Power Plant Project Progresses With Pacts

By LINDA MILLER
State News Staff Writer

Michigan State's $8.9 million power plant project gathered momentum Thursday with the approval of construction contracts totaling $1.8 million.

Secretary Jack Breslin expressed pleasure that the State Board of Education awarded the contracts.

The project was launched this year under a $4 million appropriation from the state legislature for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965.

MSU's budget request, which goes to the legislature in January, includes a $4.9 million request to continue the power plant project.

If the legislature appropriates the amount, Breslin said, "I'm hoping for steam by January of 1966."

Largest in the construction contracts awarded by the State Board Thursday went to the Christman Co. of Lansing on a low bid of $1,648,498 for general construction.

The closed feedwater heater contract was awarded to Whitlock Manufacturing Co. of West Hartford, Conn., for a $43,252 bid.

L.A. Water Conditioning, Inc., of City of Industry, Calif., was low bidder on water treatment equipment for the power plant at $147,550.

The power plant is being constructed two-thirds of a mile south of Spartan Stadium between the Grand Trunk Western and the Chesapeake & Ohio tracks.

The south power plant, located near the stadium, will continue power to the north plant. The north plant near Agriculture Hall will gradually be phased out when the new plant is completed.

Physical Plant Department officials have expressed concern since 1956 that present heat and power facilities are inadequate to handle the new buildings opening on campus each year.

The University has been generating its own power since 1884 when Robert C. Kedzie connected a dynamo to a gasoline engine to make the chemistry building, which now carries his name, the first campus building with electric lights.

Drought Hits Dorms

No showers, no laundering, and no washing hair became the rule for dormitory residents Wednesday night.

The reservoir had run low. Wednesday afternoon a section of a new water main at Forest Road and Farm Lane came apart, Lyle L. Loomer, maintenance superintendent, said.

In addition, maintenance workers had shut off the well lines and reversed five water lines in lines near the packaging laboratory to make a cut into one of the water lines.

As a result of this combination, the University drew more heavily than usual on its reserve water supply on Shaw Lane, west of the Engineering Building.

Until Thursday morning restrictions were placed on water usage to allow time for water recovery.

Two May Lose Rank, Privileges

WASHINGTON 4—Strengthened House liberals planned full steam ahead Thursday on a projected party purge of Southern Democratic congressmen who supported Republican Barry Goldwater.

"We say the main point is that these congressmen are not liberals," said Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., leader of the liberal group that wants to run them out of the party.

"We do not feel that they have the right to return to our fold, with all the prerogatives and privileges and committee assignments of party membership," Blatnik said in a telephone interview from Duluth, Minn.

Heading the liberals' purge list are Reps. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., and Albert W. Watson, D-S.C., who openly supported Goldwater's presidential candidacy.

Watson is just entering on his second term, but the veteran Williams is second-ranking Democrat on the House Commerce Committee, and is high on the District of Columbia Committee. If he is ousted from the party, he would lose these choice assignments, the product of long party seniority.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., another leader of the liberal group, said, "I think the really important thing is for the majority of the majority—the overwhelming liberal Democratic majority in the House—to exercise its power in about the same way as the Republicans have. They are very conservative, and conservative Republicans go on the important committees."

"If we want to function effectively in terms of what the electorate said—whether it was anti-Goldwater or pro-Johnson—we are going to have to take command of our side of our committees," Bolling said in a Washington interview. He added:

"The party is for mediocre, there is no doubt about that. It is for a whole set of things. If we are blocked in the Rules Committee, it's the party's fault."

"It is not enough to have a majority on the floor of the House. We have got to get the material from the committees for that majority to work on."

Winter Sign-Up To Begin Monday

All students who plan to register winter term begin enrollment Monday under a renovated system designed by the Office of the Registrar.

Enrollment officially opens Monday according to the following schedule:

Nov. 11 or 12 L-R
Nov. 13 or 14 F-K
Nov. 17 or 18 A-E

Some departments elected to complete advising ahead of the above dates. Students who have seen their advisors already are instructed to continue enrollment in the Union according to these dates.

All other students must see their advisors first according to the schedule. Each completes a student schedule card by entering section and sequence numbers. This card must be

Suspended Probation Carries No Penalties

Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, clarified the two charges against MSU, Thursday, which resulted in a three-year suspended probation, pending probation.

He said at least 10 student-athletes participating in football received improper financial assistance in the form of free transportation between their homes and the university and received additional benefits of cash allowances, spending money and tuition payments.

A secret fund, which contained as much as $12,000, existed on campus in 1957.

Byers also said the suspended part of the penalty was added because the violations occurred seven years ago, that the liability period had probably expired, and the violations were reported by Michigan State officials.

Since that time no other violations have occurred.

MSU President John Hannah said the school regrets that six years of strict compliance with all NCAA rules and regulations did not count for more with NCAA council.

Hannah added, however, that the school was gratified that the investigation corroborated with MSU findings and those of the Big Ten that there has been no violation of the regulations since 1958-59.

There was no Big Ten action and State is entitled to conference competition while waiting out the suspended probation.

MSU was put on probation 10 years ago for much the same charge.

Arthur Bergstrom, assistant director of the NCAA, announced Thursday that MSU was still in the graces of his organization.

"Michigan State is in good standing with the NCAA and is eligible to compete in any event sponsored by our organization," he said.

Bolivian Army On Top After Bloody Fighting

LA PAZ, BOLIVIA (P)—The army appeared to be in firm control of La Paz Thursday after a riotous night of fighting between soldiers and supporters of ousted President Victor Paz Estenssoro that left possibly 40 dead. About 150 were reported wounded.

Gen. Alfredo Obando Candia, who announced he was heading a military junta until new elections can be held, was trying to form a cabinet. He is commander of the armed forces, whose revolt in the interior sent Paz, 57, fleeing to exile in Peru Wednesday.

Much of the rioting during the night was blamed on Bolivians celebrating the downfall of a president many called a dictator. Private homes of former cabinet members and police were sacked.

But there was serious fighting between the army, backed by the national police, and the civilian militia organized by Paz and which remained loyal to the end.

The militia opened fire on the armed forces command center. The fighting did not end until soldiers stormed and occupied the militia headquarters.

