Health Package Goes To Congress

LBJ's Plan May Cost $1.2 Billion

WASHINGTON 4--While opposition melted, President Johnson sent to Congress Thursday a huge package of health proposals, keyed to insured hospital care for the elderly and a nationwide attack on killer diseases.

Early approval of at least the program for health care for the elderly under the Social Security system seemed virtually assured when Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., all but lined up behind the administration plan.

As chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Mills has done more than any other single member of Congress to block a social security health care program. But Thursday he told newsmen changes in the proposed method of financing meet his basic requirements, and he forecast a House vote by March.

The proposed campaign against killer diseases—a new legislative concept—calls for 32 regional medical centers to be set up around the country to insure that the latest methods of treatment are more readily available to victims of cancer, heart disease and stroke.

The cost of these centers, the location of which has not been determined, is estimated at $1.2 billion over the next six years. The aim of his program, the President said in his message to Congress, is "to put more firmly in place the foundation for the healthiest, happiest and most hopeful society in the history of man."

In addition to his main requests, Johnson proposed also: Federal grants to help pay operating costs of medical and dental schools.

Improved community mental health services.

Better health services for children and youth.

Stronger programs to rehabilitate the disabled and improved services for the mentally retarded.

More effective control of barbiturates, amphetamines and other psycho-toxic drugs. These are drugs which, if used wisely, can affect the mind.

He suggested that, for safety's sake, the federal government be empowered to inspect cosmetics before they are marketed, and he recommended "adequate labeling of hazardous substances."

Officials said the cost of the many-sided program in the 1966 fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1965, would be $262 million, and in the next year would rise to about $800 million. Beyond that, they were unable to hazard a guess.

PRESIDENT SUKARNO

Indonesia Quits United Nations

JAKARTA, Indonesia 4--With another "Go to hell," President Sukarno declared Indonesia has "walked out of the United Nations" and turned its back on U. N. agencies that had earmarked $50 million to help him.

Thus Sukarno carried out a threat voiced a week ago. He acted in the face of pleas from the Soviet Union and friends in the African-Asian bloc, and made Indonesia the first nation ever to pull out of the world organization in its 20-year history.

"We can afford to operate without the United Nations specialized agencies," Sukarno said. "It is good for our nation to stand on our own feet. I have said: 'Go to hell with your aid.'"

Last March, when the United States was reported putting pressure on him to let up on Malaysia, Sukarno in a speech declared "To hell with U.S. aid."

To the cheers of a crowd gathered at a rally to condemn foreign military bases, Sukarno declared:

"On Jan. 7, 1965, at 2230 hours (10:30 p.m.) I declare as follows: In my announcement a few days ago I said that if Malaysia becomes a Security Council member, I will order Indonesia to walk out of the United Nations. Now, since Malaysia has become a Security Council member, I declare:

that Indonesia has walked out of the United Nations."

Sukarno said nations that have come under attack in the United Nations have become stronger, mentioning Red China, Communist North Viet Nam and North Korea.

Appeals were received from several nations asking him to reconsider. "But I have said many thanks, my decision remains," he asserted. U. N. Secretary-General U Thant was among those asking Sukarno not to withdraw. Indonesia has the warm backing of Red China. Peking has been encouraging Indonesia to stick to its decision. The Soviet Union has been urging Jakarta not to quit.

The decision is expected to throw Indonesia into even closer relations with Red China, and this is something the Soviet Union tried to avert.

Aid Office 'Swamped' For Loans

"Swamped" was the way Henry C. Dykema, director of Financial Aids, described activity in his office this week.

"Nearly 1,000 applications for loans have been received since Monday," he said.

Of this total, about 700 were for National Defense Educational Assistance (NDEA) loans. The rest were for MSU short-term loans and bank loans.

Dykema said there has been a large increase in the number of NDEA applications this term due to recent changes in the law which have greatly broadened its use.

Each application must be individually processed, Dykema said. "One of our major concerns is that a student does not borrow more money than he will be able to repay," he said.

Dykema estimated that the peak period of activity would be over this week, although loans will continue to be processed during the entire term.

