

STUDENT BOARD PAY VOTE TODAY

Youth Option: Peace Corps Or Military

MONTREAL (UPI)--Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara proposed Wednesday that the United States adopt a form of universal service that would let young people serve their country in military or peaceful projects, at home or abroad, for two years.

In a major speech, the Pentagon chief argued that international security in the thermonuclear age depends not on the multiplication of weapons but on economic, social and political progress in backward nations.

Thus he suggested a "community of effort" in which the "dedicated generation" of young Americans would perform two years' service that might help these nations.

Furthermore, McNamara said, the proposal would be a means of overcoming the present "inequity" of the military draft system, which calls up only a minority of eligible young men.

"It seems to me," he said, "that we could move toward remedying that inequity by asking every young person in the United States to give two years of service to his country--whether in one of the military services, in the Peace Corps, or in some other volunteer developmental work at home or abroad."

McNamara was the keynote speaker at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

In Washington the Defense Dept. gave no clarification of his remarks. It was not known whether he proposed including girls as well as young men, whether the idea represented official Johnson administration policy, whether legislation to implement the idea was being prepared, or how the present draft system might be affected.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said his House Armed Services Committee would "welcome any proposals." McNamara had on military service. The committee is scheduled to hold hearings soon on the Selective Service System.

In his address, McNamara made these major foreign policy points:

--The danger of nuclear catastrophe can be reduced by "breaching the isolation of great nations like Red China."

--There is an urgent need for a "reasonable nonproliferation agreement" barring the spread of nuclear weapons to nations which do not have them now.

--The United States cannot be the "global gendarme." Although it will help nations requesting aid in their development, other rich nations must do more in international peacekeeping, he said.

Junk NATO, Warsaw Pact, Say Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI)--The Soviet Union said Wednesday both the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and its Communist counterpart, the Warsaw Pact, should be junked.

In a diplomatic reply to a West German message, the Russians also called for a broad treaty arrangement to restrict nuclear proliferation and said it would support admission of both West and East Germany to the United Nations.

The Soviets renewed their call for a conference of European nations--but not the United States--to tackle the problem of divided Germany.

The Russian message, responding to a note distributed by West Germany March 25, said the USSR "stands for the accomplishment of a German peace settlement" and said that "in case of an appropriate application by the Federal Republic of (West) Germany to the United Nations, the Soviet Union will advocate the admission of both German states."

Observers here said the Soviet aim appeared to be to get the United States out of Europe, but they said they saw nothing new in the note, which was delivered to Bonn Tuesday and released here Wednesday.

KIDNAPER'S KILLER?--Larry Rubeck, 15, of Shade Gap, Pa., fingers the hole in the window of his home when he fired a rifle to kill kidnapper William D. Hollenbaugh. However, county coroner autopsy reports indicate that the boy did not fire the fatal shot.

GIRL UNHARMED

Kidnaper Slain In Gun Battle

SHADE GAP, PA. (UPI)--Peggy Ann Bradnick, a 17-year-old girl kidnapped by a deranged sniper-turner-killer who kept her chained by the neck for seven terrifying days, was rescued unharmed Wednesday and her abductor shot to death in a brief gun battle.

The kidnaper, William D. Hollenbaugh, 44, who killed an FBI agent Tuesday, was felled by a single bullet. Larry Rubeck, 15, a farm boy, said he killed Hollenbaugh by firing a shotgun slug through the window of his home at nearby Fort Littleton.

But Fulton County Coroner Dr. Russell C. McLucas said an autopsy indicated the bullet that killed Hollenbaugh was not fired by Rubeck. He said the kidnaper was killed by a single rifle bullet that entered the tip of the left shoulder and emerged in the neck above the collar bone.

Jack Conmy, press secretary to Gov. William W. Scranton, said "Young Larry fired his shot gun as another state trooper fired at Hollenbaugh."

Dr. McLucas indicated that the trajectory of the fatal shot showed it could not have been fired by Rubeck.

McLucas said only a ballistic test could determine who fired the fatal shot, but this can not be accomplished since the bullet passed through Hollenbaugh's body and was not found.

A force of 250 state troopers which had surrounded Hollenbaugh's mountain hideout throughout the night began closing in at dawn. Deputy Sheriff Francis Sharp found the kidnaper and the girl in a cabin.

Conmy said Hollenbaugh shot Deputy Sharp in the stomach and, pushing the girl into the back seat of the car, forced the deputy to drive toward Highway 522, a quarter of a mile away down a farm lane.

At the Rubeck farm, Hollenbaugh ordered the bleeding deputy to get out and open the gate to the highway.

Conmy said Rubeck pointed a shotgun out the window of his home and fired simultaneously with state troopers, who had just arrived at the Rubeck farm.

The shot spun Hollenbaugh around, said Conmy, and Peggy Ann broke away and ran.

Hollenbaugh fired two shots back at the officers and went down, he said.

Sharp was listed in serious condition.

Consider Raise In Tuition

By DONNA CUMMINGS
State News Staff Writer

The Board of Trustees will consider today limiting University admissions by adopting a graduated tuition schedule based on family income if inadequate legislative appropriations are adopted.

Under the proposal submitted by trustees Donald Stevens and Clair White, tuition for Michigan residents would range from free to $1,020. Out-of-state students would pay $1,020.

MSU officials told the house ways and means committee last week that unless $1.7 million was added to the funds already approved by the senate, a tuition hike would be considered to meet expenses.

Stevens and White's proposal suggests that the increase be on a graduated scale rather than a flat-rate hike. Says White, "A flat-rate increase financially discriminates against an individual's right to go to school."

Under the trustees' plan the tuition of a student coming from a family where the annual income is under $5,000 would be free. Where the annual income is over $5,000 and under $10,000 the student's fees would be $324 per year.

Fees for a student from a family with an annual income above $10,000 and under $15,000 would be $350, while the fees for a student from a family where the income is over $15,000 and up to $20,000 would be $870.

