The East Lansing City Council Monday night heard a demand from several campus groups for immediate action on an open occupancy ordinance in the city, but refused to take any action at the meeting.

In what appeared to be an attempt to stall the "escalation" of the local civil rights issue threatened by the groups, the council referred their statement to the East Lansing Human Relations Commission.

About 75 members of the Campus NAACP, the Committee for Student Rights, the East Lansing Action Committee and the Canterbury Club attended the meeting, in the courtroom of the new City Hall.

A three-page statement was read by Michael Price, East Lansing junior, and was explained by Byron Peterson, Peckskill, N.Y., junior and NAACP president.

The statement charged that the city has overlooked its responsibility to take legal action on many acknowledged cases of discrimination in housing in the city affecting students, faculty members, local professional people and others.

The statement called on the city to act immediately to insure individuals the right to purchase homes in East Lansing without regard to race, religion or national origin, and to protect students' ability to rent rooms on an equal basis, as well as to prevent realtors from handling discriminatory listings.

Peterson said "there is no need to constantly bring up the housing issue in the same old words and phrases." He warned that if action is not taken soon a racial crisis could occur in East Lansing, "probably by September."

The students debated with Mayor Gordon L. Thomas, an MSU professor of speech, over the role of the Human Relations Commission. The commission, last May, recommended passage of an ordinance similar to that sought by the students, but the council took no action on the recommendation.

"If the commission was as effective as it should be," Peterson said, "we wouldn't be here." Following the meeting Peterson and Price both said that further direct action can be expected from the groups if the city does not respond favorably.

"A chapter in civil rights history will be written here," Price said. "It will be written by the council or by us, but it will be written."

New Boss Denies Red Influence

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (P)--Sworn in by the rebels as provisional President, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno declared Tuesday "at no moment" had his revolutionary movement fallen into Communist hands.

"We will not tolerate a dictatorship of either the right or the left," he told a news conference after several thousand Dominicans attended the swearing in ceremony in Independence Park in rebel territory.

Asked about the presence of U.S. troops in Santo Domingo, he replied: "No sovereign government will permit the presence of foreign troops in its territory after the situation has been normalized."

In his acceptance speech, Caamano said that ex-president Juan Bosch, overthrown in September of 1963 by a military coup, "will give up all his rights and congress will be free to elect a constitutional president."

At the news conference, however, he said he wants to call an election after the end of Bosch's constitutional term in February of 1967.

The Caamano forces launched their revolution April 24 in an attempt to restore Bosch to the presidency.

Caamano said that the rebel forces have been organized into groups of about 10 men each, with a military commander at the head of each group. He said his forces consist of 20,000 armed civilians and 27,000 military troops. U.S. military sources estimated the rebel strength at 12,000 armed civilians led by about 400 rebel military men.

Caamano said half of the troops are Army men and the remainder are from the Navy, Marines, National Police, Air Force and cadets of the Army and Navy.

Hannah Discusses Policies On Expansion, Housing

By JIM STERBA
Administration Writer

President John A. Hannah poured a half-glass of ice-water, took a sip, and answered questions put to him by students for nearly two hours Monday at Brody Hall.

The questions, submitted on index cards, ranged from the ultimate size of MSU to whether there really is a $25 fine for molesting ducks. Hannah commented on them all. The "no holds barred" session, as the President termed it, was sponsored by the men of Armstrong Hall and open to all students. About 150 students attended.

EXPANSION

Q: What are MSU's expansion plans?

A: MSU will continue to expand as need dictates. Currently in the works are library expansion, administration, forestry, social science, communication arts, food science, and classroom buildings. The Administration Building will be located where the Power Plant is now located. The classroom building will be MSU's largest and will house math, statistics ed, it will be built south of Wilson Hall.

Q: Is the administration doing all it can to improve the library?

A: "We are making an all-out plea to the legislature to get funds to expand the library."

HOUSING

Q: Will MSU get a medical school?

A: Possibilities are good. I hope we can admit students in the fall of 1966.

Q: Will there be a limit on the size of MSU?

A: There will be an arbitrary limit. The Board of Trustees has said we will take our share of students. I don't expect this University will have over 40,000 students in the foreseeable future. We will never reach 100,000, I hope. The "war babies" have been expected. Enrollment increases should level off to about 5 percent a year starting next year.

Congress Votes LBJ Confidence

WASHINGTON (P)--President Johnson asked Congress for a $700 million vote of confidence Tuesday to show the world that this country is ready to "walk the last mile" against the spread of communism.

Johnson called members of key congressional committees to the White House for a review of the fighting in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. He told them that approval of the extra funds would demonstrate a "firm and irrevocable commitment" to halt Communist aggression.

Acknowledging there is no actual need for the money at this time, Johnson said a vote in support of his request would say to the rest of the world:

"We are going to spend every dollar, take every action, walk the last mile, to see that peace is restored, that people not only in the Dominican Republic but in Viet Nam have the right to self-determination and will not be gobbled up in the 20th century just because they are smaller than some of the nations that adjoin them."

With some few exceptions, congressional leaders responded enthusiastically and hastened back to Capitol Hill to start whipping the money bill through their committees.

"Whatever he needs, he's going to get it as far as I'm concerned," said Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

"We've got to pay whatever is necessary," said Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"We are 100 per cent behind the President," said Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., House Appropriations Committee chairman.

House Republicans already had invited Johnson in effect to ask for more military funds. Going even further than his party's policy committee, house GOP leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said in a statement Monday:

"Our nation's fight against communism in the Dominican Republic and Southeast Asia virtually demands that the President immediately come to Congress for a supplement to the military budget ..."

Johnson barely gave the Senate and House leaders time to get back to their stations before he sent them a formal message outlining his request.

