French workers refuse compromise settlement

PARIS (AP) — Factory workers by the thousands shouted down a compromise settlement of their 11-day general strike Monday and, with France still wallowing in crisis, protesters massed for new demonstrations.

The government said it would crush any unauthorized marches.

Its warning came after a stock of "murderous weapons" was reported confiscated by police at Lyon. The Interior Ministry said extremists were preparing to use the fire bombs, pistols, knives and homemade mines "to make impossible any return to civil peace."

A march through Paris by the National Union of French Students had government approval, but other groups such as the "March 22 Organization" of exiled Daniel Cohn-Bendit, and the Trotskyist Revolutionary Communist Youth Federation said they would defy the regime with a series of demonstrations.

The Socialist-backed Workers Force and the moderate Democratic Confederation of French Workers ordered their members to take part in the authorized student march. The nation's largest union, the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor, told its followers to boycott the demonstration.

This came after workers answered Premier Georges Pompidou's proposed wage settlement plan with catcalls and shouts of "non." There was more money and a shorter work week, but the most difficult point for the workers to swallow was the failure of the union negotiators to obtain immediate cancellation of a social security decree-law last fall which resulted in fewer benefits and higher worker contributions.

Rejection of the compromise would presumably send union and employer representatives back to the conference table.

President Charles de Gaulle met with Pompidou and members of the government to discuss worker hostility toward settling the strike. The ministers also gave formal approval to a proposed law for reforming France's educational and economic structures.

Information Minister Georges Gorse told newsmen after the meeting that De Gaulle himself will explain the law to the French people in a television broadcast June 3 and the referendum campaign for and against the reform law is to begin the following day. De Gaulle has staked his political future on it, promising to resign if it does not receive a massive yes vote.

The compromise package which provides:

--A general wage rise June 1 of 7 per cent and a follow-up hike of 3 per cent Oct. 1. Any raises granted since Jan. 1 would be deducted from the 7 per cent increase.

France's national wage bill in 1967, according to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, was the franc equivalent of $37 billion.

--A reduction of the work week, now averaging 47 hours, to 40 hours without pay reduction to be put into effect gradually according to a yet-unannounced formula.

After a long four-day weekend that started with the Ascension Day holiday Thursday, the French capital appeared more active Monday. Although gasoline is now limited to priority users, thousands of private cars lined Paris streets and big traffic jams built up.

BLUE RIBBON COMMITTEE

Group suggests change within ASMSU system

By DAN BRANDON
State News Staff Writer

The ASMSU Blue Ribbon Committee released its report on the "role and function of student government" Monday with several recommendations for change in the present structure.

The committee was set up winter term to re-evaluate the present form of student government and was made up of student leaders who were not directly involved with the ASMSU board.

The report emphasizes that the study was done within the ASMSU system rather er than making a new beginning as was done four years ago when ASMSU was created.

Several important recommendations include, the abolition of the female member-at-large seat and the increasing of the number of the members-at-large from the present six to eight.

Ann Cauley, co-chairman of the committee said that the group felt that electing a female member-at-large imposes a type of false discrimination on the elections.

"Women should compete for office along with all the rest," Mrs. Cauley said.

The report calls for two sophomores, three juniors and three seniors to hold the member-at-large seats.

This goes with another recommendation which suggests that the chairman and the vice chairman should be elected only from the newly elected members-at-large. Presently, any past voting member of the board may run for chairman.

Another major revision proposed by the committee would do away with the present cabinet structure and would replace it with the activities commission.

There has been much criticism in the past of the cabinet and charges have been made that a weak cabinet president makes for a poor cabinet. The activities commission would be headed by seven commissioners.

Another criticism of board structure in the past has dealt with the lack of specific duties for the members-at-large. The committee proposed that each member-at-large be assigned to a specific area of responsibility.

Another suggestion was for investigation into the area of setting up a major governing group for the married housing students, giving them representation on the board.

Roger Williams, co-chairman of the committee, said he was "very proud" of the work the committee had done.

Pete Ellsworth, ASMSU chairman, said the report is "very thorough" and said that his initial reaction is good, but added that he has questions about several of the proposals which will have to be worked out.

"The committee did a fine job. They were very objective and should be commended," Ellsworth said.

Oregon primary hinges on undecided Dems

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota mounted a strong Oregon primary challenge Monday to the series of ballot box victories by which Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York hopes to blitz his way to the Democratic presidential nomination.

Whether McCarthy would fall short of matching or exceeding Kennedy's vote in Tuesday's election—as he did in Indiana and Nebraska—seemed to hinge on whether he could swing in his direction the still-undecided voters among about 380,000 Democrats expected to go to the polls.

With more than 300,000 Republicans expected to turn out, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was confident of gaining a solid majority. He is opposed on the ballot by California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who says he is not a serious contender. A costly drive for a write-in for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was launched belatedly.

The Democratic contest was complicated by an effort of organized labor to drum up proxy support for a man who is not here, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

There has been a phone campaign for votes for President Johnson, whose name remains on the ballot. Humphrey is listed as a candidate for vice president.

McCarthy, whose campaign is better organized and better financed than in previous primaries, says he thinks the race with Kennedy "will be very close." He added: "I have every reason to be optimistic about it."

Kennedy avoided predictions. But his final-hour campaigning was churning up the kind of enthusiastic crowd reaction to which he had become accustomed during previous successful bouts with McCarthy. This was a contrast to the apathy that greeted the Kennedy campaign in Oregon earlier in the month.

Kennedy made a final swing through the state Monday. He said he must win in Oregon to remain a "viable candidate" for California's crucial June 4 primary.

But McCarthy insisted that the primaries are "only a part of the total process of choosing the nominee." He said, for example, that Humphrey, who has not been in any primary might well carry off the prize.

McCarthy said he, himself, could still have a claim on the nomination even if he lost both in Oregon and California.

He said this was true because he had demonstrated that he could get independent and Republican crossover votes that no other Democrat could enlist. Although Oregon voters are required to vote in the primary for which they are registered, they may write in an opposing party candidate's name on their own ballot. Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary and a Kennedy adviser, told a news conference that McCarthy was spending more money in Oregon than Kennedy. But he declined to give any estimate for either candidate.

Salinger sounded a favorite theme of the Kennedy camp—that Humphrey, and not McCarthy, was the real challenger.

"If Sen. Kennedy is defeated in Oregon, the beneficiary is not Sen. McCarthy but Vice President Humphrey," he said.