Where the family income is over $20,000 a student's fees would total $1,020 a year.

Stevens and White's plan allows the family income an additional $1,000 per year for each additional dependent over the student and the parents before any fees would be charged. Hence, the tuition for a student coming

Rules Study Group Calls Hannah, Neville

President Hannah and Howard R. Neville, provost, will meet with the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs to discuss the committee's tentative guidelines for rules and rule-makers.

Neville will appear before the committee Friday, and Hannah will appear Monday.

The next day, Tuesday, an open hearing will be conducted 3-5 p.m. by the entire committee in 32 Union Building. Anyone who wishes to testify at the open hearing should contact Chairman Frederick Williams, 406 Morrill Hall, or any member of the committee.

The hearings will center around the proposed guidelines which the committee has drawn up in the course of its survey of rules and structures of the University which affect the academic freedom of students.

These guidelines cover student rights and responsibilities in such areas as activities, academic areas, records and judicial procedures.

The committee began its survey in January and is expected to issue a final report to the Academic Council next month.

Knottiest problem facing the committee at present is how to provide just procedural safeguards for student judicial appeal without turning the campus into one gigantic piece of appeal machinery.

Committee Formation Main Issue

Students will vote today on the controversial issue of compensation for ASMSU officials which the Student Board granted itself winter term. It was later repealed by the Board under pressure of student opinion.

Voting will be in all living unit lunch and dinner lines and in the Union, the International Center, Bessey and Berkeley halls. All full-time undergraduate students are eligible to vote.

Voting in the living units will be from 15 minutes after the lunch and dinner lines open to 15 minutes after they close. Students may vote at the other locations 8:15 a.m.-4:45 p.m.

In order to facilitate voting, and in an attempt to get a larger turnout, students will be able to vote without leaving the meal lines wherever this is possible.

Students will be asked to vote for or against the proposal on compensation. The proposal, if passed, would establish an independent committee on compensation, with a representative from each of the six major governing groups of ASMSU. The committee would be chaired by a senior who could vote only in the case of a tie.

No more than 2 per cent of the last year's assessment on students would be available each term to the committee which would decide who would be paid and how much.

Eligible for compensation, if the proposal is passed, will be the members of the Student Board, including its chairman, vice chairman and secretary and cabinet vice presidents.

Even if the proposal is passed, the committee on compensation will be subject to recall by a referendum of the student body.

Student Ideas On Pop Acts Sought Today

When students vote today on the referendum on compensation, they will also be asked to answer five questions about their opinions on popular entertainment.

The questions are concerned with what artists will be contracted for 1966-67, what prices will be charged, and when the concerts will be presented.

Rick Hollander, who is in charge of the poll, stressed the importance of students' filling out and returning the questionnaires. He said that the responses to this survey will probably be the major factor in determining how popular entertainment will be handled next year.

Students are being asked to indicate their preference among 15 artists and groups, all of which would be available for next year. The groups available include the Beach Boys, Henry Mancini, Peter, Paul and Mary, the Ramsey Lewis Trio, Harry Belafonte, the Supremes and others.

Course Committee Asks Individual Study Program

A University College curriculum committee has proposed a new series of 300-level courses for supervised individual study. The Honors Program Committee of the University College has suggested that the four University College departments each offer a course worth approximately three to five credits.

Students wishing such a course would have to obtain the permission of the appropriate department and the instructor with whom they wish to study.

The quantity of work expected of the student, according to the committee's proposal, would depend upon the number of credits he has enrolled for.

There would be at least one hour of consultation each week between the student and the instructor.

The committee's report suggested that there had been requests for individual study opportunities in the past, but that there had been no such courses offered, except through other colleges.

According to Edward A. Carlin, dean of the University College, the proposed courses, labeled ATL 300, Humanities 300, etc., would allow students to further their studies with a particular professor or instructor under whom they had particularly enjoyed studying in the past.

Before becoming actual course offerings, the proposed courses must be approved by the University College departments and several other faculty and administrative groups.

Carlin suggested that any student wishing to comment on the proposal contact Arvo E. Juola, professor with the Office of Evaluation Services.

STEP Appeal Short As Final Drive Starts

An 11th hour appeal by Student Education Program (STEP) officials to gain needed funds for its summer project in Mississippi begins today.

The volunteer group plans to contact residence hall spokesmen and fraternity and sorority houses in an effort to reach its goal of $13,300. To date they have collected $8,725.

The program received strong support from residence halls and MSU Greeks last spring, but officials report they have contributed only $208.65 this year.

The purpose of the two-year-old program is to aid Negro high school graduates in the Holly Springs, Miss., area reach the educational level of their white counterparts before beginning college.

STEP officials hope to instruct 100 high school graduates at Rust College, a small liberal arts school near Holly Springs.

Thirty-six volunteers plan to offer instruction in various disciplines with emphasis on mathematics and communications skills.

So far the only residence halls to support the program this year have been North Case, East Wilson and North Campbell halls.

The program must reach its goal by May 27 or else cut either the number of volunteers to be sent to Mississippi or the number of students which can be taught.

It costs $100 per month to subsidize a volunteer or Mississippi student.

STEP officials have approached 68 foundations for donations to the project but all have refused to donate because Rust College is presently unaccredited in Mississippi.

Federal government agencies have also declined to donate. Donations have been received from the following organizations:

|-------------------|----------|
| Individual----- | $2,307 |
| Church----- | $2,234 |
| Dormitories----- | $208.65 |
| ASMSU----- | $2,800 |
| Mortar Board----- | $500 |
| HPR Club----- | $25 |
| Civic Groups----- | $650 |

Persons interested in subsidizing a student volunteer from their particular dormitory may send contributions to Rev. John Duley, 505 E. Grand River Ave. Dormitory spokesmen interested in bringing a STEP volunteer to speak to his floor or precinct about the STEP program may contact Harris F. Beeman at 355-5250.

