New Housing Rules Proposed

Decision To Come This Month

The Faculty Committee on Student Affairs has announced six changes in regulations concerning the liberalization of off-campus housing rules.

The regulations to be sent to President Hannah and the Board of Trustees are:

--Students reaching senior status or the age of 21 by the last official day of registration fall term will be eligible to live in unsupervised housing that year. A senior student is one who has at least 130 term credits. Academic year is September 15 to June 15 inclusive.

--Any eligible student under the age of 21 must have parental consent and waiver (of responsibility) to live in unsupervised housing. This must be submitted not later than September 1 of the year. Students 21 years of age and older are not required to have parental consent to live in unsupervised housing.

--Students of the opposite sex shall not be permitted to enter the living quarters of other students living in a residence hall, supervised housing or organized living unit except during a registered open house. In housing not under the control of the University, it is expected that behavior "will be in keeping with standards acceptable to the University community."

--Students are expected to observe the liquor laws of the State of Michigan... no student shall possess or consume any alcoholic beverage, including beer, in any Michigan State University residence hall, supervised housing, organized living unit, or within the confines of land governed by the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University. This prohibition shall not apply to possession or consumption by residents in married housing facilities provided by Michigan State University.

--Students are members of both the University and local community. All students are expected to live in accordance with state and local laws. When students violate such laws it is of concern to both the local and University community.

--Students are required to report their correct local address at the time of registration. Failure to register the actual residence at which they are living, or a change of address, is cause for cancellation of registration.

These liberalized rules will be sent to President John Hannah in time for the April Board of Trustees meeting.

Charles W. Titkemeyer, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, said that he felt the Board would accept the committee's recommendations.

"I don't believe these regulations will be greatly altered," he said. "There is nothing radical about them. These rules make sense."

The Committee which has been meeting since December, received recommendations on the problem from a student-faculty sub-committee on off-campus housing.

Titkemeyer said that the regulations were basically the same as those made by the sub-committee. Changes were made primarily in wording rather than principle.

The chairman said that most liberalization concerned senior status or the 21 age limit.

"This is a considerable departure from the previous rule," he said.

Concerning the problem of off-campus living, there has never

Ferency To Attend

Protest 'Teach-In' Tonight

By COLLEEN O'BRIEN
State News Staff Writer

Democratic State Chairman, Zoltan A. Ferency will attend the Viet Nam Teach-In tonight as an interested observer.

He said his action is not a criticism of President Johnson's policy in Southeast Asia.

The "teach-in" is being organized by the MSU Faculty Committee for Peace in Viet Nam to protest U.S. foreign policy in Viet Nam.

It will begin at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium and move to smaller groups in Bessey Hall classrooms at midnight for discussion.

Alumni Scholarship Winners Announced

Ten of the nation's brightest high school seniors have won Michigan State's most coveted scholarships--the $6,000 Alumni Distinguished Scholarship awards.

The 10 were selected from almost 1,600 top high school seniors from every state, including Hawaii and Alaska, and Puerto Rico, who competed in examinations at MSU earlier this year.

All contestants were finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competitions.

Alumni donations to the MSU Development Fund finance the grants that are now in their 10th year.

Two of the award winners are from Michigan, two from Mary-

The "teach-in" will end at 2:30 a.m.

Women's dormitory curfew has been extended to 2:30 a.m. for those who want to attend the meeting. Special passes will be given to the women and stamped with the time when they leave the dormitory.

Ferency said he will go to the Teach-In after attending a previously scheduled meeting on campus.

"I have no knowledge of the views held by any of the sponsors of the Teach-In, nor do I know what the invited speakers will say," he said.

Ferency praised the sponsors

MIG's Harass Berlin Air

BERLIN 4--Swarms of Soviet jet fighters roared over West Berlin Wednesday, fired blank cannon ammunition and buzzed the hall where West Germany's Parliament was meeting. They buzzed the city's airports and planes flying in the air corridors.

The object of Communist wrath was the West Berlin Parliament, which held a four-hour session in West Berlin in defiance of the Reds. It was parliament's first meeting in Berlin in seven years.

Had there been an actual air attack, the Western garrison virtually would have been helpless. The U.S., British and French garrisons have no antiaircraft weapons heavier than 50 caliber machine guns.

While the MIGs were still thundering low over Berlin, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard left for Bonn aboard a U.S. Air Force transport.

On the ground, the East German Communists blocked all traffic on the Berlin Autobahn for the third time in as many days. Between blockades, they continued their slowdown tactics, delaying passenger and freight traffic for as much as 50 hours.

The Reds claim the West German Parliament had no right to meet in West Berlin because the city is not part of West Germany but is situated in East German territory.

It was the first time in the long East-West struggle over Berlin that the Russians have resorted to such dangerous air maneuvers.

Shortly after 3 p.m., a single MIG 19 fighter roared out of the clouds and swept low over the congress hall where parliament was sitting. At the same time, another fighter dived high above and set off a tremendous sonic blast as it broke the sound barrier. Windows shattered and houses shook.

From then on, both MIG 19 and the more modern Delta-wing MIG 21 fighters, flying singly or in groups of two, four and five, blasted over the rooftops at an average altitude of 500 feet.

Four MIG 19's in formation fired their cannons as they passed over the French sector. West Berlin police said they fired blank ammunition because no hits on the ground were found.

Four other MIGs, their red stars showing clearly, whistled low over congress hall.

All the while, commercial and military passenger planes were taking off and landing.

Forddy Thanks Fans, Friends

Returning from his recruiting duties, former Michigan State basketball coach Forddy Anderson issued the following statements to the State News in regard to the unfavorable clamor his dismissal brought.

"I feel real good about the interest shown by the students here. It's been wonderful, personally."

"To the students, fans and friends, I feel very warm about their sentiments, but for the good of Michigan State University and as a personal favor to me, I do wish that this subject be dropped soon."

"I sincerely feel that President Hannah doesn't make any decision without the interests of the students at heart."

"I sincerely feel very warm about this school and I hope that I can remain at the University."

"Now let all of us think about the good future of MSU by focusing our attention to the proper acceptance of the new coach."

"He will need all the support you can give him. I am confident that you are the type of student body that will provide support for him."

"Good luck to all of you and God bless you for your interest in me."

U.S. Aid Officer Held, Threatened

TOKYO 4--The Viet Cong threatened Wednesday to shoot a kidnapped U.S. aid officer, Gustav C. Hertz of Leesburg, Va., if Saigon authorities execute a terrorist arrested in the bombing of the U.S. Embassy March 30.

The Viet Cong saboteur is Nguyen Van Thai, 33.

Saigon police shot and wounded him as he was attempting to flee on a motorbike with the driver of the French sedan that carried the explosives which wrecked the embassy and killed 22 people. One of the dead from the blast was the car driver.

The Viet Cong's political agency, the National Liberation Front, declared in a communique broadcast by Hanoi Radio:

"If the U.S. and its henchmen execute Nguyen Van Thai, the Front will immediately give orders to execute G. Hertz, a member of the United States operation mission in South Viet Nam, who is guilty of spying activities and many bloody crimes against the South Vietnamese people."

