OFF-CAMPUS LIVING DENIED

Committee rejects OCC proposal on sophomores

By LINDA GORTMAKER
State News Staff Writer

Off-Campus Council's (OCC) proposal permitting sophomores to live off-campus with parental permission for financial reasons was rejected by the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs at a meeting late Friday afternoon.

The committee approved an extensive report by the OCC subcommittee headed by Allan B. Mandelstamm, professor of economics. The report recommended rejecting OCC's proposal on financial grounds, but gave suggestions for some study of present University housing by special committees.

Mandelstamm is finalizing the report for release early this week and said Sunday he is just making "changes in language with little change in substance."

The faculty committee will go over these minor changes again Friday, according to T. Clinton Cobb, chairman.

Mandelstamm said Sunday that adoption of the proposal would jeopardize University financial obligations for many reasons. He said that meetings with University "financial experts" revealed that with the present costs MSU must maintain, it couldn't meet its costs if sophomores were permitted to move off campus.

He said dormitory costs were estimated at about $17 million, with around $4.82 million in bond retirement and $12 million for operating expenses.

At the residence hall rate of $900 a year, 18,000 residents would have to live in dormitories, with 18,136 places available.

Mandelstamm said that this spring there were more than 1,600 spaces available for students and thus there was little money to spare from residence hall revenues.

"An alternative would be to raise fees, but then more people than ever would leave," he said.

The report recommends that on an experimental basis it be tried to discover if it would be more fruitful to reduce the staff in some residence halls, curtail programs, and make the halls more like apartments.

"Much further study is needed on this area, however," Mandelstamm said.

Besides rejection of the proposal on financial grounds, the report recommends establishing an ad hoc committee headed by John D. Wilson, the assistant provost and director for undergraduate education.

This committee would be primarily concerned with the educational aspects of the "living-learning" concept, which the report says has something to be desired.

"The report is very critical of the whole living-learning concept and this committee would investigate the educational aspects," he said.

A permanent committee is also suggested that would include members of residence hall staff that would make residents' desires made known to dormitory managements.

Viets, U.S. deadlocked; talks in second week

PARIS (AP)—Another round of sparring between the Americans and North Vietnamese begins this week in Paris, and the key question is: Whose patience will crack first?

The North Vietnamese appear to be dug in for a long siege, as if convinced that in a contest of patience they have the Americans at a disadvantage.

The two sides at this preliminary Vietnam peace conference have met three times—Monday, Wednesday and Saturday—on substantive matters. They have talked for a total of about 10 hours. They have accomplished practically nothing at all.

North Vietnam's attitude indicates a confidence in inexhaustible patience. Its delegation's stand, which it presents as bedrock, is that before there can be any progress at all the United States must stop all bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam.

It appears to be eyeing events in South Vietnam, as if waiting to see what happens there. From what delegation members have said, Hanoi appears to think that eventually the government of South Vietnam will collapse and that the Americans then will have to make concessions.

As the North Vietnamese present the question, it sounds simple: The Americans are bombing North Vietnam. North Vietnam is not bombing the United States. All the Americans have to do, if they want negotiations to start, is to end the bombing.

The Americans want some reciprocal gesture from Hanoi toward scaling down the war. But, the North Vietnamese say, how can there be reciprocity on such a question?

On the other hand, the Americans appear ready to match patience with patience, even though patience is a commodity of which Orientals traditionally have a large supply.

The Americans seem to want to avoid giving the impression that they match invective with invective. Though the words used by the chief U.S. negotiator, 76-year-old W. Averell Harriman, are often tough, he delivers them in a calm, measured way which makes even harsh accusations sound relatively polite.

Up to now there has been nothing which could rightly be called negotiation. Indeed, what has taken place could hardly even be called dialogue.

Viet Cong attack Saigon in massive rocket assault

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong rocket attack on a sleeping Saigon Sunday to mark Ho Chi Minh's 78th birthday killed 11 South Vietnamese and wounded 51, all but 7 of them civilians, U.S. officials reported.

Twenty rounds of 100-pound missiles set 150 homes afire in the city. The officials said the victims included women and children. The non-civilian victims were three policemen killed and four wounded.

One U.S. soldier was slightly wounded. The attack began at 1 a.m. in a salute to the North Vietnamese president, the world's oldest Communist leader, and lasted 45 minutes. It filled the sky over Saigon with great clouds of smoke and flames. Then shortly after 8 a.m. three more rounds burst in downtown areas.

Shells hit near the U.S. Embassy and Independence Palace, the seat of South Vietnam's government, but neither building was damaged. An entire block of homes and shops in the city went up in flames after rocket hits, however.

The attack had been expected. Military headquarters reported intelligence information indicated the Viet Cong had planned another general assault on Saigon and other centers in observance of Ho's birthday. But widespread attacks did not come.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported only two other significant shellings outside Saigon. One was against a hamlet north of the capital and the other on a population center in the Mekong Delta.

These attacks killed one government soldier and wounded 20 civilians, officials said.

At Cu Chi, troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported giving Ho "an unexpected birthday present" Saturday night.

"We gave him some of his own medicine," said a division spokesman. "The division artillery fired captured 120mm rockets back into Viet Cong positions about seven miles north of Cu Chi."

Cu Chi is 15 miles northwest of Saigon.

In other war developments, the U.S. Command reported the loss of two more American warplanes in combat, a step up of action in the northern sector and a Viet Cong attempt to sink a British tanker heading into Saigon.

Air action over North Vietnam since Thursday has cost the United States seven warplanes. North Vietnam claimed its forces shot down three Saturday and another Sunday.

In the two newly reported losses, a pilot was killed and two other crewmen were reported missing. Three crewmen were killed, two are missing and four others were wounded in the previous downings.

One of the two latest losses was a $6 million Navy RA5C Vigilante reconnaissance jet that carries a $1 million camera to photograph North Vietnamese installations.

U.S. headquarters said the Vigilante was from the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk and was downed by "unknown causes" Saturday northwest of the North Vietnamese coastal city of Vinh, which came under heavy attack. Vinh is 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone and 25 miles below the 19th parallel off-limits line set by President Johnson in his bombing limitation order March 31.

The two crewmen aboard the Vigilante were listed as missing. The loss was the 838th U.S. warplane announced as downed in combat over North Vietnam since bombing raids began in February 1965.

An Air Force Super Saber jet was shot down Saturday night in South Vietnam while attacking enemy positions 22 miles west-northwest of Saigon. The pilot was killed. It was the 263rd U.S. warplane lost in combat in South Vietnam.

North Vietnamese army troops, which Hanoi denies are in the South, have been putting heavy pressure on Da Nang, headquarters of U.S. Marine forces in South Vietnam.

AWAIT PEACE TALKS

Nigerians take rebel port

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—With scheduled peace talks four days away, Nigerian federal forces claimed Sunday they had taken Port Harcourt, last big city bastion of secessionist Biafra.

Rebel leaders, at bay in the back country, vowed guerrilla war to the end.

"We shall make it impossible for the vandals to enjoy the amenity of our homes," said Lt. Col. D. Odumegwu Ojukwu, chief of Biafran forces, in a dawn broadcast. "We shall torment and harass them every time, and chase them at every landing."