Mrs. Tooze Hates Booze

EVANSTON, ILL. (UPI)--The booze flowed merrily while Mrs. Fred J. Tooze, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, beamed and sang "Happy Birthday."

Mrs. Tooze was happy Wednesday because 218 cans of beer and 10 bottles of scotch, gin, vodka and vermouth were going down the drain.

It was police officer Zeltee Edwards' birthday party and the liquor had been confiscated by Evanston police in the past month.

It was poured down the drain of the men's shower room while Mrs. Tooze, an Evanston resident and guest of honor at the occasion, joined the officers in singing "Happy Birthday" to Edwards.

Barking Cop Routs Canine

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (P)--Patrolman Maynard Merrill decided to try a new tactic when he answered a complaint in North Willoughby about a stray dog.

He was unable to find out where the dog belonged, so he drove his patrol car slowly toward the dog, barking loudly over the car's loudspeaker system.

It worked, said Merrill. The dog turned tail and headed for home.

Construction Strike Nearing Paralyzing, Disruptive Stage

EACH DAY THE construction strike remains unsettled, the chances of MSU completing its massive construction program on schedule are lessened. And to make matters worse, there is nothing the University can do about it.

For two weeks now, the bricklayers, painters and carpenters have been on strike against the construction industry. But since disagreement is between the construction company and the three unions, MSU can only wait and hope.

Strikes are always unfortunate, for both the unions and companies involved, but they are especially crucial when public institutions are also adversely affected.

Work on numerous buildings on campus at various stages of completion has been brought to a standstill.

Already the pressure is on MSU. If the strike continues much longer, the addition to Kedzie Hall will have only a fair chance of being ready for use by the beginning of fall term.

Because of the increasing number of students each year at MSU, new buildings must be built to provide the needed facilities for students and faculty. Long strikes or anything that idles a significant number of workers puts the building program in danger.

And to top it off, the construction companies work on a tight schedule, allowing little or no leeway time.

Two years ago, the Fee and Akers complexes were put weeks behind schedule because of several prolonged strikes. Only a mad rush with 24-hour work shifts made the residence halls livable by the time fall term began in 1964. But they weren't completely finished until the end of the term. A few more days on strike and nearly 3,000 students wouldn't have had a place to live at the beginning of the term. And where does a University, even MSU, find room for 3,000 students to live?

Nothing has been done since that time to prevent a similar situation from happening again. A paralyzing strike could disrupt the orderly processes of the University by idling essential construction. The present situation is approaching that point.

The only answer appears to be compulsory arbitration, taking any contract dispute which could adversely affect a public institution to an impartial body to decide the case, when an impasse is reached. In this way, universities could be spared from long and sometimes costly strikes and both sides, the unions and the companies involved, could be at least partially satisfied and continue work.

Michigan Legislators Seek More 'Fun Land'

MICHIGAN'S OPEN country is dwindling as the suburbs and industry inch into the countryside.

In a move to acquire additional land for recreational purposes, state legislators have proposed a constitutional amendment which would allow the state to purchase up to $30 million in land for recreational purposes.

THE SOONER THE land is purchased, the better. As land becomes more scarce and prices rise, the amount that can be bought for $30 million will decrease.

Also, the underdeveloped land best suited for parks and camping purposes will probably be acquired by private interests if the state does not buy it soon.

THIS INCREASING SCARCITY is caused by overcrowded conditions now existing at many state parks. In the future these parks will become more inadequate.

If the proposed amendment passes, Michigan will have the funds to reduce the present overcrowding of recreational facilities. But if the proposal is voted down, Michiganans will be faced with overcrowded parks and a stagnation of the growth of the lucrative tourist industry.

Viet Nam War Frustration Draws Johnson Unity Call

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI)--

Frustration is leading the administration to display increasing irritation with its foreign policy critics at home as well as with squabbling political factions in South Viet Nam.

President Johnson's blast in Chicago Tuesday night against domestic "nervous Nellies" came shortly after Secretary of State Dean Rusk acknowledged that the American public was growing impatient with the interminable political strife in Saigon, Da Nang and Hue.

The President put his finger on the reason for his administration's growing testiness when he acknowledged that officials were as "troubled and frustrated" as their critics. He asked for some constructive suggestions.

Rusk pinpointed a major cause of this "frustration" when he told a news conference that failure of the South Vietnamese to subdue their differences and get on with the anti-Communist war effort was causing "restiveness" here.

"When the American people are called upon to make a major effort to support the independence and safety" of South Viet Nam, they naturally expect that country to set aside domestic conflicts that hamper the war effort, he said.

In effect, Rusk was blaming the South Vietnamese generals and Buddhists for the frustration in the United States that leads to the domestic criticism Johnson deplors.

The President makes two points his opponents find it difficult to refute: --Failure to halt aggression in Viet Nam would encourage the Communists to continue or to undertake new campaigns of conquest elsewhere.

--Those who oppose his policy should say clearly "what other policy they would pursue."

The President's speech, with its charge that opponents were seizing on "childish divisive things," was unlikely to dissuade such critics as Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Arkansas Democrat has argued that Americans, particularly in Congress, not only have the right but the duty to dissent when they believe their country is following the wrong course.

Johnson's rather strenuous condemnation of criticism is likely to be construed by his opponents as a demand for an end to all opposition to his Viet Nam policy.

The administration's sensitivity to criticism and searching questions is understandable in the light of the complexities and slippery character of the situation with which it must deal.

The President has said the struggle against the Communists cannot succeed unless there is a Saigon government capable of capturing the support of a majority of the South Vietnamese. The spectacle of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky attempting, by one device or another, to regain control of the five northern provinces illustrates that his government does not meet Washington's qualifications.

The President and Rusk have appealed for all elements, including the militant Buddhists led by Thich Tri Quang and antigovernment troops in the 1st corps area as well as Ky's regime, to put aside "the lesser issues in order to get on with the great national tasks."

