City Council Opposes Open Housing Plan

By NECIA BROWN
State News Staff Writer

An open housing resolution presented by the Human Relations Commission met strong opposition Monday as several members of the East Lansing City Council denied the need of such an ordinance.

Most vocal of the opposition—Councilman Max R. Strother said that he had not seen any problems in East Lansing regarding discrimination.

"I don't know of any problems," he said. "There may be a few, but I haven't heard of them. When there is a problem, it can be referred to the council and we can consider it then. But I was put on the council by the people of East Lansing, and they have expressed a definite opposition to this proposal."

After over an hour of heated debate, the resolution requesting an open occupancy measure to terminate discrimination in East Lansing housing was sent back to the Human Relations Commission for clarification.

"It seems to me that the language is more prescriptive than a declaration of principle," Gordon L. Thomas, East Lansing city mayor said. "I think it would be best to refer it to the city attorney for rewording."

Strother expressed the belief that there was actually nothing to refer to the city attorney. "The city attorney is busy enough without giving him something that we may find out doesn't really exist," Strother said. "I have no cause to believe that the people who elected me are in any way in favor of an open housing ordinance. In fact, they have expressed just the opposite view."

No action was taken by the council on a request that the council adopt an ordinance including criminal penalties to persons who attempt to interfere with or harass individuals who are selling, renting, or buying property.

"It is premature to ask the council to take action at this point," Strother said. "It really isn't an issue yet. I would hate to think that East Lansing was only the third or fourth community in Michigan to implement such measures. It seems like we are stepping ahead of ourselves."

"Somehow I think we should be 'stepping ahead,'" Thomas said. "Leadership seldom hurts any community. I don't think that a statement of our belief about discrimination on the basis of race, creed or color will hurt us."

Thomas said that it was about

Group To Rewrite Housing Law

A cloud of City Council disapproval hangs over the East Lansing Human Relations Commission as it meets tonight.

The commission's recommendation for an open housing ordinance was flatly defeated by the City Council.

A fair housing resolution with no legal means of enforcement was referred back to the commission to be rewritten. The resolution expressed city opposition to racial discrimination by realtors or brokers.

It would have empowered the Human Relations Commission to attempt mediation and conciliation in cases of discrimination. The commission would also have been able to aid persons in preparing suits for the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The City of East Lansing would have had no legal power under the resolution to prosecute persons who practice discrimination in housing.

However, the City Council basically felt that the resolution was too strong. The Council maintained that the resolution should state broad principles rather than prescribe specific measures to combat discrimination.

A third Human Relations Commission recommendation which would have provided punitive measures for persons who interfere with anyone selling property was tabled. The proposed ordinance was aimed at interference with anyone wishing to buy or sell property on an open occupancy basis.

The resolution and the two proposed ordinances were the commission's first attempts to recommend human relations policies to the City Council.

PICKETS PROTEST ALLEGED SEGREGATION -- Marching in front of the Administration Building and the East Lansing City Hall, pickets protested the stand taken by the City Council against open occupancy.

Student Pickets Protest Vote Defeating Open Occupancy

Nearly 100 Negro and white students picketed campus and community centers Tuesday to protest stands taken by East Lansing City Council members Monday night against open occupancy.

Led by campus National Association for the Advancement of Colored People adviser Robert L. Green, assistant professor of education, and President Melvin M. Moore, the students and a smattering of faculty members and area clergymen picketed in front of the Administration Building for about an hour, then moved to the City Hall and East Lansing Savings and Loan, both on Abbott Road.

The demonstration was aimed specifically at three Council members who vocally opposed open housing legislation in East Lansing. They are Max Strother, assistant to the MSU purchasing agent, Kenneth Dillinger of East Lansing Savings and Loan, and Tod Kintner, a realtor.

Strother, the target of the pickets at the Administration Building, was surprised at the student protest, saying that as a representative of the property owners of East Lansing, he has no information from any residents favoring open occupancy.

"I find no fault with integration," he said. "I just don't think we have to have laws to force it."

He also said that he concurred with the courts of Michigan that municipalities can have no housing ordinances with punitive measures.

Dillinger and Kintner could not be reached for comment.

Green, a member of the East Lansing Human Relations Commission, which recently passed a resolution to recommend an open housing ordinance to the City Council, said that Monday night's hearing on the ordinance was "not well received, not to my surprise."

He said that the issue at stake is greater than an ordinance. "These people (Strother, Dillinger and Kintner) will aid East Lansing residents in housing discrimination."

NAACP student leader Moore, Inkster junior, said, as he supervised the picketing in front of the bank, that the students are concerned about housing problems in East Lansing.

"When they rent in the city, they are also residents," he said. "They want to feel free to go anywhere to rent an apartment."

Moore said that it is difficult to recruit student demonstrators at the end of the term, but promised that formal plans to combat housing discrimination in East Lansing would be made this summer and launched fall term. He said that national leaders of the NAACP, Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) would be summoned to East Lansing this summer to advise local civil rights groups.

New Event At Cowles House

Miss Hannah To Wed Here

Cowles House, host to a long line of foreign dignitaries, national officials, faculty and students, will ring with wedding bells for the first time in its history this month.

Mary Elisabeth Hannah, daughter of President and Mrs. John A. Hannah, will be married in a small home wedding June 13 to Myron Curzan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Curzan, New York City.

The wedding will be held in the garden of Cowles House if weather permits.

Miss Hannah, 24, attended Wellesley College in Massachusetts during her freshman year and returned to MSU to complete her undergraduate work.

She received her master's degree in political science from Yale University and is now completing work on her doctorate. She was the recipient of a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for graduate study.

Curzan, also 24, did his undergraduate work at Columbia University. He also studied at Yale on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship and received his master's degree in political science.

Miss Hannah and Curzan met while they were both at Yale. Curzan is now working toward his doctorate in political science and a law degree at Columbia.

Miss Hannah and Curzan will live in Washington, D.C., this summer. Curzan will be working with the law firm of Burling and Covington.

The couple will return to New York City in the fall. Miss Hannah will teach in the political science department at Brooklyn College while her husband completes his studies at Columbia.

The entire Hannah family will be home for the wedding. The Hannahs have three sons.

Shastri Vows To Continue Nehru Policy

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Lal Bahadur Shastri, born to poverty in a land where poverty is a way of life, pledged Tuesday as the nation's new leader to build "a new social order" for India.

And answering the question world capitals have been asking, he promised to continue the non-aligned foreign policy laid down by his predecessor, Jawaharlal Nehru.

The moderate socialist, thrust into leadership at the age of 59, outlined his hopes and goals to a news conference after a triumphant appearance before parliament.

Networks Predict
53% For Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater fought a photo-finish battle last night in tabulations from California's man-killer Republican presidential primary.

With Goldwater running strongly in populous southern California and Rockefeller ahead in the San Francisco area, the two aspirants for the party's nomination seemed likely to go down to the final count before either would emerge as the winner.

U.S. Must Meet Asia Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said Tuesday "the future of Southeast Asia as a whole is at stake in Laos and Viet Nam. He said the United States "cannot fail to do its full share to meet the challenge."

In a lengthy statement opening his first news conference since May 9, Johnson underscored official concern about Communist military advances in Laos and South Viet Nam.

But he announced no new American moves. And he denied that the United States has prepared plans for carrying the Vietnamese guerrilla war into the northern part of that country.

Johnson declined to discuss probable results of this week's Honolulu meeting to review the ominous trend of events in Southeast Asia, except to say it should help "improve our effectiveness and our efficiency."

Johnson began a discussion of Southeast Asia by saying four basic themes govern U.S. policy there.

First of all, he said, "America keeps her word."

