

SPARTANS WIN

Duffy criticizes players for locker room gloom

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA, ILL. — Head Coach Duffy Daugherty "bawled out" the Spartans in the locker room here Saturday, following Michigan State's shaky 26-10 win over Illinois.

But what made Daugherty sound off was not the defensive mistakes, sputtering offenses, or mental lapses, all of which dulled the glitter of MSU's opening Big Ten triumph.

"It was gloomy in the locker room," explained Daugherty. "This is wrong. The object of the game is to win. I want the boys to be disappointed with their mistakes, but to remember that the object is to win."

Win the Spartans did, taking their third straight game of the year before 57,000 fans in Illinois' Memorial Stadium. It was the first victory for MSU in Champaign in five attempts.

Early Spartan mistakes, which hampered their drives, prompted Daugherty to comment, "For a while, I thought our boys were believing all that jinx talk."

But while the MSU offense was struggling to get untracked, the defense got tough.

The MSU defenders forced five Illinois fumbles and intercepted two passes. Linebackers Charlie Thornhill and George Webster were outstanding, each making 13 tackles. End George Chatlos caused two fumbles and intercepted a pass to stop a long Illinois drive. Back Jess Phillips also intercepted a pass and made 10 tackles.

Phil Hoag picked up three Illinois fumbles, two of which set up scores. Lineman Pat Gallinagh took a lateral from the alert Hoag late in the second period and rambled 40 yards for what proved to be the winning score.

"It was a race between the two slowest men in the Big Ten," joked the big 220-pound middle guard afterwards. Two Illinois guards chased Gallinagh downfield, but missed a dive at his ankles on the 10-yard line.

Football card sales go on at Jenison

Student football ticket card sales resume today and Tuesday from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m. at the ticket booths in the Jenison Field House lobby.

According to the schedule set up by ticket manager Bill Beardsley, sales were halted last Thursday at Spartan Stadium. Last week's sales ran from 8 a.m.-8 p.m. with a two-hour extension Thursday evening.

Beardsley said that he'd like to close sales Tuesday if possible. Before the ticket card can be purchased, a student must have his activity book. Late registration, which ends Wednesday, has been partly responsible for the extension in sales.

Students purchasing ticket cards today and Tuesday will pick up their game tickets Thursday. The normal distribution-by-class system will resume next week.

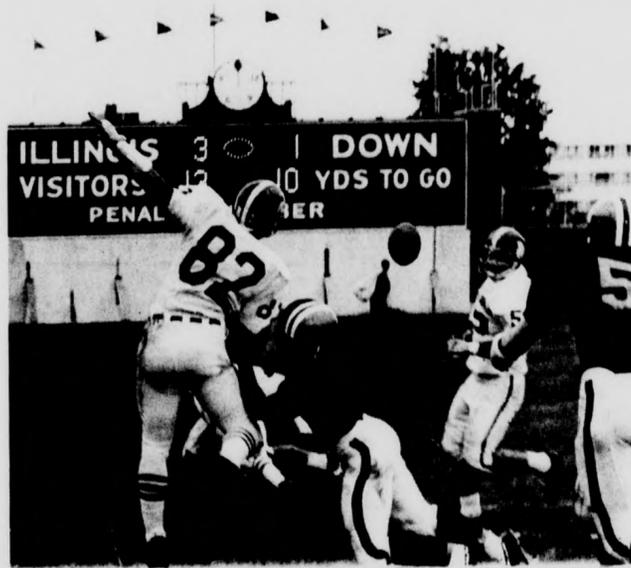

Beardsley said sales were cut off Friday so that the 27,000 student game tickets could be dispensed this week.

Notices regarding ticket card sales were posted in residence halls, the Union, the MSU Bookstore and Crossroads Cafe, both in the International Center, and in the State News and State Journal, according to Beardsley.

"We still think we did an ample job," he said. "We realize, though, that there are extenuating circumstances in informing the students, especially regarding those living off-campus."

Regarding misuse of student tickets, Beardsley said that there will be extra people at the stadium gates to control the slipping of IDs through the gates.

"We're doing this to protect the 98 per cent who are playing it straight," he pointed out. "Actually, the thing that students don't realize is that the student ticket is only half a ticket; it's worthless without a student ID."

Get That Ball

Illinois should have known better than to mess with Michigan State defensive end George Chatlos (No. 82). Here he caused an Illinois fumble. Pat Gallinagh, defensive tackle, watches the play.

Professor appointed to rural poverty program

President Lyndon B. Johnson has appointed an MSU professor to serve on his commission on rural poverty.

James Bonnen, professor of agricultural economics, was informed of the appointment by a call from the White House last week.

The 26-man commission will be headed by Gov. Edward Breathitt Jr. of Kentucky.

"A research team will be appointed to submit a report to the commission, after which the commission will debate and evaluate the report," Bonnen said.

The appointment will allow Bonnen to remain on the faculty of MSU, but he will travel periodically to meetings throughout the country.

"Each man will bring a different kind of knowledge to the problem of rural poverty," Bonnen said. "We will dismiss the different aspects of the problem and then report to the Cabinet committee which will report to the President," he said.

The commission's aim will be "to achieve for the rural population the quality of living and levels of opportunities available to other segments of the population," the President said on forming the commission.

New programs will have to be formed to attain this end, Bonnen said.

The appointment was made for one year. At the end of this time the commission must submit its report to the President.

Bonnen received his B.A. from Texas A&M, his M.A. from Duke and his Ph.D. from Harvard.

He has been at MSU since 1954.

Soviets Admit To Soldiers In Viet Nam

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union acknowledged for the first time Sunday it is sending soldiers to North Viet Nam to train anti-aircraft units in the use of Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles - SAMs.

An account in the armed forces paper, Red Star, said Soviet military personnel had gotten caught in U.S. air attacks but it carefully avoided any implication that the Soviet officers and enlisted men fired the missiles or otherwise took an active part in the defense.

The paper said the Soviet soldiers are warmly received by the North Vietnamese and showered with gifts of fruit and rice.

The article gave no hint as to the numbers of military personnel sent to North Viet Nam; it indicated they were rotated home after a period of time there.

There also was no mention of Soviet casualties, although the article told of cases where American bombs had fallen on launching pads.

The Russians contend their anti-aircraft missiles in North Viet Nam get an American plane every time. U.S. officials in Saigon, however, say the SAMs have a very low kill ratio because jet fighter-bombers swoop low to avoid the "flying telephone poles."

In Washington, the Pentagon says 22 U.S. planes have been downed by SAMs over North Viet Nam.

The Kremlin, while holding back details, has repeatedly said it will provide all necessary aid to the Hanoi Communists and has backed them fully in their demand for the withdrawal of all U.S. troops.

TO OLD ACCOUNTS

ASMSU debts returned

ASMSU debts incurred last year and consolidated into one account by the University Business Office this summer, have been separated again into their original accounts.

The debts involved in the transfer originated in two special accounts, popular entertainment and Winter Carnival. They represent, together, a deficit of $9,403.15.

The two accounts were brought to zero last summer when the business office transferred the deficits to the ASMSU general fund account.

The general fund is made up primarily of student money. The balance of that fund was reduced from $684.63 to a deficit of over $8,500.