The bickering South Vietnamese show no signs of doing this. The United States is forced to carry more and more of the burden of the war. And the "restiveness" of the American people is likely to increase rather than diminish unless there is some radical change.

OUR READERS SPEAK

Public Opinion Feared?

To the Editor:

I am writing on behalf of the East Holmes Hall Council to express views on the ASMSU Compensation proposal. We supported the MHA proposal to change the question so that students would be able to express their feelings on compensation itself, in other words, to say yes or no to the basic issue of compensation. Those who supposedly represent us in ASMSU quickly rejected this proposal with the excuse that a proposal of this type would merely be a "public opinion poll." Perhaps some of our representatives in ASMSU are afraid of public opinion.

It is a safe bet that if a proposal of the type advocated by MHA ever went to the students, compensation would be turned down by the student body. Recognizing this, ASMSU has given us a slanted proposal, leaving the possibility open for compensation no matter what the final vote is.

However, our representatives in ASMSU have promised that no compensation will be given if the proposal is rejected on Thursday, May 19. While this is no promise for the future, it will prevent compensation at this time. Perhaps this promise was made because of the pressure of "public opinion" on the issue. "Public opinion," especially when the public happens to be college students, may not be as dangerous as some of our representatives seem to imply. At any rate, a

"no" vote on compensation is our best course of action on May 19.

Miss Norrell, Check Your Draft Status

To the Editor:

Roaring out of the Pot Luck Supper League, prancing with the most eloquent Readers Digest style of truism and justice, eventually rising to the levels of MSU famous quotes, comes Gwendolyn Norrell's May 16 statement about the draft tests. "There were no disruptive demonstrations of any sort here. Just a bunch of good wholesome kids following directions."

There are of course many beliefs which could be stated here both pro and con about the draft method and the whole Viet Nam situation, but that is not my main concern. Mine and yours is one which has to deal with the MSU advisors who, until the last draft test has been turned in, wait patiently, praying that no more demerger will come to MSU's campus. Then as this miracle seems to come about they, following in the great tradition of others before them, turn to the ladies of the Pot Luck Supper League and in most reverence say -- just a bunch of good wholesome kids following directions --

The problem with Miss Norrell's statement seems to be that it lacks any type of individual objective thought; which tends to have one believe that she is an ardent member of the Readers Digest set. To you, Miss Norrell, I have only one question to pose. Have you checked your local draft board deferment status lately?

MSU Began In 1855

To the Editor:

Your article in the State News of May 13 entitled "MSU Birthday Falls Luckless" is timely but inaccurate in one important detail. The 63 students and four professors, including President Williams, began their careers here on May 13, 1857, not 1855.

The birthday of MSU is generally reckoned as Feb. 12, 1855 because the act providing for the establishment of an agricultural college became law on that day. The college did not actually begin to function until May 13, 1857 after some land had been cleared and two buildings erected.

The college celebrated its semi-centennial in 1907 but decided subsequently to honor the earlier date of 1855 as the date of its founding. It is interesting to note that in 1955 when MSU celebrated its centennial, Penn State did likewise and the U.S. Post Office issued a commemorative stamp honoring both institutions as being 100 years old.

College Bowl A Game

To the Editor:

A point of clarification concerning the East Akers College Bowl "Mix Up."

1. The lack of communications involved was between the ASMSU College Bowl authorities and the Mayo Hall scholastic chairman.

2. The pairing of East Akers-Mayo halls presented no insurmountable obstacle. We won our first match. Note the long and successful partnership of Shaw halls with West Circle Dorms.

better team than we did. Whether they would have beaten us had the rest of the team been there is as problematic as any piece of historical second-guessing.

4. The College Bowl is primarily a game -- like athletics an entertaining and relaxing diversion. Like athletics it can be taken to represent something which bears no relation to its true meaning. This has been evident in the East Akers intramural College Bowl.

Let us keep College Bowl what it should be -- an entertaining, enjoyable experience.

CAMPUS AMERICA

BUFFALO, New York--The Buffalo Common Council passed a resolution against anti-Viet Nam war demonstrations at the State University of New York.

Councilman Gus Franczyk said that what happens at the university is a reflection on the governor of the state of New York. "The main concern is the use of state agencies... and anti-war activities are a subversion of state policy," he said.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.--The house of representatives has restored cuts in President Johnson's budget that will result in giving the University of Minnesota $231,000 more than was proposed for next year.

TOM SEGAL

5 To 1 Fee Ratio Unfair

IF THE STATE Legislature fails to give MSU an additional $1.7 million, the money will have to come from a tuition increase. President Hannah has estimated that the tuition hike would be $150 a year for non-residents of Michigan, and $30 for Michigan residents.

Naturally, out-of-staters would be expected to pay more than Michigan residents because Michigan taxes support the school. Hannah arrived at the $150 non-resident increase by equalizing MSU out of state tuition with the University of Michigan's non-resident tuition.

He then multiplied the number of out-of-staters by $150 and subtracted this amount from the needed $1.7 million. The remainder was divided by the number of in-state students. This came to $30 per student.

At first glance this arrangement seems fair. But actually it is exorbitant when compared to the present in-state to out-of-state tuition ratio.

Out-of-staters pay $291.50 a term, and Michiganans pay $109.50, a ratio of 2.7 to 1. Any tuition hike should approximate this present tuition ratio, not the proposed 5 to 1.

If a 5 to 1 ratio were adopted, both out-of-staters and instaters would suffer. An out-of-state student living in a dorm would face a double-barreled assault on his bank book--a $150 tuition increase coupled with a $45 dorm fee hike. The $195 total increase will definitely force some non-residents to abandon their MSU roots and go elsewhere.

BUT A $195 increase might also discourage many out-of-state high school seniors from considering MSU. Michigan residents could lose the opportunity to get to know people from various regions of America.