Marines Beat Off Viet Cong Attack

SAIGON (UPI)--U.S. Marines sank three boatloads of Communist guerrillas in a clash near the Da Nang Air Base Tuesday, and 108 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes destroyed a munitions train and a ferry in North Viet Nam.

The Marines threw tanks, infantry and jet air planes into the battle. Three Marines were wounded in the fighting near the defense perimeter of the coastal air base. Marine Phantom jet fighter planes swooped over the battle area and pilots reported sinking three boatloads of Viet Cong guerrillas. The Communists had taken to the sea to escape the Marine ground action.

The Marines took the offensive in the battle when a Leatherneck armored column moved into a Viet Cong-controlled village where an undetermined number of Marine infantrymen had been missing since an ambush Monday.

The wounded Marines were evacuated by helicopter. Military sources said at least one Communist guerrilla was believed killed in the ground action. Three guerrillas were captured.

American and Vietnamese military intelligence sources in Da Nang said the presence of and the offensive taken by the U.S. Marines upset the Communist timetable for a military offensive in the northernmost provinces of South Viet Nam. They said the offensive was due to begin at the outset of the monsoon season.

Auto Crash Proves Fatal To Coed, 20

Margaret S. Craul

Margaret Sisson Craul, 20, a junior in dietetics and a member of Sigma Kappa sorority, died Tuesday in St. Lawrence Hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident April 24.

Mrs. Craul, of 623 Vernon Ave., Lansing, was employed as a dietitian at St. Lawrence Hospital.

She was injured in a three-car collision at Michigan Avenue and Logan Street, Lansing. The car in which she was a passenger was driven by her husband, Glenn D. Craul, 21, a junior pre-law student, Lansing police said.

They said she had not regained consciousness since the accident.

The other two cars involved in the accident were driven by Max G. Grenges, 20, of 801 E. Mt. Hope Ave., and Anthony W. Fedewa, 39, of 839 N. Jenison Ave.

Craul has since recovered from his injuries. Grenges and Fedewa were unhurt, police said.

Mrs. Craul was born May 24, 1944, in New Zealand. She is survived by her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Sisson, two sisters, and a brother.

The body is at the William Sullivan Funeral Home, 705 W. Eleven Mile Road, Royal Oak. Mass will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of LaSalette Church, Royal Oak.

Blood Donations Lag; Munn Calls For Help

"Help!" said Biggie Munn, and he wasn't talking about the basketball team.

The blood drive isn't going as well as usual. Only 342 pints of blood have been donated in the first two days of the drive compared to 737 the first two days last spring.

"We've never fallen down in this program yet, and we don't want to start now," Munn said.

"As it's going now, we will collect far less than ever before and there are more students now than before," Mrs. Joann Newman, blood-coordinator for the Ingham-Eaton County chapter of the American Red Cross, said.

Blood is being collected here for 78 hospitals in 36 counties, Mrs. Newman said. All of the Red Cross units are here now. They must collect a minimum of 1,585 pints this week to supply the needs of these hospitals.

An MSU student will be given blood free of charge anywhere in the county whether he has been a donor or not. This is one of a few regions where everyone is given blood free and where students are considered residents of the region, according to Mrs. Newman.

Blood costs $25-$5 elsewhere, depending on blood type and location. No one is ever charged for blood in this region.

"This is as worthy a cause as any that students have been demonstrating for recently," Mrs. Newman said. "If you want to help your fellow man, this is your chance."

The blood drive center in Demonstration Hall will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. today.

Thirty pints of type "O positive" blood will be collected today from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. for open heart surgery.

"C'MON, BLEED"--That seems to be what William Lensch, New York, N.Y., sophomore, is telling Gary Puryear, Eaton Rapids junior, as he threatens him with his bayonet. The reason is that Puryear apparently has not given blood in the campus blood drive. Norman Malley, Lakeland sophomore, stands ready to lend a hand if Puryear resists Lensch's "gentle persuasion."

800 Foreign Students

Benson Solves 'Family' Ills

Editor's Note: To promote the observance of International Cooperation Week, the State News is presenting this, the last in a series on MSU's program in international affairs.

By SYED T. HUSSAIN
International Affairs Writer

August Benson, foreign students adviser, says he enjoys tackling the many problems of the students representing 85 countries--300 Asians, 100 Africans, 175 Middle Eastern, 50 Europeans, 26 Latin Americans, and 150 Canadians at MSU.

He said, "my 'family' has doubled during the last five years, and trebled during the last decade. At present there are over 800 foreign students on the campus, forming about 3 per cent of the total 30,000 students."

Further analyzing the situation, he said two-thirds of the foreign students are at the graduate level, and the balance are either in undergraduate studies or in language courses. At an average, these students stay at MSU for two to three years.

Starting as an agricultural institution, MSU has now grown into a big seat of learning imparting knowledge in all fields, but specializing in Agriculture, engineering and natural sciences. The developing nations, Benson said, draw heavily on MSU's knowledge and the facilities which it can provide in technical fields.

He proudly said the University is fifth among the Big Ten institutions, and thirteenth nationally in providing educational facilities to foreign students.

Describing his work, he enumerated the following points:

1. Orientation--Helping in the introduction of America to these students. Coming from distant lands, different social orders, America is a new world for most of the students. Orientation helps in building up the initial adjustments.

2. Immigration services--Introducing these students to different laws of the country, and extending cooperation in solving difficulties arising out of the ignorance of the law.

3. Financial--Very often students need financial assistance to replenish the not-too-sufficient assistance which they receive from their countries. In some cases they run short due to improper budgeting of their expenses. In all such cases the advisor's office helps students get scholarships, assistantships and part-time jobs.

4. Services--On coming to a new country a student is faced with a variety of problems, including that of housing and like issues. Assistance in such cases is effectively provided.

