GERALD R. FORD

Johnson's Restraint Is Hailed

Gerald R. Ford, U.S. House of Representatives minority leader from Grand Rapids, will be the winter term commencement speaker.

Ford is a representative from the 11th Congressional District of Michigan, and recently defeated Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana for the House minority leader position.

Rep. Ford, outspoken on foreign affairs, recently suggested the formation of an Asian alliance to ward off Communist aggression in Viet Nam and other parts of Southeast Asia.

Ford was a member of the War on Communism, which investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Graduation exercises will be held March 14 at 4 p.m. in the Auditorium. This will be the first time a winter term commencement has been held in the afternoon and on a Sunday.

As of Monday, there were a total of 943 candidates eligible for degrees. This figure includes 650 eligible for bachelors degrees, 216 for masters, 49 for doctorates, five for advanced graduate study diplomas, and 23 for doctor of veterinary medicine degrees.

Rep. Ford will be presented with an honorary doctorate of laws degree and citation.

The MSU Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Gomer L. Jones, will provide music.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Praise for President Johnson's "restraint" in Vietnam was blunted by blunter calls for stronger action as Congress debated the war in South Viet Nam Monday.

The President is "trying to keep the lid on a highly dangerous volcano" in Southeast Asia, asserted Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana in leading off another round of Senate debate.

His administration policy is "to try and prevent a great war in Asia" and to keep a commitment to the South Vietnamese government, Mansfield said.

But the United States is playing a "cat and mouse game" when "we've got the strength and the power to conclude" the war, argued Sen. Milward Simpson, R-Wyo.

South Viet Nam's will to fight, a United States willing to take on any and all Communist aggressors there, and the calls for a negotiated settlement all were topics as the President's policy and actions in South Viet Nam were reviewed and argued.

In the House, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said he looks for the Johnson administration to seek some sort of negotiated settlement to get out of what he called an "impossible situation" in Viet Nam.

"There is, in my mind, little doubt that the conflict in Viet Nam will end in the not-too-distant future in some sort of compromised settlement that cannot help but lead to an eventual Communist takeover," he asserted.

His remarks were in a prepared speech.

But Sen. Russell E. Long, D-La., the Senate Democratic majority whip, disagreed with this view on NBC's "Meet the Press" radio-television program Sunday night, saying in his judgment:

"We will do whatever is necessary to win" in South Viet Nam "and if Communist China comes in we will take them on and if Russia wants to deal herself a hand, we will go ahead, but there will be no sanctuary." Johnson's "restraint and perseverance" in the war against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam was praised by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

U.S. Strikes North Viets, Killing Ten

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. helicopters and two battalions of Government troops killed 10 Viet Cong and captured 10 Monday in a sweep southwestward from the Da Nang Air Base, 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

This was one in a series of strikes to keep the Red guerrillas off balance and out of mortar range of the base, a roost for U.S. jet planes and Hawk missiles 80 miles from the frontier of Communist North Viet Nam. Ten captives of the Viet Cong were freed in the sweep.

A U.S. Army helicopter pilot and five Vietnamese soldiers were wounded. The pilot, hit in one hand, flew back to the base after providing rocket and machine gun support for the ground forces.

The government's ground-sea air offensive southeast of Saigon, largely unopposed, drew Viet Cong mortar fire for the first time. Guerrillas sniped two soldiers and wounded 15 in the bomb-pocked jungles.

About 100 Missing

Montreal Blast Kills 26

MONTREAL (AP)—A massive, roof-lifting explosion wrecked an apartment block in suburban LaSalle Monday. Rescue workers have recovered 26 bodies from the wreckage and about 100 were missing.

More than 50 were reported injured. Wind-whipped fire raged through the debris.

Many of the victims were children.

The casualty report was made by police Lt. Jean-Paul Lecomte. Police expressed hope that many of the missing were safe with relatives or friends.

Of 20 apartments within the three-story brick building at St. Clement and Bergevin Streets, 18 were destroyed in the 8:15 a.m. blast. The explosion was felt and heard a mile away. Wind-whipped flames blew out for dozens of blocks around.

Hours later, with smoke and steam still spewing from the crater, the cause was still undetermined.

Many of the families were at breakfast tables.

One man was buried 15 minutes in the rubble and then pulled out by firemen to rejoin his wife and two children, who also had survived.

"I was in the bathroom and the next thing I knew there was the sound of a big explosion and the roof fell in on me," he said.

"I was able to see outside and saw that the rest of the building had been wiped right off the ground,"

School books, satchels and fragments of furniture were strewn across a crater in the middle section of the U-shaped building. Bricks dotted a children's park behind the building. Flying debris had flattened a car parked nearby. Soaring masonry knocked down a woman in her living room across the street.

The building, constructed in 1957, was part of the LaSalle Heights apartment development. About 700 families were living in the development. All the buildings in the area of the blast were vacated while firemen fought the flames.

With temperatures in the 20s, some residents fled into the streets in their pajamas.

King Leads Hundreds To Register In Selma

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Negroes by the hundreds answered a new right-to-vote call from Martin Luther King, Jr., Monday in Selma and five neighboring Alabama counties. There was no disorder.

But some of the prospective voters who had stood in line in a heavy rain outside the Dallas County Courthouse at Selma walked away at King's request after he had twice exchanged words with Sheriff James G. Clark.

Negroes also sought to register at Marion in Perry County, at Camden in Wilcox, at Greensboro in Hale, at Hayneville in Lowndes County, and Linden, the seat of Marengo County.

King's announced intention to drive to Camden to lend his support to the campaign there took the attention momentarily away from Selma.