How can you draw this figure starting at any point and not lifting the pencil from the paper, nor going over any line? Dick Montcalm, Saginaw junior.

Poor Richard! This figure cannot be drawn by starting at any point and not lifting the pencil from the paper and not going over any line. According to our math specialist, Fred Lawrence, this problem is an illustration of the consequence of the famous Bridges of Leipzig problem. Briefly, the reason is that no figure can be completely transversed in the above-described manner if it has more than two nodes containing a node at which an odd number of segments converge. Your particular headache is endowed with no less than four nodes and five segments. Now, if you were to knock out one of the diagonals . . .

When will the 1968 catalogue be issued? Tom Sleeter, Port Huron sophomore.

The 1968 catalogue will be available the end of June.

Why can't the University get bed linen to fit the beds? James Young, Miami, Fla., graduate student.

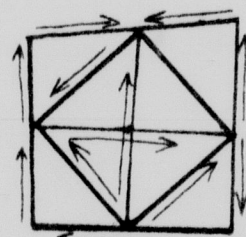

Normally, the University tries to buy oversize bed linen (112"). However, of late the army has been buying up all the oversize sheets. Consequently, the University is forced to accept the so-called standard size sheets that are, alas, too short.

How many acres does Michigan State cover? John Wheaton, Holland sophomore.

The total acreage of MSU at the present is 5,050, plus a few minor purchases. The main campus area, including married housing, the golf course and areas of proposed construction, covers about 1,500 acres. Future plans for expansion of this area will bring this total of 2,010 acres.

Is there any place in the Lansing-East Lansing area where regular earrings can be converted to pierced? Connie Hunt, Sparta junior.

Thompson Jewelry in East Lansing does perform this service. However, they send this work to Norman E. Arendsen, owner of Norm's Jewelry, 1702 Michigan Ave., Lansing. Earrings can be taken directly to Norm's.

AWARDS AT COMMENCEMENT

Distinguished alumni announced

The Distinguished Alumni Awards will be given at spring commencement June 9 to five prominent MSU graduates.

President Hannah will present the awards and cite the recipients for their achievements since graduating from the University.

This year's recipients, selected by the Alumni Association, are:

William J. Baker, class of 1915, president and chairman of the board of Midland Federal Savings and Loan Association. Baker's first position was with People's Savings Bank, Midland.

A trustee of Alma College, he was honored by that institution for distinguished service. In 1965, he was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree from Northwood Institute in Midland.

Carl H. Boehringer, class of 1925, is presently executive director of the American Chamber of Commerce, Japan. Boehringer began his 32-year career in economic and commercial work related to the Far East when he was appointed to serve abroad as asst. trade commissioner with the Department of Commerce.

He was then a foreign service officer with the Department of State for 22 years serving in Japan, Germany, the Philippines and Washington. He was the first postwar commercial attaché assigned to Germany.

Clarence A. Boonstra, class of 1936, is serving as United States Ambassador to Costa Rica. After graduating from MSU, Boonstra earned his master's and Ph.D. degrees from Louisiana State University. He has been in foreign service with the State Department for more than 25 years, serving first as asst. agricultural attaché in Havana.

He has served in American embassies throughout Latin America. From 1955-57 he was counselor for economic affairs in Havana and in 1961 was named political adviser to the commander-in-chief of the United States Caribbean Command in the Canal Zone. In 1963 he became minister

Court supports jailing of protesters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court approved Monday the jailing of Vietnam war protesters who defied draft cards.

The 7-1 ruling, given by Chief Justice Earl Warren, rejected a free-speech attack on the 1965 federal law that made destruction of draft cards a crime.

"We cannot accept the view," Warren said, "that an apparently limitless variety of conduct can be labeled 'speech' whenever the person engaging in the conduct intends thereby to express an idea."

The Constitution, he continued, gives Congress broad and sweeping power to raise and support armies and to make sure the draft system functions with maximum efficiency.

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting, said it is undoubtedly true that Congress has these powers when war has been declared.

"The underlying and basic problem in this case, however, is whether conscription is permissible in the absence of a declaration of war," he added.

Justice Thurgood Marshall did not vote, presumably because of his recent service in the Justice Dept. at U.S. solicitor general.

The court, turning next on a busier day to desegregation of public schools in the South, said freedom-of-choice attendance plans "must be held unacceptable" when there are other reasonable ways, such as zoning, to convert to a nonracial school system.

The burden of dismantling dual school systems for white and Negro children, found unconstitutional by the court in 1954, cannot be passed on to parents and children by having them select the school to be attended, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. said in an opinion for a unanimous court.

"The burden on a school board today is to come forward with a plan that promises realistically to work now," he said. The word "now" was italized for emphasis.

His pronouncement the Court unanimously disapproved freedom-of-choice plans in New Kent County, Va., and Gould, Ark., and a "free transfer" plan in Jackson, Tenn.

Jack Greenberg, director of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., issued a statement saying the court "has now made it clear that the time for deliberate speed has expired."

He said the decision will be "extremely useful in stepping up the pace of desegregation and his organization will immediately reopen most of its 200 pending school desegregation cases in the South.

Czech reform leaders
assail party veterans

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslo-vakia's Communist reform leadership began a coordinated softening-up attack Monday on the hard-line veterans it plans to push from power at a Central Committee meeting Thursday.

conservatives and seeking support for their ouster.

The Stalinist clique, led by Antonin Novotny, the former president and party chief ousted by Dubcek, holds 40 seats in the 110-member Central Committee.
They are allied with the Soviet formers a kind of fifth column within the party organization.

Alexander Dubcek, the Czechoslovak Communist party chief, and Josef Smrkovsky, the National Assembly president, issued statements assailing the

The party must "resolutely disassociate itself from everything that has marred the development of our country and weakened party authority."

Dubcek said. And he stressed that the new leadership "neither has any reason nor the right to conceal the unlawful acts committed by the Stalinists."

Smrkovsky's statement was aimed at Czechoslovak workers who the conservatives have been trying to win over with arguments that the democratization process is directed against the working class and benefits only the intelligentsia.

He also called on workers to unite with intellectuals and farmers. This unit alone, Smrkovsky said, "can prevent the return to the old regime which, perhaps, would endanger socialism more than anything."

The Novotny group, whose resignation was also demanded
Monday by iron workers in East Slovakia, would be replaced at the meeting by new elections.

