Compensation Committee Censured

The Student Board Tuesday unanimously passed a resolution to formally censure the committee on compensation for its advertisement in the State News the day of the election on compensation urging the students to vote in favor of the referendum.

The resolution, proposed by John Mongeon, representative of Men's Hall Assn., came on the heels of a letter from Off-Campus Council condemning the advertisement, and a mandate to Mongeon from MHA to move formal censure for those responsible for the advertisement. The advertisement was also the target of a State News editorial Tuesday.

In a brief meeting Wednesday afternoon, the board appointed Ralph Faust, Berwyn, Ill., junior, to the chairmanship of the committee on compensation. This committee is being created in accordance with the resolution on compensation, which was approved last Thursday by fewer than 100 votes.

The board at its meeting Tuesday night considered two recommendations from Jim Graham, chairman of the board, Faust and Judy Ball, Miss Ball was chosen, but it was discovered Wednesday that she had not the requisite number of credits. Faust was chosen at the meeting Wednesday.

The board discussed and finally refused to accept the recommendations of the interviewing board for prospective justices for the traffic appeals court. Ron Kirk, presently chief justice of the traffic court, presented the selections of his interviewing board for the approval of the Student Board. After about an hour's heated debate, the board voted not to accept the recommendations. Kirk notified the board later in the evening that petitioning for the justices' positions had been reopened.

The board, however, did confirm the appointment of Bob Zuzack, Detroit Junior, as chief justice of the traffic appeals court for next year.

In other action, the board approved its budget request of $558 for next year. This is not the board's budget, but is only the amount that the board will request when the budgeting is done next week.

Apprehension Surrounds Oregon Primary Results

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS
WASHINGTON (UPI)--Political veterans of both parties raised questions Wednesday about the extent to which results of the Oregon primary could be interpreted as a vote of confidence for President Johnson's handling of the Viet Nam war.

Several cautioned against reading too much too soon in the solid victory of Rep. Robert B. Duncan, who supports Johnson's southeast Asian policy, as the Democrats' Senate nominee over Howard Morgan, a foe of U.S. involvement in the war.

They said other important issues were involved, including the widespread personal popularity among Oregon voters of the man Duncan will face in the Nov. 8 election--Republican Gov. Mark Hatfield.

Hatfield, also a Viet Nam critic, took 75 per cent of the vote in the GOP primary over three opponents.

Duncan, munching peanuts and sipping beer at a welcome-home party in his Capitol Hill office, told newsmen that U.S. policy in Viet Nam was the "significant issue" in the primary. He said the heavy vote for Hatfield was "not significant at all" because there was "no contest" in the GOP primary.

Highlights of primary results in three other states:

--Florida Democrats gave Miami Mayor Robert King High an upset runoff victory over Gov. Haydon Burns for the gubernatorial nomination. Burns had tried to depict High as the candidate of bloc-voting Negroes.

--Oklahoma Democrat nominated Preston J. Moore for governor over former Gov. Raymond Gary. Dewey Bartlett, a Tulsa oilman, defeated Waukomis banker John H. Camp for the GOP nomination.

--Former Rep. M. Gene Snyder, a Goldwater Republican, defeated Louisville insurance executive James Thompson for the GOP nomination for a house seat in a reapportioned district, Sen.

Uganda Said On Verge Of Civil War

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI)--Fighting erupted anew Wednesday in Uganda's capital city of Kampala between government troops and rebel forces. The neighboring East African nation appeared on the brink of all-out civil war, according to reports reaching here.

An Uganda government statement said 22 persons, including several Europeans, had been killed in fighting since Monday. But unconfirmed reports said as many as 200 may have died.

U.S. Ambassador Oleott H. Deming earlier in the week had advised Americans in Uganda to stay off the streets and to keep children home from school. There are about 800 Americans in Uganda, most of them missionaries.

(U.S. officials in Washington said there were no reports of injury thus far to any of the Americans.)

According to the reports, gunfire was continuing around the Palace of the Kabaka (King) of Buganda, one of Uganda's four kingdoms which has been accused by the central government of plotting to secede.

Roll out those lazy, hazy, crazy days of Saugatuck, those days of sunning and dancing and beer. This is undoubtedly the thought of many Michigan college students as summer unofficially begins Friday with Memorial Day weekend.

"Saugatuck residents welcome law-abiding vacationers with open arms," said Erwin F. Casten, Saugatuck Township Justice of the Peace. "We'll not allow any tomfoolery," continued the judge. "Violators of the law will be arrested."

Notice of a student's misdemeanor will be sent to his college, according to Casten. "In past years we sympathized with the students because of their upcoming exams," said the judge. "This year, however, we're not feeling sorry for them. If they don't behave... Bingo! They'll be arrested."

It is illegal to drink on the streets of Saugatuck and in the village's public parks. "An individual arrested for disturbing the peace," Casten said, "may have committed one of a multitude of sins."

The use of loud and profane language in public, tying up traffic, and drunken and disorderly conduct disturb the peace, according to the judge.

Draft Study Ideas Heard In Congress

Graduates Get Tickets Next Week

Tickets for spring commencement exercises will be available to spring and summer term graduates Wednesday through June 3.

Senior Council will distribute the tickets 9 a.m.-5 p.m. at a booth on the first floor concourse of the Union. Each graduate must pick up his own tickets and must present his ID at the booth.

Spring and summer term graduates are allotted two guest tickets. Any tickets which have not been claimed by Thursday will be distributed Friday on a first-come-first-served basis.

Commencement tickets for guests of doctoral candidates will be distributed at the office of the dean for advanced graduate studies. Tickets for DVM candidates will be distributed at the veterinary office. Tickets will be available at both of these offices Wed.-Fri. between 8 a.m. and 1-5 p.m.

Candidates for either the doctoral or DVM degrees who plan to attend the ceremonies should telephone their respective offices before 5 p.m. June 2 if they are unable to pick up tickets during the distribution time in order to reserve them.

Student teachers will be receiving two guest tickets through the mail at their student teaching addresses.

Guest tickets will be used only in the event of rain or bad weather when commencement exercises will be held in Jensen Fieldhouse. Guests who do not have tickets may view the ceremony on closed circuit television in the Auditorium without charge.

Otherwise the ceremony will take place in Spartan Stadium, which allows each graduate to bring any number of guests.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)--Traffic policeman Jerold M. Bova, 23, testified Wednesday at a heavily guarded coroner's inquest that he accidentally shot and killed a Negro motorist when the car lurched, knocked him off-balance and caused his pistol to discharge.

Bova, flanked by six burly sheriff's deputies in the well-guarded county courthouse hearing room, told of participating in the high-speed chase of the motorist.

Student Cyclist Fatally Injured

East Lansing Police released details Wednesday morning of the motorcycle accident at noon Tuesday in which an MSU student was fatally injured.

S. Doug Henaire, 22, Drummondville, Quebec, Canada, senior, died later Tuesday from internal injuries sustained in the accident at Ann and Haslett streets.

An eastbound car stopped for a stop sign at Ann and Haslett at 12:32 p.m., police said. The driver said he saw no traffic approaching from either direction.

As the driver started to pull out, he saw Mr. Henaire on a Honda coming north on Haslett, he told police.

The motorcyclist apparently dodged to miss the car, police said. He lost control of the bike and fell off, landing between the sidewalk and curb of Haslett.

There was no collision at any time between the car and the motorcycle, police reported.

Mr. Henaire received no noticeable external injuries, police said. He was immediately taken to Sparrow Hospital.

Mr. Henaire died at 3 o'clock that afternoon from a ruptured liver.

He was a senior in landscape architecture and was to have graduated at the end of next fall term. He was engaged to an MSU student and was to be married in September.

Mr. Henaire was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and resided

Romney To Run For 4-Year Term

From Our Wire Services

LANSING, MICH. (UPI)--Gov. George Romney announced Wednesday he will seek a third term as governor of Michigan. He ducked questions about his alleged presidential ambitions.

"No one can foresee with certainty what will happen two or four months from now, let alone two to four years from now," Romney said. "The only office for which I am a candidate is governor of Michigan."

Even as Romney was fending aside 1968 speculation, his presidential support from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was reported even more solid than Rockefeller publicly indicated two nights ago.

Romney surprised no one with announcement Wednesday he would seek the state's first four-year gubernatorial term. Prior to this election, terms had been two years.

Parrying newsmen's questions about his presidential thoughts, the 58-year-old governor finally broke up in laughter when asked if he would accept a 1968 nomination.

And then, for the third time, he repeated the "No person can foresee" statement.

What some Republicans leaders are foreseeing, however, is that Romney, a former president of American Motors Corp., is the most likely candidate of the moderate wing of the GOP.

Romney stood somewhat apart from the moderates, however, as they flourished in the face of the Barry Goldwater conservative tide in 1964. Romney at the

Enrollment For Fall Set In Summer

Schedules for the completion of registration and enrollment for fall term will be mailed this summer, according to Registrar Horace C. King.

Students will receive section reservation request forms and fall term schedule books in August. The completed form must be returned to the Registrar's Office by Sept. 1.

King explained that all of the forms must be received by that date because of the time required to code and process them. Any form received after Sept. 1 will not be processed, he said.

Section requests will be considered in this order: graduate students, Honors College members, seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen.

Registration will be in A-Z order fall term.

King reminded students that they must see their academic adviser by Friday.

He also suggested that all students who do not expect to be at the address where their grade cards are sent should leave a forwarding address if possible.

The Saugatuck Township Justice Court will be closed after regular office hours. The hours are 9-4 p.m. weekdays and 9-2 p.m. Saturday.

"Vacationers should have adequate identification for both themselves and their cars," said Bobbie McCray, Saugatuck deputy. Additional village, township and state police who will patrol the area are prepared to be firm with all violators.

Tom Johnson, owner of Coral Gables in East Lansing and the Old Crow in Saugatuck offered some suggestions for students spending the weekend in the resort village.

"First, have a place to stay at night," offered Johnson. "The police will be looking for people sleeping on the streets and beaches and in cars."

If no accommodations are available in Saugatuck, spend the night in one of the surrounding towns. Holland, Douglas, Zeeland and Grand Haven are less than an hour's drive from Saugatuck.

Johnson advises students to take a "decent set of school clothes" with them. Customers will not be allowed in the Old Crow and other night spots after 8 p.m. in shorts or other beach clothing.

Hershey Defends System

WASHINGTON (UPI)--Republicans in Congress called Wednesday for an in-depth review of Selective Service, including the question of whether the draft was necessary at all.