Vice President Rene Barrientos, who triggered the military revolt, remained at his home in Cochabamba, 350 road miles south of La Paz. An air force general, he was expected to play an important role in the new regime.

Space Probe: Object-Mars

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The U.S. has begun the most difficult space mission it has ever tried. A Mariner Television Spacecraft was launched from Cape Kennedy this afternoon aimed at the planet Mars.

If all goes as planned, the space probe will travel for eight and one-half months, then send back pictures of the mysterious "Red Planet."

Scientists hope it may give some clue to the controversial "canals" that seem to line the surface of Mars.

Campus Blood Drive Nears Goal, Finish

Today is the last day of the blood drive. Demonstration Hall will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. As of 5 p.m. Thursday a total of 1,016 pints have been received since the drive's opening Monday.

"I am fairly confident we will go over our goal of 1500 pints," said Kirby Hanson, chairman of the drive, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega.

Leading in the men's living unit competition is Armstrong Hall, with 147 donors and 30 per cent participation. East Shaw is close behind with 131 donors and 21.3 percent participation. Women's living unit contributions have been less. With only 8 donors, North Campbell is in the lead. This figure represents 4.7% of the women.

Gilchrist has two more donors than Campbell but only 4.4 per cent of Gilchrist donated.

Farmhouse is leading in the fraternities and Alpha Omicron Pi in the sororities. Farmhouse has 85 per cent participation and AOP 38 per cent.

Co-op leader is Bower House with 96 per cent.

Awards will be presented at 6 p.m. in the Student Center Saturday.

Handling presenting awards will be Don Coleman, all American football player of 1951.

The Loser: Two Party Gov't

The Johnson landslide, which crushed numerous moderate Republicans along with Sen. Barry Goldwater, presents the two-party system with a serious challenge.

President Johnson, piling up popular vote majorities ranging from 60 to 70 per cent in most states, pulled hundreds of congressional, gubernatorial and state legislative candidates into office with him. All indications point to four years of virtual one-party government in the United States.

The Democrats will control 284 of 435 seats in the House of Representatives, the largest majority for either party since 1936. The heavily Democratic composition of the Senate remains unchanged.

Democrats also won 20 of 25 governorships which were at stake Tuesday. The Republicans had controlled seven governorships before the election.

Throughout the nation, moderate Republican candidates did well ahead of Sen. Goldwater.

In New York, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating lost his race to Robert Kennedy by 500,000 votes. Keating received a million and a half more votes than Goldwater, but Kennedy was able to defeat him on the strength of Johnson's tremendous lead.

Gubernatorial candidate, Charles H. Percy ran nearly 500,000 votes ahead of Goldwater in Illinois. However, he was defeated by Democratic incumbent Otto Kerner.

In Ohio, Robert A. Taft Jr. appears to have been narrowly defeated by incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young. It is incredible that Taft, whose father was known as "Mr. Republican," could be defeated in his home state. He was another lukewarm Goldwater supporter who went down to defeat in the Johnson landslide.

All of these candidates were placed in an "damned if I do, damned if I don't" position in regard to Goldwater. Those who declined to support Goldwater lost votes from aggravated conservatives, while their Democratic opponents continued to tar them with the Goldwater image.

A Lone Survivor

We are happy to note that Gov. George Romney was not among the missing after the Republican debacle Tuesday.

Romney's brand of "Michigan Republicanism" has served the state well. While Romney cannot take credit for the economic prosperity of the past two years, he is responsible for sound state fiscal administration, a record allotment for higher education, expanded mental health facilities and outstanding work to obtain full civil rights for all citizens.

"Integrity in government" is a cliché which has been overused

There are a few notable survivors in what was generally a debacle for the GOP. Michigan's Gov. George Romney was the only prominent Republican who won re-election easily. He piled up a 300,000-vote majority while Johnson was carrying the state with over 66 per cent of the vote.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a liberal who gave lukewarm support to Goldwater, also won a close victory.

These men, along with other liberal Republicans who fortunately were not up for re-election this year, must form the nucleus around which the GOP can rebuild.

The Goldwater conservatives are left in control of the Republican party machinery, but it is a party sundered and crushed by defeat.

Reconstruction of the Republican party along lines in keeping with the 20th century is vital to the future of the United States.

Effective opposition is the only means of preventing the party in power from becoming stagnant, complacent and corrupt.

But the GOP can only be effective if it offers candidates and ideas which the voters will accept. A party which never wins an election is no threat to its opposition.

It will not be easy for the moderate Republicans to regain control of the party which Goldwater captured in San Francisco. Goldwater is fond of saying that power is never relinquished voluntarily once it is obtained by a particular group. We suspect this axiom also applies to conservatives.

However, the liberal wing of the GOP can use the powerful weapon of Goldwater's defeat to regain the party. This election has destroyed the old argument that Americans would vote in droves for a "true conservative" candidate.

When Goldwater was defeated for the presidential nomination in 1960, he told the convention:

"Let's get to work, and we can take this party back."

The moderates and liberals in the GOP would do well to make this call to action their own.

to the ultimate in this election. But the phrase is meaningful when applied to Romney. As a politician, he was inexperienced when he took office and he made mistakes. However, he speaks and acts in a principled manner regardless of the political consequences.

Romney's integrity will now be supplemented by the chance to increase his political experience.

Michigan benefited when he emerged alive from the landslide which buried nearly all other state Republicans.

Barry Another Edsel?

Alan P. Grimes, professor of political science, aptly summed up the political situation Tuesday morning.

"The Republican Party," he told one of his classes, "is in just about the same position as Ford after it put out the Edsel. May be a new Mustang will revive it."

Romney Target Of '68 Guessing

DETROIT (UPI)—Gov. George Romney, after scoring a monumental landslide of his own in the face of a Democratic tidal wave, ranks today as a prime prospect for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Romney, who never endorsed GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, won by more than 343,000 votes.

His margin over Democratic Congressman-at-Large Neil Stachler was more than four times the size of the edge he had when first elected in 1962.

The plurality, in fact, was greater than the one Democrat G. Mennen Williams developed in winning the governorship six times from 1948 to 1958. It came because more than 1.3 million Michigan voters split their tickets. The only comparable ballot-splitting episode in Michigan history occurred in 1956 when Williams won by 290,000 while President Eisenhower was on top by 353,000.