In another development, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported that Czechoslovakia's Communist party membership had gone up 13 per cent, in comparison with the same period last year, since the party started reforms. It said 9,200 new members were enrolled in the first three months of 1968, and that most had asked for membership.

BONN, Germany (AP) —
West Germany took a major which are temporarily re-lapse as . . . the above men-

Brody residents ask improved facilities

By BETSY ROACH
State News Staff Writer
Brody Complex Council presented Edward A. Carlin, dean of University College, with petitions which requested better facilities for the library, classrooms and grill at its meeting Sunday night in Brody Hall.

The petitions had 700 signatures from 31 out of 48 floors in the six residence halls. Stuart Cohen, Detroit sophomore and treasurer of Brody Complex Council, said later that more petitions would be turned in.

"I'm very sympathetic with your needs over here," Carlin said. "I think we do need an addition to this building. The difficulty has to do with money." He said the cost would be "a sizable sum, but not an astronomical one."

"We could use more faculty offices," said Edward W. Nathaniel, associate professor of humanities and asst. director of residence instruction for Brody Hall. "We have just enough faculty offices to accommodate the faculty who are going to be here this fall."

"We have an expanded program for fall term," he said.

He said that computer science, economics, English 201, 206, 207 and 208 will be taught at Brody in the fall, but that most of them will be televised due to the distance that faculty would have to travel.

He said that he would give the petitions to President Hannah and Provost Neville for consideration of the needs of the complex.

STUDENT RIGHTS

ROTC petition signed by 2,600

Over 2,600 student and faculty signatures supporting the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) will be presented to President Hannah this morning, according to Richard L. Schafer, Algonac junior.

Schafer, executive officer of Scabbard and Blade Military Honorary Society, said that petitions declaring ROTC's right to exist as a department of the University have been circulating for nearly two weeks.

Petitions were initiated by Scabbard and Blade and Army ROTC cadets at MSU in response to "certain student and faculty factions on campus" who are trying to eliminate the program from campus.

The students involved have notified Hannah of all developments and have cleared them through his office.

At present ROTC exists solely as an elective, Schafer said, and should be allowed to remain. An official statement by petition circulators said that "It would be an infringement upon the individual's right of free choice" to eliminate ROTC as an elective.

Schafer believes that most of the objections to ROTC come as a result of student apathy and ignorance. Since it is merely an elective, he said, no one is forced to take it. Any restrictions imposed would only violate the students' right to choose it as an elective.

COMMITTEE OF 16

Graduate School seeks Negroes

The School for Advanced Graduate Studies has been charged with the responsibility of "stimulating and facilitating the recruitment of Negro graduate students in all academic areas of the University" according to a series of recommendations submitted to President Hannah on April 25 by the Committee of Sixteen.

However, due to the rule prohibiting a question on race from appearing on applications, the school has been unable to obtain a list of graduating Negro seniors.

The Graduate School is asking, therefore, that graduating and interested Negro students send their name, home address and major to the dean of the School for Advanced Graduate Studies. Students may write or present this information in person.

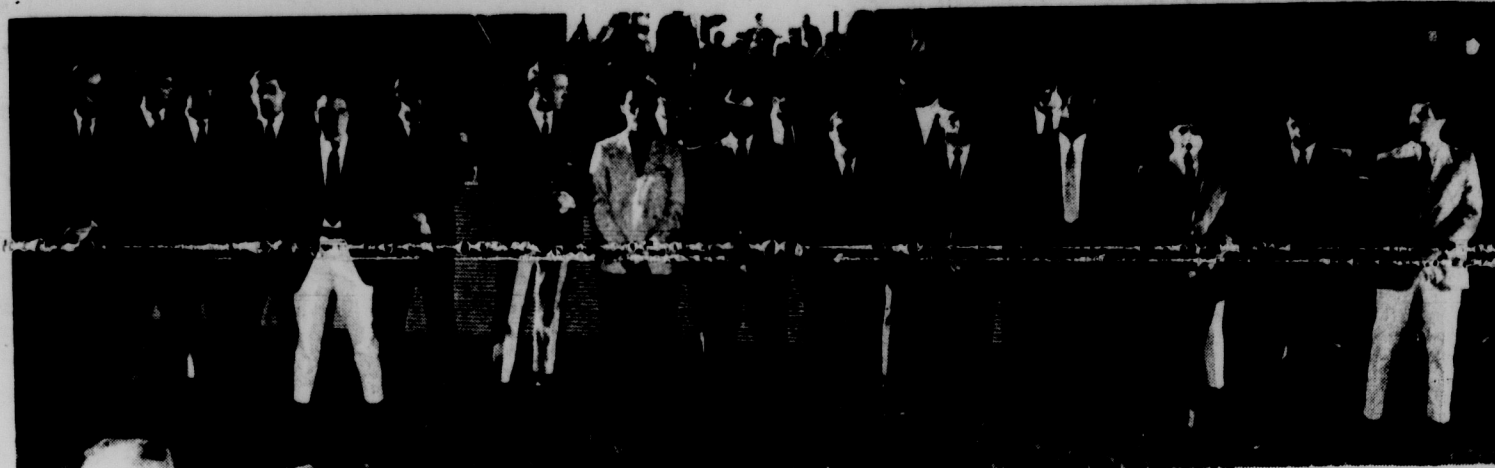

Since the department is prohibited from asking for distinguishing characteristics of race on applications, its task of contacting the Negroes in predominately white higher education institutions is complicated.

The attempt to increase Negro Graduate School enrollment resulted from a recommendation by the Committee of Sixteen which was named by President Hannah to examine race relations within the University.

This recently functioning committee called for "extraordinary efforts" to effect fundamental changes of "attitude and behavior of white Americans toward the Negro in society."

Some possible programs for these potential Negro graduate student include scholarship and loan facilities, and community action programs for the further recruitment of Negro students.

Battles rage near Saigon, enemy casualties heavy

SAIGON (AP) — Savage battles raged around Saigon and in the central highlands Monday, showing the enemy's ability to attack on a broad front. Both battles cost the enemy heavily in casualties, the U.S. Command reported.

Saigon braced for further attacks and the sensitive central highlands looked for a big North Vietnamese thrust to try to cut South Vietnam's waist, possibly with 15,000 men. Both areas have been under attack for 48 hours.

Troops of the U.S. Army's 25th Infantry Division were engaged Sunday with enemy forces six miles northwest of Saigon, but the battle broke in full fury Monday morning and raged throughout the day.