A group of 23 House Republicans said such a study had not been undertaken in 15 years, during which the general population had increased by 26 per cent and the draft-age population by 95 per cent.

In the Senate, Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., introduced a resolution to establish a Senate-House committee to examine Selective Service operations and policy.

The proposals came as Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of the Selective Service, defended the draft against charges that it was shot full of inequities.

The House Republicans said, "The manpower needs of the services and the manpower available to the services are both dramatically different than they were when the current draft law was enacted by Congress."

The first question to be considered, they said, was: "Is the draft necessary at all?"

If the answer is yes, the Republicans said, other questions must be considered, such as whether it is necessary in peacetime and whether it is fair.

Hershey said the draft in its present form was better for national defense than Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's suggestion of a universal service in which all young Americans should serve one to two years in military duty or in civilian endeavors such as the Peace Corps.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, called Wednesday for an exhaustive examination of McNamara's suggestion. He said "our present system of choosing those who serve in the military is riddled with inequities."

Hershey, testifying before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, said the armed forces should not be burdened with the educational, physical and moral rehabilitation which would be needed under the universal system.

Also, he said, the cost of universal service would be tremendously greater. The budget for the Selective Service System for the next fiscal year is $51.9 million, which Hershey felt was too low.

McNamara, speaking last week in Montreal, proposed his universal service program to help overcome what he called "in-

Memorial Set For Stevens

A forestry scholarship fund has been established in memory of Terrill D. Stevens. It was announced Wednesday. Stevens, chairman of the MSU Dept. of Forestry for 15 years, died suddenly Tuesday morning of a heart attack at the age of 63.

Stevens received his B.S., F., degree from Montana State University and his Ph.D. from Yale University. He joined the MSU staff in 1941 after teaching at Colorado State University. Listed in "Who's Who in America." Stevens also worked in forestry in West Germany, Taiwan and Auburn University in Alabama.

Contributions to the fund should be sent to the Terrill D. Stevens Memorial Fund in care of L.A. Carter, Forestry Dept., MSU. Professor Carter is the acting trustee of the fund.

Further Aid To Long Yen Dependent On Fund Drive

A SMALL VILLAGE in the war-ravaged land of South Viet Nam is a little better off today because a few MSU students took constructive action. Last year some 20 students formed the Michigan State University People to People Assn. (MSU-PPA) and decided to "adopt" a Vietnamese village.

The village of Long Yen, situated 60 miles northwest of Saigon, with a population of 3,000 was selected. As with most Vietnamese villages, Long Yen was and still is impoverished and lacking basic necessities.

THE FIRST QUESTION raised by some people was, what can a bunch of idealistic college students do for the people of a village in a war-torn country thousands of miles away? The answer is they can do a lot.

First they brought Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Carl Rowan, then director of the United States Information Agency (USIA) to the campus to raise money for their project last spring. Then after conferring with the U.S. AID missions in Viet Nam and the South Vietnamese government, a check was sent to the villagers of Long Yen. But neither government controls the funds or their allocation.

THE FUNDS were used to enlarge the marketplace in Long Yen and hopefully, continued assistance will enable the village to quadruple its economy. MSUPPA has also provided two scholarships for students of the village to the province school.

Now, in what is seemingly the season of the fund drive, MSUPPA is sponsoring a fund drive to help provide further assistance to the villagers of Long Yen. Canisters have been installed in most stores on Grand River Avenue and in the residence halls. A total of $35 can provide transportation, lunches, tuition and textbooks for a Long Yen student for a full year. To be successful, and in turn, be helpful to the village of Long Yen, the project needs the support of the University community.

MSUPPA has begun to help the village of Long Yen, and though it is but one village of many in need of assistance in Viet Nam, it is certainly worth the effort. The MSUPPA project is as non-political as any project can be in Viet Nam. With our support, it can bring worthwhile improvements to the village of Long Yen.

Public Education Is Key To LSD Problem

CONGRESS RECEIVED SOME GOOD advice this week from James L. Goddard. The commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration told a Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency that it would be unwise to make possession of the drug LSD illegal.

"It is our intention to move vigorously against those who manufacture or distribute LSD," he said. The FDA is empowered to crack down on the hallucinatory drug under the Drug Abuse Control Act, which went into effect Feb. 1. It prohibits the unauthorized manufacture, distribution or sale of the dangerous drug.

BUT GODDARD had good reason not to ask for legislation to punish those in possession of LSD. For one thing, it would place as high as 10 per cent or hundreds of thousands of college students in the category of criminals, he said.

That estimate is revealing. If the use of LSD is as high as 10 per cent of the nation's college students, the crackdown would do little to deter them from using it. Passage of a law is not going to stop LSD's use. But an effective educational program is. And that is what the government is now undertaking. Every student should be made aware of the drug's dangers by college and high school sponsored programs and seminars on the subject.

A law would defeat the purpose of an educational program, however. It would put more "kicks" and "thrill" into LSD's use by the nature of it being illegal. A highly punitive law would also prevent those who are suffering from its ill effects from seeking treatment.

IN MATTERS of public health and morals, quite often, legislation has only provided a partial solution to a society. But public recognition of dangers to health and morals through education has been much more effective.

IS INCREASE NECESSARY?

Economists View Taxes

By STEPHEN GATES
State News Staff Writer

What do MSU economists think about a much talked about federal tax increase to halt the trend toward inflation?

There seems to be no consensus among MSU experts concerning the methods of obtaining an increase, the correct time for one, or even whether there should be one at all.

The background behind the controversy is very complex but in general is based upon the increased spending that has resulted from the war in Viet Nam. President Johnson has been hinting at the possibility of tax increases if the price indexes continue to rise.

Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., claimed in a recent speech on the MSU campus that Congress would vote a tax increase shortly after the November elections.

However, three MSU professors suggested during interviews with the State News that several things would have to happen before a tax increase or any other measure would be necessary.

Harry G. Brainard, professor of economics, suggested that the wholesale price index and consumer price index could possibly be used as indicators of the need for a tax increase.

Brainard explained that the federal government had two basic ways of maintaining price levels.

First is by the monetary policy it pursues, he said. He believes, however, that the Federal Reserve System has gone about as far as possible in controlling the availability of money, thus eliminating the possibility of action in this area.

Secondly he suggested that the government may affect price levels by its fiscal policy. This he grouped into two areas—government expenditures and taxation. Reduction of government expenditures is very difficult because of the widening war in Asia and the newness of the Great Society programs, he said. He did not rule out the possibility of any decreased spending, however.

This leaves taxation. Brainard suggested that not all of the tax measures passed so far have been noticed by the consumer, but may begin affecting the economy in the future. He listed the new withholding policy, which began May 1, and the increased Social Security taxes as specific examples of this situation.

If price levels continue to increase at a rapid pace, he said, there would almost certainly have to be a tax increase. He suggested a combined income and corporation tax increase as probably the best of the policies available for combating inflation.

Brainard suggested as possible guidelines for a tax increase a 0.5 to 1.5 per cent increase per month in the wholesale price index and a 0.5 to 1 per cent increase in the consumer price index.

A second MSU professor, who asked not to be identified, said that a 5 to 7 per cent increase in both income and corporation taxes, as proposed by many economists, would be about right to help curb inflation.

However, he did not suggest an immediate increase but said that the main problem with any tax increase would be one of timing.

He also commented that he would not suggest repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit now in effect because it was designed to help encourage long-range investment and should be a permanent part of our tax structure. Third to comment upon the tax increase was Thomas R. Saving, associate professor of economics.

Saving suggested that very little has been done by economists to determine the costs of inflation in terms of loss of real income, so that any judgment of whether there was a necessity for a tax increase was difficult to make.

He commented that where there were possibilities of error in prediction—wide variances around expectations—that it was often safer to err by lack of action than to begin an action that might bring results far worse than the original problem.

Japanese Hardly Naive

To the Editor:

According to the Article 'Japan A Power Again' (May 17), Mr. Olson said, 'The Japanese don't know much about the Viet Nam situation. They are a little naive on the subject of Viet Nam.' Does he mean that the Japanese think America has little business disturbing other countries, though they don't know the real situation?

Didn't he realize while he was staying in Japan that so many books written about Viet Nam (about both South and North Viet Nam) are published every day and almost all of them are on the best selling list? Didn't he realize that every newspaper sends its correspondent to Viet Nam to try to get all the information available over there? Didn't he realize that every mass communication media does its best to let the people know and understand the real situation in Viet Nam? Considering the circulation of newspapers, and the fact that almost every household has TV sets, it is beyond doubt that the Japanese are not exposed to sufficient information to let us be able to understand the situation.

I don't want the MSU students, any American and many other nations to think that all the protests against the U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war by the Japanese are caused from the ignorance of the situation in Viet Nam. Certainly we do know what we are doing and why we do what we are doing. Our protest against it is basically based upon our bitter and cruel experience of WWII and the profound understanding about the war.

Yes, it is true that we the Japanese have admired the power of China. But don't misunderstand, we don't respect her military power, we do respect her national power as a whole, which has made her become one of the most important nations (although there are some countries that don't admit her as a nation) and with which the Chinese has solved many serious social problems under such handicaps. Don't misunderstand, sir.

Printer's Own Decision

To the Editor:

It has been with a great deal of interest that I have followed the running commentary on The Paper issue. Sorting out the grains of facts from the chaff has been quite a job.

I was especially chagrined at the suggestion that we were pressured by University officials in making the decision not to print The Paper—or the fish wrapper as we have referred to the publication for the past few months.

The truth of the matter is that after the smut-filled edition of May 12 slipped past us and slithered its way to the campus, we called University officials and told them we would not print it in the future.

Using words and phrases found on the walls of public toilets is not our idea for responsible journalism.

Missed The Point

To the Editor:

Attn. Tom Bennett & Al Spillner

Gentlemen:

Your interest in historical fact is admirable, but I'm afraid you missed my point.

I thought (mistakenly in your case, I guess) that students here would see that I was referring in my letter of May 10 to the fact that here in the "Land of the Free", with rights protected by constitutional and statutory guarantees, we elect -- in Governor Wallace -- a demagogue who would deny equal protection of the law to citizens in his state because of race or color.

Anyone who is capable of reading a history book knows that Hitler was, in fact, elected by the Reichstag. By the same token, anyone capable of reading a history book knows that our country in no way does or should resemble post-WWI Germany.

Although the elections themselves were relatively free, Hitler's tight control over the police and propaganda agencies and his own powerful party elite, would seem to belie the kind of "best democratic procedure" of which you wrote.

MSU Not A University?