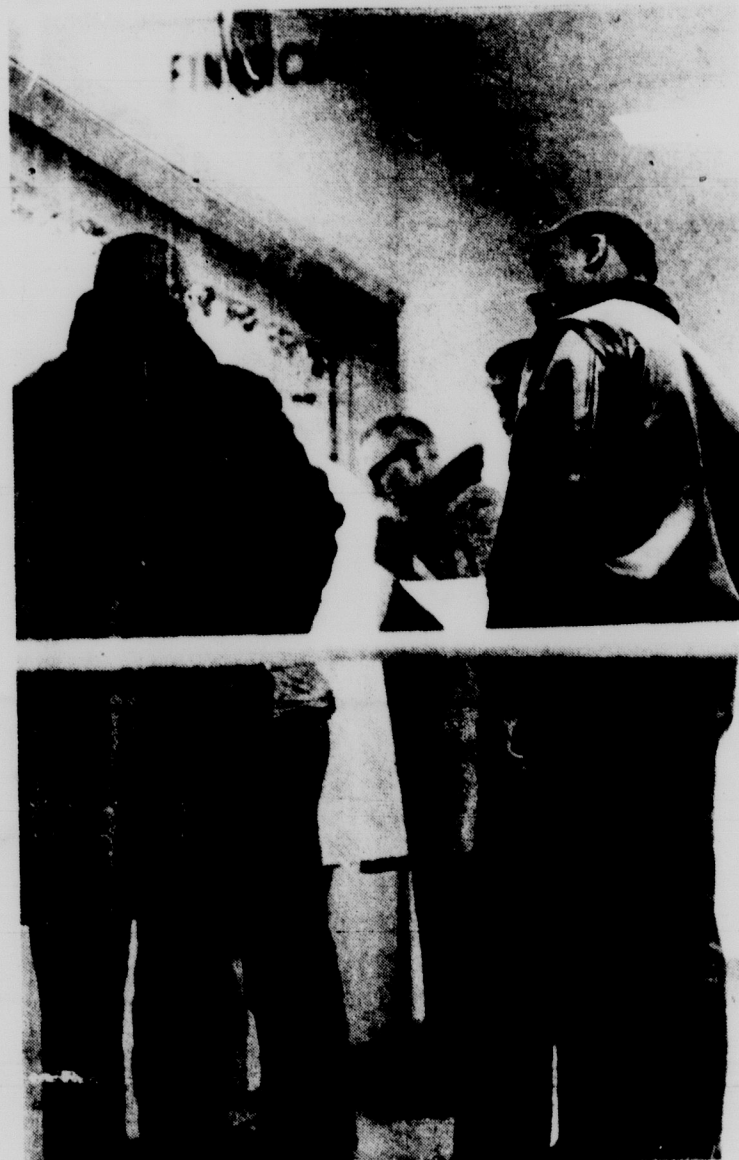

Air Reserve Units Pared

WASHINGTON 4--The Air Force announced Thursday that it is disbanding 155 more Air Reserve units by April—probably a preliminary step toward merging the remaining Air Reserve units into the Air National Guard.

Such a merger would be similar to that being taken with respect to the Army Reserve and National Guard. When achieved over the next several months it would make the active reserve consist of those with individual mobilization assignments to the regular forces and individuals in pools for reinforcing guard and regular units.

Thursday's announcement involved 112 recovery squadrons and 43 recovery groups—about 8,000 reservists in 44 states and the District of Columbia. It was the second and final cut-back in a program initiated in 1960.

The mission of these units has been to provide support for regular Air Force military planes at civilian airfields in case an attack knocked out military fields—providing such things as ground maintenance and food and lodging for the planes.

MONEY, MONEY--That's what they want. The Financial Aids office in the Student Services Building has been crowded with students seeking loans all week as the financial pressures of a new term are again upon us. Photo by Larry Fritzlan

Rights Group Member Is Second To Resign

Protesting "Conservatism" and "backing progress," Robert L. Green became the second member of the East Lansing boycott on products manufactured in Mississippi.

Daniel Learned, co-chairman of the neighborhood committee, said the commission could not speak for the people of East Lansing and should not pass Green's proposal.

Green said the commission lacked the initiative to take a solid stand on civil rights and preferred to be "a follower rather than a leader."

The Yankee Store's policy was announced Monday by Joseph Megdich, president of Yankee Distributors Inc., because of his deep concern over "the ugly racial situation that exists in the State of Mississippi."

Green contends that a favorable reaction from the East Lansing commission would encourage other human relations groups to act similarly and thereby aid the national civil rights movement as a whole.

Green's motion was ruled out of order by Chairman David K. Berle. A later motion to refer the matter to a committee of the whole (private) meeting passed 4 to 2, bringing Green's resignation.

Green was the second member to quit because of a disagreement with the rest of the commission. Dr. H.C. Tien, original commission chairman, quit April 9 after a similar disagreement.

In other action the commission passed a proposal by Learned that a list of all open housing for rent or sale in East Lansing be placed in the City Hall and made available to anyone interested.

The commission also accepted a proposal by Mrs. Stephanie Barch, co-chairman of the library committee and biology research assistant, that a letter of commendation be sent to the East Lansing Public Schools for deleting questions related to race or color from its employment applications.

Musicians Accept Democrats' Bid

Unit To Represent State Of Michigan

The MSU band has accepted an invitation to march and play at President Lyndon B. Johnson's inauguration ceremonies in Washington. Leonard Falcone, director of bands announced Thursday.

The 170 member band will represent Michigan Jan. 20 at the inaugural and lead the Michigan delegation in the inaugural parade. This is the first time the MSU band has been invited.

"I think it is a great honor to be selected from all the fine bands in the state to represent the State of Michigan," Falcone said.

"I'm sure the band is looking forward to participating in the parade and I think the band will be a credit to the State of Michigan," he added.

The invitation was extended to the band by the Michigan Democratic State Central Committee.

Falcone said the band will leave from Lansing by special train for Washington on Jan. 19 and return Jan. 21.

President Johnson will be sworn in at noon and the inaugural parade will begin at directly after at about 1:30 p.m. "We should be about the largest band to attend," he said.

Falcone said the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors is sponsoring the trip. Oldsmobile has sponsored the band for the past 11 years.

The band, using its distinctive "Patterns-of-Motion" marching style, has long set the standard for marching bands throughout the country. Last May the band played at Michigan Day at the New York World's Fair.

Falcone announced that all members of the marching band are to attend a briefing on the Washington trip at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the bandroom of the Music Building.

Arrangements will be made then to refit uniforms and prepare for the trip.

Falcone said the band will be quartered on the train while in Washington. The train will have sleeping cars and a diner to take care of the bandmen. The inaugural and parade will be televised.