The outlook was grim for the government of the former eastern region, which declared independence last May 20, complaining of unfair treatment by the federal regime. Biafran troops struck far into federal territory in the civil war that began last July, but by Sunday were reported hemmed into the interior of their own region.

The Nigerian army said its 3rd Marine Commando Division had overwhelmed last-ditch defenses at Port Harcourt after a howitzer barrage Saturday, and moved into the nearly deserted city. The federals said they held the city's airport and seaport—the second-largest in Nigeria—cutting off the secessionists' major supply lines.

There was no report of casualties on either side in the capture when a federal spokesman had said two Biafran divisions and one 3,000-man brigade were holding out.

Col. Benjamin Adekunle, the federal division commander, claimed Friday to have isolated the city from the north. South of Port Harcourt are thousands of creeks and swamps inhabited by river tribes hostile to the Ibos, who comprised 80 per cent of the city's 360,000 prewar population.

"There is no escape route except to jump in the water," Adekunle said.

Fighting for the city took place under billowing black smoke clouds from fires at oil wells and one oil pipeline, which the Nigerians claimed were set by retreating Biafrans.

Federal forces surrounded 10,000 square miles of densely populated Ibo heartland outside the city, but were not reported to have moved in.

COGS back Stride, tutor future frosh

The Council of Graduate Students (COGS) passed a motion Thursday night in support of Stride, a graduate student organized tutoring group whose purpose is to assist students from disadvantaged high schools.

The motion to be sent to the Stride committee read: "The Council of Graduate Students formally endorses the project known as Stride and urges the University to take steps necessary to increase representation at MSU of students from disadvantaged high schools, and will undertake to provide tutors for this program."

COGS also formed a co-ordinating committee composed of Lawrence E. Mintz, representative from the English dept. and Larry Muschek, representative from Biochemistry, to provide tutors for the project.

Muschek said COGS should serve in a liaison capacity in relation to Stride, using its representation to enable better communication between the project and graduate students.

Besides a tutoring program Mintz said he felt students entering MSU from disadvantaged high schools needed a summer orientation program because they were entering a totally different environment and often did not understand the language.

"What they need are basic math and writing courses and such courses as how to use the card catalogue in the Library," he said.

Shooting triggers Salisbury riot

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Salisbury's business district was sealed off Sunday. An overnight curfew was lifted at 9 a.m., and the city was described as quiet.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew announced Sunday that a curfew would be in effect from 7 p.m. Sunday to 7 a.m. Monday in Salisbury and five miles beyond the city limits.

Several hundred state troopers in riot gear moved into the city almost immediately after the trouble broke out Saturday night. They used dogs and tear gas to quell the disturbances and clear the streets.

Agnew also alerted 200 National Guard troops in Salisbury, Crisfield and Pocomoke City. They spent the night in the Salisbury armory, but were not put on duty.

State Police Maj. Paul J. Randall estimated that 1,000 Negroes, roaming the streets in groups of 200 to 300, took part in the disturbances. There were six arrests, one for resisting arrest, the others for curfew violations.

A dozen persons suffered minor injuries. Three fires broke out, but did no major damage.

At 7:30 p.m. trouble started along Main Street—part of U.S. 50—with windows shattered by rocks and bottles, and some minor looting.

Dogs and tear gas were used to disperse an unruly crowd at the intersection of U.S. 50 and Lake Street, the main thoroughfare of the predominantly Negro northwestern section of town.

About one-third of Salisbury's 17,000 population is Negro.

One child was admitted to Peninsula General Hospital in satisfactory condition. The other 11 persons injured were treated and released.

Randall said almost all the injuries resulted from rocks thrown through the windshields of cars.

The governor declared the state of emergency in the city at 10 p.m. Later he extended it to surrounding Wicomico County, but an aide said this was only precautionary.

The governor's office said there were several instances of looting. Randall said liquor outlets were asked to close when the trouble first began.

State's Attorney Alfred T. Truitt Jr. said he has ordered a state police investigation of the shooting.

Truitt said Detective Jerry Mason and Cpl. John Guarino of the city police were questioning the suspect at headquarters when a violent struggle broke out.

Demilitarized zone fighting increases as talks continue

KY LAM, Vietnam (AP)—While envoys negotiate in the still of Paris rooms, action has sharpened along the demilitarized zone, with five divisions of allied and North Vietnamese forces opposing each other for man in an area half the size of Yellowstone National Park.

The DMZ, the six-mile wide buffer zone along the 40-mile North-South border, is a key issue in the talks in Paris between U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Hanoi's Xuan Thuy. As a jumping off point for broader peace talks, Harriman wants the North Vietnamese to agree to a restoration of the DMZ as a non-military area as a means of halting infiltration of Hanoi forces into the South.

But Thuy has countered with a demand that the allies halt attacks across the DMZ and withdraw forces from the entire area.

THREATS, WALKOUTS LIKELY

Forecast gloomy for talks

By MITCH MILLER
State News Staff Writer

While hopes are high in the United States for rapid and fruitful exchanges between Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and North Vietnamese Minister of State Xuan Thuy, the likelihood of these occurring is slim.

Neither side is in such a dominant position that it can dictate terms to the other. Hence, the talks will probably take the form of seemingly endless wrangling threats, and walkouts until one side gets tired and is willing to settle for almost anything.

The side that does will probably be the United States. It is, after all, the United States that is faced with at home opposition to the war. It is the United States which conducts elections. It is the United States which has a tradition of isolationism far deeper than its interventionism, and it is the United States which is fighting the war ten thousand miles from its heartland.

North Vietnam need only hold its own against the United States, stave off the "imminent collapse" that American officials have been predicting since our entry into the war, in order to "win" if the word can be applied to this kind of war.

Since the demands of American politics have apparently already exerted pressure on the Administration to begin de-escalation, it appears likely that the clamor of the campaign will force further troop reductions, unless the now lame duck President and his successor are willing and able to resist it.

News Analysis

Since the United States seems unable to prevent the North Vietnamese from sending troops and supplies into South Vietnam, it is difficult to imagine any international or Asian force being able to do the same.

If the North Vietnamese do withdraw willingly from the South, the indigenous Viet Cong may continue to fight on, regardless of whether a settlement has been made which includes them as part of the legitimate political structure of Vietnam or not.

And the South Vietnamese have stated that they will not accept such a settlement, and if the United States does not like it, they can take their troops and go home. Whether the United States will be able to overcome their resistance may not be as sure a thing as some may think. If the United States cannot persuade the South Vietnamese government to accept a peace, will it take up arms against its former ally?

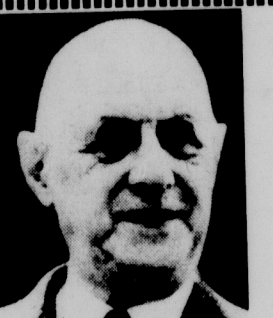

The outlook for peace in Southeast Asia is dim. Neither side seems able to enforce its will on the other by force of arms, and the opponents do not have enough interests in common to make a settlement on any other terms.

