Students Get Financial Aid Under Work-Study Program

Petitions Seek Vote On NSA

Petitions calling for a student referendum on membership in the National Student Association (NSA) are being circulated in residence halls this week.

At the same time, Bailey Hall general council has asked its Student Congress representative to introduce a bill Tuesday night for a select committee of Congress to study MSU's relationship with the organization.

Controversy over NSA membership broke out at Congress meetings last term. Armstrong Hall President Jim Jesse and Bailey Hall President Jim Sink, serving as proxy Congress representatives, questioned whether the $93 dues could be used in a more beneficial way to the student body.

Good Job Can Bring Over $600

Special To The State News

Which students are attending Michigan State with only about $300 a year help from their parents?

If they will identify themselves, they can become eligible for thousands of dollars of federal aid through the new Work-Study program, Henry C. Dykema, MSU director of financial aids, reported Sunday.

Any student with a 2.0 or better grade average who has the financial need is eligible.

"There are plenty of jobs -- now what we need is to know exactly which students qualify for this new program," Dykema pointed out.

On page 3 of this issue of the State News is printed a copy of the eligibility statement for a Work-Study program grant. Students who consider themselves eligible should cut it out and return it to the Financial Aids office, 162 Student Services Building, by Wednesday of this week.

It is necessary to get this information quickly, Dykema said, because of a deadline for submitting a supplemental request for financial aid to the U.S. Office of Education in Washington.

The Work-Study program is a part of the new Economic Opportunity Act approved by the Congress last year. It will provide up to 15 hours of work a week for eligible students.

It is intended to help students who receive "no help or almost no help at all from home," Dykema explained. The financing will support students already on jobs, increase their hours of work or find additional jobs for them. No student will lose his present job, and a student may hold a Work-Study program job and do other work, too.

"It will be to the definite advantage of a student to complete an eligibility form," Dykema said. "This is true even if he already has a campus job and is working the maximum number of hours he wishes -- it will provide him with good job insurance for the rest of his time at MSU and will

Highway, MSU Officials In Crossroads Conflict

By JIM STERBA
State News Staff Writer

State Highway Department officials will meet with MSU in two weeks to decide whether to use traffic signals or overpasses on a proposed four-lane road in East Lansing.

The road will be built in about four years along the north side of the Grand Trunk railroad tracks on the south end of campus and will connect I-496 on the west with Grand River Avenue on the east.

"This road will be a great help in easing current traffic congestion," said Harold W. Lautner, director of Physical Plant planning.

Conflict has arisen at the proposed crossroads. University officials want to build overpasses at Harrison Road, Farm Lane and Hagadorn Road. The State Highway Department wants traffic-signal-controlled intersections. Lautner said that the railroad bisecting campus provides enough traffic difficulties, and the traffic signal intersections would only add to the problem.

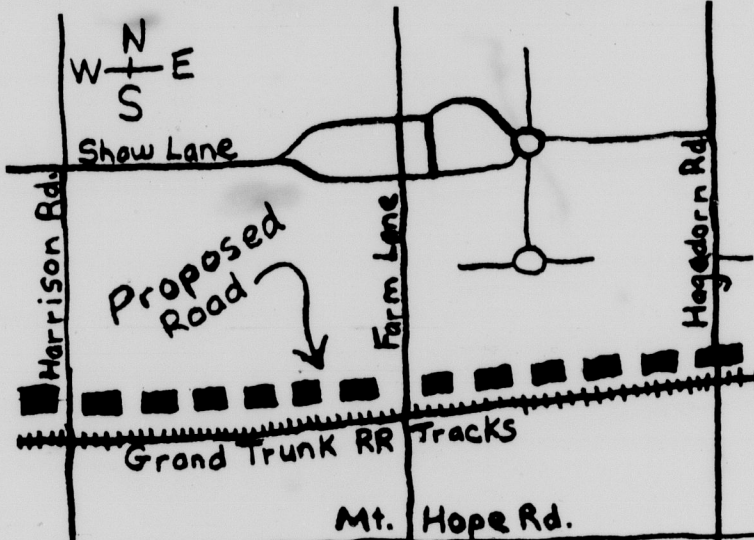

M. Tarik Ataman, assistant director of route location for the State Highway Department, said that making the road a freeway with overpasses would boost the cost of the project from an estimated $1 million to several millions.

Ataman said that three overpasses built too close together would create additional problems.

The land for the road was set-aside 12 years ago and the road was to serve as a kind of south border to the main part of campus. Enrollment increases have pushed the University beyond the proposed southern border, and campus officials say that when 50,000 or 60,000 students attend MSU in the near future, the campus will probably sprawl as far as Mt. Hope Avenue.

Sato, LBJ Confer On Red China

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)--Prime Minister Eisaku Sato stopped here Sunday en route to Washington, D.C., for talks with President Johnson which Sato hopes will help him firm-up Japan's Red China policy.

Sato, 63-year-old economist who took the reins last October from ailing Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, seemed on familiar grounds as he walked among Americans of Japanese ancestry at San Francisco International Airport, smiling and waving.

He seemed unbothered by the fact that both the leftist opposition and some members of his own Liberal Democratic party back home will keep a critical eye on his every move during the seven-day official visit.

The Prime Minister was very brief in his arrival statement. He said only that he considers his trip important to Japanese-American relations.

However, in Honolulu--his first stop on U.S. soil--Sato was much broader in a statement at a news conference at the Japanese consulate. He indicated he expected some discussion during the Washington discussions on problems in his country and the rest of the Far East.

"There will not necessarily be unity on all questions," Sato said.

"but the important thing is that through such contact we deepen mutual understanding so that there will be no doubts or mistrusts to the way the other party might proceed."

Contract Offer Rejected

National Dock Strike Looms

NEW YORK (AP)--Events on the New York waterfront Sunday moved steadily toward a midnight dock strike--created, in the government's opinion, by "confusion and misunderstanding."

The government, shippers and union officials themselves appeared powerless to prevent a walkout here and in other ports between Texas and Maine by more than 60,000 longshoremen.

Asst. Labor Secretary James J. Reynolds blamed the stalemate on union membership's failure to understand the terms of a contract they rejected. He viewed a strike as foredoomed to failure.

"If anyone has any illusion that there will be changes in the contract, it should be dispelled," Reynolds said before returning to Washington after last-minute talks with each side.

"The bargaining process is over," the Labor Department official said.

Shippers, stunned by the rejection of a contract which the longshoremen's president had hailed, prepared for a possibly long and costly--$25 million a day--tieup of ocean commerce along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts.

They asked Reynolds to relay their request for congressional action to require compulsory arbitration.

Having exhausted the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act in months of contract talks, the government was without legal recourse to avert a strike.

Past history of contract negotiations involving longshoremen, the potentially disastrous impact of a dock strike on the national economy and the nature of the stalemate seemed to promise consideration in Congress. The dock workers' last previous contract dispute almost would up there.

