

4 MSU Students Killed In Crash

By BRUCE SMITH
State News Police Reporter

Death was the only victor in a race between four MSU students and a 2 a.m. dormitory curfew Saturday.

They were killed in a flaming two-car collision at 1:52 a.m.

when their small foreign car exploded and burned following the crash at Abbott Road and M-78 in East Lansing.

Dead are:
Lars W. Johnson, 21, Grand Rapids senior, driver of the death car; Richard J. McCleary, 20, Webster, N.Y., junior; Nancy J.

Ward, 19, Pontiac freshman; and Eileen J. Nelson, Filion freshman.

The two coeds, who lived in West Wilson Hall, had permission to stay out until 2 a.m. to attend a party at the Theta Chi Fraternity House at 453 Abbot Road. Both men were members of the fraternity.

One fraternity spokesman told police the two couples left the party at about 12:30 a.m.

According to police, the students' car, a Volkswagen, attempted a left turn onto Abbott Road and ran into the path of a car driven by John W. Gregg, 19, Alpena. Gregg was treated and released at Sparrow Hospital for head injuries.

Coroner Dorwin E. Hoffmeyer, who notified the students' parents after making the identifications through personal effects, said the students died of suffocation and shock. If it had not been for the fire, he said, they might have survived the accident.

The four students were burned beyond recognition. Wreckers were used to open the car's caved in doors. Police theorized the car's fuel tank, located in front of the front seat, ruptured in the collision. Sparks from metal scraping along the pavement ignited the gasoline which had soaked the car's interior.

Traffic was halted along the highway while firemen and police cleaned up the pavement and pried the car apart to extract the four bodies.

Noel Miller, 22, 1617 Greencrest Ave., East Lansing, returning from his night job at a service station, saw the accident. He said he was approximately 150 yards behind Gregg's automobile when he came around the curve and saw the burst of flames. The flames were shooting 15 to 20 feet into the air.

Miller said he stopped and got out to try to help.

"I could hear screams—for about a minute. It was hard to tell how long. Then they stopped."

"The police seemed to get there right away," said Miller. "It seemed like an eternity before the firemen arrived, but it wouldn't have made any difference if they had been there later. It was over too fast."

"It was terrible," he said, (continued on page 9)

Humphrey To Ask Support For Viet Village 'Adoption'

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will kick-off a fund-raising drive to "adopt" a South Vietnamese Village.

Carl T. Rowan Jr., director of the U.S. Information Agency, will speak on the same program which begins in the Auditorium at 3 p.m.

Tickets are $1 and will be sold at the door. They are still available at the International Center, Union, Disc Shop and Paramount News.

Humphrey and Rowan will land at Capital City Airport at 2:30 p.m. and go immediately to the Auditorium. They will leave immediately after the speech.

The People to People Association, which is sponsoring the project, hopes to raise $4,000 to provide educational and sanitary facilities in the village of Long Yen, 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

Specific plans call for eight additional classrooms for the present two-room school, improved market facilities, a deep water well and uniforms for the self-defense militia protecting the town against Viet Cong attacks.

The group also hopes to raise funds for a medical clinic with a full-time technician to replace a one-room quonset hut, staffed only with a part-time rural health worker.

"We want students to be able to contribute in a direct, meaningful and constructive way to enlarging areas of international understanding and cooperation," said Judith Rice, Greenville sophomore, who heads the People to People Association.

No Decision

Local Civil Rights Discussed

Burton L. Gordin, executive director of the State Civil Rights Commission, met with student, East Lansing and University representatives Friday to discuss East Lansing racial discrimination.

No decisions were made at the two-and-a-half hour discussion at City Hall, said Mayor Gordon L. Thomas. But, he said, "I think it was a worthwhile meeting."

Gordin suggested that the city hold open meetings to educate the people and to meet with the Lansing Board of Realtors, said Thomas.

"I think this is fine, though I think the local Human Relations Commission is working on this, too," Thomas said. "They haven't had open meetings on discrimination yet, but I think they should."

Gordin was quoted as saying that the state should be the body responsible for discrimination in housing. Local commissions, he feels, tend to be bugs under which discrimination problems are swept.

He admitted the disadvantage of the lengthy time period required to right grievances coming to the commission.

"At the present time it takes five months," said Mayor Thomas. "By fall it should take two or three weeks."

One or two persons may be added to the Lansing branch of the Civil Rights Commission by fall, Gordin was quoted as saying.

Gordin said only the state should be allowed to handle legislation because the Michigan constitution's discrimination section does not provide concurrent jurisdiction by localities.