Johnson went on to say that, "The issue is the future of Southeast Asia as a whole"—the second of his four "basic themes."

Third, he said, "Our purpose is peace."

And fourth, he said, "this is not just a jungle war, but a struggle for freedom on every front of human activity."

The see-saw nature of the contest was emphasized by the variance of returns from the count-down of about 2 million Republican votes.

Associated Press tabulations showed Rockefeller with a slight and dwindling lead.

NBC, which first showed Rockefeller ahead, reported Goldwater pulling ahead, 118,004 to 102,572 for Rockefeller.

CBS said that on the basis of its returns from 42 model precincts Goldwater would win with about 53 per cent of the vote.

Pollster Samuel Lubell, who had predicted that Rockefeller would win, said on a New York radio broadcast (WOR-RKO general) that Goldwater was carrying Lost Angeles county perhaps substantially enough to win the state.

Generally sunny skies brought a heavy turnout of voters in a primary in which 86 GOP and 154 Democratic convention delegates were chosen and Senatorial and House nominees were named by both parties.

Tabulation of the vote seemed likely to be relatively slow because of the bewildering variety of candidates and state issues.

The California campaign seemed likely to leave some lasting political division among the Republicans in this key state.

Basically the contest was between the conservatives who backed Goldwater and the liberals who supported Rockefeller.

Price Fixers To Pay $29 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Six of America's biggest electrical equipment manufacturers Tuesday were ordered to pay nearly $29 million to two Philadelphia utilities for fixing prices and rigging bids in the sale of power transformers.

A federal jury fixed damages at more than $9.6 million in the civil antitrust case, and U.S. District Judge John S. Lord III promptly trebled, as allowed under the law.

Khrushchev Calm On Berlin Issue

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev gave British visitors Tuesday the impression of a relaxed attitude on the German question. The Soviet Union was believed to regard divided Berlin as no source of immediate danger.

Informed sources said these were the impressions of Harold Wilson, British Labor Party leader, after a two-hour meeting in the Kremlin.

Wilson discussed with reporters only some aspects of his talk with Khrushchev. He said Soviet officials are "just as worried as ever about the Western plan for a mixed-manned force of North Atlantic Treaty nations." The sea force would be armed with nuclear weapons.

Senate Maneuvers As Cloture Vote Nears

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern foes of the civil rights bill switched tactics Tuesday and called for votes this week on some of their proposed amendments but Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said "no possibility."

The jockeying for votes in next Tuesday's cloture showdown also was highlighted by efforts of President Johnson and his Democratic leaders to stress that he is keeping hands off, despite the prospects of a hairline margin one way or the other.

Negotiations Break Down At Hillsdale

(UPI) -- Negotiations between Essex Wire Corporation officials and the International Union of Electrical Workers have broken down.

The two sides have been meeting with state mediators in Lansing in an effort to terminate the strike that had idled the Hillsdale plant since February 28th.

Earlier Tuesday, Gov. George Romney ordered additional national guardsmen to Hillsdale and authorized the company to resume production.

The company was closed by Romney's state of public emergency order last Thursday.

George Gould, a union official, says the negotiations broke down when in his words, "the company insisted it had the right to replace our men with scabs brought in from out of state and from out of Hillsdale."

He says all the economic issues are at stake—wages, union shop, and Union dues checkoff.

State Mediator Malcomb Lovell said, "we'll get them together and we'll get a settlement—but not today or tomorrow."

No new negotiation sessions have been scheduled.

Remember Off Campus Housing?

Construction is beginning this week on the University's seventh coed residence hall, and plans have been announced to build two more in time for a September, 1965, opening. This will bring the total dormitory capacity to about 17,000 students.

New ideas are incorporated into every dormitory, and the University is evidently attempting to find the most satisfactory type of dormitory arrangement to suit both students and parents.

But we wonder if it might not be worthwhile to look at an alternative to the expanding and expensive dorm system.

Last term a move was under way by All-University Student Government to study off-campus housing and see if anything could be done to make it more suitable and more available to more students. A resolution was passed saying AUSG favored a lowering of the off-campus housing age from 21 to permit any student who has lived in dorms three terms to move "off" with his parents' permission.

Along with the resolution went a statement that more information was needed before the administration could be expected to look at such a resolution with anything but a wary, and perhaps a smug, smile.

A revised AUSG study fall term might help considerably to ease the way for a change in the future, if handled with administrative cooperation. Veterans of three terms in the dorms should be given an opportunity to move off-campus, but not until the facts of the situation have been unearthed.

The anticipated enrollment increases will be more than enough to fill all the University's dormitories, even with the big jump in capacity that will result from the building going on.

If the need for liberalization of off-campus housing can be proven to the satisfaction of each group involved, there is no reason why upper-class students should have to expect to remain in dormitories until their 21st.

Sound Off, '61 2 3 4

"With all deliberate speed," All-University Student Government finally will launch "Operation Sound-Off" next fall on the east steps of the Union.

The plan to establish a campus "Hyde Park" where students and faculty could speak out on any topic was passed by AUSG in 1961. President Bob Harris' administration is the first to take it off paper and put it in action.

Harris will climb the steps himself to get the program underway next September, the second week of fall term, speaking about student government, often a controversial topic.

AUSG has structured the first few "Sound-Off" sessions and hopes that speakers will take their verbal stands spontaneously after that.

Whether a new MSU tradition will grow out of these first sessions remains in question. If students feel a need to express themselves in the manner of Londoners, "Operation Sound-Off" could provide a campus corner for stimulating and controversial discussion.

If the program falls flat, the cause will rest with students and faculty who apparently had "no comment."

The Answer's Bib-Overalls

Editor's Note: James P. Sterba, Owosso junior, looked askance at the fashion situation, and came to the following conclusion.

Since white levis get progressively harder to get into after each trip to the wash machine, some people might think a style change is in order. How about bib-overalls? They are practical, fashionable, long-wearing and quite a bit looser fitting.

For one thing, bib-overalls are roomy. They contain an almost uncountable number of pockets, cravasses, and inserts that would surely eliminate the book-carrying right arm. On the right leg of these "downhome folks" blues there is a little pocket just big enough for a slide rule. If you are liberally inclined, this pocket could be used for the State News—or the Wall Street Journal, if the financial listings in the State News do not suffice.

The New York Times won't fit here, except on Tuesdays.

The back pockets of these "bibs" are much larger than on the outmoded whites. At least two paperbacks could be tucked into each pocket. Maybe even a small note-taking booklet, since most note-taking is done on a small scale anyway.

In keeping with the university "don't litter" appeal, the front pockets prove most useful. One of these pockets per student could eliminate several trash collecting jobs and thus add countless greenbacks to the university's dwindling treasury. The trash collectors could possibly be transferred to the State Capitol lawn.