To the Editor:

In reference to your article about State's two-year medical school, I want to thank you; I was disillusioned. You see, after studying veterinary medicine for almost two years, I was finally informed that I do not attend a professional school.

I do know, however, that my school, the College of Veterinary Medicine is a source of pride for its many students and faculty. We sacrifice many hours for our chosen profession, while we see the rest of the university side-walk-surfing and walking to classes barefoot. May I draw this analogy: If my college is not a professional program, then the rest of this school is certainly not a university.

State News Interpretation Was Wrong

To the Editor:

Quote-Friday, May 20, 1966—State News lead sentence in headline story... "Top-level ASMSU officials will receive salaries, students voted Thursday..."

That was not the proposal and it was the State News and their editorials which convinced us of that. We were voting to establish a committee, separate from the Student Board to decide whether or not salaries should be granted. I sincerely hope this is not another issue like the student tax where 50 cents was supposedly a maximum in the future but which rapidly came into effect.

Please, please, oh Student Board, do not take the State News interpretation of the amendment as factual. We are all aware of the "quality" of their interpretations and reporting. If this was, indeed the issue then I, and I'm sure many others, would like to publicly rescind our "yes" vote.

Asian News Inadequate

MOST AMERICANS DON'T care whether 35 or 45 Viet Cong were killed yesterday. And they are not aroused by headlines shouting "Three Mortar Rounds Smash Into U.S. Base."

But the public is vitally interested in the prospects for peace in Viet Nam and the growth of the power of the Viet Cong. Americans want to know how the headline facts affect the overall situation. The public asks: "What is the significance of the mortar attacks?"

Yet, the mass media insist on pouring out unexplained facts.

LAST WEEK, VAN SAUTER, a Detroit Free Press reporter who recently returned from 10 months in Viet Nam, pinpointed the reason why newspapers do little in-depth reporting of the war.

He said that only a few of the largest newspapers have permanent staffs in Viet Nam. But more important, he said that the wire services concentrate on reporting the facts but do very little analysis of these facts.

Since many newspapers depend on wire services for their coverage of the war, an increase in news analysis by the wires would increase the amount of analysis that filters down to the public.

But some people might argue that the function of the wire services is to supply the facts only. Though it is important that the facts be reported accurately, the facts by themselves do not fully explain the situation.

If Americans are to understand the war in Viet Nam, the facts must be inserted into an overall picture by a competent news analyst.

And this lack of in-depth reporting is not limited to Viet Nam. All of Southeast Asia is foggy to Americans. For example, coverage of the war in Laos was inadequate. Even the New York Times did not present a clear picture of developments there.

Southeast Asia will continue to be a hot spot for years to come. Trouble could sprout up in Thailand, Cambodia, or again in Laos.

NEWSPAPERS HAVE an obligation to the American public to explain exactly what is happening there. They must tie all the facts together into a meaningful explanation of the situation.

And the only way the press can accomplish this task is to organize permanent news bureaus in Southeast Asia, staffed by reporters who understand the politics and social structures in this area.

All segments of the mass media should realize that most Americans, unlike Sergeant Friday of the old Dragnet television show, want more than "Just the facts ma'am, just the facts." We want the entire picture.

same time refused to endorse Goldwater.

The Michigan governor's strong civil rights position is unlikely to help woo Southern support, leaving the populous North and Midwest as his most probable sources of strength in any 1968 nomination fight.

Sources close to Rockefeller now say the New York Republican leader has made a firm commitment to Romney for the nomination—a commitment extending beyond the veiled support he offered in a speech Monday night in Garden City, N.Y.

The sources say Rockefeller has turned over his confidential files and lists of political and financial backers from his own unsuccessful 1964 presidential effort.

Rockefeller's public endorsement apparently was watered somewhat by his relationship with Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., who wants to be New York's favorite-son candidate in 1968 but mainly seeks the vice presidency.

Rockefeller said as Romney and Javits were together: "I find a growing feeling among Republicans that it might be nice to have them together in the future."

WASHINGTON (UPI)--A House leader predicted Wednesday President Johnson's new civil rights bill--with its controversial housing provision--would receive committee approval by the end of June.

The bill's open occupancy section would prohibit racial discrimination in the sale or rental of dwellings regardless of how they were financed.

The bill also would reform state and federal jury selection, strengthen laws dealing with racial violence and provide new legal weapons against school segregation.

Armed Forces At 11-Year High

WASHINGTON (AP)--U.S. armed strength went over the three-million-man mark last month for the first time in 11 years, a Pentagon report showed Wednesday.

Total strength of the armed forces reached 3,005,019 men as of April 30.

Scholars See Viet 'Holy War'

WASHINGTON (UPI)--Two psychological experts put U.S. foreign policy on the analyst's couch Wednesday and came up with general agreement on U.S. war escalation in Viet Nam.

Dr. Jerome D. Frank, professor of psychiatry at Johns Hopkins University, and Charles E. Osgood, psychologist and director of communications research at the University of Illinois, were the leadoff witnesses as chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., took the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's study of foreign policy into the psychological field.

Frank said "The Viet Nam war has assumed an ideological character similar to the holy wars of former times and this has ominous implications." In opposing more military force, he said, "People who are fighting for their ideals seldom if ever can be forced into surrendering by punishment."

Minimum Wage Expansion
Passes House Test--But

WASHINGTON (UPI)--New minimum wage coverage for farm workers squeaked through its first House test Wednesday, but members tentatively voted to deny wage-hour benefits to 1.6 million other employees.

Eliminated from the planned 7.2 million worker expansion of minimum wage coverage were 995,000 service and retail industry employees, plus about 600,000 other workers who were excluded by mistake. The action is subject to reconsideration, probably Thursday.

However, after a long debate, the House voted, 157 to 149, to include coverage of 485,000 farm hands in the law for the first time. Under House rules, opponents had little chance for a second try at cutting out these employees.

The action came during the second day of debate on a bill to extend coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act and increase the present $1.25 hourly minimum wage to $1.40 next Feb. 1 and to $1.60 a year later.

The farm workers covered by the bill would get a $1 minimum next winter and move up to $1.30 in two years. There would be no limit on the hours they could be required to work at standard pay rates.

Other newly covered workers also would start at the $1 level, but move up to $1.60 in 15-cent steps over four years.

The accidental exclusion of 600,000 workers came when the House approved on a 120 to 109 non-record vote an amendment that was supposed to have reduced the coverage by 995,000 workers, principally in small retail and service establishments.

But Rep. John Dent, D-Pa., manager of the measure, said the amendment cut the new coverage by 1.6 million, not 995,000. That would cut total new coverage to 5.6 million.

Anderson told newsmen that the larger cut was not his intention, but that a mistake apparently had slipped into his amendment.

The accidentally excluded workers were said to include employees of manufacturing, mining, wholesale, communications, finance, insurance and processing enterprises.

House leaders had hoped to complete action on the bill Wednesday, but gave up after the hassle arose over the Anderson amendment and long debate on coverage of farm workers. The final vote is expected Thursday.

In 1961, Congress placed under the minimum wage employees of enterprises with gross sales of $1 million or more a year. The committee bill would have reduced that "enterprise sales test" to $500,000 next Feb. 1 and to $250,000 on Feb. 1, 1969.

But after beating back several attempts to eliminate the reduction, the House approved the amendment by Rep. Johnson Anderson, R-Ill., to hold the line at $500,000.

Boy's Abductor Killed;
Boy Safe After Fight

TERRYVILLE, Conn. (UPI)--A despondent city worker kidnapped a 6-year-old boy from a school bus stop Wednesday and then holed up in woods where he was killed in a gun battle with police. The boy was freed unharmed but a policeman was wounded.

The kidnaper, Albert Bunn, 33, traded the boy for a quart of water before he was shot and killed in a homemade fort behind his home.

Police said Bunn, an employee of the Bristol Water Dept., halted his pickup truck at a bus stop in Terryville where Michael Albee and several other children were waiting for a ride to school about 8:30 a.m. EDT.

Bunn grabbed a girl but the child screamed and got away from him. He then seized the Albee boy, who lives only 10 houses from the bus stop, and forced him into the truck.

A passerby noticed what happened and chased Bunn's truck 10 miles to the Bunn home near the Bristol-Burlington town line.

Bunn raced into the house with Michael, grabbed a shotgun and rifle, and ran out behind the house to a rock ledge in a tree covered hilly section.

The unidentified man who had followed Bunn telephoned police who swarmed into the area about 20 minutes later.

U.S.-China Talks
Take Quiet Recess

WARSAW (UPI)--U.S. and Chinese Communist envoys conferred here Wednesday in three hours of secret talks that apparently failed to pave the way for better relations between Peking and Washington.

But U.S. Ambassador John A. Gronouski told newsmen the United States intends to continue using such meetings "to explore all possible avenues leading to a reduction of tensions in the Far East."

Communist China was represented by Ambassador Wang Kuo Chuan in the session--the 130th meeting in the long series of Sino-American talks that started in Geneva in 1955 and moved to Warsaw in 1958.

Wang said after the meeting: "The stand of the People's Republic of China is clear in regard to the present tension in Viet Nam and the Far East. If the United States government does not change its policy the present tension cannot be eased."

There had been speculation the Chinese side would strongly condemn the United States for allegedly shooting down a MIG17 Chinese air force plane inside the Chinese border north of Viet Nam on May 12. The United States had denied shooting down any plane inside China.

It had also been expected that one side or another would raise the question of Red China's third nuclear explosion.

As has been the rule, however, neither side revealed any details of the Wednesday meeting which took place in the Myslewski Palace in Central Warsaw Park from 2 to 5 p.m.

The envoys set Sept. 7 as the date for the next meeting, an indication that neither side felt there were immediate issues that could be solved at this time.

However, Gronouski said, "I believe these meetings provide a vital means of communication with Communist China."

He said the United States intends to continue them because "it is clearly in the interest of all concerned to work towards a just and lasting peace in the Far East."

Gronouski drove away first after the meeting. Wang then told newsmen he had no comment to make. But he added his remark about Far Eastern tensions after he was asked whether he had noted any new attitude toward Communist China on the part of the United States.

The United States has been reported reappraising its China policy in the past several months in terms of seeking wider contact with the Peking regime.

Baker Out Of Running

LANSING--Deane Baker announced Wednesday that he is withdrawing from the race for Republican nomination to the United States Senate to guard against becoming a "divisive influence" in the GOP.

Baker's withdrawal leaves Sen. Robert P. Griffin unopposed for the GOP nomination.

