The Time Has Come...

By JEKOME CAPLAN
State News Sports Editor

The time has come the walrus said to talk many things. . . Like football games, cross country meets and winning soccer teams. State's fall sports teams all had winning records. From the gridgers to the fem swimmers not a one had a losing season.

When next term ends it might be nice if the same thing could be said, but there are more sports played during the winter months so the chances of having all teams with winning records get slimmer.

It might be nice at this time of year to reflect about the "plight" of schools that don't have all winning teams. We might even let ourselves slip for a minute and think about schools where they don't even have one winning team per season.

But at MSU we're fortunate. We have plenty of winners. Maybe when they redo the University seal they should substitute a new motto "We Play To Win" in the place of the now useless "of Agriculture and Applied Science" line.

Next term a weekly column will appear on the State News sports pages. What it will say will probably not always be to your liking.

It'll be comment on the sports scene around the campus, and once in awhile around the country. We'd like to write a column every day, but there just isn't room enough for it.

So until January it's so long, keep warm and keep playing to win.

Intramural News

D.T.D., the fraternity touch football champion was defeated by the independent runner-up, Rangoon 26-0. Rangoon was led to victory by Chris Moody and Barrie Holmes. All indications point to a good final between Sigma Nu and Rangoon.

The short course final was played last night and was won by The Flying Dutchman 13-0 over Ecker Devils.

All of the team sports have been completed for fall term and standings have been released.

In the fraternity league, L.C.A. is leading with a total 320 points, three better than D.T.D. who are in second place with 317.

Top Defense

State was the top defensive team in the Big Ten football loop this season, while Wisconsin captured the offensive honors Right behind the Delts and L.C.A. is Z.B.T. with 298 and S.A.E. with 288. L.C.A. won the badminton and paddleball titles and took first in their respective blocks in bowling and touch football and wound up in third place in each of these sports. D.T.D. won the touch football crown, placed second in badminton and third in paddleball. Z.B.T. won the fraternity bowling title and took second in the paddleball tourney.

Wilson Hall with 206.7 points is leading the residence hall league. Following close on their heels is East Shaw with 193.5 in second and Bailey Hall 191 in third place. Wilson Hall won the residence hall paddleball competition and placed second in the badminton tourney. Bailey shared the touch football crown with Wonders Hall.

Cagers Face Falcons

Seek Third Victory

State's basketball team tangles with defending Mid-America Conference champion Bowling Green State in a non-conference encounter Saturday night in Jenison Field House.

The game starting at 8 p.m. pits the Spartans and Falcons against each other for the third time in cage competition. State has been victorious in both previous contests.

MSU began its season last Saturday by scoring a record 109 points in beating Northern Michigan.

Wednesday night the Spartans posted their second 100-plus victory defeating Western Michigan 101-100. Bowling Green won their opener of the season against Hillsdale College on Wednesday night, 98-86.

The Falcons are rebounding this year after winning two straight MAC titles. Gone are ten lettermen from the quintet that went to the quarter finals in the NCAA tourney and had the distinction of being the only team to defeat national champion Loyola (Ill.).

Coach Warren Scholler, in his initial season at the helm of the Falcon cage machine, has only five returning lettermen to form the nucleus of the Bowling Green entry.

Among the returnees, however, is Howard Komives, All-America candidate at guard whose play should be the key to Falcon successes this season. Twice named to All-MAC teams, Komives has scored 990 points in two years and has a career average of over 20 points per game.

The Spartan Basketball team will not be playing on the Jenison hardcourt again until Monday night, Jan. 6. Wisconsin will be the "homecoming" foe for the Green and White. The cagers will be playing five games before Jan. 6 and will also be appearing at the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., on Dec. 20 and 21.

Sailors Take Part In 8-Team Regatta

Michigan State's Sailing Club will join eight teams in a seven-day Sugar Bowl Regatta in New Orleans.

The Spartans will compete against teams from Yale, Dartmouth, The Citadel, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Vanderbilt, Cornell, Tulane and Kent State. The Regatta is part of the annual Sugar Bowl sports activities which comes to a climax with the traditional football clash.

X-Country Captains

Jan Bowen and Mike Kaines have been co-captains of the 1964 cross country team.

The new co-captains are juniors and veterans of two Big Ten championship Spartan teams.

Santa's Well On His Way

The Christmas spirit is showing at MSU.

In the midst of preparation for final exams students undertake parties for underprivileged children, decorate doors and bulletin boards for contests, plan projects for the needy, go caroling, hold dorm parties, and do small favors for each other as "Christmas spirit."

Joe Galvin, Milton, Mass., senior and president of Phi Kappa Tau, said "The fraternity brothers have long felt that the true spirit of Christmas comes from helping those less fortunate than themselves."

