

Find No MSU Students Using LSD, Dope

By TRINKA CLINE
State News Staff Writer

No cases of Michigan State students' using mind drugs or narcotics were included in MSU's response to a questionnaire submitted by the U.S. Senate in April.

Dr. James S. Feurig, director of Olin Health Center, said that while the University knows of no specific cases, a watch is maintained for students using or pushing LSD, other hallucinatory drugs or narcotics.

Feurig said two students arrested spring term were picked up for possession of narcotics, but that the University has not had contact with actual users.

Sixty-two colleges and universities across the nation, with a total enrollment of 750,000 students, returned the Senate's questionnaire, indicating around 3,800 students have experimented with mind drugs—just over one-half of 1 per cent of the total enrollment.

By far the largest proportion of estimated cases were credited in the Senate report to the University of California in Berkeley—2,500. Two cases of LSD and 30 with other hallucinogens were listed on the University of Michigan's completed form.

According to Feurig, LSD was being used for research at U-M, and apparently some "leaked out." The fact that such research is not being conducted on the East Lansing campus is partly why Feurig says, "We have no drug problem here."

Feurig credits MSU's lack of a widespread drug problem partly to his confidence in the student body. He said, "Certain student bodies are quite prone to the use of drugs. It is an escape from reality, a temporary escape, that is almost a social pattern for some groups."

"MSU has not had this to contend with," he added, "While we have a number of this type of student, our student body is primarily composed of students from more conservative homes. But, we do not intend to be complacent about the issue."

LSD is a relatively simple drug to manufacture, Feurig acknowledged that facilities for making it are available on campus, but mostly to graduate students in chemistry.

"This," he said, "is a matter of ethics. We feel we know the students capable of LSD production well enough to detect persons who might become involved."

Narcotic pushers have been arrested on campus. Here again Feurig reported no extensive problem. He said the University keeps a continuous surveillance for the suppliers, feeling that elimination of the source is one way to control widespread usage.

The Senate subcommittee investigation, sponsored by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., was not made from a medical viewpoint, but mainly to determine how much authority federal agencies have with the drugs and how this control is being used.

Senate Starts Vote On Defense Bill, Reservists Call-Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate began voting Tuesday on a giant defense appropriations bill which will be climaxed by an effort to give President Johnson unwanted stand-by authority to call up individual military reservists for Viet Nam service.

The reservist amendment to the $58.2 billion money bill was being backed by two members of the Senate Armed Services Committee—Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Sen. Leverett B. Saltonstall, R-Mass.

General debate was expected to run for a day or so before the Senate reaches the showdown stage.

Under the Russell-Saltonstall amendment, the President would be empowered to summon for 18-months duty reservists with special skills who have not had prior active service. This could be done without a formal declaration of a national emergency.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has voiced administration opposition to the amendment. Under parliamentary rules, the proposal must obtain a two-thirds vote.

The first voting on the defense money measure saw the Senate firmly reject a move by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., which would have shunted aside the bill in favor of one appropriating funds for a "Great Society" demonstration cities program.

Clark told the Senate "our priorities are wrong" and that there was "much too much emphasis on our belligerent foreign policy—backed by armed might."

He was voted down 84 to 5.

The reserve proposal was recommended by the defense appropriations subcommittee headed by Russell and Saltonstall.

Despite this Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., told newsmen after a meeting of GOP senators that there was some opposition to the proposal. He said some felt that reserve call-ups should be by units, not on individual basis.

$92 Million Air Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The airline machinists union Tuesday sent its members details on an estimated $92 million, three-year contract which it said "thoroughly shreds" President Johnson's anti-inflationary wage guidelines.

The contract, subject to a membership vote on Friday, gave the 35,400 members of the International Assn. of Machinists a 56-cent-an-hour wage increase.

If the contract is ratified, planes would soon be flying again on the five struck airlines—Northwest, Trans World, Eastern, National and United. Agreement on the proposal was reached early Monday morning.

The contract would raise the maximum hourly rate for a machinist from $3.52 to $4.03 an hour and included a cost-of-living allowance, one of the big gains in the contract.

Long negotiations. No such clause was in the contract which the union members rejected on July 31.

The union did not put an overall figure on the new contract, but sources estimated it would cost $92 million. The gains were (continued on page 8)

Sun Satellite Shoot Today

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A sleek Delta rocket was primed for an attempt today to shoot a 140-pound pioneer sun satellite into a far-reaching solar orbit to explore interplanetary space.

The drum-shaped spacecraft was scheduled for blastoff during a six-minute period starting at 10:08 a.m. Officials said Tuesday launch preparations were proceeding on schedule.

The probe is the second in the new pioneer series of interplanetary probes designed to chart magnetic forces in deep space and report on the solar radiation that could harm astronauts flying to the moon and beyond.

'U' Sewage Flow Exceeds 'Share'

By BEVERLY HALL
State News Staff Writer

When East Lansing is faced with enlarging its present sewage treatment plant, MSU will certainly be a major source of funds, a city official reported at the East Lansing's City Council Meeting Monday night.

"Right now the University is sending a million more gallons of sewage each day to our plant than it contracted for," began John Patriarche, city manager, in his report to the council.

Also at the meeting, a new city ordinance regarding wearing crash helmets while riding motorcycles was introduced for consideration by the council. The proposed ordinance will not be acted on until a future meeting.

The ordinance states that "a person operating or riding on a motorcycle shall wear a crash helmet of reinforced fiberglass or its equivalent sufficient to sustain successive impacts, as approved by the American Motorcycle Association."

MSU originally contracted for treatment of three million gallons of sewage each day in the East Lansing sewage plant, said Patriarche.

During the fiscal year 1965-66, however, the University averaged from three and a half to four million gallons of sewage per day, in comparison with 2.2-2.3 million gallons each day from East Lansing and less than a million per day from Meridian Township.

The maximum total for the three areas was just over seven million gallons per day, which is only a million less than the suggested capacity for the plant.

"There are provisions in each of the three contracts that allow any one of the contract-holders to use extra treatment, over and above their contracted amount, if the other holders are not using their scheduled amount," Patriarche explained.

If usage goes up, those contract holders who are using more than they originally contracted for will have to see to getting larger capacity for the sewage plant.

The way it looks now, the University will be the first to pay, he concluded.

DELIBERATELY SUPPRESSES NEGROES

Green Hits South's School Systems

By LEO ZAINEA
State News Staff Writer

Rev. Martin Luther King's education director asserted here Tuesday that the Southern educational system is "systematically and deliberately set up to insure Negroes are forever second-class citizens."

"Many predominantly white counties in the South bus Negroes all over to prevent schools from being integrated," declared Robert L. Green, an MSU associate professor of education and director of an Alabama county anti-poverty program.

"And until two years ago," he added, "Negroes could not even check out books from the public libraries."

Green also suggested that professors of education should "leave their ivory tower of the academic world" and teach at least one year in a disadvantaged urban elementary or secondary school to familiarize themselves with its problems.

He said not enough courses are taught in college today on the education of the underprivileged youth.

Green addressed about 200 Detroit school administrators in the Erickson Hall Kiva who are here this week at a federally financed seminar sponsored jointly by MSU and the Detroit Board of Education.

Green, on leave from the University since September 1965, has worked with King and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) since June of that year.

Last month he was appointed staff director of the Wilcox County anti-poverty program with adult education of farm workers and an educational program for 300 children at day-care centers.

He returns to campus this fall but will spend eight days of the month in the South with both the SCLC and the Wilcox County program.