At the same time they were building up Romney's tremendous edge, the state electorate was also giving President Johnson a better than 2 to 1 margin over Goldwater and turning over to the Democrats practically every other major political plum being contested.

In the State's third major race, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart whipped Republican Elly Peterson, the first woman ever nominated for the post by a major Michigan party, by a margin similar to that of the President's.

Other factors in the Democratic state sweep included:

--Re-election of Secretary of State James M. Hare and Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

--Election of 12 of the state's 19 congressmen.

In Congress, which in 1960 had 11 Michigan Republicans and only 8 Democrats, this election is a virtual turnout.

There were some upsets, the biggest of which was the defeat of six-term Republican Victor Knox of Sault Ste. Marie by Raymond Clevenger in the 11th District. Another was the defeat of August Johansen, of Battle Creek, by Democrat Paul Todd in the 3rd District.

There will be two Negro congressmen from Michigan, incumbent Charles Diggs of Detroit, being joined by John Conyers, Jr., also of Detroit. New but familiar faces include State Highway Commissioner John Mackie, elected in the 7th District and another Democrat, state Auditor General Billie Farnum, who won the 19th District congressional seat. Both Mackie and Farnum lost their elective posts when the new state constitution became effective.

Another state officer, Democratic State Treasurer Sanford Brown, lost in a close congressional race to incumbent Republican James Mackie in the 8th District.

In the state legislature, the Democrats won decisive control in both House and Senate, on the crest of the Johnson landslide.

With a near clean sweep in Detroit and several upsets outside in normally Republican territory, the Democrats are in control of the legislature for the first time since 1936.

The enormous Democratic victories in virtually every other department of state government emphasizes the personal triumph of Gov. Romney. But it also underscores the fact that it was just that--a personal triumph.

Letters To The Editor

Mississippi Elections Aren't Democratic

To the Editor:

Your editorial praising our democratic nation for its ability to hold truly democratic elections points up one of the really great strengths of American society. However, the very strength of this points glaringly to the exceptions that exist even in our own country.

In Mississippi and other parts of the South, majority rule has not been allowed to exist, mainly because the majority happened to possess a different skin color. This was sharply brought to focus this summer in Fayette County, Tenn., where large-scale voting frauds were carried out to prevent Negroes from legally electing county officers.

In Mississippi the situation is even worse, since most Negroes are not even allowed to register to vote. The violence that has taken place in Mississippi this past summer and fall was primarily concerned with efforts to register Negroes to vote.

Most, if not all, of the violence in Mississippi could be prevented if federal laws preventing harassment of voters and voter registration workers were enforced. However, the Justice Department has actually reduced its activity in the state.

Every person concerned with the inviolability of the right to vote should write immediately to the President, to congressmen and to the U.S. attorney general. Mississippi is not a foreign country, and every American citizen has the right, even the duty, to be concerned about what happens there. Every American is affected by the kind of people that get elected there.

Sen. Eastland, an ardent segregationist has a great deal of control over American policy in all the United States. Concerned Americans everywhere should join the fight to make all America a democracy.

Tickets Galore!

To the Editor:

While walking to my car, parked in a field behind Fee Hall the other day, I noticed another mark on my character, alas, a ticket. I didn't really mind the ticket because, after all, as it said, I was parking in an undesignated area. Perhaps they were growing wheat or something there.

My alert mind quickly comprehended that many fellow students coming from the same class were entering their cars in the previously mentioned field. But, hark, I had the only ticket. Then it hit me. I had registered my auto and received the telltale mark on my rear window. My friends laughed and asked why register your car for $6 when you are prohibited from campus anyway?

Yes, I realize that if they are caught it will cost them $25, but, alas, I've had a ticket of this sort earlier this term at which time the nice, young officer gave me another ticket for not removing last year's sticker. So, you see, I might as well remove my sticker and take my chances with the others because it will probably cost me $25 anyway.

But don't worry, I'll drive to Mr. Hope and pay $12 to ride the bus. You get the scenic route past all the empty, pay parking lots. It really makes you feel good to know that your Alma Mater is looking out for you.

Let's Keep It

International

To the Editor:

Every keen observer, present at the last International Club Coffee Mixer, would have noticed that the people, costumes and languages spoken were international. But the music deviated from this normal trend.

I would like to bring it to the attention of those responsible for the arrangements that we international students have a flair for the waltz, cha cha, tango, highlife, square dance, kalra kali dance and merengue to name only a few. We are also deeply interested in the "The Dog, The Monkey, Mash Potatoes, The Kangaroo," etc, but, when at occasions like the one cited above, we are fed exclusively with one brand of music, there should be cause for concern.

Coming from Africa (other internationalists would feel the same) where some of the world's best dance music has been and is being produced, I cannot conceive any balanced international program without music from my own sector or other sectors of the world for that matter.

I therefore appeal to the organizers of any such future programs that if the International Club is worth its salt, then let it keep the programs international as much as possible (the music issue is very possible) or relinquish the title "International Club" where such matters are concerned.

University Rule Questioned

Several bicycles, mine included, had been being parked to one side of the entrance to our dormitory, rather than in the racks behind it. After having parked mine there, I was approached by our Resident Adviser and requested to put my bike in the racks.

I asked why we were not to park our bikes by the entrance. The reply was this: first, it is a University rule that bikes shall be parked in the racks; second, the reason behind this rule was not my business. In fact, my question was taken to be impertinent.

I take issue with this on two grounds. First, we had good reasons for parking our bikes there.

The location was handier for many of us, and the bikes were always parked off all walkways.

However, I object much more strongly to the implication that the reason behind the rule was not my business.

I have been taught that a mark of an educated man is a questioning attitude. I therefore feel that it is not only my privilege to look for reasons, but it is my duty.

Now the University may have a valid reason for their policy. If so, I am willing to accept it. If there is no valid reason, I am within my rights to ignore such a rule.

SAIGON, Viet Nam--The chairman of the High National Council, Dr. Nguyen Xuan Chu, resigned Thursday in a protest about the makeup and method of appointment of South Viet Nam's new civilian cabinet. Repercussions could be serious.