Vietnamese Drop Bombs On Binh Gia

SAIGON, Viet Nam 4--Vietnamese warplanes poured explosives and fire bombs Thursday on woods in the Binh Gia area reputed to shelter 2,000 Viet Cong troops.

A fleet of fighter-bombers scrambled aloft on word from intelligence sources of the location of a Red concentration that government ground forces had been hunting fruitlessly since Monday to avenge a beating they took last week.

The strike zone was four miles northeast of Binh Gia. That is a Roman Catholic settlement, 40 miles east of Saigon, where the Viet Cong killed about 200 Vietnamese soldiers and six of their American advisers in a series of attacks and ambushes launched Dec. 28.

In addition to regular bombs, the planes carried napalm. This is jellied gasoline which flames fiercely over a wide area.

U.S. officials could not confirm the estimate that 2,000 Red fighters were in the woods, but expressed hope the planes might kill some of the enemy.

The Viet Cong elsewhere had resumed typical hit-and-run raids.

Succession Bill Offered

WASHINGTON 4--New proposals to assure the prompt and certain transfer of national leadership in case of presidential death or disability were offered Thursday by the Committee for Economic Development (CED).

Quick action by Congress is imperative, the report said, since in the nuclear era a president's death or illness "creates the risk of national disaster."

It proposed, among other changes, a constitutional amendment giving the president power to fill any vacancy in the vice presidency by sending a nomination to Congress, to be approved by majority vote in a joint session of House and Senate.

Student Help Not Scarce

The validity of reports which have appeared in Michigan newspapers recently, claiming that part-time jobs for students are remaining vacant because students don't need the extra money, deserve some close scrutiny.

The claim made in comments written on what might appear to be a serious and unusual situation, including a news story and editorial in the Lansing State Journal, indicated that there was a serious shortage of students to fill jobs available both on and off campus.

The explanation given was that students just don't need the money available from the jobs because their families are too well off to require them to work their way through college. An additional implication was that many students are too lazy to take a part-time job.

There are some serious flaws in this argument.

The articles deplored the fact that 250 of a total of 2,850 available jobs in dormitories and food services went unfilled last year. Jack Shingleton, director of the MSU Placement Bureau, said that one reason for this may be that students who would like to fill the jobs don't have the proper hours free for work.

The same may be true with all jobs available on and off campus.

Figures on the number of jobs filled through the Placement Bureau's student employment service were cited, indicating that of 5,539 jobs posted last year, only 4,846 were filled.

Tom Rand, assistant director of the Placement Bureau, said this merely meant that the additional 693 jobs were not filled by the bureau. They may have been filled by other means, such as advertisements or word of mouth, or may have been taken by non-students, especially in the case of jobs available off-campus.

Rand said that such statistics are frequently misleading because there is no single compilation of employment figures which would include all on- and off-campus employment.

In general, however, Rand said, "A smaller percentage of the students really need jobs nowadays" than in earlier eras.

This pleasant fact, a product of the general prosperity of the United States for some years now, was decried by the State Journal in its editorial on the supposed shortage of workers.

The point of the Journal's editorial was that students who work in addition to studying are "getting acquainted with work-a-day routine while broadening their formal knowledge, besides helping to earn their own way." There are other considerations, however.

Shingleton said that the emphasis on making good grades has discouraged some students from working who might otherwise take jobs. In addition, a good many students earn enough money on their own during vacation periods to enable them to spend their time on studying while classes are in session.

It is difficult to believe that students who could use or benefit from jobs just aren't filling them.

An Out For Parents

An offer made to parents of freshman students shortly before finals week last term has apparently turned out to be somewhat lacking in complete sincerity.

Parents were offered the opportunity to have sent to their sons and daughters at MSU a six-pound package of fruits and candy to help them through the pains of their first finals week. The cost of the package was $3.50, and 550 parents responded to the offer, made by Student Enterprises, Inc., of Bloomington, Ind., whose campus representative is one Gailen Smith, Covert senior.

What was delivered, according to the one complaint made so far, was worth a good deal less than $3.50, and included something less than six pounds of goods. One student said his package contained two bananas, two oranges, eight apples and a roll of candy, worth about $1.10.

When Smith originally asked University officials for permission to operate the enterprise here, he was asked not to imply that the offer was connected in any way with the University.

John A. Fuzak, vice president for student affairs, feels that Smith's signing his letter in which the offer was made as "Gailen Smith, MSU Class of '65" implies a connection with the University which did not exist.

Eldon R. Nonnamaker, associate dean of students, said there is no University ruling against students' going into business, or against students or others using the names and addresses of students in their businesses.

He said Smith, like other students selling insurance and other products and services, obtained the needed information from a student directory, for sale on campus.

For the moment, no University action against Smith is foreseen, Nonnamaker said.

"Any student who feels that this was not on the up and up," Nonnamaker said, "ought to ask for a refund."

Smith has claimed that he acted merely as the representative of the Bloomington concern, and did not even see a sample package either before or after the offer was made.

It may be that if the packages which were delivered were not the equivalent of what was offered, that Smith could be a more or less innocent target for any complaints which may come in.

Smith said he has submitted the one complaint received so far to the headquarters of Student Enterprises, Inc.

Regardless of who was responsible for the offer and the unfortunate results, students and parents who feel they have been "taken" should contact Smith and let him know their sentiments.

It is neither desirable nor practical to expect the University to intervene actively in cases such as this, as some parents who have already written to Fuzak seem to have expected.

However, if enough letters of protest were written to Smith and to Student Enterprises, a recurrence of this unfortunate incident could be avoided by the simplest and most direct method.