The business office thus changed the ground rules for keeping track of funds collected for and paid out of ASMSU funds. The change was made without approval of either ASMSU officials or the Office of Student Affairs.

Overdrawn accounts in the past were kept on the books with their deficits.

At the end of the following fiscal year, under previously established procedures, any surplus in any of ASMSU's several accounts, was applied toward decreasing or eliminating the deficit.

Philip J. May, vice president for business and finance, explained that the business office did not feel they could allow such a large debt to stand.

The decision to transfer the debts back into their original accounts was reached at a meeting last week between May and Jim Graham, chairman of the Student Board of ASMSU. Graham agreed that ASMSU itself would establish a plan for handling the deficits.

This decision reverses the action taken by the business office this summer.

Cliff Kolbus, ASMSU comptroller, said he hoped to have a plan for handling the deficits by the end of fall term. He and Graham will meet with May and Paul V. Rumpsa, University comptroller, Wednesday afternoon to discuss ASMSU's financial situation.

Begin drops, adds and section changes today

Drops, adds, and section changes will be processed this week, beginning at 8 a.m. today.

Students wishing to drop or add courses should obtain necessary approval signatures from their academic advisers or the advisers' representatives, and then from the department which offers the course.

Drops and adds which do not affect fees should be turned in at the Registrar's table that will be located in the lower level of the Auditorium today through Wednesday, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Students whose drops or adds do affect fees should report to Room 107, Administration Building.

Those who are changing only sections can complete this process within the office of the academic department concerned. The academic departments will send completed section change cards directly to the Registrar's office.

Drops, adds, or section changes in Health, Physical Education, and Recreation courses will be processed in the appropriate physical education office in Room 230, Jenison, or 139 Women's Intramural Building.

Wednesday is the last day for adding courses or changing sections. The last day for dropping courses will be October 12. After Wednesday, drops should be turned in to the Registrar's office in Room 113, Administration Building.

Zeitgeist denied, Ferlinghetti reading switched off-campus

Lawrence Ferlinghetti's poetry reading at 4:15 p.m. today has been changed to the State Theatre, 215 Abbott Rd.

Tickets at $1.00 apiece will be available at the door.

Ferlinghetti was originally scheduled to read on campus at the Arena Theater. But because his visit to East Lansing is sponsored by Zeitgeist, an off-campus literary magazine, permission to use the Arena Theater has been withdrawn.

Permission had been granted by the department of speech. But John A. Fuzak, vice president for student affairs, opposed the permission on two grounds:

1. Zeitgeist is not a recognized on-campus student group.

2. Even if it were recognized, it would need permission of the Student Board of the Associated Students of MSU to have a fund-raising event on campus.

Profits, if any, on today's poetry reading, would go to the magazine.

MSU 'RIOTS'

What caused violence?

By FAYE UNGER
State News Staff Writer

The "riots" during finals week of spring term alarmed University Police enough to call in reinforcements from East Lansing and State Police forces in an effort to confine the second night's outbreak to the Brody Group.

An assistant professor of sociology predicts the possibility of future riots, because of the breeding conditions—close living quarters and easy communication—in the University's dormitories.

A student dismisses the disturbances as "a dead issue."

A graduate student in sociology, after interviewing participants, reports that they could not agree on any major underlying "theme" or "cause" for the outbreak.

A group of administrators and advisers is trying to find out what happened and, if possible, why it happened.

Violence overemphasized

All observers tend to agree that the "riotousness" of the "riots" has been overemphasized.

The first major outbreak, Tuesday, June 7, was a water balloon fight involving 500 to 700 students near Brody. Fifteen policemen broke it up.

Police described these students as "a good-natured crowd." The students, most of whom were spectators rather than participants, showed "no hostility," said John A. Fuzak, vice president for student affairs.

This crowd dispersed into groups of 20 and 30. Some sat around griping about general complaints. Others went off on minor party raids. Still others went on a rock and bottle throwing spree at the Case-Wilson-Wonders Complex.

'Kill the cops'

In the Fee-Akers and Holmes area about 500 students gathered, but only 60 to 80 became overtly hostile. These people went over to McDonel about 1 a.m.

Student IDs ready to pick up at Union

Student IDs may be picked up at the second floor Union concourse beginning Monday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and continuing until Thursday.

The packaging society will laminate IDs or any other articles such as pictures for 25 cents.

Students are urged to pick up their IDs as quickly as possible. They will be needed for admittance to the MSU-Michigan football game.

There they shouted obscenities at police, yelled "Kill the cops" and threw rocks. This group of male students disbanded by 2 a.m.

Wednesday night around 900 students gathered in the Brody area. Only 90 to 100 became actively involved. The rest were reportedly just out to see the excitement, or to cheer on the actives.

What lies behind these "disturbing" outbreaks?

Out of 6,000 students in a complex, there are bound to be 60 or so ready and willing to stir up a little trouble, Donald Adams, director of residence hall programs, said.

The MSU dormitory system, by putting large numbers of students into close communication, in itself spawns crowd disturbances, said James S. Hundley, assistant professor of sociology.

"One loud shout on a hot night when all the windows are open and most of the students in a complex can know something's going on," he pointed out.

Year-round close communication gives dormitory students the chance to build up unfavorable opinions about persons in authority, Hundley said. It permits rumors like rumors of the food "riots" in Snyder, to circulate as quickly as gossip over back fences.

Tomorrow: The "reasons" students give for the finals week "riots."

50c For Free Advice . . . Or Frosh Booklet

What is a freshman? A freshman is often a confused individual, uncertain of his way around campus. Sometimes we are not unlike the freshman.

University College has decided to help said freshman. It has commissioned the MSU Press to publish a "No-Preference Students' Academic Handbook for 1966-1967."

The book costs 50 cents.

Worth it?

The book contains a wealth of valuable information, difficult to get from usual sources.

"Each student is expected to attend each meeting of each class for which he is registered," it confides.

"Most freshmen and sophomores register for 15 credits each term."

Sick? visit Olin

It goes further. If you're sick -- go to Olin. If you want to join Honors College -- go to the Honors College for the inside dope.

The book has a complete list of all department offices. To our knowledge, the only other place to find this information so conveniently is in the University Telephone Book provided in all dorm rooms.

That just about sums it up. The "University College No-Preference Students' Academic Handbook for 1966-1967" is a noble gesture from a friendly administrator to confused and uncertain freshman.

And it only costs 50 cents.

Friendly gesture?

We think this little yellow booklet of 32 pages is worth it as a free handout to confused and bewildered freshmen.

But sold at 50 cents a copy it is a friendly gesture with a price tag attached.

Our FREE advice to freshmen is: Save your money. Your adviser can tell you how to drop and add courses. Your phone directory can tell you where a department office is.

Don't waste your 50 cents. The information may be helpful, but it is not so helpful that it should be paid for.

2 Questions Block $1,000 Proposal

At its first meeting of the year the student board of the Associated Students of Michigan State University (ASMSU) vigorously endorsed the proposal to give 18-year-olds the vote.

We also support this proposal.

Tuesday night ASMSU will consider putting student tax money where its mouth is by allocating $1,000 for the statewide campaign for the eighteen-year old vote.