Romney Suggests GOP Governors Meeting

LANSING--Michigan Gov. George Romney suggested a party-unit meeting of the nation's Republican governors. But the 57-year-old governor continued to shy away from any talk of personal national Republican leadership, despite his prominence in the wake of Tuesday's election.

Nixon Charges Rockefeller 'Divider'

NEW YORK--Richard M. Nixon charged Thursday that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was the "principal divider" in Sen. Barry Goldwater's Republican presidential campaign. The former vice president said the governor "got his pound of flesh."

Nixon, who spent the past month campaigning across the country for Goldwater, said he found the people resented Rockefeller "sitting it out after running for the nomination" against Goldwater.

He said they regarded the Republican governor as a spoilsport.

Experts Explore Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON--The nation's top foreign policy strategists are planning quick post-election exploratory moves to find out what can be done to restore fading unity among the European allies. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has arranged for separate meetings during the coming weekend with two foreign ministers from Europe. And Undersecretary George W. Ball will meet with a third foreign minister in Berlin next week.

GOP Chairman Raps Rocky, Romney

OKLAHOMA CITY--Oklahoma Republican Chairman Bill Burkett says Governors George Romney of Michigan and Nelson Rockefeller of New York have "forfeited their claims to lead the Republican party anywhere."

Burkett says he doesn't see where Romney or Rockefeller deserve any voice in choosing the party's presidential nominee because they sat the presidential campaign out.

Said Burkett: "I think they forfeited their claims to lead the party anywhere."

student goes to the Union according to the alphabetical listing to complete a registration section request form. He must have his ID, which will be punched, and his student schedule card.

On this from the student will write his name and student number, then "mark sense" (machine score) his student number, sequence number for each course section, the number of credits for each course and answer whether he is repeating or auditing.

Registrar Horace C. King emphasizes accuracy in this procedure.

"I don't want to scare students off," he said. "But one mistake can put them in a course they don't want to take."

Daily reports will be processed during the next 24 hours to identify closed sections which will be posted in the Union and State News.

No enrollment limit is set for single-section courses during this period, but multiple-section courses will close as limits are reached. When the majority of sections are closed, enrollment will open again to record student demand.

King stressed that re-opening a section does not guarantee a space in it. However, recording demand and sending it to departments will result in adjustment of sections to accommodate students whenever possible.

Preliminary section reservation reports will be available in the class card arena of the Men's Intramural Building Dec. 7-11.

All students who receive a full schedule may leave. Others will secure class cards in an adjacent area.

Registration is scheduled Jan. 4 and 5. In accordance with the schedule to be sent with term-end grades, each student secures a permit to register, enrollment card and section fee.

port from his department. He then goes to the Men's IM to pay fees and, if necessary, repeat or change a course.

AUSG Creates New Service

All University Student Government (AUSG) Congress suspended rules Wednesday night and passed on second reading a bill to create a department of inter-university affairs.

This department, headed by Webb F. Martin, Flint junior, will direct the AUSG sponsored information services exchange program among state-supported schools with enrollments of over 15,000 across the nation. Headquarters will be at MSU.

Bruce Osterink, director of evaluation services, spoke to Congress of his group's work, saying that their primary purposes are to define the goals of student government at MSU and establish an effective framework to carry out these goals.

The possibility of a winter carnival was discussed briefly in an executive report by Bob Harris, AUSG president.

Two bills and a resolution, introduced by Tom Partridge, East Lansing, were referred to committees. One bill would provide for suggestion boxes to be placed in residence halls, the Union, Berkey Hall and International Center, with a weekly prize for the best suggestion.

The other would create an AUSG questionnaire, to be prepared with faculty guidance and sent to a scientifically selected cross-section of the student body.

A resolution that residence hall complexes should hold major night programs to aid students in selecting fields of study, was referred to the committee on academic affairs.

Congress, meeting for the first time in the Con Con room of the International Center, agreed to meet there next week after a motion to hold all future meetings in 328 Student Services was defeated. Representatives pointed out that the larger area and arrangement of the room is more conducive to a formal meeting, despite the distance from AUSG offices in Student Services.

Greek Week Takes Shape

Fraternalities And Sororities Plan Festivities For Spring

Plans for Greek Week, next April 26-May 2, are starting to take shape. The activities and people in charge of them have been announced.

Sally Dusseau and Dave Harris, co-chairmen, announced Wednesday the purpose and goals of this year's Greek Week.

"The emphasis will be on having a good time rather than just rush promotion," Harris said. "We want to promote rush, but we want more to unite the Greek community on campus through our good times," he added.

"The entire week has been planned, beginning on Monday, April 26, and building up to a climax in an impromptu sing on the Red Cedar on Sunday, May 2," Harris said.

Miss Dusseau and Harris listed the events of Greek Week as follows:

Monday: A casual get-together of all Greeks to hear a keynote speaker and have a hootenanny.

Tuesday: Naming of the king and queen of the Greeks: Venus and Apollo.

Wednesday: Friendship day between houses.

Thursday: Balloting for the ugliest Greek.

Friday: A sports car rally in the afternoon, followed by a street dance that night.

Saturday: The Sigma Alpha Mu tricycle race in the afternoon, climaxed by the Greek Feast, featuring big name entertainment, in the evening.

Sunday: The Beta session on the Red Cedar in which any interested Greek can perform.

Greek Week committee chairmen have been announced for 1965.

Suzanne Cope, Kappa Alpha Theta, was chosen chairman for Greek Sing.

Karen Boyajian, Alpha Chi Omega, and Dave Runnels, Delta Chi, are in charge of Community Project.

The entertainment committee will be headed by Pat Hiscox, Gamma Phi Beta, and Claude Delavardie, Sigma Chi.

Judy Keyser, Sigma Kappa, and Jim Breinling, Alpha Gamma Rho, are chairmen of the Special Events Committee.

Greek Feast will be headed by Diane Costa, Alpha Delta Pi, and Dave Scott, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Communications Coordinator will be Mike Haack, Phi Gamma Delta.

Linda Winslow, Delta Delta Delta, and Dave Peck, Lambda Chi Alpha, are in charge of publicity.

Public Relations will be headed by Jennifer Luna, Chi Omega, and Gary Grenzke, Delta Chi.

Gamma, and Tom Price, Phi Delta Theta, will head the Art Committee.