Victory will go to the side with the most patience, defeat ironically to the side most desirous of peace.

STEP and ASMSU: support for the positive

STEP and ASMSU the second time around—result: A $225 appropriation to the Student Training Education Project and a promise by the board for full support in a University-wide fund raising campaign organized by student government for the last week of classes.

The original $3,100 request by STEP was rejected because of lack of funds, improper procedure in applying for funds and a feeling that work should be done here instead of in the South.

Concerned students—nearly 1,500 of them—began circulating a petition after the denial of funds calling for ASMSU to financially support STEP.

The $225 decision is hardly significant; that just happens to be the amount reserved for the spring leadership conference which has been canceled and thus represents merely a transfer and not a sacrifice of scarce resources.

The case rests with the proposed fund raising drive. STEP has nothing to lose in the offer, but the board can "make or break" itself through it to some degree.

A well-organized, successful campaign will add a touch of credibility to and respect for ASMSU. Many of the candidates for the board early this term cited student apathy and/or dislike for ASMSU; they hoped to change this. The fund raising for a project so worthwhile as STEP—a project in which students from northern colleges tutor incoming freshmen at Rust College, a predominantly Negro college in Mississippi—is a great chance for the board to "prove" itself.

Unfortunately, a haphazardly run fund drive would probably subtract from respect for ASMSU.

There has been some mention of "institutionalizing" the drive as a means of maintaining a fund for organizations and activities that periodically request ASMSU funds. Such a set-up would reduce pressure on the board's general fund and the annual budget could concern itself with projects directly affiliated with or controlled by ASMSU. A pertinent possibility.

It can only be hoped that student contributions will not be based on prior attitude toward ASMSU if that prior attitude is negative.

Instead, student support should be given on the worthiness of STEP and the sincerity apparent in ASMSU's strong motion placing themselves solidly behind the campaign for STEP.

Action by the trustees: time for words is gone

The Board of Trustees Thursday took one of the first positive moves by a university in the entire nation in an attempt to come to grips with the race problems on campus. The moment of words has passed and the moment of action has begun, at least on this campus.

The Board, in a unanimous vote, approved the report of the committee of 16 which had been appointed by President Hannah. They also unanimously approved the appointment of George Johnson as assistant to the president for equal opportunity and allocated $10,000 for him to acquire a staff and begin implementing the recommendations of the report.

It will be Johnson's job to see that work on the seven points of the report begins. This will include recruiting more Negro students, faculty, and administrators, creating the Race and Urban Affairs Center, and encouragement of voluntary programs involving both students and faculty.

The action is both constructive and sound. The Race and Urban Affairs Center will be carrying out action-oriented and basic research, while the other portions will move toward immediate involvement of Negroes in all levels of the University.

The choice of Johnson also exhibits foresight. Hannah said that the appointment of a Negro to begin the long task ahead was decided upon since he would be able to understand the problems of the project and the individuals involved. It is none too soon to begin to correct the lack of Negroes in establishment civil rights action which has characterized past attempts.

The report of the committee of 16 is a good one. It takes a comprehensive attack on the problems. The trustees, in making their commitment to the report and Johnson, have made their commitment to solving the problems of the Negroes on this campus and in the nation.

It will take the support of the entire University community to help make the plan a successful one. But with the unanimous backing of the trustees comes renewed hope that we will overcome.

Kennedy's two-edged sword

Is it possible that Bobby Kennedy, who has all along rejected the operation of the domino theory in the Asian wars, accepts its operation in the wars for the American Presidency? He must. While he did not get a glowing or glorious victory in Indiana (as a 50 per cent rather than a 42 per cent victory would have been), he got a victory substantial enough to give him momentum toward a Nebraska victory, and so on through Oregon and California. The idea is to build up the image of an irresistible wave of the future.

This is his strength—this capacity to focus money, energy and talents of a remarkable campaign organization upon one stronghold after another, lay siege to it and capture it. His weakness is that in the process of gaining state primary victories he runs the risk of reinforcing a remarkable hostility against him in the nation as a whole.

A poll by Louis Harris, on the eve of the Indiana voting, showed that Kennedy slipped considerably in the last two weeks of the Indiana campaign, and that two weeks earlier his victory would have been seven percentage points greater. Another Harris Survey, on a national scale, shows Kennedy losing strength badly since March, slipping from a 44 to 39 per cent over Richard Nixon to a 38 to 40 per cent lag, and it also shows Kennedy trailing Hubert Humphrey among Democrats, 27 per cent to 38 per cent. The domino effect may possibly overcome this two-month slippage. But it will have to operate against some powerful drive within the American mind today.

What is the nature of this drive? It is a deep and deepening hostility to Kennedy as a person, so strong and elementary as to amount almost to a tropism. You will not find it among Negroes, nor ism and the nimbus of a fighter for the underdog.

To lose the advantage of such a start, to nullify such an asset sheet, one would need an extraordinary capacity for polarizing emotions and for generating dislike and mistrust as well as enthusiasm and commitment. Kennedy has this capacity.

To lose the advantage of such a start, to nullify such an asset sheet, one would need an extraordinary capacity for polarizing emotions and for generating dislike and mistrust as well as enthusiasm and commitment. Kennedy has this capacity.

To say, as his staff members are fond of saying, that his brother Jack had also encountered hostility before the 1960 election is to miss the basic differences between the public responses to the two brothers. In Jack's case there was an early feeling of a coldness in his personality which left many people cold about him. In Bobby's case no one is left feeling cold, one way or the other. The response is always intense. Bobby is a polarizing candidate, where John Kennedy never was.

In the case of the Negro voter, Bobby benefits from the merging of two strong emotional currents—that of expiation for the death of John Kennedy, and that of the redemptive death of Martin Luther King. Kennedy manages to cement them by a fiery emphasis on the wrongs done by whites to the Negro and the need to right them.

But there is also a deep cynicism in him which is the other side of the idealism shield. Only someone very certain and single-minded about his goals could be so insensitive about his means and ride so roughshod over obstacles and opponents. Bobby's tragedy is that in the process he alienates the broad support which alone could carry him to his goal.

POINT OF VIEW

Getting to know you

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following Point of View is the last in a two-part series of an article first published in the Students for a Democratic Society's (SDS) Catch-23, May 6, 1968. On May 5, Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand spoke on campus and was awarded an honorary Doctor of Law degree by MSU.

The Kittikachorn regime has preferred to officially ignore both its own key role and the role of the United States aircraft based on Thailand in the air war against North Vietnam and the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos. Indeed, the Prime Minister has repeatedly protested to the U.S. Embassy over articles in the American press on the Thailand-based war effort. In the Bangkok press the subject is taboo.

Within the United States rests serious concern over our alliance with Kittikachorn's government. During 1966 Sens. Wayne Morse and J. William Fulbright asked that hearings on Thailand be held by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The Johnson administration refused to allow revealing testimony before open sessions, and so little was learned by the American public. Yet, after William Bundy, then asst. secretary of state for Asian Affairs, gave testimony behind closed doors, Sen. Fulbright was still distressed. In a Senate speech on Oct. 3, 1966, he said:

"We are building up in Thailand. We are building barracks, airbases, ports and supply depots. What are the reasons for this new military involvement in Southeast Asia? What is the legal basis and the political justification? Are we trying to apply the lessons learned in Vietnam; are we falling into the same errors or are the two situations not analogous? We are building up in Thailand, but do we know what is building up in Thailand?"