In Memory Of T S Eliot

Thomas Stearns Eliot, the Nobel Prize-winning poet who died Monday at the age of 76, was widely known for such works of despair and emptiness as "The Waste Land" and "The Hollow Men." In his later years, however, Eliot's works reflected a growing concern with Christian values. The following passage from "Choruses from the Rock," III, is an example.

O weariness of men who turn from GOD
To the grandeur of your mind and the glory of your action,
To arts and inventions and daring enterprises,

To schemes of human greatness thoroughly discredited,

Binding the earth and water to your service,
Exploiting the seas and developing the mountains,
Dividing the stars into common and preferred,
Engaged in devising the perfect refrigerator,
Engaged in printing as many books as possible,
Flooding of happiness and flinging empty bottles,
Turning from your vacancy to fevered enthusiasm

For nation or race or what you call humanity;
Though you forget the way to the Temple,
There is one who remembers the way to your door:

Life you may evade, but Death you shall not.
You shall not deny the Stranger.

Letters To The Editor

U.S. Forgetting
The Past?

To the Editor:

The present is the culmination of the past.

America is, sadly to say, forgetting the wonderful heritage that made her a great nation. We, the people, fail to reflect on the experiences of the past that are ever-influencing our nation's current activities in politics, society, religion and economy.

The value of history, as a tool for modern man to use in facing his future, is badly under-rated.

I am not advocating that we turn back, but I am saying that we should put our U.S. background before us, on a horizontal plane, so we can objectively examine it.

The use of history in our lives will serve as a catalyst, and will save us from being buried in the arising complications of the modern world where ideas and events are shrouded with uncertainties.

What is history? The dreams, ideas, and accomplishments of man. Who is man? You represent man as did your predecessors.

You have a history of your own which you cannot forget, but so did those before you whom you fail to remember. Only when a great man dies do we remember, and then we forget.

We live in a modern world today. Let us love, accept, and better understand it through a revitalization of the useful material lying in our nation's cobwebbed-closet of history.

"Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it," said philosopher, George Santayana.

Letter Policy

The State News welcomes all letters to the editors from any members of the MSU community or non-University readers.

Letters should be no longer than 300 words and typed double spaced if possible. Longer letters may be considered for publication as "Point of View" columns. Correspondents should include name and, if applicable, University standing (Detroit freshman, professor of forestry, etc.) This information may be withheld upon request, but unsigned letters will be printed.

Auditorium Beats Bucket Seats

To the Editor:

I read with groans of dismay the letter a few days ago about the use of a student's car in a dormitory parking lot in spite of the hindrance of a pair of bucket seats.

Egad! ! !

How unimaginative! As a small core of industrious MSU lovers have discovered, the Wilson Hall auditorium is far better suited for same.

Just think of all the modern conveniences! No transmission hump! No bucket seats! Heat, yet! Be civilized—strike a blow against the old-fashioned car!

"Get an auditorium, buddy!"

Guess who.

Three Cheers For Dorms!

To the Editor:

We applaud the instant residences that spring up each year on our ever expanding campus!

What would Ibsen's Master Builder say if he could see our antiseptic, complex-living units with their assembly-line cafeteria, super-cool, atmosphereless snack shops, expertly tasteless lounges, and sterile, thin-walled suites where four or more students live (?) and study (?) governed by only a very few more regulations than their apartment-dwelling classmates.

Yes! We should all stop to ponder the painstaking craftsmanship that goes into the construction of these hunking super-structures of the empire near the railroad tracks.

Then, perhaps, we can overlook the rooms that remain heatless due to no fault of the power plant until the last two weeks of the quarter, the floods that have filled rooms before rosy-fingered dawn, the loss of our easy chairs over vacation as the carpenters or secret service come to "finish" them, and the drafts that wait their way through the cracks in the window moldings to chill our bodies.

But we are profiting from our less than comfort; for we, after true Spartan fashion, have conditioned ourselves for the daily trek over the river and through the woods from freezin' acres.

To Friend And Foe Alike

The Bright,
New Year

By Susan Filson

Nothing is certain in life but death, taxes and the continued growth of Michigan State University.

It is not difficult to predict many of the events which will affect the university community during the new year.

Plans for East Campus Dormitory No. 7 will be announced. Dorms 8 and 9 will appear on drawing boards in the Department of Residence Halls, while dorms 10, 11, 12, 13 ad infinitum will dance like sugarplums in the heads of University planners.

MSU will receive thousands of dollars for research in scientific fields, and maybe a penny or two for the fine arts and the humanities. Grad assistants will be working harder than ever to grade papers while professors conduct research projects.

Several research professors will receive international acclaim. Students will burst with pride when they learn that these outstanding people are actually on the campus. They will trip over each other to get into the one course taught each term by MSU's schons of learning.

The patrol of Meter Maids will be expanded so that no misdemeanor on a bike will go undetected. More outlying parking lots will be constructed while the ones near the center of the campus remain half-empty.

The waiting list for married housing will grow longer.

More books will be stolen from the library than ever before. The University will channel more and more library funds into illuminated medieval manuscripts and lock the documents up so that students can't get at them. New books will have to be delayed until the air-conditioning system is paid for.

Officials of the Educational Development Project will reaffirm their dedication to finding a way to admit more students without sacrificing the quality of education. Other officials will nod their heads in agreement.

The computer will take over more and more of the University's work. Someone will receive a grant to research the question of whether the computer can be trained to grade essay papers.