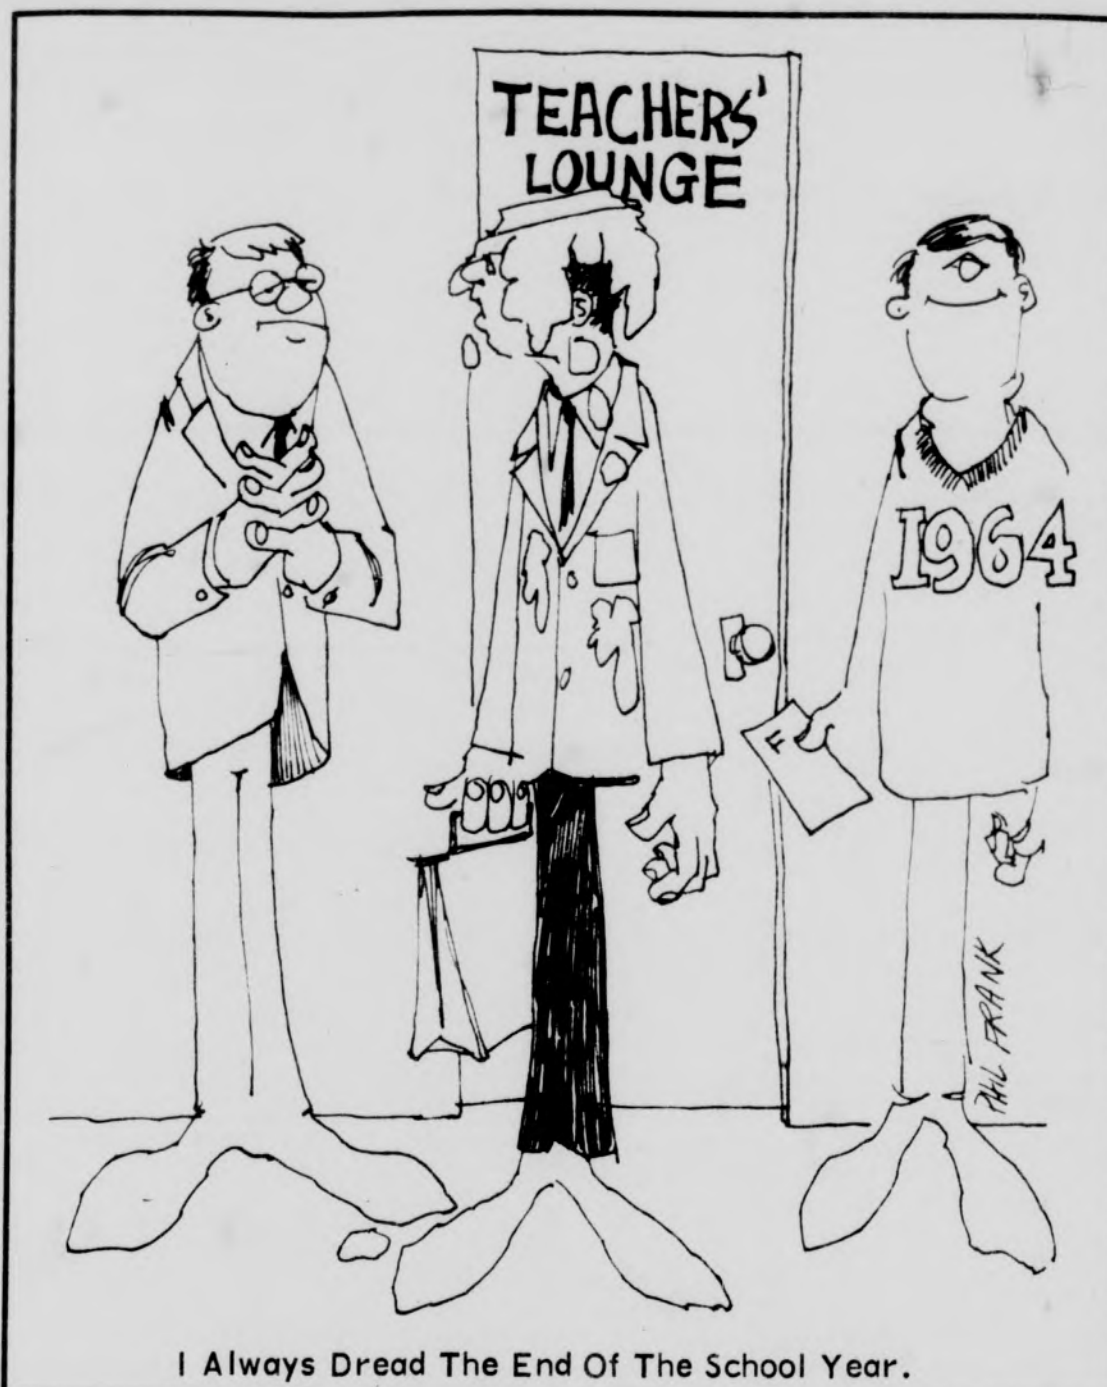

Anyway, numerous cigarette butts, gum wrappers and computer test result sheets can be stuffed into these front pockets for later deposit in the incinerator.

The front bib portion of the overalls could serve many useful purposes. Convenient slots occur here for pencils, traffic tickets, and even the few dollars it takes to get your bicycle out of hock.

This front shield would eliminate long ties on dressy occasions like the J-hop or Water Carnival. It would also keep soup off your white shirts.

If this new dress really caught on, maybe the clothiers would produce pastel shades for the ladies. Or maybe Shiawasee green for those who want to pass for natives of that area. Bib-overalls seem the only sensible dress for dynamic, but practical students with an eye toward nobler things.

Just think of the time you would save getting into them in the morning.

There will be no student driving on campus next year. Let's walk down to Bogue Street and see our new $250,000 footbridge.

Diplomacy is what a student needs when his professor finds him writing "no class today" on the blackboard.

One hard-hearted professor stated, ir regardless of the clock, that his class would start as soon as he arrived. So we came early and locked the door.

Letter To The Editor

Hits Morals, Korean Style

To the Editor:

A problem evident in Korea, as well as at MSU, is the subservient role compassion and empathy play in inter-personal relationships. Here, contempt for Koreans by American soldiers is the poignant manifestation of subservient compassion. And the Army is ambivalent.

At MSU, perhaps ascribable to an impersonal campus atmosphere, the current morality squabble is to me also a manifestation of this same destitute human compassion.

Empathy is produced by comedy: The Shiawasee grasser proved this. Compassion is instilled by insight: Sue Jacoby's column of 22 May did this.

So the MSU morality perplex has a solution. Now, solve the Korean-American moral decadence.

Point Of View

Talk Could Solve Arab-Israeli Feud

By Moshe Ben David

Editor's Note: Moshe Ben David, Tel Aviv, Israel, graduate student, is an agricultural economics major. His Point of View is a response to an earlier column commenting on the Arab-Israeli conflict.

As astonishing as it might seem to some, I believe that Mr. Khadduri's article has to be appreciated for its merits. The Arab-Israeli dispute has reached the stage in which not only "what" is said is important, but even more, "how" it is said.

Therefore, we should not overlook the fact that Mr. Khadduri attempted to discuss the problems with an unemotional and objective approach.

Even though Mr. Khadduri had been badly misled while studying the problem, we should appreciate his good intentions, and help him reveal the true facts. I do not believe that either Mrs. Edelson or Mr. Spar were entirely effective in accomplishing this.

I am sure that if Arabs and Israelis could meet and discuss matters, many of the present problems could be solved.

I agree with Mr. Khadduri that the Arab-Israeli problem is neither racial nor religious. I am sure that, after becoming acquainted with the facts, Mr. Khadduri will agree that the problem is not even an ideological one.

If Mr. Khadduri was allowed by his government to examine with an open mind the living standards and conditions of the 250,000 Arabs who now live in Israel as Israeli citizens, he would not have mentioned the above.

I agree with Mr. Khadduri that the refugee issue is not the problem, and if it is then the Arab refugees are unique. All parties involved with the Arab refugee situation know that it could have been solved long, long ago. The fact alone that Israel has absorbed as many Jewish refugees from Arab states as there were Arab refugees should bear this out.

Three facts which Mr. Khadduri failed to present make the refugee problem a unique one. First, the territory that should have become the Arab state of Palestine, according to the United Nations resolution of November 29, 1947, was annexed by two Arab states: Jordan and Egypt.

Secondly, on December 31, 1946, according to figures supplied by the mandatory Government of Palestine to UNSCOP, the total number of Arabs in unpartitioned Palestine was 1,288,000. Of this number, about 600,000 were resident in the former mandated territory, later annexed by Jordan and Egypt. About 100,000 Arabs never left Israel, and an additional 40,000 returned to Israel since the state was established.