Along with hundreds of other civil rights advocates, the 32-year-old Green participated in the Meredith Mississippi Freedom March in June with King and SCLC leaders, and was in Grenada, Miss., recently during (continued on page 8)

Stock Market Dips Sharply

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tight money worries and a lack of bids sent the stock market sharply lower Tuesday. Trading was active.

Stock prices found little support as buyers held off while sellers stepped up their operations. Blue chips registered several point-sized falls but the majority of large losses went to the glamor issues.

The tight money situation was further underlined after the close when First National City Bank of New York boosted its prime loan rate to 6 per cent—the highest ever under the present formula for calculating the rate. The prime rate is the lowest interest charged by banks for lending to their best customers.

Nonamaker, Hekhuis See Priorities For 'U' Center

By FAYE UNGER
State News Staff Writer

MSU needs a new, more inclusive University center and they like the ASMSU proposals for such a center, two officials in the dean of students office have said.

The two, Eldon Nonamaker, associate dean of students, and Louis Hekhuis, director of student activities, praised the ASMSU committee for a University center for the suggestions they handed to the office for student affairs last month.

The suggestions for the center ran the gamut from an auditorium and lounge and recreational facilities, through lockers and a Post Office branch, to relocating student government and the office for student affairs there.

But how many facilities would financing really permit? the two officials asked.

"The center would probably have to be built from student fees and when it comes right down to justifying the cost in terms of need we're going to have to decide which facilities we want most," Nonamaker said.

Both Nonamaker and Hekhuis suggested which facilities should take priority.

—Facilities for off-campus students, including lounges, lockers, individual study rooms and eating and grill facilities. On-campus students have such facilities in dormitories.

—Individual study carrels, one of the most requested facilities in surveys taken by the ASMSU committee for a University center.

Communist Probe Convenes Despite Injunction, Hecklers

Appeals Court Gives Go Ahead

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fourteen demonstrators were hauled out of a controversial session of the House Committee on Un-American Activities Tuesday that was given judicial blessing only 10 minutes before it started.

Boos, cheers and jeers and other assorted noise disrupted the hearing in the House Caucus Room on a bill to punish U.S. citizens who aid the Viet Cong.

The 14, apparently members of groups protesting the Viet Nam war, were taken to the District of Columbia jail to be charged with disorderly conduct.

Some of those ejected from the hearing returned for the afternoon session after forfeiting $10 bond on charges of disorderly conduct.

Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., gavelled the morning session to order just after a special three-judge federal appeals court overruled U.S. District Judge Howard F. Corcoran's injunction Monday to bar the hearing while the constitutionality of the committee is studied.

Pool had pledged to go ahead with the hearing anyway in defiance of Corcoran's original order, which stunned the House because of the constitutional implications of the separation of powers between the judiciary and the legislature.

The appeals court ruled that the hearing could proceed, but it upheld another section of Corcoran's ruling that called for creation of another special three-judge court to decide whether the committee was constitutionally created. This group, which includes Corcoran, will meet Wednesday.

When the committee hearing opened, U.S. marshals dressed in business suits were interspersed throughout an audience of about 250 persons, some of whom were bearded and wearing blue jeans. Another crowd was in the hall outside.

Pool started off with a prepared statement. Without referring directly to Judge Corcoran's order, he said the committee had every right and duty to investigate subversive acts and to recommend laws to deal with them.

He added: "Because allegations have been made that this hearing is an attempt to stifle dissent, I will make this further comment. These hearings are concerned largely with overt acts, not mere expressions of dissent." (continued on page 2)

Judge Denounced In House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Angry House members denounced U.S. District Judge Howard F. Corcoran in a wave of floor speeches Tuesday and some even demanded his impeachment.

The outbursts came after a special three-judge panel overruled Corcoran's order Monday aimed at preventing the House committee on Un-American Activities from holding a hearing Tuesday on a bill forbidding Americans to aid the Viet Cong.

However, the special panel did decide to hold a hearing on the larger question of the constitutionality of the committee. It will meet at 1:30 p.m. EST today to hear arguments.

Corcoran's decision, raising the question of the constitutional separation of the judicial and legislative powers, provoked a storm on Capitol Hill.

Rep. Porter Hardy Jr., D-Va., suggested that the judge first be subpoenaed before the committee on un-American activities to explain why he should not be cited for contempt.

While most members termed Corcoran's order "preposterous," "outrageous" and "shocking," a few—agreeing that the order was wrong—called for a little moderation.

Let Us Not Imitate The Ostrich

A FEW OF OUR readers think that the letter from "Oren Torrance" was a put on.

Who, they ask, in this day and age would suggest that because Zeitgeist and The Paper contain material which she thinks is smut and filth, a way must be found to kill the publication?

DOESN'T EVERYONE agree--ask these readers--that smut and filth must be dealt with through persuasion and education rather than censorship?

Doesn't everyone agree to disagree on what is smut and what is aesthetically justifiable description of sex? Doesn't everyone agree that parents, and not the post office, should guide children's reading habits?

DOESN'T EVERYONE agree that the emotionally-charged debate over censorship in one area, sex, might set an unfortunate precedent in another area, say politics, tomorrow?

DOESN'T EVERYONE agree that censors, with few exceptions, look ridiculous once time has passed and later generations objectively view a once-controversial bit of writing?

Doesn't everyone agree that in a pluralistic society, great precautions must be taken to protect the minority's right to free expression?

Doesn't everyone agree that artists and writers form a very important minority with such rights?

Doesn't everyone agree that all literary expression must be left to find its own level--whatever that level might be?

THE ANSWER to these questions is, "No."

Many people agree with "Oren Torrance."

We would do well to remember that.

The University atmosphere must not blind us to the sometimes ugly realities of the world surrounding it.

THE PRICE of free expression is eternal vigilance.

--An auditorium connected with the center to seat about 3,000. It could be used for fraternity sings, recitals, lectures and perhaps the popular entertainment series.

--Student government offices. "The student government should be where the students go more frequently," Nonamaker said. "To some extent student officials are isolated from the main student traffic since they are now in the Student Services Building."

Smugglers Arrested

MAZATLAN, Mexico (UPI)--Three men accused of smuggling narcotics by private airplane were arrested Monday by federal agents in an area now being swept by a 4,000-man task force in the biggest anti-marijuana operation in Mexican history.

Agents arrested the three men when they landed in a light plane at Culiacan in Northern Sinaloa. They said they found opium and marijuana worth $12,000 and two machineguns in the plane.

--Student organizations' offices.

"We had sufficient space for student organizations three or four years ago," Hekhuis said. Today there is hardly space for an organization's file cabinet in the Student Services Building.

"If student government and student organizations are to be located in the new center, then logically the advisory offices should be in the same place," Hekhuis said.

This would mean the office for student activities might move into the center.

--More dining facilities for student groups.

The original proposal submitted by the ASMSU committee also suggested including a ballroom, a music room, a reading library, restaurant, grill, an information center, an improved ticket office, a photography lab for student use, a group music practice area, student publications and an arts and crafts shop for student use.

The only oversight in the ASMSU proposals was not including any facilities aimed specifically at married students, Nonamaker said.

In spite of the growth of residence hall services, the University's social-recreational facilities have not kept pace with enrollment, Hekhuis said.

"We have been consciously trying to break down the University into small groups so the student can identify better, but we also need some things, like a University center with which everybody, on and off campus, can identify," he said.

The East Lansing attitude towards pollution of the Red Cedar with raw sewage is (to be polite) disgusting. What then can the reader of the State News do to emphasize to the leaders of the city that they have a vested interest in the Red Cedar?

Money talks to most businessmen when their pride and aesthetic values have reached the level of the sewage being dumped into the river. Therefore, I propose that all MSU students and faculty boycott the East Lansing businesses.

opinion. Sending aid, or attempting to send aid, to an enemy of the United States is an overt act; it is not mere dissent."