Today MSU is enthusiastically greeting Prime Minister Kittikachorn, and it is unfortunate that this display of friendship is not inconsistent with past acts of present policy. Not so long ago, MSU was involved in a Vietnam project. Part of the reward were funds to build the International Center; the rest of it consisted of dead young soldiers in the battlefields of Vietnam. In 1966 the University completed a two-year study of secondary education in Thailand under an A.I.D. contract, and presently MSU has an 18-month A.I.D. grant to provide advice and technical assistance for education in that country. What is the nature of this educational system? Since it is an extension of the General's government, its form is predictable.

Thai schools are organized in a tidy fashion, and it is not difficult to view the Thai educational system as binding all Thailand in cohesive nationalism. After all, as M.L. Manich Jumsal concludes in his excellent UNESCO study, few nations of the world have as centralized an educational system as Thailand's. All school teachers are national employees, working for the Ministry of Education in Bangkok. The teacher wears the khaki uniform that distinguishes all Thai officials; his status is determined by civil service gradations as paralleled in all other branches of government.

Everything—salaries, textbooks, promotions, educational policy, budgets, standards of instruction as well as examinations—is determined in Bangkok. Thai school teachers are public servants in the ultimate sense of that term. They serve under the authority of the district officer and can be required to perform any task the government desires.

But who will benefit if, as planned, this educational system is made more efficient? Should this University really help this sort of "education" along?

In a 1966 issue of "Ramparts" magazine, exposing the role of MSU in arming Diem (dictator of South Vietnam), the essential, relevant question was raised: "WHAT THE HELL IS A UNIVERSITY DOING BUYING GUNS ANYWAY?" The question has more implications than the overt supplying of guns to an unpopular dictatorship. In some cases an "educational" system can be equally effective in keeping a military junta in power. In either case, the question is still relevant.

Is this an example of a "reasoned choice" in an academic community of free men, or the passive acceptance of Clark Kerr's "imperative," as in the case of the

"Lady from Kent"

Who said that she knew what it meant
When men took her to dine
Gave her cocktails and wine;
She knew what it meant—but she went.

Funds limit allocation to STEP

To the Editor:

During the past week, a controversy has developed regarding the role of the Student Board of ASMSU in aiding the Student Education Project (STEP). In its meeting of May 7, the Board decided that it did not have sufficient funds to support the STEP program substantially. There were two other minor objections concerning proper procedure for making a budget request, and student opinion regarding cutting short programs which directly affect Michigan State students in order to finance a program which is to be carried on at Rust College in Mississippi. Let us stress that the board felt a cut back in Cabinet programs which directly affects the MSU student would be almost inevitable, if an appropriation of any substantial size was made to STEP at this time.

Subsequently, the State News in its editorial of May 13, criticized ASMSU for being petty and overly concerned with procedures. Also, concerned students acquired 1,452 signatures requesting that the Board reconsider giving STEP an allocation. The student board as a whole, and we as three members of that board, realize the importance of this project but we also must realize our financial limitations.

Last Tuesday night, the student board in response to the student opinion expressed in the petitions and in an effort to aid a project which the board members unanimously agreed was worthwhile, voted to initiate a fund raising project to be administered through ASMSU and committed all of its resources and manpower toward working for the success of the drive. The board also allocated $225.00 that became available this week due to the cancellation of a leadership workshop.

However, we are upset that another source, namely the State News who condemned ASMSU for not allocating funds for this "effective project already organized and making headway," has not yet made any intent to make a contribution themselves. The State News, which has an annual budget of $500,000.00, and charges the students of MSU $14,000.00 a year in taxes, and pays its student staff members in the proximity of $100,000.00 a year in salaries from the profits made, has neglected to financially support this worthwhile project. Therefore, we challenge the State News to monetarily support the STEP program which they so heartily support. The State News does seem to have the funds available, while at this time we do not feel that we do. Therefore, we sincerely hope that they would seriously consider this area.

Ironical happiness

To the Editor:

There is a certain tragic irony in the presence of a "Happiness Candidate" during this year of great unhappiness for many within the United States. I sincerely wonder whether such an individual can be sensitive to or soothe problems of unhappiness which he either does not see or chooses to ignore.

JMC mock convention selects Rockefeller no. 1

By JIM SYLVESTER

With much of the excitement and noise of the real thing, a simulated G.O.P. national convention selected Nelson A. Rockefeller as the Republican presidential candidate Saturday in Wonders Kiva.

One hundred twenty students of Justin Morrill College (JMC), representing the 1,333 Republican delegates that will meet in Miami this August, gave the nomination to Rockefeller on the second ballot with 713 votes. The number needed to win was 667.

Richard Nixon placed second with 469 and Ronald Reagan garnered 140 votes.

In his acceptance speech, Thomas Mittner, Grand Rapids freshman, who portrayed Rockefeller, named Senator John Tower of Texas as his running mate.

To give the simulated convention as much authenticity as possible, each student delegation researched the state they represented to get an accurate picture of the political leanings of that state.

Each delegation was given the same amount of votes that their state would carry into the national convention. The votes were divided as equally as possible between the delegates.

Harold Johnson, convention coordinator and asst. professor of JMC, said that realism was the keynote of the convention. Caucuses were held to determine political strategy, to form state alliances and to bargain for delegate support of a candidate.

As the balloting went on, bargaining for delegate votes became more harried. Campaign managers raced from one delegation to another trying to obtain a majority for their candidate.

It paid off for the Rockefeller forces when California threw all its 86 votes to the New York governor, giving him the needed majority.

The convention carried with it all the extravagancies of its national counterpart. Enthusiasm and confusion often broke the restraints of parliamentary procedure. Cheering and applause accompanied each nominating speech. Many delegations rallied behind their favorite-son and marched around the room, chanting such political slogans as "Margaret Chase is an ace!"

The tone of the convention, however, was undeniably youthful. For example, when one of the nominees was said to have extensive grass-roots support, one rather long-haired delegate indicated his support by replying, "GRASS, yeah."

JMC SPEAKER

U.S. 'system' lacks diversity

By STANLEY MORGAN
State News Staff Writer
The problems the United States faces today are directly traceable to the policies of the Johnson Administration, Marvin E. Esch, U.S. Representative from Michigan's 2nd Congressional District said Thursday.

Speaking at a simulated Republican Convention conducted by Justin Morrill College (JMC) last week, he said the trend towards centralization was dangerous because it fails to utilize the great diversity found within our system.

"The country has a right day reflects the frustrations, to leaders who will agree to master her fate, not to drift with it," Esch said.

He said the Republican party came to life in 1966 because the people rebelled against the kind of progress presented by the Democrats and the domination over the legislature that President Johnson exercised.

"The Republican party to day reflects the frustrations, attitudes, fears and hostility of the people," Esch said. "The party must reaffirm that each individual human is significant, no matter what their station in life."