The important point that Mr. Khadduri failed to mention is that many Arabs did not leave Israel to exile but to other parts of former Palestine, as mentioned above.

Thirdly, the majority of Arab refugees have remained the only group of this kind, who out of political considerations are compelled to remain refugees and have not been accepted by their own people.

Finally, I agree with Mr. Khadduri that the problem is essentially human-psychological. The fear of Israel, which he presented as a "security problem" can be explained in irrational terms only. How can seven Arab states, which have huge resources and a population of 55 millions, fear one tiny state, whose resources are very limited and whose population is only 2.5 million?

Swamps, Stumps Dotted Landscape

Editor's Note: This is the first of a three-part series on the physical growth of the University.

In 1858 you could stand near the site of Beaumont Tower and throw a rock to a swamp in any direction.

William J. Beal, who published a 50-year history of MAC in 1915, wrote that behind Morrill Hall, where a parking lot is now there was "a small tamarack swamp with a pond from which issued the deep voices of bull frogs; and from there along the lowest ground to the present open ditch by the seven willows, and spreading toward the dwelling long occupied by President Abbot... was a huckleberry swamp."

Madison Kuhn, professor of history and University historian, says that marsh water used to cover the sidewalks in front of Wells Hall. Students finally got tired of wading to classes and one night stood the sidewalks on edge in protest.

The seven willows Beal mentioned are gone. The swamps are gone. The open ditch which had to be bridged about half way between the president's house and the main sidewalk is covered by large tiles.

When the school was opened in May, 1857 with 63 students and five faculty members there were a few buildings located in two large clearings with hundreds of stumps.

Grand River Avenue cut into the college property in front of the president's house and angled back to the main highway between where the Union and Home Economics buildings are now. The highway was called the Plank Road. Today it is the north lane of Grand River Avenue.

The Plank Road joined Detroit and Grand Rapids and has been credited with being partly responsible for Lansing's existence.

The land for Grand River's south lane was given to the city many years later by the school. Until then the campus line on the north was marked by a double row of American Elms with a fence between them. The fence is gone now but a few of the elms remain on the boulevard.

Beal described campus landscape this way:

"No one claims that our campus is kept as well as those of Hunnewell and of Sargent in Massachusetts, where wealth and labor without stint have made the details most complete, but we can justly claim the finest campus, all things considered, of any institution of learning in North America."

"Now and then a person viewing our beautiful and extensive grounds deplores the fact, saying that it is a poor example to set our students, none of whom can ever hope to possess anything approaching it, but most people think the beautiful surroundings cannot help exerting a healthful influence on the life of those who remain here for some time."

The word "campus" was not used here until it appeared in the 1885-86 catalog. Until then it was called the college farm or the State farm.

Harold W. Lautner, campus landscape architect, was hired in 1946 to "try to make some order out of the growth." Lautner has treated the campus like an aboretum.

"There always has been a reluctance to remove trees," Lautner said, "but it was a question of humans or trees." Most of the trees removed were sacrificed for roads and building sites.

Today, over 4,500 varieties of trees, shrubs, and woody plants are included in the 22,000 trees on campus. Burt D. Ferris, superintendent of grounds, estimates the replacement cost of the trees, which he points out are esthetic objects and hard to assign a certain value to, would be about $5 million.

Some of the credit for the 7,900 evergreens might well go to the writer, James Russell Lowell, who called upon President Hill to "be remembered among your other good things as the president that planted the groups of evergreens for the wind to dream of the sea in all summer, and for the snowfalls to roost on in winter...."

Ball Sees De Gaulle On European Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said Tuesday President Johnson has instructed Undersecretary of State George W. Ball to confer with French President Charles De Gaulle in Paris Friday. The announcement said they would discuss "questions of mutual interest."

George Reedy, White House press secretary, said Ball would meet in London Monday with British officials, whom he could not name at this time.

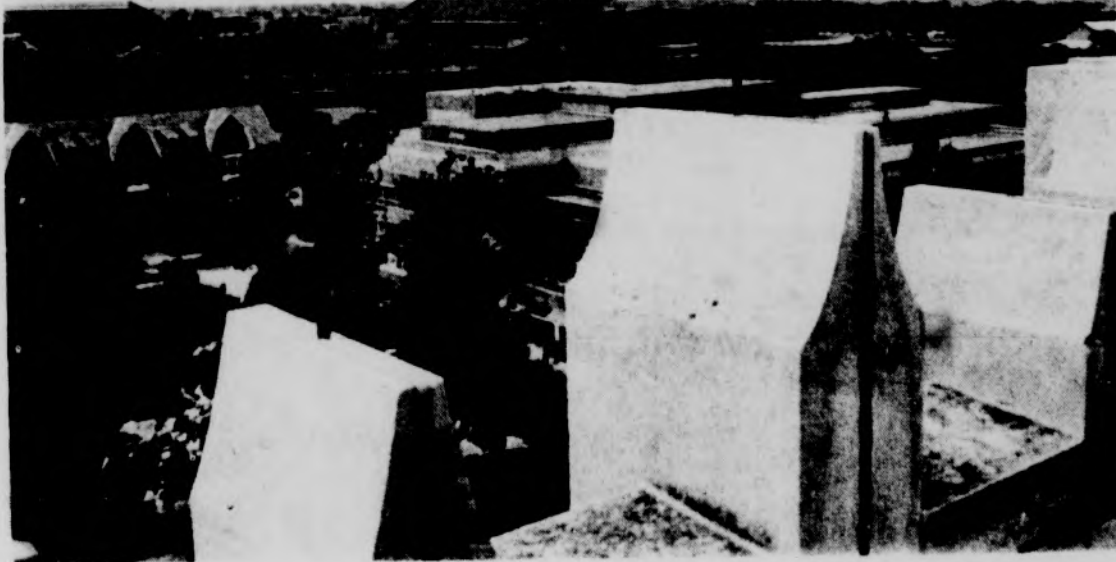

Asked whether the main purpose of the sessions was to talk about Southeast Asia, Reedy said he would not go beyond his statement that questions of mutual interest were involved.

Reedy said Ball would visit Paris and London during a European trip originally scheduled to permit him to attend closing sessions of the United Nations conference on trade and development at Geneva. Reedy indicated Ball would go to Geneva after his talks with French and British officials.

Public Snaps Up Satellite Stock

NEW YORK (AP)—The space-minded public snapped up $100 million of stock in the Communications Satellite Corp. (COMSAT) Tuesday.

Sale of the 5-million-share offering in the space communications venture was cleared Tuesday morning by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Demand was so heavy that brokers rationed stock below the 50-share limit per customer set by the government.

Earlier, another 5 million shares were allotted to 163 companies in the communications industry at $20 a share. American Telephone and Telegraph Co. invested $58 million.

The $200 million raised by the stock sale will finance a system of relaying signals around the world via space vehicles.

Some of the shares bought by the public quickly found their way into the over-the-counter market where the price spurted to $25.

These dealings were by traders looking for a quick profit.

One broker said perhaps 500 million COMSAT shares could have been sold if available.

Many buyers apparently felt that COMSAT represents an opportunity to get in on the ground floor of something like American Telephone and General Motors.

The prospectus for the stock pointed out that while the stock is government blessed it is not government guaranteed. It warned that the stock is not expected to pay any dividends for "an indeterminate period."

Type II Polio Vaccine To Be Given Sunday

Type II Sabin oral polio vaccine will be administered Sunday, the third and final "Sabin Oral Sunday."