Several thousand more square feet will be added to the area of the campus.

Several thousand more students will be added to the enrollment list.

And, in spite of it all, those who have the desire and the initiative will manage to obtain an excellent education.

New York Legislature Snagged By Battle

ALBANY, N.Y.—The New York Legislature, representing nearly 17 million people, was unable to function Thursday because of a giant power struggle among Democratic factions allied to Mayor Robert F. Wagner and U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The Democrats, in control for the first time in 30 years, could not agree on how to divide powerful leadership posts that command millions of dollars in patronage payrolls.

Budget Expected Around $99.5 Billion

WASHINGTON—Administration sources indicated Thursday that President Johnson's new budget will hold federal spending to around $99.5 billion.

That estimate is understood to be within $100 million or so of the probable final figure, although some decisions still are pending and two weeks remain for further review and revision.

The President's budget message to Congress on Jan. 25 reportedly will call also for further trimming of the federal deficit from this year's estimate of $5.7 billion, despite the planned cut in excise tax revenues.

New Balking Delays Sapphire Recovery

MIAMI, Fla.—New York police bargained Thursday night for recovery of the Star of India sapphire, but the custodians of this and other jewels stolen from New York's American Museum of Natural History balked at delivery for fear of prosecution.

Dapper Allen Kuhn, red-haired, 26-year-old beach boy who is one of three Miami men accused in the spectacular burglary, brought New York detectives here to get the stones after reportedly making a deal for leniency.

After a hide-and-seek game with newsmen, the Miami News said Kuhn set up a secret meeting with the persons holding the gems.

LBJ Health Program Could Have Big Effects

WASHINGTON—President Johnson's call Thursday for an unprecedented attack to improve the nation's health could have worldwide effects in the fight against the great killing and disabling diseases.

If implemented, his urging of a unique wedding of medical research, education and practice could bring about revolutionary changes in the organization of medical practice in this country.

Briton Says Malaysian Defenses 'Adequate'

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia—Army Minister Fred Mulley of Britain said Thursday he hoped President Sukarno of Indonesia "has the wisdom not to increase confrontation between the two big powers." But he added that Malaysia's defenses are "generally adequate" for any trouble.

After this statement to reporters on his arrival by plane from London, Mulley went to an urgent meeting with Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman to discuss the menace of an Indonesian military buildup.

Plane Crewmen Held By Algerian Authorities

ALGIERS—The four crewmen of three U.S. Navy planes forced down by weather in Algeria Thursday are held in custody by Algerian authorities. American sources say the four airmen are uninjured but that embassy officials in Algiers have not been allowed to contact them. Two of the planes landed safely. The third, a search aircraft, crashed but its two crewmen parachuted to safety.

Debate Set

Dorm Major Nights Urged

Campus clubs must inform the Organizations Bureau of newly elected officers, under a bill passed by Student Congress Wednesday night.

In the shortest meeting, lasting 25 minutes, Congress also approved a resolution urging residence hall complexes to hold Major Night programs.

Major Night programs bring faculty members to speak to no preference students about possible majors.

A bill introduced by Jim Graham, North Wonders representative, would require a referendum in order to re-organize the student government. Congress referred this to the Congress Business and Organizations Committee for further study.

Concerning recent discussions of the budget approved last term, Carl Parks, East Wilson, said Congress had spent too much time on small appropriations and had failed to discuss the $1,500 to be spent on the provost lectures.

He said many students have not heard of the lecturer, Alfred Kazin, author and critic for the New Yorker and the New York Times magazine, as well as other magazines.

Greg Owen, East Lansing representative, disagreed, saying that debates on smaller appropriations had helped Congress to understand the situations and that in reality the $1,500 is a savings for the Academic Affairs Department.

In the past a series of speakers has talked on different aspects of a central theme for the provost lectures, but there will be only one speaker giving a series of lectures this year.

1,400 To Begin Winter Sorority Rush Saturday

Winter rush for almost 1,400 eligible rushees and 22 sororities begins this weekend.

Throughout the four stages of rush, rushees are invited to the houses to become better acquainted with the sorority women.

Stage I, which will take place Saturday and Sunday, is a rather formal affair, with sorority women wearing dresses and heels.

The following Wednesday and Thursday, costume parties are planned. Each sorority will have a different theme.

Stage III, Jan. 16, is the casual gathering which will be followed Jan. 19 by Preference Parties, the climax of rushing.

Eligible rushees may pick up their bids at the Polly Pan-Hel Post Office today at the Union, Parlors A, B, and C, from 2 to 7 p.m.

Student Injured

An MSU student is reported in satisfactory condition today at Edward W. Sparrow Hospital after being injured in a two-car collision at Grand River Avenue and Hagadorn Road late Wednesday.

Monroe Weiss, Forest Hills, N.Y., junior, received a broken leg when the motorcycle he was driving collided with a car driven by Robert L. Gustafson, 44, 2691 Linden St., East Lansing police said.

Police said Gustafson was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Date Set For Ecumenical Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has set Sept. 14 for the start of the fourth and final session of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council.

The decision, announced Tuesday, indicated that the pontiff was determined to bring the last half dozen controversial issues before the council to solution this year, perhaps by Christmas.

Many prelates had predicted it would take until 1966 to prepare for the fourth session. At least one conservative prelate said three to four years might be needed to work out compromises.

Pope Paul made clear that he did not intend to allow such a time lapse. The Vatican press office said the pontiff informed his secretary of state, Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, in audience Monday that the next session would begin Sept. 14 and would complete the council's work.

