Cupid Takes Aim Today As Sexes Declare Truce

Today marks the celebration of the annual 24 hour truce of the battle between the sexes.

The tradition of Valentine's Day is believed to go back 3,000 years to the days of ancient Rome. The Lupercalia, a spring festival always held in February, was celebrated at the time Valentino, a handsome dashing youth, suffered martyrdom for denouncing religious beliefs.

Martyr Creates Legend

Some legends say that while he was awaiting execution, he formed a friendship with the blind daughter of the jailer. On the eve of his death he wrote her a farewell message signed "From your Valentine." After his death, on Feb. 14, young men and maidens drew names from an urn during the Lupercalia to learn who their valentine for the day would be.

Another legend was formulated in England when Chaucer wrote in the "Parlement of Foules" "For this was on Seynt Valentynes day, when every foul cometh ther to chese his mate." It has since been the belief that birds mate on Feb. 14th.

These legends became the foundation for the celebration of Valentine's Day - a day set aside for sweethearts and lovers.

'Golden Age' Of Valentines

The "Golden Age" of the valentine, lasting from 1850 to 1900, marked the peak in valentine art, workmanship, color, and design.

In the early 1900's, Valentine's Day was as big a celebration as New Year's Eve is today. In New York City, a masquerade ball was given on Valentine's Eve entitled "Lover's Pageant." Couples arrived at the ball in costumes representing such famous lovers as Romeo and Juliet, Cinderella and her Prince Charming, and Tristan and Isolde.

Valentine Traditions Still Strong

Valentine's day customs today are kept alive by the influences of sentiment and commercialism. Tiny red rose buds, many-colored cards in every size and shape, beautifully decorated cakes and cookies, big heart-shaped boxes of chocolates, and furry red and white stuffed animals all tell the story of Cupid's holiday.

Over $48,000,000 are spent on Valentines alone in the United States. Cardmakers claim that over 600,000,000 valentines are exchanged every year. Western Union predicts that over 80,000 "candygrams" and over 43,600 telegrams will be used to convey valentine messages this year.

Commercially speaking, Valentine's Day is a thriving business. Traditionally speaking, it looks as though Cupid's arrows will be right on target for years to come.

African Center To Lose Profs

Berry, Wolff To Join Northwestern Faculty

JACK BERRY

HANS WOLFF

The economic law that talent goes to the highest bidder has asserted itself in connection with the African Studies Center.

The center will lose Jack Berry and Hans Wolff, both professors of African languages, because it cannot meet salary offers of Northwestern University. The two will start at the Evanston, Ill., institution next September.

"The salary increase is enough that MSU officials decided they cannot meet it," Jack Berry said.

Wolff refused to comment on why he is leaving. Berry will become chairman of African studies at Northwestern. He came here full term from the University of London where he started an internationally known program in African studies. He also is known for his work on the African Language Journal.

Hans Wolff, who came here from the University of Puerto Rico in 1960, taught linguistics in African languages and culture of Africa.

"If MSU had tried to meet the Northwestern proposals, salaries for these men would have been double those of other members of the department," one source said. "This would not have been fair to the dedicated people who aren't making high salaries."

Another spokesman said that MSU wants a strong African language program but it does not want to pay the salaries necessary to maintain it.

Dress Rule Upheld By MHA Vote

A motion to revise evening meal dress regulations for men living in residence halls was defeated by Men's Hall Association Thursday night for the third time. The vote was seven in favor of the motion, two against and two abstentions.

The proposed change would have allowed men to wear sport shirts and any trousers except jeans, Levis, dungarees, knickers, bermudas and beachcombers.

The motion was introduced by Keith Pochert, Port Hope sophomore and representative to MHA from East Shaw. Jerry Wallace, Cedar Springs junior and South Case representative, seconded. Similar motions have been brought before MHA twice before this term. The first time the vote was nine to two against the motion. The second vote was six in favor, four against, and one abstention. Eight votes were necessary to pass the motion.

MHA's vote to try to establish lesser dress regulations on Friday night only was not changed.

Some Question Constitutionality

By JACKIE KORONA State News Staff Writer

The house of representatives Thursday passed a resolution to release $350,000 for the new power plant despite a question of constitutionality raised by some legislators.

The senate is expected to act on the resolution Monday. The resolution, passed by a 91 to 2 vote, includes stipulation that the state department of administration award contracts for all power plant equipment.

The house Ways and Means committee reported on the resolution with the stipulation which would not allow the Board of Trustees to award contracts or accept bids.

Rep. Joseph Gillis, D-Detroit, brought up the question of constitutionality before the house vote.

"How can we make the University go to the department of administration for contract awards?" Gillis asked. "Under the constitution the University should make the decision."

Gillis was referring to the constitution's clause which makes Michigan State a "self-governing body."

Rep. Wilfred Bassett, R-Jackson and a Ways and Means committee member, said the resolution appropriates money to the state department of administration and not to the University.

"The department of administration is making a gift to the University," Bassett said. Gillis raised two other questions (continued on page 6)

LBJ, Home Stress Unity On Asia Tariff

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson and British Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home climaxed a two-day global review Thursday with a communique that stressed unity on southeast Asia and on tariff negotiations. But it by-passed Anglo-American differences on Cuban trade and credit to the Red bloc.

With that, the two leaders went on to a final round of entertainment—a Douglas-Home lunch for Johnson at the British embassy, and a Johnson dinner for Douglas-Home at the White House. The Prime Minister returns to London today.

Informants on both sides rated as well worthwhile this first get-together by the two since becoming heads of their respective governments. These sources said each acquired a better knowledge of, and friendship for, the other. The American and British chiefs normally maintain a close association.

The communique noted the wide range of issues around the world in which the United States and Britain have common interests.

