New Constitution Faces Referendum

Japan Summer Exchange Proposed For 20 Students

A proposed student summer exchange program tentatively scheduled to begin this year will allow 20 MSU students to study for five weeks on Okinawa and tour the Ryukyu Islands and Japan.

Final decisions on carrying out the MSU portion of the Ryukyus Exchange Program (MREP) will depend upon student interest in joining the group, said Miller O. Perry, coordinator of the MSU Ryukyu project.

Student applications are now being accepted for the MREP group, which will also include 10 MSU University College professors and Michigan high school teachers.

"The students accepted will get an opportunity to obtain first-hand experience in living in another culture, earn academic credit and see the cultural and scenic points of interest in Okinawa and Japan," Perry said.

"We hope that students who are interested in a career overseas, particularly in the Far East, will take advantage of the MREP program this summer."

The student contingent will enroll for five-week junior and senior level courses in Japanese and Okinawan culture, political systems, economic development and Japanese language. Students may earn up to nine credits, all transferable to MSU.

The professors and teachers will enroll for a seminar-workshop on Japanese and Okinawan topics and, like the students, take field trips throughout Okinawa to supplement the course material. All course work will be conducted by Ryukyuan professors who received their advanced degrees in the United States.

"At the end of the summer study session, the MREP group will make a two-week tour of Japan. The trip there includes ship and motor travel through the islands and several days each in the Kyoto and Tokyo areas."

The 15-year-old University of the Ryukyus on Okinawa has been involved in a cooperative agreement with Michigan State since 1951. The institutional relationship between the schools has resulted in an exchange of faculty members and students.

At present, there are four MSU faculty members at the Okinawan institution and two Ryukyuan professors at Michigan State.

Any student enrolled for both winter and spring terms at MSU is eligible to apply for the MREP exchange. Applications and further information on the program may be obtained at the Ryukyu Project Office, 207 International Center, or by calling 355-2350. Deadline for submission of applications is March 17.

'Yes' Would End Congress System

Students will go to the polls today to determine whether student government will be completely revamped by a new constitution this spring.

The proposed constitution, which has been studied since last spring, would place all student government activities under a 14 member board with the president elected by board members. It would eliminate Student Congress.

Polls will be open in residence hall meal lines and in Berkeley, Bessey and the International Center from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. ID cards will be required.

A press conference for all interested students will be held in the Student Services Lounge as soon as the election's outcome is determined.

Charles Stoddard, All University Student Government (AUSG) director of internal affairs, estimated that counting would not be complete until at least 9 p.m. Ballots will be counted twice on separate data processing machines as a double-check. No one will be admitted to the counting rooms except Stoddard, two election commission members, one representative each from groups supporting and opposing the new constitution, two State News reporters and two administration advisers.

Ballots are worded: "Resolved that the student body of Michigan State University adopt the proposed constitution of the Associated Students of Michigan State University."

A "yes" vote means the new constitution will go into effect. A "no" vote means the present student government structure will continue.

Stoddard predicted an unusually large turnout, saying that this is "probably the most crucial campus issue since the present structure was approved in 1950."

Aristocrats Stoop To Conquer Now

WOBBURN ABBEY, England, (UPI)--The Duke of Bedford had a comment recently about marriages between aristocrats and commoners.

"Not many years ago, the aristocrats would not dream of marrying into 'trade.' Now, there's nothing nicer than to marry into a nice chain of supermarkets," he said.

More Hearings Slated On New Ticket Policy

The Student Athletic Advisory Board will hold open hearings on the new football ticket policy Wednesday and Thursday nights. Students should call Gerry Peterson at 355-8266 for an appointment.

Reds Fail To Oppose Marines

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)--Two battalions of U.S. Marines, newly-landed by sea and air, dug in methodically Monday night to reinforce defenses of the Da Nang air base.

The muzzles of recoilless rifles and machine guns bristled from their lines. A single sniper's bullet symbolized Communist objections to the buildup of American forces at the base, a key installation for strikes against both the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

The bullet plowed harmlessly into one wing of a C130 transport inbound with a load of Leathernicks from Okinawa. The plane landed normally.

Abroad, however, there was a barrage of criticism from Communist quarters. Some non-Communists, including leaders of the left wing of Britain's ruling Labor party, joined in the outcry.

In a typical comment, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charged the landings were "a new phase of the aggressive policy of the U.S.A. in South Viet Nam" that showed Washington has decided to widen the war.

A Viet Cong representative in Peking, Nguyen Minh Phong, said the Red guerrillas were considering retaliatory action. It was not brought out what form such retaliatory action might take.

About 400 Viet Cong attacked a special forces camp in Binh Dinh province, 120 miles south of Da Nang. They were reported to have killed at least 33 government troops, but left 57 of their own dead behind in retreat. There were scattered clashes elsewhere.

In the Da Nang landings, the weather proved to be more of an annoyance than enemy action. Low clouds cut visibility of the C130 pilots. Heavy surf churned the beaches where Marines, tanks and artillery streamed ashore from landing craft.

Revamp Predicted In Housing Policy

By JOAN SOLOMON
State News Staff Writer

A revamped off-campus housing policy may reach the Board of Trustees for action by spring term.

Gordon L. Gray, associate professor of TV-radio and a member of the subcommittee on off-campus housing, made this prediction Monday at the final session of open meetings to hear student recommendations on off-campus housing policies.

The faculty-student subcommittee will meet Thursday with the Parent Faculty Committee on Student Affairs and is expected to give a progress report.

Recommendations to the parent group may or may not be made public.

Louis F. Hekhuis, director of student affairs and subcommittee chairman, said, "We really haven't thought much about making the recommendations public."

"I can't see that it would make much difference either way," he said.

In its final open meeting the subcommittee rehearsed essentially the same opinions and recommendations since the sessions began three weeks ago.

Two students appeared before the group emphasizing the need for liberalization of the present age regulation for living off-campus.

Charles Gruber, Westport, Conn., sophomore, recommended that male students under 21 be allowed to live off campus with parental consent, although some limitation regarding class standing should be made.

He said higher restrictions would probably have to be made for women.

Gruber also recommended that off-campus students be governed only by state and local laws. James M. Elliott, professor of natural science and a subcommittee member, suggested that students benefit from being under university regulations.

"If students were governed only by state and local laws,

Wants Ban On Mailing Guns

LBJ Asks Crime Control

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Johnson asked congress Monday to give the government new weapons for a war on crime--and ban the kind of mail order firearms sales that put a rifle in the hands of Lee Harvey Oswald, assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson called for tighter control over drugs, new efforts to rehabilitate narcotics addicts, federal aid to help train policemen and a stepped-up drive against organized crime.

"Crime will not wait while we pull it up by the roots," Johnson said. "We must arrest and reverse the trend toward lawlessness."

"I believe the way to do so is to give new recognition to the fact that crime is a national problem--and to intensify our crime prevention and crime fighting at all levels of government," the President said in a message to the House and Senate.

At the same time, Johnson ordered a long-range inquiry into the causes of crime and new methods of combating lawlessness. "Only with such understanding can we undertake more fundamental, far-reaching and imaginative programs," he said.