Exchanging ideas with people from other areas can contribute to one's education. A school the size of MSU would not be complete without a strong segment of students from other areas of the nation.

But Michigan students may question whether the advantages of mixing with students from all over the country are worth the added cost of maintaining lower out-state tuition fees.

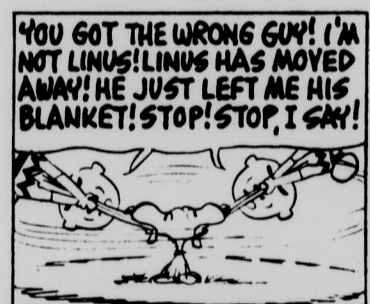

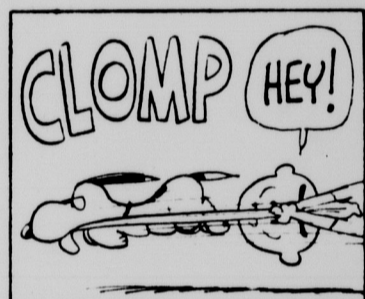

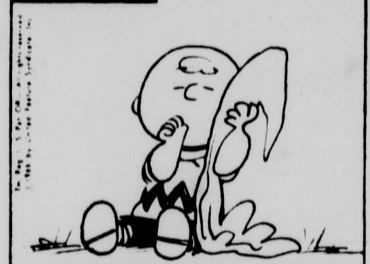

Actually the cost of keeping the fee hike ratio closer to 2.7 to 1 would not impose hardships on Michigan residents. Roughly four out of five MSU students are from Michigan. That means that every dollar that is chopped off the out-of-state tuition increase would be absorbed by four Michigan residents, each paying only 25 cents more.

Obviously, from the student standpoint, the most comfortable solution to the tuition increase problem would be a $1.7 million appropriation from the Legislature. Then there would be no need for a fee hike.

But this is also the fairest solution, for the Legislature has the obligation of providing the minimum operating funds for state-owned universities. If it does not appropriate the additional $1.7 million, it will not fulfill its obligation.

If it does fail to meet this obligation, and if a fee hike is forced upon the students, the Board of Trustees should try to make the increase fair to all students by applying the present 2.7:1 tuition ratio to the tuition hike.

Heavy Troop Buildup
Due, Says Rep. Laird

WASHINGTON (UPI)--A Republican leader said Wednesday the administration has sent 440,000 American fighting men to Southeast Asia and is planning to dispatch heavy reinforcements in the next six months to Viet Nam.

Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., told a news conference the Defense Dept. had classified the manpower buildup plans as secret. He contended there was a growing "credibility gap" among Americans because he said the administration refuses to tell them what is going on in Viet Nam.

Laird's 440,000 figure was much higher than the latest public announcement of 255,000 ground troops and airmen in Viet Nam.

A top Pentagon official said Laird's figure "is not square with any figures we have." He said there were about 255,000 American military men in Viet Nam and between 75,000 and 100,000 elsewhere in Southeast Asia, for a total of as many as 355,000.

ASMSU Board Asks
'The Paper' Charges

The ASMSU Student Board asked Tuesday that the Board of Student Publications make public and specific the charges against The Paper, whose authorization was revoked by the public board last Friday.

The Student Board, although it did not take a stand on the content of The Paper's May 12 issue, did suggest that the public board did not consider its decision in depth. The Student Board also recommended that the revocation of the Paper's authorization should not affect its privilege of distributing its issues on campus.

The Student Board's action came on a resolution by John Mongeon, Men's Halls Annns. representative. (It was erroneously stated in Wednesday's State News that the resolution was introduced by Jim Sink, junior member-at-large.) The board approved Mongeon's resolution after about an hour's debate.

Michael Kindman, editor of The Paper, made a presentation to the board, in which he read almost verbatim his printed answer to the public board's charges, as he understood them. Copies of this will go to all public board members.

The ASMSU board approved donations of $200 each plus free mimeographing and silk screening to the People to People Project and the Strike City project. Karen Radom, Birmingham junior, addressed the board on the People to People Project and Mrs. Janie Close made a presentation to the board about Strike City, including a film taken there.

The board also voted to lend its support to the fund drives that the two groups will be holding beginning Monday, May 23.

Members of the present board were named to replace members from the first session board on the ASMSU Student Rights and Responsibilities Committee, which is working with the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs. Named to the committee were:

Jim Graham, chairman, who will replace John McQuitty; James Carbine, vice chairman; Larry Owen, Inter-fraternity Council representative, chairman of the subcommittee on records, replacing Andrew Kramer; Lou Benson, junior-at-large, chairman of the subcommittee on student rights and responsibilities in the classroom, replacing Gary Steinhart.

Other changes include: James Sink, senior-at-large, chairman of the subcommittee on disciplinary procedures, replacing Frances Frei; and John Cauley, appointed, chairman of the subcommittee on student rights and responsibilities in activities on and off campus.

Social Conscience Unattuned

Society is not in accord with social conscience. Our age is self conscious, but not unique, according to William H. McNeill, chairman of the Dept. of History at the University of Chicago.

In a lecture on the commonwealth of the University Wednesday, McNeill said that social conscience will attempt to make the world over in a new image to give man rest, but that the tensions of evil throughout the history of the world will continue.

According to McNeill, more attention must be placed on personal ethical codes. Social conscience must be more receptive to the behavior of the world. It is, in effect, a by-product of social friction.

Discrepancies between social consciences arise from changes in human conduct. There is a constant demand to revert to the old ways of society, as patterned by philosophy.

According to McNeill, social consciousness acts to arouse social conscience when things seem to fall. Man must reorganize his ideals and behavior to coincide with history and his own logic.

History shows that man, in his attempt to change society, more often fails in the attempted assault on corruption. This failure, McNeill said, was due to the high pitch of ideals.

