Largest blast in U.S. history this Friday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) -- The mightiest nuclear blast to be fired in the United States is set for Friday, and the federal government is feeling shock waves in advance.

Protests against possible danger or damage have come from citizens, scientists, labor leaders, peace groups and from the organization of Nevada's biggest spender, billionaire Howard Hughes.

The test of a hydrogen device will pack the wallop of one million tons of TNT or more and is expected to be felt, earthquake style, for 250 miles or more.

A test last January rated at a little less than a million tons rocked buildings in San Francisco and Salt Lake City. Residents of the Northern California coastal town of Eureka, 700 miles distant, said they felt it. It cracked pavement on bridges 12 miles away, but caused no serious damage. Its purpose was to determine if even larger tests could be safely staged.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) says no damage is expected from Friday's test. It is set for 6 a.m. in a chamber 3,800 feet under Pahute Mesa at the Nevada Test Site.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's office in Washington confirmed receipt of letters of concern from Nevada residents. Gov. Paul Laxalt said he had similar letters from "scientific people" in Nevada.

The Howard Hughes organization, which has invested millions of dollars recently in hotel casinos and other Nevada real estate, asked for a 90-day postponement to study possible test effects.

A Hughes spokesman said the organization has received telegrams from several scientists, including:

--Philip Morrison of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, saying "it would be very unfortunate to have a radioactive venting or a peculiar degree of seismic damage at this crucial point in diplomatic negotiations."

--Leland Steward, executive director of the Conference on Science and Religion, saying a test "seems poor judgment at this time--pending Vietnam negotiations."

The Hughes group holds that the test could contaminate underground water, emit radioactivity into the air or touch off earthquakes.

The AEC said it will evaluate buildings near the site and close a few roads as a precautionary measure. If the test causes no damage, a spokesman said, even larger ones may follow. The Friday test has been termed essential to weapon development.

McCarthy, RFK victory predicted

By LINDA BEDNAR
State News Staff Writer

Robert Harris, executive director of Choice 68, predicted Wednesday that Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., would come out on top in the national collegiate presidential primary.

At a press conference in the Union, Harris said Kennedy and McCarthy would probably each receive 25 per cent of the collegiate vote. Former Vice President Richard Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would probably receive the next highest vote, he said. A recent poll at MSU had shown a similar distribution, he said.

Harris said the results of Choice 68 would provide "a better barometer of the coming elections than most people think." Young people, he said, represent their home regions better than adults who vote in primaries in another state.

Choice 68 may prove misleading in that it may show a heavy vote for Democratic candidates, Harris said. "Many students think the Republican race is already over," he said. If students do not like Nixon, he said, they may vote for Kennedy or McCarthy.

This tendency would be corrected by tabulating the party preferences indicated on the ballot, he said.

Harris said the Choice 68 vote could be broken down many ways besides school-by-

Board plans open hearing to review grading changes

By DAN BRANDON
State News Staff Writer

The ASMSU student board Tuesday night called for an open hearing to allow students to discuss the recent grading recommendations made by the Educational Policy Committee (EPC).

The hearing was set for 7 p.m., May 6. A location will be announced later.

It was proposed with the idea of getting student reaction to the 10 point grading system and the pass-fail proposal which are being considered by the EPC.

The 10-point system along with six other recommendations have already received approval from the Academic Council.

The remainder of the original 18

Hannah committee

President Hannah's ad hoc committee on race relations will meet tonight to review and possibly revise the report presented by a special subcommittee last week.

With the committee's approval, a version of the report would be made public, Hannah said. It may include a preliminary response of the University to the list of demands presented to Hannah by the Black Students' Alliance after Rev. Martin Luther King's assassination.

Miss Hughes explained that the mo-recommendations will be considered by the council at their Tuesday night meeting, and then they will go on to the Academic Senate.

Tom Samet, junior member-at-large, who made the motion for the hearing said that there is a need for more student-faculty dialogue on the matter.

"Although a great deal of student opinion was taken into consideration prior to the wording of the grading change proposal, there has been no adequate opportunity for student reaction and student-faculty dialogue since its completion," Samet said.

In other action, two motions were made by Sue Hughes, Off-Campus Council chairman, in an attempt to force certain standing faculty committees to open their meetings to students and the press.

The motions in effect take the negative approach to the issue. One would close student board meetings to members of the administration and the faculty until faculty meetings are open to students.

At present, such bodies as the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs and the Academic Senate meet in closed session.

The other motion would exclude members of the press from attending student board meetings until members of the press are allowed to attend the faculty and administration meetings.

Miss Hughes explained that the mo-school. The age the voter indicates on the ballot and the referendum options he chooses "could determine the image of a candidate," he said.

College students can influence national policy in other ways, Harris said.

"I would hope one of the results of Choice 68 would be to demonstrate to those who think students are not capable of voting responsibly that this is not so," he said.

He hoped that Choice 68 would be followed by an effort to obtain the vote for 18-year-olds, and said that such campaigns have followed on the heels of Choice 68 campaigns in such states as New York and Colorado.

The results of this vote could prove more meaningful in 1972, or even 1976, than they could now, Harris said.

On the MSU campus, Choice 68 spokesmen said they had 11,000 ballots in their hands. Only eight residence halls had turned in their ballots, and Roger Williams, Choice 68 coordinator, said he hoped for 6000 more ballots from the rest of the residence halls. Totals will be tabulated late tonight, he said.

The 20,000 figure Williams hopes for would be higher than any other school has recorded so far, Harris said. It would also be twice as large as the largest student election turnout MSU has ever had--9,000--according to Williams.

U.S. prods N. Vietnam to accept conference site

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The United States has sent another message to North Vietnam in the still-unsuccessful effort to achieve agreement on a site for preliminary peace talks, the State Dept. disclosed Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Polish government has appealed to six embassies in Warsaw to exert influence in bringing preliminary peace talks on Vietnam to the Polish capital, reliable sources said Wednesday.

It was understood that the new U.S. message went to Hanoi Monday and amounted to a diplomatic prod to the Reds to respond to earlier U.S. offers of any of its list of 15 Asian and European capitals as a meeting place.

It was the fifth such communication from Washington to Hanoi announced since the opposing sides publicly declared three weeks ago their willingness to enter into peace talks. The talks have been sparring over where their envoys should meet.