Finalists For Mr. MSU Announced

Five finalists for the Mr. MSU title were announced Wednesday.

The men, selected for scholarship, citizenship and appearance, will vie for the title which will be awarded at the Spinster Spin, Feb. 29. Miss MSU Judy Smith, Birmingham sophomore, will crown the winner that night.

Originally 50 men, representing all living units, competed for the finals. The contestants were then narrowed to 15. The five finalists were chosen Wednesday.

Student Congress Tables Off-Campus Housing Bill

Student Congress met for three hours Wednesday night before deciding to table its housing resolution until next week.

The resolution would allow students under 21 to live in unsupervised housing if they have parental consent and have lived in University housing for three terms.

Some of the time was devoted to discussing a $200 appropriation for the debate team, but most of the meeting was spent discussing the housing proposal.

Speaker of Congress Bob Hennen, Huntington Woods senior, said he had learned from a "person high up in the administration" that the housing proposal would be approved and the question was "not whether but when."

He then urged that Congress pass the resolution and maintain day-to-day contact with the administration in order to serve as an aide.

Louis F. Hekhuis, director of student affairs and adviser to All-University Student Government, said he thought the report which accompanied the proposal is "incomplete, inaccurate and misleading" and "doesn't do credit to anyone."

He said also that there is no official administrative stand on

Speaker Policy At Capitol Under Fire

Michigan State's speaker policy came under fire in the house of representatives Thursday.

Rep. Richard A.H.J. Guzowski, D-Detroit, introduced a resolution prohibiting the appearance of subversive speakers at schools receiving state aid.

The measure represents Guzowski's renewal of a fight waged last spring.

Guzowski said that the resolution was aimed specifically at Michigan State's Wayne State and the University of Michigan.

The Resolution, in part, reads: "no educational institution sup-

Student Committee Dropped

"The Blue Ribbon Student Committee has been formally abandoned," Mike Hannah, Grand Rapids freshman said.

The Blue Ribbon Student Committee, working in cooperation with Governor Romney's Citizens' Committee on Education, had to be canceled because it could not elicit enough student support.

"Probably because of the time it would have necessitated, few students offered their services," Hannah explained.

The committee was organized to get student opinion on education in order to aid Romney's Blue Ribbon Citizens' Committee.

Instead of a committee, NSA is now working toward a week-end conference for sometime in December 1964, Hannah said. By that time, Romney's Committee will have compiled their preliminary report, other references will have been consulted, student opinion and interest will have been aroused, and more careful planning will have taken place.

Hannah emphasized that student opinion and support on education is still desired. Those students who expressed an interest in the original committee will still be considered for the conference.

"Only the means have been changed," he said, "not the goal."

Hannah Heads Judges For Civic Award

President John A. Hannah has been named chairman of the committee of judges for the B'nai B'rith Greater Lansing Human Relations Award to be announced Thursday.

A plaque will be presented to the outstanding area citizen for human kindness and community brotherhood action. The sixth annual community-wide program will be held in the Big Ten Room, Kellogg Center.

Nominations for the award were submitted by organizations and individuals and are screened by the Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce. A list of 10 nominees is then submitted to the committee of judges, headed by Hannah.

A record number of 63 organizations are co-sponsoring the program.

Prof. Louis A. Radelet of the MSU Police Administration Department will be moderator. The program will also include songs by the Earl Nelson singers and a playlet by the Community Circle Players.

Tickets are available until Feb. 18 through the Community Services Council, IV 4-1357.

Woodwinders To Stress Modern Mood

The Faculty Woodwind Quintet will stress modern music in its second concert of the season at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Music Auditorium.

Quintet members are Russell Friedewald, flute; Daniel Stolper, oboe; Elsa Ludwig, clarinet; Edgar Kird, bassoon; and Douglas Campbell, horn.

The first number on the program will be Beethoven's "Quintet in E flat Major," Op. 71. It was originally written for sextet, but arranged many years ago for quintet to escape the somber tone of the first orchestration, Kirk said.

Other selections are "Kvin-tet," Op. 43, by Carl Nielsen, and "Kleine Kammermusik," Op. 24, No. 2, by Hindemith.

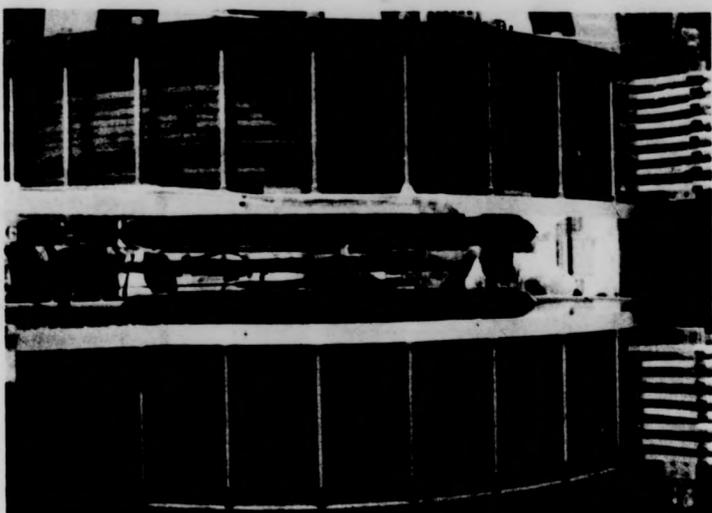

Both are from the 1920's. Nielsen is considered Denmark's greatest composer, but has never been well-known in America, Kirk said. His music is highly chromatic, often using polytones, and colorful. It often contains unusual melodic twists.

The Hindemith work is considered the classic work for woodwind quintets. It is noted for its excitement, rhythm, melody, and logical, tight construction.