The most successful movement, according to McNeill, was seen in the ideas of Confucius. Confucius stressed the idea that interpersonal morality was relative to the action between groups.

McNeill was critical of the attempt of churches to reform and revise the social conscience. Churches are too eager to take on the world, according to McNeill.

McNeill claimed to be optimistic in saying that social consciousness will drive man to seek his image of the ideal.

Big Ten Tennis Tourney Begins Here Today

State Takes 3 Doubles In Purdue Make-up

By GAYEL WESCH
State News Sports Writer

Today is the opening day of the Big Ten Tennis Championship tournament here. This is the day MSU Tennis Coach Stan Droba called, "The most important day of them all."

First and second round singles action will be held this morning with doubles action slated for this afternoon.

On Wednesday the teams finished up all make-up matches, which included MSU against Purdue in doubles to square things up in dual meet points.

The Spartans scored three vicories over the Boilermakers to complete a 9-0 shutout which was started last weekend.

Rich Monan and Mickey Szilagyi defeated Wayne Svoboda and Rex Hedegard, 6-4, 6-4, to set their league mark at 7-2.

Vic Dhooge and Jim Phillips won their seventh straight in league play with a 6-4, 8-6 victory over Eric Schmidt and Phil

RICH MONAN--MSU's No. 1 singles player. A sophomore from Coral Gables, Fla., he has a 5-4 record in league singles play.

LAIRD WARNER--No. 3 singles. A senior from Dearborn, he is 6-3 in league play. He made it to the semifinals of last year's meet at the same position.

MICKEY SZILAGYI--No. 2 singles. A sophomore from Milwaukee, Wis., he has compiled a 7-2 record in the league. MSU's only lefthander, he has teamed with Monan for a 7-2 mark at No. 1 doubles.

VIC DHOOGEE--No. 5 singles. This junior from Grosse Pointe with an 8-1 record was runner-up last year at No. 5 singles. Has teamed with Phillips for an 8-1 record at No. 2 doubles.

MIKE YOUNGS--team captain and No. 6 singles man, is a senior from Hastings with a 7-2 in the league. He teamed with Warner for an 8-0 record at No. 3 doubles.

Laird Warner and Mike Youngs remained undefeated in league play with a 6-4, 6-0 victory over Purdue's Don Stone and Dale Moline.

Michigan, the defending Big

JIM PHILLIPS--No. 4 singles. Junior from Mason with a 6-3 league singles mark, he lost in the semifinals last year at No. 4.

Ten champion, split four make-up matches with Illinois.

The Wolverines will go into the conference meet with 72 dual meet points to lead the pack. MSU's 62 puts them in second place.

Indiana's 59 places them in the third position going into the tournament. The Hoosiers had a make-up match with Illinois at a doubles position but decided not to play it. If it becomes crucial to their standings they will play it at the close of the tourney.

The players were seeded and placed and the drawings were held Wednesday night. The first round will get under way at 9 a.m. for singles and 1:30 p.m. for doubles today.

MSU was fourth in the Big Ten last year behind Michigan, Indiana and Northwestern. The Wildcats lost Marty Riessen and Clark Grabner, both Davis Cup players, via graduation. They have dropped well down in the standings this season.

The only individual defending champion returning to the meet is U-M's Jerry Stewart, who won at No. 4 last year but is playing No. 2 this season.

Runners-up back are Dave Power of Indiana at No. 1 singles, Dhooge at No. 5 singles, and Mike Baer of Indiana at No. 6 singles.

Power is the favorite at No. 1, but will receive strong competition from Minnesota's Jerry Noyce and Michigan's Karl Hedrick.

MSU's strong point should be in doubles. All three doubles teams are among the top three in the league.

BIG 10 TOURNEY BEGINS TODAY

MSU Golfers At Iowa City

By DAN DROSKI
State News Sports Writer

MSU's golf team is at Iowa City this weekend for a four-round Big Ten meet that begins today and ends late Saturday afternoon.

The meet should be dominated by Ohio State, Purdue, Michigan and MSU, with Indiana given an outside chance at the crown.

Spartan Coach Bruce Fossum took a six-man squad on the trip, and team depth may be the key to MSU's fortunes.

Seniors Ken Benson and Rick Mackey are expected to play steady golf throughout the tournament, and either one of them could win the individual championship. However, Michigan's Bill Newton is back to defend the title he won last spring. Newton faced the Spartans top duo last Monday on MSU's home course, and he fired a 75, while Benson shot a 74 and Mackey carded a 78.

Also expected to be among the tournament's top players are juniors Sandy McAndrew and Doug Campbell. McAndrew is one of the longest hitters in the conference, and if he can score consistently, he may take the individual title away from the favorites. Campbell has been playing excellent golf as of late, as proven by the fine 74 he fired last Monday in the match against the Wolverines.

day in the match against the Wolverines.

Campbell could be the key to the Spartans hopes for victory. If the Battle Creek junior can keep pace with MSU's top three, the rest of the conference could be in trouble.

The remaining two positions on the squad are being ably filled by two low-scoring sophomores, John Bailey and Steve Benson.

Bailey started out the season a little erratically, but seems to have settled down now. He may provide just the scoring punch MSU will need.

Steve Benson, the younger brother of Captain Ken Benson, has played excellent golf all year long and has been keeping pace with his brother in the last few matches.

The sophomore from Crete, Ill., is hoping to play some of the best golf of his career this weekend. A low score from Benson should give MSU the depth needed to finish high in a tourney where the top five scores from each school are tabulated in deciding the team champion.

Purdue must be tabbed the pre-meet favorite on the basis of last year's win in the conference meet. The Boilermakers defeated Michigan by 14 shots, and they have four of their top players back for another shot at the crown. Jim Duffy, Mike Gery, Rick Radder and Dave Schumaker all finished high last season.