In revealing the latest American message, State Dept. press officer Robert J.

McCloskey added: "I could not report progress" towards accord on a site.

Other U.S. authorities said no official message has been received since the second from Hanoi on the subject, dated April 11. It proposed Warsaw as a meeting location. The first North Vietnamese offer, on April 8, suggested Phnom Penh.

The United States has objected to both Warsaw and Phnom Penh on various grounds. It wants the talks to be held in a neutral country where there are adequate communications and the parties involved in the Vietnam conflict have diplomatic accreditation.

Sources said the Polish ambassadors of the Soviet Union, Japan, Britain, Canada, France and India were called into Poland's foreign ministry and asked to "approach Washington."

The request, they said, was made by Adam Rapacki, who is reportedly ill.

Winiwiecz was said to have asked the ambassadors to convey Poland's readiness to provide the necessary and proper conditions for the talks and to request their governments to help sell Warsaw as the site.

Britain and the Soviet Union were the co-chairmen nations of the Geneva conference of 1954 which ended the seven-year war between France and Indochinese Communists. Canada and India are members of the watchdog Indochina International Control Commission, along with Poland.

Asian diplomatic sources see Paris as the likeliest spot for the two sides to agree on. Neither the United States nor North Vietnam has proposed the French capital as a site so far, and neither has rejected it.

The diplomatic sources noted that Paris is accessible to representatives from both the Communist and non-Communist countries involved in the war.

McCloskey reaffirmed that at this stage the proposed meeting is to be only between U.S. and North Vietnamese emissaries. This is in line with the original announcement concerning direct Washington-Hanoi contacts.

U.S. allies have been anxious not to be left out of negotiations that may develop. On this question, the United States has asured its Vietnam partners that they will be consulted and informed on the initial talks and has indicated they will be at the conference table should discussions broaden into full-fledged negotiations at a later stage.

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant appealed to the United States and North Vietnam to agree on a site "without further delay." And he called for scaled-down fighting to set a more favorable stage for peace talks.

McCarthy fans elated by vote in Pa. primary PHILADELPHIA (AP) -- Backers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy cheered his showing Wednesday in Pennsylvania's primary, but he can count on "only a handful of the state's 130 Democratic convention votes.

McCarthy's name was the only one on Tuesday's primary ballot, as he far outdistanced write-in candidates.

"As a result of the preferential primary, it's fairly obvious he is a great favorite and a great vote getter," said Michael H. Malin, chairman of the Pennsylvania McCarthy for President organization.

McCarthy, D-Minn., had no immediate comment.

In the voting, McCarthy's totals were 7-1 over the write-in votes for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, a Democrat from New York, and 10-1 over Vice President Hubert Humphrey. On the Republican side, former Vice President Richard Nixon forged a 3-1 write-in lead over New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Only McCarthy and Kennedy campaigned at all in Pennsylvania, the nation's third largest state. Because the votes for candidates in the Pennsylvania primary are not binding on convention delegates, few delegates campaigned as supporters of any one man.

Malin, claiming outright 15 delegate votes for McCarthy at Chicago, said contests involving about seven possible McCarthy votes were still undecided. On the basis of McCarthy's showing Tuesday, Malin said, he hoped to persuade some other Pennsylvania Democrat delegates to back his man. State Democratic headquarters in Harrisburg was compiling a list of delegates. Kennedy backers claimed no delegate votes, saying they had not campaigned for any.

Pennsylvania Democrats send 162 delegates to the Chicago convention and they cast a total of 130 votes. Pennsylvania Republicans have 64 votes at their Miami Beach convention. The bulk of both delegations is now largely uncommitted. With 7,991 of 9,460 precincts reporting, McCarthy had 340,692, Kennedy 44,304, Humphrey 33,819, President Johnson 13,962 and former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama 10,656. McCarthy backers had said they expected their candidate to poll about 200,000 votes.

On the Republican side, with 7,413 precincts reporting, Nixon had 112,145, Rockefeller 34,228, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California 4,698, Wallace, 5,180, Johnson 1,376 and Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania 806. Shafer has said he wants to go to the convention as a favorite son presidential candidate to unify his party's delegation.

University College sees basic course variation

By LINDA GORTMAKER
State News Staff Writer

University College will probably offer, within the next few years, variations of the four basic courses to supplement the general education policy to be considered by the Academic Council Tuesday.

"When these changes are made in University College, we will have a stronger program," said Edward B. Blackman, asst. dean of residence instruction for University College, also chairman of the Educational Policies (EPC) subcommittee that drafted the general education policy.

The policy was written partially in response to chapter six of the report by the Committee on Undergraduate Education (CUE) on liberal and general education. This portion of the CUE report will be the first under consideration by the council.

Blackman said the committee was "not bound by the CUE report but influenced by it."

The policy before the council provides that:

--an English composition course in addition to American Thought and Language (ATL) will be offered.

--12 of the 45 required University College credits can be substituted for other general liberal education credits to be determined by a student's college. This would enable a student to not take the University course closest to his major.

Blackman calls these alternate tracks "a pretty good thing" and said that in a few years University College itself would offer three or four variations of each basic course now offered.

He said that already an alternate track for the basic humanities course is being considered for this fall.

"University College was lax in not making the changes sooner but it has been restricted," Blackman said. "Many people in the upper colleges want their students to have had the common education experience that the basic courses now provide."

Blackman singled out the ATL course for going the "farthest" of all University College courses because of its special

GRAD ASSISTANT

Teen to lecture in math

Don't kick that freshman-- she may be a grad assistant.

Edith Stern, age 15, has been accepted as an MSU graduate student and assistant in mathematics for fall term.

According to Math Dept. officials, Miss Stern will deliver two-hour algebra lectures twice a week, grade tests and act as consultant to students, in addition to taking three graduate courses.

A future classmate of genius-- residence Mike Grost, 14, Miss Stern said of this. "It will be interesting; it'll certainly be different."

"He will undoubtedly be a challenge to her," observed her father, Aaron Stern.

Miss Stern, who has been considered genius since the age of two, chose MSU over six or seven other schools.

The Brooklyn-born girl's IQ has been tested as being anywhere from 154 to 201, depending on the type of test used.

She learned to read at age two, play chess at four, dropped out of junior high at 12 and entered college at 13.