Students and faculty may obtain the vaccine at Olin Memorial Health Center between 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Dr. James S. Feurig, director of Olin, reminded those who have had the previous vaccines to bring the cards they received with them.

Feurig also recommended that persons who have not had the first two types begin taking the vaccine Sunday and pick up the remaining types from another clinic or their family physicians.

Several people have asked Feurig if they should receive the vaccine which Olin is giving if they took the first treatment during Detroit's polio prevention program.

Feurig advised against this since two different types of serum are being used and mixing them could give the person who receives them a false sense of security.

Olympic Swim At Pool Today

Spartan athletes will be the ones to benefit from an Olympic fund-raising drive today at the IM outdoor pool. "Donations contributed will be earmarked toward the Olympic events in which Michigan State students hope to compete," said Steve Powers, president of Union Board, which is conducting the drive.

Mentioned as possible entrants for the upcoming Olympics were swimmers Gary Dilley and Ken Walsh and canoeists Marcia Jones and Chris Kluter.

Members of the Spartan diving team will be on hand from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. to give special exhibitions from the high board.

The drive is the first of its kind at MSU. Last year, an Olympic track night was sponsored by the Spartan athletic department.

Athletic Director Clarence "Biggie" Munn, chairman of the national Olympic fund drive, expressed his approval of the student-sponsored event.

"Since this is one of the last chances for persons to contribute to the fund," Munn said, "I feel it is a tremendous idea."

Varsity Club Fetes Outstanding Athletes

The annual Michigan State University Varsity Club Chicken Fry and Awards program will be held at 6 tonight on the athletic field adjoining Jenison Fieldhouse.

Burt Smith, freshman football coach and adviser to the club, said the induction of eight honorary members, four on campus and four off, into the club will take place at the program.

The new members, while not participants in any varsity sports, are to be cited for their contribution to Michigan State's athletic program over the past year.

Next year's new officers will also be revealed, while several awards will be given to various individuals for outstanding athletic accomplishments.

Included among the special honors are the Chester Brewer Award, the Big Ten medal, four Varsity Club awards and six Varsity Club appreciation recognitions.

In addition, each letter-winning graduating senior will receive a certificate specifying the sport in which he participated.

Michigan State's three conference indoor track winners, Jim Garrett, Mike Martens and Bob Moreland will be feted along with State's Big Ten 400-yard swimming relay team champions.

Retiring officers are President Dick Proebstle, Dave Mutchler Vice-president, Secretary Joe Porrevecchio and Treasurer Bill Mann.

Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans aren't the only ones for whom the road ahead is an uncertain one.

Persons testing bumpers next fall in the Saturday motorcades to Spartan Stadium may also find themselves in a similar situation.

The uncertainty stems from the completion last January of a new interchange, I-496, feeding into the Lansing vicinity from the south.

While a welcome addition to the Michigan highway system, the new four-lane interchange may prove an unwelcome headache for university traffic planners.

Maintaining an equal flow of cars onto the campus from various points appears to be the major concern of the Department of Public Safety.

This, compounded by the ever-changing physical layout of the campus itself, creates a constant challenge for Director Richard

O. Bernitt and his staff.

Pointing to a six-foot, glass enclosed wall map of the campus and its surrounding areas, Bernitt outlined the following tentative plans:

--Traffic from I-496 will be directed to Trowbridge Road, left onto Harrison Road, then right into Stadium Road. Parking facilities will include the lots bordering Wilson Hall on the south and east.

--Traffic heading east on Mt. Hope Road will be handled in commuter lot X near McDonel Hall and the parking ramp opposite Shaw Hall.

--Kalamazoo St. traffic will be fed into lots adjoining Demonstration Hall and the intramural fields north of Case Hall.

--Traffic on Grand River Ave. will be allowed entrance to the campus at Haslett St. and Hagadorn Road. Formerly, cars were allowed to enter at the Harrison and Abbott entrances.

Parking will be available in lots C, D, E, P, and S in the neighborhood of Erickson Hall and the Engineering building.

The new bus transportation system, effective next fall, will not conflict with football games, Bernitt said.

All lots reserved for faculty parking until 12 noon will be made available when the football traffic rush follows.

Presently under study, he said, is the possibility of providing commuter service with the 10-bus fleet which will be put into operation by the University at that time.

"We are beginning to plan at this time so as to accommodate the anticipated shift of traffic to I-496," Bernitt said. "We will probably be in as good shape as we have ever been if we can make the adjustment."

NCAA Tourney Here

USC, UCLA Net Favorites

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

The biggest names in college tennis will vie for the biggest prize in college tennis in two weeks, and it will all take place at MSU.

A total of 23 schools have entered the NCAA meet which will run from June 15-20.

Among the entrants are defending team champion Southern California and reigning singles king Dennis Ralston. Both the Trojan squad and its number one man will be hard-pressed to retain their crowns against a strong field of challengers headed by UCLA.

The Bruins finished runners-up to the Trojans in last year's team scoring, and their top man owns two decisions over Ralston this season.

Arthur Ashe topped Ralston twice this season, and the UCLA and USC teams split their two dual meets by 5-4 scores.

Ralston can also count on a stiff challenge from Northwestern's Marty Riessen who finished runner-up to him in last year's meet and who placed second in the 1962 meet as well.

Gym Show Tomorrow

Gym Coach George Szypula's HPR 338 class will present a gymnastics show Thursday night at 7 in the Jenison third floor gym.

Several football and basketball team members will be among the gymnasts. Tumbling, apparatus and trampoline exhibitions will be included in the program.

Admission is free to the annual show.

Spartans 46-29

MSU spring sports teams had a combined win-loss record of 46-29 in dual meet competition this year. The baseball team had the most wins (22), while the golf squad suffered the greatest number of defeats (12). Only the track team was undefeated in regular action.

OUR 35th YEAR IN EAST LANSING

State Conference Team Bat Leaders

Michigan State finished the Big Ten baseball season with a flourish of base hits to capture the Conference team batting title with a .278 mark.

The Spartans led the league in early season, but lost the number one spot to Michigan midway through the year. On the final weekend of conference play, however MSU ripped out 35 hits to out-distance second place Ohio State by 22 points.

State also had the somewhat dubious distinction of being the most generous allowor of hits with opponents rattling the Spartan mound staff for a .288 percentage.

Indiana was third at .256, with Wisconsin paced by Big Ten leader Fred Reichardt (.472) a close fourth with a .255 mark.

Second place Michigan hit .254 to finish fifth, with Iowa (.242), Conference champion Minnesota (.236), Northwestern (.219), Illinois (.219) and Purdue (.191) rounding out the standings.

State also shared the home run leadership with Minnesota belting eight round trippers and took the slugging percentage crown with a .397 mark as Dick Billings (.563) and Jerry Sutton (.510) finished fifth and sixth in the individual standings.

Reichardt became the first player in the modern era to repeat as the league's batting champion despite going only one for eight the last week of play. He edged Ohio State's Arnie Chonko by one hit.

Both men were at the plate 53 times, but Reichardt had 25 safeties to Chonko's 24 and finished 19 points above Chonko's .453 average.

Ron Tate of Michigan finished a distant third at .378 and Bill Davis, Minnesota's first baseman was right behind with a .377 mark. Spartans Billings and John Biedenbach were fifth and sixth with respective .375 and .354 records. Bill Niedbula from Iowa followed at .351 and teammate Ron Shudes hit .341 for eighth place.

Rick Nash of Indiana and Minnesota's Duane Marcus both finished with .33 averages to conclude the top ten hitters.

In addition to Billings and Biedenbach, Michigan State had five representatives who qualified for the crown. Bob Maniere was twelfth at .327, Sutton's .306 mark was 18th, Joe Porrevecchio hit .286 for 22nd place, Mal Childean was 27th at .261.