In considering this issue ASMSU should consider two questions: 1) do they have the money, and 2) do the students favor it.

Money troubles

The money is a real problem. Right now ASMSU has several debts outstanding.

Furthermore, the exact amount of the student tax receipts for this term is not yet known.

VOTE HERE

The Editors

Spending $1,000 to lower the voting age is certainly a worthwhile project but sometimes worthwhile projects must be scrapped if there is not enough money.

Even if they do have enough money, they should find out whether or not the students favor this expenditure.

Need students' mandate

It is one thing to state a position, thus taking the lead in forming and expressing student opinion.

But it is something quite different to spend $1,000 in student tax money to support a decision made by thirteen people sitting around a table on the third floor of Student Services building.

While the members of the student board should indeed be leaders, they were not elected on the basis of political issues and have no mandate to spend student tax money on such issues.

One way of determining student opinion which ASMSU should definitely use is for the heads of the major governing groups, MHA, WIC, etc. to actively seek out the opinion of their house presidents.

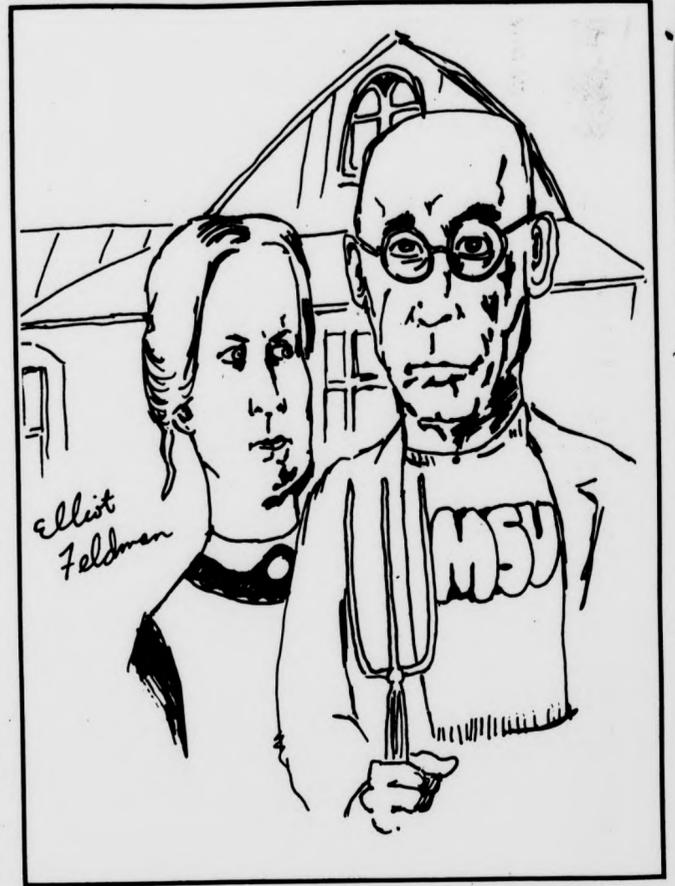

Students should phone

In addition to this, students could make their wishes known by calling the ASMSU offices and telling them what they think. By doing this students could demonstrate that they are ready to vote in more important issues by making campus democracy work.

If ASMSU does have the money and if the students do favor spending it on the 18-year vote issue, ASMSU should go ahead and make the appropriation -- we hope they can.

However, if a negative answer is given for either of these questions, the project will have to go down as one of those good things which just didn't come off.

I have been in the Navy for over seven years. My friend has been in for five years. We have lost contact with most of our old friends, therefore our incoming mail has dwindled to almost nothing. We are presently serving in Viet Nam and our contact with the outside world is greatly limited.

We would appreciate it very much if you would post our names and addresses in the college paper or perhaps on the bulletin board. We would like to correspond with a few young ladies of the college level. Any consideration will be greatly appreciated.

50-yard ringside seat

To the Editor:

When my wife and I walked into the MSU stadium for the North Carolina game the gate attendant told us that our student tickets only entitled us to fight it out for seats in section nine. And indeed his prophecy was confirmed after we had climbed to our section.

Although we arrived 25 minutes before kickoff, all seats in section nine were taken, disgruntled students were returning from futile seat-finding forays, and standing room was being rapidly taken. Since no alternative sections appeared to have been reserved for any overflow, my wife and I spent the first half of the game looking for someplace to sit down.

We can only conclude that more tickets were sold for the student section than it could accommodate, or else the tickets of those entering that section were not carefully checked and many interlopers thus obtained fifty-yard-line seats.

In either case two dollars is a hell of a lot of money to pay for a hunting license.

Students seem to be becoming increasingly less popular at university functions ostensibly aimed at them, notably the lecture-concert series and the major athletic events. That this is the case may be ascertained by noting that we are now paying for events for which only two years ago we were admitted to without fee.

Although we realize that more money may be obtained by selling tickets outside the university, it still might be nice to see a few of us students around, and as long as we have used our widow's mite for the purchase of tickets I think we are entitled to seats.

Fancy Footwork In The Ticket Office

MSU's football ticket office is not unlike MSU grid star Clinton Jones. Both can be complimented on their fancy footwork.

Season football cards will again be on sale today, heading off student discontent over the halt of sales Thursday.

But everything is not the same.

Investigation last week turned up conflicting explanations for closing the office after Thursday.

There was confusion, frustration and indignation in the student body. All those buying cards today will have to sit in the freshman section.

The fact that the ticket office will, after all, open today shows that despite the confusion, the office responds nobly to the student interest.

But it does not erase memory of the original confusion. Neither does it alleviate the discontent of upper-classmen who will have to sit in the freshman section for the Michigan game.

The football ticket office must revamp its distribution policies to meet the needs of a growing student body.

Distribution of football tickets in the spring would be one remedy. Selling by mail would be another. Every student who wants a ticket should get one; every student should be able to sit in his own class section.

Pop goes the ology

Today let's choose up sides and speak of Lawrence Ferlinghetti: the poet as pop theologian.

"God is Dead," You have heard this phrase because we reporters do not know how to interest you in theology. Readership surveys indicate that you read about the sociological (Nun Spit Upon In Rights March), human (LBJ Genueflects at Daughter's Wedding) and hierarchical (Pike Resigns See) aspects of religion. But theology is like poetry; most Americans don't like to analyze it. They only know what they like.

However, life, death and conflict in any field seem to interest American readers. So when reporters read that a couple of theologians thought "God is Dead" they played it up for all it was worth. In terms of readership surveys.

For example . . . The . . . a similar wave of hysteria a little more than eight years ago when Lawrence Ferlinghetti said much the same thing. . . day, perhaps, the theologians in this year's headlines will admit their debt to this gifted San Francisco ironist. I cannot quote the whole poem because of copyright laws. It begins:

Some time during eternity
some guys show up and one of them who shows up real late is a kind of carpenter . . .

Ferlinghetti's poem ends with this periodless exclamation:
Him just hang there on His Tree

looking real Petered out and real cool and also according to a roundup of late world news
from the usual unreliable sources
real dead

Ferlinghetti's poetry is not dramatically sociological, human or hierarchical. But it does exhibit life, death and conflict. So maybe you'll like it even if you don't know how to evaluate it.