Simulated conventions such as those conducted by JMC are good because it gives young people a sense of participation, he said.

He said the present day Republican must look to the future and recognize the situation the Democrats have led the people into, and recognize that pragmatism and straight forwardness are needed today.

Wolverine distribution

The 1968 Wolverine yearbook is being distributed in the Student Services Bldg. today through next week. Students with receipts may pick up their yearbook in Room 21 in the basement. Students without receipts may pick them up in Room 344. All students are reminded to bring their I.D.

About 1,300 yearbooks have been distributed since Tuesday morning and there are 3,450 books left, according to staff members. The total revenues from sale of the yearbooks amounts to almost $40,000, staff members said.

Batsmen win 4; showdown with Gophers set

Down and out

With the Spartans leading 3-0, Steve Rymal is out at the plate on a fielder's choice in the fourth inning of the nightcap against Illinois. The Spartans went on to win, 3-2, to sweep the doubleheader Friday from the Illini.

The stage is set. MSU's baseball team swept four games last weekend while Minnesota was taking two from Iowa to send the Big Ten baseball race down to the wire and set up a showdown battle between the two teams next Saturday at Minneapolis.

The Spartans continued their winning ways easily in the first game and by a narrow margin in the second as they swept doubleheaders from Illinois 9-0 and 3-2 and Purdue 9-0 and 1-0 on Friday and Saturday respectively at Old College field.

The victories enabled the Spartans to tie for first place with Minnesota, who bumped Iowa twice 9-6 and 5-1. MSU will have doubleheaders with Iowa Friday before meeting Minnesota Saturday. Minnesota faces Michigan Friday.

MSU's pitching staff carried the load once again last weekend as the Spartans tied the school record for victories in a season Friday and broke it Saturday. The Spartans are now 30-7 for the season, two wins better than the 1965 squad.

Mel Behney allowed Illinois two hits in the first game. Dan Bielski and Mickey Knight gave up five hits in the second game. Knight and Zana Easton pitched one hitters against Purdue Saturday.

In Saturday's second game the speed of outfielder Rich Miller and a timely hit by Steve Rymal were the difference.

With two outs in the fourth inning Miller walked and stole second. Rymal stroked a single to center to score Miller with the only run of the game.

Only four men reached base against Easton as he struck out four and walked two. A double play from third to first to home in the first inning ended the Boilermakers' only serious scoring threat.

In the first game against Purdue, MSU exploded for six runs in the fifth inning and three more in the sixth. Knight struck out 14 batters, walked only one and pitched his way out of trouble in the fourth and fifth innings by striking out the final two batters in each inning.

"Purdue didn't play like a last place team those first five innings and their pitcher was giving us trouble," MSU Coach Danny Litwhiler said.

Steve Garvey's bases loaded double was the big hit in the fifth inning for MSU. A single with two men on base, the following inning brought in the last two of his five runs batted in for the game.

MSU came the closest to having its 15-game (12 in the Big Ten) winning streak snapped in the second game against Illinois.

Bielski had a 3-0 lead going into the final inning, when the Illini came up with two runs and had the tying run on third when Litwhiler brought in Knight to pitch.

The junior righthander got the first batter he faced to ground back to him and held the runner at third. Tom Hummel, then made a game saving one out, the shoulder catch in deep right field.

Home runs by Hummel and Harry Kendrick were all Behney needed in the first game to record his ninth victory of the year. He allowed the Illini just two hits, struck out 12 and walked five.

'S' netters pull to 2nd place behind U-M in Big 10 meet

IOWA CITY, Iowa—The MSU tennis team won two individual singles titles and held on to second place in the Big Ten Championship Meet held here this weekend.

The Spartans' captain, Rich Monan, playing in the No. 2 singles, defeated Michigan's Brian Marcus, 6-4 and 6-2 in the championship round, to cop his first Big Ten singles title. MSU's Steve Schafer upset U-M's Ron Teeguarden, 6-2 and 6-4, for the No. 5 singles title.

"Both Rich and Steve played great tennis this weekend. Rich was flawless against Marcus, and I think this was the first time he's beaten him in a long time," MSU Coach Stan Drobac said.

"Steve has played Teeguarden before, and this was the first time he's beaten him. It was a great weekend for both of them," Drobac said.

In all, the Spartans and Michigan faced each other in four final matches, with each squad winning a pair. MSU's No. 3 man, Mickey Szilagyi, lost a close match to the Wolverine's Dick Dell, 6-8, 6-3 and 6-4.

The Spartans' No. 1 doubles team of Chuck Brainard and Monan, last year's Big Ten champs, lost to the U-M combination of Pete Fishbach and Marcus, 7-5 and 6-3.

Michigan and Michigan State ended up 1-2 in the Big Ten, with the Wolverines amassing 227 points. MSU had 158 1/2 points.

Chuck Brainard, MSU's No. 1 singles man, ran into Indiana's Dave Brown in the semi-finals, and lost, as did Michigan's top-seeded Fishbach the day before.

John Good, last year's champion at the No. 4 spot, fell to Minnesota's Denny Chez in the opening round, 7-9, 6-2 and 7-5.

Szilagyi teamed up with Good in the No. 2 doubles spot, to advance to the semi-finals before losing to Michigan's eventual champion duo of Dell and John Hainline.

In the No. 6 singles slot, the Spartan's Gary Myers lost to the eventual champion, Michigan's Bruce De Boer, 6-1 and 6-1.

Key injuries hold Spartans to 6th place tie in track

By DON KOPRIVA

State News Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS—MSU track coach Fran Dittich found the Spartans' first lower-echelon finish in the Big Ten since 1961 somewhat easier to swallow Saturday because of injuries to three key performers.

"Considering the injuries to Roland (Carter), Charley (Pollard) and Pat (Wilson), we really did OK and I'm not disappointed," Dittich said.

"We still had some fine performances. Crawford and Wehrwein were just great. We were just out of it in a couple events."

The Spartans finished in a sixth place tie with defending champion Iowa with 22 points, far behind the top trio of Minnesota (50), Michigan (49), and Wisconsin (48).

The title was Minnesota's first in 19 years and was also the first for Gopher coach Roy Griak.

Carter, the Big Ten's only 16-foot vaulter, was unable to clear 14-6. Carter, who had made 16-1 3/4 a week earlier, was hampered by a badly swollen ankle and was unable to run or push off with the pole. Ed Halik of Illinois won at 15-0.

Pollard seemed OK to Dittich in winning his preliminary heat Friday despite troubles all week with a sore ankle. The injury showed again Saturday and he could only finish sixth in the 120-yard high hurdles behind Wisconsin ace Mike Butler, the meet's only double winner.

Butler also won the 100 yard dash.

Wilson, who had suffered through a week lay-off because of a leg strain, seemed destined to overcome the Spartan "jinx" and place well in the 660.

But Wilson was knocked off stride with about 300 yards to go while he was running second to Minnesota's Dick Landwehr. When he recovered, he was running fifth and finished at that position, only one-half second out of first.