Johnson said crime in the streets is the most direct concern of the average American. "Robberies, muggings and housebreakings are the primary law enforcement responsibility of state and local government," he said.

When a criminal crosses a state line, Johnson added, the federal government can step in. "Federal assistance in these activities has been and can continue to be helpful," Johnson said.

An administration official said no legislative proposals are now planned in that field. The problem of street crime will be examined as part of the long-range study of lawlessness, the official added.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., author of bills in the crime field, issued a statement declaring "I vigorously applaud the President's sweeping program."

He said it recognizes that the country is "at war with crime." Dodd said he hopes the message will help to overcome obstacles of "special interests, apathy and lack of awareness" of the problems involved.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Grand Rapids saw in the Johnson message indications of "more centralized government and more federal control over our cities and states."

Ford said law enforcement is basically a local problem. He said the government should offer leadership in combatting it, but should not encroach on local responsibilities.

Johnson said in his message the recognition that crime is a national problem "Does not carry with it any threat to the basic prerogatives of state and local governments."

House speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said he is confident Congress will act swiftly on Johnson's proposals.

Men's Club To Hear Ford Official

The Lansing District sales manager of the Ford Motor Company will speak before the MSU Men's Club today at 12:15 p.m. in the Union parlors.

Paul W. Czamanske, who is responsible for 170 Ford dealers in most of the Lower Peninsula, will speak on "We're Getting Younger All The Time."

Czamanske has held management positions in the Ford General Sales Office in Dearborn, the Ford Southeast Regional Sales Office. He was most recently with the Washington District Sales Office. He is a graduate of Wayne State University, with a B.S. degree in Business Administration.

During the Korean conflict, Czamanske was on military leave from Ford to serve with the United States Air Force's Information and Education Office, Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, Ariz.

The Lansing District Sales Office, of which Czamanske is manager, was established by the Ford Division in 1954. It is one of 37 such offices in the United States.

1,051,739 Books - - But Growing

Library Ranks 34th In Volumes

MSU ranks 34th among U.S. universities in total volumes in its library according to the research office of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Harvard is first on the list with 7,245,321 volumes. The University of Michigan is fifth with 3,224,063 volumes.

The report, based on the 1963-64 school year, has MSU listed with 1,051,739 volumes.

The University of Illinois has the largest public university library with 3,747,871 volumes, the report said.

There are 37 university libraries in the U.S. with over a million volumes, and 23 of these are at state and land-grant universities, the report said.

Director of Libraries Richard E. Chapin said the MSU figure was accurate, but added that there are many different counting systems.

"We add books at a rate of about 70,000 a year," he said. Chapin said MSU's library is making progress in acquiring more volumes but that there are more considerations in judging a good library than the number of volumes.

"The library budget has tripled in the last ten years," he said. MSU is making plans to increase the size of the library to add more floor space and make room for additional volumes.

Vote For The Constitution

Of Your Choice, But Vote

The depressing thing about today is that there are probably students who don't know and don't care that this is the day to vote on the new constitution. The debate which has been going on behind closed doors for nearly a year and way out in the open for the past few months couldn't interest them less.

There are probably many students who shrug off student government as not worth the effort. (There are probably some students who also shrug off everything else as not worth the effort.)

To these students, it doesn't matter whether or not Congress or the student board is representative, or whether or not there is a student president, or whether word of decisions comes down through the State News or through the dormitory government or doesn't come down at all.

These students will not vote today on the proposed Associated Students constitution. But there should not be many of these students.

There should be thousands of students interested enough at least in the possibility for an effective student government to register their vote one way or the other. Despite complaints to the contrary, there has been sufficient publication of both sides of the ASMSU issue for most people to know what is going on. The student board is no secret, and there should logically be a big turnout.

The question is whether student government should be run as a kind of federal system, with all the pitfalls and possibilities for exciting government that entails, or whether it should be run as a kind of business, with pyramids of control and centralization of authority, but with strong chances of effective leadership.

The question has been pounded half to death in recent weeks, and with good reason. The new constitution, if passed, could mean a complete revitalization of student government or it could mean the end of any interest and participation from students. If it is defeated, its demise could also mean the end of any concern for student government, or could mean that students have developed new faith in the possible effectiveness of representative campus government.

If the vote is small, it cannot mean any of these things. A vote on the structure of government is meaningless unless a significant part of the population takes part.

Balloting will take place at 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in Bessey, Berkey and the International Center, as well as on meal lines in all dormitories. There will be ample opportunity for all students to voice their opinion on the structure student government should take.

They should not miss the chance to do so.

Point Of View

By Jeff Puryear

ASMSU Whys And Wherefores

Editor's Note: Jeff Puryear, Dimondale senior, is a social science major and a member of the Student Government Re-evaluation Committee.

"I haven't heard the Re-evaluation Committee's presentation, but I'd like to offer a few opinions." With this revealing statement, a student recently began a letter attacking the proposed ASMSU constitution.

While I can appreciate this student's concern, I can only shake my head in dismay that he and others like him would so vociferously present their opinions while admitting they were not familiar with the reasoning behind ASMSU.

I realize, however, that these students were probably busy in their own living-unit governments or were reading "The Prince" (frightening stuff), or were doing something equally democratic and civic-minded, and were lamentably unable to attend the presentations held in every living area last week.

So, for the 29,944 of you who were unable to make it, I would like to present some of the reasoning behind ASMSU and to examine some of the more conspicuous complaints.

"Unrepresentative" seems to be a word currently in vogue. But what does this really mean? Do you have a representative on Student Congress? I think I do, but I've never met him.

The point is that at the moment the students of MSU do not have a representative government. The majority of you do not know your Student Congress representative and couldn't care less (nor do I blame you). Twenty-one of the present Congress representatives were appointed, not elected. To presume that people you do not know and care nothing about are accurately representing your interests is neither representation nor democracy.

Most of you are much more interested in your living unit governments, whether you live in a residence hall, fraternity, sorority or cooperative. These are the units which directly affect your interests. These are the units which represent you.

With this in mind, the Re-evaluation Committee sought to use these living unit channels of representation in building a new student government. The head of each major living-unit group is on the Student Board. This provides a continuous flow of ideas and opinions from the students to the Student Board.

Your representation through living-units would be indirect rather than direct. Yet it is much more reliable because it is based on existing interest groups, rather than on a contrived Congress. On fact, rather than on theory. It was our feeling that your house president was much more familiar with your views than your dorm ASMSU representative.

The four elected members are there to provide you, the student, with a direct voice and to inject an all-University view-point into the board. The two appointed members are there to allow for those competent students who can afford neither the time nor the money involved in an all-University election—particularly capable women students.

The result is a carefully balanced decision-making body, reflecting the diverse pockets of interest present on this campus.

Another phrase which seems to march relentlessly across the pages of the State News is "government by an elite."

ASMSU provides for the existence of a group of highly capable and responsible students to handle functions of an all-University nature. It is not a 13-student junta calculated to storm the third floor of the Student Services Building. There will be no storm troopers and no secret treaties with the administration.

Rather, ASMSU is expected to lead to a greatly improved and expanded student government, thus enabling more students than ever before to participate and to gain valuable experience. One needs only to witness the drop-out rate in the present Student Congress to realize what sort of experience that body provides.