5. Community relations--To assimilate into a new society one needs quick association with the people. Introduction to host families is provided to expedite the process.

6. Co-ordination among students--This phase of students is very important. Unless there is a complete co-ordination between different sections of the student community, the growth of the institution is retarded. The advisor's office helps the growth of nationality clubs and arranges inter-group relations through various academic, social and cultural activities.

7. Personal counseling--A review of a student's academic activities is essential for making the visit a success. The academic problems of the students are discussed and a liaison between the academic advisors and the students is established to solve the bottlenecks.

8. Academic--Helping aca-

Negro Author Lomax To Appear Saturday

Among the speakers coming here Saturday for a conference on "The Problem of the Negro Man With Respect to the Negro in America" will be Negro author Louis E. Lomax.

The day-long meeting, sponsored by MSU's chapter of the American Studies Association, will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the main Anthony auditorium. It is open to the public.

Discussion at the conference will center on the reactions and responsibilities of whites to the American Negro.

Lomax, author of "The Negro Revolt," will speak at 10 a.m. Also scheduled to address the meeting are novelist-essayist John O. Killens and Burton I. Gordin, executive director of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

Gordin will talk at 11:30 a.m., and Killens will speak at 2 p.m. Also scheduled is a 3:30 p.m.

panel discussion by the meeting's main speakers.

A native of Georgia, Lomax has been a teacher, newspaper reporter and television newsman and producer. His other book is "The Reluctant African," winner of the 1960 Amisfield Wolf-Saturday Review Award.

Killens is currently author-in-residence at Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn. He has authored two novels--"Youngblood" and "And Then We Heard the Thunder"--and written for both television and motion pictures. His screen credits include "Odds Against Tomorrow," a movie starring Harry Belafonte.

He also serves as chairman of the Harlem Writers Guild Workshop.

A former executive director of the Philadelphia Human Rights Commission, Gordin has served with the Michigan commission since April, 1964.

With The Scent Of Magnolias In The Air

A "moral confrontation" parallel to those of the Southern civil rights movement took place at the East Lansing City Council meeting Monday night, and the results were not much different from what might have been expected if East Lansing were really the Southern town Monday's weather made it seem.

The council rebuffed the attempt of several campus groups to push for immediate action toward an open occupancy ordinance in the city as though it were a call for equal voting rights presented to the Alabama legislature. The council's steadfast refusal to be perturbed by the group's statements was as revealing of its immovability as was its legalistic referral of their demands to the city Human Relations Commission.

One of the presenters of the proposals had to remind the council that "if the commission was as effective as it should be, with power behind it, we wouldn't be here." But the City Council, as if looking for a surrogate literacy test, refused to admit any course of action was open to it other than referring the proposals to the commission.

"The commission has the power to recommend," Mayor Gordon L. Thomas said. He admitted only after some pressure that the commission last May recommended passage of an open occupancy ordinance, but its request was ignored by the council.

The previous recommendation was almost voted on, but the council voted instead not even to have it passed upon by the city attorney. It was referred back to the Human Relations Commission, where it was lost.

The Southern image was completed Monday night when Mrs. Mary Sharp—who won election to the council last month on the strength of her position that the discrimination in East Lansing cannot be cured by ordinances—asked only if the recent cases cited in the groups' statement had been referred to the state Civil Rights Commission. Mrs. Sharp is the "liberal" councilman.

There was no defense of the statement, no request for more information, no concession. Only straight, somber faces lined the council table in the new City Hall.

The four groups represented Monday asked for immediate development of "a well planned and systematic program for eliminating discrimination in the area of sales and rentals with a legal statement embodying this program." Their request is reasonable and overdue, in view of the general recognition that some strong policy is needed to end unfair housing practices here.

Mayor Thomas -- he seemed almost to drawl -- said only that "we have considerable faith" in the Human Relations Commission, even though "it may not be fast enough for some people."

The Human Relations Commission, somewhat reluctant itself to take a strong enough stand, has been kept powerless except as a recommending body, and has not been heeded when it has recommended.

It is time for a change in East Lansing. Leaders of the groups which presented the proposals Monday night state flatly that if East Lansing's racial climate is not improved soon this city could turn into a "hot" center of racial conflict, be it North or South. They are not bluffing.

These students no longer want to work alone. They have made moves to bring national attention to the problem here, and will do so unless the city indicates a willingness to cooperate.

As much as Birmingham, Selma or Jackson, Miss., East Lansing has it in its power to avoid racial conflict, but it must make positive moves to do so, and not be content to relax under the magnolia trees waiting for the heat wave to end.

But Seriously . . .

Sphere Of Affluence

By DON SOCKOL

Governor Rockefeller of New York announced early Monday that he had ordered a detachment of 4,500 New York State marines onto the campus to "protect New York lives and property in the strife-torn East Lansing community."

Radio Free Michigan monitored the broadcast, made shortly after President John F. Kennedy's announcement outlining the University government's new policy toward nationals of other states.

Meanwhile, 9,500 New York troops were on the campus with the mission of protecting New Yorkers and other foreigners and evacuating all those who wished to leave.

"I don't think New Yorkers expect their Governor to hesitate—or vacillate—in the face of danger just because the decision is hard," Rockefeller said.

Local New Yorkers expressed shock at Hannah's announcement, curtailing severely the number of New York students to be accepted in the future.

"I just don't understand," said one New Yorker.

"I've been here since I started college. I've come to consider myself a Michigander. I even thought seriously of applying for Michigan citizenship. And then this thing happened."

One coed was so overcome with emotion that the only reaction she was capable of was sitting on the steps of her dorm sobbing over and over again, "Oh my God, my God...."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rev. King Is Coming To Town

To the Editor:

I am writing in reaction to the very stimulating article on the picketing of an East Lansing home recently.