Dittich said Wilson was almost knocked off the track and protested to meet officials, but no curve judges had seen the alleged infraction. MSU was able to win no championships, but Wehrwein, a sophomore quarter-miler, narrowly missed beating Iowa All-American Mike Mondane, 47.5 to 47.6 on the muddy track.

Senior Don Crawford finished third for the Spartans in the 440, while Roger Merchant ran "a strong race", according to Dittich, and placed a solid third in the 880.

Dean Rosenberg and Dale Stanley placed fourth and fifth in the mile while soph Ken Leonowicz came on strong at the finish to grab fifth in the steeplechase and narrowly missed beating fourth placer Pat Edmondson of Northwestern.

MSU's 440 relay was fourth, with Rick Dunn, Rich Paull, Wehrwein and Crawford running.

Stickers win over Irish, 5-4

The MSU Lacrosse Club defeated Notre Dame 5-4 Saturday at South Bend. The stickmen closed out their season with a 2-8 record.

Dave White led the team with two goals and an assist. Ron Winter had two goals and Bob Murphy also contributed a goal. Tom Sbarra had three assists.

MSU led throughout the game. Notre Dame scored a goal with ten minutes left in the fourth quarter to close the gap to one, but the Spartan defense held off the rallying Irish.

Golfers finish 2nd in Big 10

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Despite a disastrous second round, which probably cost the Spartans the Big Ten championship, Golf Coach Bruce Fossum was more than pleased with the second place finish in the conference tournament last weekend.

The MSU linksters finished with a 1,523 total, 12 strokes behind champion Indiana's 1,511 in the 72-hole tournament. Michigan was third with 1,526.

"I was very proud of the boys. They all played very well, and hung in there despite a bad second round," Fossum said.

MSU was tied for second with Michigan at 376 after the first 18 holes and was just three strokes behind Indiana.

The Spartans, however, fared worse in the rain during the second round and soared to a 399. Indiana shot 383 and moved 19 shots ahead of the Spartans.

The Wolverines moved into second, six ahead of MSU.

But Fossum's forces climbed to within ten shots after the first 18 on Saturday and within eight with nine holes to go, but the Hoosiers finished strong for their 12-stroke triumph.

Defending champion Purdue finished with a strong, surprising performance Saturday to place fourth, 22 strokes behind Michigan.

Following the Boilermakers in order were Ohio State, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Northwestern.

Senior co-captain Steve Benson led the Spartan golfers with a 297 total, good for fourth place in the race for medalist honors. Benson played his usual, consistent golf with rounds of 75-74-72.

Sophomore Lynn Janson was the Spartan leader for most of the tourney until he soared to 78 on the final round. His other three rounds were 74-75-73. He finished with a 300 total, good for seventh in the individual statistics.

Larry Murphy finished 19th despite his 87 on the second round. His other scores were 72-76-75.

The other three Spartans all scored behind Murphy. George Butth had 312, Lee Edmondson 313, and John Bailey, co-captain, 314.

Indiana's most important contribution to victory came from No. 6 man, Bill Stinnett.

Saturday he had the highest Hoosier scores of 81-82. But he roared back with a 73-71 Saturday to give Indiana the lift it needed for the championship.

Minnesota's Bill Brask came from behind to win the individual title. Hoosier Steve Cisco shot 72-71 Friday to lead Brask by six strokes, but Brask had 70-74 Saturday while Cisco was shooting a pair of 76's.

Defenses clash as Greens top Whites, 27-7

By TOM BROWN

The first-string Green squad defeated the reserve White unit 27-7 Saturday, and although the performance failed to awe the 1,000 alumni gathered in Spartan Stadium, Head Coach Duffy Daugherty felt that the scrimmage successfully capped a revealing Spring practice.

Daugherty said that he was not concerned with the score.

"What is important," he said, "is that the players have shown the desire and dedication necessary for a good football team."

The White defense held the Greens scoreless until 4:33 of the second period when Al Brenner, coming back from Bill Feraco, took the ball from two defenders and raced to the goal. The play covered 27 yards.

"You have to give the White defense a lot of credit for keeping the Greens in the hole as long during the first half," Daugherty said.

The Greens scored again with 1:42 remaining, capping a drive of 80 yards. Fullback Reggie Cavender set up the second score with the game's longest run, a 27-yard ramble, and Bill Triplett passed 11 yards to halfback Tommy Love for the score. Ed Rosenberg's conversion attempt was the upright and the score at the half was 13-0.

LaMarr Thomas twisted his knee early in the second half and Love filled the tailback spot for the rest of the game. Love missed much of spring practice, first sidelined with tonsillitis, and then with an inflamed tendon.

But the Sylva, N.C. freshman figured strongly in the Greens' score, passing to Brenner for a late third-down score and plunging one yard for the game's final score with 45 seconds remaining.

Quarterback Scooter Longmire directed the White squad 74 yards for its only tally with halfback Don Highsmith scoring from six yards out early in final period.

Three freshmen and Brenner, a junior, were selected as the outstanding players in a scrimmage conducted by reporters and broadcasters.

Brenner was named the outstanding offensive player for the Greens, and also received ballots for his work on defense.

Wilt Martin received the honor on the Green defense. Martin had moved to the Green unit following an injury to end Ken Little.

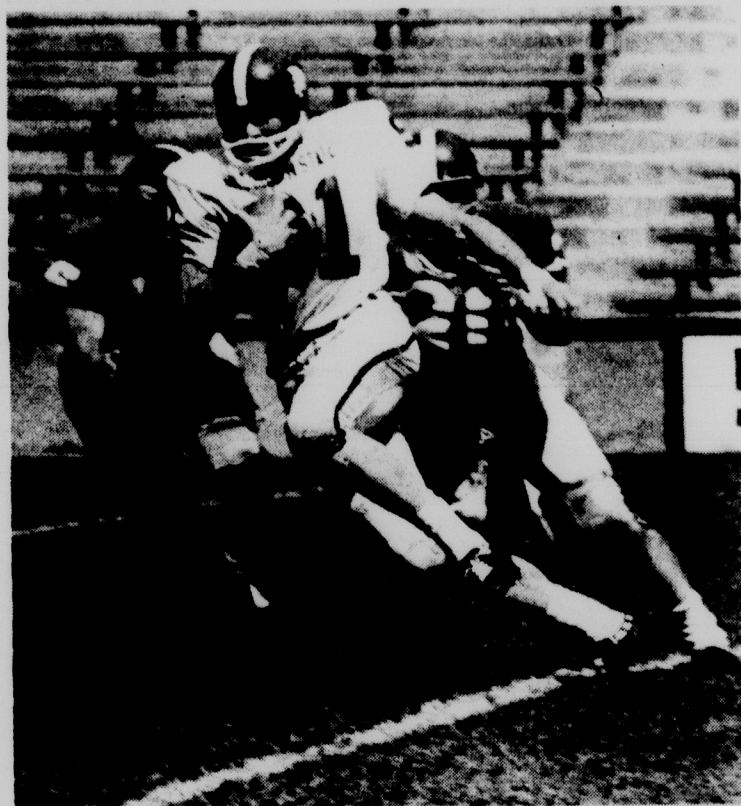

Longmire and Mike Hogan were honored for their play on the White squad.