Miss Stern will celebrate her 16th birthday a few days after her graduation from Florida Atlantic University this August.

Kelly to probe corporate control of banks

By UPI
Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley Wednesday called for a state investigation of allegations that some Michigan corporations have gained control of certain state banks illegally.

unless it was acquired as part of a bank reorganization plan. Kelley asked acting State Commissioner of Banks, Armand D. Bove, to conduct the investigation "in order to verify this information."

we'll make a full report to the Attorney General. Kelley told newsmen that recent testimony given to legislative committees showed that certain corporations own as much as 90 per cent of certain banks. "Some corporations own substantial portions of several banks," he said.

stock in banks in violation of the law. He asked Bove to review public records to determine the extent of the financial control of the banking industry by corporations and, if necessary, use subpoena powers to determine "the method by which such bank stock was acquired."

acquired in a bank reorganization, which is legal, or whether it was purchased or acquired outright. Kelley said it "is very doubtful whether very much" stock has been acquired through reorganization. "It is probably a very small portion," he told a reporter.

the corporations to divest themselves of it. "In case of the failure of such a corporation to comply with this request, we will institute appropriate quo warranto (special) proceedings seeking divestment of these shares of stock and where necessary will take such additional legal action as may be needed," he said in the letter to Bove.

Two bills that changed the law to permit corporations to buy and own bank stock were killed in legislative committees last month.

Bove said one of the problems is "that in Michigan we don't have any way to regulate corporate bank holdings."

British workers demand controls

LONDON (AP) -- Several hundred more British workers marched on Parliament Wednesday to demand tighter non-white immigration controls, but most of their mates stayed on the job--often with colored men beside them.

handed to Powell at the House of Commons. The petition objected to the antidiscrimination bill, which Parliament approved Tuesday on its second reading.

There were signs that the tensions aroused by Conservative Enoch Powell's speech Saturday were easing.

'Graduate' campaigns for McCarthy
Dustin Hoffman, star of "The Graduate", and Mary McCarthy, daughter of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., will campaign for McCarthy at the Auditorium in a program starting at 4:45 p.m. Friday.

But, although one Conservative newspaper reported that 97 per cent of the mail it was receiving favored Powell, another produced the results of its own opinion poll showing that 53 per cent back new legislation aimed at preventing discrimination.

Four hundred workers at London's big Smithfield meat market felt that Powell spoke for them. Like the dockers Tuesday, they marched through the warm spring sunshine to Westminster, shouting support for Powell as they went.

Before they marched, most of the market's 2,000 men signed a 92-page petition which they later

Gun section added to crime bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee voted Wednesday to cement into a broad anticrime bill a section providing tougher federal controls over firearms sales.

Johnson's recommendations, the new restrictions would not prohibit interstate mail order sales of rifles and shotguns to individuals.

However, they would ban such sales of other firearms, including concealable weapons like pistols and revolvers.

There also would be an outright ban on sales to persons under 21 years of age.

The bill would make it unlawful for any person other than a licensed dealer to transport or receive in his state of residence any firearm other than a rifle or shotgun purchased or otherwise obtained outside his state.

Another provision intended to implement state and local firearms controls would make it unlawful for a licensed dealer to deliver any firearm to a person with reasonable cause to believe its receipt or possession would be in violation of state or local law.

Under another provision, a person who shipped, transported or received a firearm in interstate commerce with intent to commit a felony would be subject to a $10,000 fine and 10-year imprisonment.

As under present law, mail order sales of firearms or ammunition to fugitives, felons and persons under indictment for certain crimes would be prohibited. The bill goes a step further by applying this ban also to over-the-counter sales.

Other parts of the firearms section would raise dealers' fees and set stricter standards for their licensing, curtail imports of firearms, and put tighter controls on sales of antitank guns, bazookas, mortars, grenades and other highly destructive weapons.

Wednesday's Judiciary Committee meeting was called to settle a dispute over just what firearms controls it had approved on April 4 as part of the overall anticrime bill.

The bill includes President Johnson's Safe Streets proposal for federal grants to help improve and equip state and local police forces and to develop new crime fighting techniques.

And contrary to Johnson's recommendation, it would authorize wiretapping and other electronic eavesdropping by state and federal law enforcement officers, acting under court orders, to combat major crimes.

Another highly controversial part of the bill would make the only test of the admissibility of confessions in federal criminal trials whether they were voluntarily given.

This is designed to undo restrictions placed on police questioning of criminal suspects by Supreme Court decisions.

"A COUPLE of weeks ago the news media were drenched in gory comparisons of the surrounded Marines at Khesanh and the ultimately annihilated French at Dienbienphu in 1954. So it would be appropriate to declare a victory for the good guys at Khesanh — and to note that the papers that compared Khesanh with Dienbienphu in 72-point type announced the end of the siege in 24-point type."

Poor attendance marks Communist unity meeting

BUDAPEST (AP) — A preparatory unity conference of Communist parties opened Wednesday in a sealed-off hotel with barely half the 88 delegations invited showing up.

Many of the absentees said the meeting's only purpose was to entrench Soviet dominance over the world's Marxist parties.

The stay at homes—49 by unofficial count—included Red China and Albania, critics of the Soviet Union from the far left, and Yugoslavia and Romania, both to the right of Moscow. Cuba was reported missing as were North Vietnam, North Korea and other Asian parties.

The 10 or 12 days of scheduled discussions are to decide on an exact date in November or December for a conference in Moscow to "promote the cohesion of all anti-imperialistic forces," and according to Yugoslav reports, draft a document on Vietnam and a peace appeal.

For Yugoslav, Romanian and Chinese Communists this means a formal reassertion of the Soviet party's "leading role" in world communism.

The only group attending the current meeting likely to challenge this position is Czechoslovakia.

Meetings at the Gellert Hotel Wednesday were reportedly concerned with just how much publicity the participants wanted to release on a day to day basis.

The imperative to print Detroit's papers again

For 160 days, the newspapers in Detroit have not been operating because of a strike, the longest major newspaper shutdown in the nation's history.

The Governor has invited major labor leaders and the publishers of the Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press, the struck papers, to meet in his office on Tuesday.

For the past four and a half months, the negotiations have plodded along with little apparent progress.

Until now, Romney has said little about the dispute because if he needed to intervene, he could act as an objective third party, he said.