Thomas repeated to the meeting his plan to set up a part time administrative assistant to

Imbert Denies Agreement

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (U.P.)—Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera said Monday the civilian-military junta he heads will never give up control of the presidential palace to the Organization of American States (OAS).

He denied any agreement had been reached to turn over the battered former seat of government—only a block from rebel lines—to an OAS force.

OAS Secretary-General Jose A. Mora told newsmen Sunday night an agreement in principle had been made with the junta to put an OAS force in the palace and to extend the international security zone boundary to embrace it.

Imbert told the Associated Press the only matter under discussion now between the OAS and the junta was the extension of the security zone to cover the palace.

Work Laws Disputed

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—If Congress wipes out laws that ban the union shop it will bring a "new wave of controversy and bitter labor disputes" in the 19 states that have such laws, the National Right-to-Work Committee predicted Monday.

Reed E. Larson, executive vice president of the committee, described as "phony and fallacious" arguments by proponents of repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley law that this would promote peace and eliminate conflict.

Board Petitions Due At 5 Today

Petitions are due at 5 p.m. today for the ASMSU appointed Student Board member and vice president for special projects.

They should be returned to 308 Student Services.

MAJ. GEN. HEDLUND

Air Force Major General Speaks At Commissioning

Maj. Gen. Earl C. Hedlund, commander of the Warner Robins Air Materiel Area, Air Force Logistics Command, Robins Air Force Base, Georgia, will be the speaker at Army and Air Force ROTC commissioning ceremonies here today.

As commander of the Robins Air Materiel Area, Gen. Hedlund heads the logistical support for the country's transport aircraft fleet.

The traditional spring commissioning begins at 4:20 p.m. on Demonstration Hall Field at MSU. It is open to the public.

Second lieutenant commissions will be awarded to 31 Air Force and 59 Army seniors. Commissions to 10 other cadets will become effective upon completion of summer school or military service summer camps.

The entire cadet corps will pass in review after the swearing in of new officers. In case of inclement weather the ceremony will be held in Jenison Field House.

Assisting in the commissioning ceremony will be Lt. Col. George A. Davies, professor and chairman of the Department of Aerospace Studies, and Col. James F. Skells, professor and chairman, Department of Military Science.

The ceremony will include the awarding of the President's Cups to the outstanding cadets in the Air Force and Army ROTC units.

David M. Grimm, 1622 A. Spartan Village, East Lansing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Grimm, Springfield, Va.; and Army Cadet Brig. Gen. Brian M. Mumaw, son of Minard Mumaw, of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

The speaker, Gen. Hedlund, 48, is a native of Valparaiso, Neb. He was commissioned a Reserve second lieutenant upon graduation from the University of Nebraska in 1938.

From 1942 to 1947, he served as a fighter pilot, squadron commander, group commander and deputy wing commander in the Pacific and European theaters.

His P-38 aircraft was shot down in April, 1945. Although suffering second degree burns, he was able to parachute from the burning aircraft only to be captured by the Germans. He later escaped and made his way back to the American lines.

During World War II he flew 170 fighter missions in the Aleutian Islands and the European theater.

In 1948, Gen. Hedlund was assigned to the Joint Military Transportation Committee of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, where he served until 1951.

He has served as chief of the Air Transport Division and director of transportation in Tokyo, Japan. Gen. Hedlund became deputy commander of the Ogden Air Materiel Area at Hill Air Force Base, Utah, in 1961.

He assumed his present command at Robins AFB in 1963.

Thursday Space Flight Given Green Light

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (U.P.)—The green light was on Monday for Thursday's scheduled launching of astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White on a daring four-day mission during which White is to exit into space near another orbiting satellite.

After wrestling for days with several pesky problems, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that all trouble areas were under control. Mission director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. gave the go-ahead early Monday after a midnight conference.

The bulk of the Atlantic recovery fleet, headed by the aircraft carrier Wasp, left from various Navy ports to take up positions in areas where the Gemini 4 spacecraft possibly could land during the long flight.

McDivitt and White, both Air Force majors, donned their space suits Monday to practice the flight in a spacecraft simulator at Mission Control Center here.

Later they spent several hours reviewing the lengthy flight plan with Gemini officials and the backup crew, Air Force Maj. Frank Borman and Navy Lt. Cmdr. James Lovell.

The astronauts were reported in fine physical shape and anxious to go as the big day neared.

During the second orbit, about three hours after launch, command pilot McDivitt is to maneuver Gemini 4 to within 25 feet of the burned out second stage of the Titan 2 booster rocket which is to be flying near by.

It will be the world's first attempt to bring a manned spacecraft close to another orbiting object and will be valuable practice for a Gemini flight planned later this year in which the astronauts will link up with another satellite.