Sheriff P.C. Jenkins said he told a group of Negroes earlier in the day at Camden that he could not promise safe conduct for King as he did two weeks ago on another voter registration day. Jenkins said he told the Negroes, "I don't give anybody any body guard around here."

In most of the other counties, the Negroes who showed up at the courthouses were told to line up and await their turn. But in Hayneville they found only one member of the Lowndes County Board of Registrars on duty.

The board member, Carl M. Golsen, explained that under Alabama law he could not accept any applications because it takes a majority of the three-member board to take official action.

Prospective voters were allowed to put their names on a waiting list and were assigned priority numbers which will be called later.

the list of either supervised or unsupervised housing.

Gordon L. Gray, associate professor of TV-radio and subcommittee member, said less University involvement in housing matters could weaken its influence over discriminatory practices.

"If we move toward more student freedom and less university involvement, the University will lose much of its power of implied threat which it has in the field of discriminatory housing."

Students who spoke before the group were generally concerned with allowing students over 21 to live off campus without parental approval and those under 21 to live off campus with parental consent.

Suggestions were also made to abolish hours for senior women by providing them with keys to the dormitories or establishing dorms just for senior women.

LBJ Favors Russia Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House indicated Monday that it still would welcome an exchange of visits this year between President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei K. Kosygin.

It did so by saying "There has been no change in the situation" since a speech by President Johnson Feb. 3.

In that speech to the Anti-Defamation League, Johnson said:

"I have reason to believe that the Soviet leadership would welcome my visit to their country. I am hopeful that before this year is out this exchange of visits between us may occur."

Housing Committee Hears Professor

By JOAN SOLOMON
State News Staff Writer

The student-faculty subcommittee on off-campus housing began its second week of open meetings Monday with comments and recommendations from five students and the first faculty member to appear before the group.

Comments were generally related to the areas of hours for women, age limitations for living off-campus, university involvement in civil matters, and discrimination in housing.

Bob Repas, associate professor in the School of Labor and Industrial Relations, discussed the following legal implications of several present housing policies:

1. Sending permission letters to parents of students over 21 implies that the University has more authority than the parents.
2. Concerning policies that distinguish between students over 21 and graduate students, Repas said, "This means some students are more 21 than others."
3. For some offenses students can be penalized twice, by both civil and university authorities.
4. Lack of stated penalties in the official housing policy is a violation of the "equal protection under the law" doctrine.

"The University allows anyone to speak on campus and any ideas to be taught in the classrooms," Repas said. "In both cases the student has the choice of whether he wants to be converted."

"It follows that a student should be allowed the same freedom in housing."

Repas also advocated a more vigorous policy in the area of non-discrimination in housing, suggesting that the university require a landlord to sign a declaration affirming open occupancy if he wants to be on

DONALD D. IRISH

Dow Chemist To Talk Here

Don D. Irish, the first director of biochemical research for the Dow Chemical Co., Midland, will address the MSU Men's Club today at 12:15 in the Union Parlors.

His subject will be "The Dirty Nest." Irish first joined Dow in 1933, originating its work in biochemical research. Just recently he has left this laboratory to join the staff of the director of research.

While his principal interest is in the field of toxicology, Irish has been concerned with applications research in the food, pharmacology, microbiology and wood fields as well as bio-organic, environmental, enzyme and carbohydrate research and toxicology.

He is a graduate of Antioch College with advanced degrees from the University of Cincinnati.

SPECIAL, BUT not the 10,000th animal exhibit prepared by the MSU Museum gives this bat some distinction, but it is still scary to Marcia Maurer, Oliver sophomore. Holding it is Mike Petersen, Oliver graduate student.

Athlete Hurt, Girl Killed In Accident

A Michigan State hockey player was seriously injured Sunday in a two-car collision in Lansing in which one woman was killed and six other persons injured.

James G. Lawrence, 25, forward on the Spartans hockey team suffered serious head injuries and is in fair condition at St. Lawrence Hospital.

It was reported late Monday that Lawrence, a senior and two-letter man, will miss the hockey play-offs starting Saturday against North Dakota.

The dead woman is Miss Darlene Tait, 20, of 761 Bircham Drive. Both she and Lawrence were passengers in a car driven by Charles E. Lawrence, of Chatham, Ont.

The accident occurred at 2:20 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of E. Grand River and Downey Street.

White On White

The State Department has made a commendable effort to inform the world of its current stand on the agonizing war in Viet Nam. Somehow, however, its public relations venture comes out sounding predictably like an apology for a policy that has not produced favorable or even easily justifiable results.

The white paper issued Saturday explains the current American involvement in Viet Nam as an invited defense against the aggressive tactics of the North Vietnamese government. Recent increases in the number of North Vietnamese soldiers and Communist-provided arms in the south are given as justifications for the growing tendency of American military men to attack openly across the border.

This just doesn't seem quite that simple.

If the U.S. is in Viet Nam strictly on invitation from the presumably peace-loving and properly Western-oriented South Vietnamese government, how come the governments keep switching, and the Viet Cong rebels of the south keep using stolen American arms against American soldiers, and the villagers who could warn American "advisors" of imminent rebel raids continue keeping secrets.

There are more than a few indications that the United States is merely seeking a means of explaining away what has become an unpopular and almost hopeless crusade in a country that might get along very well without U.S. "advising."

It might be just a bit rash to advocate pulling out altogether, as an impressively large number of Americans are now doing, but

Points of View

Reevaluation: Pro And Con

By Webb F. Martin and Steve Goodman

Editor's Note: Webb F. Martin, who wrote the "pro" side of student government reevaluation, is a Flint junior in political science. He is parliamentarian of Student Congress and director of AUGS's Department of Inter-University Affairs.