Besides retaining his objectives, however, there are probably two other reasons why Romney has not been involved in the strike earlier.

First, he may have been hesitant about entering the dispute because of his personal differences with Cavanagh resulting from last summer's riots in Detroit.

Since his withdrawal, his time has been taken up with his legislative program and other problems.

Romney's announcement certainly came none too soon, but it should be welcomed as a constructive move.

The absence of newspapers allows rumors exceptional freedom to try their wings. In a racially tense period, rampant rumors can be the raison d'etre for civil disturbance, large or small.

Romney's proposed meeting will be, if nothing else, a way to bring the parties together. Whether the atmosphere is constructive will be determined by the attitudes brought to Lansing by the participants.

If a true dialogue does take place next Tuesday, it may lead to a settlement, and the city will be more secure for the summer. At this point, it is simply imperative that Detroit get its newspapers back.

Candidates new look: stars in their eyes

The announcement that Dustin Hoffman will speak on campus Friday brings moments of contemplation.

We wonder if this appearance marks a renewed effort by the Campus Theatre to break the longevity record of "Goldfinger," or if it signals perhaps a new trend in the infusion of Hollywood blood into the campaign.

One can envision George Hamilton, straight from a wild Hollywood bachelor weekend, speaking to us about the attributes of Bobby Kennedy, while the Flying Nun lights outside to continue his harangue.

lights after they are done--Yul Brenner.

The following week the campus might hear Shirley Temple tell us why Dick Nixon should be our President.

Sidney Poitier and Rod Steiger, with Oscar in hand, would have nothing but good words for ex-governor George Wallace.

Sean Connery would have to campaign for Rockefeller, of course, since he's the only man capable of discerning whether Rocky is a candidate or not.

The grand finale would come when, with the words "I am so happy to be here at MAC," Ronald Reagan would begin his speech for--who else--Ronald Reagan.

Spring cleaning time for ASMSU, cabinet

Spring cleaning time has arrived for ASMSU.

The newly elected ASMSU Student Board members have moved into their offices, displacing the "retired."

Greg Owen, recently appointed Cabinet president, has formulated the structure for the Cabinet, that branch of student government responsible for programs, projects and services.

a prerequisite is for highly capable people to apply.

ASMSU has had a credibility gap with the students. Students don't care about student government. As one ASMSU candidate said prior to his election, the Cabinet legitimizes the Board to the student body.

The best, and perhaps the only, way for ASMSU to bridge the gap of concern is by finding competent people who will produce significant Cabinet programs during the coming year.

--The Editors

Now Owen must select students for the numerous tasks. Petitioning is underway for the 17 directorial positions; vice presidential petitioning has already ended; all the directors will need co-workers.

Course evaluation could be one of the most worthwhile programs. Great Issues speakers and pop entertainment shows can be crowd-drawing.

But all depend on the people chosen. Course evaluation will not give student opinion a well-organized voice in the academic realm and will not give students some sound idea of course content and instructor method if the project head is not fully competent.

Obviously, ASMSU should strive to appoint the best qualified applicant for each job. But

OUR READERS' MINDS

Pedantic haggling over Viet future

To the Editor: I would like to make three comments concerning our pedantic haggling over possible sites for top-level discussions on the future of the Vietnam conflict.

First, the administration's refusal to adhere to its promise to talk peace anywhere and at any time, and subsequent attempt to re-explain that statement in order to justify its actions, have served only to increase the belief of many Americans that its officials refuse to operate under any circumstances other than well-regulated secrecy.

from Hanoi. Almost certainly it is becoming increasingly difficult for the rest of the world to believe the public pronouncements of our President.

The result of this recurrence of the infamous credibility gap could very possibly be, as Senator Mansfield believes, that this country will, through the obstinancy of its leaders, lose a chance to bring to an end the Vietnam war. This country claims to champion peace throughout the world, and yet in a feeble effort by its leaders to "save face" in discussions of a relatively low-level nature will only be made the laughing-stock of a free world.

Finally, the American people must be drawn to one conclusion by all these international antics: it is time for a change in our national leadership, one that certainly cannot be provided by either Hubert Humphrey or Richard Nixon, a political relic from another era of diplomatic ineptitude in American history. The Vietnam war has proven a compelling point about the functioning of democracy in the United States: the most valuable asset a pretender for high office can have is a record of non-partisan commitment to the mainstream of American thought within a flexible framework of personal political conviction.

Support BSA demands

To the Editor:

As the Student Council of the Wesley Foundation at MSU, we would like to express our support of the demands made by the Black Student Alliance.

To function properly with the world outside of the campus, it is relevant that the University take a stand on the question of open housing and develop a project for the black students of Lansing. Courses in Afro-American studies would increase the availability of knowledge of the Negro culture and would be a basis for further communication and understanding.

Therefore, we urge the students at MSU and all others to support the demands made by the Black Student Alliance and to sign the petitions of support circulated by the Friends of UCM.

Question of academic procedure

To the Editor:

I was one of an indeterminate number of faculty who declined an invitation to participate in the recent 'Days of Conscience' classes. I did so despite my considerable sympathy with many of the aims of the program.

Briefly, it becomes a question of means and of proper academic procedure. I do not think it is legitimate to use assigned course time (in my case in Spanish and Reform history) to discuss Vietnam or anything else contemporary, however attractive or even of obviously basic importance to all of us. Supposing a great number of faculty and students were 'hawks', radical-rightists, or what have you. I should imagine the hue and cry from the proponents of the 'Days of Conscience' if class time were granted them to discuss the virtues of escalation, etc. Before and after class, on the time of those concerned, easily suffices, and this is not a compromise of dubious morality, but rather a method which precludes the alternative prospect suggested above.

'It's the weather bureau again...'

MAX LERNER

By MAX LERNER

Consider the man called James Earl Ray, who also seems to have used a number of other names, among them Eric Starvo Galt, and is now the target of a vast manhunt.

Another theory, which cannot be ignored and is gaining some credence, is that it was a "contract job," much like any gangland murder, with some petty criminal punk serving as the gunman, but also with precise planning for the murder and getaway.

From this angle of vision many of the details now emerging about Ray--his criminal convictions, his jail term and escape, his travels, his bank account, his purchases and expenditures--seem to fall into a meaningful pattern.

again a number of times before the FBI catches up with him--if it ever does. For Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark's early description of the killer as "a lone man on the run" may no longer be true.