The White House said President Johnson was keeping abreast of developments.

As the strike deadline neared, 6,400 longshoremen were called out to work the piers of New York harbor, about 35-40 per cent more than on a normal Sunday.

But a day-long snowstorm drove many of them away from work.

Some ship operators paid premium Sunday wages to get cargo loaded or unloaded before midnight so the vessels would be ready for sea.

The crisis came with the rejection by New York dock workers of the new contract, which traditionally is the master plan for longshoremen's labor pacts along the two coasts.

By custom in the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, when one port strikes in a situation such as this, all

Halls Collect Newspapers For Children

Seven contests between residence halls will strengthen interest in a YMCA paper drive this week to send underprivileged children from the Lansing area to camp.

Sponsors are asking students to save old newspapers for a week. The papers will be picked up Saturday morning, with a schedule of collection times to be in the State News Thursday.

YMCA youth leaders in charge of the drive on campus are Steve Plavcanick, Oak Park sophomore, and Bob Riefchin. All University Student Government (AUSG) has endorsed the drive. Armstrong Hall has challenged the whole campus in the drive. Other contests are between Fee and Akers, East and West Shaw, Mason-Abbott and Phillips-Snyder, Wilson and Case, Rather and Bryan, and Bailey and Emmons.

Open fraternity rush begins tonight, while sorority rush goes into State II costume parties Wednesday night.

Fraternities west of M.A.C. Avenue are holding open rush tonight, while those east of M.A.C. will have parties Tuesday.

Rushes may call any of the houses for transportation. Sorority rushes attended Stage I parties Saturday and Sunday afternoons and may pick up bids for parties Wednesday and Thursday nights in Parlors A, B, and C of the Union 3-7 p.m. Tuesday.

Abbot Hall Drops Spirit Competition

The Abbot Hall general council voted recently to drop out of the Spartan Spirit trophy competition, becoming the third residence hall to do so.

Taking the same position as Bailey Hall, Abbot president Thornton P. Percival, New York, N.Y., junior, said that the council questioned the idea of presenting a trophy for school spirit to individual dorms.

"We believe in a unified school spirit and fear that this could turn into a competition for just another trophy," Percival said.

"When living units are designated to raising school spirit as many of those on campus are," Jim Tanck, Waterford, Wis., junior and Spartan Spirit director, said, "as the spirit agency for the campus, we feel that Spartan Spirit should recognize these dorms for their activities."

Halls which have recently dropped out of competition have not sufficiently investigated the reasons why they were dropped. He pointed out that of the three halls which left the competition--Bailey, Campbell and Abbot--Campbell and Abbot had failed to attend the complex directors' meetings where the judging is done.

"I think anyone who has studied the criteria sheets agrees that they are as fair as possible in determining participation in all-University events," Tanck said.

Percival stressed that Abbot would continue to support Spartan Spirit in such activities as pep rallies and the new traditions booklet.

"If a better solution of evaluating all-University spirit can be found, Abbot will certainly consider rejoining the competition," Percival said.

He noted that he will continue to evaluate Abbot's participation in all-University activities, using the present Spartan Spirit criteria sheets and give them to the Spartan Spirit board.

Campbell, women's residence hall dropped out of competition last term, saying that continued low ratings despite varied activities had hindered spirit in the hall.

Both West Shaw and South Case men's hall general councils have voted to remain in and support trophy competition.

No End Seen To Detroit's Hotel Strike

DETROIT (AP)--Hotels, like England, must go on.

A strike may cramp their style but it doesn't dent their will (or smiles).

So it is in Detroit today with no sign of a breakthrough in negotiations between 2,500 members of Local 705 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union and the Hotel Association, representing nine hotels.

But the real test comes today with 10,000 members of the Society of Automotive Engineers beginning a three-day convention. Detroit hotels and motels are reportedly booked solid.

"It's going to be rough but we'll make it," said Jimmie Hawkins, executive director of the Whittier Hotel.

The criticism, coupled with a declaration of support for Indonesia's withdrawal from the United Nations, came first in a broadcast government statement. Then it was followed up by an editorial in the Peking Peoples Daily newspaper that was even more vitriolic.

Non-Violence Seen To Be 'Stupidity'

By DAVE STEWART
State News Staff Writer

Two young Communists, Shachina Rosen and Andrew Rakochy, called for a "revolutionary outlook" to social problems Thursday at an informal meeting of the Young Socialists Club.

Both are members of the Progressive Labor Movement, a relatively new organization whose outlook is often seen as similar to that of the Chinese Communists.

Rakochy claimed that "you just can't say peace is the best thing. A state of peace can exist where the yoke of imperialism is oppressing."

This type of peace is bound to be temporary.

Said Rakochy, "We will live in peace when the whole world has socialism, when countries won't have different interests."

It was also added that the overthrow of the government is not the only method to achieve socialism, for the masses can exert all sorts of pressures.

But both felt there was a basic point beyond which the ruling class would no longer make concessions.

Discussing the Progressive Labor Movement itself, Rosen said its adherents are primarily young, and there is no formal membership.

Many of the leaders of the movement were once members of the Communist party, tending to leave in protest against a rigid party line, excessive dictation from the top and too much bureaucracy.

Rosen saw "faith in the principle of limiting oneself to nonviolence" as stupidity.

Often, he said, militants in other movements see this as they ponder the next step. The Progressive Labor Movement tries to attract these persons, he said, and as a consequence have had a full-time organizer in the South for the past two years. Several new "collectives" have resulted.

Students Turn 'Pioneers' To Aid Blind Enrollees

To improve and broaden the blind student's life at MSU is the aim of the newly-formed Pioneers on campus.

The club will serve as an aid and outlet for the University's blind students and those interested in activities to aid the blind.

The first project calls for raising funds to increase and improve the present facilities in the library's reading room for the blind.

Several students who use the reading room say they are not satisfied with present facilities and think the new club can improve conditions.

Other planned projects include establishing files for tests, professor information and Braille class notes, and a program of orientation for newly-enrolled blind students.

Membership in the Pioneers is open to any student or faculty member.

The ABCD&F's
Of Ineligibility

RIC ARD SCHWARTZ
State News Sports Editor

It's called the stall and it's something Prestone anti-freeze wouldn't cure.

That it's part of the game of basketball, you don't need a Ph.D. to realize. What you do need is a winning margin to flirt with and a few minutes of grace.

That Iowa knew this and painfully employed it was obvious to those of the 7,103 who witnessed the waning minutes of State's Big Ten opener Saturday.

As for the Spartans, they too knew about the stall. Only it wasn't under the bulb of Jensen that they chose to apply the science.

No, theirs was a stall centered backstage. While it wasn't something you might read off the scoreboard, it nevertheless had a decisive effect on what figures popped up on which side.