GRAND HAVEN--Robinson Township voters approved two million requests Tuesday, assuring themselves of a fire protection system and extra township operating funds.

A five-year levy of four mills to raise $75,000 dollars for a fire truck and a township hall was approved, as was a request for two mills for one year to help cover township operating costs.

DETROIT--Automobile worker union members from five continents will meet in Detroit next week to exchange information and try to weld a united contract-bargaining front.

The primary purpose of the meetings will be to exchange collective bargaining information and discuss wages and working conditions of auto workers around the world, said Walter Reuther, UAW president.

LANSING--Action will be taken immediately to correct hazards on the so-called "death row" on I-75 in Monroe and southern Wayne counties, State Highway Director Howard Hill said. The strip of highway claimed 11 lives so far this year. A median on the freeway narrows to a seven foot strip in this area.

Maintenance crews will paint the median in these areas a reflectorized yellow. Hill said. Bids will also be taken for installation of double-beamed guard rails topped by two feet of anti-glare screen in this area, he said.

GRAND RAPIDS--"Go-Go" girls have been given permission to resume dancing in five Grand Rapids taverns from which they had been prohibited earlier by entertainment permit requirements.

City Commission approved permits Tuesday for the taverns, whose permits earlier did not provide for entertainment other than music.

LANSING--Democratic legislative leaders said Wednesday that the proposed $5,000 pay raise for legislators might die in committee unless they can find some more favorable votes in the House.

DETROIT (UPI)--Car makers have lopped another 100,000 cars from previous assembly schedules for May through July, an independent industry publication reported Wednesday.

The cutback brings the total reduction in car factory schedules for the last three months of the 1966 model year to 275,000.

CASE WINS DORM TITLE

ZBT Softball Champs

By DAN DROSKI
State News Sports Writer

Zeta Beta Tau won its second title in three years by defeating Delta Tau Delta in the finals of the fraternity softball championships, 7-6, Tuesday evening.

ZBT is the first fraternity to retire the softball trophy by winning the championship three times in the last 10 years.

The champions jumped into the lead as they scored six times in the first inning. Delta Tau Delta came back with a run in their half of the first, and then tallied two runs in the second to make the score 6-3.

Ron Weiss then tripled in what proved to be the winning run for the ZBT's as the Deltas scored three runs in their half of the third to make the score 7-6. The last four innings were scoreless as ZBT hung on for the win.

Len Koltonow was the winning pitcher. This was his second championship win in three years.

Les Frank was also a stand-out for ZBT as he hauled in a long fly ball to stop a DTD threat in the fourth inning.

Joe Issacson played a stand-out defensive game for the winners while shortstop Steve Powers paced Delta Tau Delta with a double and several good plays in the field.

The residence hall championship was won by Cameron House of Case Hall as it defeated East Shaw Precinct No. 8, 2-1. East Shaw Precinct No. 1 won the second flight championship, while West Shaw No. 1 took first in the third flight.

The Roaches won the independent trophy as they defeated the Hustlers by a score of 6-0. Zeta Beta Tau and Delta Tau Delta now join the Hustlers and the Roaches to form the top bracket in the all-University finals. The top four residence hall teams will form the other bracket.

Volleyball Club Planned

Barry Brown and Carol Davis, of the physical education department, are attempting to revive the MSU intercollegiate volleyball club which has been idle for the past several years.

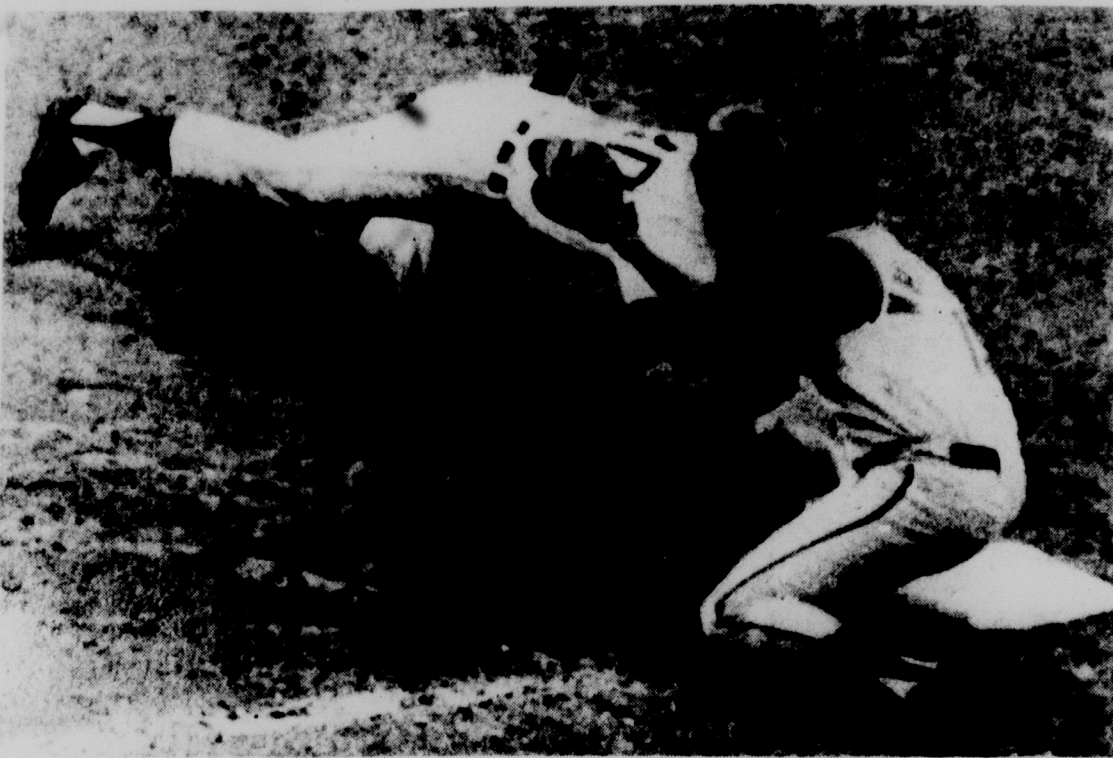

It is hoped that the club will be able to organize and compete with other college and university teams by next year, and the major goal is participation in the National AAU volleyball tourney, next spring in Detroit.

Both men's and women's teams are planned. Tryouts will be held in the fall, but anyone interested is asked to contact either Brown or Miss Davis as soon as possible, at the Men's or Women's IM buildings, respectively.

Top Soccer Teams At U-D In June

Two of the world's top soccer teams, England's Tottenham Hotspurs and Germany's F.C. Bayern, will tangle in University of Detroit Stadium June 17.

The two teams were featured on national television, and student tickets are available at a reduced price of $2 each. Anyone desiring tickets may contact Barry Brown at the Men's IM.

HUSTLING TIGER--Detroit's Jim Northrup has to scamper back to first as Cleveland hurler Gary Bell fires to Fred Whitfield in a pick-off attempt. The Tigers won the first game of a two-night doubleheader, 7-6, but dropped the nightcap by a 2-0 score.

Indians Hold On With Tiger Split

DETROIT (AP)--Neither Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbets nor Detroit's acting skipper, Bob Swift, are too excited about the fact that the Indians still will be in first place when their four-game series ends Thursday night.

The Indians assured themselves of a slightly longer stay by beating the Tigers 2-0 on Luis Tiant's four-hitter in the second game of a two-night doubleheader Tuesday.

The Tigers spotted the Indians five runs, then charged back to win the home run-dominated opener 7-6.

"Sure, that second game was a big game for us--especially after we blew the first one," said Tebbets. "But I can't get too excited yet. Why, we haven't even reached the first of June."

Swift agreed, saying he felt his club would be all right as long as it stayed even with the contenders until everyone got healthy again.

"We've got a couple of good players on the injured list--Dick McAuliffe and Don Demeter," Swift said. "If we can split the next two games with Cleveland, we'll ball right."

"But we've got to keep beating the clubs below us," he added.

Demeter has a pulled muscle in his leg and McAuliffe is nursing bruised ribs--the result of a home plate collision in an exhibition game over a week ago.

The split resulted in one major change in the Tigers' pitching line-up.

Dave Wickersham moves into the starting rotation and Joe Sparma--who lost three in a row and lasted two-thirds of an inning in Tuesday's opener--goes to the bullpen.

"Sparma needs a lot of work but we can't give it to him in the regular starting rotation," Swift said. "We'll use him in relief and to pitch batting practice. When he gets in the groove, we'll move him up. Believe me, he'll be tough when he gets right."

Tebbetts has a similar comment about Tiant, who has won four times in six decisions, all of them on shutouts.

"We were talking about him recently and figured that he's the type of pitcher who is very very good when he's right. But when he isn't you'd better go out and get him," Tebbets said.

Giants Fall To Pirate HR's, 3-2

Alou, Mota Turn On Ex-mates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)--Former Giants Matty Alou and Manny Mota turned on their ex-mates with home runs Wednesday, bringing Pittsburgh a 3-2 victory over San Francisco.

Trailing 1-0 after Willie McCovey's solo homer off Don Schwall in the second, the Pirates struck in the third when Alou and Mota each connected off starter and loser Bob Shaw.

McCovey hit his second home of the day off Elroy Face in the ninth.

Bob Batley opened the inning with a single and Schwall sacrificed. Then Alou sent a drive down the right field line that hit the screen on the fair side of the foul pole for a homer.

Gene Alley grounded out but Mota, filling in for Roberto Clemente, slammed a drive into the wind and over the left field fence. The homers were the second of the season for both Pirates.

Schwall, primarily a reliever, became a last-minute starter and gained his second victory against no setbacks. He allowed three hits through 7 1/3 innings, then was relieved by Face in the eighth after walking Tito Fuentes on four pitches.

Rookie Woody Fryman had been slated to start but had been troubled with a slight stiffness in his shoulder and Manager Harry Walker wanted to take no chances of aggravating the condition in the Candlestick Park wind.

Willie Mays suffered a pulled muscle behind his right knee trying unsuccessfully to beat out an infield grounder in the sixth and was forced to leave the game.

Shaw, who left for a pinch hitter in the fifth, absorbed his fourth loss against a single victory.

Little Sisters Get Special Handling

The little sisters of North Case women are still wondering what college life is really like.

On Friday evening of Little Sisters' Weekend, a South Campus activity, the young guests were treated to dinner-hillbilly style.

The hostesses of "Dogpatch Klearin'" were the Daisy Mae's of second floor's Desert Inn.