Mrs. Gibson remarked that her church group said prayers for her "to help me through my days of trouble." I hope this diligent little church group (while its concern for Mrs. Gibson is touching) is saying prayers for all the Negroes in America who cannot find decent places to live and raise their children!

Mrs. Gibson says, "His awful hard to take to be treated this way." This has precisely been the Negro's cry from the day his life began in America. And if Mrs. Gibson has never really thought too much about the racial problem, then she (and any other American who stands by indifferently) has something against Negroes.

I will be very happy when Martin Luther King begins his circuit riding. Oh, what nasty little things he is going to find in the North! Many idealists wouldn't dream of lynching a Negro, but their indifference and subtle discrimination can do just as much harm for the Negro's cause.

King himself said in a recent Newsweek article: "Selma, Alabama, isn't right—but Baltimore isn't right either, and New York City isn't right."

Didn't anybody listen when the Rev. Andrew Young spoke here not too long ago? A man from the audience asked Young what we of the North could do to help the racial situation (implying the Selma situation) and Young told him that the North could begin right here, revising its real estate laws.

One man interviewed at the scene of the picketing in East Lansing said that he did not think that picketing was the way to solve the problem. Picketing is a non-violent method; does he know what the alternative is?

The Rev. Young stated that at least in the South you may have 2,000 angry Negroes, but they will be spread out over a 400-mile area.

Here, in the North, we will have 2,000 angry, hot Negroes concentrated on the south side of Detroit.

Library Fine

To the Editor:

Now that President Hannah has clearly explained the administrative and fiscal procedures involved in improving the MSU Library (State News, Thursday, April 29) we suggest that the boys and girls who wish to participate in protests and demonstrations take their placards a few miles down the street to the state legislature where possibly some good can be done.

If you find that you are still unable to get the books you need, you could try the inter-library loan.

Harry A. Whitaker
Peter A. Edmunds
Norman A. Beck
William K. Riley

And they won't be standing around chanting that it is awful hard to take to be treated this way; they aren't going to take it any more! It may be pretty hot this summer. Personally, I prefer picket signs to rifles.

I hope that all the people involved in this recent incident will think about it and learn from it because King's comin' and we'd all better put our houses in order. And if his great man, Martin Luther King, is able to continue his work, then none of us will have to feel ashamed and admit that "the Southern Way has been the American Way" for far too long --(quote from Harper's Magazine, April, 1965).

The Coaches With The Mostest

To the Editor:

The Graduate School professor who "logically" concludes that MSU should give up big-time intercollegiate football must be a Commie agitator, an objectivist, or some other type of bad, awful fink. Such a nefarious individual deserves drowning in the Red Cedar at best (sometime late during summer quarter).

Let's face it -- who, in his right mind, could possibly advocate any action that might curtail ANY MSU activity?

While granting that said anonymous professor may be living in the right time, he is certainly not living in the right place. In keeping with MSU's "MORE and BIGGER" policy, a more likely proposal would entail MSU increasing its participation in big-time football.

The Professor suggests that MSU follow the intelligent moves of other universities and be "one-up" over our Ann Arbor friends. But this approach is completely incompatible with the above-mentioned philosophy.

Instead, why not go "two-up" by fielding several football teams? Instead of being first in the state and a mere follower nationally, MSU could be really FIRST. Rationality need not be tested here -- it is not an integral part of our philosophy -- the main thing is that we'd be FIRST with the MOST!

If a lot of little "dinky" schools

God's Little Acher

To the Editor:

Reading about Mrs. Gibson's church group of women praying for her was the most repulsive example I have ever heard of religious hypocrisy.

Did the Christ she believes in ever have his disciples pray that he might be cleansed while rubbing shoulders with all the types and races of the world's people?

In the area where he was born all men were dark and swarthy. It follows that he would have been too. What a terrible realization for Mrs. Gibson!

If this is the brand of brotherly love their little gatherings of 27 thrive on, it's no wonder our age is brimming over with religious cynicism!

Now we can not only conjure up a God of separate religious sects (supposedly able to tolerate us all), but we can outpray certain races, and perhaps whites will become part of God's little "in" group.

Campus Summary

The Right To Dissent HaHa

By Michael Kindman

For almost the first time, part of Michigan State's student body is acting like a normal bunch of hot-blooded, idea-ridden young adults.

A small but growing core of "rebel-types" has developed-- despite suspicious looks from much of the University community and open statements of contempt from many people in high places-- and has demonstrated, and taught in, and picketed, and marched, and written, and distributed, and proposed, and demanded, and threatened.

There is more than ample proof that MSU for too long has lacked this important aspect of education and is now unused to what it is finding in its midst.

The good-natured kidding of the organizers, no less than the "Red-baiting" tactics of certain (mythical?) administrators, indicates that people here are not used to seeing ideas thus expressed. If it can't be said in legal terminology or in a term paper, the critics seem to say, it shouldn't be said at all. Nonsense.

I needn't go into the long history of public expression of dissatisfaction and of constitutional protection of it to state with impunity that this form of protest is basic to democracy. But worthy of note is the atmosphere of suspicion with which protests are too often regarded here and the reluctance and hypocrisy with which they are defended.

President Hannah told a group last week that students must have the right of dissent, but must be protected from outside influences and from the evils of using tactics that have been used before. This sounds fine until one tries to protest anything without using outside information sources, or tries to come up with some completely original tactic.

Then there is Hannah's statement, repeated several times in recent days, about "upholding traditional values." His statements seem not a defense but an undermining of students' rights to speak up.

Hannah seemed embarrassed last week when he told the legislature that students here "are as concerned as we are" about a better library. He didn't seem to want the cooperation, for that is what it is, of the students whose right to ideas he was claiming to defend.

Hannah said he would listen to any responsible student who wanted to speak to him.