There has been no public announcement in Saigon of the imposition of the death penalty on Thai, but the Front said there was scheming to that end "under the pretext that he was involved in the bomb blast at the U.S. Embassy."

Hertz, 46, vanished on a motorbike trip near Saigon Feb. 2. Chief of the U.S. aid mission's public administration division in the South Vietnamese capital, he lived in that city with his wife and three children.

"He is now in the hands of the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front, which has given him good treatment ever since his capture," the broadcast communique said.

"The U.S. aggressors and their henchmen must know that gone is the time when they are free to kill anyone at any place and any time without receiving due punishment."

"The fate of G. Hertz is decided by the United States itself."

Hanoi Radio quoted the Viet Cong further in a tacit denial that any of the bombing had been killed or arrested, declaring all returned "safely to their base, April 1."

Many Local Merchants Sign No-Bias Pledges

In keeping with a resolution passed last month advocating equal job opportunities for all applicants, the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce is circulating equal employment opportunity policy statements to merchant members.

The statements and resolution came at the request of the East Lansing Human Relations Commission which urged local merchants to go on record for equal employment.

The statement reads:

"It is the policy of this firm (name of firm) to consider each applicant for employment with this firm on the basis of his qualifications without regard to race, color, creed or national origin, and to give all employees equal consideration with respect to compensation, benefits and opportunity to progress within the firm without regard to race, color, creed or national origin."

"It is up to the individual merchant to sign and return the statement," said Chamber of Commerce President Hal Pumphrey.

"We've had complete cooperation so far," he said.

David K. Berlo, chairman of the Human Relations Commission, said he urges all merchants to sign the policy statement and return it to the East Lansing city manager.

Carny Cost Cut

Discount tickets for the 1965 Water Carnival "De Losers of Grandeur" are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office until April 16. The tickets for Friday's performance are now selling for $1.50 instead of $1.75 with the Saturday tickets remaining at $2.25.

'Early Bird' Gets Worm

WASHINGTON 4--The Early Bird communications satellite received and sent back to Earth its first television test patterns Wednesday, only about 12 hours after its launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Signals were sent from a ground station at Andover, M., while the satellite was over South America, climbing toward its second apogee, or high point, of 22,680 miles.

The test patterns were returned to Andover in such high quality that Siegfried H. Reiger, the project official who ordered the unexpectedly early experiment, told a news conference:

"It is safe to say that the television capability of the Early Bird satellite is established."

Value Of The Peace Corps

What's the first thing you think of when someone mentions the Peace Corps?

Do you say, "Yeah, I've heard their Mike and Elaine commercials?"

Do you think of President Kennedy?

Do you conjure up a picture of a misfit college dropout creating an image of the ugly American in some remote African village?

Whatever your thoughts are, don't categorically dismiss the Peace Corps. In its four year history it has created valuable ties with other countries. And, because it is young, it has made mistakes. But we can forgive mistakes in a well-meaning youngster.

It's important to realize that what success the Peace Corps realizes depends entirely on individuals. How one American conducts himself is the point of the project.

We count on the imagination and ingenuity of "typical" Americans to make people become interested in making their own lives better.

We take it for granted that Americans have these traits, that they are never satisfied with the least of life. But we aren't just trying to impose the American way of life on anyone.

Imagination. The idea that comes from the rapid growth of the United States. The American Dream. Whatever it is, it is a spirit that moves young people in this country to question, try and succeed.

And the main reason why the spirit has grown in America is that opportunities are so vast.

The Peace Corps is an attempt to take the dynamic spirit of our country and share it. Are we conceited. Yes, and with reason. Are we competing with Them? Yes, with regret. We are competing with the idea of the Peace Corps but when it comes down to one American in one village, we must hope that competition is not the first concern.

That is the real story of the Peace Corps. One American, on his own, with our blessing, trying. Questioning. Trying. Succeeding.

On The Election

Monday's city election can best be described as a victory for the forces of progressive government in our community.

The election of Mrs. Mary P. Sharp to the City Council and of William K. Harmon as municipal judge will provide the new faces and new ideas which are vital to any effective municipal government.

Although the State News did not endorse incumbent Councilman Max R. Strother, we extend our congratulations to him on his re-election and we respect his conscientious service as a public official in East Lansing for 16 years. It is our hope that Strother will work with, rather than against, the forces of progress, particularly in the area of human relations.

The defeat of David A. Cotter is a strong indication that the majority of East Lansing voters cannot be swayed by appeals to racial prejudice, based on shadows rather than realities.

The City of East Lansing will be faced with a wide variety of problems in the near future. The expansion of the University has created parking and housing shortages. Justice for all members of the community--regardless of their color or which side of Grand River they live on--is essential.

It is our hope that the city and the University will cooperate to solve their problems together. All city officials, new and old, would do well to work toward this goal.

Kids Do The Darndest Things

By DAVE HANSON

MSU is an exceptional child. When she was little she liked animals and was a "nice kid," but she showed no real promise for greatness. Her older brother, the University of Michigan, was grown up and making his mark on the world. Then it happened.

Overnight, it seemed, the child began to grow. She had big ideas and thoughts of greatness. Her parents didn't know what to do. Her brother's maturation had been slow and well defined and planned. But she was exploding.

She was soon fully grown. What was left was a filling out that could come naturally. But something was wrong.

She was asking questions that her parents couldn't answer. She was doing things that her parents couldn't understand. She towered over them and yet was humble and respectful. She had outgrown her parents.

Where could she go? Who could she turn to? Her growth had been so fast that she had missed the adolescent years when the painful problems of growing up should have been answered.

It was too late to back up and try to recapture those lost years. It was too late to stop the rest of her natural growth.

All that could be done, or hoped, was to think that she had learned enough before the boom to prepare her for the certain trial that lay ahead. What was needed was a purpose. Like most, exceptional post-war children she turned to science. The threat of the Russians and the quick and visible return on the output would make her feel secure.

At times it almost seemed that she no longer cared for the same things she had liked as a child. Big, beautiful, and well liked, she was becoming an egghead. Square. Sullen. Intellectual.

But she knew there were other things in life. There was art, language and there was life. Sometimes she would dream of the old days and remember how it had been. It was a tough life she was committed to now, and though she liked it there was always the other and older thing that she remembered.

Her parents told her that someday soon she would find that she was big enough to spend more time with those old things. "When you're a little older, dear, you'll understand."

She smiled and went back to work. She trusted them.

You're Right. It Isn't A Dummy!

Letters To The Editor

Likes Play For Wrong Reasons

To the Editor:

Reviewer X, in his (her?) review of "The Girl With Green Eyes," has added almost conclusive proof to my hastily contrived generalization that State News theater reviewers either completely dislike a film or like it for the wrong reasons. The reviewer apparently was too busy watching doors left ajar to notice a few important things the characters were revealing. Of course the result seemed "straight from the pages of 'Ladies Home Journal'."

To dismiss Eugene Gaillard as a "character who has seen life, and in the process has lost his capacity for such single-minded love as Katie's" is to miss the poignancy of their relationship. Of course he is more experienced than she, and his experience has taught him a very difficult truth--that the beauty of human relationships lies somewhere between the transience of communication and the permanence of meaning.