Under a storm of small arms, artillery and helicopter gunship and fighter-bomber fire, the enemy broke off the engagement near nightfall.

The Americans reported killing 218 enemy troops and capturing two. The total was perhaps half the attacking force. U.S. casualties were given as six killed and 28 wounded.

The reason for not cordoning off the enemy, the marines added, was that the fighting was in a densely populated neighborhood and they did not want to bring in helicopter gunship fire on the civilian population.

Far to the north, in the central highlands, U.S. infantrymen reported finding 150 North Vietnamese bodies on the barbed wire of their base perimeter Monday after a 48-hour attack. U.S. losses were given as 14 killed and 56 wounded.

Elements of the North Vietnamese 325 C Division were among casualties there. This veteran division had been besieging the U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh more than 150 miles to the north.

Specter haunts Soviet world

By MAX LERNER

What has been happening in Prague shouldn't happen to any member of a well-behaved Communist power bloc. A specter is haunting the Soviet world. It is the specter of spreading disenchantment among the former Soviet satellites, some of whom refuse to be satellites any longer. The danger is one which always haunts a power-group that fears subversive ideas—the danger that the ideas will spread unless there is a crackdown on them.

There are two avant-garde nations in East Europe that have broken away and given the Kremlin a bad case of political jitters. They are Yugoslavia and now Czechoslovakia. There are the two leading Old Guard nations—Poland and East Germany—with Bulgaria bringing up the rear. The live in constant fear that ideas, jazz, pop art, books, even tourists and miniskirts from the West will undermine their rule and overthrow them, as the Novotny regime was overthrown in Prague. There are two potential allies of the Czechs—Romania and Hungary—which lean to revolt, although neither dares an open break right now.

That is the current lineup. There was a tense moment when the Russian troops in Poland moved to the Czech border, and there was a sudden tremor of fear that the Russians might repeat their 1956 Hungarian performance and seek to crush the disaffection in blood. But it didn't happen. I doubt whether the Russians quite dare carry through again so cynical an operation, and one so costly in world opinion.

What is happening instead is a Soviet war of nerves against the Czechs, a kind of containment operation to freeze the Czech revolt, lest Romania and Hungary get the idea. If we ask what brought on the war of nerves, I think it was the thoroughness with which the Czechs carried through their cleanup of the whole Stalinist crowd—cruel, backward, anti-intellectual, anti-Semitic and, in the end, stupid. They were not content with ousting a premier or party chief, but swept out many second-echelon people and hangers-on as well.

Just as important was the verbal flare the Czechs showed and their brilliant journalist attack on the crusty and rigid Communist doctrines and practices. Once the breakaway had started, how could a people who had produced Franz Kafka resist the temptation of putting it all in symbolic terms? I suspect it was the exposure of Jan Masaryk's murder that stuck worst in the craw of the Russians. This sinister nightmare story, which not many of us were clear about when it happened in 1948, the Czechs have now nailed down in all its grim horror. They have exposed the brutal action of the Russian political police in killing Masaryk and then pushing him out of a high window, with a faked story of a defection "suicide."

I beg Masaryk's pardon, wherever his ghost may be roaming, for ever having thought 20 years ago that it might actually have been a suicide. The fact was that, as the son of his national-hero father, he was too oriented to freedom and his country to stay silent while the Russians took it over. Hence, he had to be killed, and the killing covered up. But imagine the chagrin of the colorless but proud rulers of the Kremlin now when the whole story is laid bare.

These leaders, who have come to take it for granted that words are used for double-think, are startled when they find the Czech intellectuals using them in their simple, direct meanings. The three powerful words in the Czech mind today are freedom, truth, nation: freedom from Russian domination, to develop their own brand of communism or even possibly of Democratic socialism—which is what the Russians fear, and even the Czechs' friend, Tito; truth in uncovering and publishing how Czechoslovakia was held enthralled for 20 years; nation in the sense of a fiery assertion of the Czech national being as the prime fact, ahead of ideological and power systems. One must not forget the Czech image of the martyr-figure of Jan Hus, who died at the stake rather than give up his own national version of Christian doctrine, in defiance of another power bloc of the day, consisting of pope, emperor and the Council of Constance.

For once, De Gaulle is playing a gallant and worthy role, with his speech in Romania brandishing the French example of a nationalist breakaway from a power bloc, the American, is a model for a Romanian and Czech breakaway from Moscow.

The Americans might well take a leaf from their own successful policy of helping the Yugoslavs when they broke with Russia in 1949. I was in Belgrade at the time and can recall how narrowly the American decision squeaked through and how important it has proved since. Similarly, we need to channel some investment and technology in Prague's direction and let go of that Czech gold we confiscated 20 years ago and help the Czechs and Romanians to join the lonely Yugoslavs in the World Bank where they may get some needed development loans. All it requires on our part is intelligence.

Oregon vote in focus

In the state of Wayne Morse and Mark Hatfield, candidates for the nomination of the two major parties will vie today for public support. What does Oregon primary's outcome mean to each of the candidates?

Three of the major candidates will not be on the ballot—for the Republicans: Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller; and for the Democrats: Hubert Humphrey. Large showings for any of these will definitely give them added impetus in their campaign. Especially Rockefeller and Reagan would profit from significant support. Humphrey is already considered very powerful in the Democratic race, and a large vote for him would simply be a feather in his already sumptuous hat.

For those who are on the ballot, Richard Nixon for the Republicans and Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy for the Democrats, the outcome of the primary will have more tangible effects.

Kennedy has said he must win all the remaining primaries (in Oregon and California) in order to pose a real threat to Humphrey at the convention in Chicago. Following his substantial wins in Indiana and Nebraska, the Oregon primary could detract from or add to the momentum of his support.

As for McCarthy, he needs a win to get back in the race. After his surprising wins in New Hampshire and Wisconsin, he wielded considerable support and seemed a substantial contender for the Democratic nomination. The results in Indiana and Nebraska, however, caused somewhat of a power dive in his campaign. But Oregon could change all that, putting him at least on the same plane as Kennedy once again.

The position of Nixon, is much the same as Humphrey. He already has considerable delegate power.

It is probably meaningless, in this political-year-in-flux to predict an outcome in today's voting. But it would be profitable to examine some of the factors which will contribute to that outcome.