The fourth and final session must deal with issues which brought heated debate and frequent open classes among the 2,500 council fathers at sessions last fall in St. Peter's Basilica.

Two of the foremost of these are a council statement on religious liberty, asserting the right of personal freedom on conscience in following a religious creed, and a draft declaration that the Jews are not to be given the blame for the crucifixion of Christ.

Many Latin American bishops and most Italian conservative prelates opposed the declaration on religious liberty. They said the council could not concede to any man the right to commit spiritual error.

Prelates from sections of the Arab world opposed the declaration on the Jews, contending that this would have an adverse effect upon their congregations.

U.S. bishops, among others, strongly urged acceptance of both declarations. In the last week of the third session the declaration on Jews was voted basic approval. But a small group of conservative prelates blocked a similar preliminary vote on the religious liberty declaration, saying they needed time to study it further.

Debaters Vie At Illinois

Six varsity MSU debaters will enter the Illinois State University Invitational Varsity Debate Tournament at Bloomington today and Saturday.

The topic is whether the federal government should establish a national program of public work for the unemployed.

St. John's Pledges

When St. John's Student Center asked the Roman Catholic students of Michigan State for help in raising money in their $400,000 drive, they pledged nearly $150,000 to the cause.

The money is to be used to build two new chapels to serve the University. The overflow of students enrolled at the center has necessitated the program which is now in its initial state.

SCF Meet Set Tonight

Vacation is over now, but it will live on in the minds of the students who attended the Urbana, Ill., Missionary Conference held the last week of December.

Spartan Christian Fellowship members who attended the conference will gather tonight at Bethel Manor, 303 E. Grand River, at 7 p.m. to discuss their experiences at the conference and share them with the rest of the group.

Tom Stark, district Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship (IVCF) representative, will be on campus today through Wednesday to confer with students interested in developing their Christian witnessing in the dorms.

He will be available to discuss the aspects of Bible studies in living units as one of the best opportunities for witnessing.

He will hold a general discussion session Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Manor, open to all. Private appointments are to be made by calling Bethel Manor.

Faith On Campus

By MARDI FISCHER

Christians are told to accept their religion on faith. There are no eye-witnesses to the life of Christ left—no one who was there can now verify the facts.

We have only a collection of stories and testimonials, most of which are almost 2,000 years old. The events which these accounts record must be accepted on faith—or must they?

Faith alone is not the answer. Man was given the power of reason. He asks questions and searches until an answer is found. This rational power must also be applied to religion.

Without reason man is a dumb animal. With it he has the world before him, full of endless mysteries to unlock.

There are those who, through the use of reason, claim they have completely lost their faith.

But have they followed through in their search for truth? Have they explored every avenue? Perhaps, but more than likely, they have set out to prove everyone wrong, overlooking all but the negative aspects of their questions.

The Christian, like the scientist, must ask questions with an open mind. No aspect can be overlooked, no fact discarded. It is my opinion that he will find, as others have before him, that his faith is a true one, alive and infinite.

Gideons To Gather At Kellogg

About 150 Gideon leaders will gather at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education to attend a conference Jan. 22-23.

Gideons are businessmen from many walks of life who believe that the availability of a Bible in times of stress can save men's lives and souls.

In view of this belief, they place Bibles in hotels, motels and other public accommodations.

"Bible 'Em Now?" is the theme of one of the sessions of the conference, co-sponsored by the MSU University Committee on Church Related Programs and the Gideons, International.

Witnessing, the preparation and presentation of a Gideon message, motivation and the assignment and acceptance of responsibility are among other subjects to be studied.

"From the Balcony of the World" is the topic of Robert Anderson of the MSU Department of Religion, who speaks on the closing day.

Peace Corps Exam Scheduled Saturday

The Peace Corps placement test will be given at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in 217 Post Office Building, Lansing.

Persons taking the test are to take a completed Peace Corps questionnaire to the test location.

Also admitted were Dennis Skinner, East Lansing junior; Paul King, East Lansing freshman; Jerrold Gottlieb, Scarsdale, N.Y., freshman; Joseph Goss, Cadillac freshman; James Jesswein, St. Joseph freshman; John Fraleigh, Casnovia freshman; Judy Clemence, Ada freshman; and Edgar Glick, Columbia City, Ind., sophomore.

Applicants will never learn their scores. The results are used to estimate the applicant's potential for completing the intensive training program.

Mixer To Honor Miss Michigan

Sally Jane Noble, Miss Michigan of 1964, will be the special guest at an informal mixer to be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

The mixer, sponsored by the International Club and co-sponsored by the International Cooperation Committee, will be held especially to welcome new foreign students, said J.C. Shah, president of International Club.

Staff members of the International Programs office will also be on hand to welcome the new students.

A dance conducted by Gentleman Jim Chase, disc jockey from WJIM, will be held following the social hour.

All faculty members, foreign and American students, and their friends are invited to attend. There will be no admission charged.

Miss Noble is an MSU freshman.

Comedy Tonight

Two of the movies included in the Performing Arts Company season ticket will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. today in the Anthony auditorium.

Tillie's Punctured Romance, starring Marie Dressler, is the film that marked Charlie Chaplin's debut as a major star. The "W.C. Fields Festival" includes three Mack Sennett comedy classics—"The Barber Shop," "The Pharmacist" and "The Fatal Glass of Beer."

Admission for students without PAC coupon books is 50 cents.