White, wearing a special protective suit, is to open his hatch, exposing both pilots to the fierce vacuum of space. He is gingerly crawl out and use a "space-gun" jet maneuvering unit to move closer to the booster, approaching no closer than 20 feet for safety's sake as he snaps photographs. He will be tethered to the spacecraft by a 25-foot lifeline as he zips along at 17,500 miles an hour.

After a 10-minute excursion as Gemini 4 whirls high over the southern United States, White is to return to the craft and close the hatch. Two orbits later another rendezvous will be tried with McDivitt steering to within 10 feet of the second stage, but no exit is planned.

Then the astronauts will settle down to the main goal of the flight—determining how well man withstands prolonged exposure in the weightless world of space. They are to stay aloft for 97 hours 50 minutes—the longest U.S. manned flight yet but shy of Russia's five-day record.

Scientists' Role Changing-Hannah

President John A. Hannah told Adrian College graduates Sunday that the specialists in our society are about to be moved to the back of the room to make space for decision makers with broad liberal arts backgrounds.

"In our drive to achieve material security," Hannah said, "we have pampered the scientist, and starved the humanist. We have encouraged the specialist, and discouraged the generalist. We have many people who can excel in a narrow field, but we are woefully short of those who can take the broader view."

"We believe the scientists and the engineers when they say they will land on the moon, but we argue with the sociologists and the philosophers and the ministers when they try to show us the way to a better life on earth," he added.

But now, Hannah said, a great change is taking place, and many materialists are alarmed.

"Those who have measured progress in material terms are bewildered to find that now, when we have developed the affluent society, people are not satisfied merely to enjoy its conveniences and luxuries," he said.

But social and spiritual hunger are hard to satisfy, especially when communication has broken down as the result of increased specialization, he said. "Communication between widely separated age groups has always been difficult, and especially so of late," Hannah said. "This puzzles and worries us who are older, because we feel the need of dialogue with impatient youth as much as the need for conversation between the scientist and humanist, if we are to work together for the perfection of our society," he said.

Hannah said the mass demonstration is the most spectacular of the new methods of communication. "Successful in advancing the cause of civil rights, the demonstration has been adopted by groups of many kinds to promote all sorts of causes," he said. "Sit-ins and other types of public demonstrations in the cause of civil rights can be defended in most instances on the grounds that no other avenues of communication and protest were open to those with wrongs to be redressed."

"But in many other instances," Hannah stressed, "other avenues of protest and appeal are open to those who consider themselves aggrieved, leaving us to face the question of whether public demonstrations are to be the first or the last resort."

"For what it is worth," Hannah told the graduates, "take my advice that we would do well to ponder long before we discard long-established procedures for bringing about needed changes in society."

"Sometimes the procedures are cumbersome, and change is long in coming, but mere impatience cannot justify naked coercion, not as long as we adhere to the traditional American belief that it is best to live under a government of laws, not of men."

Abel Takes Oath Today

PITTSBURGH (U.P.)—The United Steelworkers of America will formally close the books on a bitter power struggle today when I.W. Abel is sworn in as the union's third president.

Abel, 56, will take the oath for a four-year term at ceremonies marking the biggest changeover of top leaders in the union's 23-year history.

The steelworkers said that George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, are expected to attend.

U.S. Offers To Share NATO Nuclear Load

PARIS--The United States offered Monday to share nuclear responsibility with a select committee of four or five other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) under conditions yet to be worked out.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara made this proposal to a session of NATO defense ministers as one possible further method of letting America's allies participate in the vital life-or-death decisions which might confront the West in some future emergency.

Creeping Capitalism

MIAMI--Capitalism somehow crept onto the Cuban scene Monday in a Havana radio announcement.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, told of a campaign by Cuban students to encourage workers and farmers to build savings accounts in the government-controlled bank of Cuba.

Jose Antonio Marti Castillo, head of the bank's savings department, said that maintaining the savings habit is the best way to make good revolutionaries in the new generation.

More Trouble In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La.--State troopers, decoyed by exploding firecrackers, rushed back to the scene of fist-fighting Negroes and whites Monday and broke up the street scuffles with nightsticks.

An official ban was imposed on street demonstrations in this racial pressure pot. Negro leaders threatened to call for outside help from Martin Luther King Jr. and other civil rights leaders.

Berlin Interchange May Stop

BERLIN--Berlin families split by the Communist wall were reunited again Monday, perhaps for the last time. Communist East Germany Monday opened the wall for two weeks to allow West Berliners to make Pentecost holiday visits to their East Berlin relatives. A new agreement will have to be reached by the West Berlin and East German governments to cover any future visits.