Jerry Rubin, 26, of Berkeley, Calif., a member of the Viet Nam Day Committee at Berkeley, tried to enter the room and was turned back by a policeman.

Rubin, who was wearing an American Revolutionary War uniform, had been subpoenaed to appear. After some delay, he was permitted to enter.

Lawyers for various witnesses then began lodging a series of complaints, motions and protests, all of which were rejected by the committee. Finally the first witness was called, and there was a chorus of boos.

The witness was Phillip A. Luce, a former member of the Communist Progressive Labor Movement (now the Progressive Labor party). He was no stranger to the caucus room--he had tried to disrupt committee hearings in the past when he held different views.

Luce identified the movement he formerly belonged to as a left-wing, activist pro-Chinese branch of the Communist party and said its aim was the eventual overthrow of the U.S. government.

At this point, the first real uproar began. Jeffrey Gordon, a young Progressive Labor party member from New York also under subpoena to testify, jumped to his feet and shouted: "Let's stop this fake testimony! The people of the United States want to get out of Viet Nam!"

Before order was finally restored, Gordon and others were hauled screaming and resisting out of the hearing room.

Luce, in response to committee questions said disruptions of this kind were a standard tactic of the young communists as part of their effort to break down law and order and create anarchy, out of which could come a Communist takeover.

OUR READERS SPEAK

Asks 'Smut' Charge Proof

To the Editor:

On smut and filth...

Thank you Mr. Torrance for your concern over our "young impressionable freshman," but is it necessary for you to use unjustifiable accusations, unsupported assertions to accomplish your thoughtful gesture? It is only YOUR contention that says "Zeitgeist is "smut and filth," and that "The Paper is another publication of unmitigated filth." You haven't proven your charges.

And then, to have the audacity to implicate the governor, Dr. Hannah, and the federal government via the post office--you've bitten off a pretty big chunk of society--and without one single piece of evidence!

Who do people like you have to force your views on the community at large? Is it because you haven't done a proper job of educating, of raising your children? Can't you let them off to college without apron strings? What's the trouble Mr. Torrance, don't you have confidence in the job you as a parent have done?

And another thought, implied in the violence of your last sentence, that "we must find some recourse to kill this 'creative' publishing." What's up??? Democracy, the constitution, inalienable rights, until they allow something offensive, something closer to the truth than you can bear?? And then--and then the iron heel of the totalitarians to protect these things so cherished!

No, Mr. Torrance, if you want your children to be protected from "smut" and "unmitigated filth" teach them what good literature is, its finesses, subtleties, valor and then let them decide for themselves; for in so doing you will accomplish your motive--if these publications are that terrible your beloved system of "free enterprise" will do the job just as quickly, just as effectively and without the stamp of tyranny.

To the Editor:

During the duration of the excellent Wrestling Clinic conducted by Grady Peninger and his outstanding coaches and the time we spent living in Campbell Hall as a proctor, associating and exchanging ideas with other coaches, we found that together with the efficient, well-organized head resident adviser, William Barr, and his capable staff made our stay most enjoyable.

We would like to commend the obviously capable personnel for their selection of such highly trained and well-qualified employees who do much to promote good will for MSU.

Tries To Defend City Aid Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)--Housing Secretary Robert C. Weaver attempted Tuesday to defend the administration from charges by Senators that its urban aid programs were "reaping a whirlwind of violence" in the nation's riot-torn cities.

"I'm trying to tell you what we're doing," said Weaver, perceiving and holding a 43-page statement that outlined the uses of billions in federal aid to cities. "No, you're not," retorted Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on executive reorganization.

"I would say you're talking about the past. You're talking about programs that helped suburbs--not the ones that are needed for the cities in the time in which we live."

"We're reaping a whirlwind of violence in our cities that indicates that these programs are not having the impact that it should."

Ribicoff's panel is attempting to determine benefits achieved from an estimated $96 billion given by the federal government to the cities in the past decade. It also is seeking to uncover causes of the recent violence in big city ghettos.

The Death Of A Rebel

How many years had he fought? How many friends had he lost in this losing fight? What price liberty? he asked himself.

He kept thinking of his youth. It was a preoccupation with him. I'm not young anymore, he thought, and the pounding anguish of it echoed in his brain.

When he was young he could do something. The power surged through him when he was young. He remembered it and even felt it surge through him again for a moment. But it was gone. There was no doubt about it.

He didn't even rejoice anymore in the rebellion that was being fought by those still young enough to fight it.

And he was disillusioned. The elders had told him. His own parents had called the rebellion futile. But it hadn't stopped him.

Yet his biggest disappointment was not in the constant defeats. That he could digest--rationalize, He could accept it. No, it was something else. He had found that in fighting the enemy, he had become like them. He couldn't help it. It was an imperceptible, yet immutable change.

His manner had slowly, gradually, unnoticeably--until it was too late--changed. His dress, even his way of speaking--his very appearance, had been affected.

But the worst thing--the very worst--was that his attitude was changing. His old bitterness was disappearing.

He tried to keep it alive, but it was abating. He saw, to his horror, that he had even to concede some points to the enemy. He fought against it, but sheer logic forced him into the decision that it was true.

Then, one day, someone had gone so far as to accuse him of open sympathy with the enemy. He was accused of appeasement--subtle, without ill intent--but still appeasement. He was shocked; he who had been in the front ranks for so long, who had fought so bravely with his whole heart and mind.

But others began to suspect, and then accuse. At first he was angry, bitter--but he knew it was true.

And every day, he felt himself become more and more sympathetic to--more and more like--the enemy. It frightened him. No, it horrified him. But he came to accept it. He never became an actual traitor though. Nobody could accuse him of that. Nobody.

But today he got up and he looked in the mirror. He couldn't hide it from himself any longer. He knew it was nothing he could help.

Once he had been young, and he had fought. He knew the enemy and hated him.

But now--now he was old. For him, the enemy no longer existed. It was dead and so was the young rebel.

He knew this was true. He looked in the mirror. And he was old. He was the enemy.

De Gaulle Plans Viet Peace Bid

PARIS (UPI)--French officials expressed hopes Tuesday the war in Viet Nam would not be further escalated before President Charles de Gaulle arrives in Cambodia to deliver a new peace appeal.

They said the 75-year-old president, vacationing at his country residence, is preparing the statements he will make during his state visit to Cambodia--statements which will deal with his ideas for peace in Viet Nam.

But reports that the conflict might further intensify raised fears among French officials that De Gaulle's appeal might appear redundant.

According to widespread reports, De Gaulle plans to issue the appeal either upon his arrival in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, Aug. 31, or on Sept. 2 when he is due to address a giant rally with his host, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the chief of state.

In his appeal, De Gaulle was rumored ready to ask the Communists to drop their objections to a conference on the neutralization of both North and South Viet Nam.

These reports suggested De Gaulle would urge Washington to call off its bombing raids on the north, admit the Viet Cong as a bona fide negotiating party to the talks, and stop sending new troops to South Viet Nam.

The French president is due to leave Aug. 25 on a world tour including French Somaliland, Ethiopia, Cambodia, and the Pacific nuclear testing grounds where he is scheduled to witness the explosion of an A-bomb Sept. 10 or thereafter.

Casino Funds Probed Again

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)--The Nevada Gaming Commission Tuesday resumed an investigation of allegations that millions of dollars in casino winnings were siphoned into the underworld.

Witnesses from northern Nevada casinos were called behind closed doors to testify before the commission which held initial hearings in Las Vegas last week.

No northern Nevada gamblers were mentioned in allegations that casinos were failing to report all of their winnings for tax purposes.