The students of Michigan State frighten me! Why, you ask. Because I'm deeply afraid that they might turn down the constitutional proposal of the Re-Evaluation Committee. I don't want them to turn down the proposal just because of lack of information or because misguided students supply them with misinformation about the proposal.

Perhaps the most complained-about feature of that proposal is its supposed lack of "representation." Some students are saying that because the representation on the suggested student board is not directly elected, it will not supply representation to the students. This is a misconception.

The re-evaluation group made a careful and lengthy study of the attitudes of the students to determine with whom they identify when they have a complaint or suggestion. Taking men's halls residents as an example, it was found that rather than seeing their AUGS representative, the men were more likely to identify with their hall government.

So the committee chose the residence government as the best "channel" of representation. Rather than having only one representative per 500 or more students, they chose to channel the representation through the precinct governments, then to the governing council of the dormitory and the hall president.

Then the hall president, taking with him the views and opinions of the residents of his dorm, as expressed by precinct-level representation, will go to MHA which will send its president (taking with him the views and opinions of the men in dormitories as expressed through dorm-level representation) to the Student Board, the legislative assembly of the proposed student government.

The major point to remember is that direct election does not result in good representation. Student Congress, in which I participate, has proven this. In the same line, the actions of groups such as MHA, WIC, AWS and others, have proven that indirect election results in excellent direct representation.

I urge the student body to accept this challenge, to accept the re-evaluation proposal so that the students may have the excellent and direct representation that they deserve.

It is your right, it is your obligation, it is your duty to attain truly effective and representative student government by voting "yes" on the constitutional proposal.

it is not rash at all to suggest that there are facts about Viet Nam that don't show up in the State Department's white paper or in President Johnson's placid reminders that "yes, Virginia, there still is a South Vietnamese government that likes us."

The United States--State Department public documents notwithstanding--is in a terrible position in Viet Nam, and its attempts to rationalize its position are becoming more and more transparent. Perhaps it is time for a change, and an admission that even the United States can make mistakes overseas.

Many nations have called for a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam, similar to the 1954 Geneva conference settlement that divided up the former French Indochina into the current four separate states. It may be distasteful for the foreign policy-makers to admit it, but De Gaulle and the Russians may have a good idea when they suggest that everyone ought to sit down and talk about the rotten state of affairs.

The domino theory--which held that an American loss in Viet Nam would lead to the subsequent loss of all of Southeast Asia--has become less significant in most people's eyes. Everyone but the State Department seems to realize this.

Continuing the gradual escalation of the Viet Nam war can only make a tense and stupid situation tenser and stupider, and possibly more disastrous. It is time to seek an alternative, and to attempt to seek it around a conference table peopled by honest and, if need be, self-effacing diplomats.

Editor's Note: Steven Goodman, who is "con" on the issue of reorganizing student government, is a Valley Stream, N.Y., sophomore with a pre-professional major. He is a member of the All University Student Judiciary.

An attempt is being made to push through a corporate form of student government instead of the existing representative form, by a small group of the "truly concerned" student leaders and administrators.

After studying what the individuals have to say, and the document that the Re-Evaluation Committee has turned out, I can only say that I am frightened.

This fear stems from the shortsightedness of these few individuals and the effect it will have, not just on our present 30,000 students, but on the true "multiversity" that MSU will someday be.

At the present the student body finds itself in an undeniable apathetic rut. This is the matrix of an innumerable amount of problems facing, and to be faced by, this University.

This fact has been evaded by the administration and the students for too long. Who carries the blame? AUGS has been bearing the brunt of student and administrative irresponsibility. AUGS is a very ugly, noisy scapegoat.

The problem lies not in the form but in the making, or lack of making. The Re-Evaluation Committee and the administration are proposing that representation and democracy are outmoded and I in turn propose that this is preposterous.

They propose instead a corporate form of government. This they say will solve the problems of "communication and efficiency" by implanting an elite board of the 14 "most capable" students on campus to dictate student affairs. "Capable" not as we judge them, but as Re-Evaluation judges them.

At one hand they cry that Congress is now inefficient and could never hope to cope with the problems created by size and type of the student body that will exist in the near future. On the other hand they evade the central issue and cut off any possibility of a responsible, concerned student body.

The democratic way has inherent in its form participant responsibility. This is the crux that gives the polity meaning and makes it work. As this, it is only present in an idealistic form, but from this form we, the student body and the administration, together, can give the symbols meaning. The finality, I hope, is evident.

Capitalist!

Mississippi Hearings Show Despair Of State's Negroes

Editor's Note: This is the second of a three-part series on the atmosphere surrounding the Civil Rights Commission's hearings in Jackson, Miss.

By JIM STERBA
State News Staff Writer

I had mixed feelings about the State of Mississippi Tuesday morning as I prepared to go to the first official public hearing of the Civil Rights Commission.

After taking a story I had written the night before to the Western Union office, I had breakfast with commission Chairman John A. Hannah.

He talked about the closed hearings held the week before I got there, and said that over the weekend he rented a car and visited three Negro colleges in outstate Mississippi.

The hearing room was jammed when I arrived, and the press tables directly in front of the stage were already filled.

I managed to squeeze into a corner seat on the end next to Carl Holman, the commission information officer, and Harry Johnston of Time magazine. This seat, which I kept for the remainder of the week, proved to be an excellent one for hearing commissioners on stage and Holman's and Johnston's terse comments.