It involved points, for sure, but it wasn't the type you'd care to publicize. No, it's nothing like the 12.5 average a player might show on the hardwood. Fact is, it wasn't even two points.

Plain and simple, Joe Johnson, sophomore extraordinaire (at least for the depthless 1964-65 Spartans), was confronted by a new scorekeeper—the registrar, his verdict: ineligibility.

The funny way these things operate, it took until the Friday before gametime of the first winter term class for someone to stumble upon the discovery. Perhaps aided by the 3600 computer, it was learned that one plus one equals two, but only assuming you have the ones in the first place.

Strange it was, that Johnson should have conveniently been fussing with a malady commonly diagnosed as a sprained ankle, and that this injury made him a doubtful starter against Iowa.

Then, too, that his coach should have publicly dropped a hint that he had experienced academic difficulties the previous term, only to brush it off with the "knowledge" that Joe's all-University grade point assured him of eligibility.

All that can legitimately be assumed is that Anderson was hoping a minor miracle might come his way.

Or perhaps that a computer had burped.

Spartan Cagers Stumble In Big 10 Opener

85-78 Loss To Iowa
Reflects Soph's Loss

By DUANE LANCASTER
State News Sports Writer

The University of Iowa put the damper on Michigan State's Big Ten basketball opener and established themselves as a real darkhorse by squashing the Spartans 85-78 at Jenison Field House Saturday.

It was the second conference win in as many games for the Hawkeyes who were expected to join State and Wisconsin in the bottom half of the Western Conference.

The Spartans were noticeably weakened by the loss of sophomore forward Joe Johnson due to ineligibility.

"There is no doubt that the loss of Joe Johnson came at the worst possible time," Coach Fordy Anderson said. "Our over-all scoring balance just wasn't there Saturday."

"Losing him the day before the game was a real shock. Especially after several good practices had developed a good mental attitude for this game. If this had happened a couple of weeks ago it wouldn't have been so bad."

It was also a frustrating afternoon for Anderson and his Spartans who kept close to the winners throughout the game before going into a nine-minute field goal drought late in the second half.

Iowa and State fought closely in the first stanza, exchanging the lead several times, before the Hawks went ahead 38-36 at intermission.

The Spartans took the lead early in the second half and moved ahead by three, 59-56 but the visitors from Iowa City tied it 62-62 and State went into its slump.

Marcus Sanders led all scorers with 27 points and Stan Washington and center Bill Curtis added 25 and 18 points respectively but that was just about all the scoring punch State could muster.

State's John Shick and Ted Crum were both held to just three points each as State showed a definite lack of a solid bench and a balanced scoring attack.

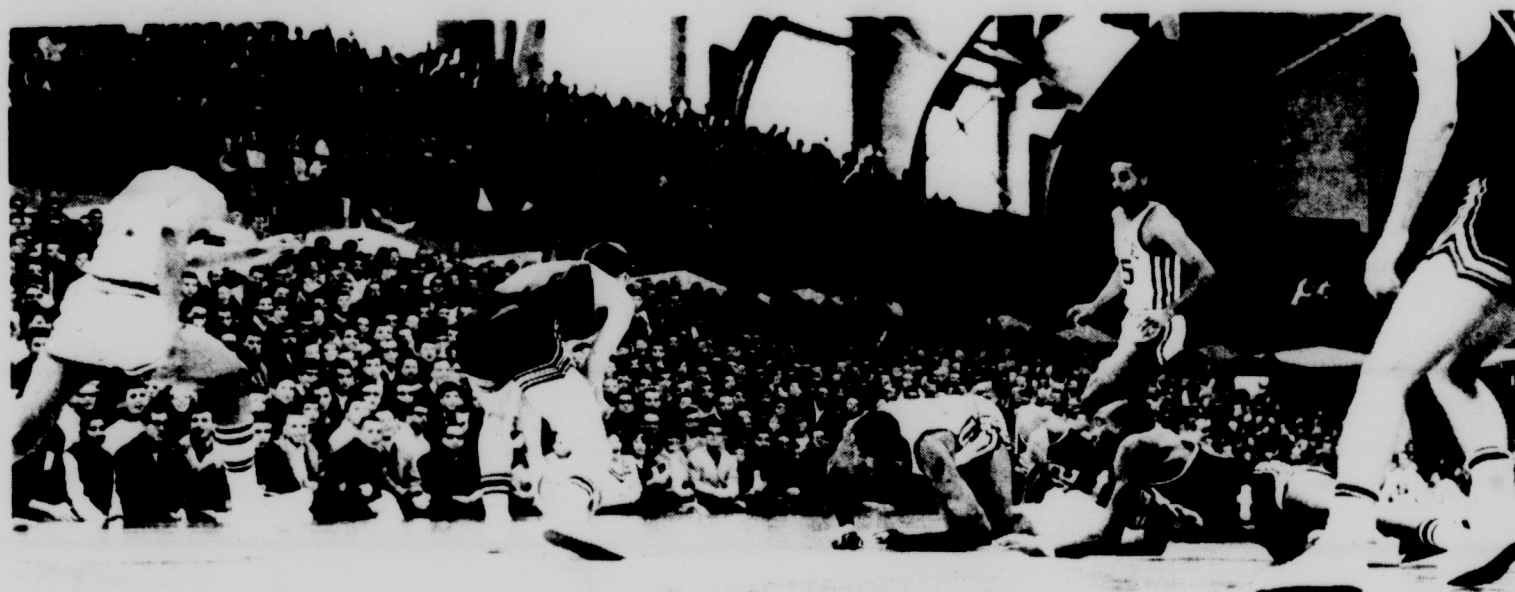

The Hawks were paced by Chris Pervall with 24 points, Jimmy Rodgers had 19 and Jerry Jones chipped in with 14.

Despite being out-rebounded 46-30, the Hawkeyes managed to get off 13 more shots and hit on 10 more than State. Iowa made 37 of 69 shots from the floor and the Spartans connected on only 27 of 56 field goal attempts.

Utilizing an effective pressing defense whenever the score got close, Iowa forced the Spartans into several mistakes in the second half to thwart any chance of a come-from-behind victory.

The winners drove to a nine-point lead late in the game and successfully stalled away the last three minutes when State put on a desperation press.

Those TV cameras that sat in on the Spartan's basketball loss to Iowa Saturday afternoon are a part of an unique experiment in television.

Detroit station WKBD-TV, Channel 50, which sent on the air for the first time Sunday, will include the State in its all-sports programming. The station is the first commercial television outlet to feature one specific type of programming.

Channel 50, which will operate on ultra high frequency (UHF), will have something for every sports buff according to the station's General Manager John Serrao.

Prep, college and professional sports of all types will be covered by the station. Included will be MSU football, hockey, basketball and baseball. The Big Ten championships in track and swimming, tennis and baseball are currently on their telecast schedule.