Finally, we might ask ourselves just why it was thought necessary last spring to rebuild student government at MSU. If the present government were capable of performing as it should, there would never have been any controversy.

Students might do well to heed the paraphrased words of sly old George Bernard Shaw: "Student government, like air, is no big thing... unless you're not getting any." Now's your chance to get some. Vote "yes."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR*ASMSU Ignores Dissent

To the Editor:

I would like to express my opinion concerning the proposed reorganization of ASMSU. I believe that there is nothing wrong with making student government more effective, in fact, I praise the efforts put forth in this direction.

But I contend that the Re-evaluation Committee failed to do what our founding fathers did when they formed the great Constitution of the United States.

They looked at their job not from the view-point of making the government of the Articles of Confederation a more effective form, but from the view-point of insuring the fair handling of any future issues that might factionalize their country.

The proposed reorganization will work beautifully and effectively as long as an issue which splits on-campus from off-campus never arises. If this should happen, we can expect to see some of the bitterest arguing this campus will ever witness.

The question of fair representation would not need to arise until such a split occurred, but once the split appeared, this issue will be debated mightily. With the extreme chances of unequal representation between on- and off-campus students would most probably be defeated a very bitter and harmful defeat it would be, too.

The possibility of a bitter defeat to the on-campus students points out still another weakness in the reorganization. How would the secession of a group be handled, and what would be the effect of this type of action on an "All?"

Yes And No

To the Editor:

Concerning the new student government constitution proposal, I have heard rumors to the effect that the class councils and particularly the senior class council would be eliminated.

As a junior to be a senior next year I thought this merited investigation—I firmly believe that the senior class council should remain in existence.

On checking, I found that the new constitution allows the existence of any organization of students with similar interests and it also allows the continued existence of any organization presently in existence which does not conflict with the new constitution. It seems very obvious to me that the senior class will remain.

Other than that one question, I think the constitution was very well thought out and it will provide the students with effective student government that will get done. What more could one ask?

I urge all the students to get out and vote for the new constitution.

Ron MacDonald
Saginaw Junior

University Student Government?

The proposed constitution does not have any clause discussing this possibility. It fails to consider the effect of an alienated group of living units.

One last point: if, as Mr. Osterink claims, the proposed reorganization is trying to use the already effective bodies like MHA and IFC, and if the administration and State News afford ample liaison between different governing groups (which I believe they do), then why bother with a supposed All University Student Government?

(If this new "Student Board" is only to draw on "qualified student leaders" and not "be a training ground" for little campus politicians, then why put these leaders into an artificial student administration? The programs presently handled by ASMSU could easily be given to administration, faculty and living unit governing organs.)

I must make it clear that I am not advocating student anarchy. I merely agree with Mr. Osterink that the present living unit governing bodies are effective. I have just taken his idea to its logical (and rather hopeful) conclusion.

Gordon Hershey,
Hulmeville, Pa., sophomore

Vote Smart

To the Editor:

The re-evaluation looks great on paper, but is it really the solution at MSU? Some of the most qualified students have worked on this new proposal and came up with a student board to replace our present congress and executive.

ASMSU's main problem is not the lack of communication between congress and the student body, but between congress and the executive—and this is "un-inherent." It can be corrected without changing the organization's structure. Most important—vote intelligently on March 9. Know what you're voting for.

Linda Boynton
ASMSU Representative for North Case

Free Speech

To the Editor:

For the better part of my two years here, the vocal elements of MSU have been accusing the student body of apathy. Recently, when mass student action is in the offing, it is implied, via printed matter delivered to the dorms, that such movements will be Communist-affiliated.

The choice, it appears, is clear: either the student is apathetic, or Communist.

Jeff Stone
Niles sophomore

The Constitution And Communication

To the Editor:

The vast majority of students are uninformed on the issue of a new constitution for student government.

The new constitution, if adopted, would set up a student government that would supposedly increase student interest. Interest would supposedly increase due to a more effective means of communication to the student—i.e. head of association of living units, to head of living unit, to student.

This is precisely the means of communication the re-evaluation committee used to inform students of their proposed constitution. If this means of communication is ineffective in informing students on an issue as important as a new constitution, how effective would a student government based on this means be?

-By Don Sockol

Some time ago, the FBI revealed the fact that there are three Communists on the MSU campus.

I, for one, am furious. You may say that I am making too much of this, but it makes my blood boil.

When I think that all a huge university like MSU rates is three Communists—well, all I can say is, I'm disappointed. In fact I'm more than disappointed. I'm humiliated.

We are informed that infiltrating college campuses is high on Moscow's priority list. I can just imagine the discussion that went on in the Politburo for Infiltrating American College Campuses in Moscow concerning Michigan State. First the commissar called the meeting to order.

"Comrades. We have a good deal to cover today, so let's get right down to business. Our main consideration for today is Michigan State University."

"You mean old Moo U-ski?" a committee member jibed. Everyone laughed.

"Comrade Hatcherovitch, it is no laughing matter. Do you realize Michigan State has 30,000 students and we haven't got one agitator there?"

"What is there to agitate?"

"Comrade," the commissar said sharply, "Nobody likes a wise-guy."

"My apologies, comrade."

"All right. I think we should start off with about 15 agitators. We'll have to take them from the University of Michigan. That's your territory, Comrade Hatcherovitch."

"What! I can't give you any. I've only got about 25 there myself. I can't afford to let even one go. Not one."

"Hatcherovitch, Michigan isn't the only school in the state." "Comrade, I know. But any agitating that needs doing can be done by Michigan. Why waste all the expense of setting up operations at a new school. Expand the facilities we've got."

"Fifteen, Hatcherovitch."

"I'll give you two."

"Ten."

"Two."

"Comrade Hatcherovitch. We will take three from you. That is the decision of this tribunal."

"All right. You've got me, comrade. Michigan State doesn't need any more than that anyway."

ASMSU And Dorm Powers

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to explain some of the thinking of the Student Government Re-evaluation Committee in presenting before the student body the constitution of the Associated Students of Michigan State University.

The committee began its work last spring by attempting to discover what was unique about MSU which made the traditional form of American government unusable here.

Our research led us to the conclusion that the reason for the failure of our present system of student government was the fact that most interest and responsibility vested in student government was at the living unit level. Our research also indicated that the future held a stronger leaning in this direction.

Realizing this fact, and also realizing that MSU student government is not comparable to American government in that it does not have final authority, the conclusion was drawn that student government at an all-University level should not be a separate government, but rather a continuation and extension of living unit government.

This conclusion was made for several reasons.

First, it was reasoned that as MSU continues to grow, the student can no longer be expected to identify directly with an all-University body as under the present system.

Second, since so many of our student government decisions are made at lower levels, it was contended (and quite substantially upheld by past experience) that a separate all-University student government could not provide enough responsibility to continually attract competent people and maintain their interest.

Third, by referring to our present system of living unit government, we concluded that this was the only effective means for the representation of student ideas.

This idea for a new MSU student government is not the thinking of just a few interested students. It has the approval and support of a great majority of students involved under our present system who urge you to vote YES for ASMSU.

Ministers To March On Montgomery

WASHINGTON--The National Council of Churches said Monday that 50 Washington area ministers will fly to Selma, Ala., today to join Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. in a new march to Montgomery, Ala.