Secret Satellite Fired

VANDENBERG AFB., Calif. (UPI)—A secret satellite was fired toward polar orbit Tuesday by an Atlas-Agena rocket booster combination from this coastal aerospace base, the Air Force said.

An Air Force-industry team launched the satellite at 2:30 p.m. The Air Force, in keeping with Defense Dept. policy, refused to disclose whether the mission was a success.

Iraqi Pilot Defects To Israel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—An Iraqi Air Force pilot defected to Israel Tuesday with his Soviet-built MIG21 fighter, Radio Israel reported.

The broadcast monitored in Beirut quoted an Israeli Air Force spokesman as saying the Iraqi plane landed at one of the Israeli bases.

He said the Iraqi plane flew along the Jordanian border with Israel about 9 a.m. and radioed for permission to land in Israel.

The radio quoted the spokesman as saying the pilot is now under questioning.

French Climbers Still Missing

PRALOGNAN, France (UPI)—Rescuers Tuesday failed to find two young French climbers missing after lightning struck their party Monday, killing a companion.

Three parties of guides set out at 3 a.m. to comb the slopes of the 10,170-foot Creux Noir (Black Hollow) Mountain for Christian Destrumelle, 17, and Alain Blany, 16. The two were missing Monday when rescuers found the body of Father Henry Windelschmitt, leader of the group with whom they had been climbing.

Ask Public Help British Manhunt

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard, with one man behind bars charged with Friday's triple police killing, asked the public Tuesday to help find two other suspects.

Police throughout the nation looked for Harry Maurice Roberts, 30, and John Duddy, 37. Roberts has a scarred face, two aliases and three addresses. Duddy is tattooed on the right forearm with a skull and arrow pierced by a heart and the words "true to death."

"If the public see either of these men or know of their whereabouts we would like them to ring (telephone) the police and under no circumstances approach them," said Scotland Yard. "They are dangerous and known to be armed."

Scotland Yard announced the names and descriptions of the two men wanted for questioning a few hours after unemployed Londoner John Witney, 36, made a two-minute appearance in court to be formally charged that—"with others"—he murdered the three policemen.

The three unarmed, plain clothesmen were gunned down before horrified children when they stopped to question three men in a quiet, tree-lined street near Wormwood Scrubs prison in West London. It was the worst police killing in 56 years.

Witney walked into the West London court room wearing red carpet slippers and handcuffed to two detectives. Police, some with dogs, cordoned off the building from the outside and locked all exits.

The court ordered Witney held until another hearing in a week. His only words were "yes sir," "no sir," and "nothing to say."

Police have not said who pulled the trigger or given any motive for the killing. But one theory runs that the dead policemen stumbled on to a prison break operation linked to Wormwood Scrubs, whose inmates include members of two big London gangs and criminals who informed on the big gambling club protection racket in London.

According to this theory, there may have been a plan for a jail break or to silence an informer.

No Surgery For Williams

DETROIT (AP)—Eight doctors at Jennings Memorial Hospital report finding two small kidney stones in former Gov. G. Mennen Williams and say they probably will be expelled without surgery.

Dr. Albert Steinbach, Williams' physician, said the Democratic candidate planned to leave the hospital for a few hours Tuesday to visit his home in nearby Grosse Pointe Farms. He was to return to the hospital and remain overnight.

Dr. Steinbach described the kidney stones as a fairly common malady.

The 55-year-old Williams entered the hospital Monday after complaining of stomach pains Sunday night.

Williams will oppose Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., in the November election.

Chicago Demonstrators Preparing Bigger Protests

CHICAGO (UPI)—Members of Martin Luther King's open housing drive, despite mounting clamor for an armistice in demonstrations, mobilized Tuesday for the most widespread protests "any movement ever had in Chicago."

Demonstrators aimed their protests Tuesday at city hall, the Cook County Public Aid Dept. and the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn., all in the loop area; the Chicago Housing Authority Office on the near south side; and six real estate offices in the Jefferson Park area of the northwest side.

Five persons were arrested in the Jefferson Park area Sunday during one of three simultaneous demonstrations in the city. Angry whites set afire a car belonging to a demonstrator and stoned the auto of a Negro motorist who happened to stop at a drive-in restaurant in the area.

Ald. John Hoellen, a Republican candidate for Congress against Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., who represents the Jefferson Park district, said he would demand at the next city council meeting that Mayor Richard J. Daley invoke the parade ordinance which would require demonstrators to obtain permits 30 days in advance.

Pucinski, who drafted legislation which would curb the number of demonstrators by court order, has criticized the marchers as "so-called peaceful demonstrators whose real motive is to arouse violent reaction."

Police Supt. Orlando W. Wilson said Monday the marches are impairing his department's crime fighting ability.

"If a policeman is busy protecting civil rights demonstrators he cannot be available for preventive patrol against crime."

Wilson also warned that members of the American Nazi party, who have announced plans for counter marches into Negro neighborhoods, are "spoiling for a fight. We're not going to allow fighting in the streets."

A Sunday night Nazi rally on the southwest side drew a crowd of 2,000 from the predominantly Polish and Lithuanian neighborhood. Sunday night's rally was followed by attacks on Negro motorists passing through the area.

King was expected back in Chicago today.

$1.60 Hour Wage Seen For 1968

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Labor Committee voted, 15 to 0, Tuesday to boost the federal minimum wage by 35 cents in 1968 and extend coverage to 7.2 million new workers.

The increase would hike the minimum to $1.60 an hour. The House already has approved a measure which would put the $1.60 rate into effect in 1969. The Senate committee voted 11 to 3 against the later date.

The bill will be ready for action by the Senate next Tuesday. Senate leaders want to schedule it for floor action as soon as possible.

Nearly half a million farm workers—generally those on farms who employ at least seven persons—would be covered for the first time as would more than six million employees of

Red Chinese Promote Lin

BELGRADE (UPI)—Red Chinese Minister of Defense Lin Piao may have taken over as No. 2 man to Mao Tse-Tung, the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported Tuesday.

Tanjug, in a dispatch from Peking, said reports were circulating there that Lin had taken over the post of chairman of the central committee's military commission, which has belonged to Mao for the past 30 years, and the post of first deputy chairman of the central committee, hitherto filled by President Lio Shao-Chi.

If these reports are proved correct, Tanjug said, "Then there is no doubt at all who at the moment represents the main decisive leading force in China."

(In Hong Kong, however, China experts said they had heard nothing of the reports and were skeptical about the Tanjug information. They noted Lin has been a vice chairman of the central committee since 1958 and that a ranking vice chairman has never been listed by the Communist Party, only implied.)

But in Belgrade, western observers were taking the Tanjug report almost at face value. Yugoslav correspondents have shown an impartial attitude to the ideological struggle between Russia and China and apparently have good sources in both Moscow and Peking.

Tanjug was first to report the downfall of Peng Chen, mayor of Peking and the dismissal of Lo Jui-Ching as army chief of staff.

The Yugoslav report followed a plenary session of the central committee of the Chinese Communist Party, which was said to have approved the purge now going on in China and to have been effusive in its praise for Lin.

Tanjug said, however, that the central committee's communique made no mention of "the important personnel changes which have taken place in the topmost leadership."

The Yugoslav correspondent in Peking commented: "Observers here point to the fact that Lin Piao... is the only person, apart from Mao Tse-Tung, mentioned by name in the final document of the 11th Plenum of the Chinese Party Central Committee."

"In it Lin Piao is described as the creator and protagonist of a policy which is of almost decisive importance for the future of China and, allegedly, of the revolutionary movements in the world generally."