He will be reading from his poems, plays and other writings at 4:15 this afternoon in the State Theater. Zeitgeist, East Lansing's only literary magazine for adults, gets the profits, if there are any. The readership surveys indicate that you will have a good time.

Furthermore, Ferlinghetti once was a beatnik.

"Beat is Alive."

And furthermore . . . Write me care of the State News or phone me after 4 p.m. later this week at 355-8252, and tell me what you thought of him. You are reading the beginning of a conversation which will end in May. Join in if you wish.

Words, MSU students, their worlds and the distinctions between these three elements; my emphasis will be upon these aspects of our conversation. You can choose your own topics.

I will listen to what you say, and in this column repeat that which I believe to be well said or true. If I don't relay your message to the readers of this newspaper, I will write or call you and tell you why, if you wish. Is it a deal?

Next week's column, in case you want to get your opinions in early, will be about sex and the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

Fulbright regrets Thailand involvement

WASHINGTON (AP)--Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., a leading critic of President Johnson's foreign policy, said Sunday he deeply regretted U.S. involvement in Thailand by sending in "hundreds of millions of dollars" and "over 30,000 troops."

He said it could become another Viet Nam. Fulbright repeated his position on Viet Nam - that the United States de-escalate the war by stopping bombing, by negotiating with the Viet Cong and by neutralizing Indochina.

Continued escalation, he said, can only result in war with Red China and possibly world war. Fulbright said he believes most of the nation's newspapers have become "servile" to the government.

He also said that most papers seemed "blood-thirsty" about the Viet Nam war.

300 killed in Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)--Three hundred persons are reported to have been killed in renewed fighting between northerners and transplanted Ibo tribesmen from eastern Nigeria which broke out Saturday night in the northern city of Kano.

A dispatch from Cotonou, Dahomey, said reports received there told of the mob massacre of 100 Ibo tribesmen as they tried to board an airliner to flee Kano.

Police forces were unable to curb the terror in Kano, the reports said.

Nigerian army troops flew to Kano from Kaduna to suppress the northerners' attacks on the Ibos. Northerners accuse the Ibos of economic domination over them.

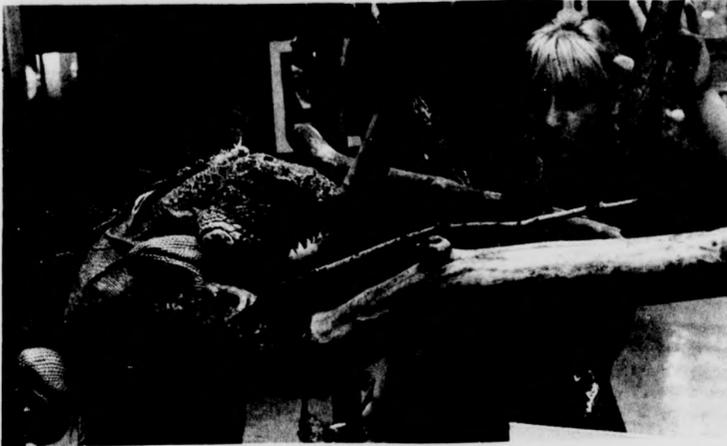

Ibos have been attempting to flee back to their homes in the east with government help.

Wallace's political future at stake

WASHINGTON (AP) -- How segregationist candidates fare at the polls next month may determine whether there will be any strong 1968 third party movement for the first time in 20 years.

Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace is waiting with great expectations for what he appears to regard as the certain election of his wife, Lurleen, as his stand-in at the Montgomery Capitol.

Wallace will be dead politically if this doesn't happen. If it does, he will be more or less openly running for president on a third-party ticket the next day.

MILITARY STRESSED

U.S.-Soviet collusion charged at China parade

TOKYO (AP)--A Soviet bloc walkout, a stampede by young Red Guards overzealous to see Mao Tse-tung and a strong military note marked Communist China's most spectacular national day celebrations in Peking Saturday.

President Liu Shao-chi, whose exact influence is a key puzzle of the China scene, appeared in military uniform, something unusual, prompting speculation he had knuckled under to Defense Minister Lin Biao, Mao's new heir-apparent.

Lin's 15-minute speech before a throng estimated to number more than 1.5 million Red Guards, troops and others, caused the walkout from the celebrations at Peking's Heavenly Peace Square by diplomats from the Soviet Union and six other countries, the Soviet news agency Tass reported from Peking.

Lin bluntly assailed the leadership of the Soviet Union, charging it was in collusion with "U.S. imperialism" for Vietnamese "peace talk swindles."

The defense minister also said Communist China had never before been so strong and vowed it would not hesitate to make "maximum national sacrifices" to push the Viet Nam war to an end.

The Oct. 1 rally--biggest in Red China's 17-year history--brought added evidence of Lin's new power.

It also brought fresh evidence that Mao was not inclined to speak in public. He remained silent despite a Red Guard request that he speak. There have been reports abroad that he has throat cancer.

The rally--which ran more than six hours--also marked the first time in seven years that the armed forces had paraded, but the stress was on adulation for Mao and fervor for the "proletarian great cultural revolution"--the name Peking has given its current purge.

The stampede took place Saturday night when Mao appeared in an open jeep in Tien An Men Square, filled with nearly a million people, to attend a display of fireworks, the Japan Broadcasting Corp. reported.

Eager Red Guards rushed forward in an attempt to get a close look at their leader. The result was a stampede in which many were injured, the broadcast added. The number of injuries was unknown but ambulances were seen driving back and forth to the square, it went on.

CUBAN KILLER

Tropical storm Inez raging off Florida coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)--Tropical storm Inez grew stronger Sunday after a two-day battle with the mountains of Cuba and whipped the vacationlands of southern Florida and the Bahamas with gales.

Feeding on the warm waters of the Florida Straits, Inez regenerated and regrouped for what was expected to be her final swipe at land.

After sloshing weakly off the Cuban coast early in the day, she began threading a path that would lead between the western islands of the Bahamas and the heavily populated southeast coast of Florida.

Although a few people came home from church and put up storm shutters in their coats and ties, most residents of hurricane-wise Miami weren't very concerned.

The strongest winds spun around the dead-calm eye of the storm and it would take a direct hit to inflict much damage.

However, squalls with winds up to 50 miles an hour whipped through the gleaming white resort cities along the coasts while the center of the storm was still 100 miles south.

The storm that killed hundreds in the Caribbean showed signs of strength and better organization after her punch was nipped by the tail in the rugged Sierra Maestras in Cuba.

Inez packed peak winds of 70 miles per hour--four shy of hurricane strength--near the center as she thrashed just east of due north and at 100 mph.

Densely populated southeast Florida was placed under gale warnings from Stuart to Key Largo.

Mariners were warned to exercise caution from Cape Kennedy all the way north to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

"That doesn't mean that we expect the storm to turn west and strike the U.S. mainland," reported a weather bureau spokesman. "But this is just a precautionary measure."

However, he added that "Inez remains a potential danger to all interests in south Florida."

The western Bahamas should keep in close touch with future advisories, he said.

Only an eventual turn to the northwest would unleash her fury to the Florida Keys. That was unexpected.

"Actually, the turn to a course slightly east of due north lessens the threat of hurricane-force winds to Florida," he concluded.

