

Why aren't student teachers allowed to vote in campus elections? David Neumeister, Lansing senior.

Student teachers may vote in campus elections, but to do so they must vote at one of the polling places on campus. Pete Ellsworth, chairman of the ASMSU Student Board said, however, that there is no provision in the ASMSU Code of Operations or Constitution for absentee ballots.

Will the movie, "The Loved One," ever be re-released? Bruce Hansche, Albuquerque, N.M. senior.

No national re-release is in the offing for the Tony Richardson film. However, Frank Leahey, whose Exploring Cinema Society runs films every Sunday evening in the Union Ballroom, will show the picture on May 12.

Is the sealing of the windows on the first floor of the library a fire hazard? Ken Meskin, Southfield senior.

No, windows in all buildings, including residence halls, are not considered as a means of egress.

Why aren't students permitted to phone in reservations at Forest Akers Golf Course? Can this policy be changed? John Callender, St. Joseph sophomore.

Students in the past have proved very unreliable in honoring their reservations. Trials have been attempted several times to see if the student attitudes towards keeping their appointments have changed. They haven't.

What dorms will be open this summer? Beverly Salach, Livonia senior.

The following dorms will be open this summer: Mason-Abbot, North and South Case and Van Hoosen, all for undergrads; and Owen for graduate students. Provision has been made for overflow for the first five weeks of the term; these students will, if necessary, be accommodated at Snyder-Phillips. For further information, contact the Assignment Office, 190 Holmes Hall, 355-7460.

When did the University start giving out student numbers? What was the first one--00000001? Jeff Bartlett, Lansing senior.

The University issued its first student number fall term of 1938. The first number was One.

How many bicycles are stolen each year? How many last month? What fraction of them are recovered by the police? Jim Worthey, St. Louis, Mo. graduate student.

Five-hundred and thirty-six bicycles, having a reported value of $18,880.68, were reported stolen during the fiscal period of July 1, 1966, through June 30, 1967. Bicycles having a value of $8,174.60 were recovered during the same period. So far this fiscal year, 332 bicycles have been reported stolen, with 32 of them being reported during the month of March.

PRESS CONFERENCE TODAY

GOP awaits Rocky's decision

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) -- Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is expected to declare his active candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination today at a news conference here.

Rockefeller has called an 11 a.m. EDT news conference at the Capitol to make an "announcement concerning his political plans." Leslie Slote, the governor's press secretary, said Monday.

The 59-year-old governor will step before newsmen less than six weeks after he said he would not be an active candidate for the GOP nomination.

While Slote and other aides officially refused Monday to confirm reports that the governor would launch a full-scale drive for the nomination Tuesday, they made arrangements for live coverage of the news conference by the nation's three major television networks.

Tuesday's appearance at the Red Room of the Executive Chamber will kick off a two-day national swing by the governor.

On Wednesday, Rockefeller is scheduled to address a World Affairs Committee luncheon in Philadelphia, where he has indicated he will speak out on the U.S. position in Vietnam.

Rockefeller's posture on Vietnam has generally been that he lacks the necessary information to make informed judgments on the war. However, he has assigned Harvard professor Henry Kissinger, who has advised him frequently on foreign affairs, to help him prepare a statement on the war.

The following day, Rockefeller will fly to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to address a Republican audience. Unconfirmed reports here say that he has arranged to meet with prospective delegates to the GOP national convention in an effort to enlist their support.

Even as his office was refusing comment on the reports he would declare his active candidacy, Rockefeller was arranging to fly a full complement of newsmen to Iowa with him.

Aides played down the arrangements, presumably in an effort to avoid tipping the governor's hand.

Rockefeller's change of sentiment on becoming an active candidate was said to have been prompted principally by President Johnson's March 31 announcement in which he said he would neither seek nor accept renomination.

Political allies immediately began exerting pressure on Rockefeller to begin a vigorous campaign for the nomination.

Knowledgeable Albany administration sources said that the effort would culminate Tuesday in a Rockefeller declaration of candidacy, with a number of top Republican leaders from across the nation at his side.

The word was that Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky and former U.S. Rep. William E. Miller, the 1964 GOP vice presidential candidate, would be among the Republican figures joining Rockefeller at the news conference.

'News' head rejects offer for mediation

DETROIT (UPI) -- The publishers of the Detroit News Monday rejected Gov. Romney's offer to mediate the Detroit newspaper strike. Romney immediately asked him to reconsider.

Romney had called the publishers of the Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press, which have been shut down for 166 days, to attend a meeting in his office Tuesday, along with Union leaders.

In a telegram to Romney, publisher Peter B. Clark said "We must respectfully decline your offer to mediate in this difficult strike situation."

In a telegram reply, Romney asked Clark to reconsider his decision. "I would hope that on your own you would reconsider and honor my request to be present," Romney said.

Romney said Clark's presence is "necessary and vital."

Meanwhile, Sen. Robert Huber, R-Birmingham, the chairman of a Special Senate Investigating Committee investigating the strike, said that if Clark refuses a second time the committee would recommend to Romney that he be forced to attend by subpoena.

Minutes after the News declined to attend Romney's meeting the publisher of the Free Press said his newspaper would be represented at the session.

"We plan to meet with the Governor in Lansing," Publisher Lee Hills said in a statement. But he added: "While in this case, the Free Press is accepting and the News apparently is declining. I want to emphasize the mutual determination of the Detroit newspapers to settle this strike on terms acceptable to both."

In his reply to Clark, Romney said he intervened in the strike on the request of the State Labor Mediation Board.

'Poor' march lobbyists meet Washington officials

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Singing, marching arm in arm and delivering polite ultimatums, the vanguard of lobbyists for the Poor People's Campaign called on top government officials Monday to air their grievances.

"We gave Secretary Freeman our list of demands," said the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, after the delegation was received by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

"We will be back in 10 days to this department," said Abernathy, who was thrust into the role of campaign leader by the slaying of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"We will meet with Secretary Freeman at that time... we will not be 150 strong as we are today. We will be 3,000 to 5,000 strong."

The conference with Freeman was first stop for the advance group. Campaign leaders held meetings with heads of executive departments Monday with more planned Wednesday and huddles with Congress members scheduled Tuesday.

They have predicted that caravans and marches now forming across the country will bring tens of thousands, more enthusiastic leaders forecast hundreds of thousands, of poor to the nation's capital to put pressure on the government for an improvement in their lot.

In Capitol Hill, some members of Congress were annoyed at the campaign.

"The march that has been planned will not bring the improvements that are being sought, whatever those improvements are," said Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va.

In the House Rep. C. C. Fisher, D-Tex., described the campaign as "intimidation by invading hordes." He called for repudiation of "this monstrous method of petitioning Congress."

Major to speak

Maj. Howard V. Lee, recipient of the Medal of Honor will speak on "Americanism" at 3 today in 108B Wells Hall.

Lee was awarded the Medal of Honor on Oct. 25 by President Johnson.

Lee has also received the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart, the National Defense Service Medal, the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal with one bronze star, the Gallantry Cross with Silver Star and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal.

The speech, open to the public, is sponsored by the Semper Fidelis Society and the Veterans Assn.

Both parties 'satisfied' with judiciary decision

By LINDA GORTMAKER
State News Staff Writer

Both parties in the ROTC controversy case expressed satisfaction with the Student-Faculty Judiciary's decision released publicly Monday.

The judiciary found actions by the Dept. of Military Science with James R. Thomas, East Lansing special student, inconsistent with guidelines of the Academic Freedom Report in one of three appeals Thomas made, and consistent in two.

"I was reasonably well satisfied with the decision," Col. Robert G. Platt, chairman of the Dept. of Military Science, said Monday.