It seems probable now that he was not a lone man, and he may no longer be on the run. If, in fact, there were others who used him for their purposes, his capture now would be intolerable to them, and the indicated course for them would be to kill him before he can be caught.

Inevitably, of course, one thinks of another killer in another assassination--that of John Kennedy--which has not been cleared up in the minds of many people, and may never be wholly resolved. There is even the weird coincidence in the evidence that Galt-Ray made one or several trips to New Orleans, which awakens memories of Lee Harvey Oswald's stay in that city, and of the erratic efforts of Jim Garrison to prove a New Orleans conspiracy using Oswald as a "patsy" and to hang it on the CIA and the FBI.

It all adds up to a climate of conspiracy along with the climate of hate. It is well to be on our guard against both. There is hot violence and there is cold violence--that kind that springs out of massive anger and the kind that comes from calculated plan. If one had to choose, it is better to strike out from anger than to move in cold blood.

The day of the loner is probably passing, whether we think of the creative adventurist loner, or the lonely assassin. For many things that were once done by individuals, we carry over from the Army today the term "Operation." Even political leadership involves a "team."

Yet it would be folly to carry this to the point of believing that nothing disastrous ever happens except as the result of a conspiracy. The fact is that one of the strongest elements in the climate of violence today is the compulsion to believe that we are surrounded by conspiracies. This is the paranoid view of life--that nothing happens to us either by chance or through our own deserts, but only as the result of a planned operation by our enemies.

Someday we may discover what prompted Dr. King's killer--whether it was the wrathful violence of a True Believer or the cold anger of violence used as an instrument for some smoldering paranoid resentment deep within. In either case it is essential that the assassin be tracked down, not for the sake of vengeance, but because we need to know what moves in the minds of distorted men before we can ever achieve even a measure of reason.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS

State Dept. officer feels President styles policy

By SHARON TEMPLETON
State News Staff Writer

The foreign policy of the United States depends upon the personality and style of the President, Christine Camp, Coordinator of the State Department Public Relations Team, said Wednesday at Case Hall.

"It is the President who ultimately makes the policy," she said, "upon the recommendation of the Cabinet and the National Security Council."

Foreign policy-making operations have not changed basically under the administrations of Kennedy and Johnson, she said.

"Policy-makers receive reports each day from various locations, which are passed on with recommendations through various departments, such as the State Department, to the National Security Council and finally to the President for decision," Miss Camp added.

"This decision is then filtered back to the policy-makers, who write up the orders for ambassadors," she explained.

Every member of the foreign relations team is encouraged to express his opinion, she added, but once the President's decision has been made, the ambassador is obligated to carry out the policy.

Many people enter the foreign service with idealistic ambitions for revolutionizing another country, she said. However, realities of political life modify these ideals, she added.

"Foreign relations people must work with the government in power and recognize its authority to govern," she said. "Our only other alternative is to break relations with the country, which, as in the case with Red China, has impeded our knowledge."

The foreign service is an excellent training area for those who aspire to become ambassadors, she said. Opportunities are available on the administrative side, as well as in the foreign service officer field, she pointed out.

Miss Camp advised students interested in foreign service to acquire a broad background in the social sciences. Although the State Dept. does not require fluency in a foreign language, many promotional opportunities are available if an additional language is spoken, she said.

Miss Camp joined the Foreign Service in 1951 as a staff officer, traveling to Afghanistan and other countries. She joined the Kennedy administration in 1960, where she served as Executive Assistant to Pierre Salinger.

She rejoined the State Department in 1964 in the Public Affairs Division, where she has served as the coordinator of the Continuing Education Public Relations Teams throughout the United States.

Fungus may help cystic fibrosis cure

An MSU biochemist reported recently that a fungus that can contaminate hay fed to horses and cattle has yielded a substance that may be effective treatment for sufferers of cystic fibrosis, an hereditary disease involving the exocrine glands.

Steven D. Aust, asst. professor of biochemistry, reported his findings at the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology in Atlantic City, N.J., Thursday. The substance, slaframine, greatly stimulates the secretion of digestive enzymes by the pancreas, a gland whose functions are deficient in cystic fibrosis.

Aust's research with cats showed that while slaframine stimulated activity of the exocrine glands, it caused no apparent side effect on heart rate, respiration, blood pressure.

He pointed out that cystic fibrosis is a disease apparently found only in humans, so it cannot be directly studied in animals.

Soviet expert plans lecture on philosophy

George L. Kline, professor of philosophy at Bryn Mawr College, will speak on "Soviet and Eastern European Philosophy" at 8:30 p.m. Friday in 102 B Wells Hall.

The speech was incorrectly scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday in the MSU staff bulletin blue sheet.

Kline was the only scholar from outside Europe invited to the 1961 international conferences on research in Marxism-Leninism, held in Cologne, Germany.

He has been to the Soviet Union five times and has just returned from his eighth trip to Eastern Europe.

Kline is a friend of Leszek Kolakowski, Poland's foremost young philosopher. Kline is the author and editor of various books and articles, which have been translated into six languages.

Petitions due for Blue Key

Friday is the deadline for interested junior and senior men to submit petitions for membership in the MSU chapter of Blue Key, national honor fraternity.

Petitions should be returned to 101 Student Services Bldg.

The Blue Key chapter at MSU has been active in campus service projects, including the annual orphans' basketball game.

To qualify for membership, men must have accumulated 85 credits by the end of spring term, and have all-University averages that place them in the upper 35 per cent of their class.

New members will be initiated at Water Carnival, May 24.

Brighton named to interim board

Howard Brighton has been named to the board of emergency interim successors to Michigan Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Brighton, MSU regional director for continuing education in south-central Michigan, was appointed to replace Robert Abbott, of Albion, who resigned.

Public Act 202 provided for the appointment of five interim successors to serve as state officials in case of an attack on the country.

A native of Jackson, Brighton received his B.S. degree from Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant; his M.S. degree from the University of Michigan, and his Ph.D. from the University of Oklahoma.

Union Board's problem: explaining what it does

By DOLORES MAJOR
State News Staff Writer

While Union Board sought new members this week by holding student meetings in dormitories, they discovered that they have a basic problem—the students do not know what Union Board is or does.