Inez also packed gale-force winds 175 miles in diameter.

Adenauer raps U.S. policy

BONN, West Germany (AP) --Konrad Adenauer assailed U.S. policy Sunday on the ground it favors Asia over Europe. The 91-year-old former chancellor also endorsed Eugen Gerstenmaier, president of the Bundestag, to succeed Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Adenauer declared in a recorded television interview: "American policy in my opinion, and I have said it often, is based on false assumptions. They see their greatest danger in Asia and I say that the greatest danger for the United States lies in Europe, and partly in Russian Asia.

"If Russia succeeds in taking over France and Germany intact, then the economic and military potential of Soviet Russia will be stronger than the American economic and military potential and the Soviet Union will be the strongest power on earth. And then the United States won't be able to do anything about it."

Adenauer said an upcoming American-British-West German review of the defense situation was concerned with West German promises to buy goods in the United States and Britain.

"What is that all about?" he asked. "They know we can't pay, but the American side has taken that as a plausible reason to withdraw more troops."

Recent Soviet maneuvers in Czechoslovakia, he said, were based on the assumption that there would be withdrawals. The object of the maneuvers, he explained, was to see if West German airfields could be destroyed before American reinforcements arrive.

Plane is found

In an interview published by "Welt am Sonntag," one of West Germany's most widely read Sunday papers, Adenauer said he had endorsed Gerstenmaier "weeks ago."

Gerstenmaier's name was put forward last week by a weekly paper which put a headline "Gerstenmaier is ready to be chancellor" over an interview in which the Bundestag president said he was loyal to Erhard but that in some cases loyalty to country took precedence over loyalty to an individual. He said later he was not after Erhard's job.

PORTLAND, ORE. (AP) - The wreckage of a missing twin jet West Coast Airlines plane with 18 persons aboard was found southeast of Portland Sunday afternoon.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said one of its agents was nearby and had radioed there was no sign of survivors.

The plane, a new DC9, vanished in darkness and rain clouds Saturday night, moments after the pilot reported he was 10 minutes from Portland Airport.

We're No. 1 (defensively)

By LARRY WERNER
State News Sports Editor

You've heard of a wild weekend. How would you like a recipe for a "weary weekend?"

Begin it by driving all night, mostly over small and bumpy Illinois highways. Then watch your team, ranked No. 1 in the country, play like No. 101.

Then drive back—over those same bumpy Illinois highways.

The long, uncomfortable drive to Champaign, Ill., added weariness to the insult of watching the Spartan offense sputter. The defense was forced to bail out the Green and White.

A disgruntled Illinois fan was working his way down the steps of Memorial Stadium following the game. He was speaking to his wife, and he summed things up pretty well.

"For a team that's supposed to be No. 1, they didn't show nothing!"

The fan's grammar could stand some improvement and the nothingness on the part of the Spartans was probably not so all-inclusive.

But, in essence, the fan said it.

As a whole, Michigan State was not No. 1 Saturday.

The defensive line and linebackers were No. 1. In fact, George Webster and Charlie Thornhill looked like All-Americans with 13 tackles each. About the only criticism that could be made of the defense was that the line gave Illinois quarterback Bob Naponic too much time to throw a touchdown pass to John Wright.

The offense is not No. 1 in anyone's books. The line failed to open the holes, and not even Clint Jones' talent of reversing his field when he had no hole didn't work.

Jimmy Raye seemed hesitant to try the air way -- even when the ground game was rendered helpless by a spirited Illini defense. Raye completed three passes in a row but then halted the passing game, even on third down and long yardage.

If the offense begins to play as well as the defense has been playing, I'll gladly drive all night over bumpy Illinois highways to see the Spartans play.

Because then they will, indeed, be No. 1.

Brenner sets Big 10 return mark; Gallinagh takes home game ball

By ED BRILL
State News Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA, Ill.-- Two exhausted linemen were standing around the locker room talking to reporters Saturday, after they both had scored unusual touchdowns in Michigan State's 26-10 victory over Illinois.

Al Brenner, who set a Big Ten record for punt returns when he brought one back 95 yards for the final Spartan score, gave his account of the play afterwards. "I didn't know where I was when I caught it," Brenner confessed. "But when I turned around, there was nobody on their team standing. Our blockers had wiped them all out."

Brenner caught the ball running towards his own goal on the five, and brought it back on a return play to the right. Coach Duffy Daugherty said he doesn't usually like his men to field punts inside the 10, but in this case it was a long kick, with little coverage.

Brenner, who was nominated by Daugherty to field punts because he has "good hands," admitted a moment of apprehension when he caught the ball. "I wasn't sure I was going to hold on to it," Brenner said.

George Chatlos, the defensive end who escorted Brenner down the field came quickly to Brenner's defense. "I saw you bobble it a few times down there, Al," he chided.

Tom Smith of Illinois kicked with the wind from his own 42, and the ball traveled some 65 yards in the air. Pete Elliott, Illinois coach, confessed after the game that only 10 Illini were on the field at the time of the kick.

The old league record was held by Dean Look of MSU, who returned a punt 92 yards against Michigan in 1958.

Pat Gallinagh, the 220-pound senior middle guard, was still huffing and puffing after his 40-yard run in the second quarter with a fumbled ball that Phil Hoag had lateraled to him. His run made the score 13-3 in MSU's favor.

"Nobody knew our defense had a flea-flicker (lateral-option) play," Gallinagh joked afterwards. "Actually, I went up to help block for Phil, and when he threw the ball to me, I just grabbed it and ran as fast as I could for the goal."

George Chatlos was the man who started the play, when he rushed Illini quarterback Bob Naponic on the MSU 46, Naponic fumbled the ball forward into the hands of Hoag, who saw Gallinagh free on his right.

"It was a real smart play on Phil's part," Gallinagh said about Hoag's quick thinking lateral. "Of course, if I hadn't caught the ball, it wouldn't have been that smart."

The first game ball was given to 70-year-old Forest Akers, who lies ill in Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. The team had pledged earlier to win this game for Akers, a great MSU supporter, when he mentioned to Duffy Daugherty on the phone last week that the team had never won at Champaign.

Gallinagh, who is most valuable to the Spartans knocking over enemy runners, got the second game ball for his great imitation of a halfback in the second period. His 40-yard run with a fumble was actually longer than any run by a back that day.

Hip, hip, hoo-Raye

Jimmy Raye picks his hole and scampers through the Illinois defense. Quarterback Raye, who specializes in running off the pass-run option, didn't have it this easy all day.

Lions lose, 23-14

GREEN BAY, WIS. (UPI) -- The Green Bay Packers struck on long-range passes from Bart Starr to Marv Fleming and Carroll Dale Sunday and then turned things over to an opportunistic defense that set up three Don Chandler field goals and a 23-14 victory over the Detroit Lions.

The win, Green Bay's fourth in a row, left the Packers alone atop the National Football League's Western Division standings.