Swedes Claim Pipe, Cigar-Cancer Link

STOCKHOLM, Sweden--Five Swedish scientists said in a report Monday that pipe and cigar smokers risk cancer as well as cigarette smokers.

In a booklet entitled "Facts on Smoking and Health," the researchers said lip cancer is linked with pipe smoking and that cancer of the oral cavity and pharynx (throat) is statistically linked to cigar and pipe smoking.

MIGS Shun Encounter; Flee Jets 45 Miles From Hanoi

SAIGON, Viet Nam--Eight Soviet-built MIG jet fighters turned and fled to the north Monday when they encountered a formation of U.S. Air Force jets bombing an ammunition depot 45 miles southwest of Hanoi, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

On the ground, in South Viet Nam, the bloody fighting against Viet Cong units throughout the five northernmost provinces tapered off. Helicopter teams evacuated the dead and wounded from what probably was the worst military defeat Vietnamese forces have suffered in the course of the war.

A U.S. spokesman said 16 F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers were dropping 40 tons of bombs on the North Vietnamese ammunition depot when the MIGs approached.

He said the MIGs jettisoned their auxiliary fuel tanks to gain speed and fled when the American planes moved in to make contact, however. No shots were exchanged apparently, and the MIGs disappeared in rainclouds.

The sighting of the MIGs was the first time in more than one month that enemy planes have turned out in force to meet American raiders over North Viet Nam.

On April 4, Communist MIGs shot down two F105s on a bombing raid about 65 miles south of Hanoi.

U.S. spokesmen said the pilots on Monday's raid reported destroying seven buildings and damaging three others.

American and Vietnamese planes participated in two other raids over North Vietnamese territory. They attacked a key highway bridge 90 miles south of Hanoi and a barracks and warehouse area just north of the 17th parallel.

Five F105s dropped 10 tons of bombs and rockets on the bridge at Thanh Hoa. It was the sixth time the bridge has been attacked, but it was reported still standing.

Pilots of 10 Vietnamese Al Skyraiders reported seeing smoke, flames and debris and heavy secondary explosions from buildings destroyed at the Vit Thu Lu barracks.

All planes were reported to have returned safely.

Peking's New China News

Agency quoted a Hanoi announcement as saying one U.S. F105 was shot down by ground fire over Thanh Hoa in the raid on the bridge. The Communist announcement said the plane crashed on a hill. It did not disclose the fate of the pilot.

Communist forces pulled back Monday from their deadly weekend offensive, which centered in Quang Ngai province, 65 miles southeast of the big Da Nang air base.

Qualified military sources said that out of two Vietnamese battalions that participated in the heaviest action in Quang Ngai, some 350 men had been killed.

Of the 265-man 39th Ranger Battalion, more than 100 were killed and the remainder were wounded or missing. Two Americans, an Army captain and a Marine sergeant were killed when the Viet Cong overran a small hill which the 39th Rangers were defending.

The American deaths raised the toll of U.S. forces killed in Viet combat since December 1961 to 393.

Nigeria Program Difficult

Although the Nigerian government spends a greater percentage than almost any other country in the world on education--about 45 per cent of its income--Peace Corps volunteers serving in the Nigerian master's degree program will probably encounter a number of difficulties.

The average volunteer-teacher will spend between 20 and 30 hours in the classroom per week. Teachers are usually selected according to their subject matter specialty.

They may encounter some problems such as limited physical plants, crowded classrooms, insufficient equipment and cramped student quarters.

Teaching standards fluctuate greatly.

Volunteers may need to adjust to teaching courses and undertake other duties for which they may be untrained. They will find an educational tradition which follows closely the British model.

According to Sheldon Cherney, head of the office of International Extension in Continuing Education, who helped plan the jointly sponsored MSU-Peace Corps program, the attitude of Nigerians toward Peace Corps volunteers has changed since the beginning of the Peace Corps program.

Nigerians welcome the help Peace Corps volunteers can give and consider it necessary until their country can get along without it.

A living allowance will be given for food, clothing, housing and incidentals. Medical care and travel expenses will be paid by the Peace Corps.

Living allowance will be adequate to provide modest but healthful living conditions.

During service, volunteers receive 10 days of home leave before departure, 45 days of vacation and $1,800, less taxes, at the conclusion of service.

200 Laps;
500 Miles;
$175,000

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Jimmy Clark and his crew, headed by builder Colin Chapman, are expected to take home about $175,000 from an estimated jackpot of $550,000 at Tuesday night's victory dinner.

It was a tremendous victory for Clark, who finished second to Jones by just 33 seconds in his maiden ride here two years ago. Last year, the dapper Scot had led the team when his rear suspension system buckled after only 47 laps and he was out of the race.