In keeping with this spirit, the fraternity will hold a Christmas party for underprivileged children Saturday with the assistance of the Tri-Delts.

East Shaw men are giving their party for underprivileged children Saturday a Mexican and a glamorous touch. Not only will Santa distribute gifts of toys and clothing, but the children will break the Mexican pinata for treats. The East Shaw queen, Janice Leckron, Deckerville sophomore, and her court will attend the party and along with 26 volunteers from the hall, will act as foster parent to the children. Eight to ten members of the faculty have been invited.

South Campbell and Bailey, who are jointly sponsoring a party for deprived children Saturday afternoon in Brody, plan to present their Christmas queen to each child and, as at other parties, introduce Santa Claus.

In East Mayo each girl is buying a gift for one of the children who will attend their party, to be held Saturday at 2 p.m.

Games, stockings, toys, clothing, entertainment, singing, and Santa characterize the children's parties of Phillips, Rather and Armstrong, West Shaw and North Campbell, East Yakeley, Bryan, West Mayo, the Theta Chi's and Delta Zeta's, and the Delta Sigma Pi's and the Phi Gamma Nu's.

South Williams, Mason, and Abbott will hold parties for employees' children.

West Landon girls, who have nicknamed themselves the Knitwits, knitted mittens, ear warmers, and stocking caps in all sizes for needy children in the Lansing school system for their Christmas project.

Instead of sending Christmas cards to people on campus, East Wilson is donating $25 to a charity like Campus Chest, South Williams is donating money to UNICEF, and Van Hoosen is sending magazine subscriptions to a girls' home in Adrian.

Van Hoosen, and Alpha Epsilon Phi and Pi Beta Phi jointly are giving baskets to the needy.

The spirit of Christmas is also shown from student to student.

In many of the girls' dormitories, the co-eds exchange names and do small favors each day for the girls whose names they draw; buy a small present of candy, and/or a decoration, or clean the girls' room.

"Doing a favor for someone else takes a girl's mind off herself and relieves the tension of finals," said Barb Cole, Pontiac senior.

Door and bulletin board decorating contests are part of the Christmas atmosphere in South Williams, East Yakeley, Phillips, and South Wonders.

Recreation Group Conference Here

The National Recreation Association will consider the trend toward unification of parks and recreation departments at its conference December 12-13 here.

Wild Ducks Join Campus Mallards

Wild ducks are joining the flock of semi-domestic mallards on Campus.

Miles D. Pirnie, professor of zoology, fisheries and wildlife said he has seen a black duck and some wild mallards, which differ from the MSU flock in that they have more streamlined bodies and thinner bills.

He has also seen a coot, a marsh bird that swims like a duck but has different feet; and a golden-eye, a black or gray and white duck seen in winter.

Students have also recently reported spotting a wood duck. The mallard flock feeds on acorns and animal life along the Red Cedar River and eats bread or crackers provided by spectators.

In the winter, the maintenance department occasionally gives the ducks corn from nearby farms and old bread and lettuce trim from the dormitories.

The tame ducks are descendants of the flock started here about 50 years ago by William J. Beale, professor of botany.

Miss MSU Contest Starts

Petitions for the 1964 Miss MSU contest will be distributed Jan. 6, to all living units, said Pete Gent, Blue Key president.

Each living unit may enter one candidate. All petitions are to be in room 345 Student Services by Jan. 16.

Blue Key, junior and senior men's honorary, judges the annual contest. Judging will begin Sunday, Jan. 19, in the Union.

Miss MSU and her court will be announced during the intermission at the J-Hop dance Feb. 1.

Majors Heyboer, Scarff Join Air Science Unit

Two outstanding officers, both experienced pilots, have joined the Air Science Department this year. Major Gerald T. Heyboer was transferred here from Goose Bay, Labrador and Major Edwin J. Scarff came from Germany.

Major Heyboer was awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal earlier this year for his work at Goose Bay. He was the squadron commander and a wing executive officer there.

He is a command pilot and has logged over 3,000 hours of flying time in his 19 years of service.

After flying over 50 heavy bombardment missions in World War II, he attended the University of Michigan. Graduating with a degree in military science and business, he spent three years at the training command at Vance Air Force Base in Oklahoma, then was transferred to England.

He returned from England in 1955 to serve as an agent for the Office of Special Investigations in Washington, D.C. He went to Goose Bay for three years before he came here this year.

Major Scarff started his career in 1950 with the 94th Fighter Interceptor Squadron flying F-86 jet fighters. He then served with the famous 334th Fighter Squadron of the 4th Fighter Group, the Mig Killers, in Korea in 1953. After the war he joined the Air Proving Command and worked on the F-102 and other projects.