Dodgers win flag by beating Phils

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) After the Phils had rallied for a 4-3 victory in the opening game and San Francisco beat Pittsburgh 7-3 in 11 innings, a Dodger loss in the second game would have enabled the Giants to play a make-up game with Cincinnati Monday and gain a playoff if they won it. But Koufax, who won the game that clinched the 1965 pennant on the second to the last day of the season and won the seventh game of last year's World Series, ended the National League season by picking up his 27th victory against nine losses. Koufax was 26-8 last year and 19-5 and 25-5 the two previous seasons. Koufax was rocked for three runs in the ninth before he retired a batter but hung on to win the pennant of Los Angeles. The World Series now opens Wednesday in Los Angeles with the Dodgers hosting the Baltimore Orioles.

the BIG 10

By ROBERTA YAFIE
State News Sports Writer

The figures seem to say that the Big Ten should stick to its own kind.

The third week of conference football left the league with an ostrich complex. With two conference games on the card, the remaining six Big Ten elevens could do no better than a 1-5 mark against out-of-conference foes.

Adding a little more salt to Saturday afternoon, all of the humiliation save for one game, was handed out at home.

Indiana had to travel to Texas and lost but Purdue impressed local backers with a victory over SMU at Lafayette.

Two weeks before, when the conference had yet to play a league game, Big Ten teams won five and lost four. Last week they started on the minus side, winning three and losing five, with the Indiana-Northwestern game the first of conference play.

While the Spartans were taking their first Big Ten win of the year, Iowa was back to its old tricks again, dropping a 7-0 decision to Wisconsin.

The hapless Hawkeyes now hold a 1-2 overall and 0-1 mark, in the conference while the Badgers stand 2-1 for all games and 1-0 in the Big Ten.

The other bright glimmer was Purdue, rebounding from Notre Dame's 26-14 win the week before, to give Southern Methodist its first loss, 35-23, and lifting its record to 2-1.

Sophomore fullback Perry Williams plunged short yardage four times to paydirt.

From there on, the roof fell in. Michigan was upset by a fired-up North Carolina, 21-7.

With the score 7-7 at the half, the Tarheels found a soft spot in the Wolves' left side and pushed through two more scores.

Kansas checked a last-minute Minnesota drive to nail the Gophers, 16-14, as Gopher end Ken Last dropped a 48-yard pass 10 yards in the clear on the Kansas 20.

Notre Dame walked all over Northwestern, 35-7, leaving the Wildcats winless in three games. Irish back Nick Eddy led off the scoring on a 56-yard-run to paydirt.

Ohio State shared the prime upset spotlight with Michigan.

losing to Washington, 38-22. Huskie halfback Don Moore picked up 221 of Washington's 413 yards gained.

Harriers leave IU in dust

By GAYEL WESCH
State News Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, IND. -- A record breaking effort by Captain Dick Sharkey and strong showings by five other men gave the MSU cross country team a 20-38 victory over Indiana here Saturday.

Sharkey set a new course record of 20:24.3 over the hilly four-mile course to take first place for the meet.

The 5-7 130-pounder finished the first mile in 4:47, the second, in 10:01, and the third, in 15:12 before sprinting home 200 yards ahead of the rest of the field.

Sharkey's time eclipsed the old record of 20:46.4 set last year by Grant Colehur of Eastern Kentucky.

Behind Sharkey the Spartans grabbed third, fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth places to notch the victory.

Sophomore Roger Merchant crossed the line at 21:30.4, 31.7 seconds behind Indiana's Mark Gibbens to take third place.

The Sarnia, Ont. sophomore, put together miles of 4:56, 5:32, 5:32 and 5:30.4 for the meet.

Senior Eric Zemper turned in a fourth place finish in his first race since his sophomore year with a 21:36.3 time.

Zemper was even with Merchant after one mile, but fell five seconds behind at the half-way mark. He cut Merchant's lead to two seconds at the end of the third mile, fell back again and was gaining at the finish.

Art Link, Detroit junior, took fifth place in 21:57.5. Link ran the first mile in 4:59, passed the halfway mark at 10:40 and finished the third mile in 16:25. Eleven-and-a-half seconds behind Link came MSU's Pat Wilson for seventh place. Wilson was 3.5 seconds behind Indiana's Bob Kennedy who took sixth.

MSU's Dean Rosenburg was eighth with a 22:30.8 clocking while his fellow sophomores, Art Constantino and Dale Stanley took 12th and 13th, respectively. Constantino turned in a 23:02.5 time while Stanley came home in 23:13.5.

Sharkey took a big lead at the end of the first mile followed by Gibbens of Indiana and MSU's Merchant, Zemper, Link and Rosenburg and it remained that way until the third mile when the pack spread.

KEYES GREAT

By DENNIS CHASE
Associate Sports Editor

Soccer coach Gene Kenney could rightly take Harry Belafonte's "Jamaica Farewell" and change it to "Hello Jamaica" after MSU's 6-0 victory over Pittsburgh here Saturday.

Tony Keyes, a 5-7, 140-pound sophomore from Kingston, Jamaica, picked up two goals and an assist and was easily the most exciting player on the field as MSU's soccer team swept past the Panthers.

Keyes, Guy Busch and Tom Krefl accounted for all the Spartan scoring, gaining two goals apiece.

MSU's record is now 2-0 and, with St. Louis losing to Quincy last Wednesday, 2-1, the booters are in strong contention for the Midwest Collegiate Assn. title. Pittsburgh is 1-2.

The booters started slowly. They didn't take a goal shot until 10:12 of the first period, and both teams looked rusty.

Then Keyes went to work. At the 20-minute mark he took a pass in front of the Pittsburgh net from Busch and tucked it neatly into the lower left corner to make it 1-0.

In the second period the little Jamaica goal, and at 5:52 it paid off.

Gary McBrady carried the ball down the right sideline with Pittsburgh defenders in hot pursuit. He passed to Keyes, who was standing near the right goalpost, and Keyes "angled" his shot perfectly into the lower left corner of the net to make it 2-0.

At 18:40 Busch made it 3-0. He took a high pass from Rick Nelke and "headed" it past the prone Pittsburgh goalie, Louis Cepanec.

Cepanec played an outstanding game against a fired up MSU team, but was plagued by a weak defense.

Busch got MSU moving again in the third period. Captain Terry Bidlak, capitalizing on a poor throw-in by Pittsburgh, set Busch up with a perfect head-pass. Busch blasted it past the diving Cepanec at 11:18.

MSU continued to dominate the play. Tom Krefl, 5-7, 145-pound sophomore, was sent in to replace Bidlak and scored the final two goals.

The first, at 17:02 of the third period, was a beaut.

Busch hit Krefl's leg with a shot from about 20 yards out. Krefl, still hobbling with a pulled left leg muscle incurred in practice, alertly turned around and kicked it by the surprised goalie to make it 5-0.

Krefl scored again early in the final period. Keyes took the ball down the right sideline, passed across the goalmouth to Krefl, who put it away.

Keyes, who set an MSU record with five assists last week against Purdue, was one of the smallest players on the field. He continually delighted the fans with his deft footwork and ball stealing.

"In the United States, size is a disadvantage," he said. "But I have adapted, and I don't think it hampers me too much. "Pittsburgh didn't bother me," he added.

Coach Kenney was enthused with his team's showing. He had called it state's first major test.

"Keyes is a real pleaser, isn't he?" Kenney asked no one in particular. "He's not big but he can really go."

"This was a real team effort. We were greatly improved over last week. Pittsburgh is a tough team, tough to score on. All our goals were clean. I'm very pleased."