Their loving one another, if only for one possible moment, is made difficult by Katie's inability to realize just what is at stake, something Eugene has realized all along. Perhaps his heartbreak is the deeper, for he can appreciate maturely that, however singular the relationship, constancy is impossible--Katie can never come back when she has grown up a little; she will never be the same Katie again, nor will he be the same Eugene.

The reviewer has admired the acting ability of the film's players, perhaps a left-handed compliment, since the characterizations themselves seem to have escaped him. I wish one thing for him--may he some day learn the lesson of Eugene Gaillard: the mediocrity of the plot can be changed for a lifetime by a moment of human communication.

Drug Laws Should Not Be Relaxed

To the Editor:

I disagree very much with Tom Test's letter, "Drug Laws Should Be Relaxed."

I don't wish to argue the psychological reasons used to justify the use of stimulant drugs, be they narcotic or non-narcotic, but would like to point out the fantastic dangers of these drugs to the individual taking them and to the public at large. Unfortunately, the indiscriminate use of these drugs leads to their inevitable overuse.

The non-narcotic stimulant and depressant drugs, more commonly called "goof-balls," can be considered as dangerous as narcotics because they lead to the use of narcotics in many cases. The desired effect sought through the use of these drugs will wear off faster and faster until a person finds himself taking more and more and becoming, if not physiologically then psychologically addicted to them.

When these drugs no longer satisfy the user, he graduates to narcotics.

Mr. Test, you claim that a person under the influence of a stimulant is usually more responsible, less abusive and less of a threat to others than some sober people.

Very recently three high school youths in Chicago, under the influence of non-narcotic goof-balls, shot a 78-year-old man 19 times and killed him. They did this to get the $11 he carried on him.

When asked how they felt at the time, the three said they laughed and giggled as they shot the man.

The so-called deep emotional and mental experience which you state as being more significant than that possible in a state of normal consciousness, leads high school youths to drop out of school, to commit petty crimes and in some unfortunate cases even murder.

These are not mentally disturbed youths who take drugs; nor are they necessarily from the lower class. In and around Chicago they are some of the middle as well as upper class youths.

And where do they get these drugs? Some obtain them from pushers, but all too often from druggists trying to make a fast buck by indiscriminately selling these drugs, which are only to be sold under prescription.

It becomes easy for the youths to obtain these drugs without attempting to show a prescription. Two weeks ago a Chicago suburban housewife was arrested for selling drugs to neighborhood youths. To her it meant an easy way to make some extra money.

I commend the Food and Drug Administration for trying to strengthen its laws when it comes to indiscriminate selling of harmful non-narcotic drugs.

Drug addiction is taking a tremendous toll among American youths every year. But the problem goes much deeper than laws or the enforcing of these laws.

What is it that drives teenagers to drugs as an answer to their problems? Is society so complex or are parents and adults so busy that they cannot help their youths search out answers elsewhere?

Just $275 Per Mouse

To the Editor:

We have just invented a better mousetrap and are now waiting for the world to beat a path to our door.

Late last term, during the rigors of our preparation for finals week, we were rudely interrupted by the pitter-patter of little feet. After being ignored by the management of Snyder Hall, we returned to our palatial $275-per-term penthouse in the sky.

Thereupon we set out to capture the vicious creature with all the resourcefulness of three dauntless Michigan State students. Armed with only an empty coffee can and our bare hands we snared the snarling specimen, and returned it to a very unnatural locale--outside MSU dormitories.

Residents of Akers beware! A three-inch mouse is now speeding toward your Coke machine.

Not As A Stranger

By Char Jolles

A multitude of strangers will embrace each other in the doorways of dorms this term.

This en masse display of affection may be shocking, but not because it's sexy, and not because it's public.

Let's not condemn and turn away, or cry out indignantly that sex is perfectly natural and all that. (Nature's no excuse for anything.) Instead let's understand sex as a need far more consequential than, say, the need for food; for the fulfillment of sexual desire requires the most direct and intimate means of communication possible between human beings.

Unless a caress communicates a feeling of, say, respect or admiration, it is merely exploitation and pleasure. Pleasure is not wrong, of course. Neither is anything readily "wrong" with using another's body to gratify physical needs.

It's not a question of ethics, but of tactics. It all depends on what we want.

Say we seek love (which I am not presumptuous enough to define. Love at least would seem to include more than physical attraction and maybe to outlive it). We'll never find love by using only our bodies to relate to each other--for the wonder, and perhaps the obstacle, of life is that people refuse to be mere extensions of our needs.

No love relationship can be based on the resentment one feels as an object for the satiation of another's desires.

In our search for love, we are quick to use immediate means of contact--we are quick to caress and be caressed. We smile for a moment, and both caressor and caressed forget that the smile ensues from nothing more than a pleasant sensation. Sex makes it so easy to lie.

Only fleeting relationships can be based on deceit, or innocent illusions.

That's why we cannot be flippant with our charms if we want more than recreation. We need time to know others, and so to trust that we are more than instruments to each other.

Human relationships must be taken seriously--if enjoyment is ever to be joy, if gratification is ever to be gratitude.

Letter Policy

The State News welcomes all letters to the editor from any members of the MSU community or non-University readers.

Letters should be no longer than 300 words and typed double-spaced if possible. Longer letters may be considered for publication as "Point of View" columns. Correspondents should include name and, if applicable, University standing. This information may be withheld upon request, but no unsigned letters will be printed.

The State News reserves the right to select and edit all letters to fit space requirements.

From Our Wire Services

Miss Tan Contest Seen As Beginning

DALLAS--Raven-haired Anitra Screen, a 19-year-old beauty from the Bronx, hopes the Miss Tan America Pageant will open more contests "To others besides the blonde, blue-eyed all-American girl."

Miss Screen, who writes poetry and is a Long Island University sophomore, was among 30 semi-finalists to arrive in Dallas Wednesday for the nationwide Negro beauty pageant.

"I hope this will be the beginning for truly representative American beauty contests," Miss Screen said. "There's a wealth of non-Caucasian beauty in this country that a lot of people aren't aware of."

Soviet Weapons Cross China

MOSCOW--Soviet weapons now are flowing across China to North Viet Nam under an agreement reached in Peking to remove Chinese obstructions, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

When the Soviet Union began sending promised arms to Hanoi, there were holdups in China. The sources described them Wednesday as procedural.

Social Security-Health Bill Debated

WASHINGTON--Argument over possible injury to the medical profession flared Wednesday as the House began debating a $6-billion bill providing for Social Security expansion and health services to the aged.

A physician-congressman, Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., predicted a decline in professionalism in medical practice, destruction of the doctor-patient relationship and overcrowding of hospitals if the measure--strongly backed by President Johnson--becomes law.

China Complains 373rd Time

TOKYO--Red China charged Wednesday a U.S. warship and five planes violated Chinese territorial space off its southeast coast Tuesday and Wednesday. A broadcast dispatch of the New China news agency said the Chinese foreign ministry issued its 373rd serious warning after the violations.

The warship was reported to have intruded into Communist Chinese waters east of the Minkiang River estuary in Fukien province Tuesday night.