Graduating from the U of M in 1959, he was stationed at Kinchelore AFB near Sault Ste. Marie.

In 1960 he went to Germany where he was the Wing Combat Operation Officer for the 50th Tactical Fighter Wing and flew F-100 type aircraft.

Six Injured In Accident

Six graduate students were injured early Thursday morning when the car they were riding in struck a tree at the intersection of Bogue St. and Shaw Lane.

Injured were Richard Von Drak, Lake Worth, Fla., who received lacerations to the head and contusions to the body; David Osmun, Jackson, lacerations to the head, contusions and abrasions to the left arm and legs; Guy Tunnicliffe, Birmingham, lacerations and contusions to the head and a fractured nose; Dale Messerschmidt, East Lansing, lacerations to the head; Robert Reynolds, Detroit, lacerations and abrasions to the scalp and abrasions to the right hand; and Clint Merley, Lakewood, N.Y., scalp lacerations.

Von Drak, Osmun, Tunnicliffe and Messerschmidt were treated at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing and released. Campus police said Reynolds and Merley were admitted to Olin Health Center.

Campus police said the students were driving west on E. Shaw Lane in a 1959 Cadillac driven by Von Drak. They struck the tree while making a turn.

Sing Yule Carols Sunday

The combined University Chorus and Orchestra will present an annual Christmas concert at 1 p.m. Sunday in the Auditorium.

The group, directed by Gomer J. Jones, professor of music, will present a mass, a fantasia on English Christmas carols, three Bach chorale preludes, and four Celtic carols.

Audience participation will be called for on familiar carols. The "Four Celtic Christmas Carols," arranged for unaccompanied chorus by Jones are Welsh, Wexford, Gaelic and Cornish.

The featured mass will be Charpentier's "Midnight Mass for Christmas."

Corliss Arnold, organist and associate professor of music, will accompany student soloists for the mass. Burt Szabo, John Donahue and Wallace DePue will conduct the three Bach chorale preludes.

Shades Of Cave Men

The skull of a prehistoric mastodon found on the farm of Karol Huls, Rothbury senior, and her family may be donated to the University Museum.

Miss Huls said her parents have not yet decided what to do with it. Several groups, including MSU and University of Michigan are interested, she said.

Miss Huls' father, Adrian Hul, found the skull while digging a trout pond. The upper teeth and jaw are still intact.

Rollin H. Baker, Museum director, identified the specimen as part of a "Mastodon Americanus" which roamed this continent over 6,000 years ago.

Judging from the well-preserved teeth, Baker said the mastodon may have been a "youngster," probably 9 or 10 years old.

The mastodon was similar to the hairy mammoth except that its hair was shorter and its teeth were jabbed, rather than smooth as the mammoth's.

"We've been told it is the first to be found that far north in the state," Miss Huls said.

Remains of other mastodons have been found in the lower part of Michigan but none with a complete upper jaw with intact teeth.

More than 100,000 people have seen the skull in the past eight weeks.

Fall Term: Joy To Tragedy

Excitement, joy, frustration, experimentation tragedy--events on campus in the past term ran the gamut of human expressions.

Enrollment at Michigan State reached a record 27,669. This far exceeded the anticipated 26,000. Another high was reached in the number of Merit Scholars entering--over 200.

Experiments in early registration were conducted. Many entering freshmen registered during summer counseling sessions. Following the success of this move, early winter term registration for seniors and graduate students was initiated on a trial basis.

The implementation of a re-organized Dean of Students office was effected this term. It was a functional change--the divisions along men's and women's lines were eliminated and the position of an additional assistant dean of students was created.

13,500 In Dorms

Almost half of the students chose to live in University residence halls. About 13,500 students lived in the dormitories.

Delays in the construction of McDonell Hall created a "new frontier" as some of the students roughed it in the yet unfinished building--some forfeiting show-

Students who had not reached their 21st birthday by the time of registration and were living in unapproved housing were called in to the Dean of Student's office to explain.

A big chance, and a pleasant one some students found they could graduate a term early was a cut in graduation credit requirements. In most cases the credits necessary for a bachelor's degree were cut to 180 plus three credits of physical education.

The Education Department Program received approval this term. EDP was initially approved by the Academic Senate and reached implementation upon its OK by the Board of Trustees.

Construction continued to boom. The cyclotron was completed for fall. Abrams Planetarium was finished but mechanical difficulties have postponed its opening. The parking ramp is nearing completion. Two new dormitories -- Fee and Akers-- were started near McDonell. Construction on the new International Center was continued during the term.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced plans to locate a research center on campus to study plants and the effects of radiation on them. Brody residents breathed easier at the announcement of the construction of a new sewage plant down river from the present one. The state legislature also approved a grant for a new power plant to ease the burden on the present facilities. Ground was broken for a new Beef Research Center.