Early Physicist Galileo Born 400 Years Ago

The construction of a clock, human pulse measurement, sunspots, telescopes, the concept of force--these are a few of the areas in which the influence of Galileo Galilei, born in Pisa, Italy, 400 years ago Saturday, is seen today.

The New York Times Magazine points out that Galileo's writing is timeless. His works "are in a large part as readable today as they were in his own times."

He realized that on a moving earth, objects would behave just as they would on an earth standing still. He showed that the object retains the forward speed of the earth, contradicting the then popular view that an object thrown high enough would soon be left behind as the earth sped onward. These findings were the beginning of inertial physics.

Other studies of velocity and force provided the basis for Newton's statement that "action and reaction are equal and opposite."

Galileo also accepted the theory that the earth and planets revolve around the sun and that the moon has only reflected light.

Although they are commonly accepted today, the 16th century populace considered these beliefs in conflict with the Bible, and Galileo was persecuted for heresy by the church.

Discussing the charges against him in a letter to the Grand Duchess Christina, Galileo showed his understanding of science and the Bible, saying:

"... I think in the first place that it is very pious to say and prudent to affirm that the Holy Bible can never speak untruth--whenever its true meaning is understood."

reason, and intellect has intended to forgo their use and by some "... I do not feel obliged to believe that that same God who has endowed us with senses,

"Home of the Little Lively Ones"

Police, Beatles, Kisses . . .

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, America's students are having their trials and tribulations early this year, beset by crises of kissing, Beatles and jaywalking before the spring sap even starts to rise.

And as usual, they let their woes be known, rallying to the cry: "Students have rights, too!"

The fires of protest blazed across the Bloomington campus of the University of Indiana, where authorities imposed a ban on kissing in the lounge of Sycamore Hall. "Disgusting exhibition" said the voice of authority.

LBJ, Home

"reaffirmed the support of the United States for the peaceful national independence of Malaysia," where Britain is worried about possible Indonesian attack.

On the forthcoming round of tariff negotiations, beginning in Geneva in May, the two pledged to seek expanding international trade and economic growth for all. Both Washington and London want the Geneva conference to lower the European Common Market's tariff wall.

On Cuba, the communique said Johnson "stressed his concern at the present situation in the Caribbean area and the subversive and disruptive influence of the present Cuban regime." Douglas-Home, for his part, recognized the importance of Latin American development "in conditions of freedom and political and economic stability."

But the students, resolving to combat "university dictation of student morals," drew moral support from as far away--100 miles--as the campus of Purdue.

Meantime, in the basement recreation room of Sycamore Hall, the necking went on. The anti-kissing edict in the upstairs lounge, didn't "put any crimp" on activities downstairs, said one coed.

Respite finally came Thursday to the beleaguered forces of the law in New York City, who for days had protected the Beatles from their adoring young fans. The Beatles, a shaggy quartet of British rock'n' roll stars, took their guitars to Florida, departing with an apology:

"We're sorry the police had so much trouble."

Gay Stillely, 13, who sat at the side of stage during the Beatles' Carnegie Hall concert--where emotional fans made more noise than the performers--reported: "I had a terrific view of the back of their heads. It was great. Every time they started shaking and shimmying, their hair fell in ripples down the back of their necks. It isn't every girl who gets to see that."

What must rank as one of the greatest jaywalking demonstrations of all time took place near the Ohio State University campus at Columbus.

For two hours, some 5,000 students crossed and recrossed the street--creating a mammoth traffic jam--to protest the jailing of a coed for an hour and a half because she had ignored a jaywalking ticket.

The students even disconnected bus trolley poles from overhead wires and marched on police headquarters, smashing a few auto windows and damaging a theater marquee en route.

The program, part of the World Travel Series, will include color films of Banff, Lake Louise, the Columbia ice fields, Yoho Valley, Emerald Lake, Mt. Robson's Thousand Falls, Tonquin Valley, the Tumbling Glacier, and area wildlife.

Hungarian Finds Religion Declining

A former Hungarian prime minister says young people in his homeland are turning away from organized religion in increasing numbers.

Ferenc Nagy, exiled from Hungary in 1947 when the communists seized power, said at a press conference in Kellogg Center that college-age men and women of all faiths are growing disinterested because their churches lack leadership.

"The churches are open," he said, "but a subtle persecution is being carried on. When a priest, minister or rabbi shows leadership ability, he is immediately exiled to a small village. If he continues to attract attention, he is imprisoned."

Over two-thirds of Hungary's 9,826,000 people are Roman Catholics. Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty, chief prelate of the church in Hungary, has been a political refugee in the American embassy at Budapest since the ill-fated 1956 revolution. Mindszenty was sentenced to life imprisonment when church lands were confiscated in 1947.

The churches now receive government subsidies under an agreement allowing freedom of religious worship, but Nagy says religion is being "choked off at the roots."

He pointed out that the number of persons entering the ministry and priesthood is only one-tenth of what it was before the communists came to power.

"The prospect of becoming a clergyman is forbidding to young people now," Nagy explained. "Because of the declining size of congregations, he often has to travel to several towns each Sunday for services. The rest of the week, he has to work at another job to keep bread in his mouth."

Nagy, who spoke on campus in connection with Farmer's Week, said the poor standard of living in his native country is also choking off financial support for the churches.

"People do not have much money in their pockets any more, regardless of what services they get from the state. Young people have little more than the old, and they are less willing to use it for the support of religion."

Nagy added that most of the free world has no real idea of the subtle forms of religious persecution which are practiced against Protestants, Catholics and Jews in communist countries.

'Let Us Pray' Unites Protestantism Today

Thousands of Protestant worshippers will kneel in prayer throughout the world today in observance of the 78th annual World Day of Prayer.

The theme for the 1964 fellowship is "Let Us Pray." Church services are sponsored by United Church Women.