He declined further comment on specific appeals Thomas made to the judiciary.

Thomas said the decision was "obviously a victory," and that he planned no appeals on the two actions by the Dept. of Military Science that were not found to be inconsistent with the freedom report's guidelines.

In the one decision in Thomas' favor, the judiciary ruled that Thomas' disenrollment from Military Science 100 that he visited fall term was "inconsistent with his rights as expressed in Section 2.1.4.6(b)."

Thomas was "unable to obtain accurate and clearly stated information" which would enable him to determine the special condition which apply to visitor status," the judiciary said.

Thomas had also said in his final written appeal to the judiciary that the department violated two other parts of the freedom report, but the judiciary said insufficient evidence was given during the hearing to support these charges. The parts were:

--Section 2.1.4.3 because he "was dismissed from the course for political ideology."

--Section 2.1.4.5 because Platt disenrolled him from the course, using "misleading information" to disenroll him.

At the beginning of the hearing April 15 and when questioned immediately after the hearing Thomas said that these appeals would "be hard to prove because they deal with states of mind."

"They would have been almost impossible to prove," he repeated Monday.

Thomas, therefore, felt the judiciary's decision to be a victory because the part of his appeal stating that he did not have accurate and clearly stated information to determine his eligibility as a visitor was supported by the judiciary.

Thomas stressed that the judiciary's decision is only a part of a process--it represents awareness of the situation, next must come recommendations, followed by the University taking action on these recommendations.

Rights Commission hears plight of rural Negroes

By JIM SCHAEFER
State News Staff Writer

MONTGOMERY, Ala. -- The fact-finding powers of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission (CRC), chaired by President Hannah, returned to a second day of hearings Monday to examine the plight of the Negro in rural, non-metropolitan areas of 17 counties here.

Last Saturday, after months of preparation, the Commission began the probe. At that meeting, Hannah noted that the Commission had only the power to collect and disseminate information about voting fraud in the denial of civil rights to members of society.

After Hannah's comments several background reports were received and some preliminary testimony was given. Monday, the focus changed to the impact of agricultural change upon the individual and the response of federal agencies to the problems raised.

A distinct pattern of inequality emerged in housing, employment and the services offered by both the state and federal governments.

As testimony went on, the outline of the specific causes of the problems became clearer.

For example, part of the agricultural change has been caused by the movement of Negro farmers from their land. The hearing today showed that this movement was aggravated--even motivated--by discriminatory practices.

The Negro tenant farmer may move to the North in search of freedom and higher wages.

He may also be forced to move because his wealthy white landlord may have become angered at his attempts to help the civil rights program, and so

Student dies in accident

Funeral services for Ronald G. Richardson, who died Sunday in an automobile accident, will be held Wednesday in Onsted, his home town.

Mr. Richardson, 19, was a freshman enrolled in the College of Engineering.

The Lenawee County Sheriff's Dept. said Monday Mr. Richardson was riding in a car with a friend Sunday afternoon on a rural gravel road between Onsted and Adrian when the car went out of control on a curve. Mr. Richardson was thrown out of the vehicle, which then rolled over him and crashed into a tree.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Herrick Hospital in Tecumseh.

White students fight racism

By STAN MORGAN
State News Staff Writer

In less than three weeks Students for White Community Action (SWCA) has grown from a bull session idea to an organization of over 500 members. Dennis Rittenmeyer, adviser, said Thursday.

He said the group has been primarily concerned with organization since it was chartered April 18, but should begin making specific recommendations to the University administration in a couple of weeks.

"Before any action can be taken Students for White Community Action must find areas in which it can be most effective," Rittenmeyer said.

The purpose of the organization as stated in Article II of its charter is as follows:

"Promotion of community thought and discussion regarding the area of civil and human rights."

"Promotion of positive action from The White Community in pursuit of human dignity for all Americans, black and white."

"Peaceful steps aimed at speeding the lagging desires of America's white people for complete equality among all her citizens."

Besides preliminary contact with various curriculum committees Rittenmeyer said the group was also working on a reading list of civil rights material and on the idea of bringing certain speakers and movies to the campus.

"We are also working on a proposal to the State Board of Education to teach a high school level course on minority groups," he said.

The organization believes the civil rights movement needs both action and education, Rittenmeyer said.

"By not countering racist arguments with facts, white people support the racist society," he said. "The problem is to get white people to face such situations with facts, not to walk away."

Rittenmeyer said the group believes most people are ignorant rather than racist, they know of the civil rights problem but do not know the "who" of it.

Working on the assumption that the majority of white people called racist are only apathetic, he said the purpose of the organization will be to give these people impetus by providing them with a background of facts on the civil rights question.

"We hope to appeal to the everyday person who has sat back and done nothing even though he may be concerned," Rittenmeyer said.

He said a recent forum SWCA sponsored on civil rights became little more than a shouting match between the Black Student Alliance, the Students for a Democratic Society and the white group. The other groups were demanding to know what specific actions the new group was planning, although it had just received its charter and was still trying to get organized.

"It will be a difficult task to get organized and to form concrete plans for next year in one term," Rittenmeyer said. "For example, the Black Student Alliance existed for eight months before they made any specific proposals to the university."

SWCA is different, he said, because it believes changes can be made by working through the system while the other groups are bucking the system.

"While SWCA may not be able to support either BSA or SDS we can still support recommendations they may make to the administration, just as they can support the recommendations we may make," Rittenmeyer said.

Law Day ceremony to promote respect

The annual Law Day USA celebration will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday at Fairchild Theatre. The president-elect of the American Bar Assn. (ABA), William T. Gossett, will speak on respect and understanding of the law.

Law Day, sponsored by the ABA, seeks to foster respect for the law, increase public understanding of law in American life and point up the contrast between freedom under law in the United States and government tyranny in totalitarian regimes.

The theme for Law Day is "Only A Lawful Society Can Build A Better Society."

Law Day activities will include a naturalization ceremony of American citizenship to be held Wednesday morning at the Circuit Court in Lansing.

George M. Johnson, professor of education, will speak at a Law Day luncheon for Ingham County lawyers at the Jack Tar Hotel.

The annual Liberty Bell Award for outstanding community service in promoting responsible citizenship will be presented at the luncheon.

If these kids don't make it, neither do we.

These are big city school children. They are partners of all who try to build and keep our cities alive with hope and promise of personal dignity. If we fail these partners, they will fail, as finally will we all.

To the Bell System, they also are customers and, prospectively, many are fellow employees. Those we hire will bring with them attitudes and skills produced by city life and city schools. Their qualities will help shape the quality of our service. And service is our product.

Bell System companies and people are increasingly engaged to help meet the problems of the cities, especially those concerning education and employability. In these areas our skills and other business resources may have extra value. We shall try to keep our deeds outrunning our words.

ISRAELI CONFLICT INEVITABLE

Egyptians prepare for war

CAIRO (AP) -- President Gamal Abdel Nasser said U.N. efforts to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict have failed and "the sequence of events indicates the battle is inevitable."

He said Egypt's armed forces are training day and night for the coming conflict, but said: "Our duty is not to be dragged into battle before we are fully prepared and before we have corrected our shortcomings."

The 15 U.N. Security Council members unanimously called on Israel to cancel Thursday's military parade on grounds it would threaten Middle East peace efforts. But Israel rejected the resolution and went ahead with plans to hold the 20th anniversary parade in both the Arab and Israeli sectors of Jerusalem.

Israel took over Old Jerusalem from Jordan in the June 5-10 Middle East war last year and has said the Arab section of the city will remain under Israeli control.

Referring to Israel's refusal to accept the resolution, Nasser said: "Israel will pay the price for this defiance very dearly." He told his troops they must "be ready to die in the coming conflict."