At the beginning of the term, the status of the Bogue Street Bridge was still uncertain. However, during the course of the 10 weeks, the purchase of the bridge right-of-way was approved.

Cheaters Can Appeal

A week before Thanksgiving the Academic Senate approved a means of appeal for students who are caught cheating.

The 15th annual Career Carnival found 73 representatives displaying and explaining opportunities for employment. "Tomorrow the World" a series of employment lectures, was initiated this term by Triangle fraternity and the Placement Bureau. All - University Student Government was involved in controversy. Rather Hall chose to withdraw from the organization.

In the November vote on proposed constitutional amendments, students passed four of the seven amendments. The amendments opened student traffic court to the public, changed the time of congress elections to fall and reflected changes made necessary by the reorganization of the Dean of Students office.

AUSG sponsored a visit of Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu's father,

Than Van Chuong, to campus. Mme. Nhu declined an invitation herself.

Mourning for the death of President Kennedy brought a solemn quiet to campus. Students flocked to churches, classes were cancelled and the MSU-Illinois football game was postponed.

Rose Bowl fever which had been building up as the football team maintained its winning ways and which had erupted in spontaneous rallies which on two occasions numbered some 5,000 and 3,000, was finally squelched by the 13-0 loss in the final game.

Advices Educating Women To Limits

Women should be educated to the limit of their abilities regardless of their future roles as wives and mothers.

Ruth Useem, research consultant in sociology and anthropology, said, "Every person who can benefit from a high school, college and graduate education should have the opportunity to that education and should be imbued with the idea that it is his or her responsibility to have it."

One of the basic strengths of American society is the education of all of its people for the making of wise decisions within a democratic framework, Mrs. Useem said, and for interpreting their roles according to the best information.

"Higher education should help its beneficiaries perform not only the kinds of services demanded of a changed and expanding American society but to create new opportunities and to contribute to the growth and quality of American life," she said.

Commenting on this, Laurine Fitzgerald, assistant dean of students, noted that the average college graduate marries, begins housekeeping, starts raising a family and, by 31 years of age, has her youngest child in grade school.

During her eight to ten years out of college she has been teaching her children many of the basic foundations of life, she said.

The habits, ideas and interpretations that children learn during these impressionable years may be credited to the education of their mothers, she said, and it takes more than a good housewife to make a husband happy.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: TOM HAMILTON

"I've known quickly on every job what was expected. Then it was pretty much up to me, with help as needed," says Northwestern Bell's Tom Hamilton (B.S., Business, 1960). Tom is Manager of his company's Clinton, Iowa Business Office, and has a staff of seven to help him service his 35,000 telephone customers.

Tom's promotion resulted much from his impressive records in two other company areas. He had been an Assistant Marketing Promotion Supervisor helping develop sales promotion when he was selected by his company to attend the special business seminar at Northwestern University in Chicago.

Then, as Communications Supervisor in Ottumwa, Tom was both salesman and supervisor - two other salesmen worked under him. On this job he showed the versatility that paid off in his Clinton promotion.

Tom Hamilton, like many young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Illinois sharing the role of the favorite.

The Spartans are not sending a full team to the event, but a quintet of experienced performers could give the Green and White honors in individual competition.

Coach George Szypula considers sophomore Jim Curzi to be the team's best all-around performer. The meet will give Curzi his first big test before the season starts in earnest early in January.

Bill McFillen, another sophomore, will compete in the tumbling, trampoline, and floor exercise divisions.

A trio of junior lettermen round out the Spartan contingent.

Todd Gates will work on the parallel bars, with John Rohs competing on the parallel bars and in floor exercise.

Manuel Turhan will see action on the horse, horizontal bar, and parallel bars.

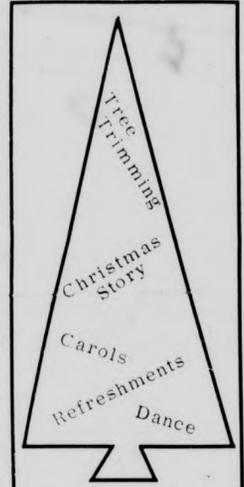

U-M Swim Favorite

Twelve colleges are sending swimmers to the Women's Collegiate Championships Saturday at the Women's IM Building pool.

The University of Pennsylvania team and the U of M swimmers have been installed as co-favorites for the team honors in the meet which gets underway with the preliminary races at 9 a.m. The finals will begin at 1 p.m.

Several national record holders, including State's Chris Kluter and Bowling Green's freshmen duo of Noreen Wolcott and Paula Webber, are among the entrants.

There will be a 25 cent admission charge.