At the press table were reporters from the New York Times, the Christian Science Monitor, the Washington Post, the Washington Star, the Memphis Commercial Appeal, the Scripps-Howard Alliance, Jet Magazine, The New Orleans Times-Picayune, the Associated Press, United Press International, the two Jackson papers and television stations, NBC, ABC, CBS news, and a number of other Mississippi papers.

Television cables and microphone wires snaked the entire area. Bright lights glared at the commission members and staff attorneys on the stage.

With the rap of the gavel, Hannah called for order and officially opened the hearings. Mississippi Gov. Paul B. Johnson was the first to speak. He entered the hearing room with a large group of followers, mounted the stage, shook hands with everyone he could find, and told the commission to "get off our backs and get on our side."

The mayor of Jackson was the next to speak, and he said about the same thing, only he used a few more flowery adjectives than the governor.

In the next four days, nearly 100 subpoenaed witnesses marched onto the stage, took an oath to tell the truth, and told their stories.

First, a staff attorney would ask preliminary questions based on data supplied by commission field workers. Then each member of the commission would have a chance to question the witness.

Negroes told of beatings and their attempts to register to vote. Sheriffs told of their attempts to keep the peace. Registrars told of the fairness with which they kept their offices.

Commission attorneys read statistics about unsolved church and cross burnings, bombings and beatings.

During the morning and afternoon 15-minute breaks, newsmen would rush to the telephones in a small room beside the hearing room, and phone their continuing stories to their papers.

I usually had lunch with Johnston of Time magazine. He worked out of Atlanta, Ga., and had covered the South for about two years. He talked about corruption in the state government and recalled many incidents in Mississippi's history which added greatly to my understanding of the state's problems.

"Yes, Mississippi is making progress," he said. "But like a turtle on its way to California, it has a long way to go."

After each day's hearings were concluded, and after I had phoned the day's story to the State News, it became quite comical to me to read the local newspaper's account of the hearings.

Next to a picture and story about Negroes rioting in New York, a headline for the commission story read: "Paul Says Get Off Our Backs." On Wednesday, after a dozen Negro witnesses told of being beaten, the headline read: "Negroes Relate Beating Tales."

One columnist in a local paper called the commission hearings a "political floor show."

As I sat in my motel room Thursday night writing a story to be sent out the next morning, I thought about the plight of the Negro witnesses who had to return to their communities after testifying before the commission.

I decided that if I were in their shoes and had to return to a town where I didn't have any constitutional rights, where the sheriff didn't bother to keep my records, where my children had to attend inferior schools, and where I would be constantly afraid to walk down the street for fear of being beaten, I would return only long enough to pick my bags and catch the first bus out of town.

Wednesday: Conclusion of the hearings.

The View From Here

War Is Hell!

By Steve Haynes

I am tired and sick of war. Its glory is all moonshine. It is only those who have neither fired a shot nor heard the shrieks and groans of the wounded who cry aloud for blood, more vengeance, more desolation. War is hell.

This statement, attributed to William Tecumseh Sherman in an address given before the graduating class of Michigan Military Academy June 19, 1879, is, to say the least, most appropriate. But is it correct?

Recently a statement was made by a Capt. Enow Chabat, the pilot of a B-57 medium bomber in Viet Nam, to the effect that although this fighting bit is just part of the job over there, the attacks made against the Viet Cong had certainly "given our morale a boost." A most effective morale lifter, that.

So the war goes on, some good here, some bad there, and no tangible advance for anyone anywhere.

"We feel the present policy isn't accomplishing anything," remarked a student recently at MSU. So speaks the MSU Committee for Peace in Viet Nam. Peace? In Viet Nam? Really? Against communism, peace? To be sure, the Communists want peace, but this is an incorrect spelling. Viet Nam they want--piece by piece by piece.

We cannot afford to pull out of South Viet Nam. There is too much invested by the government in men, materials and ideals. Neither can we afford to settle peacefully. The Communists would probably like nothing better than a "neutral" Viet Nam into which they could quickly infiltrate their forces. Then one day the country would be gone.

The lousy thing about the whole rotten situation is that there exists no decent alternative. The Communist ideology will always appreciate force--force remains the one method which leaves a permanent impression upon a belligerent nation.

Note please the reaction in Hanoi and Moscow and Peking which occurred upon the inception of active U.S. participation in the Viet Nam situation. The reaction of such nations when De Gaulle and others suggested peaceful arbitration. But such indignation, such warnings against the "Western imperialists" when force is employed!

If only the world were sane. If only men could co-exist in peace and harmony. Let's face reality, though.

Therefore, you 120 who demonstrated last week in favor of a peaceful settlement for the Viet Nam question, and all you who sympathize, consider this: presently, only force will keep South Viet Nam even as free and democratic as it is. The nation as it exists today was conceived from an abortion of the French government. Thanks to their inability to combat the aggressiveness of the Ho Chi Minh communist regime, the country was split by 1950 and now the U.S. is expending well over $1 million each day.

Since that time the conflict has continued smoldering until the present when a good part of South Viet Nam appears to be controlled by Viet Cong forces. People have the "gaule" to suggest that the Communist guerrillas would consent to surrender this foothold and retreat behind the border.

Oh, come now. Americans are idealistic, granted, but not ignorant. Verily, war is hell; force is insane; peace is sublime (and dis-putable), but sometimes the alternatives to war and force are far worse.

From Our Wire Services

U.S. Denounces Embassy Invasion

WASHINGTON--The United States Monday denounced as "most outrageous" the invasion of the U.S. Embassy in Indonesia by a "mob of students" estimated to number about 500.

State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones had been authorized by the State Department to make a stiff protest and was doing so.