Gordon Top Back In Bowl

MSU halfback Dick Gordon put the finishing touches on a brilliant senior year by being named the outstanding back on the North squad in Saturday's North-South Senior Bowl game at Montgomery, Ala.

Gordon, who gained 741 rushing for the Spartans in 1964, caught several swing passes and was a workhorse on the ground as his team battled to a 7-7 tie with the Southern stars.

Spartan tackle Jerry Rush also played in Saturday's contest which was highlighted by the passing of Alabama quarterback Joe Namath who completed 22 passes for 246 yards.

Gordon's appearance was his second in a post-season bowl game. He also took part in the East-West Shrine contest which was won by the West 11-7.

Skaters Stage Coup d'Etat,
But Gophers Regain Reign

By LARRY MOGG
State News Sports Writer

Minneapolis—MSU and Minnesota waged a battle-royal here this weekend for the leadership of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association pack in a series that had all the elements of a red-hot Latin American revolution.

The Spartan puck team engineered a "coup d'etat" on the front-running Gophers Friday night with a come-from-behind 4-3 decision in State's conference opener.

With the other six members in the WCHA plagued with at least two losses, the Spartans ruled the roost with a 1-0 record after Friday's game. But their reign was destined to rival that of an Argentine dictator.

Some 17 hours later the Gophers swept back into office via an eleven hour uprising that toppled State, 5-2.

Minnesota retained its status quo with the split as the Gophers moved their WCHA season slate to 4-2. State's conference record is at 1-1 with a season record of 7-4.

An uphill fight after being a goal down on two different occasions, coupled with a fine net debut by sophomore Gerry Fisher, provided State with a hard-earned win Friday night.

Gopher wing Doug Woog beat Fisher in the early moments of the first period, but the Gopher lead was only momentary as State struggled back on a goal by Captain Doug Roberts. Line mates Tom Mikkola and Rich Hargreaves drew assists on Roberts' marker.

The Spartans counteracted an early second period tally by Minnesota with a pair of goals minutes later. The Spartans other Doug, Volmer in this case, connected with the Gophers' cage on a pass play from Willie Faunt and Mike Coppo. Defenseman Don Heaphy put State on top 3-2 with a late second-period shot.

After Hargreaves expanded the lead to 4-2 early in the final period, the Gophers again came back with another goal. With slightly more than three minutes to go the Gophers pulled their goalie in favor of an extra forward. State's defense and goalie Fisher staved off the late blitz to save the victory.

Coach Amo Bessone was pleased with the play of his team as a whole. "It was one of the

Wrestlers Pin Iowa
For 18-10 Decision

By JOE MITCH
State News Sports Writer

Iowa University left its star wrestler back in Iowa City Saturday night and according to Spartan coach Grady Penninger it put the Hawkeyes at a disadvantage in their 18-10 defeat to State.

"Iowa is a far better team than their performance indicated tonight," said Penninger. "They were definitely hindered by the loss of their 177-pounder and defending 167-pound Big Ten champion Mel Wieland. His presence could have made the contest even closer than it was."

Penninger, nevertheless, was still pleased with the results of the match.

"This was a good morale booster for the boys," said Penninger. Iowa was undefeated coming into this meet and they were considered the top choice to upset Michigan in the conference. Now with our victory, a little light has to be placed on State's chances."

The Spartans, unbeaten in conference action, with a 1-0-1 slate, must wait until March 5 and 6 for the Big Ten Tournaments to pursue their thoughts on the conference championship.

Saturday's match was so close that a team victory could not be determined until the next-to-last match. A 5-3 draw by State's Bob Pickens and Iowa's Tom Fennely in the 177-pound weight class insured the Spartans of a win.

The only pin of the night was recorded by State's 167-pounder Terry Leonard, but the pin did not set any time records. With one second left in the third round Leonard pinned Dennis Wegner.

Dick Cook, 147-pounder, extended his undefeated mark to 10-0 as he decimated Wilbur Divine, 8-2.

Are you ready for a multi-million-dollar responsibility?

If you are, there's a place for you on the Aerospace Team—the U. S. Air Force. No organization in the world gives young people a greater opportunity to do vital, responsible work.

For example, just a short while ago a 23-year-old Air Force lieutenant made a startling breakthrough in metallurgy. And a recent All America tackle is doing advanced research in nuclear weapons.

If you have talent, you'll have a chance to show it in the Air Force. Your work can put you and your country ahead. You can earn your commission at Air Force Officer Training School, a three-month course open to both men and women. To apply, you must be within 210 days of your degree.

East Side, West Side, All Around...

By MIKE BROOKS
State News Sports Writer

Great Lakes shippers and Chicago residents scratched their heads in bewilderment as the four figures in baggy pants trudged by.

One was a six-footer with narrow shoulders whose head leaned to the right as though he was about to doze off. Steve Bukieda is a freshman on the Spartan track team.

THE END OR THE BEGINNING?—In the case of freshman trackman Steve Bukieda, it's the finish of a hard day of training but the start of a promising Spartan career.

While most vacationing students were sleeping, he was somewhere in the Chicago area grinding out miles.

Every morning, seven days a week, over vacation, Bukieda ran with the University of Chicago Track Club.

The training varied. Sometimes the small group would run along the shores of Lake Michigan, and other times, for variety, they ran on streets and sidewalks in the heart of the city.

They searched the cities for the biggest hills. What's 12 or 14 miles if there isn't any challenge?

Once in a while Olympian Tom O'Hara honored them with his presence at their work-outs, Bukieda related without much interest. Names don't mean anything to him. At the moment he's more concerned about his own progress.

Unlike former freshman star Dick Sharkey, Bukieda has received little public attention. In high school running career at Chicago's Lane Tech, he was forced to settle for second place during his senior year in the state cross-country championships. Although he ran a 4:15 mile the following spring, the best he could do was fourth when he ran 4:17 in the Illinois state meet.

When he arrived at State last fall, he began an intensive training program.

Although he was quite impressive in early practices, his full potential wasn't known until the freshmen ran their lone four-mile time trial of the season. Bukieda jumped out to an early lead over former prep mile star Art Link and widened the gap throughout the race. His time was only three seconds slower than the new course record set a half-hour earlier by Eric Zemper in a varsity meet.

Bukieda's achievement was more impressive considering that stiff competition had pushed Zemper to his record while Bukieda finished more than a quarter mile ahead of his closest pursuer.

Bukieda is hopeful that his holiday training will help him during the indoor track campaign. He related how a similar program last summer had helped him during the cross-country season.

With prompting, Bukieda softly admitted he would like to have his name written next to a couple of freshmen records. Evidently he has his eyes on Sharkey's 9:15.4 indoor two-mile record.

Don't let the word get out, though, Bukieda prefers to remain in the background.