The council said the flight is being made in answer to a plea from King for ministers throughout the nation to join him in the new effort to underscore the Negro drive for voting rights in Alabama.

A first attempt to march on Montgomery Sunday was broken up by police swinging clubs and with tear gas. About 50 Negroes were injured.

LBJ Cancels Latin American Trip

WASHINGTON--President Johnson has canceled any planning for a Latin American trip at this time, because of international conditions, the White House announced Monday. White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said Johnson still hopes to visit Latin America, as he said in his State of the Union message to Congress.

"But, because of the international situation," Reedy said, "the President has deferred, for the time being, any consideration of a trip to Latin America."

The principal international problem at this time is Viet Nam.

Presidential Protection Proposed

WASHINGTON--A bill sent to Congress Monday would give federal officers authority to arrest and prosecute anyone involved in an assassination, kidnapping or assault on the President of the United States.

This authority was lacking Nov. 22, 1963, when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said, and federal officers were unable to investigate the slaying or to take charge of the assassin when he was captured.

Demonstrators Create Disturbance

WASHINGTON--Three young civil rights demonstrators burst into the office of Atty. Gen. Katzenbach Monday afternoon. One was hustled from the building by guards and the other two followed.

The disturbance in the corridor of the Justice Department occurred as pickets gathered on the sidewalk outside to urge speedy enactment of a voting rights bill. Six American Nazi "stormtroopers" picketed the civil rights pickets.

Arab League Builds Offensive

CAIRO--The 13-state Arab League built up an offensive Monday against West Germany's offer to establish diplomatic relations with Israel. It termed the move an aggressive act and summoned its members to Cairo for an urgent meeting to consider countermeasures.

"West Germany is not trying to normalize the situation in the Middle East, as it claims, but is fostering continuation of Israeli aggression," an Arab spokesman said.

"We cannot accept their claim that recognition of Israel, a tool of aggression against the Arabs, is not an aggressive act against Arab states," he added.

Teacher Contracts Binding

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley ruled Monday that neither teachers nor boards of education can break written contracts without mutual consent.

The opinion came in reply to a question by Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay.

Hellman quoted two sections of Michigan law and asked the attorney general if the provisions were in conflict. One stated that "No teacher on continuing tenure shall discontinue his services with any controlling board except by mutual consent, without giving a written notice...at least 60 days before Sept. 1 of the ensuing school year."

The other section said that the state Board of Education can suspend a certificate to any teacher who refuses "without sufficient cause...to perform a lawful contract to teach in any school in this state in which such teacher is required to hold a certificate issued by such board before entering into a contract to teach."

If there were a written contract between a board and teacher on continuing tenure covering the subsequent year and the teacher gave appropriate notice, Hellman asked, does the law covering mutual consent and notice prevent the board from acting?

The attorney general's opinion said "...a teacher on continuing tenure not under written contract for the ensuing school year may discontinue his services without penalty by giving written notice 60 days prior to Sept. 1 or by mutual consent.

"A teacher on continuing tenure and under written contract for the ensuing school year cannot discontinue his services, and is subject to suspension of his teacher's certificate...except when he discontinues his services with the consent of the controlling board."

Debaters Grab Spot In Top 8

The MSU Debate Team finished in the top eight at the National Invitational Tournament at Notre Dame University, last weekend.

Jim Hudek, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, junior and economics major, and Ken Newton, Trenton, N.J., sophomore speech major, won five and lost one debate, qualifying them for the elimination rounds.

Fifty-four of the nation's top college debate teams from 23 states attended this 13th annual debate tournament in preparation for the national district elimination tournaments to be held later this month.

Harold Cook, assistant director of forensics, accompanied the team as coach and critique judge.

League Elects

Six new active members were initiated and new officers were installed at a recent meeting of the Spartan Woman's League.

The new initiates are Cathy Adair, Livonia freshman; Peggy Castle, Three Rivers freshman; Joy Gurizzian, Detroit sophomore; Pat Elencoeve, Livonia freshman and Shirley McClelland, Honor freshman.

Officers Named

PhiSig Officers

Group Recommends Library Improvements

A faculty committee headed by Richard E. Sullivan of the Department of History has found that the present library has reached its capacity in terms of book storage and seating space, and that it is badly understaffed.

A $3 million remodeling program to expand the existing facilities was recommended.

The present library which opened in 1955 had a capacity for 2,300 students and space for 1 million books. Under the new program, there will be a capacity to accommodate 4,000 students and 1.5 million books.

An additional $2 million has been requested to build 500,000-volume science library on the South Campus.

The committee stated that the University's library facilities must be planned to accommodate a minimum of 10,000 students by 1974. Also the library growth must be planned to meet the demands and needs of faculty members, and the increased research demands.

An increase in staff from 105 to 135 is also sought along with an increase in the annual book acquisition rate from 68,000 volumes to 120,000.

The formula presented by the committee would call for one professional librarian and one clerical employee for every $15,000 increase in expenditure for book purchases.

Also for every increase of 1,000 in student enrollment, it was recommended that one professional librarian and one clerical employee be added to the staff.

The report has been turned over to the Academic Council and steps are being taken to implement some recommendations.

Young Socialist Club Joins Demonstration

The MSU Young Socialist Club is making plans to join other college groups for a demonstration in Washington, D.C., on April 17 to protest the presence of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

Brian Keleher, East Lansing junior and vice president of the club, made the announcement at a club meeting Thursday night.

The Students for Democratic Society, which Keleher defined as a non-Socialist national organization, called for the demonstration to publicize its opinions.

Hoping to influence government leaders to withdraw U.S. troops, the group plans to congregate in front of the White House and march to the Capitol. Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, will address the marchers.

Keleher said groups from all over the country are expected to participate. "Over 1,000 marchers are expected," he said, "and some 30 MSU students have signed to go."

Included in the MSU group are several members of the May 2nd Movement, which Keleher termed a "radical" organization also opposed to U.S. aggression in Viet Nam.

Merger Of Guard Under Study

Michigan merger plans between the Army Reserve and National Guard Monday were under consideration by Gov. George Romney.

Acting Adjutant Gen. Col. Clarence C. Schnipke said the Michigan Guard had received troop lists developed by the Pentagon for the merger in the state. However, Schnipke declined to discuss the revamping of the Michigan structure pending the governor's release.

The governor's office said that the results of the merger will be announced in the immediate future--probably today.

'Yes' Vote Urged By 33 In Letter

A letter signed by 33 officers of campus-wide organizations will be distributed in residence halls urging students to support the proposed constitution in today's referendum.

The letter endorses the new proposal as a group that will "talk less and do more" and provide a unified student voice in University policy-making decisions.

The Bailey Hall governors' council has also sent a letter to its residents endorsing the constitution. The members believe that the proposal will provide more efficient and adequate representation than the present structure, according to the letter.

We, the following, fully support the new constitution of the Associated Students of Michigan State University and urge our fellow students to vote yes for the proposal on Tuesday, March 9.