He set his sights on this year's Speedway payoff months ago, and so did Chapman, who heads six racing teams.

"I have the strongest-built car at the Speedway and the best car owner there is," he said recently. He got few arguments as he rolled into the winner's circle.

Crowd favorites Jim Hurtubise in the ever popular Novi and Gurney also went out early. Hurtubise was out after a single lap with an oil leak and Gurney was ousted after 42 laps with a blown engine while running in third place in another Lotus.

Unser, in another Novi, dropped out after 73 laps and Jim McElreath, Branson and Ruby, who was third last year, also had mechanical breakdowns.

Kenney Named 'Coach-Of-The-Year'

By RICK PIANIN
State News Sports Writer

Spartan soccer coach Gene Kenney, who guided his team to the NCAA finals last season, has been named MSU's "Coach-of-the-Year" by the student government and Spartan athletes.

The award is given annually to honor a varsity coach for contributions to State athletics both on and off the field. Kenney is the second recipient of the award. Burt Smith, now assistant director of athletics, received the first award last year.

"I was very surprised to learn about the award," explained Kenney. "To be chosen from among all the fine coaches here at State makes this award great, but for it to come from the student body makes it mean a lot more."

Kenney is State's first and only soccer coach, handling the coaching duties since 1956, when the sport was given varsity status. Four of Kenney's teams, including last season's squad, have gone undefeated in regular season competition.

Last year, State fought its way to the NCAA finals, only to lose a close 1-0 match to Navy. The Spartans were 10-1-2 overall for the season, and boasted the highest tournament finish in State's history.

The booters reached the semifinals in 1962, but were defeated by St. Louis, 2-0.

In 1958, Kenney's third year as coach, his squad won eight straight games, five of them by shutouts. State was recognized

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Flying Scot Jimmy Clark, the new King of the Speedway, gunned his green Lotus-Ford to an overwhelming, record-shattering victory Monday in the Indianapolis 500-mile Race.

The third time was the charm for the speeding Scot from Duns, World Grand Prix champion two years ago, who wheeled into Victory Lane after posting a record average speed of 150.686 miles per hour.

It was the first time a Speedway winner had ever averaged better than 150 MPH.

Only 11 cars were running at the finish, the lowest number since 1951 when only eight made it as the blistering speeds and heat took a toll.

But the Ford V-8 engine swept the first four spots and eight Ford-powered cars were still running at the finish. So were two of four roadsters in the lineup, but the best the trusted four-cylinder Offenhauser engine could do was fifth place with rookie Gordon Johncock at the wheel.

Parnelli Jones, chased by Clark to the checkered flag two years ago, was second and ran out of fuel on his safety lap. Italian-born Mario Andretti, a rookie, was third, and Al Miller fourth.

Along the way to victory, he ran defending champion A.J. Foyt into the ground. Foyt, a two-time winner, had to steer into the pits when his engine broke down after 115 laps.

Clark led 190 of the 200 laps before a holiday crowd of about 300,000 in near-perfect racing weather. It was his show virtually from the start, making him the first foreign winner since Dario Resta succeeded in 1916.

It was the first time a rear-engine machine had won the Speedway laurels and the first time since 1947 that the "offy" engine failed to win.

Clark, starting from the middle of the first row, grabbed the lead on the very first lap from pole sitter Foyt, who was co-favored with Clark to win.

Foyt took lap No. 2. But then Clark grabbed the lead and held it until he made the first of two precision-quick pit stops after 65 laps.

When the Scottish sheep rancher pitted, Foyt moved in front again. But he set the pace for just nine laps. When Foyt went into the pits for fuel, Clark took the lead on the 75th circuit and he had smooth sailing the rest of the way.

Foyt took up the chase, but in vain. He rolled into the pits after 115 laps and climbed out of the car. He was through for the day with a blown engine.

Clark made his second stop after 137 laps. When he resumed racing, he still led second-place Jones by 1:31 minutes. At the finish, Clark had a two-minute lead over popular Parnelli, whose fuelless car was pushed down the straightaway and into the pits to the thundering applause of the fans.

Clark, laughing happily in Victory Lane, said his victory came "just as we planned it." But he refused to say whether he'll be back again next year.

"That's 364 days away and there's a lot of racing in between," he said. "I'll have to think about it."

The race was the safest in modern times. Only three times the yellow caution light flashed. It was on for only 13 minutes, and the second time was in error.

There was only one genuine accident when a rear-engine machine hit the wall in the Northeast turn, but driver Bud Tinsler climbed out of the cockpit unharmed.