The statistics:
Guy Busch--two goals, two assists.

Tony Keyes--two goals, one assist.

Tom Krefl--two goals
Gary McBrady--one assist.
Terry Bidlak--one assist.
Rick Nelke--one assist.

The booters, who defeated Purdue last week, 10-0, have yet to allow a goal. Goalie Kevin O'Connell, as much as he has been tested, has been superb.

The Spartans take on Calvin College here at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

STUDIES INDICATE

Grades and performance bear no relationship

WASHINGTON--There seems to be no direct relationship between high grades in college and professional success in later life, two recent studies indicate.

Dr. Eli Ginzberg, a New York researcher, studied a group of Columbia University graduate students who had won fellowships to the school between 1944 and 1950. Ginzberg's task was to find out how successful the 342 students had become 14 years after they completed their fellowships.

The findings showed students who had graduated from college with honors, who had won scholastic medals or who had been elected to Phi Beta Kappa were more likely to be in the "lower professional performance levels" than students who had not distinguished themselves while in college.

In another survey, a team of University of Utah professors found there is almost no relationship between the grades a medical student gets and his later performance.

This finding startled the leader of the research team, Dr. Phillip B. Price. He called it a "shocking finding to a medical educator like myself who has spent his professional life selecting applicants for admission to medical school".

He added that the study caused him to question the adequacy of grades not only in selecting those who should be admitted to medical school but also in measuring a student's progress.

There are numerous theories attempting to explain these surprising findings. The most common one affirms that the over-emphasis on grades which begins when a student is in junior high school and continues throughout his academic career tends to destroy interest in learning for its own sake.

John Holt, an educator and author of "Why Children Fail," observes that current school methods destroy love of learning by encouraging students to work for petty rewards -- names on honor rolls, gold stafs, for the "ignoble satisfaction of feeling they are better than someone else."

ROUGH BUT CLEAN

MSU bows in rugby opener

ANN ARBOR -- Playing the roughest-but cleanest-game between the two schools in the past three years, Michigan defeated Michigan State 3-0 in a rugby game here Saturday.

One of the few penalties called on MSU, however, was the scoring difference as Michigan's Tom Johnson kicked a penalty field goal with less than five minutes left in the first half. The goal, worth three points, was the only score in the game.

The Spartans were not able to move the ball during the first half. Late in the second half, they had their best field position as backs Rick Allen, Diarmuid Costello and John Harris moved the ball to the Michigan one-yard line.

An out of bounds play (line-out) failed and Michigan cleared the ball downfield.

This was the first season game for the MSU club, and Coach Neville Doherty noted the team has improved greatly over the three years the sport has been played at Michigan State.

"We had trouble in the scrums," Doherty said, "and we let Michigan get some extra yardage by not tackling low. We don't play next week because of the home football game, but we'll be experimenting with some new players and will be ready when we meet Michigan later in the season for the Steeby Trophy."

The "scrum" is the front line of forwards. When the ball is grounded, the two teams set themselves in this position and wait for the ball to be thrown into play. The two lines battle for control of the ball, which must be kicked through the scrum wall to the waiting back-field.

Coach Doherty also commented on the ferocity of field competition and the sportsmanship both teams showed after the game.

Spartans win at Champaign

Hoag set up another MSU score when he pounced on a loose ball on the Illinois three yard line. George Chatlos, who had earlier caused quarterback Bob Naponic to lose the ball on Gallinagh's scoring play, hit halfback Billy Huston behind the goal line so hard that the ball squirted out to the three yard line.

Huston was hurt on the play, and had to be carried off the field.

Jimmy Raye sneaked the ball into the end zone on the next play.

The Spartans' final score came on a record 95-yard punt return by sophomore end Al Brenner. Brenner took a 53-yard kick by Tom Smith on the MSU five, and went all the way behind brilliant blocking on a pre-called return play. It was the longest punt return in Big Ten history.

The MSU offense, which dashed passing most of the game, had its only long scoring drive as the result of a 50-yard pass play from Jimmy Raye to Gene Washington early in the second quarter. Washington took the ball down to the 10, and Dwight Lee went outside right end on the next play for the score.

STUDENTS

Study stalls built for 80 in Besse

Study stalls for about 80 students have recently been installed in Bessey Hall.

"We found students sitting on steps, in lounge areas and restrooms trying to study," said Assistant Dean of Student Affairs John Winburne.

"Since there was this obvious desire to study on the part of the student, we felt impelled to provide the proper space," he said. There are now spaces for about 100 students to study outside of classrooms in Bessey, he said. This number includes table and chair space which has been previously used.

"We have put these stalls up for general use by students," Winburne said.

"We expect them to be used like ashtrays which we put out and in effect say, 'Here they are now use them.' Whether or not more are constructed will depend on how much use these are given."

The study stalls will be available but cannot be reserved. Winburne called the cost of these stalls reasonable and suggested others might be considered in other campus locations if these receive extensive use.

The study stalls give some privacy to students while they study and were constructed with funds given to the University College for that purpose.

Turning car hit, driver is injured

A 17-year-old girl received minor head injuries in a two car collision Saturday afternoon in front of Butterfield Hall, University Police reported.

Jo Ann Middleton, of 1910 Holland St., Birmingham, had stopped her car in the south bound lane of Brody Road East to ask directions.

When Miss Middleton attempted to turn around, her car collided with another car going north, driven by Gary Lewinski, of 1200 S. Renaud St., Grosse Pointe, also a non-student.

Miss Middleton was treated at Sparrow Hospital and released.

Ballet tickets available

Tickets can still be picked up for both performances of the New York City Ballet in the Union ticket office. The 67-man troupe, under the direction of George Balanchine, will give performances tonight and tomorrow night as the first offerings of the 1966-67 Lecture-Concert Series.

Monday night will feature four short ballets, led by "Bugaku", a fantasy based on ancient Japanese court music. Music by Stravinsky will also be included in "Momentum Pro Gesualdo" and "Movements for Piano and Orchestra".

Balanchine's famed "Stars and Stripes" will conclude the Monday performance. The five-part ballet, based on the music of John Philip Sousa, was a highlight of the company's European tour repertoire.

Two Tschalkovsky ballets will be part of Tuesday's performance. "Serenade", set to "Serenade for Strings," will be followed by a pas de deux originally intended for "Swan Lake" but never used and only recently discovered in the archives of the Bolshoi Ballet. "Agon", another Stravinsky piece, and Ravel's "La Valse" will round out the evening.

Featured dancers include Jacques D'Amboise, Melissa Hayden, Suzanne Farrell, Mimi Paul, and Edward Villella, Robert Irving, formerly with the Royal Ballet of England, will conduct.

Sign-up set by wives club

Spartan Wives, an organization for all MSU wives, will hold an open house for membership and registration for classes at 8 to night in Parlor C of the Union.

Lee Shulman, Dept. of Educational Psychology, will speak on "Parents and Researchers in the School: Help or Hindrance."

Spartan Wives is an organization for all MSU student wives which offers friendship, participation in civic affairs and a variety of courses. Classes offered this term are: ceramics -- 7-10 p.m. Tuesday; understanding your child -- 7-9 p.m. Wednesday; beginning knitting -- 8:30-10 p.m. Wednesday.