Ohio State is also expected to place in the first division, but the Buckeyes will not be as strong in Iowa City as they are on their own course. Michigan and Indiana are also hoping to finish high, with the remainder of the conference hoping to escape the cellar.

Clay Set For Rugged Bout

LONDON (R)--Cassius Clay wound up his main training program Wednesday and said he expects Britain's Henry Cooper to give him a hard time.

Clay, who defends his heavyweight crown against Cooper at London's Arsenal Stadium Saturday night, said:

"George Chuvalo was heavier than me and I could see him and hit him when I fought him in March. "But Cooper is light and dangerous. He can move fast and that left hook of his is a wicked blow."

Cooper's left hook put Clay down when they met in London in 1963--and the undefeated Clay has never forgotten it.

Clay said Tuesday night he would retire if Britain's Henry Cooper takes the world heavyweight title from him.

Dressen Had Attack

DETROIT (R)--Detroit Tigers' Manager Charlie Dressen suffered a second heart attack Monday, doctors at Henry Ford Hospital confirmed Wednesday.

"They reported Dressen was in serious condition although he spent "a good restful night and seemed to be more comfortable." The 67-year-old Dressen was admitted to the hospital Monday after complaining of arm and chest pains. Doctors said following tests Wednesday there had not been "any new complications."

Dressen missed three months of the 1965 baseball season after he suffered a heart attack in spring training.

GI's Have Viet Gripes Too

By LEO ZAINEA
State News Staff Writer

Van Sauter, former Viet Nam correspondent who spent 10 months hopping foxhole to foxhole with the GI's, says the average American fighting man in that war-torn country has three main gripes.

"GI's have nothing but contempt for Viet Nam and Vietnamese people," he said, "and they know there are not enough men in Viet Nam for total victory." In addition, said Sauter, a staffer with the Detroit Free Press, the GI despises the anti-war critics at home.

Sauter, who traded a McCann-Ericson attache case a few years ago for street reporters' shoes, spoke to a combined meeting of the professional and campus chapters of Sigma Delta Chi, Professional Journalistic Society, Tuesday night.

Despite what critics say at home, he said, there are no simple solutions to the war in Viet Nam.

"Much of the second-guessing is tragically correct, but where were these people in the 1950's?" he asked.

"Now it's too late to debate the question of the morality of the Viet Nam war."

He compared the struggle in Viet Nam to the old-style western movie saying: "Viet Nam's not big enough for both communism and democracy—one of them must lose."

American fighting men are hardened against the Vietnamese people, said Sauter, because they are aware the government there does not back its own people.

"GI's know that the leaders of the government are corrupt and have been subverted by the enemy," he said.

"The soldier never meets the people he's fighting for," said Sauter, "but only the derelicts of Viet Nam."

The South Vietnamese soldiers are only converted peasants who view the Americans as successors to the French and people refusing to hold elections, said Sauter.

"It's the people of Viet Nam who take the beating in this war," and the peasant has adopted the attitude of "a plague on both your houses!"

In the U.S., he said, military officials are viewing the Vietnamese confrontation in terms of a future conflict with Red China.

"The U.S. feels it must plant the seeds of democracy wherever it might grow, thus the fight is between communism and democracy."

After taking part in a number of missions and witnessing the utter failure of others, Sauter realizes the futility of many of the skirmishes with the Viet Cong.

"The United States is unsuccessful many times," he said, "because they have no security in the countryside."

He recalled one instance when an American plane bombed a schoolhouse in Song Bay where it was known the Viet Cong held a cannon. But a few frightened kids had hid there when the shelling began and were killed in the bombing.

Sauter said a young American walking amid the rubble remarked "I have more pigs to give away than there are people left in town."

"This is going to be a long term investment," predicts Sauter, "possibly three to seven years."

"There are many reasons to believe we will never prevail in Viet Nam."

"There are no absolute truths in this conflict," he claimed, "and anybody who thinks there is any simple solution to it all is a fool."

The attitude throughout the U.S. becoming stronger each day, he said, is either total victory there or get out.

"As for me," said Sauter, a hulk of a man who sports a "Col. Blimp" mustache, "I went there a dove and came back a hawk."

Scaled Hike

from a $6,000 family would be free.

The plan also proposed that all future increases in student fees be confined to families with incomes over $15,000 and to out-of-state residents.

Present student fees are $324 for Michigan residents and $870 for out-of-state students.

Trustee White strongly urges "friends of MSU" to express their disapproval of the inadequate appropriations in the offering for MSU "in every possible way."

Spartan Spirit Petitioning Starts

Petitioning for positions in Spartan Spirit for 1966-7 will begin today and will continue until Friday, May 27.

Those interested may obtain petitions in 334 Student Services. Petitions should be returned before the May 27 deadline to 325 Student Services.

Anyone wanting further information may contact Bill Lukens, ASMSU Cabinet vice president for student services.

20th Century Midwest Subject Of Convention

"Midwest and 20th Century America" will be the subject of a convention today in the Con-Con Room of the International Center.

The convention, sponsored by the MSU American Studies Assn., will feature Nelson Algren, author of "The Man with the Golden Arm" and "Walk on the Wild Side."

Algren will speak at 10 a.m. on "Midwestern Writers and Writing." He is currently with the writers workshop at the University of Iowa.

The editor of "Folklore in America," John T. Flanagan, will speak at 1:30 p.m. on "Midwestern Literary Magazines." Flanagan, a professor of English at the University of Illinois, is the holder of Guggenheim and Newberry fellowships and is a Fulbright lecturer.

Carl W. Condit, professor of art at Northwestern University, will speak at 3 p.m. on "Contemporary Chicago Architecture." Condit is the author of "The Rise of the American Skyscraper" and "American Building Art: the 20th Century."

All lectures are open to students with no admission charge.

By DAYLE SCHWARZLER

The United States should withdraw its military bases from Japan as soon as possible, Lawrence Olson, a member of the American Universities Field Staff (AUPS), said Tuesday night at the Union.