John Phillips, Union Board chairman, who is concerned about this problem, explained Union Board's function this way: "Union Board is an activities organization," he said. "It is a part of ASMSU and has a non-voting position in ASMSU."

"Union Board sponsors such activities as Welcome Week Mixers, Meet-the-Team Rallies, Activities Carnival, Block S, Spartan Spirit, Fashion Shows, Mad Hatters Midway and the All-University Talent Shows, it prepares the Activities Calendars, and sponsors trips to away games," Phillips said.

Primarily, the purpose of Rush is to get students interested in some of the work that Union Board does. It wants people who are willing to work, even if it is for a couple of hours a week. "People can work as little or as much as they want," Phillips said. "They tell us how much time they are willing to give."

In order to function properly, Union Board needs over 100 people to work on the many committees needed for the coming year's activities and that's what these meetings are all about—to get people interested in working on them.

Students who go to the meeting Thursday from 7-9 p.m. in Union Parlors A and B, will be given a form to fill out indicating which committee they are interested in working on.

Foreign policy panel

'IDEALIZED' Foreign policy hit by panelists

By WES THORP
State News Staff Writer

The foreign policy of the United States faces military, socio-economic, moral and political pressures, according to three panelists discussing "Pressures on American Foreign Policy" Tuesday in Wonders Kiva.

Lt. Col. Richard W. Hobbs, director of international relations programs at the U.S. Military Academy, Mordechai Kreinin, professor of economics, and Paul Marantz, professor of political science, spoke in a discussion that is part of a three day conference titled "American Foreign Policy: The Price of Power."

If the United States doesn't reduce its international balance of payments deficit, our allies may lose all confidence in the American dollar, Kreinin said.

"If they lose confidence in our dollar, which they use for their reserves, they can demand gold in exchange for dollars," he added.

A rush on our gold reserves, according to Kreinin, could possibly cause a serious economic depression.

The United States is also facing economic pressure from the Common Market, said Kreinin.

"The Common Market is a new giant on the scene, gaining table at the Common Market," he said. "We can no longer force our view on the nations of the market."

An over idealization of our past is responsible for many of our problems today, according to Paul Marantz, political science professor.

"We have stepped on the toes of our weak neighbors," said Marantz, "and we have failed to understand the other countries' point of view."

The United States is too preoccupied with the Soviet menace he said. "This threat no longer exists. The Soviet Union can make few gains due in part to the disarray in the communist world," he added.

"The Soviet Union has become too interested in its own domestic problems to become involved in other countries' problems," Marantz concluded.

Hobbs said the military should participate in foreign policy. "Force is still the ultimate sanction in the world," he said.

Hobbs mentioned Greece, Turkey, Malaysia, India, Pakistan, Nigeria and Vietnam as recent examples of using force in the world.

Many military matters have played a significant role in foreign policy, he said. He pointed to the recent Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, the treaty banning the use of orbital weapons and the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty as examples.

"I don't see the end of war in general coming," said Hobbs. "But I think we can lower war to some level where we can't physically destroy each other."

Petitions open

Petitioning is open for students to answer the "Spartacus" phones and do research questions Monday through Friday, between 1 and 5 p.m.

"Working for 'Spartacus' offers a good opportunity to become involved in student government and to do something productive and enjoyable at the same time," said Terry Mulchahey, director of 'Spartacus'.

Those interested should apply at 308 Student Services Bldg.

WOOSTER HOUSE

Intellectual milieu sought

By MARILYN PATTERSON
State News Staff Writer

Residence hall living with a flavor of intellectual curiosity is the goal toward which the men of Wooster House, North Wonders Hall, strive.

The academic house was established fall term to meet a need for "intellectual interaction that is sometimes missing in other residence halls," said Jeff Justin, Watervliet senior and Wooster House resident assistant, said.

The house is the first of its kind in the MSU residence halls, and is not intended to be a floor for intensive studying only.

"There is an atmosphere for study, but it goes beyond that," Justin said. "We have a program of speakers, take part in hall council and have lots of discussions. I feel that you live with more people living in Wooster House because we have many discussions." David Case, Hudson, Ohio, sophomore said.

activities of some of the Wooster House men is the organization of the Students for White Community Action, a group seeking to end racism by working within the white community.

The Wooster House speaker program attracts professors and non-university people for their presentations. The program is something from the population explosion to extra sensory perception," Brian Keller, Wilmington, Del., sophomore, said.

There is no grade requirement for living in Wooster House, Justin said. The only qualification is that the applicant must have an "attitude of intellectual curiosity," he said.

Applicants will be interviewed by a committee of men presently living in the house for housing next fall term. Those interested may contact Brian Keller at 35312781 for further information about applications.

Jobs proposed for riot prevention

By JIM GRANELLI
State News Staff Writer

To prevent another Detroit crisis, jobs for the black poor must be found now, according to Samuel D. Proctor, president of the Institute for Services to Education.

"Given the time-jam between now and summer, about the only thing we can do is to try hard to identify those who are capable of being hired and to put them in the available jobs," Proctor said.

Those who are not capable of being hired should be put in some kind of a public works program, he said in a press conference at Kellogg Center Tuesday.

"Those who participate in the riots relate more to jobs than to open housing," he said. "These poor see open housing as more for those who are in privileged positions.

"Low cost open housing, however, would have a direct effect on ghetto dwellers."

The people who control the job market have to help create employment, and the federal government, not the local government, has to help through redistributing the nation's wealth.

Though Proctor feels that the guaranteed annual income is a step in the right direction, he said that an incentive plan should also be incorporated into the program.

"The key to any welfare program is to build incentive to work," he said.

Proctor said he pays his income tax not for political reasons, but rather to show his compassion for the less fortunate people.

"I would consider it a bargain to pay more in taxes if it will go where I intend it to go," he said.

Proctor said he opposes the Vietnam war because the large monetary expenditures are needed to stop the war in the cities.

In a speech before the third annual dinner of the Greater Lansing Urban League Tuesday evening, Proctor said that the poverty cycle of rejection, fear and hostility must be broken by reversing the process and replacing rejection with acceptance.

"There is a myth that middle class whites can't understand the black poor, and that middle class Negroes can't understand the black poor," he said. "This is just a polite excuse for people to engage in cynicism, indifference and apathy."

SAMUEL PROCTOR

"How can a Negro in the ghetto apply for a job when he can't even speak the language of the employers?" Proctor asked.