Oregon is generally considered a conservative state, and with Nixon's latest rampages against "the outsiders" he may garner very significant support. His very Republicanism is an asset in Oregon. But he is unopposed, and open to little contrast.

In the race between Kennedy and McCarthy, however, there are some important contrasts. Whereas in Indiana and Nebraska Kennedy received nearly 90 per cent of the urban Negro vote, Oregon has hardly an urban Negro. Kennedy has also appealed highly to the industrial working districts, but Oregon is not an industrial state.

The importance of Oregon though, transcends that state alone, and extends into the delegate vote of the largest state, California. Momentum gained in Oregon will certainly play a part in the result of the California primary next week, the last remaining, and the one upon which hinges 172 votes at the Chicago convention, the largest single delegation.

ROTC, Water Carny and shell shock

Campaign for change

To the Editor:

The unusual performance so thoughtfully provided by Major McKee and his Merry Men last weekend at ROTC Field Day must be commended as one of the most imaginative innovations in Parents' Weekend entertainment that MSU has witnessed in several years. Not only does the Major merit praise for his unique contributions to the festivities; he must also be credited with what promises to be an exciting new trend for future Parents' Weekends.

The mind fairly boggles with the infinite possibility suggested by ROTC's mock destruction of a Vietnamese hut. But why stop with only one display of man's inhumanity to man? Why not use this idea as the basis for next year's Water Carny weekend activities? Think of the excitement that would be generated by a theme such as "Atrocities, Past, Present, and Future."

In addition to the usual on and off-campus competition, the other departments of the University could be invited to join in the contest to make sure that the precedence of academic excellence set by the Military Science Dept. would be maintained. For example, the German Dept. could stage a re-incarnation of such highlights of Teutonic history as Auschwitz or Dachau; the Department of H.P.R.'s riflery instructors could exhibit their sniper abilities on unsuspecting parents from the carrillon in Beaumont Tower, with the lucky recipients of bullets also receiving a free week's vacation at Olin Health Center. Agricultural Engineering could stage a defoliation of the Botanical Gardens with a heavy dose of weed killers, while the Department of Botany puts on a truly captivating display of man-eating Venus-fly traps, placed at strategic locations around campus.

Also, it might be amusing to witness a simulated riot staged by the Sociology Dept., subsequently terminated by the faculty of Police Administration displaying some of the latest techniques of police brutality, including paralyzing nerve gas supplied by the Dept. of Chemistry. A counter-part of Greenwich Village Days could be held on Farm Lane with a donation of pornographic paintings given by members of the Art Department, a gallery of the latest mutagenic agents and their victims supplied by the Biochemistry Dept., along with free samples of torturing devices, compliments of the Chinese Department.

Various other departments who could not actively participate could act in advisory capacities for all persons seeking assistance. Publicity could be handled by the Advertising Dept.; the combined Depts. of Speech and English could tutor those groups interested in acquiring finesse in the art of verbal abuse and obscene language; the Dept. of Engineering could be consulted by anyone wishing to construct bleachers guaranteed to collapse under minimum weight requirements. During the week preceding these gala events, the Dept. of Accounting and Finance could instigate a severe depression, in the course of which newly-impoorished campus administrators would be forced to commit suicide from the twelfth story of Hubbard Hall, thus arousing widespread curiosity concerning the nature of the forthcoming events. The high point of the entire proceedings would of course be provided by the Dept. of Aero-space Studies, in conjunction with the Dept. of Physics. Nuclear-armed land-to-air missiles would be launched from the roofs of Brody and East Complexes and would collide over Sparty just after the presentation of the Excalibur awards, causing that statue to drop his helmet and the atmosphere to be filled with noxious fall-out as the entire campus is enveloped by an immense green and white mushroom cloud. Those unfortunate peace-loving students who had left the University for the weekend would be able to obtain a complete wrap-up of the festivities in a special Yellow Journalism Edition of the State News on the following Monday, published by the remainder of the Journalism Dept.

Survivors of "Atrocities: Past, Present, and Future" suffering from shell-shock would of course receive immediate attention from any living members of the Psychology Dept., while non-survivors would be feted with a burial at sea in the Red Cedar River, as a pre-recorded revision of the Alma Mater, sung by the State Singers, is blared over the loudspeakers:

MSU, we loved thy shadows
Till atom bombs did fall;
Spreading deep, complete destruction
To the ivy-covered halls;
Beneath the dust that gathers
We'll give our promise true
To ban Military Science
From the departments of the next MSU.

ROTC vs. spoiled brats

To the Editor:

Last Saturday, as an interested bystander at the annual ROTC Field Day on the MSU campus, where the proceedings were disrupted by a group of anti-war protesters, I observed some phenomenal occurrences:

It appears that "principle" is no longer the driving force behind the New Left. The creed, as embodied by Saturday's demonstrators, is: Be as rude and ill-mannered as possible, try very hard to provoke an incident, and above all, never show any concern for other people's feelings.

These questions must be asked of the protesters: What about the feelings of the ROTC Cadets whose drill routine, practiced for many hours, was made shambles of? What about the feelings of many friends and relatives of the Cadets, some of whom had come long distances to see only a presentation by a campus group, not a battlefield slaughter (as the peaceniks' signs would have us believe), and certainly not a shuffling gaggle of many hippies and MSU faculty hypocrites? Why did they not stand in honor of the stars and stripes when it passed them?

It was also obvious that a certain amount of restraint was employed by the ROTC. After all, how long would the protesters have tolerated these same Cadets tramping around in the middle of one of their love-ins? But, of course, we must remember that provoking an incident of violence is precisely the aim of our peaceful friends; the Cadets were wise in resisting the temptation to exercise the right to dissemble their provocateurs.

The saddest thing I saw was the mother-demonstrator, who, seeing that her young son had wandered over to one of the military displays so he could play with some friends his own age, stormed over and dragged her son back to the somber group of protesters so that he could be there, for all to see, as a shining example of the Children's Crusade against the ROTC.

What the little boy probably received when he got home—a good spanking—is really the most fitting response society could give these New Left misfits. Excessive violence is what they want, ignoring their just encourages their activism, and talking sensibly to them is fruitless, because they have all the answers.

Terry B. Smith
St. Louis, Mo., graduate student

To the Editor:

Now that my opponent, who has been lurking in the background waiting for some kind of establishment to support him, has finally announced his candidacy to challenge me in the Democratic primary on Aug. 7, 1968, I should like to comment.