The World Day of Prayer was generated 78 years ago by the vision of one woman. Its purpose is to unite churches in prayer for a world wide mission.

Gifts collected today will go toward aiding 12 Christian colleges for women in Asia and Africa, distribution of Christian literature in the world, assistance for the present program among Indian Americans and the support of the migrant ministry.

A special gift will be used in the U.S. to make possible the continuation of the new program of ministry among newcomers in communities. Gifts will also be used to extend hospitality to over 60,000 students coming to this country from all over the world.

United Church women of East Lansing will assemble at the University Methodist Church, 1118 S. Harrison Road, at 1:30 p.m. Local churches taking part in this service are All Saints Episcopal Church, University Lutheran Church, Peoples Church, Eastminster Presbyterian Church, East Lansing Trinity Church and Edgewood United Church.

Other observances in the Greater Lansing area will be:

Spring Fast Underway

The culmination of the Lenten season, which commenced on Ash Wednesday for the Western Church, is Easter, this year March 29.

Lent is the spring fast of the Christian church observed in preparation for Easter. The original fast was of 40 hours duration, this being the number of hours that intervened between the death and resurrection of Christ.

Additional days were added, their number varying in different churches.

The first day of Lent is so named Ash Wednesday from the ceremonial use of ashes as a symbol of penitence in the service for the day. In the Roman Catholic Church ashes from the previous year's Palm Sunday palms are applied by the priest to the foreheads of the devout in the sign of the cross. He says in Latin, "Remember, man that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return."

The Protestant reformers abandoned the old ceremony, so that most non-Catholic Christians confine observance of Ash Wednesday to church services.

The Lenten season of six weeks will be, for some liturgical churches, a period of fasting abstinence and penance.

Faith On Campus On Keeping True Lent

With the opening of Lenten season, every Christian is called upon to examine himself in view of God's World. The passion of Jesus is supposed to dwell in the heart of every professing Christian until Easter.

However, conversations among students with regard to the "Passiontide" fail to yield much more than, "I can't decide whether to give up cigarettes or cokes this year."

What are some so-called Christians trying to prove? I am not back-stabbing any one church, for at least a few members of most Christian houses of worship are guilty of the aforementioned attitude. Nor can I condemn anyone for his particular method of worship.

But, honestly, is this true worship? While we should all permit freedom of worship, one can hardly hold off at least wondering for only curiosity's sake what in God's name placing a taboo on candy bars for six weeks has to do with religion, Christian or otherwise.

The poet Robert Herrick, in his "To Keep a True Lent," expresses the dilemma well:

"Is this the fast, to keep the larder lean and clean from fat veils of sheep. Is it to quit the dish of flesh--yet still to fill the platter high with fish, Is it to fast an hour or ragged go, or show a down-cast look and sour? No, tis a feast to doll thy sheaf of wheat and meat unto the hungry soul. It is to fast from strife--from old debate, from Hate to circumcize thy life. To show a heart grief rent--to starve thy sin, not bin-- That's to keep thy Lent."

Regardless of the stand one takes toward Jesus' divinity, one cannot avoid admittance of the essential fact that Jesus was a profoundly gifted person whose message has never been equalled. Was his "good news" that of abstinence from those things which satisfy trivial desires of the stomach? I highly doubt it. Jesus laid down a law that had never before been uttered in quite such world-embracing significance--that you shall love your neighbor as yourself.

Though not in this 1964 Lenten season, I have occasionally heard individuals say that in observance of Lent they would abstain from some evil like gossip. While certainly headed in the right direction, is this so great an accomplishment? If we are going to give up something for Jesus, why not abolish it completely? To abstain for six weeks has accomplished practically nil if the evil is again adopted after Easter.

Lent is here, however, and now is certainly not too soon to present an offering, one which would not terminate when Easter rolls around. I am thinking in particular of ridding America of one of its creeping ills--racial discrimination. I can think of no greater flaw in the American mind that merits extermination than the inability to recognize that all men are equal brothers, however their physical traits may differ.

What would really make this Lenten season unique in its remembrance of the passion of Jesus would be the resolution that we tear down every barrier of racial bias. Not for just six weeks. That would hardly be fair, considering certain Americans have been waiting over 200 years.

UB Plans Include Jazz, Basketball

A week of varied activities will begin Monday in connection with the 10th annual Union Board Week.

Five events in five days give the week the theme, "Take Five." Jim Tuman, New York City senior, is general chairman.

Petitioning for board membership next year will be held throughout the week in the UB main office.

A jazz show, narrated by Maurice Crane, associate professor of humanities, will be held Tuesday night in the Union Ballroom.

University dance bands will perform during a popular music show Wednesday night.

Members of the Miss and Mr. MSU courts, the homecoming court and class leaders will join foreign students to model in an international fashion show Thursday.

A movie will run Feb. 21. Faculty members will oppose varsity players atop donkeys for a basketball game in Jenison Fieldhouse Feb. 22. A herd of donkeys will be shipped to the campus for the game.

NYU Offers Grants For Rehab Study

Applications are now being accepted by New York University's school of education for 1964-65 training grants ranging from $1,800 to $3,400 annually in the field of vocational rehabilitation counseling.

Grants of $1,800 and $2,000 are available to college graduates enrolled in a two-year program leading to the degree of master of arts. Candidates for a doctorate or a sixth-year certificate of advanced study are eligible for grants of $2,800 and $3,400. Full tuition is provided, and grants may be renewed.

For further information and application forms, write to Vocational Rehabilitation, New York University, School of Education, New York, N.Y. 10003.

STYLE AT THE BEACH -- Goyle Krepps, Dearborn junior, and George Chesley, Kensington, Conn., senior, look over the latest in swim suit fashions which will be shown at Thursday's Union Board fashion show in the Style Shop.