The first yellow light, after only 17 laps, blinked on after spins by Lloyd Ruby, Len Sutton, Dan Gurney and Jerry Grant. Jones and Andretti also shattered Foyt's 1964 race record of 147.350 MPH. Jones was clocked at 149.200, Andretti at 149.121. The others still running at the end were flagged down.

They were, in order, Johncock, Mickey Rupp, Don Branson, Bobby Johns, Al Unser, Eddie Johnson, and Sutton. Johns and Unser also competed for the first time.

Eight Ford-powered machines and two roadsters and one other rear-engine car powered by "Offy" survived the blistering pace.

The first six cars at the finish ran on Firestone tires. Branson, in seventh place, and Unser in ninth used Goodyear tires.

Race records were hung up on the first, second and 10th laps. Then the pace slowed momentarily. But the field resumed at record speed from the 50-lap mark to the finish.

END YEAR WITH WINS

Rugbers, Stickers Laugh Last

By JOE MITCH
State News Sports Writer

Michigan State's rugby and lacrosse clubs closed out their seasons on a happy note last weekend. The rugby team earned its third victory in 11 starts with an 18-0 trouncing of Windsor, Ont. on the Spartan's home field. The lacrosse squad made it two straight in Cleveland, employing a new offensive pattern to rap up a 12-7 decision over the Ohio team.

Unable to organize themselves all year long, the ruggers finally worked as a unit Saturday and in doing so, made Coach Neville Liberty a bit more optimistic about his team's future possibilities.

The rugby club concluded its first inter-collegiate season with a 3-8 record.

Three Spartans shared the scoring honors. Joel Garinger, Tom Hersan and Kevin Huntington each had touchdowns, while Roger Parfitt converted all the extra points. Parfitt also scored three points on a penalty kick.

To take some of the pressure off Steve Harrington, the lacrosse club's top scorer, sticker coach Paul Caldwell invented a new offensive pattern that would leave the scoring duties resting primarily on the shoulders of Bill Muir.

The new plan worked to perfection against Cleveland as Muir led the team in scoring. He tallied for five of the total 12 goals and assisted on another. Harrington and Bill Haeger were tied for second-place honors with two goals apiece.

The stickers, 10-4 for the season, finished in third place in the Midwest Lacrosse Association, highest placing of any non-varsity club in the league's history.

Professor Says Equality Must Be Reality

Equality of opportunity must be made a reality for today's Negroes, said Charles C. Killingsworth here Friday.

Killingsworth, professor of labor and industrial relations, spoke at the sixth annual Centennial Review Lecture in Akers Hall.

In his lecture titled "Negro Unemployment: Causes and Cures," Killingsworth said that the unemployment rate of the Negro is 10 per cent, or about double the overall average which was 4.9 per cent as of mid-April, 1965. "A program of job creation is the only short answer that can be made to fit the size and shape of the problem," said Killingsworth. He called for a program to hire and train the poor to help the poor.

"There is poor understanding of the nature of Negro unemployment," Killingsworth said. "The burden of disadvantage is distributed differently on Negroes than on whites."

"The greatest unemployment is among the young Negroes, better-educated Negroes," continued Killingsworth.

Clues for the causes of excessive unemployed Negroes are revealed when looking over the progress of the Negro since 1940. Before 1940 the Negro was virtually destitute and over one-half of the Negro population was unemployed.

"After 1940 mass migration from the South improved the educational and vocational hierarchy of the Negro," Killingsworth said. "Today, the educational gap of Negroes and whites is narrowing."

Improved employment conditions after 1940 were due to the draft which created a labor shortage, to the low skilled jobs that the mass produced emphasis on production created, and to the uprooting of the Southern Negro from the farm with the end of sharecropping.

"Adaptability of the Negro population took them where the jobs were and they lived where they were allowed to settle," said Killingsworth. "This brought heavy concentration of Negroes to the slums of the big cities." "Education in these city slums is predominantly inferior due to less experienced teachers, the defeatism of teachers and the culturally deprived program of the schools," Killingsworth said.

Killingsworth points out that education has been traditionally the greatest generator of social mobility. "Ironically enough it does less to improve the employability of the Negro," he said.

In the South, due to the segregation patterns, there are a tradition of Negro jobs. These are the dirtiest jobs. "Competition has been held down because of the migration North, reserving these jobs for the remaining Negroes, and so unemployment figures are low in the South," he said.

The number of low skilled jobs has been steadily dropping off since 1953, due to the change in the size and nature of defense spending, and automation in production. "Sophisticated instruments and materials require highly skilled people," Killingsworth said.

He points out that the total employment picture has remained the same but the job mix has changed. "There are a million fewer blue collar workers and a million more white collar workers. This situation has left the Negro blue collar worker without jobs again," Killingsworth explained.