A LILLIPUTIAN ON THE MAT

Behm: Born And Bred For Wrestling

By JOE MITCH
State News Sports Writer

Every now and then mother nature opens up her bag full of magical powers and sprinkles bits of mystical dust on the sports world. Borne are child prodigies, blessed with the promise of becoming tomorrow's State champions, All-Americans, and US Olympic stars.

Living proof that such sport wonders exist is wrestler Don Behm.

Look at Behm off the mat and you would never conceive how so much wrestling talent and finesse could be contained in so small a frame. Unlike most successful grapplers, Behm is small, standing only 5'3" and weighing 130-pounds drip-dry. Lying behind this Lilliputian character, though, is ability that few can compare with.

"He'd surprise most people," commented coach Grady Peninger when asked about Behm's talents. "His smallness would fool me, too, if I hadn't coached him for two years."

The uniqueness of Behm as a natural-born wrestler lies in the fact that he can do things that ordinary matmen are incapable of doing. He manipulates his holds with ease and moves around the mat with the utmost confidence.

When Peninger first saw Behm wrestle, he noticed that the 130-pounder remained tireless after nine minutes of wrestling. Stepping onto the mat with cool composure, Behm kept command straight through the final seconds of the match.

After watching Behm finish his daily workout, Peninger said, "I'd compare him with a machine. He never quits. He keeps fighting 99% of the time."

"The difference between good and great is giving that little extra effort. Don exceeds that . . . he gives a lot of extra effort."

Peninger, himself a fine wrestler with many experienced years behind him, calls Behm "the greatest college boy I have ever coached." Very few in his estimation could compare with Behm for all-around ability, aggressiveness, and natural-wrestling instincts.

Behm's success at State can only speak for itself. Already as a sophomore he has amassed enough points to be placed on the Spartans' all-star wrestling list. With an untarnished 11-0 dual meet record and an over-all 19-1-0 mark, Behm has established himself as the leading contender for the NCAA 130-lb. title.

Last weekend he brought more fame to his name as he captured the Big Ten 130-lb. championship. He went through the rugged two-day affair undefeated in four matches.

BEHM OF LIGHT--It's nothing new for "Spartan wrestling's Don Behm to be on top of the situation as a 11-0 Big Ten and 19-1 over-all record shows. Photo by Larry Carlson

In addition, he was nominated as the outstanding conference wrestler of the year, but he lost the coveted award to Michigan's Bob Bay via the coaches' vote.

The wrestling career of the 19-year-old grappler has been saturated with success; his astounding records have impressed coaches and athletes alike across the nation. In three years of competition at New Trier High School in Winnetka, Ill., Behm has lost only one match, that in the state finals his sophomore year. As a junior and a senior, he was undefeated state champion at 120-lbs.

Last summer Behm competed for a berth on the U.S. Olympic team. He narrowly missed when he lost out on points even though he was undefeated in the trials. Two of his victories were over both the 1964 NCAA 120-lb. champion and runner-up.

But, despite all of these impressive attributes, Behm remains undisturbed and modest. "I'm probably the luckiest guy in the world," he said.

Cagers Look For High Note To Finish Flat-Sounding Score

By DUANE LANCASTER
State News Sports Writer

State's basketball team wraps up a season of frustration and defeat when it meets the University of Illinois tonight at Champaign. Game time is 9 p.m., EST.

The Spartans, 1-11 in the Big Ten and 5-18 for the season, have already compiled State's worst conference record since it entered the Big Ten in 1950 and are on the verge of becoming its first cellar team.

Illinois is in third with a 9-4 league mark and stands 17-6 overall.

Tal Brody, a 6-1 guard, and 6-8 center Skip Thoren pace the high scoring Illini attack which has averaged better than 91 points a game this season.

Thoren leads the team with a 22.4 mark and Brody is right behind at 19.4. Junior forward Don Freeman is at 18.2 and 6-5 Bogie Redman averages 15.1.

Thoren and Brody have totaled more than 1,000 points apiece during their Illini careers. Thoren has become one of Illinois' all-time scorers with 1,123 points.

The Spartans have an all-time scorer of their own, however, in team Captain Marcus Sanders. The 6-3 senior forward needs just 19 points to become the fourth highest scorer in State's history. He has tallied 1,044 in three years on the varsity.

Coach Fordy Anderson is expected to start either 6-5 sophomore Ted Cray or 6-6 senior Mark Vander Jagt at a forward along with Sanders.

Junior center Bill Curtis will handle the pivot and Stan Washington, State's leading scorer with 21.3 average, will join senior John Shick at the guards.

Illinois will probably start Freeman and Redman at forward, Thoren at center, with Brody and 6-0 junior Jim Dawson the guards.

The Illini showed plenty of experience and poise as its senior-studded quintet easily disposed of the Spartans 113-94 in East Lansing earlier in the season.

Both teams will need help if they are to improve on their current positions regardless of the outcome. The Spartans will have to upset the taller Illini and ninth place Northwestern (2-11) will have to lose to Purdue if State is to creep from the cellar.

Illinois must win and hope that Iowa can beat Minnesota (10-3) to finish in second.

It'll be the final game for four Spartans seniors, Sanders, Shick, Vander Jagt and Ron Welch. All wind up three-year stints on State's varsity.

Illinois coach Harry Combes is losing even more talent. Thoren, Brody, and Redman bow out along with reserves Bob Meadows, Ron Beeks and Bill McKeown.

Thoren and Brody were all conference picks this season and both were on the second team last year.

Illinois leads 13-8 in the 14-year-old series which began in 1951 when the Illini nipped the Spartans 49-43 at Jensen Fieldhouse. All the games between the two schools have been in conference play.

Wolves Top Final Hoop Ratings

NEW YORK CITY (UPI)—The Michigan Wolverines are on top in the season's final ratings of major college basketball teams by United Press International coaches.

All but nine of the 35 coaches on the rating board gave Michigan their vote for first choice.

UCLA, which finished first in last year's final ratings, is second and St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania third.

Michigan wracked up a 21-2 season to win not only the UPI championship but the Big Ten title. Friday, the Wolverines open their post-season competition with a game in the NCAA Mid-east Regionals at Lexington, Ky.

Following St. Joseph's in the ratings are Providence, Vanderbilt, Brigham Young, Davidson, Minnesota, Duke, and San Francisco.

Hurt's Horse Comes In Gallops By Opponents In Big Ten

By ROBERTA YAFIE
State News Sports Writer

For the Spartan gymnasts, the Big Ten meet was a "tale of two victories," and a very disappointing one at that. For State's Tom Hurt, however, it was the greatest story ever told.

Hurt, a senior from St. Clair, won the conference long horse crown, defeating Fred Roethlisberger, the defending champ, as well as teammate Ron Aure and Bob Hennecke of Wisconsin.

For the Spartans, this victory carried more weight than the honor of earning a Big Ten title. It capped off a career that had its ups and downs, capping it off with a slam-bang finish.

Tom worked all-around for his high school coach, Ed Bingham, and was a member of the St. Clair state championship team. After graduation he went on to junior college, a factor that State's coach, George Szypula, feels may have been detrimental to his progress as a varsity gymnast.

Port Huron Junior College, which he attended for two years, didn't offer gymnastics," Szypula said. "This was Tom's big problem. Since he came to State as a transfer student, he was eligible for only two years of varsity competition. Had he gone right into college, he could have been one of our really great gymnasts."