Latin Americans support Cong

HAVANA--People from various Latin American countries living in Cuba have decided to form a volunteer brigade to fight alongside the Viet Cong in Viet Nam if the Viet Cong ask for such help, Havana newspapers said Wednesday.

They reported the decision was taken at the organization here Tuesday of a "Latin American Committee for Aid to Viet Nam," with Hilda Cada of Peru as Secretary-General.

The plan to form the brigade was described as "A way of giving concrete aid to the brave people of Viet Nam, criminally attacked by American imperialism."

Viet Vigil Planned Near LBJ Ranch

HOUSTON--A Houston group seeking a cease fire and negotiated peace in Viet Nam announced plans Wednesday for an Easter weekend "Silent, standing vigil" near President Lyndon B. Johnson's ranch in Texas.

Chet Briggs, Chairman of Houston citizens for action on Viet Nam, said the group includes representatives of peace and liberal organizations.

Briggs said about 300 persons from Texas and Oklahoma are expected to stand in silence in a long file near the Johnson City ranch. He said some residents of Louisiana and Mississippi may participate.

CENTO Deplores USSR-China

TEHRAN, Iran--Secretary of State Dean Rusk and foreign ministers of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) took a hard look today at Communist aims in the Middle East.

They were told that despite their split, both the Soviet Union and Communist China are out to make trouble.

This comment came from Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart of Britain soon after the 13th ministerial Council of the Anti-Communist Alliance opened its meetings here.

U.S. Protests Over Berlin

WASHINGTON--The United States Wednesday angrily deplored as "Dangerous and provocative" the buzzing of Berlin by a flight of four Soviet aircraft.

The State Department, in a special statement, said the Soviet action of firing over West Berlin was an act that increased East-West tension and an attempt to intimidate the people of West Berlin.

Humanists Vs. Scientists

Offer Alumni Summer Study

MSU alumni will have a chance to return to their books and to the MSU campus this summer to take part in the second annual summer alumni vacation-study program.

The theme of this summer's program will be "the scientists versus the humanists," and it will be held July 19-23.

Professors Leroy G. Augenstein, biophysics; James B. McKee, sociology; John F. Taylor, philosophy; and Herbert Weisinger, English, will explore the various aspects of the traditional conflict.

Although the program is limited to MSU alumni, a few alumni of other universities will be admitted.

Four courses will be offered--two from the viewpoint of the scientist, and two from the humanist side.

The fee for two courses is $30 per person or $50 a couple. Each additional course costs $15 per person or $25 a couple.

In addition, all those who sign up for the course will receive a book entitled "The Scientist versus the Humanist."

The study program will be held in with the summer Fine Arts Festival. Classes will be held in the morning and the students will be free to attend the Arts Festival and use the campus recreation facilities in the afternoon.

The program is being sponsored by the Continuing Education Service in cooperation with the Department of Alumni Relations and various colleges of the university.

Last year's program entitled, "The Care and Feeding of the Human Mind," attracted 50 people from ten states including Texas, Colorado and Florida.

Car Licenses

Taken From 2

Among 621 Michigan motorists whose drivers' licenses were suspended recently were two MSU students.

Garry E. Craig, Troy freshman, lost his license for a month because of an unsatisfactory driving record.

Howard R. Laywell, Spartan Village master's candidate, was found guilty of driving under the influence of liquor.

Spartan Guard Goes To Washington, D.C.

The Spartan Guard Drill Team is in Washington D.C. today for competition in the Intercollegiate Drill competition and to participate in the National Cherry Blossom Festival.

The Spartan Guard left Wednesday morning and will return Sunday. They will stay at Fort Belvoir while in Washington.

The Invitational Exhibition Drill will feature the top 52 college drill teams in the nation including Purdue, U - M, Capitol, Howard, Wisconsin and North Carolina A & T. The winner of the meet will be crowned National Champion.

The judging will be based on precision, originality, complexity and coordination. Each team will be allowed seven to eight minutes to perform.

The Spartan Guard won first place in the Purdue Invitational Drill competitions at Purdue University Feb. 20. It is considered to be the most important meet in the Midwest. This was the first time in the 13-year history of the contest that Purdue's drill team was defeated on their home floor.

The Spartan Guard Drill Team is sponsored by the MSU Army ROTC. Its advisors are SFC Glenn Remington, NCO adviser, and Capt. Richard Summers, officer adviser. Both are in the military science department here.

Guard commander is Walter Morningstar, Norfolk, Va., sophomore, and the drill master is Larry Reeves, Country Club Hills, Ill., senior.

The Spartan Guard is the only college drill team in the country to have solo as a regular part of their routine.

MSU Again Recognized For Safety

Michigan State was again recognized by the Safety Council of Greater Lansing for a reduction in accident frequency to its employees during 1964.

This is the second successive award made to the University. The frequency rate during 1964 was 4.5 as compared to a rate of 5.6 in 1963. The first award in 1963 was earned when the frequency rate of 7.5 in 1962 was lessened.

Frequency accident rates during 1964 as reported indicated that industry in Michigan had an overall rate of 8.3 and the industrial record in the United States was 6.12. The State Universities of New York and the University of Minnesota reported rates of 8.0 and 7.0, respectively.

Jack Stockton, chairman of the University Safety and Sanitation Committee and also chairman of the Department of Microbiology and Public Health, accepted the plaque for the University from Jack White, president of the Safety Council.

The award was made at the annual Industrial Award dinner sponsored by the Council at the Eagle Restaurant in Lansing Tuesday. Seventeen other area industrial and community organizations were recognized for similar reductions.

$46,000 Grant Given MSU

Michigan State has received a $46,000 federal grant to assist in training teachers for mentally retarded children.

The U.S. Public Education Office approved the funds.

The funds would provide fellowships for graduate students training to work with the mentally retarded, said W. Vern Hicks, head of the Department of Elementary and Special Education at MSU.

A similar grant of $52,000 was awarded to Western Michigan University.

SK's, Fijis Win Spartan Spirit

Sigma Kappa sorority and Phi Gamma Delta fraternity topped off-campus living units for the winter term Spartan Spirit trophy.

The awards will be presented at a spring term pep rally to kick off the baseball season in late April.

The off-campus trophy was added this year to increase school spirit among private living units. It is based on participation in and sponsorship of all University events.

Other final standings are as follows: fraternities and co-ops, Sigma Phi Epsilon, 2; Delta Upsilon, 3; Beta Theta Pi, 4; and Montie House, 5;

Women's and religious living units, Zeta Tau Alpha, 2; Asher House for Men, 3; Delta Zeta, 4; and Kappa Alpha Theta, 5.

"We would like to congratulate and thank all of the living units, as well as the winners, for the work they have done in increasing spirit here," said Jim Tancs, Spartan Spirit director.

Offender In Jail

A 44-year-old Lansing man is currently being lodged in Ingham County jail when he failed to post $1,000 bond on a charge of indecent exposure on the MSU campus.

Edward Provost was arraigned Tuesday before Lansing Township Court Judge Conway Longson and demanded examination.

Police Give 'Fair Warning'

University police are giving "fair warning" of strict enforcement of student driving regulations, noticing a substantial increase of illegal forms of student driving.