"The bases are more trouble than they are worth at present," Olson said, speaking at a lecture sponsored by the International Relations Club.

Their usefulness is impaired by the conditions of the treaties which established them, and they are a constant source of irritation because they provide leftist groups with a specific issue on which to focus, he said.

Japan is in the process of emerging as a truly independent nation, politically as well as economically, Olson said, and the era of Japanese dependence on the U.S. is coming to an end.

"The basis of Japanese foreign policy since 1945... has been to rely on the U.S. for its military defense... and to try to rebuild its economy and restore a sense of confidence in Japanese motives in the Asian area," Olson said.

"Japan is reaching a stage today where it will rely less and less on the U.S. This is inevitable and natural and, I think, desirable," he said.

Japan has concentrated on rebuilding its economy and has moved very slowly in the area of political issues, he said. But the Japanese will try to rearm as quickly as possible and seek to follow their own course in a military sense.

And if current world conditions persist, Japan will not be denied nuclear weapons, Olson said.

This is all part of Japan's emerging nationalism. The trends are difficult to pinpoint because there is no concrete evidence of them as yet, he said.

We should not put a cynical interpretation on these goals, Olson said.

"We are not faced with a neo-Fascist threat from the Japanese government," he emphasized.

What Japan wants is to be able to take a more neutral position in world affairs, he said. This does not mean that Japan will become Communist, because Japan has strong economic and political ties with the free world.

The U.S. should encourage the Japanese to take a positive, constructive role in world affairs, he said. We should also encourage Japan to give more assistance to underdeveloped non-Communist countries like India. Japanese technical skills are considerable and are in many respects better suited to the development of these countries than are ours, Olson said.

"Japan is capable of assisting in international projects and is taking part in multilateral schemes for the economic development of Southeast Asia, for example," he said.

The Japanese are a parochial people and need to share their experience with others in a constructive way, he said.

He noted that Americans have three major stereotypes of Japan:

(a) That Japan is an extremely decorative culture, rather eloquent and beautiful.

(b) That the Japanese are a rather cruel and very cunning people.

(c) That the Japanese are a peculiarly imitative people.

Like all stereotypes, these have perhaps a grain of truth in them, but no more than that, he said.

"Japan is in economic terms a developed society that resembles some European countries much more than it does Asian countries," Olson said.

"The Japan I know and have lived in for most of the last 10 years is really primarily an urban industrial society engaged in making money, raising its standard of living and seeking for some kind of safe and respectable role in world affairs," he said.

Olson has lived and traveled extensively in Japan. The AUPS published a collection of his reports entitled "Dimensions of Japan" in 1963.

He taught briefly at the University of Wisconsin and at Vassar before joining the staff of the AUPS in 1955. He has been traveling and lecturing at member colleges under the AUPS program for the last 12 years.

East Campus
Says ECCH!

ECCH!! The East Complex Carnival Happening planned for this weekend will feature a parade, a midway and a King and Queen Contest.

The residents of Fee, Akers, Holmes, and McDonel will open the "carnival happening" with a parade at 5:30 on Friday.

The parade, beginning at Kellogg Center, will feature the Scots Highlander Drum and Bugle Corp, Miss MSU, Mr. MSU and representatives of MSU's athletic teams.

After the hour and a half parade back to the East Complex, carnival publicity chairman Kathy McGinnis suggests following the foot prints to the "unknown" Talent Show theater.

The Talent Show, beginning at 8 p.m., will feature the king contestants. The contestants, nominated by the women residents in the complex, will be vying in costume and performance for the designation of "King of the Carnival--the world's worst failure and flop".

Following the competition the audience will "penny vote" for their favorite. The king will be announced Saturday night.

Saturday evening the Rogues will provide music for an out-doors dance near McDonel, 8 p.m. -1 a.m.

The highlight of the dance will be a queen contest, in which residence hall representatives, who have been nominated by the men in their hall, will be judged by faculty and staff members on bathing suit and formal appearance and responses to serious and humorous questions.

The King and Queen of the Happening will be presented together at the dance.

Throughout Saturday afternoon a midway, located in the rear of Conrad Hall, will provide games and stunts for students. The midway will open Friday immediately after the parade.

All proceeds from the midway booths and the penny voting will be donated to CARE.

Beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday students can participate in games including a three-legged race, a co-ed potato sack race and an obstacle run.

On Sunday afternoon the residents of the East Complex dormitories plan to recuperate from the happening at an afternoon picnic.

Big HAPPY
At 7 Tonight

Holmes Hall will have a "HAPPY Night" 7-9 tonight. HAPPY Night is an evening of mock protest, demonstration, and a hoote-nanny.

The word "happy" is an acronym standing for: Holmes All Purpose Protest Yclept. The intention of HAPPY Night is to parody protest marches and demonstrations. Its purpose is to provide: fun.

The group, carrying signs, both blank and filled out, will march on a route beginning at the loading dock area at Holmes, continuing down Farm Lane past the Auditorium, and ending at Beaumont Tower, where the hoote-nanny will be held.

Men!

Why wait any longer? Let us act as your agent to import for you a quality Swiss shaver direct from the manufacturer (the Swiss make shavers for some of America's largest merchandisers). You needn't strain your pocketbook for quality when you can buy direct--we have been told this shaver does a better job than others costing over twice as much, and it looks sharp too! Comes complete with a detachable cord, a zipper plastic case, and 2 year guarantee. Your direct import cost is $8.49, and this includes Michigan sales tax. Send check or money order to Michigan Buying Service, P.O. Box 412, E. Lansing, Mich. Your shaver will arrive in 7 to 10 days by air parcel post. Single shipments usually arrive duty free, otherwise a customs service charge of .33 and a duty of about .47 is payable on arrival. All included, you will be delighted at the comfortable shaves you will get from this quality unit at such a low cost. Order one for father too!