Nasser declared that Egypt will never negotiate with Israel. "If Egypt sits at a table with the enemy who is occupying part of our land, it means we must accept the enemy's terms," he said.

To those who speak of a political settlement we ask them to assess the position and attitude of Israel in regard to the crisis over Jerusalem," Nasser said.

Nasser told his men the government is attempting to coordinate the political, economic and military forces of all the Arab countries to confront Israel, but he warned that Egypt must "be prepared to wage the battle alone."

Nasser said the Soviet Union has spared no effort to make good the losses in military equipment suffered by Egypt in last year's June war.

Thanks to the Soviet Union, he added, "we can say today that we have the necessary forces to repel aggression, but the people want to eliminate the traces of Israeli aggression."

Nasser reported he has spoken to Arab commandos who fought against the Israelis when an Israeli force crossed to the eastern bank of the Jordan River March 21.

"They told me there is nothing supernatural about the enemy. The enemy is not unbeatable and there is nothing supernatural about the enemy soldier."

"I read reports of the battle and I reached the same conclusion."

Meanwhile, another Arab leader, King Hussein of Jordan, arrived in London on a hastily arranged visit. There was no indication what he would discuss with British leaders.

A. Interviewing an African couple. B. Visiting a Nigerian University. C. Exchanging ideas with Nigerian University students.

Actually, Virginia Blount and Frank Oden are doing all these things. As members of the 500-student World Campus Afloat-Chapman College, these two Arizona college students had the opportunity to talk with students at the University of Ife, Ibadan branch, Nigeria.

With the help of Nigerian students and professors, the Americans compared religions, art, anthropology, educational systems, economic developments, geography, drama, music, and dance of the two countries. This is the regular course work aboard Chapman's shipboard campus, the s.s. Ryndam. Virginia and Frank transferred the credits they earned back to their home colleges, Arizona State University and Northern Arizona University, and are going on for their baccalaureate degrees. Chapman College is currently accepting enrollments for the 1968-1969 academic year with the World Campus Afloat program.

HHH CAMPAIGN

U.S. overstated talk site pledge

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey acknowledged Monday that the Johnson administration "may have overspoken itself" in declaring its spokesmen would go anywhere, anytime for Vietnam peace talks.

Humphrey, starting his first full week as an official candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, became the first U.S. official of major stature to acknowledge the United States may have overstated its case in the broad pledge voiced by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Humphrey expressed belief also that the search for peace in Vietnam will be a key issue in the campaign and said: "I hope it's not an issue of conflict. I hope that you can have a recognition on the part of all of us who seek the nomination that we must cooperate with the President."

HHH gets Maryland Dem. votes

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) -- Maryland Democratic leaders on Monday moved the state's 49 votes at the national presidential nominating convention firmly into the column of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The party state central committee chose a delegation overwhelmingly in support of the vice president and then adopted a resolution requiring that the 49 votes be cast as a unit in all balloting at the Chicago convention.

The move was described as a tremendous victory for the vice president which "will have great psychological impact around the country" in a statement issued in Washington by the United Democrats for Humphrey.

The party leadership was firmly behind President Johnson and transferred allegiance to Humphrey when the President announced he wouldn't seek reelection.

While the delegates were being selected, the Court of Appeals in Annapolis, Md., was hearing arguments in a suit challenging the legality of the Baltimore convention.

Supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy brought the case in an attempt to force either a presidential primary or a popularly-elected state nominating convention.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, a rival for the democratic presidential nomination, has proposed a coalition including the National Liberation Front as a step toward peace.

For the United States to force the South Vietnam government to enter a coalition "would be the denial of self-determination," said Humphrey.

But, he added, "If the South Vietnamese decide in their own way that in order to bring peace to their country they have to have some kind of a coalition . . . that is a self-determination."

ROTC vs. Thomas: a settled case?

At long last the cause celebre has been settled.

Or has it? MSU's new Student-Faculty Judiciary, in its most important case so far, handed down this weekend what must be considered by any standards a "split decision."

Two of the points in the case were decided unanimously, and the issues in them were quite well defined. Thomas charged that he was unable to obtain "accurate and clearly stated information" which would enable him to determine the special conditions which apply to visitor status.

The significance in this ruling, the only one favorable to Thomas, is that the University's right to hide behind a smokescreen of vague rules and ill-defined regulations in dealing with students has been clearly denied.

demic Handbook,' many University policies were a matter of tradition rather than written statements of fact."

The other unanimous decision came on a charge that was really peripheral to the case. Thomas never really tried to prove that his rights had been violated by "improper disclosure of information which an instructor acquires in the course of his professional relationship with the student,"

It was, however, the third point which provided the crux of the case, and the one on which debate will continue to rage.

Thomas charged that he had been dismissed by the department because of his political ideology, and that the department therefore violated Section 2.1.4.3 of the Freedom Report which states, "The student shall be free to take reasoned exception to data and views offered in the classroom, and to reserve judgment about matters of opinion, without fear of penalty."

The majority of the judiciary ruled against Thomas on this point, claiming that the evidence presented was insufficient to establish a "causal relationship between the disenrollment and Thomas' political ideology."

Judging from the testimony presented by Herman King, assistant provost, Bailey and Rudolph stated, "it was not Thomas' views but 'his refusal to participate in classroom discussion of them (his views) that led to the department decision not to waive the normal prerequisite.'"

The distinctions made by the Dept. of Military Science between their alternative of "remaining in class on a non-participating basis" and Thomas' choice of "refusing to participate in class discussion but participating at a later date through the medium of the press" seem rather tenuous at best.

Indeed, the minority report goes on to say, "What is essentially relevant to the reasoning of this opinion is that Thomas' choice to express himself and his concerns by means of the public media while remaining silent in a classroom become a considered factor in the decision to disenroll him from the course as a visitor . . . The action to disenroll Mr. Thomas for his 'fourth alternative' not only is inconsistent with the letter of Section 2.1.4.3, but, in our opinion, clearly transgresses the ideals of this University as echoed throughout the Freedom Report."

The Thomas case, and the minority opinion on this point especially, serve to bring up the need for re-evaluation of ROTC as it exists and operates within this University. Unfortunately this need is not mentioned by the judiciary decision.

Bailey and Rudolph only vaguely allude to the inconsistencies inherent in the existence of military science as an academic department. They do point to its clinging "more to the rigors of blunt authoritarianism and less to the ideals and purposes of a university," which is a fairly stinging indictment, but they stop right here.

It is more definitely within the realm of the student-faculty judiciary to do more. They could, in further recommendations emanating from the Thomas case, call for a complete change in the academic basis of ROTC.

One intriguing solution would be to eliminate academic credit for military science courses. If anything, the Thomas decision should not be a signal to end this discussion, but a spur to continue it.

Some concrete recommendations will be visible.--The Editors

New fad--the hostage game

The new in-thing on American college campuses is not the sit-in but the trap-in--call it what you will, perhaps the Hostage Game. It is really quite simple. If you don't like college policy on something or anything, find out where the president is, or perhaps even a dean will do, and a handful of trustees. Trap them where you find them. Surround them with hundreds of students, singing, yelling, bringing blankets and coffee and prepared to stay for the night. Cut the hapless officials off from food and drink. And don't release them until they have run up a white flag of surrender.

I got this one at a ban-the-bomb rally in Chicago, this one for the march on Washington, this one . . .

You may not get a university out of it, but you will get one helluva militant campus where nothing important really happens except in response to force majeure.