McCloskey said the United States also is trying to get more information on the intentions of the Indonesian government to take over rubber plantations of the Goodyear and U.S. Rubber companies. The plantations are worth an estimated $80 million.

Genovese Denied Hearing

WASHINGTON--The Supreme Court denied Monday a hearing to Vito Genovese, named in Senate hearings as Cosa Nostra boss, in his effort to win a new trial on a narcotics conspiracy charge.

Genovese is serving a 15-year sentence in federal prison. Joseph Valachi, underworld informer on the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate, has said Genovese continued to run his rackets group from his prison cell.

Genovese and others convicted in April, 1959, in federal court in New York on narcotics conspiracy charges, have sought a new trial on the ground they should have been shown notes of an interview by an assistant prosecutor with a government witness. Sentences ranged from five to 20 years.

Sukarno In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia--President Sukarno of Indonesia flew to Cambodia Monday to add his voice to an Indochinese Peoples Conference attended by leftist segments from Laos, Viet Nam and Cambodia.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, personally greeted Sukarno but in a speech of welcome left out some U.S.-baiting remarks that appeared in a text distributed in advance.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Alf E. Bergesen was among the diplomats who turned out to welcome the Indonesian chief who has told the United States to "go to hell with your aid."

Muhammad Stays Home

CHICAGO--Elijah Muhammad, potentate of the Black Muslims, kept to his South Side mansion Monday after a suspenseful three-day convention of his Negro separatist followers.

Inside the 19-room brick residence his bodyguards kept vigil and, outside, four policemen watched.

The around-the-clock police guard was posted a week ago, after the assassination Feb. 21 in New York of Muhammad's chief rival for leadership of the Black Nationalist movement, Malcolm X.

It was augmented to more than 100 policemen during the convention where Muhammad made heavily guarded appearances Friday and Sunday.

Ike Has No Differences With LBJ

PALM DESERT, Calif.--Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said Monday that if he had any material differences with the administration over policy in Viet Nam, he'd say so.

The statement came at the end of weekend conferences with new Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss of Ohio over future GOP policy.

Bliss told a news conference that he and Eisenhower covered "party organization, how to revitalize the party and possible future candidates in talks Sunday night and Monday morning at this southern California desert resort where Gen. and Mrs. Eisenhower make their winter home.

Malaysian Elections Postponed

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia--Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman Monday ordered indefinite postponement of forthcoming village elections in a crackdown against what he called pro-Indonesian activity.

He said that if the elections set for May or June are held, outlawed Communists who support Indonesia would penetrate political parties with the object of causing chaos.

Rahman also issued further warnings to political opponents who, he claimed, sided with President Sukarno of Indonesia in his campaign to crush Malaysia, a federation of former British colonies.

Kosygin Says U.S. Aggression Mistake

BERLIN--Premier Alexei N. Kosygin warned the United States Monday night it would be making a serious mistake if it assumed that "aggression" against North Viet Nam would go unpunished.

"The Socialist (Communist) countries are united and determined in the face of imperialistic threats," the Soviet premier said in an address before a Soviet reception at the annual spring trade fair in Leipzig, East Germany.

Slow Recovery Forecast For Meyer

CHICAGO--Doctors forecast Monday "a long, slow recovery at best" for Albert Cardinal Meyer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago who is recovering from brain surgery.

A medical team attending him in Mercy Hospital reported at midday that he is continuing "to make satisfactory progress at this stage of his post-operative course."

A bulletin issued by the hospital added: "The doctors at this time do not anticipate, however, that the cardinal will make a dramatic or rapid recovery."

AUSG Group To Make Course Appraisal Study

A new course appraisal project is now in early stages of planning by the AUSG Committee of Student Academic Affairs.

This project is designed to accumulate and publish additional information about courses based on student viewpoints.

Committee chairman, Laura Lechlitter, Rome, Italy, senior, said the committee feels that too many students take a course with no idea of what it involves.

"We do not intend to evaluate courses or instructors," Miss Lechlitter said, "but only to provide students with helpful additional information about the courses."

The committee wants to provide academic advice on courses outside students' major fields and make information available on obscure but outstanding courses, Miss Lechlitter said.

Courses to be selected for the project will be those having the largest number of students, including basic and introductory courses in the colleges of arts and letters and social science.

Other members on the committee are: Jacquelyn Richabaugh, Elwood, Ind., sophomore; Elizabeth Beckary, Sodas, N.Y., freshman; Nelson Brown, Mexico, Mo., sophomore; Leslie Boeder, Pierz, Minn., senior; Sylvia Konezol, Flint, junior; and Sandy Kish, Flint, freshman.

The committee is interested in receiving suggestions from the student body, Miss Lechlitter said. She encourages anyone interested in working on the project to contact her in 330 Student Service Building.

Calendar of Coming Events

Flings End Shrovetide

Today is Shrove Tuesday, the last day of Shrovetide, the season before Lent.

Shrovetide is celebrated, especially in Latin and Catholic countries, with a last, riotous fling of merrymaking and carnival before the sober Lenten season begins.

The day is also known as Pancake Tuesday. This term originated with the English custom of eating pancakes on the last day before Lent.

Statesmen Sing For 'M's Supper

Michigan State's 55-member Singing Statesmen withstood treacherous road conditions to participate in a benefit concert Friday in Detroit's Ford Auditorium.

The University of Michigan and Wayne State Glee Clubs also took part in the program presented to raise funds for the U-M European tour.

A capacity crowd of 4,000 was treated to 25-minute individual performances by each glee club.

The MSU part of the program included selections from the great works of Lotti, Morley and Schubert.