Freshman Outscores Varsity Gym Ace

By ROBERTA YAFIE
State News Sports Writer

Saturday's Fresh-Varsity Meet was more than an intra-squad clash. It turned into a battle-royal between Dave Thor and Jim Curzi for the all-around honors, with Thor eking out a victory, 53.9-53.4.

Team totals favored the varsity, edging out what Coach George Szypula has called his best frosh squad in years, by the score of 63 1/2-56 1/2.

Individual honors went to Jim Curzi, who captured first place in four events—floor exercise, parallel bars, horizontal bar and long horse.

Ted Wilson put on a sparkling performance to capture the rings event, netting a score of 9.6 while Ron Aure, sophomore prospect, won on the trampoline.

While the varsity put on a superb showing in the individual events, the freshmen challenged at every point of the contest. Ken Fox took second on the rings, .6 pt. behind Wilson. Dennis Smith placed in the side horse. That event wound up in a four-way tie for third, with Curzi, Jim Young, Earl Andrews and Tom Hurt adding the points for the varsity.

The all-around event proved the crowning point of the contest. Thor, one of Szypula's greatest prospects for varsity stardom, met Curzi equally on all the events. He took the honors in the side horse and second place in trampoline, an event that is not included in evaluating all-around scores.

Managers Needed

Anyone interested in becoming a manager for either the Spartan freshman and varsity track teams should contact head coach Fran Dittich.

Curzi lost the contest when he dismounted in the side horse and then went on to finish the event. When a gymnast is forced to dismount, either due to falling or because he cannot follow through immediately, he automatically loses one point for execution.

Szypula was generally pleased with the results of the meet, and especially by the performances of his freshmen. He considers the varsity in excellent shape for the long season that lies ahead, beginning with the meet at Iowa City Jan. 16, when the State gymnasts face the Hawkeyes of Iowa in their first Big Ten clash.

better trips we've taken in a long time," he said, "and the boys put together offense and defense for the first time."

The Spartans wore out their welcome in the Saturday afternoon affair when the host club put together three last-period goals, including two in the last three minutes, to dump the State skaters.

Hargreaves and sophomore Mike Jacobson tallied MSU markers, but two third-period scores by All-American Minnesota wing Craig Falkman and a third by Dick Haigh proved to be the icemen's undoing.

Fisher, who turned aside 30 shots Friday night, kicked out 29 Saturday. Bessone credited Fisher with "a remarkable job in both games."

MICHIGAN WINS MEET

Swim Relay Team Sets Mark

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

It hasn't taken long to discover that MSU's 400-yard freestyle relay team is better than ever.

The squad provided the Spartans with their only first place in the Big Ten Invitational Relays at Ann Arbor Saturday and broke a varsity and Michigan pool record in the process.

The quartet covered the distance in 3:12.4 to defeat opponents from Michigan, Indiana, Southern Illinois and Wisconsin.

MSU finished third in the final team standings with 57.5 points. Michigan scored 104 to win followed by Indiana (76), Southern Illinois (36.5) and Wisconsin (22). All events were relays.

Darryle Kifer, Gary Dilley, Ken Walsh and Jim MacMillan composed the victorious relay team which will be aiming to defend the Big Ten championship won by last year's squad in Minneapolis.

Kifer and MacMillan were members of last year's championship team but Dilley and Walsh are sophomores.

MacMillan anchored the team in 48.3 after Kifer, Dilley and Walsh had posted times of 48.9, 47.4 and 47.8, respectively.

Although it was the Spartans' only victory of the day, the Green and White came through with two second-place awards.

Kifer, Dilley, Dick Gretzinger and MacMillan composed the runner-up 200-yard freestyle team which set an MSU varsity mark of 1:27.8 while placing second to the Wolverines.

In the 800-yard freestyle, the team of Kifer, MacMillan, Gretzinger and Walsh placed second to Michigan in the time of 7:18.4.

The meet gave the Spartans an indication of things to come in the league this season and caused Coach Charles McCaffree to say, "I think the league is going to be as tough as usual."

"Because of the meet's set-up, many of the boys were swimming out of their events," he said, "but we still had a pretty good meet."

The Spartans managed to earn third places in the 300-yard butterfly and 200-yard medley but Michigan monopolized the firsts.

The Wolverines captured eight first-place finishes with Indiana capturing two and the Spartans one.

Urge 12-Month Teacher Job

Twelve-month employment for all teachers was recommended Friday by Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University.

He also recommended the continuing education of all teachers on a year-around basis.

Harden called for "all-out war on academic obsolescence" in keynoting the Michigan Education Association's annual Conference on Teacher Education and Professional Standards at Kalamazoo Center.

"Teachers should lead the way in establishing the truth of the statement that lifelong education is the best answer to human obsolescence," the former MSU educator challenged.

"The little red school house, yellowed notes and dusty dogmas will not provide the answers to space-age problems," Harden warned.

Schools must help to provide the incentive, the time, the instructional materials and equipment, the study facilities and the travel funds necessary to help teachers continue their education satisfactorily and productively, he declared.

The summer months, when students are not in school, provide a good opportunity for developing and implementing programs of continuing education, he proposed.

Twelve months salaries can help reduce "moonlighting" and spread more "light" in the classroom, he added.

Group Needed To Steer Pep

Petitions for the steering committee of the Spartan Spirit-sponsored Pep Club are available in 318 Student Services starting today.

The steering committee will write the constitution and head a membership drive for the club which will sponsor such activities as Block S, selling pom-poms and ribbons, greeting athletic teams on their returns from road trips or sponsoring pep rallies.

Petitions may be picked up any afternoon between 1 and 5 p.m. Friday. Interviews will be held next week. Approximately 20 persons will be selected for the committee.

"We feel that such a club will be a definite asset to the University in promoting school spirit," Jim Tanck, Spartan Spirit director, said.

Originators of the club which was discussed with Block S members last fall were Tanck, Bob Amsler, former Block S chairman; Bob Harris, All University Student Government (AUSG) president; and Gary Wright, Mens Halls Association (MHA) president.

Here he points out his summer home on the map to Laszlo Borbas, who will supervise courses in French in Paris, and Mark O. Kistler, who will teach German at Cologne. The courses are being offered by the American Language and Education Center in cooperation with the Department of Foreign Languages.

Argentine To Perform

Pianist Jose Rambaldi will perform a solo recital at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the Music Auditorium.

Rambaldi, a native of Argentina and a former faculty member of the Cleveland Institute of Music, is now studying here under Pierre Luboshutz of the piano team of Luboshutz and Nemenoff.

The program will include: the Prelude and Fugue in E-flat Minor from Bk. II of Bach's "Well-Tempered Clavier," "Fantasia, Op. 15 (Wanderer)" by Schubert; "Three Pieces, Op. 11" by Arnold Schoenberg; and "Islemei," an oriental fantasy, by Milly Bakirev.