Remember last term when he wouldn't speak to members of the Committee for Student Rights? CSR now has taken responsibility to protest housing discrimination in East Lansing, something with which Hannah must agree.

Attacks on the position of one man, however, even if that man is president of the University, do not get to the heart of the matter.

At issue is the fact that there are more and more students here who want to claim their right to grow up questioning and going through "an unnumbered search for values" as CSR's declaration of purpose says. They are not being allowed to do this when their protests are greeted even by friendly jokes and by assertions that they are just out for a good time.

If the protestors are out for a good time, why not? So are the Greek Weekers and the Water Carnival crowd, to say nothing of the May Morning Singers and the South Campus Weekenders. All are students and all want to enjoy themselves.

But who is saying more, and showing more serious thought about real issues?

The number of issues being protested by a relatively small group does not show that the group loves to demonstrate for the sake of demonstrating (or, as Hannah said, to cause "unprincipled" dissent for the sake of dissent), but rather that the people in the group have a lot of complaints, and not enough allies to provide them anonymity when they switch issues.

The violent reaction last term to the alleged assertion that Communists ("The Three") are behind the student rights protest here shows that many people recognize paranoia when they see it. It wouldn't take much more vision for the same people who reacted last time to see now that the development of social and political action groups here is a result of real conviction and not proof that students have been duped.

Michigan State is more than ready for this realization, long since taken for granted at many schools. It will find that dissent is not so bad, as long as the critics of dissent remain principled.

Talking Demonstration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Congress members had demonstrations on their minds Sunday and their widely varying assessments included these views:

"Demonstrations are lawless...an insurrection"—Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

"(Demonstrations) have filled a very useful purpose"—Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill.

"The time has come to raise some questions about demonstrations"—Rep. Owen Harris, D-Ark.

"I can't imagine where (Martin Luther) King gets his funds to pay so many marchers"—Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La.

The four voiced their thoughts separately in various ways, Thurmond and Harris in news letters to constituents, Douglas in Metromedia's television program "Opinion in the Capital" and Ellender on Radio Press International's "From the People."

Cambodia Sets Terms

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia--Prince Norodom Sihanouk Tuesday presented his conditions for the re-establishment of diplomatic relations between Cambodia and the United States.

The Cambodian government announced Monday it had severed diplomatic relations with Washington. The move climaxed two years of U.S.-Cambodian friction, arising mainly from U.S. policy in Viet Nam and Cambodia's developing ties with Communist China.

SIHANOUK

China Blasts Soviet Union

TOKYO--Communist China Tuesday accused Russia of lack of faith in the Vietnamese Communists and said the Soviets are "scared out of their wits" by United States military strength.

The attack on Moscow came in an editorial in Red Flag, the theoretical publication of the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party.

Steel Report Draws Doubt

PITTSBURGH--A government report suggesting that the steel industry could raise wages by 3 per cent without hiking prices drew guarded reaction Tuesday from the companies and the United Steelworkers Union.

"It's a political thing. It's only purpose is to keep down the cost of any eventual agreement and create a climate in which settlement can be reached," said an informed union source.

Reactor To Feed Self

SEABORG

MIAMI BEACH--Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg said Tuesday the Atomic Energy Commission is developing a variety of reactors which will produce more nuclear fuel than they consume.

These reactors, Seaborg told the Edison Electric Institute at its annual convention, are called "low-gain breeders" or "high-gain breeders," depending on their efficiency.

France Backs Communists

GENEVA--France sided with the Communist bloc Tuesday in an unsuccessful attempt to oust Nationalist China and give Red China its seat in the U.N. World Health Organization (WHO).

The move came at the opening session of the 18th General Assembly of the organization shortly after last year's assembly president had appealed to delegates to steer clear of political issues.

'Johnson Doctrine' Rejected

UNITED NATIONS--Uruguay Tuesday rejected the "Johnson Doctrine" that revolutions cease to be domestic matters and require hemispheric action when their object is to create a Communist government.

In a sharp break with Washington's policy almost without U.N. public precedent, Uruguay Ambassador Carlos Marie Velazquez told the Security Council that President Johnson sent U.S. troops into the Dominican Republic without authorization of the Organization of American States (OAS).

El Salvador Death Toll Mounts

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador--Death estimates of Monday's minuscule earthquake, one of the worst in El Salvador's history, reached 125 Tuesday. At least 500 were injured.

New, minor tremors shook the area Tuesday but there were no new casualties or damage. About 1,000 families were evacuated from their homes after Monday's severe shock.

Management Called Key To Stock Buying

Investors should be advised to look at the "quarterback," the personality who is the backbone of a firm, before buying stock, a Harvard educated financial researcher said here Tuesday.

"The product approach is superficial," George Nicholson, research associate of Smith-Hague of Detroit, told the MSU Men's Club. "Products are subject to cyclical change but an industry as a whole is subject to the quality of its management," he said.

After a prospective investor finds a well-managed organization he should try to see whether his stock will give him at least a 3 per cent gain during good times for every one per cent of loss during bad times.

The Cold War would seem to produce financial instability yet the evidence of great progress exists," Nicholson said.

"America seems to be unique in having such paradoxes," Nicholson added. The ability to combine the doctrines of state and federal rights in the Constitution is an example of this, he said.

City Plans

Council Gets Budget, Discusses Pool Bond

East Lansing's proposed budget for the 1965 fiscal year was presented to the City Council at its meeting Monday night.

John M. Patriarche, city manager, recommended an increase over last year's budget of $1,964,845. Final action on the budget will be taken at the next council meeting, May 17, Mayor Gordon L. Thomas said.

Fifty-two per cent of the primary revenues, $1.02 million, to finance the budget must come from property taxes, Patriarche said. Other major sources of revenue are state sales tax, gas and weight tax and contracts with MSU.