Lin, at 58, is one of the young members of the Chinese hierarchy.

The Tanjug correspondent said the reports about Lin's new posts go "a long way towards confirming the hypothesis that the army and Lin Piao personally have come to the fore in the latest movements in China and that this, for the time being, settles the question of the order of values and personalities in the country in favor of the marshal and defense minister."

The official Peoples Daily in Peking, meanwhile, paid tribute to Lin for having "very correctly explained the supreme importance of Mao Tse-Tung's thoughts for the revolution and the future."

Syria On Offense Against Israel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syria Tuesday claimed a "smashing victory for the Syrian Air Force" over Israeli planes and declared it is moving into "offensive action against Israel."

The Arab MIG pilots "taught the enemy a lesson they will never forget," Syrian defense minister Hafez Assad was quoted as saying by the government-controlled Damascus radio and newspapers.

In a border battle over the Sea of Galilee Monday Syria claimed to have destroyed four Israeli patrol boats and damaged eight others, Israel said. Two Syrian MIGs were shot down and two gun emplacements "silenced" after the Syrians attacked an Israeli fishing boat and a patrol vessel that went to its rescue.

In an apparent reference to the declaration Syria was going on the offensive, papers in Damascus said the incident Monday was the first time since 1948 that Syrian planes had raided targets—presumably the patrol boats—inside Israeli territory. They said Syria now was moving from "defensive" to "offensive" action.

Israeli pilots had previously been authorized by Chief of Staff Yitzhak Rabin to chase Syrian jets into their own territory if further battles occurred, instead of confining fighting to the border area.

Israeli Prime Minister and Defense Chief Levi Eshkol visited the scene of the battle with Rabin and charged the incident had been deliberately instigated by Syria.

Israeli Ambassador to the U.N. Michael Comay told newsmen his government had not made up its mind on whether to request a Security Council meeting.

Meanwhile, the United Nations released an appeal to both Israel and Syria from Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, head of the U.N. truce supervisory team along the Israeli border. Bull called on both sides to "most urgently... renew and strictly observe their unconditional ceasefire commitment." He attacked the "deplorable use by both sides of military aircraft."

Romney, Hare Clash On Campaigns

LANSING 1—Republican Gov. George Romney and Secretary of State James Hare, a Democrat, clashed Tuesday over campaign contributions and the use of state cars for political campaigning.

While other members of the State Administrative Board squirmed in their chairs, Hare and Romney disagreed over a proposed policy statement.

They ended by taking no action on the statement drafted by George Washington, state director of administration and a Romney appointee.

"You bring me a copy of the policy you had when the Administrative Board was controlled by one party," Romney said, referring to past years when Democrats controlled the Administrative Board.

"I'll be happy to adopt whatever policy you had covering contributions and the use of state cars," he said.

Hare objected that Washington's proposed statement did not set a deadline for the start of the campaign, saying:

"I guess my difficulty is that I can't believe that political appointees won't be campaigning on both sides. We have had a policy on the Ad Board for several years . . ."

"Where is it?" Romney demanded.

Hare started to answer. "Where is it?" Romney challenged again.

"Let's see it; where is it?" "I'll bring it," Hare said. "Let's see it," Romney demanded.

Hare tried repeatedly to ask about a campaign starting date.

Romney repeatedly asked to see what had been adopted before.

"As far as I'm concerned, you've raised this for political reasons," Romney said.

"Of course I did," Hare responded.

"You've controlled enough money coming into the party to shape its finances," Romney said.

"Yes, I have," Hare said.

"My fee branch managers have contributed $600,000 to the party over the past 10 years. I have never spent more than $15,000 on a campaign in my life," Hare said.

The proposed policy would have required each person assigned a state car to sign an affidavit declaring it would not be used for political campaign purposes during a period of intensive political campaigning.

COOPERATIVE PROPOSED

Asks To Buy N.Y. Tribune

NEW YORK (UPI)—A journalist offered $75,000 Tuesday for the "name and goodwill" of the defunct New York Herald Tribune and said he plans to set up a cooperative organization that would publish the newspaper five mornings a week.

The merged World Journal Tribune Inc. announced Monday it would drop plans to publish the Herald Tribune, one of the nation's foremost papers, as a result of the 114-day newspaper strike. This resulted in the offer by Bernard Tassler, former copy editor of the New York Journal-American.

Tassler said his group, called the New York Herald Tribune Cooperative Publishing Corp., envisioned ownership divided between businessmen and newspaper unions on a 60-40 per cent basis. He said no favoritism would be shown to one side over the other.

The journalist was editor of the American Federation of Labor's monthly magazine, "American Federationist" for 20 years and was with the Journal-American when it was merged with the World-Telegram and Herald Tribune last April. Presumably his proposed publishing firm would purchase the Herald Tribune's printing plant.

The World Journal Tribune's negotiators and officials of the Publishers Assn. of New York met with William J. Kennedy, president of the holdout pressmen's union to explain their plans for publishing only an afternoon paper and a Sunday edition, under the name of World Journal Tribune.

The pressmen's union is the only one of 10 newspaper unions that have failed to negotiate a contract with the consolidated publishing firm since the strike began April 24. Matt Meyer, president of the World Journal Tribune, blamed the death of the "Trib" on the pressmen's refusal to accept Mayor John V. Lindsay's offer to set up a fact-finding panel to end the strike.

Seize 2 Suspects In 1964 Slaying

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two men, confined to separate mental institutions in greater New York, were arrested today as suspects in the 1964 Central Park slaying of a brilliant nuclear physicist.

Police said the two men would be brought to a Manhattan police station for questioning in the April 15, 1964 slaying of Dr. Charles J. Gallagher Jr., 31, an assistant professor of nuclear physics at Columbia University.

Authorities did not identify the two suspects or the institutions to which they were confined.

Gallagher was found shot to death in the Ramble, a wooded section of Central Park near 74th Street. He had returned to New York less than two months before, following a 10-day lecture tour in the Soviet Union.

Gallagher was described by a Columbia spokesman at the time of his death as "brilliant, with a brilliant background—and he would have had a brilliant future."

Only hours before he was fatally shot in the chest, Gallagher had visited the Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island, causing authorities initially to fear top secret documents might have figured in his murder. This theory was never proven and Columbia and Brookhaven officials said Gallagher had not been engaged in top secret work.

Born in Norwalk, Conn., Gallagher received his BA degree from the University of Connecticut in 1954 and his doctorate from the University of California in 1957 at the age of 25. He was married and had two sons.

A "loner," Gallagher enjoyed long, solitary walks and had been known to often visit the Ramble to pursue his hobby of bird-watching. Neighbors said he often took long walks to relieve the tension of 16-hour periods of study and research.

Communist MIGs Attack U.S. Jets

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist MIGs, striking farther south than ever before, attacked a flight of U.S. Navy Skyhawk jets Tuesday as they were bombing a north Vietnamese supply train. The MIGs pounced on the bomb-laden Skyhawks with cannon blazing, but the Navy jets emerged from the air clash apparently undamaged.

The air skirmish broke out shortly after American planes wound up a near-record day of bombing, during which they flew 133 missions against North Vietnam and ripped into a strategic oil depot just four miles outside the big port of Haiphong. It was the second biggest air raid of the war against the north in the number of missions flown.

In the south, Viet Cong guerrillas poured an estimated 82 rounds of mortar fire on the U.S. 1st Infantry Division headquarters at Lai Khe, 30 miles north-west of Saigon late Monday night and early Tuesday. The American soldiers, suffering light casualties, returned the fire with mortars, artillery and small arms.