Hurt stands exactly six feet, the tallest man on the team. Contrary to the opinion of most fans, who might feel that his tallness detracts from the grace executed by shorter men, his height emphasizes his grace, and he often amazes people by the way he contorts his body through the air.

Last year, Tom was sixth in Spartan scoring with 53 points to his credit. That was his first season of varsity competition for State, and any chances of greatness seemed to elude him. At the start of this year, things looked about the same.

What normally would be termed a bad break was, in effect, a blessing for Tom. He developed bursitis in his shoulder, which kept him out of competition against Wisconsin and limited his performances. When State faced Chicago Circle and Illinois. The limitation kept him from entering three of the four events he normally worked—side horse, floor exercise and parallel bars—and made him concentrate all of his effort on long horse. It paid off.

Tom finally jelled in the Big Ten meet. In the preliminary round, the event ended in a three-way tie for first between Hurt, team mate Ron Aure and Bob Hennecke of Wisconsin. The final round provided the battleground that saw the Spartan emerge victorious.

"That tie was one of the most thrilling moments of the meet," Szypula said. "Fred Roethlisberger was in fourth, only a small percentage behind the three. In the finals, Aure had some bad landings, dropping him to fourth. Hennecke and Roethlisberger both came up with fine vaults. Tom hit right on the nose with his first vault. His landing was perfect. He had the crowd behind him all the way as he got set for the second. On that vault his hands slipped a little and missed his timing, but the first vault counted."

REACHING FOR VICTORY--Tom Hurt, working long horse, sails through the air as he completes his vault, showing the form that earned him the Big Ten title in that event this weekend. Photo by Larry Carlson

In long horse, the score that counts is the best of two, and Hurt's 9.375 mark on his first performance was enough to earn him the crown. It wasn't a give-away, though--25 of a point separated him from Roethlisberger and Hennecke, who tied for second.

"I think that this achievement was one of the finest moments of Tom's athletic career," Szypula commented. "I'm hoping that he can get right up there among the first three in the nationals. It would certainly be a surprise performance."

The NCAA meet will offer opposition from all over the country.

FROSH STANDOUT NOW

Baylor May Make 'S' Cage Foes Yell 'Uncle'

A big campus attracted a big man and as a result MSU's basketball team may experience a bumper season next year.

Art Baylor, a 6-6 freshman center and a high school stand-out at Makin High in Washington, D.C., was offered 65 scholarships after being named an All-Metropolitan center, but chose State because of its size.

Baylor is a nephew of the great Elgin Baylor, outstanding forward of the Los Angeles Lakers, and seems destined to perpetuate the name of Baylor in basketball press clippings.

The relationship and obvious comparison with a pro basketball star badgered Baylor when he first started playing the game but doesn't seem to bother him now.

"People were comparing me to Elgin all the time at the beginning but they don't anymore," he said. "At first I didn't like it but it doesn't bother me now," he added.

Baylor is not the only star on a promising freshman team but the big 210-pound freshman is being counted heavily on to solve the varsity's center problem next year.

State's biggest problem this season was finding a big man who can handle the pivot spot and Baylor looks as though he could eliminate the problem in 1965.

Surprisingly, Baylor has received little help from his more famous uncle. In fact they hardly see each other. "I don't see a lot of Elgin because he is on the West Coast most of the time with the Lakers and I'm on the East Coast in Washington, D.C."

RUNNERS IN REVERSE GEAR

Doin' What Comes Naturally

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

Fall has traditionally been harvest time for Coach Fran Ditttrich but it looks as though things may be starting to change.

Track fans are still talking about the Spartans' surprising finish in the Big Ten meet at Madison where they placed second to victorious Wisconsin by two and a half points.

Vying for conference titles is nothing new to Ditttrich but in recent years his teams have had more success reaching the top in cross country than in track.

His cross country teams have compiled a remarkable record of 11 league titles in 15 years but last fall they lost out to Minnesota in an attempt to retain the championship they won in 1963.

Perhaps the Spartan success indoors does not mean that Ditttrich is turning his attention from cross country to track. It's just that a strong nucleus of field and dash men have been added to an able corps of distance men.

Keith Coates sparked Spartan distance runners at the Big Ten meet by winning the mile in 4:09.5.

Mike Kaines, Eric Zemper and George Balthrop also upheld the honor of the distance men by placing in their events. But the Spartan needed more than that to be a serious contender for the title and they got it from broad jumpers, hurdlers and dash men.

Jim Garrett successfully defending his championship in the broad jump and Gene Washington set a league record with a clocking of 7.7 while winning the low hurdles. Daswell Campbell chalked up another first by winning the 300-yard dash.

Add those performances to the efforts of the distance runners and it shows that building strong cross country teams is a good way to start building a strong track team.

Last season the Spartan indoor squad captured third place with distance men again carrying their share of the load.

The indoor squad received a severe blow even before the season started when it was learned that miler Dick Sharkey would not be able to compete.

Sharkey was kept out of cross country last fall with a leg injury and his loss may have kept the Spartans from winning the league harrier crown.

His loss is one of many places Spartan fans are looking in an attempt to find those extra two and a half points that would have given the Spartans an indoor track crown during a rare season when the cross country championship eluded them.

'Youngsters' Pay Off For Swim Team

If Spartan swim fans are happy over the team's third-place finish in the Big Ten last weekend, they should wait another year--they could even be happier.

MSU finished third behind Indiana and Michigan at Madison with 273 points to give them an excellent start on the championship circuit which continues at the NCAA meet later in the month.

The Green and White earned four first places in the conference outing and all but one swimmer who had a hand in the firsts will be back next year.

Dick Gretzinger will be the only graduate from the championship 400-yard freestyle team which included sophomore Gary Dilley and juniors Jim MacMillan and Darlyle Kifer.

Gretzinger filled in capably for Ken Walsh who forsook his place on the relay team to chalk up points in other events.

Bert Desmond, who also placed for the Spartans in the loop meet, is the only other senior on a squad which has made record-breaking look ridiculously easy.

Top individual prospect in the NCAA is sophomore backstroke Gary Dilley who received high acclaim before the season began and proved he was worthy of it week after week.

Dilley established Big Ten marks in the 100 and 200-yard backstrokes at Madison and finished second in the 50-yard freestyle.

He broke an American record for the 100 backstroke a week ago and had a hand in tying the American mark in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Ken Walsh, another sophomore, won the 100-yard freestyle in the conference meet

There Is No Joy In Hockeyville...

By RICK PIANIN
State News Sports Writer

There is very little solace in defeat. Long ago it was ruled that "moral" victories are never to be counted in the record books.

State's hockey team went up against mighty North Dakota in the first round of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs this weekend, in Grand Forks, and split a two-game series.

According to playoff rules, the team with the greatest number of goals is awarded the victory, and the Sioux had an 11-7 edge.

North Dakota blasted State all over the slushy ice Friday afternoon, 7-1, and it appeared as if a second game might not even be necessary. North Dakota was huge, according to Coach

Amo Bessone, and had more than enough muscle to bounce around "tiny" MSU.

But the complexion of the series changed radically Saturday, and the Spartans stunned the Sioux with a stirring 6-4 setback.