In reference to Mr. Black's announcement, State News, May 22, 1968, he states that "in light of the enthusiastic support of numerous persons in the 59th District, I have decided actively to seek the nomination." Since I have been campaigning for the nomination since early March I have had some contact with those who are supporting Mr. Black. The fact is, citizens of the 59th District, that Mr. Black is supported mainly by the same old state members of the Democratic Establishment in the 59th District who have brought nothing but defeat to each Democratic candidate in the past. They do not want, to borrow the words of a man whose candidacy I support for President, "a new fresh approach to our problems." I am fighting to defeat the incumbent Charles Davis in November and to break all establishments.

I now challenge Mr. Black and Mr. Davis to an open debate to discuss the issues as to who can best represent the student body, faculty and administration of MSU and the citizens of the 59th District. Hopefully, this debate can be set up by either the State News or the ASMSU Board in which the MSU community can attend and decide which is the best qualified.

The question should not be apparent as to who can best represent MSU in the Legislature.

To the Students of MSU:

It has long been the dream of universities to be able to run a student candidate for a high office. This is now realized. With the upheavals that are now taking place on our college campuses student power should have an open forum to express their views. As a student here at MSU I feel that I am much closer to you, than either of my opponents. In my candidacy is the opportunity for us to become truly effective politically. Where does Mr. Black stand on the bill introduced in the legislature by Mr. Davis to cut appropriations for MSU if students get out of hand? Who does Mr. Black support for President or is he too shy and timid to let his convictions be known? What will he do for the students of MSU besides pray for them? What does he mean when he states that his candidacy is for unity when we know he is backed by the establishment?

The time has now arrived then for you as citizens of the 59th District to question Mr. Black, Mr. Davis and myself. The following are my positions:

1. I support Sen. Eugene McCarthy for President because his candidacy is not part of an establishment and he is the best candidate.
2. If elected, I shall open the channels of communication to the students of MSU into the Michigan Legislature.
3. I shall re-propose legislation to lower the voting age from 21 to 18.
4. I shall use the power of the office to gain all possible appropriations for MSU.
5. I shall look into the problems of discrimination against students in housing, food, gas prices, clothes and necessities here in East Lansing.
6. I will support legislation to end discrimination against our fellow man.

If you are tired of having no choice of candidates; if you are tired of candidates supported by establishments; if you are tired of promises that are not lived up to; if you are tired of the same old, state candidates, then I urge you to support my candidacy. For I, as a student at MSU, a member of our younger generation, and an active candidate, am attempting to make the necessary changes in our society.

Young Dems ask for voice in Party

The Young Democrats of MSU, reactivated in January, are primarily concerned with involving young people in the political party structure to help them express their opinion on the issues. Phillip Johnson, East Lansing graduate student, said last week.

Johnson said that the Young Democrats are not as concerned with party politics as it is with putting the right man in the White House in November.

"Issues are our prime concern, and the political party is the vehicle with which our opinions will be expressed," Johnson said.

"The organization is involved in the party structure to modify that structure and make the election of the candidates more democratic," he said.

"In the past," Johnson said, "the candidates and the Democratic party have been supported by corporate wealth and organized labor, making the party an elitist structure."

"The party regulars, have a position of influence and, because they depend on the party for jobs, they follow party directives."

"The Young Democrats are now involved in not only asking but demanding delegate-at-large seats in the national convention from the senior party," Johnson said.

He said that he felt that the organization had demonstrated its ability to be an important force in determining the outcome of a national election.

"If the senior party does not support the Young Democrats' demands, then we will not support it in the national election," he said.

At the Young Democrats' State Convention, May 3 and 4, the members defeated a resolution to support just any candidate nominated by the Democratic Party.

Don Sawyer, Birmingham junior, said that students have the power in their grasp to make the Democratic Party listen to their demands. He also said that in the future the organization will cooperate with other groups such as the SDS and faculty groups, thus remaining flexible.

David Lindeman, East Lansing sophomore, said that the Young Democrats are taking a more important role in the issues by taking a more active role in community affairs.

Garrit DeYoung, Lansing, graduate student, said that six or more Young Democrats elected by precinct and state delegates, will be in Detroit June 1 and 2 to elect delegates to the national Democratic Convention.

The Young Democrats have made several resolutions pertaining to important issues:

It supported the poor people's march on Washington D.C., and a guaranteed annual income.

It supported a nationwide presidential primary for electing candidates, made up of individual voters.

It recommended legislation requiring the major networks, to give time to candidates who have gained legitimacy by means of a petition. This could include, said Johnson, of an hour a week for each candidate and the networks should provide this as a public service.

It condemned white racism, and urged immediate withdrawal from Vietnam as quickly as possible.

Bat season finale at WMU

By GAVEL WESCH
State News Sports Writer

The Spartans and Broncos finished second in their conferences, but today's game will decide which team is the best. MSU and Western have met four times previously, with both teams winning twice.

MSU took two of three games from Western in the University of Miami Invitational Tournament in March, but lost to the Broncos last week 11-9 to end a 15 game win streak.

Spartan Coach Danny Litwhiler will be mixing the new with the old as the Spartans go after their 32nd victory of the year.

Sophomore Larry Hooper is scheduled to get his first starting assignment at MSU while the Spartan seniors will close out their careers.

Hooper has pitched four innings in relief for MSU and has a 2.25 earned run average, but no win-loss record.

Seniors on this year's squad are regulars Tom Binkowski, Steve Rymal, Tom Ellis, Tom Hummel and Rich Harlow. And reserves Jack Lewis and Jim Plotts.

Junior catcher Harry Kendrick and sophomore third baseman Steve Garvey will be looking to put their names in the record books with hitting success against Western.

Kendrick is MSU's leading hitter among the regulars with a .384 batting average and will need a perfect four-for-four performance in the nine inning game to become MSU's first .400 hitter since 1955.

Kendrick was named MSU's player-of-the-month by Litwhiler at the Bullpen Club meeting Monday in Lansing.

Garvey tied the MSU home run record of nine with two homers last weekend and will be after his tenth roundtripper of the season against Western.

Garvey has a .367 batting average for the season with 47 hits in 128 at bats. Other top hitters for MSU are Hummel (.306), Binkowski (.302) and reserve catcher Bill Linne, who has a .391 average with 18 hits in 46 at bats.