At Colgate a kind of territorial imperative dictated an ethnic division of labor in the seizing of the buildings. A few hundred Negro students took over Hamilton Hall and barricaded the dean and others, with the advice of some noncollege Negro leaders. The blacks are running the show now and that's the way it is," said the white student leader. A few hundred white students took over the Administration Building, occupied the president's office and left it in shambles. If the whole affair were not childish and ludicrous to the point of being funny, it would be for weeping. Many of the students are flexing their muscles to show they can play fun and games with power, some of them join in to try out the rebel role and there must be others who go along because it's a bit cold and lonely being left behind.

Black athletes' boycott: a learning experience?

Yes, fans, its true. The black athletes at Michigan State are actually breathing, thinking students. The two-day boycott instituted by the athletes last week pointed up the alienation which black athletes have felt and it served further to enlighten the University community to what certainly has been an invisible set of needs until now.

For too long, reported special treatment to athletes has given students the impression that their life was idyllic. This may have been true for a few "superstars," both white and black. But the boycott and demands of the black athletes illustrated that, for the vast majority of those who participate in sports, life is just as full of uncertainty and alienation as for anyone else, maybe more so. For the first time the public may have seen that black athletes feel the bigotry of the society in which they live, and have as much a right to push for improved conditions for their race as other black students.

However, this is exactly where the questions arise. The athletes, never, publicly anyway, came out in support of the demands which the Black Students' Alliance have given to the University. LaMarr Thomas, spokesman for the black athletes, said that the members of the Alliance could not understand or feel the problems of the Negro athletes.

It must be remembered, though, that the race problem, and the efforts to beat it, do not belong to any one group. The stigma of being black does not face the Negro athlete any more than it faces the Negro student or the Negro in the ghetto. All face it, all realize it, and all must work together to defeat it.

Perhaps the boycott might have had more significance if it had been connected with the general demands of all black students. Stacked up against these demands, those of the athletes might seem peripheral.

The obvious danger in last week's boycott was the creation of possible antagonisms between the black athletes, their teammates, and the University administrators. Hopefully, it will prove instead to be a constructive effort towards increasing the understanding among these athletes, the athletic department, and indeed, the entire University community.

OUR READERS' MINDS

'Tabling'-no solution Smuckler, no

To the Editor: Last Wednesday the Michigan State Interfraternity Council (IFC) voted down a proposed endorsement of the Black Student Alliance demands. Disfavor with the proposal was voiced from the floor of the IFC Presidents Assembly on the grounds that to support the demands was to be hypocritical considering the "inherent" segregated nature of the fraternity system. The motion was soundly defeated, support withheld. Under new business it was proposed that the Presidents Assembly support the BSA in "spirit." After discussion this motion was "tabled indefinitely." A committee was organized to study the 'problem' and to make recommendations at a later meeting. An equitable solution approved by all.

To the Editor: I wish to protest the appointment of Ralph Smuckler as Dean of International Programs at MSU. At the time of the exposure of the University's Vietnam project in Ramparts magazine, a faculty committee was set up to advise the University on international programs to make certain that we were not involved in future projects that not only discredited the University but every member of the University community. So far as I have been able to ascertain, this committee was not consulted about Smuckler's appointment, nor have numerous other faculty members who specialize in international affairs.

Mad Hatter's Midway: campus carnival capers

By DELORES MAJOR
State News Staff Writer
Mad Hatter's Midway, MSU's first carnival complete with rides, games and cotton candy, will open on campus May 3 and 4.
Carnival rides will be set up in the parking lot between the Men's I.M. Bldg. and the football stadium with a side door of the I.M. leading into an arena where more than 20 game booths will provide additional entertainment.

Concession stands, cotton candy, caramel apples and other goodies will be available.
Mad Hatter's Midway opens Friday from 6 p.m. to midnight and Saturday from 2 p.m. to midnight.

Bob May, Sioux Falls, S.D., sophomore and general chairman of the event, said, "This is the first time MSU has ever had a carnival as a single event. We've had other affairs that have had rides and booths, but never anything as big as this."
May said that Union Board acted as organizer of the affair, "but the individual living units, clubs, sororities and fraternities are in charge of their own booths."
The profits made will be kept by the individual organizations, he said. Union Board will not share in any of the profits.
Booths will have professional games, many of which regular carnival goers will recognize. Knocking over milk bottles with baseballs, throwing hoops for a prize and throwing darts at balloons could win a person a prize.

Prizes range from teddy bears to leis. Raffle tickets will be sold for a motorcycle and other items.

May said, "This type of event has been tried at U-M and Eastern Michigan U., and most of the Big Ten schools, and has been very successful. We're hoping that it will go just as well here at MSU."

PAC begins 'Duet' at Arena Theater

The Performing Arts Company will present "Duet," two plays of the avant garde, beginning today in the Arena Theater. The play will be performed May 6 through May 11 in residence hall theaters.

"Duet" includes Lewis J. Carlino's "Epiphany" and the world premiere of Gertrude Stein's "American Neon."

"Epiphany" is about a man who undergoes a striking transformation into the realm of "gallus domesticus," the common chicken, in order to improve, he believes, his marriage relationship.

"American Neon" is a collage of some of Miss Stein's least known writings.

Tickets may be reserved at the Fairchild Theatre box office from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Curtain time for Arena Theatre performances is 8 p.m.

Ideal date in 'Hall of Fume'

By STUART ROSENTHAL
Entertainment Writer

Every Monday through Saturday all America marvels at the program which more than any other exemplifies the dynamic young spirit of the nation. Yes, "The Dating Game" has worked its way into the hearts and minds and spleens of the country's television elite, and it is in this spirit that we present the following "Rosenthal Hall of Fume" version of that daily opus:

television program in which a lovely bachelorette will have an opportunity to win the dream date of her life with one of our three eligible contestants. I'm your pim-eh-host, Stevie Ward. And now without further ado, let's meet our first three Bachelors.

Bachelor number one gave up a successful law practice in Fenwick, Rhode Island, divorced his wife and deserted his 27 kids to come out to the West coast and appear on the show. Let's hear it for Juan Perfumo.

AUDIENCE: Yeah, Juan. We Want Juan.

By STUART ROSENTHAL
Entertainment Writer

ANNOUNCER: Bachelor Number Two is our usual counterpoint to the sophisticated gents who always occupy the other two seats. Representing truth, decency, naivete, personal hygiene, loyalty, trustworthiness, helpfulness, friendliness, courteousness, kindness, etc., Chester Feckless! Let's hear it, audience.

AUDIENCE: Yeah, motherhood—Kill the dirty Commies.

ANNOUNCER: Our celebrity bachelor this week is not only a movie star, but real royalty, let's hear it for King Kong!

AUDIENCE: Huya, Huya, Tshombe, Mbwebwe.

ANNOUNCER: Now lets meet our young lady—from London England, Christine Keeler.

AUDIENCE: Sock it to 'em, Chris!

CHRISTINE: Sure hope I get a nice Jewish boy.

ANNOUNCER: Well, Christine, begin the questioning.

CHRISTINE: Bachelor Number One: Do you believe it to be profitable to work with the government?

NUMBER ONE: Yes, I once held a position in the Ministry of...

CHRISTINE: Oh, I love Clergymen.

AUDIENCE: (Applause.)

CHRISTINE: Bachelor Number 2, what would you do if I showed up for our first date in a negligee?

NUMBER TWO: Gosh, It ain't proper to give a girl jewelry before you know her too long.

CHRISTINE: What if I called you later and told you I was pregnant.

NUMBER TWO: It ain't proper to give pregnant to a girl either, but it's the thought that counts.

CHRISTINE: Number 1, If I told you I was pregnant would you use your connections to get me the plans for the new English very top secret, hush hush bomber?

NUMBER ONE: How could you prove paternity?

CHRISTINE: Easy, I haven't been with anyone else except Walter Jenkins for the last three months. Bachelor number 3, do you believe that when you're in love you should make sacrifices?