Since the beginning of the term, there has been an increase of unregistered student vehicles on campus and many violations of registered vehicles being driven in prohibited areas, Lt. A.J. Zutaut said Wednesday.

Lt. Zutaut said there will be immediate strict enforcement of the regulations with additional manpower on the University police force to handle all violators.

FUTURE ALSO HAS CLOUDS

Gridmen Debut Amid Dust Chamber

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

Amid the grinding of movie cameras and several clouds of dust, the team that will represent MSU on the gridiron next fall was born Wednesday afternoon in Jenison Fieldhouse.

The setting was a far cry from the one that will greet the Spartans when they open the season Sept. 18 against UCLA but it was just another reminder that opening day is still a long way off.

The first day of spring practice drew about 90 candidates, all hoping to be part of a squad that will attempt to improve upon last season's 4-5 record.

Early workouts will be held indoors due to the poor condition of the practice field. But the unusual atmosphere did little to dull the enthusiasm of the grid hopefuls.

Everybody's a potential starter on the first day of practice and the next season always looms as a good one so it was a spirited workout in all respects.

Because it was the first practice, a large press corps was on hand to take photos of the team as it ran through the session. The dust of Jenison "floor" proved as much a hazard for the cameramen as it did for the players.

A large part of the practice was devoted to teaching as the veterans executed variations of the Spartan offense while freshmen watched from the stands. Due to the return of platoon football, players have begun to specialize in their respective offensive and defensive assignments right away.

The defensive backfield, ravaged by graduation losses, began taking form with the aid of last season's captain, Charlie Migvanka, who was helping coach the backfield unit.

At present, the top prospects for defensive backfield assignments are co-captain Dan Japings, Larry Lukasik, Jerry Jones and rover George Webster.

The freshman prospects always loom as question marks but Daugherty has indicated that several must come through if the team is to be strong next fall.

About two-thirds of this year's sophomore crop are graduates of Michigan high schools which coincides with Daugherty's attempt to secure prep talent from throughout the state.

"We hope to beat Ohio boys with Michigan boys," he said.

Last season Michigan defeated the Spartans with an all-Ohio starting backfield.

The Spartans will continue workouts on Wednesday through Saturday. Spring drills will finish with the Green-White intra-squad game May 8.

Twenty-six lettermen will form the nucleus of the 1965 team with the returnees almost equally divided between offense and defense.

Offensive returning lettermen include fullbacks Eddie Cotton and Larry Mackey, center Boris Dimitroff, guards John Karpinski, Gary Rugg and Jerry West, quarterback Steve Juday and John Mullen, tackle Jack Schindler, ends Gene Washington and Bob Viney and halfback Clinton Jones.

Defensive duties will befall lettermen backs Japings, Webster, Jones, guard Charles Thornhill, Ron Goovert and Ed Macuga, tackles Harold Lucas, Don Bierowicz and Bubba Smith, linebacker Phil Hoag and center Buddy Owens.

The biggest gaps appear to be in the offensive line and defensive backfield with the search continuing for a replacement for Dick Gordon who gained 741 yards rushing during his senior year.

ANDERSON REVIEWS YEARS

'56 Win Streak High Point

By DUANE LANCASTER
State News Sports Writer

Former basketball coach Fordy Anderson performed the unglamorous in a glamorous way in his 11 years at Michigan State.

His unimpressive 125-124 record here was compiled by years of greatness dulled by years of misery.

Of the many heights obtained by Anderson-coached quintets, he said he considered the 10-game winning streak put together in the 1956-57 season the high point of his coaching career.

State tied for the Big Ten crown that year with a 10-4 conference mark and finished 16-10 for the season while becoming the first team in Michigan State basketball history to compete in an NCAA playoff.

It went to the semi-finals before losing to North Carolina 74-70 in a triple overtime. North Carolina then went on to win the championship.

"That was the first cracking of the barrier," he said, referring to State's baptism into the tourney. "The enthusiasm of the fans was something I won't forget."

Two years later, the Spartans won their first outright championship by whipping Indiana in Bloomington 86-82 on national television, and this, too, ranks high in Anderson's memories.

The Spartans won 19 games that season, more than any other State squad, and set a season's attendance record of 103,504 fans at Jenison.

State placed third in a national wire service poll then--the highest ever in the school's history.

Anderson, who has won a championship in every conference he has coached, also remembers a pleasant incident in his last year at Bradley in 1954.

The Braves, on their way to the NCAA championship finals, went to meet Oklahoma A & M in the quarter-finals.

"There were only three people at the airport to see us off and one of them was my wife," he said. "But when we beat Oklahoma in their gym the day before my birthday, there were more than 3,000 fans waiting and they all sang 'Happy Birthday.'"

These are some of the memories of Fordy Anderson as he awaits his reassignment at Michigan State. But Anderson isn't a man who lives in the past--he's too busy preparing for his new job here.

"There are only two things on my mind right now," he said. "That's waiting for the new coach to arrive so I can hand over the scouting and recruiting reports, and waiting for Easter vacation so my wife and I can head to some warm country and a golf course."

Weightlifting Meet At IM

Strength will be emphasized Sunday afternoon in the IM Sports Arena when the MSU weightlifting club sponsors a "power-styled" weightlifting meet.

Considered a practice meet for future Spartan contests, the affair brings the Detroit YMCA, the Detroit Northeastern YMCA and the Three Rivers Bar Club to the MSU campus. Instead of the usual Olympic style of weightlifting, which calls for strength and form, honors will be given to team members who exhibit brute strength only.

Competing for State are Eddy Ellsworth, Steve Anderson, Dave Smith and Tom Drahnak.

A May 1 date at Indianapolis is scheduled as the first meet for the weightlifting club.

Short change (and a welcome one) is the annual change to short sleeve dress shirts. This kind of comfort is a tradition with us, so we're ready with a generous button-down selection of solid colors, stripes and white.

Will Success Spoil Spartan Track Team?

By ROBERTA YAFIE
State News Sports Writer

As spring came to the MSU campus and more students decided to switch to walking or biking to their classes rather than fight the bus crowds, the Spartan trackmen abandoned Jenison Field House for Ralph Young Field and the great outdoors.

Coming off a strong indoor season that saw Spartans tie and break nine varsity records as well as claim four individual Big Ten titles and one national crown, the cindermen look to be among the top contenders for the Big Ten and national titles when they take to the outdoor route in search of more records to smash.

Gene Washington led the charge, breaking records like a bull in a china shop. In the NCAA Meet, he established a new mark of 7.2 in the 60-yard high hurdles, as well as setting a Big Ten record in the 70-yd. low hurdles of 7.7. In the 65-yd. high hurdles he tied 8.0 record. The talented sophomore was the leading point scorer with 62.25 points to his credit.

Deswell Campbell tied Sperm Lewis' mark of 30.9 in the 300-yard dash in the conference meet, as Keith Coates took the mile title clocked at 4:09.5. The broad jump crown went to Jim Garrett with a leap of 24' 11". Garrett was NCAA runner-up in that event with a 24' 11-3/4" mark.