Bruce Look, who won the Big Ten RBI championship, driving 13 runners home, was 39th with a .211 percentage.

Joe Wins State 9's MVP Tag

Senior Spartan outfielder Joe Porrevecchio received the team's Most Valuable Player trophy at the annual diamond awards banquet Tuesday evening.

Six other Spartans were honored at the ceremonies held in nearby Mason.

First baseman Jerry Sutton received a watch for being the leading hitter on the club. Sutton's .383 boosted him into the top spot over Porrevecchio, who hit at a .347 clip.

The Most Improved Award went to junior outfielder Dick Billings. Billings lead the team in home runs and runs-batted-in this season.

Sophomore lefthander John Krasnan won the Outstanding Pitcher Award. Krasnan posted a 6-2 mark during the season and notched a 1.98 earned run average, while throwing 81 2/3 innings of ball.

Team captain Mal Childean received a jacket from the team.

A sophomore and a senior took the "humor" honors. Rookie John Biedenbach won the "ball with a handle" for having committed the most errors during the season (15), while senior catcher Wade Deal won an award for bearing the brunt of the most Spartan jokes.

NCAA Tourney

Ralston ranks as the number two amateur tennis player in the country, and Riessen will enter the meet on the crest of his third straight Big Ten singles championship.

MSU will be one of four Big Ten teams sending a team to the meet. Others include Indiana, Northwestern, and Michigan.

Coach Stan Drobac will use a four-man contingent of Tom Jamieson, Tony O'Donnell, Dwight Shelton, and Charlie Wolff.

Competition will consist of four singles entries and two doubles teams with scoring based on one point for each match.

There will be 71 men involved in singles play, with 35 doubles teams vying for honors.

The field represents schools from every section of the country and includes Stanford, California, Washington, Texas, Kansas, Florida, and Army.

Tournament matches will be scheduled on the basis of how players are seeded by coaches before the meet.

First day's action will be free to the public.

After that, students may purchase a ticket for the rest of the week for $3, with adults paying $5 for a similar ducat.

Tuesday through Thursday action is being priced at $.50 for students and $1 for adults with the cost rising an additional $.50 for Friday's semifinals and another $.50 for Saturday's finals.

Tickets are currently available at Jenison Fieldhouse.

Grid Traffic

for that of any other Big Ten school," he said.

Distribution of parking facilities throughout campus and the unusual number of access routes have prevented what might otherwise be a serious traffic problem, Bernitt said.

"I've read where Indiana University has only one two-lane highway leading into campus," he said. "On football Saturdays this creates traffic jams stretching for miles because of conflicting left lanes."

"And their seating capacity is nowhere near ours," he said.

CSO Takes Softball Title

CSO captured the All-University Intramural Softball Championship Tuesday night by defeating Keystone Kids, 10-0, in an error-marred ball game.

Keystone's six misuses, combined with the two hit pitching of CSO's Jim Schneider gave the winners an easier than expected title.

CSO took the lead in the opening inning, knocking out three hits and bringing in four runs. The big blow was a home run by Dave McDowell, with two men on base.

The champions scored again in the third inning, taking advantage of three errors and three hits. Schneider helped his own cause with a two run double and Bernie Sermak and Paul Rumhor added singles to put three more runs on the scoreboard.

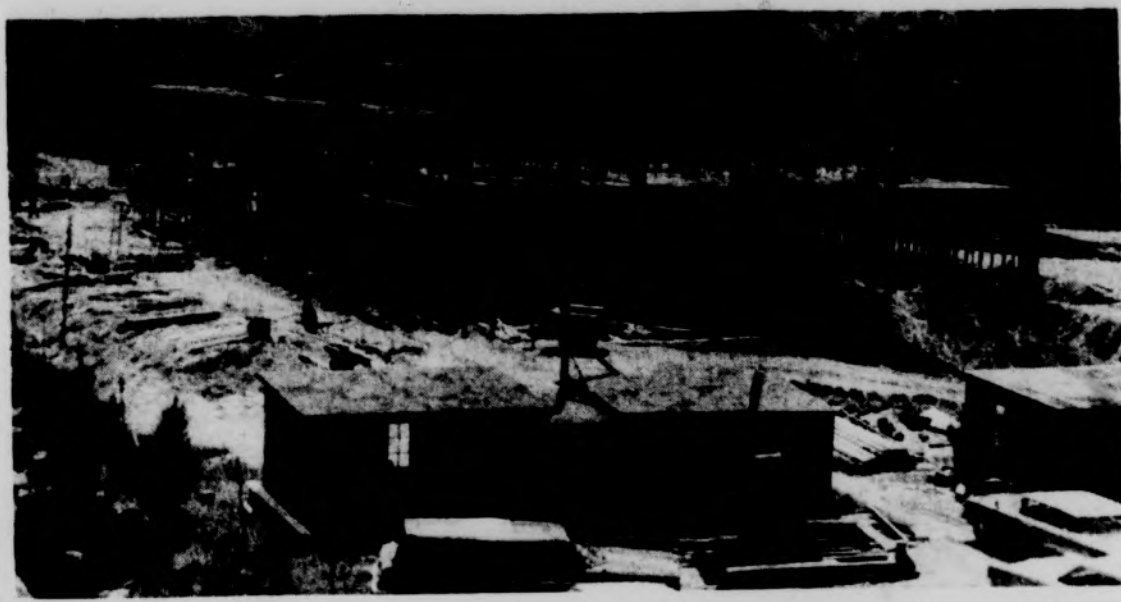

In the fourth inning McDowell, Sermak, Rumhor and Gary Schneeborg singled to add two more runs. In the final frame CSO put the tenth run across, when Bill King scored after walking to start the inning.

Both teams substituted freely in the fifth, giving all team members a chance to play.

Flowers Honor Anniversary Of Pope John XXIII's Death

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The crypt containing the tomb of Pope John XXIII was filled Tuesday with the perfume of flowers brought by mourners on the eve of the first anniversary of his death.

Bunches of red roses, white, pink and red carnations, gladiolus and sweet peas were placed on the floor around a wreath of red carnations and oak branches.

Two nuns worked silently finding places for the flowers visitors brought in all through the day.

"We can't place them all inside the crypt," said one of the nuns. "And they keep coming."

Visitors queued silently before the small crypt in the narrow corridor beneath the main floor of St. Peter's Basilica. They knelt briefly at a bench across the crypt entrance, then left to let others kneel.

Pope John died at dusk last June 3, at the age of 81.

Bailey 7 Repeats Volleyball Victory

Bailey 7 successfully defended its residence hall volleyball crown Tuesday night defeating Empowerment, 15-4, 15-4.

Bailey entered the finals by topping Windsor, 15-0, 15-6. Empowerment outdistanced Cachet, 15-8, 15-5, in the other semi-final game.

Typhoid Outbreak To Be Studied

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—With hospital cases continuing to mount, the British government ordered an investigation Tuesday into the cause of an outbreak of typhoid in Aberdeen. The toll rose to 241 confirmed cases and 30 others suspected.

While the government claimed the evidence as to the cause was still inconclusive, Aberdeen's health officer stuck to his previous verdict that the epidemic sprang from an imported can of corned beef. The beef was sliced on a supermarket meat slicer and spread to other meats, he said.

"There is no shadow of a doubt, on all the evidence, that this outbreak started from a tin of corned beef," said Dr. Ian MacQueen.

The health officer named two brands sliced out of six-pound cans at a delicatessen counter. Both came from South America, and he said one recently came from government food stocks. But he wasn't sure which was responsible.

"It is like trying to solve a murder when the body has been thrown into a pool of alligators," he told newsmen.