NUMBER THREE: GRRR-RAWOOOOOOOOL

ANNOUNCER: Number Three says that when love is at stake sacrifices are necessary. (BELL RINGS)

ANNOUNCER: Well, that's all the time for questioning that we have. Which will it be Chris? Number One, number Two, or number Three?

CHRISTINE: Oh, I'd like to take all of them.

ANNOUNCER: Not on this show, you don't.

Whistling in dark

The host of ABC TV's "The Dating Game," Jim Lang, assumes this ludicrous pose as a gimmick to advertise the "good natured fun" of the show.

CHRISTINE: I guess I'll have number two, then. I like the sound of his crew cut.

AUDIENCE: Yeahhh!

ANNOUNCER: Let's get a look at the ones you didn't choose. You didn't choose number one, a Rhode Island lawyer on leave from the British Government, Juan Perfumo.

(PERFUMO WALKS OUT SMILING BENDS OVER TO KISS CHRISTINE ON THE CHEEK BUT SUDDENLY STARTS RIPPING AT HER CLOTHING. TWO ABC BOUNCERS REMOVE HIM FROM THE STAGE.)

ANNOUNCER: Heh, heh... you folks at home have no idea of how frustrating it is to lose this game. Anyway, you also did not select bachelor number three, one of the biggest stars in the business, King Kong.

AN EXPRESSION OF DISMAY AND DISAPPOINTMENT AT HAVING PASSED UP THE CELEBRITY CONTESTANT CROSSES CHRISTINE'S FACE. WHEREUPON KONG LIFTS THE LASS TO HIS SHOULDER, GRASPS AN OVERHANGING BOOM AND SWINGS OUT OF THE STUDIO WITH HER.)

ANNOUNCER: Well, I'm sorry Chester, but it looks like Kong beat you to the punch. Better luck next time.

CHESTER: Heck, I wuz never much w' women anyway.

ANNOUNCER: Well, there go our two swingers on their all expense-paid chaperoned dream date to the Empire State Building where hopefully Kong will fall for her. In addition Christine gets $1000 of which my cut is $800.

Be sure to stay tuned now for Bob Stratton and "The Maternity Game" where childless couples get a chance to win the baby that tonight's unwed mother-to-be will have right on stage." Till then, here's a big sloppy kiss from us to you.

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step.

He took that first step and he took the step first, when he went alone into New Hampshire.

But he was not entirely alone. Three thousand student volunteers, an actor and a poet were with him.

Together they went into the countryside to talk to the people. The students talked; the people listened. And then in New England they cast the votes that were heard around the world.

As students we made it happen. We altered America's course. In Wisconsin, ten thousand of us came to work. A new politics of participation was born. An unchangeable mind was changed.

But our task is incomplete, our journey unfinished. Thousands of volunteers are needed during the coming weeks to do the telephoning and canvassing, talking and walking, that must be done to win again in Indiana on May 7, and in Nebraska, Oregon and California after that.

Would you like to help? Student volunteers interested in going to Indiana should call 353-3970 Ext. 7 or sign up at the booth in the Union, Berkey or Bessey Halls. All those planning to go should attend a meeting Thurs. May 2 at 8:00 p.m. in B-104 Wells.

FACULTY FACTS

Prof conducts workshop

A workshop for administrative trainees in the Wayne Community Schools was conducted on March 20, by Samuel Moore, associate professor of administration and higher education.

The theme of the workshop was "Organizational Theory-Problems in Communication."

A paper by Edgar A. Schuler, professor of sociology, was included in the recently published report of the Symposium on Manpower and the War on Hunger, which was held in Washington on March 3.

The symposium was conducted by the International Manpower Institute under the sponsorship of the Agency for International Development and the U.S. Department of Labor.

Schuler's paper is a case history of the Comilla Project.

Eight members of the College of Communication Arts will represent MSU at the annual meeting of the National Society for the Study of Communication, which was held in New York, April 17-20.

Among those attending were David K. Berlo, chairman of the College of Communication Arts, who spoke on "Why Aren't Communication Scholars Doing Communication Research?"

Berlo is the author of "The Communication Process," a widely used text in the communications field.

"The Psychological Implications of Abortion" was the subject of a panel discussion by Dr. James S. Feurig, director of Olin Health Services, and Laurie E. Fitzgerald, assistant dean of students, at a Sexuality Colloquia held in Wilson Hall.

The program focused on the resultant effects of abortion.

This was one of a series of faculty-staff presentations relating to the winter term theme of "Changing Sex Roles in the American Culture."

Kenneth G. Hance, professor of speech and theater, was recently presented the Distinguished Service Award by the Michigan Speech Assn.

He was also awarded a life membership in the organization.

as well as a plaque citing him for "meritorious contributions to the speech profession."

Hance joined the MSU faculty in 1956 and received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree in 1961 from Olivet College.

Hance, who is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, received distinguished alumni awards from Pi Kappa Delta (forensic society) in 1963 and from Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha (speech honoraries) in 1964.

Harold Hart, professor of chemistry, spoke on "Interaction of Molecules with Light" Thursday at Hartwick College, Oneonta, N.Y., as one of the five scientists invited to deliver the Henry Margenau Lectures, established two years ago in honor of Dr. Margenau, a Yale University physicist.

Horace C. King, registrar, and Frank B. Martin, director of data processing, will present a paper entitled "Attaining Management Goals Through Co-development," or the use of data processing in keeping student business records, Monday, at the College and University Machine Records Conference in Iowa City.

Edgar A. Schuler, professor of sociology and secondary education, represented the American Sociological Association at a conference of the American Association of University Professors in Washington, D.C., March 15.

Research team studies migrants

An MSU research team is studying the Mexican-American who makes the transition from migrant farm laborers to industrial workers.

Harvey M. Choldin and Grafton Trout, assistant professors of sociology and co-directors of the project, began the study of "The Mexican-American Farm Worker in Transition" in 1966 and will make their major analysis of the study's findings this summer.

The study is financed by the U.S. Dept. of Labor under the direction of the Rural Manpower Center at MSU.

Since the census for Michigan does not indicate which are Spanish surnames, the researchers had difficulty obtaining lists of Spanish people.

They hunted through telephone books, city directories, school lists, churches and mailing lists for Mexican-American organizations and contacted Catholic priests, Protestant ministers and county school superintendents.

They came up with 7,500 households. A random sample of 700 was picked to be interviewed in eight Michigan counties.

A Mexican-American settler is defined by the researchers as a person of Mexican descent who has spent at least one winter in Michigan.

The interviews were conducted by about 45 bilingual Mexican-American housewives. The women who did the interviewing were able to speak both Spanish and English so the questioning could be conducted in the language the person being interviewed preferred.

Lansing and Flint each have about 1,000 Mexican-American families, and Saginaw's population is about 10 per cent Mexican-American, Trout estimated.

"This is the third largest minority group in the U.S. but nobody pays any attention to them it seems," Trout said.

Since there is so little information on the Mexican-American population, the Dept. of Labor is sponsoring the program to get information on educational levels, types of occupations, occupational mobility, migration patterns and community organizations, Trout said.

Many an adult Mexican-American has problems filling out job applications, Trout said. They often end up with low-level construction jobs.

Some Mexican-Americans think discrimination keeps them from getting good jobs and housing.

"Without question there is discrimination in housing," Trout said. "It's hard to tell just how much there is though, because the shortage of existing low-cost housing is so acute."

"This population is not as bitter toward the white population as the Negroes are," Trout said. "Sometimes the Mexican-Americans blame themselves too much."