Significant changes in the Negro population such as an increased birth rate and a decreased death rate magnifies the unemployment problem.

"Anti-discrimination laws are insufficient to get at the basic problem and mere passage of time without remedies increases the unemployment situation," said Killingsworth.

Killingsworth suggests massive improvement of Negro education with a significant increase in remedial and job training.

Dispersal of the educated Negro from the large cities and improvement of the environment of those who stay behind are necessary if the Negro unemployment rate is to be lowered.

Killingsworth was chosen by the Board of Directors and the Editorial Board of the Centennial Review as the member of the MSU faculty who best exemplifies the ideals of scholarship and style of the disciplines represented by the Editorial Board.

Fire, Collision

A fire at 109 East McDonel Hall caused $50 damage to sheets, a blanket and a mattress Thursday evening. The fire started when a wood burning iron was left on the bed.

Thursday noon two sidewalk bicyclists were injured slightly in a head-on collision at the southeast corner of Jenison.

Injured were Douglas N. McEwen, Canfield freshman, and William J. Robinson, Detroit senior. Both were treated at Olin and released.

Sophomores To Take Courses In Proposed Med Curriculum

Sophomores interested in going into medicine may be offered courses under the proposed curriculum of the College of Human Medicine.

Dr. Andrew D. Hunt Jr., dean of the college, outlined the proposed curriculum at the Thursday night meeting of the MSU Pre-Med club and called the plan

"a new and exciting approach" to teaching pre-clinical medicine.

The long-range plans would allow students interested in medicine to take part in seminars as early as their sophomore year to resolve questions they might have about going into medicine, Dr. Hunt said.

The seminars would be part of a chronological biology of the life process which is to be the core of a 6-year program leading to a masters degree in Medical Science.

"The first term might involve fertilization and molecular biology," Dr. Hunt said. "This would make undergraduate courses in sociology, where they are learning about problems of population, and psychology, where they are learning about the feelings of the patient, more meaningful."

Dr. Hunt, formerly with the Stanford University medical school, said that Michigan State was the last place he had expected to come to.

"I loved Stanford," he said, "but I felt a new school would give me a chance to put into practice some basic convictions I have long held about the teaching of medicine."

Some of these convictions are: 1--"The encapsulation of a medical school as a separate part of a university is archaic."

2--"I think that the behavioral sciences--psychology, anthropology and sociology--should be as basic to a medical education as biology."

3--"Medical students should study jointly with other students wherever possible."

Dr. Hunt said that the new college will allow its students freedom to expand on specific research or outside interests within the University by beginning technical courses earlier.

He said that the 20-25 students of the first class will already have completed their senior years in college. For that reason it will be awhile before the undergraduate courses are added to the curriculum.

"Most beginning medical schools have between four and five years to get ready for their first classes," he said. "I've been here since July."

Courses To Move To Brody

Brody residents won't have to do so much walking next fall term.

The University College is moving to the Brody Complex next year as part of a $130,000 construction project to provide educational facilities in Brody Hall.

The construction will not take away present recreational facilities in Brody. The Brody grill, WBRS Brody radio, and rooms for dances and television will still be available.

"This means we will make more use of existing space," says Thomas Dutch, manager of the Brody Complex.

The new facilities will handle all the functions of the main University College office in Bessey Hall. The chore of drops and adds may be completed in the Complex.

In addition to courses in the University College, there will be others offered for Brody residents only.

The proposed construction will provide 19 offices for professors assigned to Brody and three natural science laboratories.

The existing auditorium will be improved. It will have a sloping floor and a seating capacity of 208.

The Brody multi-purpose rooms will be used as classrooms during the day and transformed back to recreation rooms in the evening. All will be served by a closed circuit television system.

A complex library is being planned. It will start with basic reference materials and be staffed with student volunteers.

The entire project will be completed by fall term and present Brody residents seem to like the idea.

Out of the total of 2,754 students living in Brody, 1,230 have already reserved their rooms for the fall. This is compared to only 860 reserved rooms last spring.

Sea Papers In Museum

Eighteen feet of wall space is needed to shelf the MSU Museum's collection of papers and manuscripts on the St. Lawrence Seaway which is located in 403 and 404 Library.

Mary Sue Marz, Bronson senior, has been cataloging and indexing the collection for the last two years for students wishing to do research on the Seaway and the political figures connected with it.

The collection was donated to the museum in 1961 by John C. Beukema of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce.

Materials date back to the early 1920's and include speeches, letters, congressional amendments and newspaper articles from approximately 100 political figures.

The papers are on the formation of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, the St. Lawrence Commission of the U.S., the Power Authority of N.Y. and the National Seaway Council.