The menu, which included black-eyed peas, hush puppies, biscuits and honey, and apple pandowdy, the hillbilly atmosphere, and the entertainment, sparked by a hand-clapping, foot stomping rendition of "Belly up to the Bar, Boys" were planned by Beth Murphy, social chairman, and her committee.

TOP 'S' HITTER, PITCHER

Polisar, Kenney Gain Honors

By JOE MITCH
State News Sports Writer

Steve Polisar and Dick Kenney picked up individual honors in hitting and pitching, respectively, at the close of Michigan State's baseball season Tuesday.

Polisar, a senior shortstop, won the batting title race among the Spartan regulars with a .331 mark.

Kenney, a junior, finished the year with the best earned run average of State's pitchers (2.31) winning five and losing one.

The honors came as a surprise to Spartan officials since both players were expected to be overshadowed this season by other regulars.

Either John Biedenbach or Jerry Walker was expected to win the batting title on the basis of their performances last year.

But Biedenbach, who led the Spartans last season with a .390 mark, and Walker, who batted .429 in the Big Ten Conference last season never lived up to expectations.

Biedenbach finished the '66 campaign hitting .270. Walker batted .176.

Polisar, who transferred from Miami Dade Junior College (Fla.) last year, had more hits (45) than any other Spartan and was third in runs batted in with 20.

At shortstop he was rated as one of the better fielders in the conference. He made only nine errors in handling 142 chances for a .940 fielding average.

STEVE POLISAR

Last season, Polisar sat out most of the year with a broken leg he suffered in the spring training trip to Florida.

Kenney's performance on the mound was perhaps the most pleasant surprise for Coach Danny Litwhiler this spring.

The Hawaiian-born star was to be utilized mainly in relief roles and a few starting assignments.

LEAD IN NET CHAMPIONSHIPS

Ralston, Richey Undefeated

PARIS (AP)--Top-ranked American star Dennis Ralston and young Cliff Richey of Dallas scored victories as U.S. players went through Tuesday's play in the French International Tennis Championships without a loss.

Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., defeated Gerard Pilet of France in the second round of men's singles, 8-6, 6-2, 6-2. The 19-year-old Richey swept by Graham Stilwell of Britain in the first round, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Nancy Richey, Cliff's sister, easily got through the first round of women's play, beating Teresa Quadro of Spain 6-1, 6-3.

Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., also won her first-round match with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-2 victory over Jacqueline Rees-Lewis of France, and Julie Heldman of New York defeated Greta Delport of South Africa in the second round, 6-4, 6-1.

Dorothy Head Knede, formerly of Forest Hills, N.Y., and now living in Tokyo, scored over Pierrette Tachini of Italy in the second round, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2.

One seeded player was beaten and another had a close call.

Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador upset 13th-seeded Mike Sangster of Britain 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, seeded No. 4, squeezed by Robert Maud of South America 6-3, 6-0, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3.

In another dramatic highlight, eight-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa was all even with Giordano Maili of Italy when their match was halted because of darkness. Drysdale's scores were 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 5-5.

Primaries

John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., easily won renomination.

Neither the Democratic nor the Republican National Committees would comment on the results. The White House said the President, who "doesn't react on primaries," had nothing to say.

On Capitol Hill, the morning-after assessments of legislators tended to reflect their individual views on Viet Nam.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the Oregon Democrat who staked his influence on a Morgan victory and lost, saw evidence in the returns that Americans in November would "stop President Johnson's bullets in Viet Nam with ballots in the United States."

Morse, who said he would vote for Hatfield this fall if Duncan won Tuesday, argued that the combined vote for Morgan and Hatfield "indicates strongly that the Johnson administration will be repudiated on the Viet Nam war issue" in Oregon in November.

On the other hand, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said "you can make pretty nearly anything out of it." He said he could not predict whether Duncan's victory could help Johnson.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, said the results represented support of Johnson's policy and a demand for a vigorous war effort.

equities" in the draft system. Hershey made plain he disagreed.

"Inequity is a very easy thing to talk about," he said earlier Wednesday on the NBC Today show. He made clear he felt there was no more inequity in the draft system than in the tax system.

Hershey also said that compulsory education should be extended beyond age 16 to broaden the base for the draft.

Rally To End Fund Drive

Zolton Ferency and a Negro spiritual singing group will join the Wesley Foundation and ASMSU in closing out the Strike City fund-raising drive at an 8 p.m. rally Tuesday in Fairchild Theatre.

Ferency, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak on "Political Action." The Earl Nelson Singers of Lansing will provide entertainment.

Also at the rally a Strike City film, "Mississippi Delta--Winter '66" will be shown.

Donations will be used to install a water well in the Community Center in Strike City, Miss. After the well is installed a Head-Start Program designed to aid underprivileged children in adjusting to society will be initiated, said Janie Close, coordinator of the rally. The well is also necessary to maintain healthful conditions, she said, and $6,000 is needed to construct it.

Strike City is composed of 12 Negro families who received $6 a day driving tractors for A.L. Andrews, a cotton plantation owner. Last May the workers requested a $1 raise. The raise was denied and they were evicted from the plantation and their surplus food supply cut off.

Andrew's reason for halting the food supply was that the people were "no longer qualified" to receive it. Action by a federal agent was necessary in order to reestablish the food supply for the citizens of Strike City.

Tickets for the rally are $1 and will be sold at the Union Ticket Booth, the International Center, and at the Campus and Student Bookstores.

The drive began Monday and will last until June 3.

'Weeping Fig' Growing Well

Ficus Benjaminia is growing up in the middle of the Union Lounge.

The tree, which has now grown to the height of eight feet, is a member of the rubber tree genus and is native to India and Malaya.

Also known as the "Weeping Fig", the tree ordinarily grows small, round, blood-red fruit corresponding to a fig. Under ideal conditions it also has aerial roots or shoots which hang down and "weep".

Ficus Benjaminia needs as much light as possible, said Jack W. Ostrander, assistant manager of the Union. It has only been on campus two weeks but the drapes in the Union are being kept open as much as possible, he said.

The three-year-old tree is expected to grow from four to six inches per year, said Ostrander, but under normal conditions it would increase as much as 12 inches.

A STRIKE FOR STRIKE CITY--Three students begin a fund-raising drive to help 12 unemployed Negro families in Mississippi. Coed Dorm Council Against Board Pay Women's Inter-residence Council Tuesday mandated its representative to oppose compensation for ASMSU Student Board members this term.

WIC members also indicated that residents in women's halls would circulate petitions to revoke the committee's decision if it did decide to pay board members.

Compensation for Student Board members narrowly passed in a student referendum last week.

WIC also supported its representative, Judy Ball, former WIC president, for the compensation committee chairmanship.

In other action, WIC unanimously agreed to request that action be delayed until fall term on a revised judiciary procedure.

Frannie Frei, a member of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs' subcommittee on policy and disciplinary procedure, presented its tentative proposal.

She plans to ask the committee to approve the delay so that the groups affected would have time to study the proposals and present their opinions.

WIC also donated $100 to the Leadership Workshop preceding the opening of fall term.

Discussion on compensation for personnel of the all university radio station, to begin broadcasting fall term, was favorable provided that the word "compensation" be changed to "pay."

Africa Night Exhibition Set

The annual Africa Night will be presented by the African Students Assn. at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Union Ballroom.

Africa Night is a special night set aside by African students at MSU to show Americans, as well as other non-Africans, a little about African culture. There will be exhibits of art, native dances and songs, drama and many other entertaining activities.

The program will be divided into two parts, the stage production and the displays. An ambassador from one of the African embassies in Washington, D.C., will be the guest speaker.

The African students feel that the relations between the United States and African countries are good, but better relations could be made possible through cultural exchange and other activities.

Africa Night is designed to provide an opportunity for taking a "short trip" to Africa and observing African art as presented by Africans.

There is no admission charge and the program is open to the public.

Holy War Possible, Chief BooHoo Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Arthur Kleps, bearded "Chief BooHoo" of a religion-and-drugs cult, warned Wednesday his followers would flood the nation's prisons with LSD in a holy war if the government jails Dr. Timothy Leary.

Leary, a former Harvard University psychologist and leading advocate of the hallucinatory drug, is appealing a recent federal conviction on two counts of possessing -marijuana. He was sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment.

"Tim Leary is generally accepted as the equivalent of Christ," Kleps told a Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee investigating the LSD problem as part of a broader inquiry into treatment of narcotics addicts.

"I see no moral difference whatever between putting our religious leader in prison for 30 years and the incarceration of a rabbi in a concentration camp by the Gestapo of Nazi Germany," said the director of the 500-member "Neo-American Church" at Cranberry Lake, N.Y.

"On the day prison doors close behind Tim Leary, if these ill-considered laws of religious suppression are upheld by the courts, this country will face religious war," Kleps said.

SEES NO SOLUTION

Prof Unable To Shed Much Light On Kashmir Crisis

Baljit Singh, associate professor of political science, said that religion and psychological aspects are two major factors making it impossible for India and Pakistan to settle the Kashmir dispute.

Singh made this statement at an informal meeting of the International Relations Club Tuesday night in the Union.

He said that religion was a disputed factor. When the British moved out of India in 1947 the government could have been taken over by the Hindus or the Moslems.

"India was not a forward-looking nation," Singh said. "The society was still based on the caste system and there was no social mobility. There were no meaningful development projects and 30 per cent of the population belonged to the lower caste."

Singh said that after the British evacuated there was no trust in the top leadership. The Moslems were in the minority but felt that they dominated the Hindu majority.

He said the Hindus outnumbered the Moslems during British rule. The Hindus did not favor Moslem ideas during this time and this led to distrust of the Hindus. He said the Hindus did not trust Moslem rule either. Before British domination the Moslems ruled the country and did not accept Hindu ideas.

Singh cited three types of policy issues. A crisis policy issue is one which poses a direct effect; something unanticipated, posing a clear threat and an issue that poses no time to deliberate about the conflict. A second policy issue is a general participation issue. This involves nations and political systems of countries. The third type is a limited participation issue. This is one which is not a direct crisis and can be dealt with between the conflicting countries. He identified the Kashmir dispute as a limited participation issue.

He said that Kashmir has four million people. A Hindu leader controls the 80 per cent Moslem population. He said that Kashmir is a symbolic nation. It is not important in international affairs. It is a poor country for farming and contains a few small industries.

Singh said that 80 per cent of India's leaders feel that they cannot give up Kashmir and keep India a unified nation. The leaders believe India would break up if it was to give up Kashmir. He gave two reasons for this. There is one natural road and this is between Kashmir and Pakistan. All of the main rivers in Kashmir flow into Pakistan. If India were to give up Kashmir the main routes of transportation would be cut off.