Clint Jones and Washington, both familiar faces on the gridiron, teamed with Bob Steele and Fred McKay to set new marks in the 200-yard and 240-yard shuttle hurdle relays of 25.7 and 28.9. The high jump went to Mike Bowers at 6'8", while Jones and Washington set an 8.4 mark in the 70-yard high hurdles.

Coach Fran Dittich's roster boasts six returning lettermen in Garrett, Kaines, McKay, Tom Herbert, Eric Zemper and Jan Bowen. Of the twenty-one sophomores listed, hurdlers Washington, Jones and Steele; Campbell and Jim Summers, sprinters; high jumper Bowers; middle-distance runners Coates and quarter-miler Cyrille Valiere look to be the Spartans' best prospects.

Regarding the indoor season as a whole, Dittich is very optimistic about its future. He remarked that it's up to his men to prove themselves and, if they do as successful a job as in the winter meeting, they should come out on top.

Their first opportunity comes April 17, when they travel to Columbus for the Ohio Relays.

Losing Pounds... But Gaining Points

By PHIL LOOMIS
State News Sports Writer

Combine the losing of 50 pounds from a 225-pound frame and a successful venture into fencing and what do you get?

To Mark Haskell, Neponsit, L.I., junior, it could mean a new outlook and philosophy of life.

Fencing was offered at Far Rockaway High School, where Haskell spent his prep days, but his size prevented him from participating in the sport.

Not until he was a freshman at Michigan State did he decide to "slim down" and participate in the sport.

After one week of lessons in sabre, as Haskell puts it, "I fell in love with the sport."

However, the extra weight was still with him, and he had to shed it. Through vigorous practice for two to three hours every day, Haskell took off the extra poundage. At the end of three months, he weighed a "mere" 175 pounds to go along with his 6' 2" frame.

Only a junior, fencing has already reaped its benefits for Haskell.

He explained that when he came to State he rarely dated and had few friends.

"Fencing has changed my life," he said. "Because of my winning record, I have more confidence now, and have become an extrovert rather than an introvert."

His deep interest and insight into the sport has found him relating it to classwork and business.

"There are very few things that can't be related to fencing in some way," he said.

He added, for instance, that in the classroom a teacher will suggest something in the way of research or other outside work.

"You can slough it off," he said, "but if you're interested, you must realize that it is up to you to dwell deeper in order to learn. You must work it out yourself. The seed has been planted, but the rest is up to you."

He went on to say that the same could be applied in the business world. When a fencer walks out onto the strip he must concentrate on out-thinking his opponent.

"You must make your opponent believe that you're better than he is before you even step out there," he said.

Haskell doesn't take all the credit for his changeover. He has had the opportunity of fencing under two of the world's best fencing maestros in George Santelli in New York and Charles Schmitter, his present coach.

"Mr. Schmitter is one of the finest maestros," he said, "in all respects. Having studied under Santelli, who is considered to be the best in the world, I would compare Mr. Schmitter to be as good if not better than he."

A 29-7 record this past season and a ninth-place finish in the NCAA meet proves his point.

Schmitter wanted to be the best when he was fencing, and he worked for it. He has instilled the same dedication in his fencers, Haskell feels.

"Schmitter teaches fencers the techniques of the game, and this way he feels they will be winners. While there may be many shortcuts, he prefers to stress an analytical approach.

Eventually, these fencers will be winners, and they will stick with the sport."

THE ICEMAN STAYETH--A trio of workers chip away at the ice on State's baseball diamond in an effort to get the field in playable condition for Saturday's double-header. Prospects are good if warm weather continues.

Saturday's Twin Bill Likely

The Spartan baseballers are still cooped up inside of the Men's IM building, but prospects of playing Saturday's scheduled doubleheader with Central Michigan have brightened with the succession of sunny days.

Assistant coach Frank Pellerin inspected the Old College Field Wednesday afternoon and pronounced the diamond nearly fit. A continuation of sunny days with warm winds will make the Central Michigan contest certain.

However, the final decision will not be made until as late as possible, probably tonight or Friday morning.

State was originally slated to open its home season today against Albion, but that game was postponed almost a week ago.

Coach Danny Litwhiler and Pellerin continue to hold practice indoors, which hasn't helped too greatly. Since returning from Florida, drills have been entirely inside.

The Spartans will carry a 10-3 season mark into the Central Michigan twin bill, thanks to one of their best spring training excursions in years. State toppled such baseball powers down South as Florida State, Duke, Wake Forest, Army and Florida.

Spring Trip, Weather Pale Tennis Outlook

By RICK PIANIN
State News Sports Writer

State tennis coach Stan Drobac might be described as anything but happy since returning with his team from its annual spring swing through the South where they compiled a 3-2 record.

Prior to the trip, he was jolted by the news that Dave Click and Bill Bremer, his two top players, had quit the team. Click, an honors college math major, decided to devote more time to his studies while Bremer simply "couldn't make it."

The two were expected to take over first and second singles spots left vacant by the graduation of Tom Jamieson and Tony O'Donnell.

Dwight Shelton and Charles Wolf have knotted up to fill the gap. Wolf was elected team captain Monday night.

The trip south was almost completely washed out by rain. "I wish I could have learned more about the team, but we just couldn't get in enough practice—it was raining all the time," lamented Drobac.

"If we could have played the Citadel match, I really think the team would have started to jell," continued Drobac, "but it rained three straight days."

His biggest disappointment came with State's double loss to North Carolina. "They were about the weakest team I've seen since we started going down there," he said.

Upon his return to East Lansing, Drobac was greeted by a snow storm. Consequently, the team has been practicing indoors at the IM. Weather permitting, challenge matches will be held outside today.

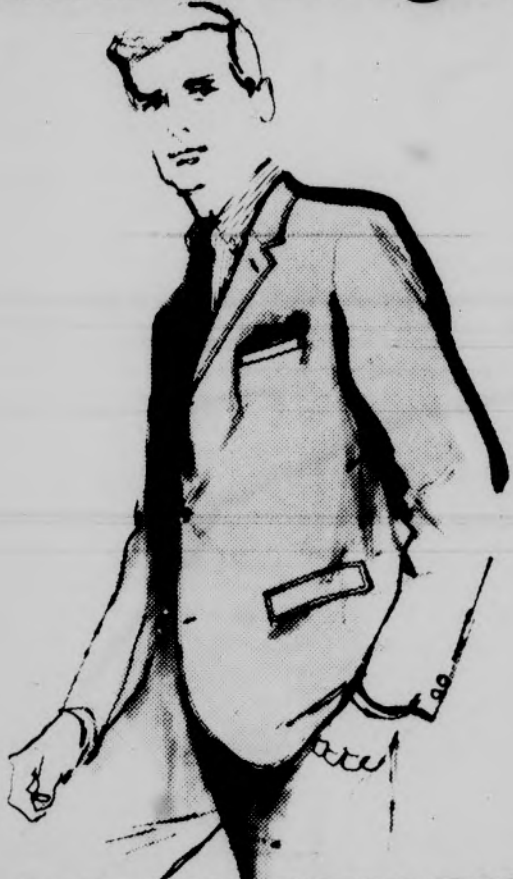

Other members of the squad include Vic Dhogge, Jim Phillips, Laird Warner and Harold Shelton.