Tension In Southeast Asia

Red Threat Worries Malaya

Tension in southeast Asia grew with the formation of the Federation of Malaysia, Willard A. Hanna, a member of the American Universities Field Staff, said Wednesday.

Member states of the federation are Malaya, an independent state, and Sarawak, Singapore, and Sabah, formerly North Borneo, all British colonial states.

The original plan, proposed by Malaya's Prime Minister Tengku (Prince) Abdul Rahman, called for Brunei, a British protectorate under the leadership of a sultan, to join the four states in comprising the federation.

"An undercurrent of many disputes and land claims have caused the present unrest in the area," Hanna said.

"Formation of the federation was primarily to avert the dangers Singapore threatened to Malaya," Hanna said.

Singapore's population is 75 per cent Chinese with the majority of adults born on the Red Chinese mainland. Close family ties with Red China worried the Tengku, who felt he had "another Cuba off his shores."

Brunei's admittance to the federation was stopped by a debate on what per cent of the state's oil revenues would go to the federation, and by insurrection in the state's government under the leadership of Azahari, who was educated in Indonesia.

Brunei's oil resources, tapped by the American Shell Oil Company, amounted to exports of $33 million per year in 1962, Hanna said.

The country had $300 million surplus money lying around as "an invitation to troublemakers," Hanna said.

Wanting to speed up the formation of democracy, Azahari led a revolt Dec. 8, 1962.

Indonesia's Sukarno until this time had paid little attention to the formation of Malaysia. The revolt in Brunei and grave domestic problems in Indonesia itself may have caused Sukarno to enter the dispute, Hanna said.

Sukarno praised Azahari's followers as "genuine freedom fighters" and gave his full support to Azahari in opposition to the Federation of Malaysia.

"In fact, Indonesia has been bankrupt for the past 10 years, has had political instability, social unrest and military adventurism," Hanna said.

Indonesia is composed mainly of the islands of Sumatra, Java, and two-thirds of the island of Borneo.

Unrest also resulted from Philippine Island claims to Sabah.

Philippines' Prime Minister Macapagal, proposed a loose federation of the three major areas, Malaya, the Philippines, and Indonesia, to form Mapelindo in an effort to ease tensions.

Little support is given to the plan, Hanna said.

"I do believe that the Philippines will eventually recognize Malaysia," he said.

Hanna said in order to settle the problem either Indonesia or Malaysia will have to yield.

"Sukarno will have to stop antagonizing the new federation," he said. "For Malaysia will have to meet some of Sukarno's demands, such as requiring the British to pull out their military bases."

The main problem is that Sukarno has forgotten why he started the fight, Hanna said.

Famed Violinist Overcomes Acoustics

Ricci Performance Proves Virtuosity

By LEON WHEELER
State News Reviewer

Ruggiero Ricci played before an appreciative audience Thursday night, demonstrating that he reigns as one of the world's great violin virtuosos.

Even the bad acoustics of the MSU Auditorium gave way to Ricci after the first movement of the Hindemith Sonata in D, Opus 11, No. 2., in which the tone of both the violin and piano sounded thick and muffled.

Ricci's interpretation of the second and last movements were less Hindemithian or serial than pure romanticism. The "Ruhig und gemessen (second movement)" was lyrical and flowing and the third movement was more rushing.

In the Allegro movement of the Beethoven "A Major Sonata, Opus 30, No. 1, Leon Pommers piano accompaniment was superb. In the Adagio molto espressivo, the placement of tone, the pianissimo crescendos exhibited the express-

Ricci's split-second hesitation of this movement.

The unaccompanied Bach "Chaconne" performance displayed all the force, drama, and lyrical solo playing contained in the work, with Ricci minimizing the unpleasant noises usually heard in arpeggio playing.

Ricci's interpretation of the "Sonata in A Major, Opus 13" by Faure seemed to express the very soul of the composer.

The Paganini "Capriccio" (five, seventeen, and twenty-four), were fantastic exhibitions of the artist's virtuosity. The tempo and the bowing of these unaccompanied caprices, due to the tremendous speed and agility, were almost unbelievable.

Asks For Housing Petitions

Bailey Hall student congress representative Howard Wilchins, Paterson, N.J., sophomore, has requested that petitions concerning the housing resolution presently before congress be circulated in all living units.

He asked that each dorm make its own petition. He called an earlier petition which was distributed to congressmen Wednesday night unsatisfactory because it is "too inflammatory."

Trustees To Leave For Nigerian Visit

Two Board of Trustees members will leave Saturday on a mission to Africa and Europe. Warren M. Huff of Plymouth and Frank Merriman of Decker-ville are to review MSU's effort at the University of Nigeria in Nsukka. In addition the members of the Board, who are both agricultural experts, will familiarize themselves with the problems confronting the College of Agriculture there.

Glen L. Taggart, dean of international programs, will accompany them.

The trip begins a new policy recommended by President John A. Hannah, Merriman said. When Hannah returned from his last trip abroad, he said that because Michigan State was really involved in higher education in various parts of the world, it would be in her interest for the members of the Board of Trustees get a first hand view of the situations.

Before returning, Huff, Merriman, and Taggart will stop in London for talks with officials of the University of London, who also have an interest in the University of Nigeria.

Delta May Use Students Building $ $

MIDLAND, Mich. (UPI)—Students attending Delta College were asked Thursday for approval of the use of student fees for the construction of a student union.

The decision to build a union was made at a board of trustees meeting Tuesday night. The board adopted a resolution to begin negotiations with three contracting firms for the building of an on-campus housing unit for 200 students and the student union.