'Sock it to me'

Oakland relief pitcher Jack Aker comes down with a hard right to the head of Detroit's Jim Northrup (5) during the brawl which erupted during Sunday's Tiger-Oakland game. Oakland's Sal Bando (with sunglasses) tries to hold off Northrup, while A's catcher Jim Pagliaroni and Detroit's Bill Freehan (11) rush in to join the fracas.

Living legend Halas resigns as 'Papa Bear'

CHICAGO (UPI) — George Halas, a football legend, resigned Monday as head coach of the Chicago Bears after 49 years as player, coach and owner.

The grand old man of professional football said he had reached his surprise decision completely on his own.

"I have always said that when I reach the time when I could no longer coach I would be the first to know and I would retire then," the 72-year-old pro football pioneer told a stunned news conference.

Halas said he had fixed upon a new coach and talked with him Sunday night. The new coach has agreed to take on the job, but Halas would not reveal his name until a news conference scheduled for Tuesday. There was immediate speculation that the new coach of the Bears would be Jim Dooley, onetime Bear end and lately a rising young star in its coaching ranks.

Halas said he met earlier Monday with his coaches and told them he was stepping down. He said he did not tell them the name of their new boss—at least not for the record.

Characteristically, Halas opened his news conference with a gruff joke. "I don't want anyone to break down," he said. "That is reserved for me."

And he revealed he had come to realize his coaching days were over when he discovered he could no longer indulge a favorite pastime—running down the sidelines upbraidng the referees.

That moment came during the last game of last season, he said, when he tried to chase after an official who was pacing off a penalty and "I realized I wasn't gaining on him."

DOUG ROBERTS

Former 'S' icer traded by Wings

DETROIT (UPI)—The dealing Detroit Red Wings, desperate for defensive help, traded former MSU star Doug Roberts and three other players Monday to the Oakland Seals for defenseman Bob Baun and Ron Harris.

The Wings also sent defenseman Howie Young, high-scoring left winger Gary Jarrett, and an unnamed amateur to the Western Division Seals.

"Everybody knows we've been looking for another defenseman," Wings General Manager Sid Abel said. "And we think Baun is it."

Baun is also the man who played beside defenseman Carl Brewer when both were with the Toronto Maple Leafs. Abel comes to talk Brewer into coming back into the National Hockey League.

Baun, 31, is a veteran of 12

NHL seasons. He has a career total of 28 goals and 120 assists, but is best known as a hard-checking defenseman.

"We're sorry to see Jarrett go," Abel said. "Jarrett scored 17 or 18 goals for us last year and is a real good honest little hockey player."

Roberts, a right winger for the Red Wings, played for MSU from 1963 through 1965. During his career with the Spartans he scored 56 goals with 53 assists.

Roberts split his time in pro hockey between the Red Wings and their Fort Worth farm club. With Detroit his career totals were eight goals and nine assists.

Abel also announced that Detroit probably would name a new coach within a week for its last-place Eastern Division team.

Last March, the Wings made a huge swap with Toronto involving seven players. The trade brought them high-scoring Frank Mahovlich and rights to the retired Brewer for Norm Ullman.

NBA Chicago Bulls name new head coach

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dick Motta, who had winning ways in college coaching ranks, was named coach of the Chicago Bulls Monday and said he believed he could make a winner out of the National Basketball Assn. club.

Bulls General Manager Dick Klein announced that Motta, 36-year-old coach of Weber State College of Ogden, Utah, has been given a two-year contract.

Motta said he resigned from the Weber State job to accept the task of piloting the Bulls because he considered the step into pro basketball a "challenge."

"I've seen the team play on television," he said, "and I know something about the personnel the team drafted. I think it can be a winner."

Motta said he received a "slight" salary increase in making the switch. He replaces Johnny Kerr, who quit the Bulls to join the new Phoenix club in the NBA after the season ended. Kerr coached the Bulls in their first two years in the NBA.

Klein said he interviewed more than 75 applicants for the job.

Motta, a graduate of Utah State, took Weber State to six conference championships, compiling a record of 237 wins and 64 losses.

In 1965, his team had a 22-3 record in winning a title. When Weber State converted from a two-year to a four-year college, the Wildcats posted a 22-4 mark for a national ranking in the college division.

Frosh batters in twinbill here

MSU's freshman baseball team will finish up its schedule with a doubleheader against Western Michigan at 2 p.m. today at Old College Field.

The Spartan freshman are 2-2 for their first four games of the season following a double loss to Central Michigan and a sweep from Eastern Michigan in their first two doubleheaders this season.

G-men elect co-captains

The MSU gymnastics team Monday elected Toby Towson, Blue Mound, Ill. junior, and Dennis Smith, St. Clair junior, co-captains for the squad's 1969 campaign.

the top all-time Detroit home run hitter also missed a month last season when the Tigers were battling for the pennant when he broke his finger slamming his bat into the bat rack in disgust after striking out in a game with Cleveland.

Comer, 24, batted .333 with Detroit in four games at the tail-end of the 1967 season after hitting .290 with the Mud Hens.

Sluggish Willie Horton, whose chronically tender left heel was reinjured Sunday, was expected to play left field while Jim Northrup was also expected to play Monday against the Angels.

Second baseman Dick McLiff, out with a bruised thigh, was not expected to play Monday night and pitcher Earl Wilson, who hurt his heel in Saturday's 2-2 rain-shortened tie, was to miss his regular turn Tuesday. Rookie Les Cain was to take his place in the rotation.

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith said the effect of Kaline's injury on the Tigers' pennant chances would depend upon how long he is out of action. "The damage to the club's efficiency will depend upon how long Al is out of the lineup," Smith said. "I certainly hope it's not too long."

However, Smith pointed out that Kaline was out of action a month last season and the Tigers still managed to win 15 out of 27 games during the period.

"I said it last winter and I'll say it again, the team with the fewest injuries has the best chance of winning the pennant in this league because nobody has a very strong bench," Smith said.

Eagles' owner saved by plan

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Jerry Wolman's creditors agreed Monday to a stock plan to save the Philadelphia Eagles owner's financial empire from complete collapse.

"I'm 75 per cent home," beamed the young tycoon as he smiled happily outside Federal Court here.

A majority of the creditors, 208 out of 277, approved the plan submitted last April 22 to form a holding company out of Wolman's three most lucrative properties. The profits from the National Football League team will also go into the holding company, although the team will remain a separate property.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, however, insisted on payment of a $6.1 million loan on the team before the net income can become part of the plan.