Other classes are: square dancing (couples) -- 7-9 p.m. Thursday; beginning bridge -- 8-10 p.m. Wednesday; and advanced bridge -- 8:30-10 p.m. Tuesday.

For more information or transportation women may call Sandra Lord, 5-3196, Carol Nagle, 5-3015, or Janet Eder, 5-9978.

TV satellite in polar orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) - A satellite designed to televise daily picture coverage of the world's weather rocketed into a nearly perfect polar orbit Sunday.

A U.S. space agency spokesman said the 32-pound spacecraft called ESSA 3, would radio its first test pictures of the Northern Hemisphere, about noon Monday to a receiving station in Alaska.

"Everything looks good," the spokesman said several hours after the 3:39 a.m. PDT launching into a 114-minute orbit ranging from 859 to 923 miles above earth.

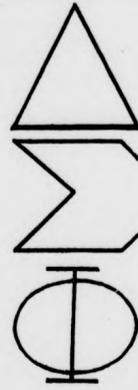

It was the first West Coast launching of a Delta rocket, made up of a Thor missile with three solid rockets strapped on its sides for extra thrust and tipped by two smaller stages. Deltas have orbited 37 satellites from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Students fined on liquor counts

Two students pleaded guilty in Lansing Township Justice Court Friday to charges of violation of the liquor law, University Police said.

David L. Kendall, Pontiac sophomore, and Rhode R. Garrett, Georgetown, N.Y., sophomore, were fined a total of $43.50 each. The two were arrested on campus Sept. 27, police said.

SET UP PROGRAM

Teachers, administrators talk

By RON ROAT
State News Staff Writer

Nearly 200 Michigan teachers and school officials helped initiate a $20,000 state-paid program handling conflicts over wages and working conditions at Kellogg Center Friday.

The Statewide School Employee-Management Information Conference was a direct result of the Public Employees Act in 1965 which gave teacher organizations the right to be recognized.

"We the people of Michigan have moved into a whole new period of teacher-administrator relationships," Ira Polley, Superintendent of Michigan Public Instruction, said.

He said that the Michigan Board of Education had immediate problems in finding ways to provide enlightened negotiations between school administrators and teachers.

"The best way to prepare for negotiations is to create a favorable rapport to start bargaining on a friendly and sound basis," Thomas J. Brennan, chairman of the Michigan Board of Education said.

"Many times negotiations break down between administrators and teachers because of the lack of experience of the two groups," Brennan said. "However, inexperienced negotiators have still come up with many contracts in Michigan."

Brennan said that people are now beginning to realize the role education now plays in the social processes of our lives. "There is no doubt the challenge of education must be met in our future," he said.

School boards have real problems in knowing what the teachers want, Brennan said.

"School representatives and teachers should get together now and lay down rules for the next negotiation period," he said. "It would be time well spent."

"This Act could put this state in the forefront of the nation to show that solutions can be found for the main problems of schools," he said.

Brennan received a round of applause when he said, "Our education problems will continue to exist as long as truck drivers make more money than teachers."

Ida Klaus

Brennan also said that an increase in teachers' salaries will not completely solve the problem. "Teachers, contrary to laborers, also want recognition of their place in our system," Robert Howlett, Chairman of the Michigan Labor Mediations Board, said that when the Act was passed his department was flooded with requests for bargaining assistance.

Charles T. Schmidt, Jr., professor of the MSU School of Labor and Industrial Relations, said that his school and the Michigan Department of Education will conduct workshops, conferences and seminars for the smooth handling of administrator-teacher conflicts.

"The School of Labor and Industrial Relations has had about ten years of experience with working with labor problems," Schmidt said.

"We will call on people from the University, the State Government and from across the state to conduct these classes," he said.

Later Friday night Ida Klaus, Director of Staff Relations, New York City Board of Education, told how the teachers of New York City obtained improved salaries and working conditions.

"The New York changes came about without benefit of law," she said. "It came about through the voice of the teachers."

"Two work stoppages made it evident that the teachers were determined to use collective bargaining and would not tolerate delays," she said.

She broke the New York story down into three stages. "In the first stage in 1961, the union presented 160 demands which included a substantial increase in salaries," she said.

"A statement developed and a one-day strike resulted in salary agreements and several working conditions agreements."

"The union also agreed reluctantly to a no-strike clause.

In 1963 the union disputed class size and teachers being assigned to special classes. The union felt that classes were too large, that all teachers could be assigned to special classes and the administration was being unfair.

"The administration accused the union of trying to take over school administrative policy," she said. "In the end, both sides agreed to have periodic meetings on school policy matters."

"By the beginning of the third stage collective bargaining had become the accepted way of resolving disputes," she said. "Conflicts were also taken to arbitrators."

For the first time the New York School Board drew proposals, mostly about policies that had not worked out in the second agreement. This time the teacher's union wanted to abolish staff relations committees and demanded further inroads into dictation of school policy.

The union won each of these demands on the grounds that a more stable and responsible collective bargaining relationship would develop.

Italian comedy well done

By BOB ZESCHIN
State News Staff Writer

A pair of mislabeled "foreign films" opened at the State Theatre Friday night and proved how far off base movie titles can be.

"To Bed Or Not To Bed," for example, sounds like it would be a third-rate sex farce whose only good lines are anatomical. But this Italian-made comedy turns out to be a droll, sophisticated comedy of manners in surprisingly good taste.

Amadeo (wistfully deadpanned by Alberto Sordi) is an Italian fur merchant going to Stockholm to attend an auction. His mind is buzzing with delight, for every magazine article he has ever read assured him that the streets are teeming with amorous blonds eager to take their fur coats for foreign men.

The blondes are there, but for a variety of reasons, Amadeo consistently fails to score. One girl turns out to be a mere thirteen, another jilts him because he killed a man during the war, and others just don't seem to be interested.

Finally, after a riotously bungled weekend in the country, Amadeo heads back to Italy, still frustratingly celibate but convinced that things may not be all that fantastic up north.

Sordi is superb. He is humorous and sad at the same time, conveying emotion with barely perceptible gestures and changes of expression. And the Swedish scenery is beautiful.

"Seduced and Abandoned," on the other hand, conjures up images of Mafia, Magnani, and daggers, but is nothing more than an earthy but only occasionally amusing comedy of life among the peasantry.

A young girl made pregnant by her sister's fiance provides the supposedly comic background for a generally lackluster cast.

The girl's father is played well, but this isn't enough to drum up interest in a rather mediocre film.

Duffy to speak

Coach Duffy Daugherty will discuss the upcoming MSU-UM football game at the MSU Men's Club meeting at 12:10 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Parlors.

Faculty Women's Club members are invited to attend the luncheon as paying guests.

Club women set first meeting

MSU Business Women's Club will hold its first luncheon meeting at 11:45 a.m. Wednesday in the parlors of the Union building.

Mrs. Clarence Rhodes, publicity chairman of the Lansing area League of Women Voters, will speak on "My Vote? It's Not Important-Not So!"

Membership in the club is open to any member of the clerical staff at MSU. Meetings are held 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the first Wednesday of each month.

Reservations can be made by calling Miss Betty Culpeper at 353-6470.