Expenditures will consist of salaries, wages, and personnel costs, $967,767; operating expenses, $580,177; new equipment and capital improvements, $416,901.

Public safety and enforcement is an area of major increase. A $114,000 increase will be provided for additional firemen, policemen and inspection.

Suggestions for an East Lansing outdoor swimming pool were presented to the council by Arthur Kramer of the pool planning committee. He said a pool is definitely needed for the growing city.

A bond, to finance the pool, will be presented to East Lansing voters soon, he said. The cost will be about $250,000. Present plans call for the pool to be located in the city park on Alton Road.

Most students feel scared and awed when they receive their bachelor's degree. They realize not how much but how little they know.

the value of a master's degree is reaped in self-confidence as well as in the $50-$100 a month higher salaries.

Anybody with a 3.0 average should go to graduate school, he said. There is competition among schools for top talent.

The "plan early, apply now for college" tune that was played all through high school now applies to graduate school.

By autumn of a student's senior year he should have made the following steps:

1. Narrowed his range of choice to four or five graduate schools.

2. Written an intellectual autobiographical essay. This essay should be about 1,000 words long and in it the student should discuss his intellectual interests, how they developed, and where they seem to be leading.

3. Earned $75. It costs a minimum of $75 to apply and to take

MSU Scientists Honored

MSU's top research scientists will be honored tonight at the annual banquet of the MSU chapter of Sigma Xi scientific society.

Highlight of the event, which begins at 6:30 p.m. in Kellogg Center, will be announcement of the chapter's senior award winner for outstanding research. The recipient will deliver the main address.

The junior award, already announced, will go to Carl H. Brubaker Jr., professor of chemistry.

The senior and junior awards, made to men over and under 40 years old, include prizes of $100 each. They are the highest honors conferred by MSU scientists.

Special guests at the meeting will be 139 new Sigma Xi initiates, plus four charter members of MSU's chapter, established more than 35 years ago.

The four include George J. Bouyoucos, professor emeritus of soil science; Marie Dye, dean emerita of home economics; Vernon Grove, professor of mathematics; and Elroy J. Miller, professor emeritus of agricultural chemistry.

New officers of Sigma Xi, to be installed at the banquet, include president, John E. Cantlon, professor of botany; vice president, Joseph Meites, professor of physiology; secretary, Donald DeZeeuw, professor of botany; and treasurer, Elwyn R. Miller, associate professor of animal husbandry.

'S' Recruiting Race: First Returns 'Favorable'

Cagers Get 6-11 Lick; Johnson Withdraws

By DUANE LANCASTER
State News Sports Writer

Joe Johnson, probably the only Big Ten basketball player to compete in just seven games and still become the fifth highest scorer on an MSU team, has enlisted in the Air Force, but State's recruiting staff could also be "up in the air" with the success they've had so far.

Spartan coaches took a big step toward brightening State's basketball picture when Tom Lick, the 6-11 cage star from Gaylord, returned his signed tender.

Giant step number two came when 6-4 former Lansing Sexton star, John Holms, did likewise.

The word from freshman coach Dan Peterson on State's top recruit, Lee Latsey, is that "he will definitely sign, pending clearing by the Big Ten and during the season, dropped out at the end of winter term."

There is no chance Johnson will return to State to play basketball since his eligibility will run out before his Air Force hitch does. But his loss should be more than offset by the new talent coming to State.

Lick, a big 219 pound center, was named to the Class C all-state first team after leading his club to the state regionals last season.

He averaged nearly 30 rebounds and 25 points a game that season.

Lick has to be considered a big catch as he was one of the most sought-after cagers in Michigan.

The University of Michigan and Ohio State University were both reported seeking Lick's signature.

Holms, who also starred in football, is regarded as one of the top all-around athletes in the Lansing area.

He started on the Sexton team for three years and was named to the Class A all-state unit his junior year when the Big Reds rolled to a 20-1 record. He missed part of his senior year because of injuries.

Peterson To Leave Frosh Post

Four ballplayers from last season's basketball team will not be back for next year because of graduation. But neither will their three former coaches.

Dan Peterson, State's freshman coach for the past two seasons became the third to lose his job when John Benington, who replaced Fordy Anderson as head coach, announced that he would pick his own freshman coach to join with assistant coach Sonny Means. Means replaced Bruce Fossum as assistant coach.

Athletic Director Biggie Munn would neither confirm nor deny any move concerning Peterson saying only that he planned to meet with Benington shortly to discuss the matter.

Peterson, who replaced Tom Rand as freshman coach two years ago, can list among his top pupils 6-6 Art Baylor, a cousin of NBA star Elgin, and a prime prospect for next season's squad, and 6-6 Ted Cray, who started on this year's team as a sophomore.

He worked with Benington and Anderson in State's recruiting job this year and is doing much of the travelling and interviewing to help land Tom Lick, a 6-11 center from Gaylord, and 6-4 Lansing Sexton star John Holms.

Munn will probably decide Peterson's reassignment after meeting with Benington.

Spartan Racketeers Take Western Route

...and one for the road. Michigan State's tennis squad will take its final trip of the season when it travels to Kalamazoo this afternoon to take on Western Michigan.

The Spartans now stand at 18-15 in Big Ten conference match play and have a 6-5 dual meet record. They will be up against a Bronco team that boasts a 6-4 record.

Bob Gill will start for Western at number one singles, while teammate Mike Goodrich occupies the number two spot. The two seniors are both from University High School in Kalamazoo and both are the team's co-captains.

Western's squad is balanced out by Norton Thomas, Phil Cant-bell, Tali Riteles and Gene Havrilenko.

Their doubles teams are comprised of Gill-Goodrich, Thomas-Cantbell, and Riteles-Tom Essenberg.