Petitions For Dance Available

Petitioning for committee chairmanships for the 1965 Homecoming Weekend will be held today through March 12.

Petitions may be picked up and returned from 9-5 in 334 Student Services. Petitions will also be available in the Union, International Center and the reception desks at West Akers, South Case and Emmons.

Chairmanship positions available are: public relations, publicity, alumni relations, controller, queen contest, dance chairman, special events, popular entertainment and displays.

General chairman for Homecoming is Stephen A. Powers, Livonia Junior. Executive secretary is Judy Keyser, Mansfield, Ohio, junior. The Weekend is sponsored by AUSG.

Plans for Homecoming Weekend include a variety show Oct. 29, featuring top popular entertainment.

"Because of the strong turnout for last year's Homecoming dance, there is a possibility of two dances on Oct. 30. One may be in the Kellogg Center and the other in the Auditorium," Powers said.

The 1965 Homecoming Weekend will be the largest All-University event in the history of MSU, with a budget of about $15,000, he added.

MSU Hams Dit And Dah For 48 Hours

Michigan State radio amateurs contacted 78 foreign countries this weekend in an international radio contest.

The "hams" used International Morse Code to exchange messages in over 350 contacts. Operating from their station, WSH, in the Engineering Building and from a temporary second station, in the same building, the radio amateurs pounded out their dits and dahs for 48 straight hours.

The amateurs talked to hams in Australia, Russia, Somali, Zambia and the Cook Islands. They also contacted the U.S. ambassador to Lebanon who is a radio ham.

This was the first of two weekends in the contest. The second weekend will be March 26-28. The amateur radio station at the University of Michigan also participated in the contest.

Cagers Shock Purdue, 110-92

Washington, Crary Pace 1st Conference Victory

By RICHARD SCHWARTZ
State News Sports Editor

Just in case Spartan fans were beginning to think Big Ten basketball losses were cheaper by the dozen, the Michigan State cagers proved otherwise.

Monday night the Spartans registered their first Big Ten win of the season with a 110-92 romp over Purdue. The long awaited victory was seen by the smallest Jenison Fieldhouse crowd (4,708) in nine home dates.

The Spartans, who of late had been losing more and enjoying it less, called a halt to the 11 game streak which had been setting records in reverse.

Indeed, State averted becoming the losingest Big Ten team they have ever fielded in 14 years of conference competition.

Add up the figures 27, 24, 23, and 18--the output of State's Stan Washington, Marcus Sanders, Ted Crary and Bill Curtis--and you have beginnings of a record figure at Jenison Fieldhouse. The old record was 109, scored last year against Northern Michigan.

Purdue's top point getter was Bob Purkhiser with 31. Dave Schellhase had 16 and Earl Brown added 13.

Crary's 23 points was his finest output of the season. With Curtis keeping tight guard on Schellhase--holding him to well below his Big Ten average of 29 points per game--State ran riot midway in the second half.

The Spartans clicked off eight straight points, widening a 60-60 gap to a margin which the Boilermakers could not overcome.

The record-setting basket came with just 20 seconds remaining when substitute center Dave Keeler hit from the corner for the game's final tally.

The 18-point margin was the largest State has ever managed over Purdue, eclipsing the 11 point bulge set in 1953.

A defeat, however, in either of the two remaining games (Ohio State here on Saturday and Illinois at Champaign next Tuesday) will leave State dead last, behind Northwestern at 2-10.

Purdue's loss now gives them a 5-7 record in the Big Ten, and a 12-10 record overall. With Monday's encounter the only Spartan-Boilermaker clash scheduled this season, the Spartans averted a cycle which could have seen all opponents registering at least one win at their expense.

State Ski Club Sweeps Michigan Championships

PETOSKEY (UPI)—Michigan State took first place Saturday in the Michigan Intercollegiate Alpine Ski Championships at Nub's Nob.

Northern Michigan was runner-up, Michigan Tech was third and Soo Tech was fourth.

Eight colleges entered five-man teams in two events, the giant slalom and the regular slalom.

At Johnson of Mt. took the giant slalom event, with Jim Huckle of MSU second and Jim Strader of Soo Tech third. The slalom was won by Larry Reynolds, Notre Dame. John Deschneider, skiing unattached, was second and Bill Shorter of North Central College was third.

MSU won with 37 1/2 points.

Northern was runnerup with 53 1/2. Michigan Tech and Soo Tech followed 62 and 63 1/2.

They were followed in order by Ferris State, Central Michigan University, North Central and Notre Dame.

STRAINLESS STEEL?—Absolutely not. Wrestling's Bob Pickens grimaces from extreme effort on State's new isometric bars. Head Football Coach Duffy Daugherty and Jim Allen, a physi-

SPARTANS KEEP IN SHAPE

'Iron Man' Added To MSU Grid Family

By JOE MITCH
State News Sports Writer

A well-built, six-foot ironman has been added to the Spartan football team, but you'll never see him in Spartan stadium.

The new member is a physical conditioning machine--called the Vibro-Whirl--which is a result of a Texas football clinic attended by head football coach Duffy Daugherty last summer was purchased by the MSU Athletic Department.

A combination of isometric and isotonic conditioning, Vibro-Whirl offers a means which can keep the Spartan gridsters in shape during the off-season.

"We purchased Vibro," said Daugherty, "so that the football players would be prepared for rigorous training during the regular season."

Since arriving on campus two weeks ago and receiving a warm reception by a group of boys in developmental education, the Vibro-Whirl has become the pride and joy of coaches and athletes alike.

"You'll find a lot more football players down at Jenison now," said Gordon Serr, State's offensive line coach. "In a few minutes they can get a complete workout. Why, I even find myself using it."