Michael Noble, secretary of state for Scotland, was more cautious in giving the government's account of the affair to the House of Commons. He said there was no positive evidence that the two brands mentioned by MacQueen could have been responsible.

American Studies Seminar To Define Usefulness Of Sociology Of Literature

Miss Williams will discuss the sociology of literature as a discipline and define its particular consciousness as a useful aid to literary theory and criticism.

Some Officials Optimistic

Asia Conference Ends

HONOLULU (AP)—Some of the U.S. officials winding up a top level strategy conference on Southeast Asia were reported Tuesday to feel the deterioration in South Viet Nam has stopped.

However, it was understood this feeling was not wholly shared by others in the group of senior civilian authorities and military leaders who have been studying the situation behind closed doors.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and a plenipotentiary of key policy makers planned to leave for Washington Tuesday night after two days of intensive discussions at Pacific command headquarters.

Their recommendations will be handed to President Johnson for final decision. The group's proposals began to take shape in the first day of the policy review, but their substance was kept secret.

In addition to an exhaustive intelligence briefing, the conferees heard reports from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge on the trend of events in South Viet Nam, and similar evaluations from U.S. diplomats stationed in Thailand and Laos, two other Communist-threatened countries the United States is pledged to preserve.

It still was not clear to U.S. officials here whether the pro-Communist Pathet Lao intends to push beyond the Plaine Des Jarres in Laos.

Pathet Lao conquest of the Plaine, and the route of neutralist troops, helped create a crisis atmosphere surrounding the Southeast Asia policy review ordered by Johnson.

In South Viet Nam, the Communist Viet Cong capitalized on the confusion and disorganization stemming from two military coups. They stepped up their attacks on hamlets and their terror tactics in general.

But now, some informants said, there are signs this situation is

"bottoming out," to use an expression popular in the Pentagon.

Meanwhile the Communist Chinese showed they are very much aware of the strategy talks here.

The Peking People's Daily carried an article saying "American overlords who are planning military adventures in Indochina by means of 'escalating' maneuvers at the Honolulu conference 'will sink' ever deeper into the quagmire of aggression in South Viet Nam."

And Communist Vietnamese Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap declared Communist victory in South Viet Nam can be achieved only through violence and what he called a "war of liberation."

Student Jailed For Theft From Library

A student was fined and jailed Tuesday for the theft of books from the campus library.

Francis B. Nelson, Richmond, Ind., freshman, pleaded guilty to simple larceny in the Lansing Township Court. He was fined $75 and $19.90 cost and sentenced to five days in jail.

A resident in Nelson's dorm reported seeing a torn book in Nelson's room. Investigating officers said that the books had not been checked out of the library.

Nelson previously had been given "a chance to straighten out" for similar incidents.

Symbolic Of Certain Ideas

Prof Creates Rock Dragon

A one-year-old, 25-foot long dragon has been resting quietly in the backyard of Shao Chang Lee, professor of religion, at 233 River St. since the summer of 1963.

It is the form of a Chinese rockery which stands like a monument to Lee's artistic imagination and sensitivity to nature.

The creature is an abstract piece of art and is in sections rather than continuous. But its builder does not mind if you see something else when you look at it. In fact, he invites you to do as he does and allow your imagination to turn single stones into perhaps an owl, an American general, or a Chinese thinker. The dragon of stone is supposed to be symbolic of "certain practical ideas," Lee said.

To the Chinese, rocks represent strength of character. Therefore, the rocks making up the dragon are not cemented together, He said.

"Each depends upon the other and they stand together, reflecting at the same time the spirits of independence and interdependence," He pointed out that very few Chinese paintings don't include the rock, which emphasizes its importance to them.

But these are not the professor's only thoughts as he admires, cares for, and improves his rockery. He thinks of rocks as prehistoric things of "many colors and combinations that are too beautiful to be described."

"They reveal that once upon a time they have been chipped by winds, waters, heat, and frost and have been polished by sands, washed by waters, and sculptured by them."

The largest section, which is near the middle of the dragon, stands about four and a half feet high. It is the most elaborate one, because it includes a small waterfall, a cave, and many other decorations, such as miniature pagodas, temples, and Chinese people going from place to place.

Lee and his wife, Nora, came here in 1943 after 21 years at the University of Hawaii in Honolulu, where he was professor of Chinese civilization and language.

The Lees established the International Center at MSU in 1944 and directed it for eight years. For several years they lived in the house across the drive from President Hannah's, which was then the International Center where American and foreign students met for cultural exchange.

In 1960 he retired after 17 years as head of the department of foreign studies.

Miss Bishop is from Glenview, Ill., while Mansberger is from Evanston, Ill. They both have 2.8 all University point averages.

Miss Bishop was vice-president before becoming president of her sorority, Delta Delta Delta. Mansberger was president of his fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha, this year.

Both were on Senior Council, Miss Bishop as Swingout chairman and Mansberger as Homecoming chairman. Both worked on the IFC-Panhel Ball, with Mansberger heading the ticket committee. They were also on Greek Week and Water Carnival committees.

A social science major, Miss Bishop also worked on one of the Green Splash Water Shows and was a Spartan Ambassador.

Mansberger is an electrical engineering major and has worked on the membership and international relations committees for IFC. He was selected Mr. MSU and is in Blue Key Honorary.

Mansberger plans to enter industry after graduation.

Students Win Fellowship

Two students of Hausa, an African language, have won fellowships to study advanced Hausa at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh this summer.

John Ritter, Huntington, W. Va. junior in electrical engineering, and Curtis Huff, East Lansing graduate student in political science, received the National Defense Modern Language Fellowship after studying one year of Hausa at MSU.

They are the only two students enrolled in the course here.

AUSG Aids Drop-Outs

Help for the student who drops out of MSU may soon be available.

All - University Student Government President Bob Harris announced that the executive department's Academic Affairs division will undertake a study of MSU drop-outs in order to help the University better advise students who are considering leaving school.

'65 AUSG Seminar Selects Population Explosion Theme

Plans are already being made for a conference next year similar to this year's "Winds of Change in the Emerging Nations" seminar.

All-University Student Government President Bob Harris said the conference will have the population explosion as its theme. Margaret Phillips, Coppersville sophomore, is director of the program.

Harris, Bryan, Ohio, junior, said AUSG will share the cost of the conference with several University departments.

Prof Receives Bid Into National Retail Honorary

Stanley Hollander, marketing professor, will receive one of the highest honors in the field of retailing: membership in the nation's only retailing honorary fraternity, Wednesday.

Hollander will be one of four persons initiated into Eta Mu Pi fraternity at the group's annual induction ceremony today in New York City. He will become only the second educator selected to join the fraternity.

Hollander will be cited for his "leadership and attainments in business and active interest in retailing education."

Before joining the MSU faculty in 1958, Hollander taught at the Universities of Pennsylvania, Minnesota and Buffalo. He has also been a visiting professor at the University of California, Berkeley, and UCLA, and visiting lecturer at the University of Colorado.

His business career includes service with two retailing firms and as a business analyst for the Consumer Good Division of the Office of Price Administration.

Top Conductors Will Direct Students Here This Summer

Four prominent American conductors and eight first-chair symphony orchestra musicians will direct a group of 100 talented young American and Canadian string instrumentalists on campus again this summer.

The sixth annual Congress of Strings will be held from June 21 to Aug. 15, under the sponsorship of the American Federation of Musicians.

Returning to Michigan State for the fourth consecutive year, the Congress is designed to develop first-rate string players for United States and Canadian orchestras.

Conductors include Mishel Piastro, conductor of the Longines Symphonette; Alfred Wallenstein, former conductor of the Los Angeles Symphony; Richard Burgin, associate conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra; and Victor Alessandro, conductor of the San Antonio Symphony.