Rambaldi made his public debut when he was 7-years old and has performed in Europe and the Americas as a soloist and chamber music player.

Continuing Education Offering

Overseas Language Plan Set

MSU will offer credit for overseas language courses for the first time this summer at Paris, Madrid and Cologne.

The three intensive language programs are scheduled from July 5 to Aug. 20. They are offered by the American Language and Education Center (AMLEC) of the MSU Continuing Education Service, in cooperation with the Department of Foreign Languages.

Three Michigan State language professors will be on hand to provide the instruction. Nine credits will be given for each of the courses.

In addition, noncredit language courses will again be offered in Lausanne and Neuchatel, Switzerland; Barcelona, Spain and Florence, Italy. They will run the same time as the credit classes.

"We feel that through AMLEC, students will be able to continue their language training 'on the spot,'" said Sheldon Cherney, head of MSU's Office of International Extension through which AMLEC is administered.

"These programs also will help to prepare students for language teaching careers and will internationalize their education by providing them with information about nations and their peoples, first-hand."

Cherney notes that priority will be given to students in good standing with two years of language training in French, German, Spanish or Italian.

He adds, however, that other students in good standing with but one year's background who have demonstrated high language proficiency may also apply.

The program in French at Paris, supervised by Laszlo Borbas, offers French 311, 312 and 313 (advanced oral French) and French 320 (phonetics).

The program at Madrid, supervised by Carlos G. del Prado, offers Spanish 311, 312 and 313 (advanced oral Spanish).

The program at Cologne, supervised by Mark O. Kistler, offers German 321 (advanced composition and conversation). The noncredit courses will be taught by faculty members affiliated with the Foundation for European Language and Educational Centres, with which AMLEC is affiliated.

Cherney points out that both the credit and noncredit courses will be supplemented by optional lectures and trips to points of historic, cultural or geographic interest.

Since AMLEC was established as a part of the Continuing Education Service in 1961, it has sent over 700 students to Europe for language study. These students attended noncredit programs in Amboise, Cap d'ail and Paris, France; Lausanne and Neuchatel, Switzerland; Barcelona and Madrid, Spain; Cologne, Germany and Florence, Italy.

Additional information, including costs of transportation, tuition, orientation, passport, housing, meals and other incidentals, can be obtained by contacting Sheldon Cherney, Office of International Extension, 202 Center for International Programs, 353-0619.

Film 'Tom Jones' Badly Made

By DOUGLAS LACKEY

It is pointless to argue the faithfulness of this film to the novel. It isn't, and it doesn't have to be. Fielding will survive this movie without much harm and the film can certainly stand and be judged on its own feet.

My objection is not to the distortion of the book. The film itself is badly made, and it isn't really funny.

Richardson is a director of appearances. He appears artful, but remains artful. He shows human interests, but betrays them for color effects.

Like good art, good humor springs from illusion, but Richardson seems incapable of that. Instead he presents us with something less, a deception.

Technically the film is a bag of tricks, partly grabbed and garbled from the current language of art films. The deliberate archaisms, as in the opening scene, are more cute than comic, and the recurrent attempts to break the esthetic frame, particularly in the use of the narrator, are inept and annoying.

The result is an impression of speed, but the film's motion is as limited and repetitive as a pinwheel's.

Fluctuating from social realism, as in the prison scene, to pure burlesque, as in the hotel scenes, the film exhibits disturbing contradictions of tone.

This is no blending of textures, but a confusion in the film's attitude toward its subject.

With individual characters, the film relies more on how they look than on what they do. The limitation results in some good grotesques, but general shallowness in all major roles. Finney's performance as Jones is assured, but hardly inventive.

Finally, the film fails repeatedly to provide genuinely comic situations. Comedy consists of an unexpected clash of contexts.

But there are few clashes of context in "Jones". Instead, Richardson takes single-context situations, usually sexual, and expects them to clash with the feelings, or context, of the audience.

The comedy is not "in" the film, but in an audience still sadly self-conscious about such things being in movies.

Other comic premisses--unexpectedness, imagination--are also missing. Instead of exploding, jokes are cranked out. Tom takes an overdose of snuff. He meets Sophie and sneezes. When Lady Bellaston arrives, Tom bows and sneezes. The gag is not topped, but driven dead into the ground.

Still, the film is popular with the audience. Perhaps because of the canned sounds and "please applaud" signs of television, the laughter reflex has become hopelessly conditioned. Without being comic, the film moves in such a way that it seems one should laugh, and the audience rises to the bait.

Debaters Win During Tourney

MSU debaters compiled a 10-8 record for the two-day Illinois State University Invitational Debate Tournament at Bloomington, Ill. Three teams and two coaches took part in the debates on Friday and Saturday, competing in two divisions.

The championship team from MSU, composed of Ken Newton, Ironton, N.J., sophomore, and Jim Hudek, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, junior, finished the tournament with a 3-3 record.

The varsity division debaters for the affirmative, Richard Brautigam, Albion freshman, and Ron Smith, Davison freshman, finished with a 4-2 record.

The negative debaters in the varsity division, Mary Jo Quigly, Grosse Pointe senior, and Sharon Vondra, Greensburg, Pa., sophomore, ended with a 3-3 score.

Brautigam was awarded the sixth place speaker's award out of the 220 debaters. Dan Millar coached the varsity division debaters and Tom Steinfatt coached the championship division debaters. Both coaches served as judges in their respective divisions.

All three teams debated the same proposition, "Resolved: that the Federal Government should provide a National program of public work for the unemployed."

PIES ARE ROUND--This worker from Brody Food Services can testify to that, despite the teachings of geometry instructors. Here whipped cream decorations are added to the pies, which will soon be gobbled up by hungry Brody residents.

Student Takes Worry Out Of Being Close

A New Canaan, Conn., freshman, is not just clean, he's C-L-E-A-N!

ALL WET--That's how Greg Morgan, New Canaan, Conn., freshman, felt when he set a new shower record.

Friday, Greg Morgan climbed into the shower in his room at 409 West Fee and he didn't come out until almost 8:30 a.m. on Sunday.

When he climbed out of the bath the fragrant member of the House of Felch had set a record for the longest shower this year, and, conceivably, for any year.

Brody Kitchen U.S. Largest

By SANDY LEVER
State News Staff Writer

Organization, equipment, pre-planning and scheduling are the foundations of the mammoth food service operation at Brody Hall.

The largest university kitchen cafeteria in the country is at Brody Hall. There three meals are prepared for more than 3,000 students daily--a total of over 54,000 meals weekly.

Three coed dining rooms have been set up to accommodate 1,500 students at one time.

Not all of the 3,000 students eat every meal every day and a complex counting system has been initiated to forecast the number of students who will be present at each meal.