Pencil Probe Problem Pilfers Puzzle Period

By JIM STERBA
State News Staff Writer

A mid-term exam is supposed to be an organized attempt on the part of students to show their instructor what they know.

So it was Thursday as 50-odd sleepy students walked into a 9 a.m. political science mid-term exam at Berkey Hall.

As is generally the case, the regular instructor sent a substitute to administer the hour-long objective exam.

"So we're having a test today," he said. "Well, all set?"

Everyone laughed.

"Now the first thing you do is put your name and student number on both the question and answer sheet. It is very important that you put your student number on both sheets."

"And you must use the proper ordinary lead pencil. Not an MSU machine scoring pencil, or an ink pen. Does everyone have a pencil?"

"No," came the reply from all over the room.

"Say you. Go up to the department office and see if you can get some pencils."

The student hurried out of the room and five minutes passed.

Meanwhile:

"This is an easy test and shouldn't take you very long to complete anyway, so a little delay won't matter."

Peace Corps Test Derivext Week

A Peace Corps Placement Test will be given in Room 217 of the Lansing Post Office on Nov. 14 at 8:30 a.m.

The test tells how applicants can best help people in various parts of the world and is not something that one passes or fails.

Anyone wishing to take the test may get a Peace Corps questionnaire at any post office and complete it before Nov. 14.

Applicants must be 18-years old and must have no dependents under 18.

"Well," said the bemused substitute, "you people who don't have pencils better figure out a way to get some. I understand they sell them across the street."

Out trotted a handful of students with a handful of nickels.

Into the air went 10 more minutes of valuable time.

Expert Talks On Defense

A top technical consultant for the U.S. Department of Defense expects no great post-election change in the nation's defense policy.

"I don't think there will be any tremendous change in policy," said Elliott W. Montroll, vice president for research of the Institute for Defense Analysis, in an interview at the Kellogg Center, this week.

Greater emphasis on the problems of underdeveloped nations, especially with respect to insurgencies and local revolutions, and continued effort on the accomplishment of international agreements, such as test ban, are very much in the wind, he said.

Montroll, a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other areas of the Department of Defense on such matters as defense hardware, operations research and military economics, emphasized that these were "personal opinions."

He declined to comment on Viet Nam, except to say that it provided a lesson in the "need for early watchfulness."

Montroll said that China's bomb came as no great surprise.

"We have been expecting it," Montroll said. "It was just a question of whether it would be this year or next."

Montroll was at MSU to address a general session of the second technical meeting of the Society of Engineering Science, which brought scientists from five nations to the East Lansing campus.

WV CAMPUS PULSE

By Musa Qutub

What do you think of the parking regulations on campus?

"Any student with a parking sticker should be allowed to park anywhere he finds a meter spot empty," reported Mike McPeak, Midland junior.

He feels it is unfair for the student to pay parking fees and not to use the bus.

"University employe spouses should be allowed to park their cars any place on campus," he added.

David Steenberg, Grand Rapids graduate student, favors the present regulations but he was quick to add, "I do not think the campus can handle many cars and parking permits should be on the basis of class priority."

"I do not feel that parking is a serious problem on campus," said Carl Burke, Flint senior.

"However, the University should provide more parking places on campus." He also feels that the 25 cent charge at the IM building is unfair for those who have parking permits.

Glen Williamson, Park Ridge, Ill., graduate student, feels that the authorities are doing their best to solve the parking problem that exists, but he added, "The employes and the teaching staff should be allowed to park their cars next to their buildings." He also feels that there should be no extra charge for parking other than the sticker.

Music To Be Included In Kresge Exhibition

Contemporary music for woodwinds and avant-garde art will greet the visitor at the Kresge Art Center open house Sunday.

Kresge will mark the opening of its "Decade of New Talent" exhibition with the open house, 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, in the main gallery.

A faculty woodwind quartet will perform 4 p.m. in the gallery. "Dance Suite," a number composed by Jean Valjean, a native of Lansing who now composes for the Danish ballet, is included in the program.

The show illustrates a range of contemporary styles and techniques.

Works on display represent a cross-section of American artists who have acquired national and international reputations. "Junk" artist Richard Stankiewicz is represented by his "Suicide," a double-headed

Two giants of modern Russian art, S. Eisenstein and Sergei Prokofiev, combined their talents in 1938 to produce the next offering of the MSU Film Society, "Alexander Nevsky."

Eisenstein's epic of medieval warfare will be screened at 6:30 and 9 in 31 Union tonight. A lecture on the film and a short subject, "Fragment of Seeking," will be presented.

Bronze Figure On Display

Nigerian Statue's Meaning Mystifies Art Professors

What the Nigerian statue represents the University professors cannot definitely say.

As part of a permanent display of Nigerian bronzes in the hall of Kresge Art Center is a statue of a man holding a slain child. Another child figure stands on the man's shoulder.

No one has yet agreed upon the significance of the figure. "We think the child may be a sacrifice and the figure on the man's shoulder may be the child's spirit," Paul Love, professor of art, said.

Generally molded for tombs and village and home altars, the bronzes have religious significance, Love said.

King and court figures, gods, goddesses and sacrificial victims are the more common subjects. They perform a function similar to that of the Christian Virgin figure, he mentioned.

Arthur Hannah, brother of MSU President John Hannah, collected the display.

The bronzes are cast by the "lost wax" or "cire perdue" method in which a wax model is covered with clay and the wax then is melted and allowed to run out holes in the cast.

Molten metal is poured into the space left by the melted wax.

Even when bronzes are cast from the same basic mold, variations in the statues occur because the wax must be rebuilt each time, Love said.

Most of the statues are in the Benin court style with head-dresses, and high coral collars.

They show influences of the more realistic Yoruba and the facial striations of the lifestyles, however, in many of the works.

CAN YOU TELL?--What these three Nigerian bronzes represent? They are now on permanent display at Kresge Art Center.

Evening Tea Set By Filipino Club

The Filipino Club will have an evening tea Friday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Timmons of 234 N. Hagadorn Road, East Lansing.

Honored guests will be August Benson, foreign student advisor, and Mrs. Benson; Walter Johnson, College of Education and former advisor of the club, and Mrs. Johnson.

East Shaw Hall will hold an open house at 5:30 Saturday, following the football game. There will also be an open house Sunday 1 to 5 p.m.