Starting on the offensive line were ends Brenner and Frank Foreman, tackles Craig Wycinsky and Dave Van Elst and guards Ron Joseph and Ron Saul with Ed McLoud at center.

Feraco started at quarterback, with Charley Wedemeyer at flanker, Cavender at fullback and Thomas at tailback.

Defensively for the Greens, Martin and Tom Nowak started at the ends, Rich Benedict and Charley Bailey filled the tackles with Bill Dawson at middle guard. Don Law and Rich Saul were linebackers. Gary Parmentier started at rover with Ken Heft, Clifton Hardy and Jay Breslin in the backfield.

Turned-on?

Receiving a Scooter Longmire pass, end Gordon Bowdell (91) turns on the steam in an attempt to evade defensive backs Al Brenner (86) and Clifton Hardy (30) in action during Saturday's Green and White game. The Green defeated the Whites, 27-7.

Tough-luck Dancer to head for Belmont

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Forward Pass, Calumet Farm's seventh Preakness winner following Saturday's six-length victory, headed for Belmont Park early Sunday morning for a shot at the Triple Crown but tough-luck Dancer's Image remained behind at Pimlico.

Late Monday Dancer's Image also heads North. But the colt, disqualified from first place in the Kentucky Derby and from third in the Preakness, will stop over in a farm in New Jersey for a few days. He then goes to Belmont Park for the 100th running of the Belmont Stakes on June 1.

Each horse came out of the Preakness in fine shape although Dancer's Image had an unexplainable hair burn high up on the inside of his left rear leg.

"The horse came out of the race fine but I have a head as big as a barn door," said trainer Henry Forrest of Forward Pass. His colt was awarded the $122,600 Derby purse because Dancer's Image failed to pass a post-race urinalysis test. He won the Preakness with a powerful stretch charge.

Lou Cavalaris, trainer of Dancer's Image, was ruled off all race tracks for 30 days.

Ruggers beat

Windsor 21-3

The MSU Rugby Club topped the Windsor Blackrocks 21-3 on Old College Field Saturday. Windsor had previously been undefeated.

John Harvey led the Spartans with two tries. John Withers, Chris Dodd and Tom Wallace also scored tries in the victory. Dodd kicked three successful conversions after tries in the game.

MSU held a 5-0 lead at the end of the first half. The lone Blackrock score was on a penalty kick in the last few minutes of the game.

BARGAINING STRENGTH DECREASED

Public strikes predicted

By WES THORP
State News Staff Writer

Michigan can expect more strikes of public employees, including police, teachers, garbage collectors and firemen, in the future, according to the chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Public Employee Relations.

The bargaining strength of public employees has become diluted under the present state statutes, said Russel Smith, professor of law at the University of Michigan to a one day Public Employee Relations Conference, Wednesday.

Smith said the dilution of bargaining strength results from the fact that public employees are allowed to join unions and to bargain collectively but they aren't allowed to use the ultimate bargaining tool, the strike.

"We must find a solution to procedures for settling disputes between public employees and public employers and it must be consistent with public interest," he said.

"I'm not sure we will be able to do this," he added. Smith said there are many possible solutions to the problem. He said that the state could take the attitude that public employees can't strike. They are in a different kind of situation from private employees.

Another possibility would be to differentiate between essential and non-essential public employees and to allow the non-essential employees to strike.

"There are many problems we must face and solve if we are going to avert public employee strikes in the future," he concluded.

AT 'RESURRECTION CITY'

Housing tension eases

WASHINGTON (AP)-In a burst of building activity that many contractors would envy, the Poor People's campaign eased its housing shortage Sunday by doubling in 24 hours the number of shelters in "Resurrection City U.S.A."

A reporter counted more than 250 of the six-to-eight person plywood huts just before midnight Saturday while hammers still rang from the darkness under the trees near the Lincoln Memorial's reflecting pool.

Sawtooth lines of tent-shaped shanties now range two-thirds of the way down Capitol Mall, and campaign leaders are pushing to get everyone housed so the second phase of their project-confrontations with government-can get under way in earnest.

As construction continued, leaders scheduled a mass migration into Resurrection City from the many churches in Washington's metropolitan area that have been used as holding centers.

Eight hundred people are in the city now, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference said, and accommodations for 1,800 of the projected 3,000 residents on the mall site have been finished.

Partially unhoused groups include 340 persons who arrived Thursday from Chicago; 825 from the Eastern Caravan that arrived Friday in Greenbelt, Md., and 850 to 900 who came in with the Midwestern Caravan from Pittsburgh late Saturday night.

Another 400 or so on the Southern Caravan were due in Sunday. Churches in nearby northern Virginia say they are prepared to house this group until Wednesday if necessary.

Caravans from the far west totaling at this point about 500 persons aren't due in until May 24, SCLC said. Organizers expect to have 4,500 to 5,000 people housed at this and possibly other sites by Memorial Day, target date for a huge demonstration.

The first week that Rev. Ralph David Abernathy's campaign spent in the nation's capital was taken up largely with housing problems.

Now that these seem well on their way to being solved, other facets of the campaign are beginning to emerge.

When the midwestern caravan took its 20 Greyhound buses triumphantly around the Lincoln Memorial Saturday night, they went past one of the liveliest gatherings to fill that quiet spot in a long time.

On a temporary stage set at one end of the Reflecting Pool, with the shimmering image of the Washington Monument forming a backdrop, Muddy Waters and his Chicago Blues Band kept nearly a thousand people dancing and clapping their hands for two and a half hours.

Waters, credited with having one of the greatest blues bands to come out of the 1930s, is one of dozens of Negro entertainers who have pledged their time and talent so that Resurrection City residents can see in person the artists whose music they know so well.

Not all of Saturday night's crowd were members of the Poor People's Campaign. Large numbers of well-dressed whites stood quietly in the crowd, watching a culture which while obviously new to them, has deep roots reaching back into the southern slave traditions and the rhythms originally brought from Africa.

The statement concluded Saturday after a two-day hearing that "a situation exists in the city of Memphis which requires a full investigation by appropriate federal, state and local authorities."

The statement was issued by acting chairman Henry O. Forgy Jr., of Jackson after nearly 12 hours of closed hearings into charges of police misconduct during the Memphis garbage strike and disorders following the assassination here last month of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"If only a small number of the allegations are substantiated by further investigations, a serious problem exists with respect to law enforcement agencies," the committee said.

The statement added that the committee "will recommend to the Commission on Civil Rights that the transcript of our meetings and the statements in our possession be forwarded to the Department of Justice with a request that they conduct a thorough investigation of all allegations."

"The committee is convinced that, whatever the truth of the allegations, there is very great distrust of and dislike for the Memphis police department among a substantial segment of Memphis' Negro citizens."

"We have heard allegations that regularly-employed, property-owning, well-dressed and mature citizens were hauled from their cars while returning from work during hours of curfew, and then abused verbally and physically and finally jailed without even having been told what charge was being brought against them."

"We have heard that such charges were summarily dismissed in the city courts, once the citizens accused had their day in court. But these citizens point out that they suffered not only physical and verbal abuse, but they lost time from work; they were at the expense of making bonds and hiring lawyers; and in some cases received bills from the city of Memphis hospitals for the stitches required to mend the gashes put in their scalps allegedly by law enforcement officers in the course of their unwarranted arrests."