Each male student coming through each of the six lines has his student meal card punched, and the coeds have their names checked from a card file. At the same time, a checker clicks a remote-control counting button in his hand.

This provides two continuous-reading counters--one at the serving line, one on the master dispatching board.

In this way each of the supervisors on the six lines has an instantaneous total of the number of students who have passed through the line. From this count and records of the number of students in that line's residence hall, supervisors can see how many students are still to come.

Records of the number of students to be served at each meal play an important part in estimating the amount of food to be prepared. Because this is a multi-million dollar business, it would be impractical to operate with less than 1,500 students.

Food costs average about $1.10 per student per day and menus provided at this price are both selective and varied.

Derby Postponed

The Klondike Derby, scheduled for Jan. 9, was postponed until Feb. 13, because of the lack of snow.

Major Richard Colchey, organizer of the derby, said that until snow falls the derby cannot be held.

Breakfast includes juices, cereals, eggs and meat, as well as coffee, tea and milk.

At both lunch and dinner, three salads and three desserts are offered. There are two entrees--one hot and one cold--one heavy and one light. If there are leftovers, a third dish incorporating them is added. At night there are two vegetables. At lunch either a soup or vegetable is available.

Entrees, salads and desserts are portioned during service, but a seconds table has been set up for extra-hungry students. Milk, coffee or other beverages are available in unlimited quantities in the dining room.

The staff of the Brody Hall food service operation includes 175 regular full-time employees, and 350 student workers.

The staff is under the general supervision of Ted L. Smith, manager of the Brody Dormitory group, and Marion Emerson, food service manager.

Twain Topic Of Contrast

The works of Mark Twain and H. L. Mencken, though outwardly different, essentially achieve the same results, according to a recent article by an MSU professor.

In "Mark Twain, Mencken and 'The Higher Gooeyism,'" published in the current issue of American Quarterly, C. Merton Babcock, American Thought and Language professor, points out the similarities and contrasts in the work of the two newspapermen and commentators of the American scene.

Though both writers sought "to hold a loony mirror" up to man to reveal his awkwardness, Mencken deliberately taunted the "boobs," while Twain's "velvet paw" often shadowed his "gravel fang," Babcock says.

Babcock has written several articles and books on American cultural history.

Scholarships Available

Twenty scholarships in acting for the University of Colorado will be awarded to students qualifying for the 8th Annual Colorado Shakespeare Festival.

The winners will hold roles in the plays presented July 31 through Aug. 14 as part of the festival.

Each scholarship is worth $300 plus waiver of tuition for the 1965 summer session. Those awarded scholarships must attend the summer session, June 14 through 21, and carry four to eight semester hours.

Applications are available from Seldon Faulkner, Director, University Theatre, University of Colorado, Boulder, Col., 80304. The deadline for applications is March 15.

Students will be judged eligible for the principal roles in "The Tempest," "Hamlet," and "Henry IV (Part III)" on the basis of applications and recommendations.

Reading auditions for specific roles will be held June 11 and 12.

WHAT DOES

Why So Many Phi Kaps?

1 out of every 27 Americans are presently members of a Greek-letter society. Many of these, especially at MSU, belong to Phi Kappa Sigma.

Why?

Mainly because the objects which are the capstone of Skull House are considered by many men to be very similar to their own.

"THE objects of this Fraternity shall be the promotion of good fellowship and the cultivation of the social virtues among its members; the protection of the just rights and the advancement of the best interests, present and future, individual and collective, of all those who shall be brought together as members of this Fraternity; the encouragement of good scholarship and breadth of training for its members; and cooperation in the educational and cultural programs of institutions of higher education in which chapters are located."

Student Education Corps Aims To Prevent Dropouts

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first part of a two-part series on the Student Education Corps.

By JO ANN MIKOLUSKY
State News Staff Writer

"One of the benefits of a college education is to show it to a little boy."

That is the credo of the Student Education Corps (SEC), an organization where university students give assistance in understaffed schools.

The ultimate aim of the corps is to help prevent premature "dropouts" among intellectually qualified students, which has become a serious problem in our age of advanced technology.

SEC students help show these youngsters that education is the key to a better life by providing needed inspiration and motivation to continue with their schooling.

One way they do this is to provide individualized attention to students who are poorly motivated or academically inferior to their classmates.

Another way to help is through offering broader experiences to children of limited background. In carrying out their program, SEC students travel to the Pontiac, Jackson, Lansing, East Lansing, Morrice and Pleasant Lake school systems to give assistance.

Originated by David Gottlieb, associate professor of education and sociology and anthropology, the success of the program in its three years of existence has attracted nationwide attention.

At a conference of representatives from all Michigan institutions of higher learning called by Gov. George W. Romney last year, Michigan State's SEC was named as the center for distributing information concerning student learning programs being conducted in Michigan.

Since the beginning of the 1963-64 school year at least 12-tutorial programs, sponsored by institutions of higher education, have sprung up in Michigan and similar programs are being carried on throughout the country.

SEC is strictly a voluntary organization of university students who are willing to give their talents and free time to serve in schools which have large enrollments of economically disadvantaged and culturally alienated children.

The student volunteers receive neither pay nor academic credit but do receive invaluable experience in the privileges and duties of responsible citizenship.

The organization assigns volunteers on a regularly scheduled basis to a school which has asked for help. Volunteers cooperate with the regular classroom teacher.

Some volunteers are asked to provide individual attention to youngsters. Others work with small groups of highly motivated children.