"My impression of Mexican-Americans as a militant group is that they are a couple of steps behind the Negroes," Philip R. Mitchell, field director of the project, said. "Some are becoming more militant."

Trout pointed to the Easter Sunday walks to the capitol in Lansing in 1967 and 1968 and to the fact that recently a Mexican-American woman ran for city council in Saginaw as evidence that "the Mexican-American community is moving away from a passive attitude."

When the study is completed, the findings will be put in a pamphlet which will be distributed to the Mexican-Americans in Michigan.

Why are the drinking fountains in Berkey Hall so low? Ken Perry, St. Clair Shores senior.

The architectural tracings for Berkey Hall, begun in 1945, do not specify the height of the drinking fountains. There are two different heights, two feet, six inches, and two feet, eight inches; they vary arbitrarily from one fountain to another. The name of the architect is not recorded on the tracings. All we can assume is that his job previous to Berkey was Grand River Elementary School's kindergarten.

What is the philosophy behind student registration fee for having a car on campus? Is it possible to obtain a refund if you don't bring your car back to school? Russ Bartmess, Houston, Texas, senior.

The Student Motor Vehicle registration fee of $6 annually serves essentially as a registration fee and secondarily as a parking fee. There is no refund for any unused portion.

Why is one of Beaumont Tower's spires taller than the others? Jerry Czadzeck, Wyandotte junior.

Beaumont Tower is designed in a Gothic Revival style, which first came into use in the early 19th century. During the early part of this century, this style became popular on college campuses and earned the name of Collegiate Gothic. The irregularity of the spires stems from the imitation of the Gothic style which was prevalent in the 13th and 14th centuries. It often took from 100 to 400 years to complete a Gothic cathedral, and during the process, the styles changed. Each successive builder used the current architectural treatment for his contribution to the structure. It is this irregularity which the Gothic Revivalists imitated.

How can I get in touch with one of the Lansing amateur baseball teams? George Soviak, Detroit senior.

Following is a list of teams in the Lansing City League: Knapp's, Emil's Bar, Brooks' Men's Shop, VanDervoorts and Hartley Printing. Any MSU student is eligible to play on the MSU summer team, which competes against these Lansing teams. For further information, contact Danny Litwhiler, MSU baseball coach at 355-0259.

Will the Saturday night movies at Conrad still be shown or has the series been discontinued? Mike McGrath, Wyoming freshman.

The series will continue, but on a bi-weekly basis for this term, rather than a weekly showing. Brian Hawkins, president of MHA, said that plans for continuing the series through the summer are still tentative.

RFK aide will speak

An aide to Sen. Robert Kennedy will meet with the Campus Alliance for Kennedy at 8 p.m. Thursday in Erickson Kiva.

The aide's name will be announced later this week. Arrangements will be made at the meeting to campaign for Kennedy in the South Bend, Ind., area this weekend.

Last weekend about 150 students, nearly half of them high school students, canvassed for RFK in Fort Wayne in preparation for the Indiana primary May 7. Earlier about 45 students travelled to Lafayette supporting the Kennedy campaign.

Students interested may call 353-7957 between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. daily.

Petitions available for ASMSU posts

Petitioning continues today for the assortment of ASMSU department directorships currently available.

Petitions may be obtained in the ASMSU lobby, third floor Student Services Bldg. They may be dropped off in the same place or turned in to Ann Michaels, ASMSU student board secretary.

Included in the available posts under the supervision of the cabinet vice president for programs is the directorship of course evaluations.

This department, while continuing current evaluations services, should expand its program to examine more courses for content and credibility and therefore of more professors, according to Greg Q. Wen, cabinet president. Re-evaluation of the questionnaire should be implemented in order to increase its acceptability with the faculty.

The director of opinion research should have some background in formulating and distributing opinion polls so that survey results will be an accurate reflection of student views, Owen said. Responsibilities include expansion of the areas currently being polled. Currently acting as a secretary in the registration of new organizations, the organizations bureau can possibly be expanded to acquire funds to be used for organization assistance, providing short-term loans to organizations, Owen said.

Main duties of the College Bowl director center around organization of the College Bowl contest which involves obtaining maximum participation from various campus groups, gathering questions, organizing teams and awarding prizes and trophies.

Included in areas directly responsible to the president is personnel. The director of personnel assists in staffing the departments, maintaining a file of potential personnel for higher positions, developing a system of rewards to encourage personnel initiative and assisting with the problems of all student personnel who feel they cannot ask the advice of their superiors, Owen said.

Director of the department of external relations is concerned with coordinating all existing programs, such as East Lansing Chamber of Commerce and Human Relations Commission, and providing liaison between the groups. The committee will be planning such programs as legislative relations, better business bureau and student labor association.

The director of freshman orientation will organize a line of communications between the student groups who make presentations at freshman orientation to benefit from the opportunity to address the new students. It is also his responsibility to work out an ASMSU presentation to be delivered at the orientation sessions.

Sigma Delta Chi will host a discussion between John Seman, Lansing attorney, and John Murray, asst. professor of journalism, on "Free Press, Fair Trial" at 8:30 tonight in 35 Union. The meeting is open to the public. Free refreshments will be served.

The MSU Sailing Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in 35 Union. Shore School will be held at 7 preceding the meeting.

The MSU Soaring Club will meet at Dot Drugstore (off Harrison Road) to go flying at 2 today. Interested spectators are welcome.

The Forestry Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in 183 Natural Resources Bldg. A Van Vliet, Ph.D. candidate in the Forest Products Dept., will show slides and discuss "Job Opportunities in Oregon."

The MSU Classical Guitar Society will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Choral Room of the Music Bldg. Anyone interested is invited.

The Israel Club will present an exhibit of pictures, "The Story of June 6," from 9-12 and 1-5 today through May 10 (excepting weekends) and from 1-6 p.m. on May 12 at the Hillel House, 319 Hillcrest Ave.

The MSU Outing Club will meet at 7 tonight in 204 Natural Science Bldg.

Petitioning for Senior Class Council is now open. Petitions can be obtained in the ASMSU office, third floor Student Services Bldg.

The Christian Science Organization will meet at 7:15 tonight in Alumni Chapel. Everyone is welcome.

The Kiddy Day Committee will meet at 7 tonight in the Union Sun Porch.

The deadlines for submitting petitions for seats on the Student Advisory Committee of the College of Social Science has been extended to Wednesday. Forms are available in 205 Berkey Hall and 245 Fee Hall.

Petitions are now available for the Student Advisory Committee of the College of Education. This is a new advisory committee. Petitions may be obtained and returned in 134 Erickson Hall by May 10.

The Community Projects Committee will meet at 7 tonight at the Alpha Gamma Delta house, 333 Charles Ave.

The Young Democrats will meet at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday in 158 Natural Resources Bldg. The program will be a symposium cosponsored by Students for McCarthy and will explore possible ground for cooperation between black and white activist organizations. Speakers will include Milton Rokeach, professor of psychology, James Hooker, professor of history, and Cedric Clark, Black Student Alliance representative.

St. John Student Parish will present "The Church and War," a film series tracing Christian thought and action in the face of war from the Roman empire to the present, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and May 19 in the Student Center, 327 M.A.C.

The Arts and Letters Colloquium scheduled for today has been postponed. A future date will be announced later.

A Free University course, "Relativity for the Layman," will be conducted by Gordon Edwards, research associate in the Physics Dept., at 8 tonight in 230 Physics-Astronomy Bldg.

A Yoga practice session will be held at 7:30 tonight. For further information, call 353-8859 between 1:45-5 p.m.

A lecture, filmstrip and free literature on birth control and family planning will be presented at 7 p.m. Wednesday in 137 Fee. The coed session will be open to all interested students.