Skaters Like Their Work

Their love of ice-skating is the one motivation members of the "Holiday on Ice" show express in common.

Their other reactions are as varied as the seven nations from which they come and the three North American countries they tour.

Relaxing backstage at the Lansing Civic Center among trunks and make-shift curtain-drawn dressing rooms, the skaters chat about their job between the numbers of the currently appearing ice show.

"My old friends can't understand how I can stand 'living out of a suitcase' as they call it, and I can't understand how they can stay in the same city," Roxanne Maxey, a chorus skater, commented.

This is the 21-year-old skater's second year with "Holiday on Ice." From Phoenix, Ariz., she traces her interest in skating to a skating birthday party given six years ago by a girlfriend.

Traveling with an ice show gives a person a chance to grow up faster, to see history "live" in the places to which he travels, to meet more people, and to learn how to dress, she said.

"If skating is something you like as well as I do, it's good to get paid for it, too," she said with a smile.

For Tommy Allen, the 25-year-old skater whose speed spins have earned him the title of "Whirling Dervish," the appreciation of the audience is one of the most rewarding aspects of his job.

"After being with the show six years I've gotten used to an audience failing to applaud for the more difficult stunts or a seeming lack of enthusiasm," he said. Often the audience doesn't understand what is difficult, he said. Most people truly do enjoy and appreciate the show.

"I'm staying with the show as long as I can keep up the work," he said. "When someone younger takes my place I think I can say I've enjoyed the work and the people and step out of the business."

Show skaters rarely stay in shows beyond their 30's. Most of the skaters in "Holiday on Ice" are between 18 and 21 years of age.

Both Seija Hinkkuri, 20, of Timmons, Ont., and Gene Theslof of Los Angeles, chorus skaters, said they found the competition and challenge of skating the most compelling aspects of show skating.

Educators Tour Campus

Nine foreign educators will visit MSU today as part of a study of America's elementary school administrations.

Sponsored by the International Teacher Development Program of the U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare, the visitors will spend the day attending lectures and discussions with staff members of the College of Education.

John Jamrich, associate dean of the college, will preside over the morning sessions and will introduce John E. Ivey Jr., dean of the College of Education, to greet the group.

Representing the college and meeting with the visiting educators will be Herbert Rudman and Vernon Hicks, professors of education, and Leland Dean, director of teacher education.

At noon the group will meet in the Center for International Programs for luncheon at the Crossroads Cafeteria at which Ralph Smucker, acting dean of International Programs will address the visitors.

Ship Shape Chops

Recent research at Michigan State University shows that pork loin chops become increasingly more tender when allowed to age 2 to 12 days.

Australia Film Set

Australia, from the ruins of the Port Arthur convict colony in Tasmania to the tropics of Queensland, will unroll on the screen Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium as the first winter term travel film is presented.

Bill Dalzell, whose articles on Australia have appeared in the New York Times and the Herald Tribune, photographed the travelogue on a trip along the Pacific coast of Australia.

His film, "Australia: Tasmania to the Tropics," documents the life of the Australian at work and at play, on the cattle ranch, in Sydney's "Greenwich Village", at the cricket match and on the waterfront.

Dalzell traveled 10,000 miles and spent seven months producing the Australian film.

A graduate of Ohio State University, he has been cameraman on expeditions to southern Mexico and to remote Melville Island north of Darwin, Northern Territory, Australia.

The winter term world travel series also includes films shot in Hong Kong, Cuba, the United States, Switzerland, Alaska and Morocco.

Admission is $1.

McVay Quits For Dayton Post

The MSU Athletic Department is in the process of naming a successor to assistant backfield coach John McVay who resigned Thursday to take the head coaching job at Dayton University.

Head coach Duffy Daugherty was unavailable for comment. McVay, 34, was the youngest man on the Spartan grid staff in terms of service, having come to MSU from Canton, Ohio, Central Catholic High School in 1962.

As assistant backfield coach, McVay handled scouting reports on Spartan opponents and his scouting team employed those offenses against the first team during practice sessions.

He was born in Bellaire, Ohio, and attended college at downstate Miami University.

League Foes Challenge All's' Fronts

ICE--MINNESOTA

State's hockey team moves into Western Collegiate Hockey Association play for the first time this season with a pair of weekend games at Minnesota.

The Spartans are the only one of the leagues seven members, who haven't seen any conference action as yet. However, all the other teams have at least one mark in the loss column and a Spartan twin killing would sweep them to the head of the league's standings.

The Gophers top a close league race and promise to keep the Spartan end of the rink busy with a talented group of veteran goal getters.

ON MAT--IOWA

With a 1-0-1 dual meet mark on the line, Michigan State's wrestling team takes on Big Ten foe Iowa Saturday in the Men's I.M. Sports Arena beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Hawkeyes bring a spotless dual meet mark and a squad loaded with veterans here with the hope of putting a blot on the Spartan record.

Both squads possess hopes of higher finish in the Big Ten this season.

GYM--INTRASQUAD

The Spartan gymnasts will face a strong challenge right from among their own ranks Saturday when they meet the freshmen in an intra-squad meet.

The freshmen aren't expected to prove easy pushovers when competition gets under way in the Men's I.M. Building at 1 p.m. Coach George Szypula rates his first year team as one of the best ever.

SWIM--RELAYS

Fresh from a dual meet dunking of Bowling Green Wednesday, the Spartan swimmers move on to Ann Arbor Saturday to participate in the ninth running of the Big Ten Relays.