The netters are preparing for a non-conference meet with Wayne State, April 20 in Detroit. Their first taste of Big Ten competition comes in a rough quadrangular meet with Indiana, Northwestern and Illinois, April 23-24 in Bloomington. Indiana is the defending Big Ten champion.

Last year the netters finished fourth in the Big Ten with a 6-3 record and 14-6 overall.

O'Neill Play Coming Soon

Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" will be presented by the University Theatre's Performing Arts Company April 20-25 in Fairchild Theatre.

The play, described by critics as O'Neill's most beautiful, is somewhat autobiographical. It explores parts of the author's own early home life and reveals the family background which influenced his talent.

Sidney Berger of the Department of Speech will direct the cast of graduate students including: Mary Hardwick, Williamston; C. David Colson, Detroit; J.E. Ferzacca, Lansing; Eberle Thomas, Tallahassee, Fla., and Linda Lashbrook, Detroit.

The story is told in the space of one day. The father's miserliness has brought about the mother's addiction to drugs and the brother's drunkenness. They are about to send the younger brother, a tubercular author, to a state sanatorium where his death will not cost them much.

Austrian Slides

Oscar Bock, professor of German, will be addressing the German Club at 7:30 tonight in 34 Union. Bock, a former lecturer at the University of Vienna, will discuss the cultural aspects of Austria.

Housing Proposal

been a study made on this subject before.

He also said that he felt increased enrollment would have a bearing as to whether more students would be permitted to live off campus.

Tittkemeyer said the new regulations would put more of a burden of responsibility on the student. He indicated that the University would be "concerned" with off-campus living, but would not look for any trouble.

He added that the University operates on a complaint system and would continue to do so.

"By and large," he said, "I feel we have a responsible student body and think they will act accordingly with these rules."

Tittkemeyer said there was no dissent within the Committee of Student Affairs concerning the rules, only changes in the actual wording.

"These regulations are the result of much thinking and deliberation," he said. "We on the committee are proud of these rules and feel they are in line with the current needs."

The statement issued by the Committee reads in part:

"... at Michigan State there is a need for diversity of housing depending upon the needs of individual students. As the student progresses through the University, he should be given an opportunity to experience different types of living situations.

"Students are expected to live in accordance with state and local laws; when such laws are violated it is of concern to both the local and University community."

"A student entering Michigan State University has agreed, as a condition of his admission, to observe the rules and regulations of the University."

Fishel Sees Escalation In Viet Nam

Wesley Fishel, political science professor at MSU, anticipates escalation of the war in Viet Nam within two weeks to range from stepped up terrorism to open invasion of South Viet Nam by the Viet Cong.

In a speech at the Earlham College Institute of Foreign Affairs at Richmond, Ind., Fishel characterized the Americans as "terribly impatient and expecting instant results from instant measures."

Fishel, once an advisor to the South Viet Nam government, expected increased activity by the Viet Cong. "It is too early to expect a few bombing raids, however destructive, to force the North Vietnamese to halt the war in South Viet Nam without some military response."

MSU Museum May Exhibit U-M 'Mascot'

MSU's museum may exhibit a captured wolverine, providing the University of Michigan does not object.

The wolverine was trapped and killed by a local trapper in the Rocky Mountains of western Montana, the closest area to Michigan where wolverines are found, according to Rollin H. Baker, museum director.

The wolverine, a three-foot long female, weighing between 30 and 40 pounds when alive, was donated to the museum by an official from the Department of Zoology of Montana State University.

Except for a few sub-fossil remains, there is little evidence that Michigan was ever the home of wolverines, says Baker.

Society To Show

Hitchcock Thriller

The MSU Film Society is sponsoring a public showing of Alfred Hitchcock's suspense thriller, "Notorious," Saturday in the Union Ballroom at 7 and 9 p.m.

All profits from the showing will be donated to the MSU Committee for Peace in Viet Nam to defray the cost of transportation for the April 17 protest march on Washington.

The film stars Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman. Admission is 50 cents for members and the public.

Former Student Laps The Map

A MSU graduate has recently won her flight stewardess "wings" with Pan-American Airways.

Miss Donna Marie Green, who majored in art and was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, received her initial stewardess training at Kennedy International Airport.

A message of importance to sophomore men

If you've got what it takes to be an Army Officer, you may qualify for this new on-campus training program

A new Army ROTC program starts this coming Summer for sophomore men who apply prior to May 1—only 3,000 applicants to be accepted

If you're a sophomore now attending one of the 247 colleges and universities that offer Army Officer training—or you plan to transfer to one of these schools next Fall—you may qualify for the new two-year Army ROTC program.

This new program—designed especially for college men who have not taken Army ROTC during their first two years—will commence with six weeks of field training this coming Summer, beginning June 14. Then you'll have on-campus training during your junior year . . . six additional weeks at camp during the following Summer . . . and more on-campus training during your senior year. Even flight training is offered at some schools.

ROTC training is really a process of learning to organize and direct others—to be a leader. Consider how important this ability can be to you throughout life; yet, to acquire it you will spend relatively little time in the ROTC classroom. You'll obtain valuable junior management experience . . . a fuller and richer campus life . . . extra spending money ($40 per month during your junior and senior school years, and even more during Summer training) . . . and, when you graduate, an Army Officer's commission as Second Lieutenant. Then you'll normally spend two interesting years on active duty, often abroad with opportunities for travel.

Talk to the Professor of Military Science on your campus about this opportunity. Ask him to describe this new short program in detail.

Or send in the coupon below for complete information. There's no obligation involved, and you'll not be subjected to any "hard sell" recruiting effort. The kind of men the Army wants can decide for themselves if this new opportunity is right for them.

If you're good enough to be an Army Officer, don't settle for less. Sign up now for Army ROTC.

Send in this coupon for more information on this new two-year on-campus Army Officer training program.

POINT
LANCE
by Sargent
Shriver

16 pages of illustrations
At all bookstores.
Cloth, $4.95. Paper, $1.45

"This book combines the vision and hardheaded, practical touch of its author, one of the ablest new figures in public life of our generation. It is a book to give courage and hope to the anxious and fearful, and to confirm the faith of those who see what a great future lies before mankind. If Sargent Shriver's ringing words could be read by millions—as I hope it will be—it would advance the cause of peace and tell Americans more about their true selves than any book I have seen in many a year. It is a distinguished and thoughtful book by a shining personality."

Educators Meet This Weekend

Romney Addresses MEA

Gov. George W. Romney is scheduled to address the 500-member Representative Assembly of the Michigan Education Assn. Friday when it meets at the Lansing Civic Center today through Saturday.

Other speakers will include Leroy Augenstein, chairman of the MSU Biophysics Department, and Charley Park of radio station WJR.

Major subjects of discussion during the assembly session will be enactment of a state professional practices act for educators; modernization of the MEA Camp near Battle Creek; and expansion of the MEA-backed Project for the Improvement of Instruction.

The assembly will also choose a president-elect for the 1966-67 term, nominate a state director of the National Education Assn. and make appointments to MEA commissions and committees.

A highlight of the session will be the banquet Friday where two distinguished service awards for outstanding contributions to Michigan education will be presented, as well as the "school bell" awards to communications media for outstanding work in interpreting education.