Former Air Cadet

A MSU graduate in biology and former Air Force ROTC cadet will speak to 625 ROTC cadets Friday at 9 and 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in 114 Bessey Hall.

Lt. James R. Clary, research and development officer at the Air Force Systems Command's Air Proving Ground Center at Elgin AFB, Fla., will return to the MSU campus to tell of the opportunities in Air Force Research and development.

Portugal, Florida Topics Of Travel Film-Lectures

Two roving photographers will give World Travel Series film-lectures on Florida and Portugal at 8 p.m. today and Saturday in the Auditorium.

Russell Jameson will show his color motion picture on Florida, "Intrusion," tonight and J. Gerald Hooper will present his film, "Only in Portugal," Saturday.

Jameson's "Intrusion" covers 400 years of Florida history, depicting civilization's encroachment upon wildlife.

The movie subtly contrasts scenes from Florida's wildlife preserves with those of man's settlement, from the landing of Spanish explorers to modern parkways.

Hooper's film-lecture explores Portugal and her people from the old-new city of Lisbon to the village of Nazare where oken pull boats onto the beach and the sand of the beach is changed.

Hooper visits the Inn of the Brave Bulls in Lisbon where teen-agers gather on Sunday, Liberty Square of Oporto and its mosaic sidewalks, and Fatima, the Lourdes of Portugal.

The play concerns a young governess who assumes the guidance of two orphaned children in an old English country house in 1880.

The governess and the housekeeper attempt to rid the children of the influence of two seamy servants who have just recently died.

Reservations for the remaining performances may be made by calling the theatre, ED 2-2221.

Prices Climb, Says Index

An increase in the Detroit Consumer Price Index was reported last week by the Bureau of Economic Analysis, U.S. Department of Commerce.

The September index for this area is 104.6—a 1.3 per cent increase over that of 1963. The all items index on the 1947-49 base is 129.0.

Between August and September, 1964, the Bureau of Labor Statistics recorded a four-tenths per cent increase in housing; a six-tenths per cent increase in transportation, while food and health and recreation remained the same.

As compared to September, 1963, food increased 1.1 per cent; housing and apparel and upkeep both rose nine-tenths per cent; and transportation rose 5.1 per cent. During this same period, health and recreation decreased one-tenth per cent.

Players Need More People

Additional performances of the "Innocents" are scheduled 8:30 tonight and Saturday.

"The Innocents" is an adaptation of Henry James' thriller "The Turn of the Screw."

The script provides a framework on which the present players' interpretation of the James novel. There are Freudian and religious overtones to the production.

The play concerns a young governess who assumes the guidance of two orphaned children in an old English country house in 1880.

The governess and the housekeeper attempt to rid the children of the influence of two seamy servants who have just recently died.

Reservations for the remaining performances may be made by calling the theatre, ED 2-2221.

"The development of management is essential to our goal of great growth"

At the 1964 stockholders' meeting, Arjay R. Miller, President of Ford Motor Company, emphasized the Company's far-sighted recruitment program and its accent on developing management talent:

"One aspect of our planning is crucial to the success of everything else we do. It engages the best thoughts and efforts of our whole management team, from top to bottom, throughout the world. I am speaking of the development of management. The immediate future of our Company depends heavily upon the abilities of the people who are now key members of our management team.

"In the longer run, our future depends on what we are doing at the present time to attract and develop the people who will be making the major decisions 10 to 20 years from now. We are developing management competence in depth in order to attack the problems that will confront a company of great growth—and great growth (both in profits and sales) is exactly the goal we have established for Ford Motor Company.

"We are continuing to emphasize recruiting. Last spring, 180 of our management people devoted part of their time to recruiting outstanding graduates from colleges and universities throughout the U.S. Last year, these efforts resulted in our hiring over 1,000 graduates, 220 more than the year before.

"We are seeking and we are finding young men—and young women, too—with brains and backbone—people who have the ability and the desire to make room for themselves at the top. We give our trainees challenging assignments with as much responsibility as they can carry. We promote them as fast as they are ready. Those who are interested in easy security soon drop out. Those who have what we want stay with us, and move up quickly to increased responsibility and the pay that goes with it. Thanks to the quality of the people we are recruiting and developing, I am firmly convinced that our outlook is most promising."

All-Campus Student Radio?

Brody And Shaw Propose Different Radio Systems

Two student factions on campus agree on a need but disagree on the means.

Involved are the two student closed-circuit radio stations. Personnel at both stations feel an all-campus radio system should be established. But they differ as to how this should be accomplished.

Only two dorm groups are now being served by student radio stations. They are Shaw and Brody, served by WKME and WBRS, respectively.

The staffs of both stations are busy researching and readying their respective proposals for an all-campus radio system. WKME manager Jim Foster, Fort Wayne, Ind., junior, plans to propose a network system, basically the same idea advanced last year.

This plan would bring about a system similar to national radio and television network systems today. "A local station would serve each dormitory by closed-circuit," Foster said. This would be the equivalent of a local commercial station serving a particular city.

"Supplementing the programs offered by each local dormitory station would be a single network studio," Foster said. This studio would function as NBC, CBS and ABC function. It would supply programs of general campus interest simultaneously to all the local stations.

The network studio would operate during specified hours of each day. When not on the air, the local stations would originate programs for the dorm each serves.

"Women's dorms may not be able to staff their own local stations," Foster said. "In this case, only a transmitter would be constructed to serve as a satellite station receiving programs from another dormitory's studio."

No cost estimate for this system has been made as yet. Foster and his staff are studying costs and programming policies.

Brody Radio's sights are on one all-campus student station. This plan calls for one station sending continuous programming to the whole campus.

Brody Radio would send signals to a transmitter placed in each dormitory," said manager "Kip" Arnold, Muskegon junior.

"This plan would bring about greater staff efficiency and result in a higher calibre of broadcasting," Arnold said.

"The network plan would give more people a chance to participate," WKME's Foster argues. "More importantly, each dorm would be semi-autonomous."

An AUSG committee will meet soon to discuss these proposals and determine whether any such system is needed.

The systems proposed require no license from the Federal Communications Commission because they are closed-circuit systems. In a closed-circuit system, the electrical wiring in each dormitory serves as the station's antenna. Programs carried by the station can be received only by radios in each dorm with no special connections required to the individual radios.