Vibro-Whirl came in a package costing $700. Daugherty said he thinks the money was well spent.

"This machine is quite practical," he said, "and it has an unlimited number of users."

Daugherty was referring to the fact that four men can work on the machine at one time. Towing some six feet in height, Vibro-Whirl consists of four different sections which can train and condition the body: areas for legs, chest and arms, stomach, and neck and back development. Any type of exercise--from simple deep knee bends and sit-ups to the press--can be done on it.

The NEWS In SPORTS

"Mind you, though," cautioned Daugherty, shaking one of his fingers, "this is not a weight lifting machine. It was designed for repetitious drills to strengthen the body and prevent against recurring injuries."

Daugherty related that the most common injuries in football were with the knees. He said this machine is especially adapted to correct the weaknesses of the muscles that are due to such injuries and also aids in developing body agility and reflexes.

The new conditioner is unique in that any person of any body type can use it. The maximum strain that can be employed is 210 pounds, but the tension can be adjusted to individual needs.

Vibro-Whirl is available for use to anyone, and even Coach Daugherty admits that he'll give it a whirl.

"But first," quipped Daugherty, a slight smirk encompassing his face, "I'll wait and see if it has any defects."

Coed Cage, Gym Teams Chalk Up Victories

Michigan State's coed basketball team dumped Kalamazoo College 41-29 Wednesday to close out their home season with an unblemished 6-0 mark.

State held a slim 19-18 lead at intermission but poured it on against the visitors to win easily.

Muff Towne topped Spartan scorers with 16 points and Kip Valente added 11.

In gymnastics, things were pretty "stately" at a quadangular meet held in Kent, Ohio.

Michigan State finished ahead of Ohio State, Penn State and Kent State.

Spartans Janice Richter and Sally Nobel combined to take all four first places, Miss Richter winning the floor exercise and parallel uneven bars and Miss Nobel taking the beam and vaulting events.

Miss Richter edged Miss Nobel in the all-around tabulations 36.1-36.05.

Booklet To Focus On MSU Lore

Back when MSU was an agricultural college, the students didn't dabble in paints at the U-M campus before the big game. One of those early years, they took steam rollers down to Ann Arbor and embedded the initials "MAC" in the local sidewalks.

Michigan State is rich in folklore of this type and next fall term, Spartan Spirit will be presenting a booklet about it called "The Tower and Its Traditions."

Spartan Spirit is sending out letters to MSU "Patriarchs," alumni who graduated before 1918, asking for information concerning "traditions, little-known facts, firsts at MSU and material pertinent to our student culture." Material is also being sought in the files of the State News, in old Wolverines, from the office of Biggie Munn and from faculty members.

Students will be able to learn about the Old College Bell, which used to awaken campus scholars before the turn of the century. They will learn about the Night-watch Parade, in which freshmen used to march to a certain spot on campus in their night-shirts and throw their freshman beanies in a bonfire.

The booklet, which will go on sale to students next fall, will be sent to all entering freshmen

SDT Pledges Stranded After Morning Ride

A surprise raid on the Sigma Delta Tau society's active back-firing on the SDT pledges Saturday morning.

The pledges hired the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity bus, rounded up the actives at 7 a.m., allowing them to wear only a coat and boots with their pajamas and loaded them onto the bus.

With two members of Sigma Phi Epsilon driving the bus, they started out on a "university" where they were going.

After an hour of riding, the bus broke down in Brighton. The Sig Eps called brothers at the University of Michigan, who promptly rescued the pajama-clad actives, and took them to the SDT house at Ann Arbor.

However, the pledges were stranded in Brighton for four hours until Sig Eps from State returned them to campus.

SDT sisters at Michigan fed the actives, but could not offer any assistance as to how to return to East Lansing.

Left without money with their pajamas covered only with coats, the coeds used their imagination and hitch-hiked back to campus.

Hole In Door, Led To More In E. Shaw

Men in precinct five of East Shaw Hall believe in getting their money's worth.

An extra hard knock on the door of 120 East Shaw by Chuck Rudy announced his presence--and put a fist--size hole in the door.

Apologizing for the accident, Rudy told the occupants of the room, Bill Lenkowski and Dave Lough, that he would pay the cost of replacing the door, $35. The trio then decided since they had paid for the full cost of the door they should make full use of it. Splinters flew as three belted away at the door.

Others on the floor thought it looked like fun, so they joined in. After a multitude of kicks and punches the door resembled an oversized picture frame on hinges.

The residents noted that everybody takes care to knock now, before stepping through the door that isn't there.

Opera Concert Set

Opera singers Richard Lewis and Jean Madeira will give a concert March 9 in the Auditorium as part of the lecture-concert series.

Lewis is a London Covent Garden Opera tenor. Miss Madeira is a Metropolitan Opera contralto.

Students may exchange coupon D for tickets starting today at 9 a.m.

MSU Laundry Handles Huge Weekly 'Wash'

The MSU laundry has a rather large assignment when it comes to handling the University's soiled linen.

For students living in the dorms, nearly 16,000 linen packages must be picked up and delivered to them each week, according to Chet A. Harger, laundry manager.

Fall term is the heaviest term for laundry, he said. During this past fall term, the laundry handled 110,000 pounds or 55 tons of laundry each week.

The increase in the fall is due to larger enrollment and football games which bring visitors to Kellogg Center and the dorms.

"During winter term, the laundry's load is lighter, only 102,000 to 105,000 pounds of laundry per week," Harger said.

The laundry does linen for Olin Health Center, the cafeterias and grills, physical education departments and even the Kellogg Experimental Station at Gull Lake.