"Our body checking caught them by surprise," explained Bessone. "They didn't think such little guys as ours could check so hard."

After spotting North Dakota to an early 2-0 lead, State came roaring back with five straight goals. North Dakota had difficulty finding its composure and couldn't muster a score until late in the game, while State was short two players.

Ice conditions were a crucial factor in both games. North Dakota skates on natural ice, but a sudden warm spell softened it considerably.

"We never played under worse conditions," said Bessone. "The temperature was 30 degrees and their ice machine broke down. It got colder Saturday and the ice was improved, but near the end of the final period, you could see that it was getting soft."

Captain Doug Roberts was singled out by Bessone for his excellent play in both games. Roberts, who played his final game for the Green and White, scored two goals and gained two assists in the two-game set.

State's season officially ended last weekend, and Bessone and Dick Kahn, equipment manager, were busy Monday storing away the team's gear for another year.

Puerto Rico Tour Set For Quartet

The Beaumont Quartet, faculty string group, will leave March 21 for a seven-day concert tour of Puerto Rico.

A television appearance, concerts at Ponce, Mayaguez and Humacao and a performance at the University of Puerto Rico are on the group's itinerary.

Arrangements have been made by the Cap and Gown Series of the Continuing Education Service, in cooperation with the Office of Cultural Activities at the University of Puerto Rico, on an exchange basis.

The faculty string quartet at Puerto Rico has been invited here early next fall.

The string quartet includes Romeo Tata, violin; Theodore Johnson, violin; Lyman Bodman, viola; and Louis Potter Jr., cello.

They will perform quartets by Beethoven, Bartok, Debussy and Haydn.

This will mark the first overseas visit by the Beaumont Quartet. Highlights of recent tours include the premiere of a contemporary American work in Chicago a few years ago, and a recent concert at the Interlochen Arts Academy.

Christ's Crucifixion Staged

By GEORGE REYNOLDS
State News Reviewer

"Crucify him! Crucify him!" This was the cry of the mob who scorned Jesus, but it is equally shared by all men of today, according to the play, "Christ in the Concrete City," which was presented Sunday afternoon in the Union Ballroom.

This novel play was a re-enactment of the capture, trial and crucifixion of Christ, presented to pertain to life in the present day.

Its purpose was to make the crucifixion real to people today. As the actors said:

"He was scourged inside my kitchen door. . . . He was crucified in my back yard."

The stage was barren, with just a cold, white background which was fitting and versatile for the changing scenes. The actors were dressed simply, in black and white, and wore no shoes. A narrator stood off to the side of the stage.

At the outset, it was made clear that the presentation was not to entertain, but to impress upon the audience that all are responsible for the murder of Christ and that it was brought about by our sins--"the sins of Oak and Main Street, the ordinary sins of ordinary people--your sins and my sins! For this reason, Jesus, the Son of God, died."

That "man rejects Christ because he doesn't understand, or more precisely, doesn't want to understand Christ's difficult doctrine," was the continuing theme of the play.

The charge brought against Christ was and is that "He won't leave us alone," as the crowd shouted to Pilate in the play. They wanted Barabbas because "at least he doesn't condemn our sins."

The cast consisted of just five students, each of whom portrayed several different parts. They were Jim Allred, Grand Haven senior; Dave Bristol, Utica senior; Karen Winship, South Haven senior; Carole Reinertsen, Williamston sophomore; and Larry Collins, Oak Brook, Ill., senior. The narrator was Pete Vander Werf, Hudsonville freshman.

Lou Ann Rutherford, Birmingham

freshman, directed the presentation. She was pleased with its success, for, as she said, "Only one of the cast had ever had any acting experience." This was also her first attempt at directing.

This play was presented early in January at Trinity Church in East Lansing. Sunday's presentation was sponsored by Trinity Collegiate Fellowship, Spartan Christian Fellowship and Interdenominational College Life.

Fraternity Slate Named

Delta Phi Epsilon, professional international affairs fraternity, has chosen new officers for 1965-66 and initiated eight new members.

Officers chosen are: John G. Schuteman, Lansing junior, president; John W. Wingate, Warren graduate student, executive vice president; Michael A. Kaplan, Brooklyn, N.Y., junior, special project vice president; Michael D. Golden, Highland Park, Ill., junior, secretary; Michael H. Roe, Grosse Pointe Park sophomore, treasurer and Eugene S. Rice, Gladwin junior, pledge master.

Spartan Alumnae To Tour McDonel

The Spartan Alumnae Club will meet at McDonel Hall for dinner and a tour of the co-ed residence hall at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Reservations for dinner may be made with Mrs. Robert Visscher, program chairman.

The tour will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the 1963 Room.

Sculpture Displayed At Kresge

A sculptured head of a young Egyptian man from the Coptic Period, Third to Fifth Centuries, A.D., has recently been placed on display at the Kresge Art Center.

It has been added to the permanent collection of the Martin Soria Memorial Fund. Soria was a former MSU professor of art history who was killed in a Brussels plane crash in 1961.

The head is made of limestone and covered with polychrome in three colors, according to Paul V. Love, professor of art.

"The head is a mixture of the quality of early Greek and early Christian, which the Coptic people were," Love said. It is very characteristic of the period from which it comes.

It was purchased from the Emmerich Gallery in New York for a price of $1,500, he said.

A recently excavated site of Sheikh Ibad, a section of the better known Antioch in upper Egypt, yielded the head.

The Soria collection is also made up of other sculptures, contemporary American paintings and prints, Love said.

Visiting hours are 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. daily.

JEAN MADEIRA

RICHARD LEWIS

Tenor, Contralto Join For Classics Recital

A joint recital by tenor Richard Lewis and contralto Jean Madeira will be presented at 8:15 tonight in the Auditorium.

The duo will present a program of operatic arias and songs by Handel, Torelli, Scarlatti, Verdi, Schubert, Strauss and De Falla.

Their appearance is part of the Lecture-Concert Series. Acclaimed as England's greatest tenor, Lewis has performed in the United States with the San Francisco Opera Company, the New York Philharmonic and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

In 1963 he received the title of Commander of the British Empire from Queen Elizabeth II for his services to music. Illinois-born Jean Madeira is a leading contralto with the Metropolitan Opera in New York.

She has performed at the major European music festivals and in the leading opera houses of the world. A major event in Miss Madeira's career was her appearance as the leading soloist in the Metropolitan productions of De Falla's "Atlantida" and "El Amor Brujo" during the opening week of New York's Lincoln Center in 1962.

'Pinocchio' Set For Okemos

"Pinocchio," a play for children, will be presented by the Community Circle Players Friday through Sunday and March 19 through 21 at the Barn Theatre on Okemos Road.

The play, adapted from the original story rather than the movie, recounts the adventures of the naughty puppet as he encounters one mishap after another.

Pinocchio first disappoints the talking cricket and his father Gepetto, and then befriends a sly fox and a tinkly cat.

A beautiful blue fairy in disguise finally aids Pinocchio in becoming a real boy.

Friday performances are at 7:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday performances are at 2 and 4 p.m. Tickets may be reserved by calling ED 2-2221 after 7:30 p.m.