The Students for McCarthy are planning a trip to Indiana this weekend. Those interested can sign up from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Union booth or call 353-3970, Ext. 7.

The Business Women's Club will hold its luncheon meeting at 11:45 a.m. Wednesday in the Union Parlors. Laurine Fitzgerald, assistant dean of students, will speak on "Fact, Fantasy and the Future." New officers for the coming year will be nominated.

Honorary taps Wednesday; annual serenade cancelled

Due to women's selective hours, Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, will not hold its traditional serenade this year.

May Morning Sing, at which new members are tapped, will be held at 7 a.m. Wednesday at Beaumont Tower.

New Tower Guard members will also be tapped at this time.

New Mortar Board members are being taken from the following living units:

Mayo, Fee, West Wilson, Campbell, Mason, McDonel, Van Hoosen, Akers, Butterfield, North Case, West Holden and Rather halls and Phi Mu, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Omicron

Pi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Sigma Kappa and Alpha Gamma Delta sororities.

'U' staff elected

Four MSU staff members have been elected to one year terms on the Board of Directors of the Michigan Partners of the Alliance for Progress.

They are George S. McIntyre, director of Extension and assistant dean of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Frank Merriman, a MSU trustee, Clarence W. Minkel, director of the Social Science Research Bureau, and Gail Morris, assistant news editor, information services.

Batsmen host Hurons today

By GAYEL WESCH
State News Sports Writer

After an unsuccessful foray into Big Ten competition, MSU's baseball team will return to non-conference action today when it faces Eastern Michigan in a doubleheader at 2 p.m. at Old College Field.

The Spartans, winners of seven straight games against non-league foes before they lost a pair of games to Michigan over the weekend, will try to continue the winning streak against a strong Huron squad today.

Eastern has recorded 14 victories against only four defeats this season. One of the victories was a 5-2 decision over Michigan.

The Hurons had scheduled a triple-header at home Saturday, but ended up playing only two games.

Eastern was scheduled for a doubleheader with Aquinas followed by a single game with Spring Arbor, but after a 19-0 loss, Aquinas decided against playing the second game. The Hurons defeated Spring Arbor 9-2.

Spartan righthander Zana Easton, the loser Saturday against Michigan, will be trying to regain his winning form in the first game against Eastern righthander Bill Giffin.

Giffin has a 2-0 record with a 2.66 earned run average for 23 2/3 innings of pitching.

The Hurons will likely send six lefthanded hitters against Easton, in an attempt to reach MSU's short rightfield fence.

First baseman Rick Konick, a .465 hitter, leads the EMU lefty corps, and second baseman Gary Bowen, a .250 hitter, shortstop Terry Collins (.333), center fielder John Clay (.345) and rightfielder Tom Allen (.275) follow.

Lefty Jeff Peck, a .378 hitter, may start at third base if Joe Wright, a .400 hitter, is used in the outfield.

Pete Casteel is likely to be the Huron catcher, but if Casteel is used in left field, Gary Krupinski will catch and Wright will be used at shortstop.

If Huron Coach Ron Oestrike chooses the correct combination, it could be "Adrian Day at the Ballpark" for the third straight game.

Casteel, Peck and Allen are all from Adrian, as are MSU's Steve Rymal, Mickey Knight and Jack Lewis.

Rymal will start at second base, Knight is likely to pitch the second game for the Spartans and Lewis will be used as a reserve at shortstop.

In the Michigan series, Michigan's Doug Nelson and Andy Fisher were from Adrian.

Knight is likely to start the second game, despite pitching in relief in both Michigan games, but sophomores Phil Fulton or Larry Hooper could be used, Spartan Coach Danny Little said.

Either Jay Schwalm or Rick Krumm, both righthanders, could start for Eastern in the nightcap.

The Spartans, now with a 15-7 record, resume Big Ten play this weekend with a pair of home doubleheaders against Indiana and Ohio State.

Black boycott-- was it for real?

In a little over 24 hours it was all over. The boycott of spring athletics by 38 of MSU's Negro athletes was over almost before it really began.

At a rally in the Union Thursday night the Black Students' Alliance and Negro athletes were chanting that this athletic boycott would spread throughout the country, to other college campuses.

"It won't stop here," they were saying. "Other black athletes on other campuses will see that what we're doing is right and they'll follow along."

Friday was another day, however, as the Negro athletes had more time to think about their boycott. The University sent Big Ten faculty representative John Fuzak to try and make some concessions with the protesting Negroes. Biggie Munn, who angered the Negro athletes for his "apathetic" attitude towards the athletes' grievances, did not accompany Fuzak.

Fuzak finally talked the Negro athletes into abandoning their boycott. He showed them progress reports on the hiring of Negro physicians, trainers and coaches.

"We feel assured that action will be taken on some of these grievances," one Negro football player said. "There's no 'if' clause."

"Besides, we want to play. The team is more important to us." Thursday night the Negro athletes were not thinking of the team. That came second to the race question.

"If any individual of our group is ostracized, we'll stand by him... we won't let him down," they were saying.

The next day the Negroes read where they might possibly lose their scholarships if they continued their boycott. The football players heard Duffy Daugherty was angry even though he said he was sympathetic. He just might take away their scholarships.

After thinking about it, that too was more important than this race issue.

One grievance the Negroes did not submit to President Hannah and Munn was what they felt was cruel treatment by football defensive line coach Hank Bullough, who has the reputation of being the "toughest coach on the staff."

But Daugherty straightened that out with the Negro football players, when he met with them Friday. "Hank Bullough is not prejudiced regardless of what you might think," Daugherty told the group.

"He's hard to get along with, but I heard Bubba Smith make a statement once at a banquet that 'I use to hate Bullough until Saturday came... then I would thank him. He helped make me an All-American.'"

Another grievance the Negro football players had was that they were not played at the position they were best suited for.

Daugherty also explained, "Well son, if we played you where you wanted to, we wouldn't have a team, would we?" Daugherty said.

The Negroes nodded in agreement, Daugherty excused them from two days of practice and the boycott ended, almost before it ever began.

76ers seek coach as Hannum quits

ALEX HANNUM

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) -- Alex Hannum, whose two-year contract as coach of the Philadelphia 76ers expired 10 days ago, announced Monday he was leaving the club to "build houses or basketball teams" in his home state of California.

The announcement touched off speculation that 76ers' star Wilt Chamberlain, greatest record breaker in the history of the National Basketball Association (NBA) would succeed the 44-year-old Hannum, a contractor in private life.

But Jack Ramsay, 76ers' General Manager, virtually ruled out Chamberlain as the new pilot when he said the club wanted an experienced coach to replace Hannum.

Bill Sharman named coach of ABA team

LOS ANGELES (UPI)--Bill Sharman, one of the greatest basketball players to ever tread the court, Monday was appointed coach of the new Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball League.

"I'm happy to come back to my hometown," Sharman said, who quit last Friday as coach of the San Francisco Warriors in the rival National Basketball Assn.

Sharman, 40, said he feels "Los Angeles is the basketball capital of the world."

Sharman replaced Alex Hannum as coach of the Warriors two years ago under a three-year contract. Sharman led the Warriors to the Western Division title, losing out in the final round of the NBA playoffs to Philadelphia.

Hannum, describing the 76ers as the "greatest team in the history of basketball," announced his severance "with regret" at a news conference little more than a week after the team was dethroned as NBA champion in the Eastern Division playoffs with the Boston Celtics. He emphasized that his relations with Ramsay and 76ers owner Irv Kosloff were "most enjoyable" during his two-year tenure here.

While Hannum declined to disclose his future plans, he said he has "talked and is still talking" with officials of the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association as a possible coach and part owner.

It also has been speculated that he might sign with the San Francisco Warriors whom he coached in 1966 before coming here.