Presiding over the three-day convention will be Pres. Russell Jones, president-elect, of Grand Rapids, and Ray H. Lawson of Rochester.

Expense-Paid Study In Poland Offered By NSA

Students are eligible to apply for an all-expense paid year in Poland on a scholarship sponsored by the National Student Association (NSA).

The grant is part of a student exchange program with the Polish Students' Association and will be given to either an undergraduate or graduate student.

Selection will be made on knowledge of Polish or Russian acquaintance with Polish life and history and knowledge of American society. General study and advanced research projects will be considered equally.

NSA will pay full cost of travel and shipment of baggage from the winner's home to Poland and incidental expenses such as passport and inoculations.

The Polish Students' Association will pay expenses in Poland. Applications are available from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in 308 Student Services, or interested students may call Susan Rathbun, NSA co-ordinator, at 353-3161. Applications must be submitted before April 15.

Europe Tour Check Today

Persons signed up for the Union Board European flights are asked to meet with representatives of Craven Tours between 1-5 p.m. today in the Activities Office of the Union.

The meeting is required for those planning to fly to Europe on one of the three Union Board flights. Craven Tour representatives must check with each person to see that all final arrangements for the European trip are being made.

Each person must obtain a passport, international student identification and international driver's license. Also, arrangements must be made for car purchase or hiring and connecting flights in Europe.

'Delinquency'

Elv Shelley of the Michigan Department of Corrections will speak at the regular meeting of Phi Delta Kappa at 11:45 a.m. Friday in the dining room of North Campus Hall.

"White-Collar Juvenile Delinquency" will be the subject of Shelley's talk.

All graduate students and their friends are invited to attend.

Record Concert Slated For Friday

An evening record concert is being sponsored by the Humanities Department at 7 p.m. Friday in 114 Bessey Hall.

On the musical agenda for the evening will be Handel's Royal Fireworks Music, Secular Music of the Middle Ages, Scarlatti's "Sonatas for Harpsichord," Mozart's "Exsultate" and "Jubilate" and Milhaud's "Choe-phoree."

Wilson 'Wipeout' Planned

Pre-registration for Wilson Hall's first car rally, "Wilson Wipeout," is in progress this week.

Entries may be made at Campbell's truck in front of Berkey, Bessey, Conrad and Wilson Halls daily through Friday this week and all of next week.

The rally, to be held April 24, has prizes totaling $250. Starting times are from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the commuter parking lot at the corner of Mt. Hope and Farm Lane Roads. A wrist watch, pencils, paper and a working speedometer are required (map optional).

Anyone with a driver's license is eligible to drive. Freshmen regulations will be relaxed for the weekend. Cars are classified as American or foreign.

Fees are $1.25 per car and driver and per each additional person with profits going to the Russell Fink Scholarship Fund.

APO Installs Pledges, Officers

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, had its formal pledge ceremony for spring term Tuesday night.

Officer installation was also held for Ronald G. Aldridge, president; Thomas Taylor, vice-president; and Shelby Robertson, secretary.

MSU's 15-man delegation leaves for the Alpha Phi Omega State Convention at Western Michigan University this weekend.

The Man From Todd's

... always hustles in style

However you look at it, the "hustler" from Todd's is brilliantly dressed to win... whether with billiards or beauties. The Man From Todd's, Harry Ellman, Birmingham Freshman, seems sure to score high in his All-Wool Sports Coat (from 21.95) and button-down Oxford shirt (3.98). Coordinated slacks to match (from 9.98). Pretty Aileen Baldwin, Royal Oak Freshman never realized billiards could be so much fun-until she met The Man From Todd's.

Johnson Policy Speech

and he said "We hope that peace will come swiftly"--Johnson asserted:

"Such peace demands an independent South Viet Nam--securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationships to all others--free from outside interference--tied to no alliance--a military base for no other country."

"These are the essentials of any final settlement."

The President said, "There may be many ways to this kind of peace: In discussion or negotiations with the governments concerned, in large groups or in small ones, in the reaffirmation of old agreements or their strengthening with new ones."

Johnson said this position has been stated more than 50 times to friends and foe alike, and added, "We remain ready--with this purpose--for unconditional discussions."

Until the war is settled, Johnson said, "we will try to keep conflict from spreading."

Stating the United States has no desire to see thousands of Asians or Americans die in battle nor to devastate North Viet Nam, he pledged:

"We will use our power with restraint and with all the wisdom we can command. But we will use it."

In discussing U.S. air strikes against the Communist North, Johnson said "It became necessary to increase our response and make attacks by air" because, he said, "In recent months attacks on South Viet Nam were stepped up."

"This is not a change of purpose. It is a change in what we believe that purpose requires."

While on campus, Prudy devoted herself to sorority and all-University activities such as Water Carnival, Spinnin' Spin, Union Board and President's Council. She was also vice president of her pledge class and assistant pledge trainer.

An Honors College student, she became a member of four honoraries: Mortar Board, Alpha Lambda Delta, Tau Sigma and Tower Guard.

Jim devotes much of his spare time to student government. He is director of the Organizations Bureau. Although the bureau is not very vocal, Jim feels it makes important contributions.

"We supervise and assist in the largest organized segment of our campus," he said. "Over 8,000 students belong to some organization on campus. With the Office of Student Affairs, we help with the organizing and chartering of organizations and keep up-to-date files on them."

Seniors Of The Week

2 Greek Leaders Active On Campus

Prudy Baum of Grosse Pointe and Jim Simpson of Bloomfield Hills are this week's seniors of the Week.

Prudy, who has served as president of Pi Beta Phi sorority among other activities, is presently teaching at the Michigan School for the Blind in Lansing.

Because she is a special education major, Prudy has had to spend two terms off-campus as a student teacher. She spent winter term teaching at a Detroit elementary school. After two terms away, she misses campus life. "So many times last term I wished I could hop in the car and come up," she said. "You miss the vitality of campus life plus doing something for the University."

The bureau also publishes the "Directory of Student Organizations" and, with the administration, "Sparta Guide, it is responsible for the student government section of the "Spartan Handbook," he said. It also runs Activities Carnival.

Jim has held several offices in Psi Upsilon Fraternity. He was assistant rush chairman, public relations chairman, corresponding secretary, secretary, rush chairman, pledge trainer and assistant editor of the fraternity's publication, "Diamond."

His other activities include Inter-Fraternity Council, AUSG executive cabinet, Student-Faculty Social Affairs Committee and '65 Club. He was chairman of the 1964 Activities Carnival.

Recently accepted at Wayne State University Law School, Jim hopes to go into international maritime law.

"It is the most equitable of all laws," he said. "Liability is assessed by the degree of fault on both sides."

NANCY KAY LaLONDE

MSU Senior Full Of Cheer

Nancy Kay LaLonde, Midland senior and MSU cheerleader, has been nominated to compete for the title of Miss Cheerleader USA in a nationwide contest being conducted by Cypress Gardens, Fla.

Miss LaLonde, a mathematics and statistics major, is student teaching this term.

If she is among the five finalists, she will travel to Cypress Gardens to compete for the title and a scholarship awarded by the U.S. Cheerleaders' Association.