Among the items that are done each week by the laundry are 2,500 women's uniforms, 2,800 shirts, 2,500 pants, 2,000 bus-coats and innumerable aprons, table linens and napkins.

Tax collections for this year in Michigan have been estimated at $535 million, but state Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock said Monday that collections will have to show sharp increases during the next four months if the figure is to be realized.

Lock said if Michigan is to reach the estimated figure, it will have to show sharp increases during the next four months.

"In order to effect this figure of $535 million," Lock said, "it will be necessary for us to show collections during the remainder of the year of $181 million." Lock said last year's sales tax collections for the same period totaled $162 million.

Why Can't You Remember

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and which adds poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training methods in a new book, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Simply send your request to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 5023, Chicago 14, Ill. A postcard will do.

NEXT! "IT'S A MAD, MAD, MAD, MAD, WORLD"

1. Counting your riches? That's laugh.

2. How so? The way I figure it, I can hardly afford to wake up tomorrow morning.

3. I thought you were loaded. I have exactly a dollar, thirty-two and three pages of green stamps.

4. Call your dad. He always comes through. Not since he found out about that pair of elephant tusks I thought for $198.50.

5. Didn't you tell him tusks were in?

6. That's no problem. Next time you get some dough, get yourself a Living Insurance policy from Equitable. It's one of the most sensible things you can do with your money. It guarantees security for your family, builds cash values you can always use, and by getting it now, when you're young, you pay less.

I'll do it! But don't tell dad about my new stuffed alligator.

MSU Will Co-Sponsor National Security Meet

MSU is one of four universities which will co-sponsor a National Security Seminar in Detroit, March 29 to April 9.

The two-week seminar will be conducted by the 11 district colleges of the Armed Forces in Rackham Auditorium, Woodward and Farwell.

The far-ranging program will cover military, political, economic and diplomatic situations throughout the world, geopolitics, geoeconomics, counterinsurgency, logistics; and also included will be discussions on the United States' human, industrial, mineral, power, fuel and agricultural resources.

The Greater Detroit Board of Commerce is the sponsor of the seminar, one of 14 in a current series to be held across the nation. Co-sponsors with MSU are the University of Michigan, Wayne State University and the University of Detroit.

"The National Security Seminar," says Irving A. Duffy, of Detroit, general chairman, seeks to foster a better understanding of the many problems associated with national security, a stronger appreciation of the inseparable nature of the civilian-military team, and a clear recognition of the limitations and capabilities of each half of the team. It also seeks to encourage the application of the highest levels of skill, intelligence and imagination to the complex problem which must be solved if the heritage of freedom is to be secure.

Literature provided by the Lansing Patriotic Society will be distributed, and a discussion will follow the program, scheduled for 7:30 tonight in SS Union.

Fellowship Meet

George Ensworth, doctoral candidate in guidance and counseling, will speak at the March meeting of the MSU Faculty Christian Fellowship. It will be held in Rooms B and C of the Crossroads Cafeteria, International Center at 7:30 Wednesday.

West Landon Wins Sing

The audience was the real winner at "Backstage in Song," presented by the Women's Inter-Residence Council Sunday in the Kellogg Center Auditorium.

The trophies, however, were given to the groups which participated in the program.

First place winner, West Landon was directed by Elizabeth Ann Barry, Midland senior. West Landon sang "I Enjoy Being a Girl" and Miss Barry's own arrangement of "Climb Every Mountain."

Second place winner was South

Wonders, directed by Kathleen Byrne. Their selections were "So In Love" and a medley from "Camelot."

West Mayo, third place winner, directed by Sandra Sissala, Jackson, junior sang "If Ever I Would Leave You" and "Pick a Little, Pick a Little."

Dale Soderman, Flushing junior and president of WIC, made the presentations.

Other dormitories participating in the program were Williams, Phillips, Rather, West Yakeley and East Fee.

Judges for the event were Miss Beatrice P. Mangino, assistant professor of music, Miss Marie Ann Adler, assistant professor of music, and James R. Appleton, associate director of residence halls.

Kegless St. Bernard Finds Snow Baffling

ST. CLAIR SHORES (E) If you get lost in a snowstorm and a big St. Bernard dog comes trotting up and finds you--it won't be Kandi.

Kandi is a St. Bernard that gets lost in snowstorms.

Kandi, which belongs to David Burgess, 13, of this Detroit suburb, got lost in the snowstorm that buried the Detroit area under some 10 inches of snow last Thursday.

"I'll have to admit it," Burgess said Monday. "Kandi just couldn't find her way home in the snow. It's a little embarrassing."

Kandi, whom Burgess describes as a 150-pound, "one-year-old puppy," was out walking in the snow with Burgess' friend,

William O'Keefe, last Wednesday night when she became frightened and ran off.

The next day, Mrs. Irene E. Albaugh found Kandi plodding around in the snow in her yard. She coaxed the dog into the house, fed it and called police.

The police told Burgess, who walked two miles through the snow to the Albaugh home and got Kandi.

Kandi wasn't wearing the little keg all St. Bernards are supposed to wear when she got lost. "Maybe if she had been she wouldn't have gotten lost," said Burgess. "Or at least someone would have paid more attention to her."

Grads Invited To Reception

Winter term graduates for all degrees are invited to President and Mrs. Hannah's reception March 11 at 7:30 p.m. at Cowles House.

"The reception is an informal occasion providing an excellent opportunity to meet President and Mrs. Hannah and to enjoy refreshments and conversation with them," said Mary Vornholt, Senior Council reception committee chairman.