The aerial clash broke out Tuesday morning when a pair of Soviet-made MIG 17 jet fighters jumped the flight of Navy A4 Skyhawks while they attacked Communist train 20 miles north-east of Thanh Hoa.

The North Vietnamese fighters broke off the attack when the Navy fliers turned and headed back to their floating base, the U.S. 7th fleet carrier Oriskany in the South China Sea.

Observers said the clash near Thanh Hoa was the farthest south that Communist fighter planes had ever put in an appearance in the war.

In Saigon, Vietnamese police and security officials announced Tuesday they have cracked two Viet Cong terrorist bombing rings operating in the capital area.

Vietnamese spokesmen said a number of suspected Communist agents had been rounded up after a bomb being carried by a Viet Cong agent exploded prematurely last Saturday.

MUSICAL CHAIRS

Fraternities House-Jumping

The fraternities are on the move, from fraternity house to fraternity house, buying and selling, as if they were playing a game of musical chairs.

Delta Tau Delta is moving into their new house this fall. Theta Delta Chi has moved into the former Delta house. Tau Delta Phi is moving into the former Theta house.

Phi Sigma Delta, a fraternity, could start a similar circle among the sororities. The fraternity bought the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority house.

Sigma Alpha Mu brothers, whose house was gutted by fire spring term, will start building a new house as soon as they sell their present property.

Including landscaping and furnishings, the new Delta Tau Delta house at 330 N. Harrison Ave., will cost $241,000, said Duane Vernon, secretary-treasurer of the house corporation.

Built on a modern asymmetrical design, the new 50-man Delta house includes a patio, a veranda and a $7,000 Woodmode kitchen.

To finance the house, the Deltas obtained a bank loan and a loan from the national fraternity. An alumni fund-raising drive is also helping offset the costs. Eventually the brothers will pay for most of the house themselves. The Theta Delta Chi's are already ready working on the former Delta house at 139 Bailey St. A benefactor bought the Delta house for them at $45,000 and the Thetas are investing up to $15,000 for remodeling the house.

The remodeling job includes repainting, plastering, new doors, carpentry, $750 worth of carpeting, $450 worth of draperies, $450 worth of inlaid linoleum for the foyer, landscaping and blacktopping the parking lot, Richard Witkowski, president of the fraternity, said.

The brothers will be deeded the house when they can raise $10,000.

"We're a new fraternity, only two years old at this campus, and we didn't have the finances to build a house," Witkowski said.

Tau Delta Phi, a fraternity that just went active in May, is renting the former Theta house at $6,000 this year. The house is located at 501 MAC Ave.

The Tau Delta Phis are giving the house a completely new paint job and replacing some of the walls. They will be investing about $20,000 in remodeling.

Phi Sigma Delta bought the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority house at 505 MAC Ave. for $95,000. The Phi Sigs are not planning any remodeling.

"I don't know what the owner of our former house is planning to do with it," Warren Brandwine, Huntington Woods senior, said.

The AOPi women will be living in two or three houses they have rented in the East Lansing community this coming year.

The Sigma Alpha Mus will build a 40-man colonial structure as soon as they sell their present property. Their house was gutted by fire spring term. The brothers now live in apartments and dormitories.

Teacher Disputes: Education Needed

A legislation-oriented committee sponsored by the State Department of Education voiced its unanimous belief last week that current teacher contract disputes reflect a need for greater understanding of Michigan's labor laws, not additional legislation.

The State Educational Council, a group of key educators and teacher organization representatives, has observed that school negotiation problems stem from unfamiliarity with the collective bargaining process rather than weaknesses in labor laws. The council was meeting to lay plans for the legislative program educators hope to see enacted in the coming year.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ira Polley said that of the many issues discussed, teacher contracts were one of the items of major consideration.

"In the first year of negotiations under the amended laws providing for collective bargaining, the central fact is that in an overwhelming majority of cases, the school employee organizations and the school boards have agreed upon mutually satisfactory contracts without great difficulty. The few exceptions—as is the case, frequently—have concentrated public attention on problems of negotiating," Polley said.

"This has been unfortunate, but the group, which includes representatives from both sides of the school bargaining table, was of unanimous opinion that as school employees and hiring officials become more practiced in the arts of negotiations, most of the problems encountered this year will disappear," Michigan's school chief commented.

He pointed out that a new program to offer regional workshops, courses and seminars on bargaining procedures is being planned for school employees and administrators this year.

of Ecuador and Peru.

President Eduardo Frei of Chile, who initiated the Little Summit, said he was delighted with its results. He compared the participants with the heroes of Latin America's 19th century campaign for independence from Spain.

"We are now entering into a phase of our lives that is in no way inferior to those lived by the heroes of the independence," he said.

The idea of a summit conference attended by the presidents of the 19 Latin American nations and the United States was first formally proposed in March by Argentine President Arturo U. Illia, who was ousted by a military coup last June. In April, President Johnson said he supported the proposal. Recently he suggested December as a convenient month for the summit.

The Little Summit, which ended here Tuesday, was considered a stepping stone toward the hemisphere summit. Among other proposals made at the meeting here was a call for the creation of a permanent executive-level commission to make the major decisions towards achieving economic integration of the continent. Invitations to join the commission will be offered to the 14 other Latin American nations, but not to the U.S.

As a protection against the permanent commission being rejected or slow to take hold in the other Latin American nations, the five countries here also agreed to speed up their efforts towards integrating their common boundaries and economies.

EMK Demands Gun Control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., demanded Tuesday that the Senate Judiciary Committee vote without delay on gun control legislation.

"There is no reason for further delay in the Judiciary committee," the brother of the late President said. "We have delayed it long enough."

He predicted an overwhelming majority of the committee would approve it for floor action.

Kennedy's challenge came during a three-hour committee discussion of gun legislation.

Kennedy and Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., spoke in favor of the tougher, administration-backed bill which would outlaw the mail order sale of pistols and revolvers and restrict the sale of rifles and shotguns.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., led a long line of Republicans from every section of the country who spoke on behalf of a substitute bill which would place restrictions on the mail order sale of handguns but would not deal with rifles, shotguns or imported weapons.

SUHARTO: 'NO YOU'RE NOT'

Sukarno Still Says 'I'm Boss'

JAKARTA (UPI)—President Sukarno Tuesday insisted he is still leader of Indonesia and that all his cabinet ministers, including military strongman Gen. Suharto—the real power in the nation—are "only my assistants."

Sukarno threw away a prepared text and looked directly at Suharto as he spoke off-the-cuff during the opening session of parliament. Suharto sat stone-faced, looking straight ahead.

Then he followed Sukarno to the rostrum and coolly rebutted him. "The cabinet has full authority to carry out its programs," Suharto said. "The cabinet consists of the leadership, the assistants to the leadership and the executors of the policy."

The conflict between the two statements was a clear indication of Sukarno's attempts to reassert his authority and the persistent policy of rebuffing him at every turn by Suharto and the 21-member cabinet, observers said.

"It must be clear to all—all ministers, all presidium ministers and even the presidium chairman (Suharto) that they are only my assistants," Sukarno said.

He declared he had no intention of allowing the government to change direction and said he would continue to rule by "guided democracy."

"There are still members of parliament who do not understand that," he said.

Sukarno said he intends to push on with his plan to hold a "conference of new emerging forces" whether the government likes it or not. The conference, proposed after Sukarno took Indonesia out of the United Nations in January 1965, was intended

Lunar Orbiter Set For Assignment

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Lunar Orbiter—America's photographic spacecraft—circled the moon effortlessly every 3 1/2 hours Tuesday in preparation for the start of its picture-taking assignment Thursday.

The 850-pound flying laboratory's circular path took it on a course that ranged from 117.43 miles to 1,159.28 miles from the moon.