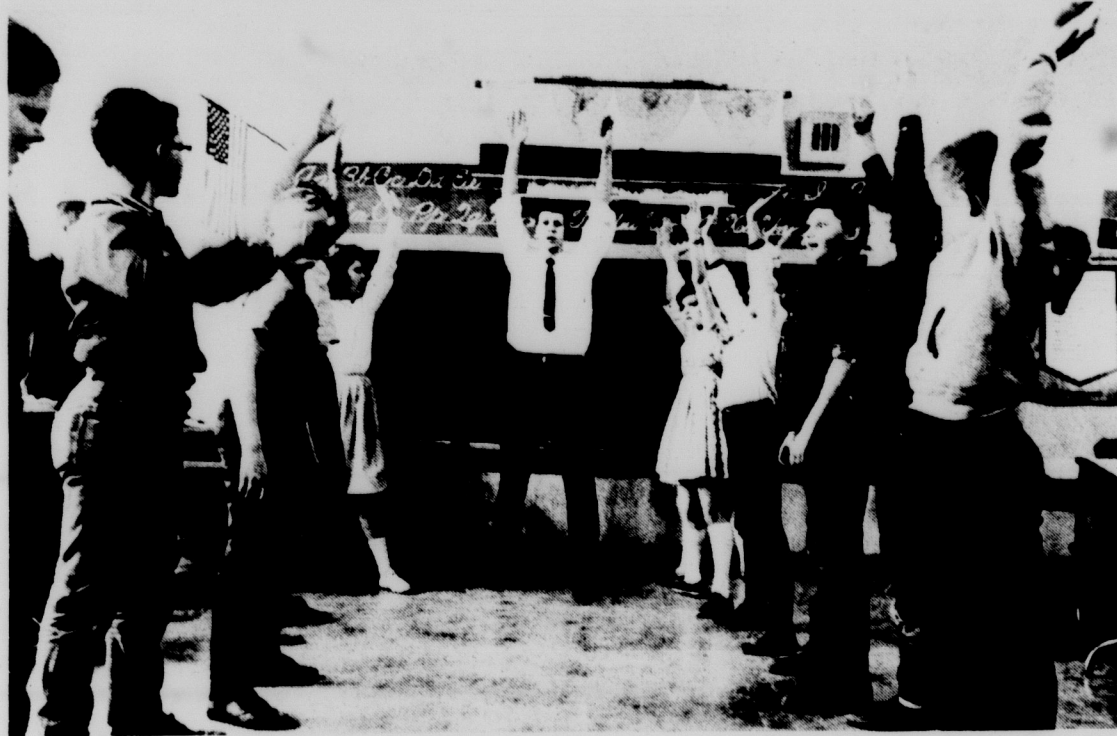

Still others, by utilizing some special skill or talent, provide broader educational experiences as a supplement to the regular curriculum.

Some volunteers participate in a group program which is presented in a number of different schools during the year. Others may work in the SEC office giving clerical assistance.

There are no membership qualifications or requirements beyond being a mature, willing and dependable student who has completed high school or is a college student.

There are no restrictions as to academic field. However, free time in a block such as a whole day or an entire morning or afternoon is essential.

Students who are interested in the program may call 355-8307 or go to the SEC office at 314 Student Services.

'Format' Mirrors University

Format, a bi-monthly University employee magazine which made its debut in December, has been favorably received, according to Editor Suzanne Ludwig. "I wouldn't call the magazine a success after one issue," she cautioned. "That would be like calling a baby a success after it was just a few months old."

The magazine has to develop a personality, and that takes more than one issue, she said.

"Format" is not a house organ or the mouthpiece of any group on campus," said President John A. Hannah. "It is intended to be a mirror of the University, reflecting it faithfully to those who have the greatest interest in it."

The objectives of "Format" presented in the first issue are to serve as a link between all segments of the University and to interpret MSU for the larger community beyond the campus.

"It is intended to feed the spirit of the University," Hannah said. "an attempt to open up new channels of communication for the MSU community and to make more people aware of the unique contributions being made by faculty and staff members."

The first issue contains an article about MSU's Pastoral Counseling Program at Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson, a description of a recent Hogarth painting addition to the University collection, a progress report on the Educational Development Program (EDP) and a story about D. Gordon Rohman, representative in continuing education for the Colleges of Arts and Letters and Social Science.

'Trip' South Salutes Discovery

A trip to the Southern Hemisphere for glimpses of constellations not visible from the northern half of the globe, is in store for visitors to the Abrams Planetarium.

"Follow the Southern Cross," a program devoted to the history of world exploration dating from the 15th century, began Friday. Presentations through Feb. 14 will start at 7 and 8:30 p.m. Friday, and 2:30 and 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The planetarium's salute to discovery commemorates this year's expedition to the world's last remaining uncharted area in Antarctica.

A highlight of the program will be a retracing of Ferdinand Magellan's route in the early 16th century when he sailed around the tip of South America on his historic globe-circling expedition.

Projected on the planetarium dome will be the sky of the Southern Hemisphere as it appeared to Magellan when he explored the South American continent en route to the Pacific Ocean. A major point of the southern sky, the Southern Cross, is the constellation by which navigators identify the south celestial pole.

Police Notes

Woman Injured

The daughter of an MSU employee was injured in a two-car accident that involved $1,300 damage at Wilson Road and Stadium Drive Saturday evening.

Anne Hathaway, 25, of 5117 Park Lake Road, was treated for bruises at Edward W. Sparrow Hospital after a car driven by her father, Donald Hathaway, 44, same address, collided with the auto of Donald Tompsett, Oak Park senior, campus police said.

Police said Tompsett was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Equipment Stolen

Camera equipment valued at $319 was reported stolen Thursday afternoon from an auto in the Kellogg Center parking lot, campus police said.

The equipment was taken from a car owned by Larry D. Carr, 919 Clyde St., Lansing.

Veterans To Hold Elimination Tea

The first Sweetheart Contest elimination tea sponsored by the Michigan State Veterans Assn. will be held at 7:30 tonight in the Student Services lounge.

Girls who received candidacy letters but have not been contacted should contact Wally Juall at 355-5600 this morning or early this afternoon.

First meeting of the term for the vets will be held at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Coral Gables. All veterans with 24 months active duty have been invited.

Visitor Guilty

A student from Henry Ford Community College, Dearborn, pleaded guilty to charges of being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages and was fined $60 and sentenced to three days in jail in Lansing Township Justice Court Saturday.

Campus police said Thomas J. Stanford, Detroit, was arrested on campus at 12:20 p.m. Friday.

Ag College To Push Communication Arts

A greater emphasis will be placed on communication arts in the College of Agriculture when the proposed curriculum changes take effect next fall, Richard Swenson, assistant dean, said Thursday night.

Swenson, speaking before the Alpha Zeta fraternity, listed several changes needed for the College of Agriculture including better teaching methods, larger section sizes and a reorganization of classes.

He said the changes necessary in the curriculum are "a natural response to the changes in society."

"Coupled with a fast growing Michigan State University and a higher cost per student or efficiency factor in the College of Agriculture, we find that certain changes are necessary," Swenson said.

"Seventy area committees combined suggestions for changes and submitted them to seven faculty committees. They, in turn, sent seven reports on curriculum changes to the College of Agriculture and Curriculum Committee," he continued. "The Curriculum Committee has studied these recommendations and made proposed changes."

Swenson said that the recommendations are not final. They will be submitted for suggestions first to the Agriculture faculty and then to the students of the college.

"Ideas and suggestions will be discussed throughout the winter term and the final results will go into effect next fall."

After we get this job done we will have to start again," he said.

Flower Seeds Dangerous

A plea has been made to control the sale of morning glory seeds which when consumed can produce a psychic reaction similar to LSD, a potent drug capable of causing hallucinations.

The ingestion of morning glory seeds has increased in the past months and at least one suicide has resulted, Dr. Albert L. Ingram of Pennsylvania State University wrote in the Dec. 28 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Assn.

"The increased use of the seeds has perhaps been more notable on the college and university campus where a greater degree of self-experimentation is usually found in the adolescent and young adult," Dr. Ingram said. He urged that "controls be contrived that would prohibit or limit the sale of the morning glory seed until more scientific evidence is available."