Commission calls for probe of Memphis police brutality

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)-The Tennessee Advisory Committee to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission has called for a Justice Department probe of alleged police brutality during Memphis' recent racial disorder.

Augenstein urges Rocky for president

Nelson Rockefeller is the man the Republicans should nominate for president, Leroy Augenstein, chairman of the Biophysics Dept. told the Students for Rockefeller Thursday.

Since George Wallace, ex-governor of Alabama is in the presidential race, Augenstein said the GOP must nominate the man who can attract the biggest margin of votes and help elect the most Republican representatives in case the election is stalemated in the Electoral College and goes to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Getting Republicans behind Rockefeller is not impossible, Augenstein said, because the Republicans are eager to win this year.

Michigan's Rockefeller supporters are led by William Milliken, Michigan's lieutenant governor. So far 37 of Michigan's 48 convention delegates support Rockefeller, Augenstein said.

The students for Rockefeller have scheduled a rally welcoming Rockefeller to Michigan Wednesday. The New York governor will meet with state convention delegates in Detroit, but declined an invitation to speak at MSU because of a heavy schedule.

Three students are in satisfactory condition today in Olin Health Center after they were involved in a single-car accident Saturday night at the intersection of Farm Lane and Forest Road.

The report of police at the scene indicated that Cindy Barber, Plainwell sophomore, received severe lacerations of the forehead and lost her front teeth.

Car stealing reaches peak, causes weekend searches

Stealing cars was the name of the game this past weekend as the Dept. of Public Safety reported five vehicles taken between Friday and Sunday.

Myron E. Lick, Boyne Falls sophomore, reported Friday that his car had 200 unaccounted miles on it and a half of a tank of gas missing. He said that he had parked his car at the north edge of lot F on May 12, and Friday found it in a different parking space.

A check at a service station revealed the car had been "hot-wired" (ignition shorted to start the car) and that the transmission had been damaged.

Lansing police were investigating a damaged car early Friday morning reported to G. M. Naidu, 914 L. Cherry Lane, and contacted Naidu, who was unaware of the absence of his car. Also found in the car was a typewriter belonging to Toshio Jaikihara, 1431 J. Spartan Village, who said it was taken from his unlocked car between Thursday night and Friday.

Raymond Barry, Park Ridge, Ill., sophomore, reported his car was taken from Chestnut Street across from South Case Hall between 4:30 p.m. Friday and 7:45 a.m. Saturday.

The car, a tan 1963 Chevrolet with an Illinois license RB 819, was locked and the windows were rolled up.

Robert Elliott, 1520 Lamont St., Lansing, reported his car was taken from in front of the Union between 11:30 and 11:40 p.m. Saturday. Police recovered the vehicle at 1:10 a.m. Sunday in lot F.

Nathan Yellon of Detroit reported his car taken from the South Case parking bays between 4 and 8 p.m. Saturday. This car was also locked and the windows were rolled up. It was a gold 1965 Chevrolet with license number EN 6467.

Police are investigating all the thefts.

ATTENTION GRADUATE STUDENTS

You have probably heard, by now, of the attempt by graduate students to form a tutorial program to aid students from disadvantaged high schools who will be coming to MSU. The success of this program and the number of these students that we can encourage to come to MSU depend on the support this program will get from graduate students.

Please indicate your support for this most important project.

You should not remain long unaware of BEECHWOOD APTS.

The reason you should get to know BEECHWOOD is that the apartments are not cheap, but they are inexpensive. Leases start as low as $55 per month per person. That's for an apartment with plenty of parking space, brand new furniture, and a five minute walk to campus. Air-conditioning is a standard. You should see how large the rooms and the closets are. And BEECHWOOD is well-built so you are not caught in drafts. Speaking of drafts, be sure to ask about BEECHWOOD'S draft clause if the Army is perhaps looking at you.

Sing, tricycle race end Greek Week

Sigma Alpha Mu's annual tricycle race and Greek Sing finals highlighted a week-end of activities which officially ended Greek Week.

Fraternities and sororities played hosts for Lansing children Saturday morning, with the beginning of Kiddie Day activities.

The annual tricycle race witnesses sorority girls return to these typical "Kiddie-day" activities Saturday afternoon. In this annual competition, relay teams raced these three-wheeled vehicles against other contenders in heats, with the fastest times competing in a final race.

Tricycle winners included Zeta Tau Alpha, first, Alpha Gamma Delta, second, and Kappa Delta, third.

Following the activity, Greeks moved to East Lansing City Park for their usual feast. The New Christy Minstrels entertained an estimated 2,500 chicken-eating Greeks.

The distinguished award of Ugliest Greek was also announced at this feast. Bill Carlson, Southfield senior, was awarded this title for his tar and feather appearance.

OCC proposal rejected

stantial dissatisfaction with dormitory living and feel the residents should be consulted regularly," Mandelstamm said.

The report also suggests either eliminating off-campus supervised housing or improving it and establishing published criteria by the University on how students can get special permission to move off-campus.

Mandelstamm said his subcommittee saw great inequities in the University permitting students to live in supervised housing, which in many cases was found to be "deteriorated and delapidated" and then not letting students live in unsupervised luxury apartments.

A "conference committee" of two students appointed by ASMSU and two members from the faculty committee will be formed to reconsider the proposal and report.

The Academic Freedom Report provides in Article Five that if ASMSU approves a proposal, (and ASMSU has given the OCC proposal approval) and the faculty committee disagrees with the proposal, a conference committee will be established.

AKIN MABOGUNJE

U.S., Britain drive Nigeria to USSR

Because the U.S. and Britain refused to sell arms to Nigeria, Nigeria has had to buy from Russia according to Akin Mabogunje, dean of social science at the University of Ibadan in Nigeria.

Mabogunje spoke on the Nigerian crisis Friday.

Mabogunje said there were many claims made that the federal government of Nigeria had tried to stop the secession of Eastern Nigeria (Biafra) only because of the oil production there.

"Oil production on Nigeria is only 17 per cent of the gross national product," he said. "The federal government is primarily trying to protect the territorial integrity of Nigeria."

Warning against oversimplification of the crisis in Nigeria, Mabogunje said the problem is not simply genocide and violence.

"The war is not simply a case of the Hausas versus the Ibos, as much of the foreign press has asserted," he said.

He said the military takeover of the government in January, 1966 was acclaimed by most factions in the country.

Mabogunje also said the second military mutiny in July, 1966 was followed again by overemphasis on genocide and violence in the foreign press.

The reasons he gave for the secession of Eastern Nigeria were that many had been killed, there was an absence of remorse for the killings on the part of national leaders and some minority groups felt they were not wanted in Nigeria.

On the matter of strife and minorities, Mabogunje said the British had offered to solve the problem by setting up a commission to study it before granting independence in 1960.

Clean-up week

As part of Greek Week activities, armies of sorority and fraternity members spread out over E. Lansing armed with rakes and brushes in a "Greek clean-up." Points were awarded for participation.