Piastro will conduct the 100-piece student string orchestra the first week of the summer session. Wallenstein will work with the orchestra for three weeks; Burgin for two weeks; and Alessandro for the seventh and eighth weeks of the Congress.

Four public concerts are scheduled by the string orchestra: June 25, conducted by Piastro; June 16, Wallenstein; July 30, Burgin; and Aug. 13, Alessandro.

They will be held in the Auditorium and the Fairchild Theatre.

Program details will be announced later.

Chamber music recitals by Congress faculty members will also be presented during the eight week session.

Paul M. Oberg, chairman of music education at the University of Minnesota, will return as dean of the Congress of Strings.

Instructors for the intensive music education program include conductor Piastro, who is former concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic; Rafael Druian, concertmaster of the Cleveland Symphony; Louis Krasner, professor of violin and chamber music at Syracuse University; Frank Houser, concertmaster of the San Francisco Symphony; and Hyman Goodman, concertmaster of the Toronto Symphony.

Also appointed as instructors for the congress: William Lincer, principal violinist with the New York Philharmonic; Robert Jamieson, principal cellist, Minneapolis Symphony; Theodore Salzman, formerly principal cellist with the Pittsburgh Symphony; and Warren Benfield, double-bassist with the Chicago Symphony.

Students of the string congress are limited to 100 winners of community auditions conducted by local chapters of the A.F. of M. The successful contestants, all string instrumentalists between the ages of 16 and 23, are awarded full scholarships for the eight week session at Michigan State.

Many of the instrumentalists of past string congresses have won permanent positions with major symphony orchestras, according to Herman Krenin, president of the American Federation of Musicians.

Troops Reassemble To Defend Bukavu

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo. Several hundred Congolese troops routed by pygmy rebels in battle Sunday 30 miles south of Bukavu were reassembled under official prodding Tuesday for defense of that Kivu province capital.

Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo's army commander, was reportedly planning to send an infantry battalion—400 to 600 men—north from Katanga to help cope with the uprising of the fierce little Bafulero warriors. The crisis atmosphere appeared easing at Bukavu, a city with about 500 whites among its 80,000 people, even though the threat persisted of an attack by the five-foot-tall tribesmen who are reportedly led by a Peking-oriented extremist, Gaston Soumialot.

A spotter plane pilot Monday sighted about 200 Bafulero archers and spearmen approaching the city by a mountain road. U.N. authorities deliberated on whether they should send in 180 Nigerian U.N. troops alerted here Monday for possible duty in Bukavu, 1,000 miles east of Leopoldville. All the U.N. soldiers, now totaling 3,405, are due to leave the Congo by June 30.

Bukavu radio stations announced the return to duty of five companies of Congolese soldiers who fled into the neighboring republic of Rwanda after suffering about 100 casualties in the Sunday battle at the village of Kaman-yola.

Col. Leonard Mulamba, a tough and energetic Congolese officer, and a 10-man Rwandan detachment headed by a lieutenant combined to rally the troops and get them back across the frontier. Two of the companies were immediately ordered into outpost positions 10 miles south of Bukavu. Apprehension was aroused in the white community Monday by a decision of the United Nations to withdraw the wives and children of the 40 U.N. civilian staff members working in Bukavu. But a Belgian source said that had subsided.

However, some others were leaving. A U.S. embassy official said the wife and six children of U.S. information officer John Graves were sent from Bukavu to Rwanda. One man and two women were removed from a scientific research station near Bukavu. About a dozen Swedish missionaries planned to pull out. U.S. embassy sources said no evacuation orders had been given to about 30 American missionaries.

Kidney Disease Strikes Student

Club Asks Aid For Nigerian

The International Club is accepting contributions for a former Nigerian student, Abraham Adedire, to defray recent medical expenses. Adedire is a victim of chronic nephritis from which he could die at anytime.

Adedire, a 1962 graduate, was doing graduate work here until the first critical attacks occurred in January. He is presently working at the Union Book Store.

After the first attack, Adedire spent three weeks at the University of Michigan Medical Center and in April underwent two weeks of tests at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston.

The disease is characterized by high blood pressure, general weakness and headaches. When the condition gets acute, a kidney transplant operation must be forthcoming. Either Adedire's sister or his mother will donate their kidney for the operation.

"The attack could come tomorrow or in a few years, he said. 'There is a one in a million chance of success.'"

Adedire is married to a former MSU elementary education major and is the father of two children, Elizabeth, 2 and Ester, 1. He and his wife met as students.

Adedire's student medical insurance and some of his own funds went to pay the $800 cost incurred at the U-M medical center.

"My government is willing to bring me back home (Nigeria), but after I'm home expenses are my own problem," he said.

He still receives his scholarship money from the Nigerian government even though he dropped out of classes in January. He, his wife and their children plan to go to Nigeria in June or July where he hopes to work for the government for a year before returning to Boston.

Anyone interested in contributing funds should make checks payable to the MSU Foreign Student Emergency Fund. Contributions should be sent to the International Club, UN Lounge, Union Bldg.

Pickets

"The University could do a lot more to influence East Lansing," Moore said. "It seems to be trying to keep from extending its power."

President John A. Hannah, chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, could not be reached for comment on Moore's statement.

About 35 students, mostly Negro, started the pickets at 1:30 p.m. around the Administration Building. Numbers grew to almost 100 in an hour, then the students dispersed. About 30 went to picket in front of the Savings and Loan Building and the City Hall annex for another hour.

Sometimes more whites than Negroes were in the picket lines. A passerby remarked, "They've even got white boys in the line."

A clerk in a drugstore said as the students crossed Grand River Avenue, "What is this, the freedom fighters?"

The pickets carried signs comparing Strother to Alabama's Gov. George Wallace and Michigan to Mississippi. One sign depicted Strother and Dillinger as Ku Klux Klan men controlling the East Lansing City Council.

The council stated its principles.

"After our 'friendly debate' the other night," Strothers said, "it seems to me that the council isn't ready to state any principle. We should wait and see what happens first, and then we can meet and concur, then we can fall in line. There's no pressure, no rush."

Another fair housing ordinance was introduced, with punitive measures. It was defeated by a 3-2 vote on the grounds that the council couldn't be certain of the "legality" of the measure, that is whether or not the council was within its legal rights to pass a punitive measure.

Strother said that it was wasting the city attorney's time even for him to investigate and rule on the legality of the punitive measure.

"Until we decide to pass such an ordinance," he said, "it is a complete waste of time. I am not convinced that the law is going to be the answer to this problem."

"Government involvement and control over personal freedoms is an extension of the federal government's power into the home. In matters pertaining to real estate, there is a matter of rights, the right for an individual to dispose of his property as he sees fit. His reasoning should be his own."

Strother predicted that laws "infringing upon this right" have little chance of succeeding.

New Honorary Heads Elected

The MSU chapter of Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic honorary, elected new officers for 1964-1965.

They are James Hudek, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, president; Kermit Terrell, Berby, Kan., vice-president; Mary Conroy, Foley, Minn., recording secretary; Catherine Maup, Detroit Junior, corresponding secretary.

Housing Law

rewrite its resolution, chances are very slim that it will reach the City Council by its next meeting. The resolution will probably have to be referred to the commission's subcommittee on housing for rewriting. It will then have to be voted on by the full commission again.

There has been some speculation that a new housing proposal will be introduced by James R. Ehinger, a realtor. Ehinger started the community last month by casting the deciding vote in favor of the open housing ordinance which was defeated by the City Council. He said after the meeting that he would introduce some "new ideas on the subject" at the June meeting.

The commission meets at 8 p.m. in the East Lansing City Hall.