Letters from former U.S. presidents Calvin Coolidge, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt can be found in the collection.

Financial records, congressional records and speeches, printed materials, maps, photographs and newspaper clippings are also in the collection.

Child OK Despite Freak Accident

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (P)--Mrs. Lonnie Harper, 17, gave birth to a healthy baby boy after a lawn mower threw a section of iron pipe into her abdomen. The pipe was removed by surgery and the baby delivered by Caesarean section.

Harper, 20, rushed his wife to a hospital emergency room after the Sunday accident, and both mother and son were reported "doing just fine."

The baby's head was barely scratched by the pipe, which lodged five inches deep in the mother's body.

Chose Group To Inaugurate New MSU-Ryukyus Program

Ten students and five faculty members have been chosen for the inaugural exchange program this summer between Michigan State and the University of the Ryukyus on Okinawa.

The MSU/University of the Ryukyus Exchange Program (MREP) will allow the group to study for five weeks at Naha, Okinawa and tour in the Ryukyus Islands and Japan. The MREP group will depart for Okinawa on June 27.

Selected for this summer's session were Florence Bagley, Wayzata, Minn., junior; Cheryl Ann Barber, Plainwell senior; Judy Caskey, Williamston senior; Louise L. Jarosz, Birmingham junior; Marilyn K. McCullough, Silver Spring, Md., senior; Sally Rush, Bloomfield Hills sophomore; Douglas Schmedien, Oxford junior; Hugh Hall, Elsie sophomore; and Leon Martin, Lansing graduate student.

MSU faculty members in the group will be David D. Anderson, associate professor of American thought and language; Peter B. Fischer, professor of humanities and religion; Albert Karson, associate professor of American thought and language; Austin L. Moore, professor of humanities; and Edward W. Natharius, associate professor of humanities.

Mrs. David D. Anderson and one graduate student each from Western Illinois and Western Michigan University will also participate in MREP.

The students will enroll for junior and senior level courses taught by Ryukyuan professors who received their advanced degrees in the United States. The faculty members will participate in seminars.

Credits earned during MREP are transferable to Michigan State.

After the close of the five-week summer session on Okinawa, the group will tour for two weeks in Japan en route back to the United States.

MSU has been involved in the development of the 15-year-old University of the Ryukyus since 1951. The institutional relationship between the schools has resulted in an exchange of both students and faculty consultants, but this is the first formal student exchange program.

The MREP summer exchange is co-sponsored on campus by the Asian Studies Center, the Office of International Extension, assistant dean for education exchange and the Ryukyus Project Office and off-campus by the MSU staff on Okinawa and the faculty of the University of the Ryukyus.

MSU BOOK STORE

In The Center for International Programs

The advertisement is framed by a border containing the text "MSU Bookstore" repeated multiple times. At the top center, the phrase "HAVEN'T YA HEARD..." is written in a bold, sans-serif font. Below it, on the left side, is a cartoon illustration of a man with a worried expression, bent over and carrying a massive, towering stack of books that nearly reaches his head. To the right of the illustration, the words "CASH FOR BOOKS" are printed in very large, bold, capital letters. Underneath this, the words "Every Day" are written in a cursive script. Further down, the store's hours are listed: "We're Open Mon. Tues. Fri. 8:30-5:30 Wed. Thur. 8:30-9:00". The bottom half of the ad features the store's name "MSU BOOK STORE" in large, bold, capital letters. Below the name is the slogan "In The Center for International Programs". On the right side, there is a circular diagram resembling a clock face or a compass rose. In the center of the circle, it says "MSU BOOK STORE" and "in the Center for International Programs". Around the perimeter of the circle, various campus locations are labeled, including Union, Berkeley, Mason Annot Phillips Snyder, Van Horn Sullivan, Newcomb Hall, Science Complex, Engineering, Student Parking, and others.

MSU's 1965 Distinguished Alumni, selected by the University Alumni Advisory Council, are:

--John S. Pingel, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., class of 1939, president of Ross Roy, Inc., advertising agency of Detroit and New York City.

--Coy G. Ecklund, New Canaan, Conn., class of 1939, senior agency vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U.S.

Pingel, who served in 1964 as a member of MSU's Board of Trustees, became president of Ross Roy, Inc., last year. After graduating from MSU, where he was a football All-American, Pingel joined the advertising and sales promotion department of Chrysler Corporation's Dodge Division. After four years in the army during World War II, he served as an administrative assistant at MSU, then became advertising director in 1947 of Reo Motors.

Ecklund, senior agency vice president of Equitable since last February, joined the firm in 1938 when he was an MSU senior.