The housing unit, for men and women, would cost $800,000, but no cost estimate was given for the student union. The board said it would seek funds from private local sources for the housing unit, but also noted that money would be available from the college housing division of the federal housing and home finance agencies.

If the plans go through, construction would start this fall and both projects would be completed by September, 1965.

Phi Kappa Sigma Chooses Officers

Seminary Award Applications Due

Applications for the Michigan State University-Chicago Theological Seminary prize fellowship must be submitted to the local committee by next Thursday.

The fellowship is valued at up to $2,000.

Students with a B average are eligible. Application should be in the form of a letter, together with letters of recommendation from two faculty members.

Applications may be sent to H.H. Kimber, Department of Religion, 282 Bessey Hall.

'Night People' Keep University Clean

While most of the campus sleeps, 185 men and women of the cleaning division of the physical plant department are engaged in an immense task.

Between 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 a.m. the night people have the task of cleaning four and a half million square feet of University buildings and keeping the chlorination of the five campus swimming pools at a constant level. In addition there are light bulbs to be replaced, towel racks to be filled, and sundry items for the lost and found department of the Union.

The cleaning division is split into two overlapping shifts, each shift being further divided into building groups. Because the buildings close at different hours, scheduling is further complicated by athletic events and other special activities.

The cleaning division has a big job that requires sound planning, modern equipment, and good personnel, Ken Richards, general foreman, said.

"Had it not been for the introduction of automatic equipment, it would be impossible to do the job with the present number of employees," Richards said. "However, modern equipment is worthless without good people to run it."

"We set high standards and the dedication of our people has served that standard well," Paul Mitchell, assistant general foreman, said.

The majority of these people enjoy working at night, he said. They are dedicated to their work and are about as friendly a group of people as one could ever hope to meet," he added.

Off-Campus Bill

Michael Hannah, Grand Rapids freshman, said he thought everyone agreed that something should be done concerning off-campus housing, but "the question is what should we do and will what we do improve things."

A proxy representative from West Shaw said he thought the administration deserved more consideration and should be given a more complete report if it is desired.

In other action the debate team won the final round of its fight to obtain $200 in order to help two members of the team gain enough experience to send them to the national tournament, and $1,585 was appropriated for the "Winds of Change" program.

He said that about 1300 men and 80 to 90 women presently live in supervised off-campus housing while about 1500 men and 300 to 400 women live in unsupervised housing.

Brian Walsworth, Muskegon junior and chairman of the committee which compiled the report, said a list of addresses and specific complaints will be available to Hencken, AUSG President Bob Kerr, Washington, N.J., senior, the administration and himself next week.

He emphasized, however, that copies would not be given to congressmen.

Some representatives said they thought the report was "scanty and not as detailed as it could be." They said they thought the administration could do further investigation on the matter.

ported in whole or in part by public funds shall permit any of its facilities, buildings, grounds or sanctioned organizations to be used as a speaking or demonstration forum by any person advocating, teaching or urging subversion.

Guzowski defined subversion as any act or advocacy of any act intended to overthrow the United States or state government.

"The measure is not aimed at stopping the teaching of courses in Communism," the representative said.

The resolution was referred to the House Rules and Resolutions Committee. It is subject to the approval of both the House and Senate and must be mandated at a future election.

tions of constitutionality.

"I also wonder about the priority of this resolution and about the method we're using to appropriate funds," he said.

Under the new constitution, the legislature may not pass any appropriation bills until the general appropriations bill is acted upon, Gillis said. "I don't know if we can pass a valid appropriation bill without the general one first."

The money appropriated in the resolution is the remainder of an $800,000 grant approved by the legislature last year, but Gillis said this would make no difference.

"We're operating under a new constitution now," Gillis said. "That first grant approval was under the old constitution."

Gillis also questioned the appropriation of funds by resolution rather than bill. Technically a resolution is a suggestion while a bill is law.

Rep. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, voted against the resolution.

"I question the constitutionality of this action," Traxler said. "I think the Board of Trustees should determine the contract awards themselves."

University Secretary Jack Breslin was seated in the house gallery when members discussed and voted on the resolution. He would not comment on the question of constitutionality.

"I have no statement for the present," he said.

Breslin indicated confidence that the senate would vote favorably on the resolution.

Engineering Prof To Talk On Models

Herman F. Koenig, professor of electrical engineering, will speak on "State Models of Linear and Nonlinear Systems" at 4 p.m. Monday in 130 Engineering.

Koenig will discuss contemporary research on system stability and optimization based on state models and how the model is related to the construction of the system.

of the important African languages and also offers course work in African history and geography. Officials have hopes of developing it into one of the best in the world if budgets are increased.

Speculation in educational circles is that Northwestern hopes to surpass MSU's efforts in the African studies field. The Illinois university has already hired Gwendolyn Carter from Smith College to direct its African program. She is eminent in the African field and Berry and Wolff will be associated with her.

"Berry and Wolff are two of the best instructors in this country in the instruction of African languages," said Stanley R. Townsend, chairman of foreign languages. "This is a serious loss to the development of linguistics here."

Legislature Requests Prayer Amendment

A resolution proposing a "free exercise of religion" amendment to the Constitution was approved Wednesday by the house of representatives.

The resolution, introduced by Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids, proposes that the "free exercise of religion" clause include the right to offer prayers in public schools.

"This resolution has been blown way out of proportion," a representative said. "Actually the federal Constitution assures the right to freedom of religion."

The resolution was carried on a 76 to 26 vote.

"Whether we agree with this resolution or not, we almost have to vote for it, or face the task of explaining to each and every religious person in our district why we voted against the 'religion proposal,' the representative said.

"It actually doesn't matter how we vote," another representative said. "The proposed amendment will be sent to Congress and it has the final say. But it doesn't like to be dictated by the states."