Final approval of an all-campus student radio system rests with the MSU administration.

Before seeking this approval much work will be necessary. Need for such a system must be determined, first. Then cost estimates, programming and staff estimates, programming and staffing needs must be analyzed to determine which proposal will be submitted.

Graduate Women

To Meet Sunday

The role of the modern woman will be discussed at a meeting of the Graduate Women's Club Sunday at 7 p.m.

Speaking will be Marian Kinget, associate professor of psychology.

The meeting will be held in the Student Services Lounge. All graduate women are invited.

Hannah Planning Washington Visit

MSU President John A. Hannah will accompany several administrative officials and faculty members to Washington, D.C., next week for the 78th annual convention of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Hannah will meet with the Council of Presidents and serve on the nominating committee for next year's association officers.

James H. Denison, assistant to the president and director of University relations, will preside over a group meeting Monday in which Angus Campbell of the University of Michigan will discuss public attitudes toward state universities and a proposed action program.

Dean of the College of Agriculture Thomas K. Cowden will attend the convention as chairman of the Association's division of agriculture.

John D. Rymer, director of the College of Engineering and chairman of the Association's division of engineering, will preside over the division meeting Monday.

Noel P. Ralston, director of MSU Cooperative Extension Service, will lead a panel discussion on developing staff specialists at the county or area level Tuesday.

Bernice D. Borgman, professor of home management and child development will serve on a panel of reactors Tuesday to "Psychology as a Root Discipline in Home Economics."

Two sessions of the Association senate will be held during the convention. Decisions of policy for the coming year are formulated by this group.

Phi Kappa Psi Plans Weekend For Anniversary

Weekend activities to mark the 10th anniversary of the chartering of the Michigan Beta chapter have been announced by the men of Phi Kappa Psi.

All planned events will center around Michigan State's final home game this season Saturday. Tonight the fraternity will have an open house for all visiting alumni and brothers.

Saturday morning a special breakfast will be served at the Walnut Hills Country Club. In the afternoon, brothers and guests of the house will sit in a block section of the end zone for the Purdue game.

Activities will end with a formal dinner party at Dine's Restaurant, Lansing, Saturday evening. A formal dance will follow.

The Michigan Beta Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi was officially chartered in October of 1954. The members soon moved into the present house at 522 Abbot Rd.

Plans are now under way for a new chapter house to meet the needs of a growing membership.

Companies Seek Negro Placement

"Opportunities have never been better for Negroes interested in jobs," said Jack Shingleton, head of the MSU Placement Bureau.

"Business, industry, government and education are making a sincere effort to hire qualified Negroes," he said.

Many companies are sending Negro interviewers to MSU to talk to both Negroes and whites concerning jobs, he said.

Of course the technical fields offer the most opportunities. Engineers, chemists, and mathematicians are always in demand, but opportunities in other fields are on the increase.

"We don't know how many Negroes were successfully placed in jobs, because our records show no indication of race," Shingleton said. "But I think more Negroes should take advantage of the Placement Bureau."

"I don't think this is just a token effort on the part of companies to get a Negro on a company payroll," Shingleton said.

The emphasis is on qualifications, according to Shingleton. Some companies have hired marginally qualified Negroes who haven't been able to do the work expected of them. Companies get a bad impression and find out they made a mistake. This is a bad experience for both employee and employer, he said.

Companies that maintain their qualification standards and hire Negroes who are qualified find that employment is successful. Assistant Secretary of Commerce and former MSU professor of economics Andrew F. Brimmer said that opportunities in employment for all minority groups are increasing tremendously. Through July, 1964, there was a 300,700 increase in the number of jobs taken by members of minority groups.

Speaking at an Alpha Phi Alpha Convention last August, Brimmer said there was an 11 per cent increase in the number of non-whites in white collar jobs.

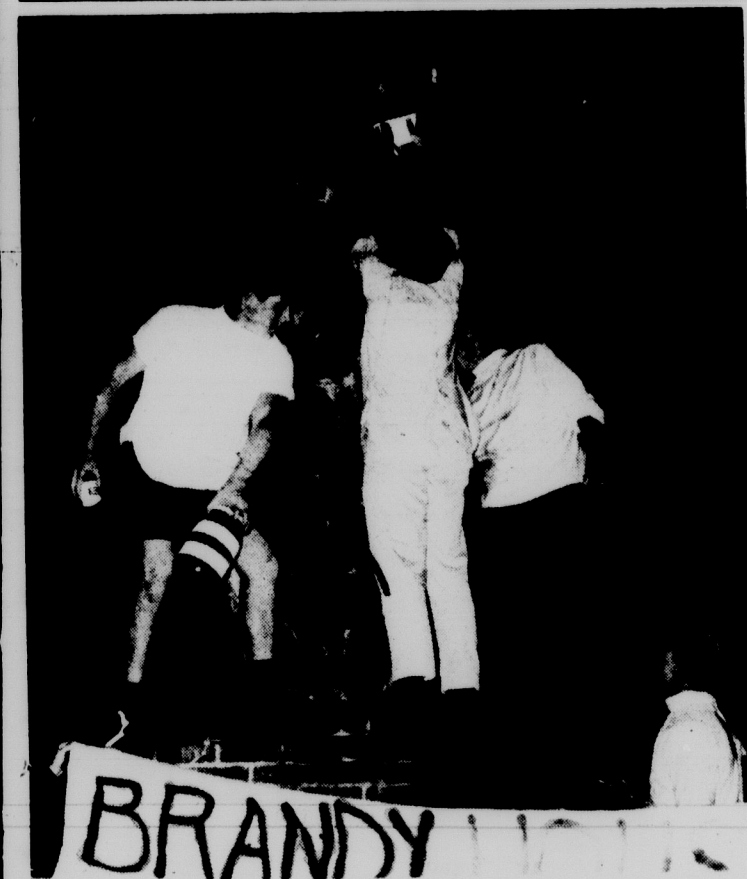

At Howard University, 160 corporations made more than 700 requests in the 1963-64 school year for qualified Negro graduates in over 40 occupational categories.

Brimmer said that three-fifths of these requests were for employment in technical fields like engineering, mathematics, but that there have been increases in the number of requests for managerial positions.