This rejection develops into fear, he said, a fear of failure. This fear breeds hostility which, in turn, breeds abject futility.

"The one thing we have to hang on to is his anger when he turns to hostility," he said.

When the black poor are hostile, communication efforts are greatly increased in contrast to the quiet, rejected poor, he said.

The worst thing that could happen is for these angry, hostile blacks to return to a complacent life without any communication or change in their life, he said.

This return is undesirable because Negroes have received everything through their agitation and protest, Proctor said.

"The only thing that legislation has done is to teach the black militant that protest is needed."

"After reading the Kerner report, the underlying feeling it conveys is that there has been no real gain given to Negroes," he said.

"I'll praise the day when someone in the legislature says we ought to do something without being influenced by protests," he said.

On the Kerner report, Proctor's general reaction was that "every suburbanite should read it . . . It surfaced a great many facts."

Proctor said that education forms acceptance, but students have to perform at certain levels of competence that are often not relevant to the students' abilities.

"We have to start with people where they are. In this way education can build confidence," he said.

'Alliance' meeting to study Honduras

The "Michigan Partners of the Alliance for Progress" will hold its annual meeting today at Kellogg Center.

The program will begin with luncheon at noon followed by a slide presentation on British Honduras and consideration of projects which groups can carry out to aid the Honduras.

Warren M. Huff, executive director of the National Association of Partners of the Alliance and former MSU trustee will speak at the luncheon meeting. He will discuss Michigan's partnership with British Honduras.

Former U.S. Congressman Alvin M. Bentley, chairman of the "Michigan Partners," will conduct the business session of the meeting at 10 a.m.

Those interested in attending the information part of the program from 2 to 5 p.m. can register at the door.

The "Michigan Partners" is a non-profit organization operated by citizens of Michigan on a volunteer basis with funds from private enterprise and individual citizens. Governor Romney is honorary chairman of the "Michigan Partners."

Course evaluation extended to June

ASMSU course evaluations will continue to examine University College courses and professors because all information was not compiled by the end of winter term, according to Sid Spector, course evaluations committee member.

In addition to wrapping up University College evaluations, the committee will follow up with evaluation of upper level economics, political science, English, sociology and health courses.

The course evaluation manuscript should be completed in June and should be ready for printing this summer, Spector said.

It was originally hoped that the evaluations would be ready for distribution at summer freshman orientation sessions.

Because the manuscript will be at the printer for eight to ten weeks, it may not be ready in time for the orientation programs.

The report should be ready for fall term registration.

Yes, I am going.
 Sorry, I can't go. Enclosed is a contribution.

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step.

He took that first step and he took the step first, when he went alone into New Hampshire.

But he was not entirely alone. Three thousand student volunteers, an actor and a poet were with him.

Together they went into the countryside to talk to the people. The students talked; the people listened. And then in New England they cast the votes that were heard around the world. As students we made it happen. We altered America's course. In Wisconsin, ten thousand of us came to work. A new politics of participation was born. An unchangeable mind was changed.

But our task is incomplete, our journey unfinished. Thousands of volunteers are needed during the coming weeks to do the telephoning and canvassing, talking and walking, that must be done to win again in Indiana on May 7, and in Nebraska, Oregon and California after that.

It is hard work. Sometimes it is tedious and exhausting. But it is the work that must be done to insure our future and that of America.

If your help, your commitment, was important before, it is vital now. We have promises to keep, and miles to go before we sleep.

'STRAIT-JACKET RULES'

Woe to coed's life in 1940

By MARNIE SCHULENBURG

While MSU students now face what some feel to be a minimum of social restrictions, students in the 1940's were strait-jacketed with rules. Woe to the freshman woman's night life in 1940.

On week nights, she was due at the dorm when Beaumont Tower tolled nine bells. On weekends, late minutes started piling up past the 12:30 p.m. mark on Friday and Saturday nights.

But girls were allowed a 4 a.m. permission on the night of the J-Hop, a popular campus event held in what was then the brand-new Auditorium.

Nothing to do on Tuesday afternoon? Attend the regular tea dances in the Union Ballroom. Or, if a girl lived in East Lansing, she could stop off in the Town-Girls' Room of the Union to freshen up.

Instead of bicycles tearing up and down bicycle paths, it was common to see horses trotting sedately to and fro on bridle paths.

Rules were more detailed.

ATTENTION! YOU ARE NOW ENTERING M.S.C.

NO: CIGARETTES, BARE ANKLES, FLASHY CLOTHES, OR ANY OTHER UN-ACADEMIC OR OBSCENE ACT BEYOND THIS POINT and seemed to take into account every possible petty crime. Girls were cautioned never to dry their hands on shower curtains and never to use the one lavatory reserved for washing hose.

The frenzied smoke worshippers of today were either not yet born or still in diapers when, in 1946, the majority of students voted to forbid smoking north of the Red Cedar.

What did it mean to be fashionable in the '40s? It meant that the coed in the know wore saddle shoes, tweeds, an endless variety of neck scarves and costume jewelry. She always wore stockings under her colored anklets. Felt hats were also in.

Ohio fossil hunt open to students

A fossil hunt to Silica, Ohio, will be sponsored by the Geology Dept. for students with an interest in archeology.

Jane E. Smith, associate professor of geology, said buses will leave from in front of the Natural Science Bldg. at 8 a.m. and will return by 6 p.m. April 28.

Cost of the trip is $3.50 and should be paid at the cashier's window at the Administration Building.

Slacks and shorts were worn only for sports and had to be covered by a full-length coat on campus. Elbow length kid gloves at formals were only for the most daring females, while the majority charmed their escorts with angora mittens.

Mabel F. Petersen, of the Office of Student Affairs, distinguished between the old myths and traditions on the MSU campus.

Some of the stories—such as girls could not dress in red or wear patent leather shoes—are pure myth, Miss Petersen said. Traditions, though, were real and were set by the ruling cliques.

Miss Petersen recalled the days when carrying purses was taboo, and when the way you wore your socks marked you as an "in" or an "out."

You earned your privileges as you progressed in years, Miss Petersen explained. For example, the freshman and his beanie was easily distinguished from the senior with his mustache and cane.

Revo Discount Store on Grand River now stands where, years ago, the door of a place called the Smoke Shop was wide open to men but strictly off-limits to women.