CAPTION: Two Month Change

By JEROME CAPLAN
State News Sports Editor

Two months ago today the Spartan basketball team was in Philadelphia. The team defeated Pennsylvania at the Palestra and pushed its unblemished mark to the 4-0 point. Today the Spartans are in East Lansing, and Philadelphia seems more than 620 miles away.

The days of glory appear to have passed for the 1963-64 State cage squad. For the Green and White it's a fight to stay above the 500 mark, and a winning season may be a December day dream.

Coach Fordy Anderson has said that the game with Iowa has to be won, and it certainly does.

The Spartans must win four of their five remaining games to have a winning season. Three wins will put them at an even 12-12.

None of the four foes, Iowa (whom they meet twice), Northwestern, Illinois and Ohio State, is the top team in the Big Ten, but the Buckeyes and the Illini are a pretty close second.

The Spartans have won only two of their last eight games. On that basis they may have to settle for one more win this season. Iowa is about the weakest of the four teams and offers State its best chance to win.

Two months can bring about quite a few changes.

In two more months basketball will be forgotten in East Lansing.

And quite a few people will probably be happy to have it that way.

Hawkeyes State Cage Foe

Michigan State's basketball team, mired in a seventh place Big Ten tie with Iowa and Wisconsin, will have the opportunity to escape another disastrous season Saturday night when the Iowa Hawkeyes move into Jenison Fieldhouse for a game that could decide who will occupy the Big Ten cellar. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Spartans have won three and lost six in the conference and stand 9-10 overall, while the Hawks are 2-4 in the Big Ten and 7-8 against all opposition. The Hawkeyes, despite not having a man in the top 20 Big Ten scorers, must be reckoned with. The youthful squad, under Coach Sharm Scheurman topped rapidly improving Indiana 82-75 Monday and are expected to be tougher than their record indicates. Three sophomores dot the starting lineup and Scheurman seems happy about it. "Our sophomores are coming of age," he said. "They have given us punch and spark."

George Peoples, a 6-8 native of Ecorse, will be the starting center. The big sophomore is averaging 8.3 points a game and is the number two rebounder. The Spartans are likely to counter with their usual lineup of Pete Gent and Marcus Sanders at forwards with Fred Thomman at center and Stan Washington and Bill Schwartz at the guards.

JIM RODGERS is the all-time series.

One bright spot for the Spartans is the fact that they have won six of eight games at home this winter which lends some hope to Coach Fordy Anderson. The University of Illinois will be at Jenison Monday. State will be seeking to reverse an 87-66 defeat rolled up earlier this season at Champaign.

Wrestling Squad Off To Hoosierland

Michigan State's wrestling team, down to the .500 mark for the season, travels to the University of Indiana to face the tough Hoosiers Saturday night. The meet will be the last dual meet away from home this season for the Spartans, who are now 3-3-1. Smarting from a 22-5 beating at the hands of Pittsburgh last weekend, State will attempt to rebound against the Hoosiers, who sport a 2-2 record. Indiana possesses three undefeated wrestlers who promise to make things tough for the Green and White. The trio are Bob Campbell, at 130-pounds; Bruce Curth, 137-pounds; and Dick Isel, at 177-pounds. In addition, they have the massive Dick Conaway, a towering heavy-weight who is both taller and heavier than MSU's Homer McClure. Last year, the pair fought to a 1-1 draw, making the return match quite an event. McClure, who currently boasts a 5-0-2 record, is currently State's top performer. Top point maker for the team is 167-pound Terry Leonard, with a 2-3 record.

Already reeling from a long string of personnel losses this season, Coach Grady Peniger's team suffered another recent setback when sophomore ace Dick Turnbull, ready to return to action after a three week layoff due to a rib injury, broke his jaw in practice prior to the meet with Pitt. Compounding the difficulties, the Spartans will be without the services of Dick Cook this week due to a persistent stomach ailment. Cook, however, figures to be ready for next weekend; big meet with Michigan. Indiana has a tough team, one which will present a real challenge for State. The Hoosiers are just off NCAA probation for illegal recruiting, and are eligible for the first time in four years to send representatives to the national wrestling championships.

Family Swim Two Nights

Family night swim at the Women's IM Building will be held tonight and Saturday night, the later on a trial basis. Crowded conditions during the Friday 6-9 p.m. swim have forced the IM Department to open the pool Saturday night from 6-8. If a sufficient number of students and their families make use of the facility on Saturday night, Saturday evening swims will become a permanent feature.

No Rest For 'S' Swimmers

Members of the MSU swimming team never have time to catch their breath any more. They spent the past two weekends competing against national powers Minnesota and Michigan, and this weekend Ohio State invades East Lansing, promising more of the same. The Buckeyes finished fifth in the NCAA meet last season when Michigan placed third and Minnesota fourth. Ohio State will face the Spartans at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the IM Pool, and they'll be hitting the water with an impressive record. The Buckeyes have earned five dual meet victories this year, with their lone defeat coming at the hands of Minnesota. They also have the top individual medley swimmer in the country, Mary Hull, who has won the event in the past two NCAA meets. Stiff competition will be nothing new for the young Spartans who showed promise, while gaining experience, in close losses to the Gophers and Wolverines. The Spartans will be making their first home appearance since they defeated Purdue three weeks ago. Since that time Darryle Kifer, Lee Driver and Neil Watts have put varsity records on the books. Kifer in the 50-yard freestyle, Driver in the breaststroke and Watts in the 500 freestyle all set marks against Michigan last week. All-American Dick Gretzinger, Plymouth junior, remains unbeaten in the individual medley after surviving challenges at Minneapolis and Ann Arbor. Spartan divers have been improving steadily. Dick Van Lowe and Shawn McCormick finished 1-2 against the Gophers with Van Lowe scoring 283.20 points, while placing second to NCAA runner-up Ed Boothman of Michigan last week.