The Placement Bureau and the Campus NAACP are working to make the college Negro aware of the opportunities for employment that exist.

"We are planning a symposium in the near future in which employers, sociologists and professors will talk on the opportunities and problems of minority group employment," Shingleton said.

Ron Brown, chairman for the project, said that he has contacted several distinguished professors and government officials about speaking at the conference.

Anti-Communism Talk Set

Drs. Fred C. Schwarz, founder and president of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, will speak here Monday on "The Communist Threat to America."

His talk, scheduled for 4:30 p.m. in the Erickson Hall Kiva, will be sponsored by the Conservative Club and All University Student Government (AUSG). A question and answer period will follow.

Dr. Schwarz, an Australian medical doctor and psychiatrist, has conducted anti-communism schools around the world. He is author of the recent bestseller, "You Can Trust the Communists (To Be Communists)" and has participated in varied radio and television presentations.

He has testified on communism before various government agencies.

Herbert A. Philbrick, a former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent who was scheduled to speak will be unable to appear.

Class Execs Set Case Grid Clash

Senior Council and J-Council will meet in a football game this afternoon at 4 on the Case Hall field.

Officers and council members will participate in the game--a Senior Council challenge to the juniors. Senior class officers are A. J. Harris, president; Art Hock, vice president; Sue Smith, secretary and Pete Wade, treasurer.

Junior officers are John Miller, president; Ron Kirk, vice president; Franny Frel, secretary and Ed Wallis, treasurer.

Council's Edict Absolving Jews Of Great Significance

Of great significance to all Christians is the history-making edict of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council absolving the Jewish people of the blame of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

A resolution acquitting the Jews of deicide ("God-killing") was recently adopted into the schema of church doctrine by an overwhelming majority vote.

For many centuries Roman Catholics have condemned the Jews for crucifying Jesus Christ, the son of God.

Now in their eyes the Jews are no longer held culpable for this act.

The Council decision is a move in the right direction of Judeo-Christian relationship.

Christians should look above the overt act of Christ's killing and not heap scorn upon the Jewish nation.

The Bible teaches that the Jews, the "Children of Israel", are God's original chosen people. He led and blessed them and promised them salvation.

Christians today serve this same God, whose Holy Word still holds true today as it did for the Children of Israel.

In God's eyes, all his children are equal, for he is "no respecter of persons" (Romans 2:11). That is, he honors both Jew and Gentile.

As such, Christians have no right to criticize the Jews, nor boast of having found favor with God.

The Apostle Paul, in his letter to the Romans, explains to the Christians in the church at Rome this relationship between God and men.

In chapter 11 Paul begins, "I say then, hath God cast away his people? God forbid." And in verse two, "God hath not cast away his people..."

Paul quotes the prophet Isaiah and God's promise that salvation will be given the Jews, despite their many turnings away from God.

The Jews stumbled and fell, says Paul, in order that the way of life might be opened to others. He states, in verse 11 "...through their fall salvation is come unto the Gentiles..."

A fruit tree is used as an analogy. The new branches cannot rightly boast against the original branches, nor against the root of the tree, which supports the branches.

The nation of Israel, founded originally upon God, is compared to the root of the tree. The original branches are the later (Old Testament) generations of Judaism, which did not bear fruit, and were "cut off" from God by their fall.

New branches, in the form of the Gentiles, were grafted into the tree, thus making possible the salvation of all men.

So it is that the Jews ought not to be condemned for the crucifixion of Christ, which resulted in their fall from the tree.

position of being God's only people.

This deed was necessary for the salvation of all those who come to God from other than the Jewish race. The Jews are still chosen people, but are no longer God's only ones.

God's promise of salvation to the Jews still goes, for the prophet Isaiah stated, "...the rebuke of his people shall he take away..." and that God will save them (Isaiah 25:8,9).

St. Paul echoes the words of Isaiah and of Christ, and admonishes the Christians at Rome (and, indeed, all Christians) to remember God's plan of mercy and to show genuine love toward their fellow men.

Bah'is Gather For Founder

Baha'is all over the world will gather on Wednesday to celebrate the birthday of their founder, Baha'U'Llah.

This day has a spiritual meaning to Baha'is close to that of Christmas for Christians. It is, however, not the occasion for gift giving and partying, but for solemn prayers and meditation.

Baha'U'Llah revealed that he was a messenger of God in 1863. He established the foundations of a world government and advocated the adoption of an auxiliary universal language.

He forbade the use of alcohol and narcotics, proclaimed the equality of the races and of the sexes and stressed the essential unity of the religions.

Although Baha'U'Llah enjoined his followers to obey the laws of their government under all conditions, Persian Muslims became alarmed at the spread of his faith.

Shogi Effendi, grandson of Baha'U'Llah, writes that the Baha' faith stands for unity, truth and harmony, and favors all efforts for a permanent and universal peace.

Campus observance of this Baha' holiday will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keyvan Nazerian, 1315 H. University Village.

Church Talk Subject Was Faith, Works

A discussion of "Faith and Works" was held recently at University Lutheran Church, Division and Ann Streets, East Lansing.

Rev. Walter Wietzke, pastor of University Lutheran Church, and Rev. Robert Kavanaugh, of St. John's Catholic Student Center, gave their views and answered students' questions on the topic.

Father Kavanaugh gave the Roman Catholic viewpoint of man's original sin and his efforts to regain esteem through the grace of God.

The Lutheran stand on the subject was presented by Pastor Wietzke, who explained how man cannot accomplish good works on his own merit.

A discussion followed between the two clergymen, which revealed some of the subtle differences between the two faiths.

The issue of "merit religion" versus "mercy religion" arose, but the point was evasive, and no clear-cut conclusion was made on either side.

Scientist To Talk

"The Priceless gift of knowing Oneself" is the title of a one-hour public talk to be given on Monday by Theodore Wallach, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Wallach will be the speaker, under sponsorship of Lansing's First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The lecture will be given at 8:15 p.m., in the Small Auditorium of the Lansing Civic Center, 505 W. Allegan St.

Wallach is a former musician and businessman who has been devoting his full time to religion for many years as a Christian Science practitioner.

He has lectured extensively throughout the United States and in many other countries, and is a former First Reader in the Mother Church in Boston, Mass.