From this orbit, the spacecraft will start shooting its first pictures of the moon's dark—or back—side, giving American scientists their first photos of this part of the lunar landscape. The Russians already have captured such pictures, but their quality left much to be desired.

Thursday is one of the two times every 28 days in which the sun's rays strike the moon at the best angle for photography at sunrise and sunset on the east horizon of the moon.

The first picture probably will be televised directly to the public, according to spokesmen at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The first series of pictures from Lunar Orbiter were expected to be slivers, which, when pasted together, will be composites of 16 photographs covering a lunar area 78 miles wide and 1,472 miles long.

On Saturday, Lunar Orbiter's retrorocket will be fired, slowing the spacecraft down for a lower orbital path that will take it as close as 28 miles from the lunar surface.

During this period, the spacecraft is slated to take 352 pictures of nine potential landing sites for American astronauts. The landing may occur as early as 1967, but should take place by the end of this decade.

These pictures will be compared with closeup photos of the moon taken by Surveyor, which made a soft-landing on the moon last June 1.

From this comparison, scientists hope to choose the landing site on which the first American will set foot on lunar terrain.

A series of test photos—exposed before Lunar Orbiter blasted aloft from Cape Kennedy, Fla., last Wednesday on its 235,466-mile journey—were received Monday at tracking stations in Southern California and Madrid, Spain.

Scientists said the test pictures were "very good." The test was conducted to check out electronic and mechanical equipment aboard Lunar Orbiter.

Ask Stronger Housing Bill

DETROIT—The Michigan Civil Rights Commission has asked U.S. senators Robert P. Griffin and Philip A. Hart to strengthen the housing provisions under Title IV of the 1966 Federal Civil Rights Bill now before the Senate.

In letters to the senators, Commission Co-Chairmen John Felkens and Damon J. Keith said, "While we recognize that the measure as adopted by the House is an important beginning in the establishment of nation-wide legal guarantees against discrimination in private housing, we wish to convey to you our deep concern that some sixty per cent of the private housing in the United States would not be covered under the existing bill."

All housing in Michigan, the commission co-chairmen pointed out, is covered by the state legal guarantees as provided in the Michigan Constitution.

The Michigan attorney general has declared that the civil rights provisions of the new Michigan Constitution affords each citizen in the state the right to purchase, rent, lease or to finance housing accommodations and real property without discrimination because of religion, race, color or national origin.

Latin Americans Call For Summit

BOGOTA (UPI)—The presidents of Chile, Colombia and Venezuela Tuesday called for a hemispheric summit conference with President Johnson as soon as possible to spur Latin American political and economic development.

The summit call was one of three major points included in the "Declaration of Bogota," drafted here during the past two days by a five-nation "little summit" that also included the personal representatives of the presidents

GI Students Can Be Help

Veterans who plan to attend school under the new GI Bill can speed up the processing of a certificate of approval if they attach a copy of their service separation form, DD 214, to their application.

This form, said R.M. Fitzgerald, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, is required to determine the amount of training time a veteran is entitled to receive; it is necessary to the processing of an application.

Fitzgerald further stated that veterans with dependents can save themselves much inconvenience and needless adjustments in monthly payments of training allowance if they will submit marriage certificates and birth certificates of children, with their initial application form.

This will enable the Veterans Administration to award full benefits initially without need for subsequent adjustments.

400 Attend India Program

More than 400 students from India and their friends celebrated the 20th anniversary of India's independence with a program in the Union Ballroom Sunday evening.

The unity of the diversified nation was stressed with music and dances from many of its 17 states and nine territories and with a fashion parade of costumes from many of its sections.

John D. Ryder, dean of the College of Engineering, was the guest speaker.

The size of the crowd and organization of the event were hailed by members of the sponsoring India Club as the best in the local club's history.

Juday's Football Knowledge To Be Utilized By Radio

Steve Juday, whose football knowledge gained him much respect during last fall's championship year, will share his knack for analyzing grid tactics with the nation when he becomes a radio sportscaster this fall. Juday, who will enroll fall term as a graduate student, has accepted an offer from the new Big Ten Sports Radio Network to assist in the broadcast of Big Ten football games this season.

John Dickson, a veteran of organizing and setting up new radio networks, has originated the new Big Ten network, which will service 160 stations covering 24 states outside the Big Ten area.

Hawaii and the island of Guam will hear Big Ten football over the new network, as will members of the armed forces around the world through the facilities of Armed Forces Radio.

Juday was chosen from a number of outstanding football seniors from last season and will join another MSU graduate, and voice of several TV commercials, Dick Beals, and Bill Orwig, former broadcaster of Indiana University sports.

Juday will provide "on-the-field" analysis for the radio listeners.

The schedule of games to be broadcast includes three Michigan State home games.

The Spartan Homecoming with Purdue; the University of Michigan clash and the opener with North Carolina State will all be aired with Juday now voicing strategy from the broadcast booth instead of from the huddle.

The Big Ten Sports Network, which will be the largest independent sports network in the industry, will send the games to states where Big Ten football is not played. Therefore, Michigan residents will not hear Juday's radio analysis.

However, the advantages of the new network include the airing of games to such places as Hawaii, from where many college athletes, including a few from MSU, hail.

Torres To Grant Cotton Rematch

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Light heavyweight champion Jose Torres said Tuesday that Eddie Cotton fought such a good fight in their title bout Monday night he felt the challenger deserved a rematch.

But a second meeting between the rivals, who went to the 15th round before in a final flurry win for Torres, did not appear as a possibility in the near future.

"It was such a good fight and I feel personally Cotton put up such a good effort that he deserves a rematch if a firm and acceptable offer is made," Torres said.

BIG 10 PREVIEW

Badger Coach Milt Bruhn 'Rebuilds' With Lettermen

By LARRY WERNER
State News Sports Writer

Wisconsin's football team gained 581 yards rushing last season.

MSU's star fullback Bob Apisa rolled up a total of 666 yards, himself.

And after the Badgers' '65 Big Ten season, finishing eighth with a 2-5 record, Coach Milt Bruhn says that he must rebuild. But graduation hasn't necessarily created the need for rebuilding.

It's the fact that the team he had last season, most of which is returning, could not produce more rushing yardage than a single runner for Michigan State collected nor hold teams to less than 3,297 yards, ninth best in the conference in both departments.

The Badgers had a bit of trouble hanging onto the pigskin in '65. The team lost 21 fumbles and had 25 passes intercepted. It was indeed a sad year for Bruhn, and it was almost his last, after 10 seasons and two Big Ten championships at Madison. However, the veteran coach survived the Board of Regents' vote and has the job of building a team.

One pseudo-strength for the Badgers was the passing of Chuck Burt. His completion percentage of 51.5, or 121 completions in 235 attempts for 1,143 yards and five touchdowns, was not bad at all. However, 22 of his passes were pilfered, and "that ain't good at all."

Bill Fritz caught 31 passes for 271 yards and four touchdowns. He's back, and so is Wisconsin's "outstanding" rusher, Tom Jankowski, who led the team with 271 yards on 86 carries last fall.

Eighth Of 10 Parts

Phil Sobocinski is a good offensive lineman, and Tom Domres does an adequate job on the defensive wall. Bob Richter is a good linebacker, and Bob Grossman and Gary Pinnow are experienced in the secondary. However, besides this brief list of players, there is little else to console Badger fans. Bruhn is looking to top sophomores for help in filling up the porous defense and providing an effective running game.

In two years, Bruhn may accomplish his goals when these sophs are seasoned, but there are too many holes to be filled before the upcoming season.