He said Pakistan retaliated by joining SEATO. It made pacts with France and the U.S. Singh said the U.S. policy towards the Kashmir crisis has been stability with India.

Singh said he thought the dispute could have been settled between 1947 and 1950 without a conflict. He did not offer any personal solutions to the problem.

To Research In Argentina

Three MSU graduate students in economics will do research in Argentina next year.

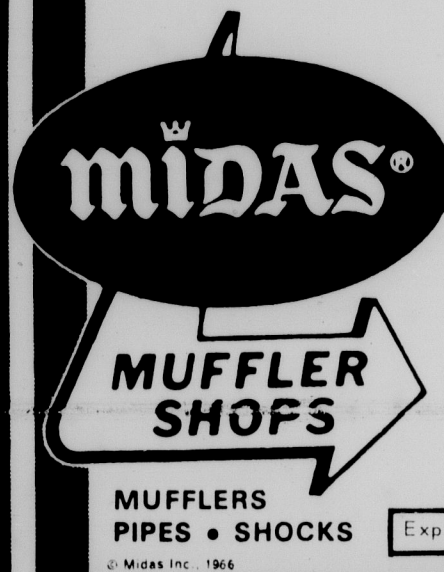

They are James W. Foley, 2308 S. Logan St., Lansing; P.D. Warner, 1106 J University Village; and Fred D. Miller, 1130 Beech St.

Foley and his family will leave for Buenos Aires June 20. He will study the balance of payments and import substitution as it relates to economic growth in Argentina under a grant from the International Studies Center (ISC).

Warner and his family will leave for Buenos Aires in August. He will study Argentina's external debt and how it affects the country's economic growth, also under a grant from the ISC.

Moon Project 5 Yrs. Old; Still Right 'On Schedule'

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—America marked the fifth anniversary of its "on schedule" man-to-the-moon program Wednesday by using a "crawler" the size of a baseball diamond to roll out an awesome lunar rocket prototype.

A crowd of 500 dignitaries, including space scientist Werner Von Braun, applauded as wheels of the monstrous crawling machine started moving along its specially constructed, 130-foot wide highway, headed for a launch pad.

One of the first things moonport technicians did when the Saturn 5 prototype emerged from its assembly building was to attach a lightning rod to the towering space vehicle.

The rocket stood 364 feet tall. It was assembled in a 525-foot high structure that is the world's largest building.

It was just five years to the day that the late President John F. Kennedy committed the nation to put men on the moon by 1969. Dr. George E. Mueller, head of the National Space Agency's Manned Spaceflight Program, said the program is keeping pace with that promise.

An hour before the Saturn made her debut, the federal space agency orbited a 492-pound Explorer satellite to sample gases and tell man more about the eerie fringes of earth's atmosphere that reach higher than present-day Gemini spaceships.

But the main plaudits of the day went to the Saturn unveiling.

"We're having our first real evidence of meeting the commitment of manned lunar landing by the end of the decade," said Mueller as the crawler, its rocket perched upright on a 5,600-ton launch stand, crept from the assembly "garage" at the rate of 10 feet per minute. The three-mile trip to the launch pad was to take about 9 hours.

Technically, the eight-tread crawler is known as a crawler-transporter. It is one of two such vehicles that America has built at a cost of about $6 million each. The crawlers can move at speeds ranging from 1/4 to 1 mile an hour.

It was an especially thrilling moment for Von Braun, who has masterminded construction of the Saturn series of super rockets.

Purpose of the prototype is to check out the rocket's launch facilities and to serve as a tool in helping to perfect firing procedures.

It will never fly, but except for lack of operative engines and some electronic flight equipment, it is very similar to the real thing.

The first operational Saturn 5, which will pack 8.7 million pounds of thrust in its three stages, is set for launch in January.

Gemini 9 astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan were on hand Wednesday when the Explorer satellite shot aloft aboard a sleek Delta rocket. They are set to rocket into space next Tuesday following the launch of a satellite with which they will attempt to rendezvous.

The 492-pound Explorer—built at a cost of $1.5 million—zoomed into an orbit several hundred miles higher than planned. But space agency officials said the craft should still be able to sample gases in the upper atmosphere and tell man more about how these gases are affected by the sun.

Junior Wins Welding Prize

An MSU junior has been awarded a second place in the Student Design Competition sponsored by the James F. Lincoln Arc-Welding Foundation of Cleveland.

Otto M. Otte, East Lansing junior in mechanical engineering, won the $600 second place prize with his design of a motorcycle test frame. His idea, which uses arc-welding for machining of parts on simple equipment, is expected to contribute to a lowering in the cost factors of production.

The Lincoln Foundation sponsors the competition annually for engineering students, offering cash awards for the best design solutions. The 1966-67 competition will include design problems with all metals.

Token Force Fatal To NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John J. McCloy, a long-time presidential adviser on foreign policy, warned Wednesday that NATO would end if the United States reduces its armed forces in Europe.

McCloy, testifying before a Senate group studying U.S. policy toward NATO, took strong issue with Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, who has said U.S. troops in Europe could be reduced to a "token force" or perhaps one division.

"I do not believe that we should now be talking about maintaining only a token force there," he said. "This would only confirm the skeptics in their claims of our unreliability and confound our loyal partners. The situation requires that our guarantees should be maintained in full force."

McCloy added that a cut in U.S. forces now would mean that "the cat probably would be amongst the pigeons and it probably would mean the death-knell of NATO. I think it would be the end—there isn't any question in my mind about that."

McCloy, a New York banker, is former U.S. high commissioner to Germany. He now serves President Johnson as chairman of the General Advisory Committee for the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

His testimony was given to the Senate Subcommittee on National Security and International Operations, headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

McCloy said he felt French President Charles de Gaulle's decision to pull out from the military half of NATO might reinfect Europe with the same kind of nationalism that spawned two world wars.

Speaking of De Gaulle's forthcoming trip to the Soviet Union, which many think may lead to some type of French-Soviet cooperation, McCloy said that "if we had jockeying for individual alliances, we would be back where we were in 1913 and 1939. I deplore moving away from the collective approach."

On another point, he defended the idea of West Germany having "equal partnership" in the NATO alliance.

"We shall again be on very dangerous ground if we isolate Germany or treat her other than as a competent, full-fledged partner of the alliance," he said. "It would be ominously reminiscent of the past and, more importantly, it would be morally and politically wrong if we did so."

However, McCloy said he had the "strong feeling" that Germany, for her part, should live up to her NATO commitments by increasing military forces.

There is a tendency in Germany, he added, to question the need for such a full commitment, and a temptation to rely overmuch on the U.S. nuclear umbrella.

"There are human reactions we cannot afford to continue to indulge," he said.

Farewell Banquet Set For HPR Club Seniors

The Women's Health, Physical Education and Recreation Club will hold its Senior Farewell Banquet at 6 tonight in the Red Cedar room of Kellogg Center.

Graduating seniors who will be honored are: Dzintra Brotz, Lansing; Cindy Bartels, Lumbard, Ill.; Elizabeth Cole, Lansing; Sarah Cool, Lansing; Myra Bair, Winnetka, Ill.; Sue Bos-trum, Lansing; Carol Finnegan, Detroit; Margaret Fowler, Haslett; and Roslyn Freeman, Grand Rapids.

Others are: Linda Graening, Elgin, Ill.; Sally Hetzner, Saginaw; Barbara Hummel, Lansing; Carol Kowalewski, Rothsville, Pa.; Thelma Krupp, Comstock Park; Dorothy Kukulka, St. Clair Shores; Chris Lundberg, East Lansing; Mary Jo Poplawski, Athens; Sue Powell, East Lansing.

Other seniors to be honored are: Carol Kolberg, Grand Haven; Marcia Ruhlberg, Bexley, Ohio; Shirley Root, Lansing; and Pam Tower, Evanston, Ill.

The new officers of the club for 1966-67 are: president, Sally Leme, Detroit sophomore; vice president, E.J. McConkie, Edmore freshman; secretary, Margaret Poplawski, Athens freshman; physical education chairman, Kathy Edington, Detroit freshman.

Other officers are: health chairman, Phyllis Moening, Charlotte junior; and publicity chairman, Jan Speers, Augusta junior.

The club's advisor is Thelma Bishop, head of the Women's Physical Education Dept.

Several awards, including the outstanding senior award will be presented. Charles Davison, assistant principal at Grand Rapids South High School, will act as master of ceremonies.

Letter Writers Stamped OK

The Student Board of ASMSU Tuesday night went on record as supporting the letter-writing campaign recently initiated by Men's Halls Assn. and Women's Inter-Residence Council.

The resolution, introduced by John Monge, MHA representative, supports the campaign by MHA and WIC to have students write their parents, asking them in turn to write their state legislators supporting the Board of Trustees request for additional monies for MSU's 1966-1967 budget.

Recognition Banquet Set For Tonight

Representatives of MSU's Class of 1966 will honor its top seniors for achievement in scholarship and services at the class's recognition banquet at 6:15 tonight in Kellogg Center.

The banquet will replace Senior Swingout, previously held as an annual event on the Sunday before spring commencement.

President Hannah and John R. Kinney, director of alumni relations, will join the seniors in honoring the four outstanding scholars and the two seniors judged to be top in activities.

The senior man and woman with the best grade point average will receive $200 awards while the second highest among the men and women will receive $100 awards. The seniors honored for their work in activities will receive trophies.

Firm Markets Term Papers

A unique service for evaluating and marketing college research papers was established recently in New York.

Research Writers' Bureau Ltd. was established in response to widespread demand among publishers for articles on academic subjects.

According to Richard Fennelly, director of the literary agency, there are thousands upon thousands of periodicals which need well-researched student manuscripts.

He reports that some of these pay up to 10 cent per word for this material.

"Academic journals are usually the first and too often the last place students consider as an outlet for their work," Fennelly says. "This is lamentable because there are numerous semi-popular magazines which pay decent money for research writing."

Excalibur Honors Marjorie Gesner

Excalibur's Outstanding Faculty Award was given Wednesday to Marjorie E. Gesner, associate professor of history.

At a luncheon in Kellogg Center, Miss Gesner was selected as the professor who did the most to stimulate and provoke students academically this year.

She is the first woman to be nominated in the award's 11-year history.

Also at the luncheon, Daniel T. Bzovi, Trenton junior, was named the new president of Excalibur, senior men's honorary.