Ramsay said the front office is looking for a man "experienced in coaching in the NBA" who also would be capable of "handling a bench" and "the situation in Philadelphia."

And they're off!

Two teams of racers are neck-and-neck as they engage in a practice run in preparation for the annual Junior 500. This year's race will be held on May 11.

IM NEWS

The outdoor pool will open 11:30 Wednesday. Students, faculty and staff will be admitted by presenting their I.D. card to the attendant at the outdoor pool entrance.

Students will be charged 10 cents for the use of lockers and towels. Lockers and towel service are available to faculty and staff for a 25 cent fee.

All men interested in participating in the intramural track meet at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday can now sign up in the I.M. office.

Track events to be contested are the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes, the 60-yard low hurdles, the 880 yard run and the mile run.

Field events include the 12-pound shot put, the long jump and the high jump.

Russia applies for Olympics

MOSCOW (UPI)--The Russian Olympic Committee Monday formally applied to participate in October's summer games at Mexico City. The Soviet News Agency Tass said the Russian Olympic Committee applied to be represented at Mexico City after hearing a report by Constantin Andrianov, their chairman and a vice-president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC).

With the majority of IOC members voting for South Africa's exclusion, the Russians, who with some 40-odd other countries had threatened to boycott the games in protest, felt they could be represented at Mexico City.

BREATHER 'S' netters travel, face WSU today

By GREGG LORIA
State News Sports Writer

Coach Stan Drobac's tennis squad will take time off from its Big Ten title defense for a "breather" as they travel today to Wayne State for a non-conference match with the Tartars.

MSU is currently in second place in the Big Ten with a 5-1 won-lost record, and a 43-11 match record. The Spartan's first non-conference opposition this season isn't expected to be nearly as challenging as this weekend's league foes, Wisconsin and Northwestern.

The Tartars, under the direction of Coach Fred Mulhauser, are in the process of rebuilding from last year's disastrous 2-8 record. To date, Wayne State has broken even in two matches with Central Michigan and Cleveland State.

Mulhauser feels that the Tartars are not in the same class with the Spartans, but welcomes the stiff competition.

Before the season started, Mulhauser felt that doubles play would be Wayne State's downfall, but results so far have not borne this out.

Fred Trapnell and Mike Knowell, the No. 1 and 2 singles men, have remained unbeaten in their two matches to date, as have the No. 2 doubles team consisting of Fred Williams and Gil Hudson, the No. 3 and 5 singles players respectively. The No. 3 doubles duo, made up of No. 4 singles Sandy Simons and Carl Blass, is also undefeated in two matches.

Spartan Coach Stan Drobac will probably be without the services of Mickey Szilagyi, who has prior commitments, and quite likely will team Szilagyi's doubles partner, John Good with Orhan Enuston in the No. 2 doubles.

Brainard and Rich Monan, the No. 1 and 2 players, will be at the No. 1 doubles spot, while Steve Schafer and Gary Myers, No. 4 and 5 singles men for today, will team up in the No. 3 doubles. Enuston will probably play in the No. 6 slot.

Ruggers win

MSU's Rugby Club avenged an early season loss to Michigan Saturday by beating the Wolverines 8-0 as Tom Wallace and Chris Dodd scored for the Spartans.

The Spartans lost to Wisconsin Friday 21-5 as Mike Edgeworth scored, while John Wieland accounted for the Spartan score in a 13-5 loss to Iowa.

evicts him from his land.
Such was the case of witness Willie Hill, the father of seven children, who was evicted for transporting people without cars to the polls.
Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomas, a Negro husband and wife, said they were also forced out of their house, from their land and expensive farm equipment because Mr. Thomas dared to confront his landlord about subsidy payments addressed to him (Thomas). Mrs. Thomas had been active in civil rights to "let them know what side she was on."

The witnesses agreed that the increasing strength of the Negro political power, due to developing base of registered voters, is helping the Negro.

Witness Rev. William M. Branch, a Negro candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives, said that the political coalition formed as a result would help the Negro in various areas—including the economic-to help the whites understand their needs.

The importance of understanding Negro problems elements in the white power structure was shown by Jesse H. Haines, owner of an 11,000 acre plantation in Dallas county.
Haines, still operating under the agrarian cotton plantation system, has tenants who work his land under him.
These tenants, who pay Haines for rent and supplies, live in housing which, by his own admission, has "no running water and no toilet" in the four-room dwellings.
Haines, who develops half of his land for timber, admitted that, while tenants were moving off his place, he knew nothing about the federal programs operating for those displaced.

He also seemed confused by the impact of civil rights activities.
"It has made them (the tenants) more or less unsettled."
Another aspect of the Negro problem examined in the hearing was the typical inadequacy of housing found in these rural southern areas, as sketched in a report by Harold Culmer of the CRC staff. But the real impact was shown graphically by Rev. Daniel Harrell, project director for the Southwest Alabama Self-Help Housing Project, the only such project in the entire state.

People's march on Washington

The opening round of talks indicated that precampaign publicity, saying the objectives are simply jobs-and-income legislation, was too conservative.
In their views for the State

Dept., for instance, the delegation denounced U.S. diplomatic and business ties with Portugal and South Africa.
As the United States strives to achieve its promise, the group's formal statement said, "we must not encumber that effort with the support in any way of racist societies abroad."

They also said all foreign workers, including seasonal workers from Mexico, should be barred from entering the United States so long as the poor of America are without jobs.
On behalf of the Poor People's Campaign the group demanded that subsidies to large farmers for taking land out of production be halted and that farm workers be supported in their fight for collective bargaining rights.
Marching five abreast, the delegation crossed The Mall, snaking past the Washington Monument on its way to the Justice Department and an interview with Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

The demands prepared for Clark's study included "an affirmative and systematic litigation program against Northern and Southern urban school-district segregation" and more suits in the rural South.

Phi Beta Kappa

"We selected approximately nine per cent of those students from four colleges graduating winter or spring terms," said Harry J. Brown, associate professor of history and secretary of MSU's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest and best-known scholastic fraternity.
Brown declined comment on what grade point average was required for selection, but said "excellent work in a broad, liberal arts program" was necessary.

Students were selected from the College of Arts and Letters, with 73 members: Natural Science, 41; Social Science, 40; and Justin Morrill College, 4. Justin Morrill only has six graduating seniors, Brown said, so this means two-thirds were selected for Phi Beta Kappa membership.
Brown also said that selection for the chapter was totally based on academic achievement and that participation in activities was not considered. Students had to fulfill specific requirements, such as two years of a foreign language.

Harry H. Kimber, chairman of the Dept. of Religion and head of the application committee for MSU's chapter, said fall term that he estimated that at least a 3.5 GPA would be required, although it might go as high as 3.6. The national organization sets the minimum at 3.35, with the local chapter determining its own maximum.
No juniors were selected this time but will be selected next time, Brown said.
"Ordinarily the top juniors are selected," he said, "but we did not because we had so much to do."
Juniors with at least a 3.75 GPA would be eligible for admission to the chapter, if they have completed at least 113 term hours of regular college work. Juniors will be selected in the fall.

Clark.

ROTC

Skip Rudolph, judiciary chairman, stated in a letter to Milton B. Dickerson, vice president for student affairs, last week that the judiciary's decision was only an opinion.
"The judiciary has not, to this point, had sufficient opportunity to formulate any recommendations of University-wide relevance which it may care to make as a result of this hearing."

"Any such recommendations which may be developed will be forwarded at a later date," Rudolph wrote.
Thomas said the fact that the judiciary's decision on this part of the appeal was unanimous was "significant."
"The decision showed an awareness and understanding of the spirit of the Academic Freedom Report," he said.