Summer Gym Clinic Begins Here Sunday

The Ninth Annual National Summer Gymnastics Clinic will be held at MSU's Jenison Gymnasium August 21-26.

Spartan Gymnastic Coach George Szypula, 1966 national "Coach of the Year," will direct the clinic for the seventh straight summer. More than 300 physical educators, administrators, coaches, judges and performers from 20 states and Canada will attend the session.

All aspects of gymnastics will be covered including developmental meets for boys and girls of all ages, films of the 1964 Olympic Games, exhibits of equipment, books, uniforms and a special ballet session for the girls.

Highlight of the clinic will be a "Nite of Stars" show scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 25, in the Men's Intramural Arena. Featuring national and Olympic champions, the performance is open to the public for $1 per adult and 50 cents for students.

Clinic championship meets will be held in both the junior (14 and under) and senior (15 and over) divisions. Each division will have men's and ladies' championships. The senior finals will be held 7:30 p.m. Aug. 23, and the junior finals will begin 9:30 a.m. Aug. 26. Both events are free to the public and will be staged in Jenison Gymnasium.

Assisting Szypula on the clinic board will be 1965 "Gymnastics Coach of the Year" Bill Meade of Southern Illinois University. Other board members include Paul Fina, former national champion; Jack Carr, former Temple University champion and Joe Schabacker, vice president of Arizona State University and an outstanding gymnastics judge.

Headed by former Olympic and national champion Rusty Mitchell, an outstanding staff of 30 will handle individual instruction. Other staff members include former Olympian Betty (Maycock) Roys; former Olympian and national champion Ernestine (Russell) Carter; Tom Darling, former national champion; Don Leas, former Big Ten champion at Michigan State and now assistant coach at Southern Illinois; and Glenn Gallis, former national champion.

This will mark the sixth time the clinic has been held at Michigan State. It began eight years ago with 50 participants and 20 staff members.

Ask Help For 'Some Of The Poorest People On Earth'

A MSU graduate, now an American Peace Corps volunteer, Tuesday asked University students, faculty and staff to give financial aid to a new self-help project in India's Chhatrapur District.

"We offer the opportunity of helping some of the poorest... people on earth do something to help themselves," wrote Stephen S. Sloane, a June 1965 graduate of MSU, and Michael Sherman, his partner in the project.

The project consists of building latrines for the people of the Chhatrapur district, and doing follow-up checks to make sure that each household does some of the labor of installing its own latrine, pays at least three-fourths of the cost, and, most importantly, that it uses the latrine.

Sloane and Sherman have been in Chhatrapur, working in public health and sanitation, for seven months.

After studying conditions there, they said that the most immediate help can be gained by installing latrines, to help eradicate many of the communicable diseases still plaguing the country.

By taking these measures of preventive health, Sloane and Sherman said that medical expenses of both the government and the people could be reduced by half.

Five latrines have been completed, with the help of a 50 rupees (about $55) stipend from their district civil surgeon, and nine more are in the process of being completed.

"But for the latrine project to be successful," Sloane and Sherman wrote, "it must reach all the people."

Even though the Sloane-Sherman project is 20 rupees under the next least expensive cost stated by the Action Institute, it is still not cheap enough to reach the many low-income farmers.

Sloane and Sherman wrote that if they could give a supplement of ten rupees to each of these low-income households (about 100 families), the program could reach everyone.

"No gift will be considered too small," concluded Sloane and Sherman, "since we have found that small amounts, if properly directed, can bring about wonderful changes in the present and reap rich rewards in the future."

Their business address, to which contributions may be sent, is: Michael Sherman and Stephen Sloane, American Peace Corps volunteers, c/o American Embassy, New Delhi, India.

Horticulture Prof, Researcher Dies

Roy Edgar Marshall, 76, an internationally known horticulture researcher at Michigan State died Tuesday afternoon at a Lansing hospital.

Mr. Marshall was one of the principal researchers in establishing the apple juice industry. He was a professor emeritus of horticulture who retired from his position as assistant director of the MSU Michigan Agricultural Research station in 1957.

He has been widely honored for his contributions to research and scholarship.

For eight years after retirement, he served as secretary-treasurer and business manager of the American Society for Horticultural Science.

He relinquished this position in 1965 and began editing the "Book of Summaries," resumes of some 800 scholarly research papers that are being delivered at the 17th International Horticultural Congress which is currently in progress at the University of Maryland.

Mr. Marshall was internationally recognized and honored for his contributions to research and scholarship. His research reputation was established by work in apple storage, processing of apple juice, dehydration of fruits and vegetables, processing of cherries and the blanching of vegetables.

Mr. Marshall joined the faculty of Michigan State University in 1920 after teaching and extension positions in Nebraska and Oregon. He was named a professor in 1934, and became assistant director of the experiment station in 1950. He was also an exchange professor in 1928-29 at the University of Minnesota, and acting head of the Dept. of Horticulture at Washington State University in 1935-36.

estimated as high as 8 per cent. The administration had hoped to keep wage increases within the 3.2 per cent guidelines.

In announcing the contract, the union said it made no attempt to compute "the percentage increase of the entire package." But it was clear that the machinists considered the final settlement far in excess of what the administration had originally hoped to keep it.

The new proposal "effectively and thoroughly shreds the so-called guidelines," the union statement said.

The wage hike was broken down into three stages, each amounting to 5 per cent. The first is retroactive to Jan. 1. The second takes effect on Jan. 1, 1967, and the last on May 1, 1968.

A cost of living clause, which would increase wages by 1 per cent an hour every time the government price index rises four-tenths of 1 per cent, was opposed by administration experts. The earlier contract rejected by the union did not include a cost of living allowance.

The cost of living index has risen 1.7 per cent in the past 12 months.

"It is our judgment that the clause... represents the best that could be secured in view of other wage movements," the union said. Union officials said they felt the cost-of-living clause was "one of the major achievements of this settlement."

The new proposal was believed to be valued at some $16 million more than the contract the union turned down July 31. The rejected contract was said to have included wage and benefits gains of 4.3 per cent.

The union said the contract was the "largest step forward" by its members.

What It Is

a voter registration drive there. Green painted a picture of the Negro's educational opportunities in the South, where many, he said, are given obsolete, second-hand textbooks and Negro teachers are forced to hold tea and Coke parties to help subsidize their schools.

He cited Wilcox County as one of the most disadvantaged areas in the South where, he said, 83 per cent of the Negroes are disadvantaged, averaging $543 yearly.

Three white families, he added, own two-thirds of the property in Wilcox, the third poorest county in the state.

Despite the county's obvious need for poverty aid, Green said Gov. George Wallace ordered the program's funds cut back because the SCLC directed much of the program.

This state of educational affairs in the South prompted Green to tell Detroit educators:

"Any Negro who completes 12 years of education in the South and comes North and completes his college with a 2.00 GPA, deserves an 'Academic Medal of Honor.'"

Green spoke from a research paper prepared especially for the workshop here, entitled "Accumulative Deficit of Intellectual Prowess Among the Culturally and Economically Deprived."

Birch Society Founder Quits

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI)—A University of Illinois professor who helped found the John Birch Society said Monday he resigned from the society because he could "no longer, in conscience, remain a member."

Revilo P. Oliver, whose name is the same spelled backward or forward, resigned Monday from the society's council and from a post as associate editor of its magazine.

Oliver was put in the national spotlight after the death of President John F. Kennedy when he published a treatise, "Marksmanship in Dallas," alleging that a Communist conspiracy was involved in the assassination.

He listed "internal changes" as his reason for resigning. "I was one of the 11 men who met with Mr. Robert Welch in Indianapolis on Dec. 9, 1958, when the society was formed," Oliver said.