In accepting the award, Miss Gesner said that although she has often argued with and criticized the University and its policy, it is a great university. Miss Gesner has been with the university since 1943. She was named assistant professor in 1946 and associate professor in 1962.

She has taught at Kalamazoo College, Alma College and Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga.,

MARJORIE GESNER

and was chairman of the Dept. of Social Studies at Barstow School in Kansas City.

She received her A.B. from Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass., and her A.M. and Ph.D. from the University of Michigan.

To Study In Paris

Barbara J. Abbey, Jackson senior, has been accepted to participate in the summer in France Program offered by the Paris American Academy of Music.

Miss Abbey will study in Paris, taking private flute lessons from Jean-Pierre Eustache. She will then assist in music festivals at the Cote d'Azur in Menton, Nice, Monte Carlo and Cannes.

'Y' Sponsors Ball Leagues

The Town, Country and Community Dept. of the YMCA of Lansing will sponsor church softball teams this summer for men, boys, women and girls of all ages.

This will be the league's 19th consecutive season. Teams must be church-sponsored, but team members need not belong to the sponsoring church. Any church-sponsored team in the Central Michigan area is invited to join.

The "Y" acts as a scheduling agent for the teams and keeps the standings. Individual and team trophies are awarded at the end of the season.

Girls' and women's teams are especially needed.

For further information teams may contact Norman G. Hicks, league secretary, 489-6501.

Poll Picks Pop Series Performers

Peter, Paul and Mary, Henry Mancini and the Smothers Brothers are the artists selected for the fall term popular entertainment series, Rick Maynard, ASMSU cabinet vice president for special projects said Tuesday night.

Peter, Paul and Mary are tentatively scheduled to appear Nov. 4, and Mancini, the Friday before homecoming.

Maynard expressed confidence that the three groups could be obtained, although the contracts have not yet been signed.

The three groups were chosen on the basis of the student opinion poll taken in conjunction with the May 19 compensation election. Although Bill Cosby was the first choice on the basis of the poll, he was not available on the dates for which the concerts are scheduled. The three selected were second, third and fourth, respectively, in the poll.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega honorary Tuesday afternoon evaluated the responses to 1900 of the 3500 questionnaires filled out.

The Society of Packaging and Handling Engineers (SPHE) has established its first student chapter at MSU.

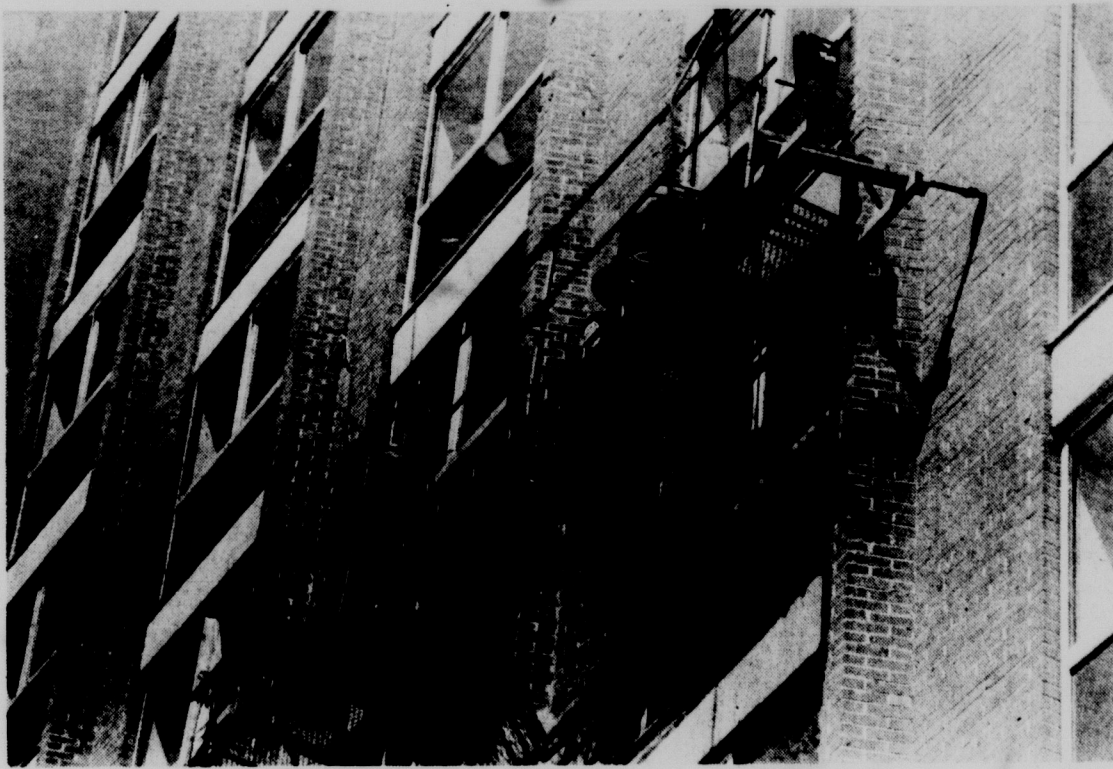

Formal recognition of the new chapter was made during a recent joint meeting of MSU's Student Packaging Society and the Michigan chapter of the SPHE.

At the meeting, a grant of $5,000 was presented to the School of Packaging by Clarence Moore, national vice president of the SPHE. The grant will be used to further education in MSU's packaging school.

Buddhist Anti-Ky Drive Ebbs

SAIGON (UPI)--Vietnamese marines and riot police spread a choking blanket of tear gas over Saigon Wednesday to smash an anti-government Buddhist march by 4,000 demonstrators chanting "down with Nguyen Cao Ky."

In Hue, the bastion of Buddhist strength in the rebellious northern provinces, about 7,000 students staged an anti-American demonstration along the banks of the Perfume River.

Some of the students cut an "X" on their fingers with razor blades and wrote messages in blood to President Johnson demanding he withdraw U.S. support from Premier Ky's government. Others started a 24-hour hunger strike.

Surviving are: two sons, Richard of Lansing and John L. of Fairfax, Va., a daughter, Mrs. John Otto Rhome of Wellesley, Mass., and eight grandchildren.

Strike Up The Band For Good Ol' Hazel

LONDON (I)--Gordon Mackintosh says he sees nothing wrong about it, but his vivacious wife, Hazel, has decided to tame down her temptation to live up parties by stripping.
Mackintosh, grandson of the founder of a British candy fortune, is proud of his trim wife, whom he calls "a real ball of fire."

They are leaders in society in Devon where they live in a 13th century manor house in the heart of the English tweed-set country. There's nothing ancient or tweedy about 30-year-old Hazel, however.

But in the interest of keeping harmony she told a British reporter she has decided to stop stripping.

She says the party trick is creating tension with their more sedate society friends and her husband's family, too.

A few months ago Hazel shocked those present by stripping during a dance at the Commodore Club, part of Torquay's fashionable Imperial Hotel.

When a guest objected she poured champagne over him.

Two weeks ago she did another strip-dance at the club after the guests had left, but the band stayed to play and cheer.

"There was nothing wrong," said Mackintosh. "It was just Hazel's way of saying 'thank you' to the band, who work while everyone else is playing."

Hazel, in giving her pledge to change her ways to a reporter Saturday, summed up her philosophy:

"Life is meant to be lived and, particularly after a few drinks, I enjoy undressing. A woman's body is beautiful, so what's wrong with showing it off?"

"The trouble," she added, "is that my husband's family do not seem to agree with me and word has come that his allowance could be affected."

But Mackintosh chimed in: "I don't see why she should not show off her superb figure. You never know what my wife will do next. But without her, life would be like last night's beer."

American military and civilian personnel had been warned to keep off the streets.

More Jobs, Higher Pay Seen For MSU Graduates

More employers than ever before offered graduating seniors more money than ever before at the Placement Bureau this year, but fewer job interviews were held.

"This year so many large employers were unable to fill their quotas that we've agreed to set up a summer schedule of interviews for the first time," reported Jack D. Shingleton, director of the Placement Bureau.

The lure of graduate studies, increased draft calls and "more importantly, uncertainty caused by fear that employers wouldn't want to interview men eligible for the draft" caused a decline in the number of interviews at MSU this year, Shingleton surmised.

"However, the drop in interviews at MSU was less than it was elsewhere," Shingleton said. "We think that our information campaign this fall helped to offset the trend here."

"Almost all employers are still interested in talking to a man in his senior year, even though it may be two years or more before the man can start his career."

There were 2,479 employer visits, 279 more than in the 1964-65 school year. Final figures on the decreased number of actual interviews have not yet been compiled.

Top average salary for graduating seniors with no experience went to last year's leaders, the chemical engineering majors, who accepted $694 a month.

Teachers, whose salaries have in the past been increasing at the rate of only $100 a year, this year received offers averaging $5,350 for a 10-month year. Last year they averaged $5,200 for a 10-month year.

Liberal arts students, those majoring in social sciences and humanities, were not quite as far behind in salary level as they have been in the past. Last year they average $500 to $525 a month, but this year's offers averaged $574.

Shingleton attributed this improvement to increased recruiting by government agencies, and to industry's discovery that liberal arts majors can perform well at jobs which were formerly reserved for specialists.

"For example," he said, "they've found out that liberal arts graduates can do data processing."

Liberal arts majors also benefited from decreasing competition, since many of their best-qualified compatriots went on to graduate school or service positions such as the Peace Corps, the Job Corps and VISTA.

Recruiters told Shingleton that much of the time they spent the job interview trying to interest the prospect in their company, rather than vice versa.

The tight job market is also illustrated by the across the board increases in salaries.

Average monthly salaries accepted by graduating seniors with no experience (dollar increase over last year indicated in parentheses) were:

Accounting $595 (up $21), agriculture $575 (up $25), marketing $582 (up $39), personnel administration $590 (up $33), chemical engineering $694 (up $43), civil engineering $659 (up $26), electrical engineering $688 (up $42), mechanical engineering $680 (up $25), chemistry $646 (up $31), physics $670 (up $38), mathematics $639 (up $43) and liberal arts $574.

Display Boards

Deadline June 1

June 1 is the deadline for MSU student clubs and activity groups to make reservations for bulletin board displays during this year's Summer Orientation Programs.

These displays, which would introduce incoming freshmen and transfer students to the various activities on campus, must be cleared with John J. Forsyth, orientation coordinator, at 355-8332. The three-day orientation sessions run throughout the summer term.