Coached by Hap Sorenson, who is in his 13th year at Western, the Broncos have won the Mid American conference title 12 times and finished second twice.

The Spartans blanked Western in their encounter last season, 7-0. "Western will be a tough team to beat," commented Coach Stan Drohac. "We're been working hard for this match and I'm sure it will be a good one."

State will send out its usual lineup, headed by Dwight Shelton, number one singles, and Captain Charlie Wolff, at the number two slot.

Laifd Warner will start at number three singles, followed by Jim Phillips, Vic Dhooge and Mike Youngs.

Probable doubles teams are Shelton-Wolff, Phillips-Dhooge, and Warner and Harold Shelton.

Following the match, the Spartans will return home and prepare for a busy weekend. State will take on Ohio State University and Purdue Friday and Saturday afternoon.

Junior College Haul Beefs Up Football Line

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

It's roundup time out West and Duffy Daugherty has his branding iron in hand.

The Spartan coach has put the MSU label on two California junior college linemen for next season and two others are expected to sign tenders in the near future.

Defensive end Tom Amerratta, 6'2", 200-pounds, and 219-pound linebacker Fred Convertini are already in the Spartan fold with tackles Tom Skidmore, 250, and Rusty Malone, 235, said to be on the way.

All but Malone played on the Long Beach City College team last season as the squad captured the national junior college championship. Malone played for Chabot Junior College near Oakland.

Quality of West Coast football has increased steadily in recent years. No one is more aware of this than Daugherty.

Between 1946 and 1962 the Spartans posted a 16-1-1 record against West Coast opposition, but the situation has changed in recent years. The Green and White were defeated by Stanford in 1962 and Southern California in 1963 and their win over USC last season was considered an upset.

Last fall Daugherty said he thought the rise in coast football was due to the use of former junior college players in California universities. Now he's hoping the California transplants will find the Midwest football climate to their liking.

The junior linemen will have to adjust to the MSU style of play. Burt Smith, who helped many freshmen adjust, said he doesn't think this should pose much of a problem.

"It's hard to say exactly how they'll do," he said, "but you have to remember that these men have already played 19 college games."

Daugherty saw the quarter in action at the Little Rose Bowl last year and was impressed with their ability.

The linemen will join the squad on the first day of practice in the fall but their coach has already become familiar to Spartan fans. Long Beach mentor Jim Strangeland was on campus last weekend as guest speaker at the Michigan State Coaches Clinic.

The Big Ten ruled two years ago to allow transfer players to compete in the conference but so far the schools have not made extensive use of the privilege.

Linebacker accepting MSU offers are Roger Ruminiski of Wall Lake, Terry Lewis of Lincoln Park, Roger Cavendar of Detroit, Cathedral, Gene Frisette of Escanaba Holy Name, Duane McIver of Lowell, Dwight Romangoli of Kingstford and Neal Peterson of Pontiac.

Super was an all-state quarterback and led Ferris State to high rankings in the state prep football polls. Berliniski, a halfback, set a state scoring record with 194 points last year and was one of the most talked-about backs in the state. He's also Upper Peninsula broad jump champion and an all-A student.

Brenner was an outstanding halfback at Niles where he also averaged 33 points a game in basketball and won the state 220-yard dash.

Earlier in the spring, Daugherty gave indications why he was staying in his own back yard to search for future Spartan gridgers, when he said, "We want to prove that Michigan boys can beat Ohio boys."

Daugherty was referring to the fact that the University of Michigan started an all-Ohio backfield en route to the conference title last fall.

"We lost just three of our top 17 choices in Michigan," he said. "We're especially satisfied, since almost every name on our list was also on the University of Michigan's list."

of-staters? Won't some superior students get turned away?

A. Yes, some superior students could get turned down. It's not logic, it's politics. We're going to defend all the way the need to have students from other parts of the country and other areas of the world on this campus. But some states have failed to do their share in providing for their own students.

Q. Has MSU improved the quality of its instruction?

A. Yes, and it's getting better. We are hiring 216 new faculty members for next fall.

Q. What is the purpose of regulations for coeds?

A. You won't take me seriously now, but later when your own daughter comes to college, you'll think again. Each year this University has several human tragedies. If you behave as well here as you behave at home, we won't complain. Education fails unless it can develop each student to his potential. The rules are on the books.

Q. Why doesn't MSU have a Phi Beta Kappa chapter?

A. Six years ago, we were turned down because we stressed technical education. Three years ago we were not approved because we did not require a language for all liberal arts students and because we stressed international education. Chances are good that we might be approved next time.

Q. What is your position on CSR?

A. I don't have one.

Seniors Of The Week

Business Careers Interest Greeks

Sally Dusseau of Lansing and Dave Harris of Benton Harbor, co-chairmen of Greek Week, are seniors of the week.

Sally, a retail merchandising major, spent last summer in Columbus, Ohio. She was one of 23 students who participated in the F. & R. Lazarus & Co. summer executive training program.

Dave is majoring in banking and finance. He worked last summer in a Benton Harbor bank where he "gained a lot in experience and knowledge." He plans to continue his education next year either at the University of Michigan Law School or at MSU where he will work toward a master's degree in finance.

A member of the '65 Club, Dave has worked on the Regulations Committee for Water Carnival. He has also served on AUSG Student Judiciary and played freshman football.

Dave was a manager and pledge trainer for his fraternity, Phi Delta Theta, served as dorm precinct president in West Shaw Hall, and was dorm athletic chairman at Emmons.

Sally has been social chairman and Pan-

Hellenic delegate of her sorority, Delta Zeta, and was social chairman of Pan-Hellenic Council in her junior year.

She served as chairman of the 1964 Greek Feast, was on the executive committee for Greek Week-End and was a member of the Faculty-Student Social Affairs Committee.