"A girl wouldn't dare go in there," Miss Petersen said.

Music Dept. plans percussion concert

The Dept. of Music will present its annual Percussion Ensemble Concert at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the Music Auditorium.

The concert will be directed by John Baldwin and will contain members designed ensembles of percussion instruments.

Two numbers of special interest are "Percussion on the Prowl" by Anslinger and "Tocatta" by Meyers. "Percussion on the Prowl" features solos by the various percussion instruments and "Tocatta" is performed without the use of instruments as the members of the ensemble provide the music through foot stomping, knee slapping and hand clapping.

Neck injury ends Pitts' grid career

By TOM BROWN
State News Sports Writer

Jack Pitts' football career came to a halt Wednesday, the result of a serious neck injury suffered in last season's Wisconsin game.

The decision to withhold Pitts from football competition was reached by the Spartans' team physician, Dr. James S. Feurig, and discussed with the sophomore defensive back and his mother.

"Jack suffered a very serious neck injury," Feurig said, "and you can only consider that his recovery so far has been near-miraculous."

"Recovery has come without any paralysis or loss of sensory function," Feurig added.

Feurig said that the operation that fused two vertebrae in the neck into one left Pitts without any pain or difficulty under normal conditions.

"We register concern, however, in the case of a heavy contact sport such as football," Feurig said.

Feurig said that Pitts had a long thin neck, which is prone to neck injuries in the first place, and a recurring injury could bring about paralysis or death.

In discussing the situation with Pitts, Feurig said Pitts, an ex-kicker, asked Feurig if he could continue to play football only as a punter.

"I already had an idea about this," Feurig said, "but I checked into it and found that there was a significant number of times when roughing the kicker was called last year."

Feurig said that the impact caused by a charging lineman can result in the same type of whiplash that occurs in a high-velocity auto accident.

"Few teams can enjoy the luxury of a punter that never needs to make a tackle, and Jack was injured making a tackle," Feurig added.

"We have a good man now, and to throw him into a contact sport like football, risking either permanent injury or even death, would be foolish," Feurig said.

Injury has been a Spartan nemesis for the past year, and one Spartan has already been sidelined for the season in a spring drill incident.

Sophomore Bob Mittenberger suffered a dislocated left shoulder last week, which Feurig said would require surgery.

In addition, veteran flanker

Frank Waters tore the ligaments in his knee during Wednesday's practice inside Jenison Fieldhouse.

In addition to Waters, the Spartans have temporarily lost the services of Nick Jordan, Tommy Love, Ron Curl, Don Highsmith, Mike Mahady and Tom Barnum. Ted Bohn and Paul Lawson are excused from spring drills while recovering from surgery.

Consistent golfer, Benson's forte

By GARY WALKOWICZ
State News Sports Writer

In golf consistency is the name of the game and MSU's Steve Benson knows it well.

Benson is co-captain of the Spartan golf team and is its "most consistent player," according to Coach Bruce Fossum.

Collegiate golfers generally are inconsistent scorers, shooting a 72 one day and maybe an 87 the next. But Benson doesn't fit this mold, as his record will attest.

During his play last season for MSU, all of Benson's meet and tournament scores were between 74 and 83, a difference of only nine strokes.

In the two tournaments that MSU has been in during the last two weeks, Benson's scores have all been between 70 and 76.

Benson said one reason for his consistent scoring may be that he "plays a lot of competition during the summer after MSU's season is over."

Knight new U-W coach

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Bob Knight, 27-year-old coach at the U.S. Military Academy, Wednesday was named Wisconsin's new head basketball coach.

U-W Chancellor William H. Sewell confirmed the selection.

The choice of Knight by the U-W Athletic Board was approved by the executive committee of the Wisconsin Board of Regents.

Knight, who had been at Army three seasons, will succeed John Erickson, who resigned to become general manager of the new National Basketball Assn. team in Milwaukee.

The others were Wisconsin assistants John Powless and Dave Brown; Jack Hartman, head coach at Southern Illinois; Ray Krzoska, head coach at University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; Jim Harding, head coach at La Salle, and Earl Lloyd, a former player and assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons.

Knight's record at Army in 1965-66 was 18-8, and it was 13-8 in 1966-67.

He was an assistant basketball coach at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, high school in 1962-63 and was an assistant at Army for two years before taking over as head coach.

Knight was one of seven finalists for the Wisconsin job.

BIG 10 BAT TITLE

Litwhiler: 'We can win it'

By GAYEL WESCH
State News Sports Writer

MSU's baseball team has been killing time and opponents since April 6 and awaiting the guts of its schedule, the Big Ten season.

The wait ends Friday, when MSU meets Michigan, and Coach Danny Litwhiler says his team is more than ready for the challenge.

The Spartans have notched seven straight victories since returning from the spring trip to Florida, including a 15-2 trouncing of Notre Dame Tuesday.

The pre-Big Ten showing has convinced Litwhiler that the Spartans can take the league championship.

"I don't see any dark horse in this league," Litwhiler said. "No coach likes to make a flat prediction his team will win, but I think we've got the personnel to do it. Some other coaches in the league think their teams can win it too."

The Spartans' 15-5 pre-Big Ten record is second to Minnesota, the top contender for the crown, but Litwhiler is skeptical of the Gophers' last 10 opponents.

Minnesota's last 10 victories have come over Luther, Superior State, Mankato State, Augsburg, South Dakota and St. Thomas and the Gophers have gained a 20-5 record going into a scheduled doubleheader with Wartburg Tuesday.

"Those teams aren't of the caliber of Detroit, Ball State and Notre Dame, and Albion could give them all a run with the same pitchers they used against us," Litwhiler said.

Litwhiler pointed out that they had a fine 7-4 record on a spring trip to Texas, and took three games out of four from Iowa State.

Minnesota has won the Big Ten and national championships every presidential election year since 1956, but Minnesota Coach Dick Siebert said his team didn't look to be a national contender this time.

Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Ohio State also consider themselves contenders or "dark horse" picks.

In pre-season statistics released by the Big Ten office, MSU has three representatives among the top 15 hitters, and three among the top 15 pitchers.

Not to sell the Gophers short, Litwhiler pointed out that they had a fine 7-4 record on a spring trip to Texas, and took three games out of four from Iowa State.