Chicago Architecture Expressive-Condit

Modern urban architecture is present in all forms in Chicago, said Carl Condit, professor of art at Northwestern University. Condit spoke on "Contemporary Chicago Architecture" as part of the Conferences on American Studies held here recently.

There are two important bodies of architecture Condit said. The first period, when modern urban architecture started, lasted from 1880-1910. The second period followed afterward and is known as the new Chicago school.

The new Chicago school reflects the principles of functionalism and organic expression in an external shape.

"Functionalism means that a building must answer the requirements of the purpose of the building," Condit said. "Organic expression in an external shape can employ techniques which would make the inside of the building seem more like the outside of the building, like the use of roof gardens and many windows."

Condit also explained the significance of certain buildings in the metropolitan Chicago area.

The Chicago Civic Center combines strength and fineness with maximum open space on the inside. The Promontory Drive Apartments has a clearly visible structure which makes it easy to distinguish materials. The Marina City Towers is noted for its circular center support and curving balconies.

"The new Chicago architecture is as close as we can come to our expression of the public character of our lives,"

MSU, U-M RESEARCH 'PROMISING'

1-2 Punch Against Leukemia

EDITOR'S NOTE: At Michigan's two largest universities, thousands of dollars and manhours are being spent in the search for a virus that may be the cause of the killer disease leukemia. This is the first of a two-part series summing up leukemia research in Michigan.

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

ANN ARBOR 4--Research on Michigan campuses may some day mean the difference between life and death for thousands of victims of leukemia, commonly known as cancer of the blood. Test tubes and electron microscopes, drugs and vaccines, newborn puppies and mice all play a role in the search for a virus which may cause human leukemia, a so far incurable and usually fatal disease.

"Things look very promising," says Dr. William Murphy of the University of Michigan Medical School's Dept. of Microbiology. His research dates back to 1954, and he believes it may not be completed for another 10 years. Dr. Murphy's work, along with experiments at Michigan State University in East Lansing, fits into a nationwide leukemia puzzle scientists are trying to put together under the sponsorship of the National Institute of Health.

Ten million dollars of a $23 million federal cancer research program has been earmarked for an all-out assault on leukemia. In addition, grants from private groups such as the American Cancer Society help underwrite some of the costs.

Dr. Murphy doesn't say that leukemia--characterized by a wild growth of white blood cells--always is caused by a virus. "Unquestionably," he says, "there are other causes of the disease. Radiation, for instance, may activate the cells."

But cancers in many animals are known to be caused by viruses, and Dr. Murphy sees no reason why this should not be true with humans as well.

"We are working with probabilities, not just possibilities," he explained in an interview.

Dr. Murphy says the problem now is to determine if a commonplace virus causes leukemia in humans.

Once it has been established that a virus--or the combination of a virus and other organisms--does cause leukemia, the discovery may be used as the basis of a vaccine to prevent the disease, or antisera to treat it.

The U-M research specifically is an attempt to isolate a pathogen from the bone marrow of leukemia patients, then to characterize the pathogen and confirm it is responsible for human leukemia.

Leukemia today is about as prevalent as polio was during the days before Salk vaccine was developed. Statistics indicate it is on the increase with the latest figures showing five cases per 100,000 persons.

Dr. Murphy believes some people may have cancer or leukemia and never know it because they fight it off like the body fights off the common cold.

"Other people may have a 90 per cent capacity to fight off the disease but need help to provide the extra 10 per cent," he observed. "This help may come in the form of a vaccine, antibiotics or drugs."

Research by Dr. Murphy and his associates has turned up oddball micro-organisms called "mycoplasma" in some samples of leukemic bone marrow.

Over the years, other scientists probing leukemic samples also have detected mycoplasma

--germs which can be classified as being somewhere between viruses and bacteria in their characteristics and possessing features of each.

There has been some speculation that mycoplasma alone or in combination with viruses might be the cause of leukemia and other human cancers, but Dr. Murphy has his doubts. He feels the mycoplasma probably contribute to, rather than cause, leukemia.

On another corner of the Michigan campus, Dr. Chris J. D. Zafonitis wonders about mycoplasma, too.

Dr. Zafonitis is director of the Thomas Henry Simpson Memorial Institute for Medical Research, and he has been working with Dr. Murphy in trying to find evidence the cause of human leukemia is a virus.

He raises the thought that a leukemia virus may be latent from generation to generation and then suddenly come to life, touching off the abnormal growth of white blood cells.

In dealing with leukemia victims over the years, Dr. Zafonitis has treated many patients with drugs, oftentimes with gratifying results.

"In that work, we are seeking long-term control rather than a cure," he explained. "Like victims of pernicious anemia, leukemia patients might be able to lead normal lives with periodic injections."

"What we are looking for are compounds that will normalize cell action and stabilize cell metabolism."

"We have found, for example, that large doses of PABA, a member of the vitamin-B complex, lowers the white cell count. Unfortunately, such treatment cannot be continued indefinitely because of side effects."

On the Michigan State University campus, another research program is under way in the quest for a leukemia-causing virus. It concerns canine leukemia and its possible relationship to the human form of the disease.

TOMORROW: Of mice and men, dogs and chickens.

Traverse City Clergy
Lectured Via Phone

A series of telephone lectures is being delivered from MSU to a continuing education service precinct in Traverse City during May.

The theme of the lectures is "Modern Man and His God" and they are being delivered by Harold Walsh, associate professor of philosophy, and Robert Anderson, associate professor of religion.

The lecture audience is 20 clergymen, possibly from the Traverse City Council of Churches, said Anderson.

The purpose of the lecture is two-fold. First, an experiment; political candidates have spoken in this manner at dinners, but it serves to bring the MSU campus to the continuing education centers and gives the clergymen the opportunity to ask questions.

Second, the lectures are a means of involving the clergy with contemporary and philosophical thought, he said.

The first of the lectures delivered by Walsh were "Contemporary Man and His Faith: Religion and Modern Science," and "Existentialism."

Lectures delivered by Anderson will be "Contemporary Man and Mysticism in the Christian Church," and "The Good Life: Religious Compatibility to Modern Man," May 25.

Kitti Wins Award
For Econ GPA

Carole E. Kitti, Calumet senior, won The Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award for having the highest grade point average of any senior in economics.

The award consists of a specially designed silver medal and a year's subscription to The Wall Street Journal.

Miss Kitti received the award at the College of Business Annual Awards Banquet Wednesday for acquiring a 3.88 all-college GPA. She was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, and Tower Guard, sophomore women's honorary.

Miss Kitti also belongs to Phi Kappa Phi and the Russian Club. She is also scholarship chairman of West Holmes Hall.

Hannah Honored
In Surprise Tribute

In a surprise tribute to President Hannah, the Academic Senate Tuesday night commemorated his 25 years as president of the University and announced that it had commissioned a portrait to be painted of him by a well-known American artist.

The tribute given Hannah by the senate lauded his contributions to the University, his representation of it abroad and his establishing "the loftiest sense of the delegated intellect in American society" for his associates.

Hannah, to whom the presentation was a surprise, will be given the portrait for his home. Eventually, the portrait is to be given back to the University for permanent display.

After accepting the presentation and a standing ovation from the 150 faculty members present, Hannah in turn praised the faculty and the progress the University has made during the last several years.

Hannah expressed special gratification in seeing the change from a small land grant college to a large respected University.

He then called for further progress towards the goals that the University has set for itself. He specifically mentioned the strides MSU has taken in expanding its graduate school and called for continued improvement in this area.

He concluded by suggesting that the great improvements in the University have been made possible by the actions of the various departments and colleges in the University and thanking them for their help.

The senate announced its plans to have the portrait of Hannah painted by artist and teacher Robert Brackman. Brackman has received numerous prizes and has done portraits of Charles and Anne Lindbergh and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller.

'Round-Up' Near

The Block and Bridle Club's 9th annual Spring Round-up and Judging Contest will be held Friday and Saturday.

Meats and wool judging will be held at noon at the meats laboratory Friday. Livestock judging starts at 7:45 a.m. Saturday.

Block 'S' Sponsoring
'Get Acquainted' Hour

Present members of Block "S," and those interested in taking part next year, will have an opportunity to meet Al Throop, new director of Block "S," and Don Martin, new director of Spartan Spirit, at a meeting at 7:30 tonight in Wilson Auditorium.

Color films of the block's performances last football season will be shown. A special invitation is extended to those interested in participating in Block "S" next year, Glen Harmon, retiring director of Spartan Spirit, said.

The Agriculture Education

It's What's Happening

Club will hold its annual spring awards banquet at 6:30 tonight in 21 Union Building. Speaking will be Everett Rogers of the Communications Dept.

Information and tickets are available in the office of the Agriculture Education Dept.

The MSU German Club will hold a poetry contest and election of officers at its meeting at 8:30 tonight in 33 Union Building. All members are to be present for the election.

Conservative Club will meet to elect officers at 8:30 tonight in 36 Union Building.

Beta Beta Beta, national biology honorary, will meet at 7 tonight in 34 Union Building. Dr. John Johnson, lecturer in biophysics and psychology, will speak on brain-mapping.

Petitions for Student Traffic Appeals Court are now available in 334 Student Services Building. Non-affiliated students are especially encouraged to file. Petitioning deadline is June 2.

Poverty and the price system will be the topic of an agricultural economics seminar at 3:30 today in 32 Union Building.

An agricultural engineering seminar on management of human resources will be held at 4 today in 218 Agricultural Engineering Building.

Forestry in Rhodesia will be discussed at a forestry seminar at 11:30 a.m. today in 1 Forestry Building.

The Women's Circle Honorary will hold its picnic at 4:15 today. Those needing rides should meet at the west doors of the Union Building.

Medical Care
Meeting Here

The 13th Annual Management Conference for Medical Care Facilities will be held here June 1 and 2. The event, staged annually at MSU, is an attempt to give the employees of county medical institutions throughout the state a better orientation to their jobs.

The two-day conference at Kellogg Center will begin with a general session with Donald McGregor, president of the Michigan Assn. of Social Welfare Boards and Directors presiding.

Speakers from the State Dept. of Social Services and the Dept. of Public Health will speak on federal programs and how they affect medical care facilities, especially federal Medicare and Title XIX programs.

Lansing attorney T. Michael Doyle will speak on labor relations and collective bargaining in medical facilities.

The program will also include workshops in the many phases of medical institutions. The group will be split into areas of special interest: administrators, directors and board members, nursing, dietary, housekeeping, maintenance, and therapy and diversional activities.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan Dept. of Social Services, the State Assn. of County Social Welfare Boards, the School of Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Management and the Continuing Education Service.