Sally was also a member of the Retailing Club, co-chairman of the decorations committee for the 1964 J-Hop. She was theme chairman of the 1964 Career Carnival and has served on both the J-Hop and Career Carnival executive committees. Sally is also a member of the '65 Club.

Sally said that participation in various activities is a very important part of a student's college education. "It's very important when applying for a job," she said, "to have developed a sense of leadership and responsibility. This sense is gained through getting involved in campus activities and through working with large numbers of people."

Sally, who plans to be married in August, hopes to go into retailing as a career.

ARS GRATIA ARTIS--The Union has become a favorite hangout for humanities students recently. The reason, as Elaine Edwardson, Midland sophomore, is finding out, is the paintings hanging on the walls on the second and third floors. Photo by David Sykes

Exam Clues On Display

Do you want to get a better mark on your humanities final? It might help if you wander through the second and third floors of the Union.

On the walls hang copies of about 75 paintings. At least 45 artists are represented.

In one corridor of the third floor you can view the history of art from Giotto's "St. Francis Giving His Robe" to Paul Klee's "Country House in North." Representing the eras between are Rembrandt's "Young Girl at Half Door," Gainsborough's "Blue Boy," several of Degas's ballet dancers, Picasso's "In the Cafe" and others.

A walk through the second floor will reveal Holbein's "Jane Seymour," Bruegel's "A Country Wedding," Fragonard's "The Love Letter," Cezanne's "Card Players," Van Gogh's "Bedroom at Arles," Gauguin's "La Grana Marie" and Rousseau's "The Cart."

Until recently you could also have seen "American Gothic" by Grant Wood, but it has disappeared. Perhaps someone wanted to do some homework on it?

Although the pictures in the Union may not be the same ones that appear on the finals, looking at them may help you become more familiar with the style of the various artists.

Board To Hear Class Reports

The committee to study class councils and Union Board activities will report to the Student Board tonight at 8:30 in 308 Student Services.

The board will also adopt a budget and rules of procedure, as well as consider a charter for the People to People Association. This group wants to aid a Vietnamese village.

Eldon R. Nonnamaker, associate dean of students, will speak on problems facing student judiciary, and Bill Beardsley, ticket manager, will discuss the new football ticket policy.

Hannah Tours Brody With No Ill Effects

While President John A. Hannah was in the Armstrong dinner room Monday night eating a "typical Brody dinner," word was being passed down in the grill that he was around. "Better go up and down the hall in a few minutes to see that all the trash is picked up, the president is coming down here," a suited man instructed his student help.

Hannah, meanwhile, had finished his meal, which he later said "was pretty good," and was given a tour of Brody Hall. Everything was ship-shape as he walked around with his hosts. "Who's that guy?" a girl whispered as Hannah walked by her and into the grill.

"Shhhh!" a boy whispered back, "that's Uncle John. You know, the boss of this place." As the president commented, "I'm always impressed by the housekeeping around here," a contented couple snuggled into a dimly-lit corner outside.

Name Evaluators

Six persons have been named to the committee to evaluate student-faculty committees which will begin meetings Tuesday. Jim Graham, Detroit sophomore and ASMSU (Associated Students of MSU) student board member-at-large, is chairman.

Phys Ed Philosophy Defined By Webster

Randolph W. Webster, professor of health, physical education and recreation, applies philosophy to the teaching of physical education in his new book, "The Philosophy of Physical Education."

Written especially for prospective and experienced teachers in physical education, the book looks into the significance of classical philosophies as a basis for building a personal philosophy of life and profession.

He has to his credit another book, "Sports for Recreation," several teaching booklets, and micro-magnetic tapes of teaching instructions now used in foreign universities.

Webster organized the first graduate curriculum for advanced degrees in physical education for the University in 1947. His work in physical education has earned him a place in "Who's Who in American Education."

In 1962 he received the Distinguished Service Award from the Michigan Association for

RANDOLPH WEBSTER

Health, Physical Education and Recreation for his leadership and contributions to the profession.

Jaycees Merge

The new East Lansing-MSU chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold an open smoker in the Union Art Room at 7 p.m. today.

This merging of the MSU Jaycees with the East Lansing chapter has been made to create a working harmony on community projects and to interrelate the campus and East Lansing communities.

The chapter will receive its official charter at a banquet at the Albert Pick Motel at 8 p.m., May 21. A member of the former MSU Jaycees will speak and discotheque dancing will follow.

Tickets may be obtained from any Jaycee member or at the Paramount Newsstand.

William Bean, well-known authority on strain gauge instrumentation, will speak via video tape on measurement of strain on metals at 4:15 p.m. Thursday in 115 Bessey Hall.

The tape is sponsored by the College of Engineering, Department of Metallurgy, Mechanics and Materials Science.

'Econ' Dilemma

Abba P. Lerner, professor of economics, will speak on "The Economic Dilemma of Developing Nations," at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union Art Room. The lecture is being presented by Delta Phi Epsilon, professional foreign service fraternity, in cooperation with the Political Science Department.

May Lectures

A philosophy colloquium will be held at 4:15 p.m. Thursday in 138 Akers Hall on "Philosophy and History," Quentin Lauer, S.J., professor of philosophy at Fordham University, will speak.

The next colloquium is scheduled for May 16, with an additional one set for the last weekend in May.

Psych Colloquium

Eugene Gendlin, a professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, will address the Psychology Department colloquium Thursday at 4 p.m. in 111 Olds Hall.

His topic will be "Theory and Research on Experiencing."

Islam In India

Wilfred C. Smith, professor of world religions and director of the Center for the Study of World Religions at Harvard University, will speak on "Islam in Modern India" at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Student Services Lounge.

Smith, the author of "Islam in Modern History," spent 1963-64 in India studying with the Moslems.

The lecture is sponsored by the Asian Studies Center and the Department of Religion.