Fencers Make Final Home Show

More like a special mission than a dual meet, Michigan State fencers will take on the University of Wisconsin and Iowa in their final home appearance at 1:30 p.m. in the IM sports arena Saturday.

It will be the Spartans' second encounter with the Badgers who were runner-ups along with Illinois last year in the Big Ten fencing championship won by State. In the first outing between the two schools at Colorado Springs two weeks ago, State was forced to forfeit the matches because of two ineligible starters. This enabled the Badgers to emerge victorious.

everybody will be eligible. There will be no chance for a slip up nor will we be at the tender mercy of a railroad or Western Union," Schmitter was referring to the failure of Grand Trunk officials to deliver a telegram from Athletic Director "Biggie" Munn

Icemen Meet Wolves In Home, Home Series

State's hockey team will face its toughest opponent to date when they meet Michigan in a home and home series this weekend.

which would have prevented any competition by the ineligible fencers. The Spartans went on to defeat both Wisconsin and best team Air Force, but later forfeited the bouts.

"What we'll show them this time is that, man for man, we can take them," the determined Spartan coach said.

Friday night's game will be played at 8 p.m. in the Spartan Ice Arena, and Saturday's game will be played in Ann Arbor. State has a 5-10 record, after splitting a couple of games with Minnesota-Duluth last weekend. The Maize and Blue, who share the Western conference lead with Minnesota, are 14-2 for the season.

Improving Gymnasts Set To Face Indiana

The Spartan gym team will seek its fourth victory of the season at Indiana tomorrow afternoon.

The meet comes after MSU's 64-47 win over Navy Pier last week which was highlighted by a 98.5 performance by NCAA champion Dale Cooper on the still rings.

In Indiana, the Spartans will be facing a team which is winless in three Big Ten outings this season. Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota have each chalked up victories against the Hoosiers.

Top performers for Indiana are Bob Lilly and Keith Ruggles. Lilly works on the trampoline with Ruggles performing on the side horse.

The Green and White have captured three victories in five outings this season, and the Indiana match marks the first of four away meets leading up to the Big Ten championships at Madison, Wis., March 6 and 7.

Coach George Szypula called the showing against Navy Pier "one of the best I've seen."

Besides Cooper's performance, Ray Strobel scored 92.5 while winning the trampoline, Ted Wilson tallied 91.5 on the horizontal bar, and Todd Gates

In sabre, the Spartans are led by Captain Lou Salamone defending Big Ten champion with support from sophomores Mark Haskell and Melvin Laska.

The MSU foil squad Nels Marin, Bryan Kutchins and Lew Leonard has provided the Spartan team with fine depth in this weapon.

State's weak spot remains epee where the loss of number one man John Lewis has been felt most.

"I'm looking forward to an improved performance in epee this week since the men have been working hard at fundamentals in practice," Schmitter said.

proved performance in epee this week since the men have been working hard at fundamentals in practice," Schmitter said. "If practice bears any fruit, we should be better than in our previous meets."

Fem Cagers Beat Kazoo

The MSU girls varsity basketball team won their opening game of the season Wednesday evening, defeating Kalamazoo College, 63-31.

Co-captains Phyllis Huerstel and Ruth Backus paced the scoring attack with 27 and 19 points, respectively. Kay Stoney and Mary McConnell were the defensive standouts easily outbounding the Kalamazoo squad. The Spartans led, 40-19, at half-time.

The team will play their first home game of the season Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the Women's IM Building against Michigan.

Coach Marjorie Smith thought the team showed good balance against Kalamazoo and praised the defense for confusing and outplaying the opponents.

Ski Report

New Snow Helps

LAST WEEK BOYNE, THIS WEEK ? -- State Ski Club members Charles Market (l.) and Lowell Dobson were at Boyne Mt. last weekend. This weekend the boys probably will be trying another slope.

Thursday's snowfall was a boon to weekend skiers. Many resorts had predicted poor skiing because of the lack of snow. Western Michigan areas received more than three inches and other areas had two to three inches of new snow.

The conditions around the state are as follows:

EAST MICHIGAN Slopes----

Excellent--Snow Valley and Burns Apple Mountain.

Good--Grayling Winter Sports Park, Mt. Frederick, Sylvan Knob, Mott Mt., Au Sable Lodge, Sky Line, Otsego, Sheridan Valley and Silver Valley.

Fair--Isoughton Lake Snow Bowl, Mio Mt. and Forno.

WEST MICHIGAN SLOPES---

Excellent--Briar Hill, Eskar, McGuire's Winter Park, Nub's Nub and Ward Hills.

Very Good--Avalanche and Walloon Hills.

Good--Big Mt., Boyne Highlands, Boyne Mt., Caberfae, Carousel Mt., Crystal Mt., Missaukee Mts., Mt. Mancelona, Pando, Thunder Mt. and Traverse City Holiday.

Special--Echo Valley, skating excellent, tobogganing good; Nexago Winter Park; opening with more snow.

SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN Slopes----

Excellent--Leyden and Mt. Brighton.

Very Good--Alpine Valley, Mt. Grampain, Irish Hills, Mt. Christie, Mt. Holly and Pine Knob.

Good--Summit.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: JIM HEYER

When he joined the Wisconsin Telephone Company in August of 1962, Jim Heyer (B.S.E.E., 1960) immediately learned to design television transmission circuits.

No "make-work" assignment, Jim's job calls for him to develop circuits for use throughout Wisconsin. He also goes into the field to check the effectiveness of his designs once they're in operation.

There are many decisions to make, and many to defend. But Jim enjoys the challenge and has the ability to meet it. No wonder raises come much sooner than expected.

Jim Heyer, like many young engineers, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.