San Carlos Report Set

The educational progress of students at the University of San Carlos in Guatemala will be the subject of the College of Education Colloquium at 4:10 p.m. Wednesday in 128 Erickson.

Burton Friedman, assistant professor of education, will report on the Guatemalan research project that he directed.

Few students at San Carlos finish their education, and most of them move through college too slowly.

Friedman attempted to discover the effects of the university structure and administration had on this situation.

they would fare much worse than they do under University regulations," he said.

Gruber, however maintained that the advantages of governance by civil laws outweighed the disadvantages.

He said the subcommittee did not represent student opinion, and suggested an all-University questionnaire to get opinions of all students.

Elliott countered it would be difficult to word a questionnaire properly.

"I am already quite sure what student response would be to such a questionnaire," he said.

The subcommittee has been meeting with students for the past three weeks to hear comments and opinions to be considered in its report to the Parent Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

Gray, predicting action by the Board of Trustees by next term, said the open meetings have slowed down the compilations of the group's recommendations.

The subcommittee was established at the end of fall term. Janet Goldwasser, New York, N.Y., sophomore, asked for an explanation of the "small amount of available supervised housing for women."

Hekhuis said homeowners have found fewer problems involved with men because of the supervision requirements.

Women living in supervised off-campus dwellings are governed by the same rules as women in dormitories.

Miss Goldwasser suggested a graduated policy for women to live off campus rather than the sharp division for those 21 and under.

Ritual Discussion

The Rev. Joseph T. Frommeyer of Saint John's Parish will explain the significance of recent reforms in the Roman Catholic Church today at 7:30 p.m.

The talk, sponsored by the Baptist Student Fellowship, will be at 332 Oakhill, East Lansing. Campus bus service is available.

Authorized by All-University Student Congress

VOTE

The following article is presented by a committee of Student Congress in order to present as accurately as possible the arguments for and against the adoption of the proposed ASMSU constitution. Michigan State University students are urged to weigh both sides carefully before they vote in today's election.

PRO

- The Administration and the Students already respect the heads of the major governing bodies because they reflect opinion and informed judgement. Therefore, a student board composed of these major governing body heads and six members at large will be respected and listened to by the Administration.
- Power is distributed all the way from the floor level in the dorm to the student board.
- Every student knows his floor and dorm hall president and will approach them with complaints and suggestions. In the same way, the dorm and floor presidents will approach their constituents for information and attitudes.
- A series of student forums open to any student must be held by the Board every term.
- The Student Board would have direct authority to insure that its decisions are carried out.
- The Student Board would be composed of representative, experienced, and capable student leaders who are looked upon as such by students and the Administration.
- Representation involves getting what the students want. The Board would be sufficiently respected to insure that it got what the students wanted.
- Under the new proposal the only institution eliminated is Student Congress which has proven in the past to be extremely ineffective.
- Members of the Board would be directly responsible to their constituency and could be easily recalled.
- The Student Board would realize that students are not apathetic, would respect them and will strive for information concerning the student's desires.

CON

- This board is supposed to represent interests. Yet it is far more important to represent people! Proportional and equitable representation are the essence of democratic procedure.
- This board serves as both the legislative and executive body, in one. Thus there is no guarantee of adequate checks and balances.
- This board will become far too aloof and distant, and will fail to keep in touch with student opinion effectively.
- The Student Body President should be responsible to the students, rather than to a thirteen member board.
- Members of this board are responsible only to their respective organizations, and to the individual interests of their groups.
- This plan suggests that the students of this university are no longer capable of electing a good Student Body President.
- This Board will encourage student apathy by taking government away from the average student, and by allowing him to participate through a complicated system of channels.
- This breakdown on how organizations will affect one board:
- Mens Hall Association, 7800 men, 7 Board Members (Pres. of MHA, 4 elected 2 appointed.)
- Co-Operatives, 229 men, 7 Board Members (President of Co-ops, 4 elected 2 appointed.)
- Greek System 3,000 men and women, 8 Board Members (President of IFC, Pan Hel, 4 elected, 2 appointed.)
- The decisions of the Board may be challenged by a petition signed by 3,000 students, which may then call an all-university election.
- Finally this plan suggests efficiency at the price by student participation by severely limiting the number of positions available to the students in their own government.

Vet Med Honor Code Works

By JEAN PITCHFORD
State News Science Writer

Michigan State's College of Veterinary Medicine has had none of the Air Force Academy's problems with its Honor Code. The system has been functioning smoothly on campus for nearly 10 years, according to Robert R. Maronpot, honor board chairman.

The Honors system is policed largely, and was originally designed, by students. "The veterinary and medical students foster great pride in their honor system, and it is truly their honor system," Maronpot said. The students realized the need for a self-disciplined code of ethical conduct, and they both organized the honor code and wrote the Creed of Honor in 1956, he said.

Professional students are required to sign this Creed of Honor, which is designed to promote high ethical standards and professional conduct. In it, students pledge to "neither give nor receive aid in an examination," and to "perform no acts which are contrary to the existing professional regulations."

They are then allowed many freedoms and offered many opportunities for individual initiative, Maronpot said. Students are free to use laboratories during evening hours, trusted to take unproctored examinations and encouraged to borrow books and old tests from instructors.

The Honors Creed gives professional students a chance to assume the professional integrity and honesty they will need in later life, said W. W. Armistead, Dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine.

"In addition to the obligation to give their students an excellent scientific education, medical schools must also assume responsibility for the professional and ethical development of their students," he said. It is particularly important that the veterinary and medical technician possess high integrity, because his trade is so highly specialized that most people will be unable to judge his competence, Armistead said. The public must place trust in his honesty.

Infractions of the Creed of Honor are handled by an honor board comprised of fourteen students and five faculty advisors. In the event of a serious violation of the Creed of Honor, the board recommends that the violator not be allowed to continue his medical education.

Navy Team Gives Exams

Naval Officer Qualification Tests for male and female seniors will be administered by the U.S. Navy Officer Information Team 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily through Friday in the Union.

Examinations for the women last one hour. Tests for the male ground and aviation programs last 1 1/2 and three hours, respectively. The tests entail no obligations and can be given and graded immediately.

Officer programs for men and women include general line, supply, medical and dental. Engineering, law, theological and aviation programs are open to men only. Prospective officers should apply for a commission at least three months in advance of the class that they wish to attend and may apply at any time in their senior year.

Slides Of Europe

Charles Cunningham will show slides and tell of his experiences in Europe at this afternoon's monthly meeting of the MSU's Retirees' Club.

The meeting is at 1:45 in the club rooms on the 3rd floor of the Union.

Vets Plan Events

The Veterans Association will meet at 8:30 tonight at Coral Gables.

Topics to be discussed include plans for spring term events. All members are urged to attend.

Akbarama Wins; Akrophobia, Too

Akbarama and Akrophobia Houses won their meets in the East Akers College Bowl held Sunday. Both teams won easily, as Akbarama defeated Akrojax 235-110, and Akrophobia trounced Akat 260-110.

The winning Akbarama team included Jim Diamond, Milford, Tex., sophomore; Joe Warren, Pontiac junior; Carl Stensel, Lorain, Ohio, freshman; and Ken Valentine, Glen Ellyn, Ill., freshman.