A power-packed field including Big Ten teams, Ohio State, Indiana, Wisconsin and host Michigan will give Coach Charles McCaffree a sneak peek at league competition, which is expected to be as tough as ever.

Eleven relays plus diving competition are on the slate. The events will all be of long distances with team strength in each category necessary for victory.

Hoopsters Face Iowa Saturday

Basketball Coach Fordy Anderson's realistic goal of "finishing somewhere in the middle of the pack" indicates the overall strength of the Big Ten this season.

The Spartans will wade into the stiff competition Saturday against the University of Iowa in a game which will tell how close Anderson's goal is to be fulfilled.

The game opens the Big Ten season for State and is the first in a series of weekend afternoon encounters this season. Game time is 2:30 p.m. at Jenison Fieldhouse.

It could also be the most important game of the year for the Spartans as they must finish ahead of the visitors in the Big Ten standings to avoid falling short of their modest objectives.

The Hawkeyes have not had a great amount of success in the Western Conference and were not regarded as any real threat this year.

But a new coach and a 70-74 upset victory over Minnesota, a pre-season contender for the title, has made Iowa opponents realize that they are not going to be pushed around, either.

Coach Ralph Miller was treated to a convincing conference win in his Big Ten debut Monday when the Hawks soundly thrashed Wisconsin 92-62 for their sixth win of the season against four losses.

Gilmer Of Vikings Named Lion Coach

DETROIT (UPI)—Former Detroit Lions Quarterback Harry Gilmer has been named as the new head coach of the Lions by owner William Clay Ford.

Gilmer, who was an All-American Quarterback in his college days at Alabama, has been given a three-year contract at an annual salary of 25-thousand dollars. Gilmer has been an assistant coach with the Minnesota Vikings.

He's 38-years-old and replaces George Wilson who resigned a couple of weeks ago, two days after Ford fired his staff of five assistant coaches.

Ford says Gilmer will be allowed to pick his own coaching staff. He also said that Gilmer had been selected in consultation with General Manager Edwin Anderson and Personnel Director Russ Thomas from a list of 25 applicants.

Gilmer is scheduled to be in Detroit this morning for a news conference.

Gilmer was an All-America Quarterback in 1945 and had the unusual distinction of being voted the Most Valuable Player in two separate bowl games, the Sugar Bowl, where Alabama lost to Duke 29-26, and a year later in the Rose Bowl where he passed and ran his Crimson Tide to a 34-14 win over Southern California.

He was a bonus choice of the Washington Redskins in 1948, but a series of injuries and another quarterback named Slingin' Sammy Baugh kept him on the bench most of the time. He was traded to Detroit in 1954 but then was in the shadow of Bobby Layne.

Gilmer ended his playing career in 1957 when he went to Pittsburgh as an assistant to former Detroit head coach Buddy Parker. In 1961 he joined the staff of former Van Brocklin in Minnesota.

'Winter Sportacular' Tonight At Jenison

MSU's first major winter term pep rally, "Winter Sportacular," will take place today at 7 p.m. in Jenison Fieldhouse. The rally will feature demonstrations and explanations by the winter sports teams and presentations of honorary Spartan Spirit awards and off-campus trophies.

The gymnastics, swimming, indoor track, fencing, wrestling and hockey teams, as well as the basketball team, will be present. Their programs will include a talk by Olympic swimming medalist Gary Dilley and a demonstration of the new Olympic gymnastic exercises.

Receiving honorary Spartan Spirit awards will be Bill Beardsley, ticket manager; Duffy Daugherty, head football coach; Leonard Falcone, professor of music; Bill Moffitt, instructor in music; and Clarence (Biggie) Munn.

Receiving the off-campus trophies for participation and sponsorship of all University events are, in the fraternities and co-ops division: Sigma Phi Epsilon, first; Delta Upsilon, second; and Phi Gamma Delta, third; sororities and religious living units: Zeta Tau Alpha, first; Asher House for men, second; and Delta Zeta, third.

The brass band and cheerleaders will be present. Louie Bender, winner of the Ugliest Greek contest, and Kathy Mayor or the pep rally committee will present skits.

"We have a two-fold purpose for the winter term rallies," Tauck said. "We want to introduce students to the wide variety of winter sports and also show the teams that the student body supports them."

Special guests will be John A. Fuzak, dean of students; James Appleton, associate director of residence halls; and Lana Dart, assistant director of student activities. Invited guests are Chalmers (Hump) Elliott, football coach at the University of Michigan; and Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packers coach.

Russian Leaders Delay Reply To LBJ Bid

WASHINGTON—Russia's new leaders are stalling off a decisive reply to President Johnson's bid for a dramatic improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations, including an exchange of summit-level visits. Johnson's advisers say there probably are several reasons why the Kremlin leadership is unwilling to commit itself at this time—among them the uncertain course of Russian rivalry with Red China.

Whoosh! What you almost saw above was the wooliest number in years: Oldsmobile's 4-4-2 Sporting and standard equipment includes a 400-cu.-in. 345-hp V-8 mill backed with 4-barrel carb and acoustically tuned, chambered twin pipes. And "sticky" red-line tires. And front and rear stabilizers, heavy-duty frame, springs and shocks that make lean and sway mere memories. Three transmission availabilities, too, including 3-speed synchromesh, 4-on-the-floor and Jetaway automatic. Better hurry over to your Olds Dealer's. The 4-4-2 is a restless beast! And it's the lowest priced high-performance car in America!