"It's very gratifying to walk in and find that 90 per cent of the people are on my side," said Wolman, who fought to keep from losing the football team he considered his prize possession.

Wolman's creditors will be issued debenture bonds in the holding company, made up of the Spectrum Sports Arena in Philadelphia, Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia and the Yellow Cab Co. of Philadelphia and Camden, N.J. The creditors, who claim Wolman owes them a total of $35.7 million, will be offered bonds at the rate of $100 for every $500 owed.

Joseph Kaiser, Federal Bankruptcy Referee, ruled that 208 agreements were sufficient and set Aug. 26 as the date for receiving applications for his confirmation.

Wolman's rags-to-riches career began in Washington 14 years ago when he turned a $5,000 vacant lot into a multi-million dollar construction company based on borrowed money.

Married housing play areas have history of fun, safety

By PHYLLIS ZIMBLER

Editor's Note: The following story is a result of a question submitted to Spartacus.

MSU has the largest quantity of married housing of any university in the United States, accompanied by the problems of 2,200 children of married students.

The office of married housing handles play areas for children. John Roetman, manager of married housing, pointed out the large number of such play areas available in married housing.

Sandboxes are placed near a great number of living units, while bigger play areas are established on larger plots of land. These areas include a sandbox, climber and slide. Fourteen new pieces of play equipment have recently been ordered and should be installed in June.

Neither Spartan Village nor University Village nor Cherry Lane Apts. have fences around their play areas. Roetman said that it was not possible to fence all the areas in as they must be accessible from many buildings.

As much as possible, play areas are put between the backs of buildings to keep the children as far away from the street as possible. Sometimes parents themselves ask for a sandbox to be installed at a location which, Roetman says, is close to the street.

Roetman added that parents are responsible to watch their own children in married housing, as they would be if they lived in a regular community where lawns are not fenced in. He said parents are not always willing to take their children to the nearby play areas.

Spartan Village does have a fence along Harrison St. and the railroad tracks because they are very dangerous areas. But there are several play areas in Spartan Village that are not fenced in. University Village play areas are the same as Spartan Village.

Play areas are placed near Spartan Village has a fenced-in play area, so why doesn't it have a fenced-in Cherry Lane? Name withheld upon request.

two bedroom units where the land is available. Cherry Lane does not have as much available land as does Spartan Village.

A play area behind Spartan Village school is provided by the City of East Lansing, as is the school. But Roetman said the University pays $220,000 per year towards support of the school.

The unfenced play areas within the faculty housing area in Cherry Lane have been in existence for 20 years with no difficulties. Playgrounds are also provided for in the married housing section of Cherry Lane. One of the play areas is near Holden Hall, but it is placed safely back from the street.

Spartan Village has 1,536 units, while Cherry Lane has 294 married housing units and 184 faculty units. University Village has 456 units, bringing the total to 2,466 units.

There is a waiting list for married housing. The chances for getting housing vary according to a student's status with the University and his marital and family status.

Consumer panel considers attributes of imitation milk

How does imitation milk compare to homogenized whole milk? That is the question MSU agricultural economists Mary Zehner and Henry Larzelere asked a consumer preference panel recently.

The panel consisted of 142 Detroit area residents who were asked for their opinions on the cost, caloric content, nutritive value and flavor of non-dairy imitation milk.

More than 80 per cent of the panel members correctly estimated that imitation milk was less expensive than homogenized and almost two-thirds thought the imitation milk was lower in calories. The two types of milk used in the study were about equal in caloric content.

When asked about the nutritional content of both imitation and whole milk, 52 per cent of the participants thought both types were about equally nutritious and 14 per cent judged the imitation milk to have more nutritive value.

In tests performed by the MSU Dept. of Food Science, it has been shown that the nutritional content of non-dairy milk is inferior to whole milk in the areas of calcium and protein. The total protein level in imitation milk is about one-quarter that of cow's milk and the calcium level only one-eighth.

The panelists were permitted to examine the imitation milk carton and read the content information. On this basis they were then asked to record their opinions on how they might like the flavor of imitation milk.

Three out of four reported they would like the flavor of the whole milk better.

Later, unlabeled samples of both products were put to a taste test to see if consumers could correctly identify any flavor differences. Of the 142 panelists tested, 79 correctly identified the difference, 57 said they preferred the whole milk, 17 indicated they preferred the imitation milk and five voiced no preference.

The imitation milk used in the study was a non-dairy product manufactured from water, vegetable oil, sodium caseinate, corn syrup solids, emulsifiers and stabilizers.

Republic of Biafra banner stolen from Union exhibit

A banner from the newly established Republic of Biafra was stolen Saturday from a Biafran exhibit at the Union.

The flag which is 22 feet long and 3 feet wide was imprinted on the top with the phrase, "Biafra Independence Anniversary," and on the bottom "Peace, Unity and Freedom."

According to a Biafran student there was an attempt to steal the flag Friday night. The student said there were long rips in the flag but the attempt was unsuccessful.

Biafra, which was formerly a part of Nigeria and which declared independence last May 30 is presently at war with Nigeria.

Submarine overdue

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Pentagon reported a submarine overdue at sea Monday night.

A Defense Department statement said the nuclear attack submarine USS Scorpion had been scheduled to return to Norfolk, Va., at 1 p.m. Monday at the end of a routing training operation.

There was no hint of what may have happened.

Submarine, surface ships and aircraft of the Atlantic fleet are conducting a broad search, the Navy said.

The Pentagon said the Scorpion was last heard from May 21. But it noted that "it is normal for a submarine making a submerged passage to observe radio silence for extended periods."

The Scorpion carries a company of 91 officers and men.

The 3,075-ton sub had been on extended training operations with the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, the Pentagon said.

The Scorpion was under command of Cmdr. Francis A. Slatery of Virginia Beach, Va.

It has been just over five years since the Navy lost the atomic sub Thresher which carried 129 men to their deaths.

A Navy court which investigated the Thresher tragedy suggested the sub might have gone down because of the failure of piping in a salt water cooling system, which let ocean water into her hull.

Campus Hill is designed for student living!

There are no other apartments quite like them. That's because Campus Hill has been designed with MSU students in mind.

For example you can be having a party in one room and your roommate can be sound asleep in another. And all the rooms are spacious.

The interiors are decorated with heavy colorful carpeting. Furnishings are custom deluxe. You'll have to come out and see the apartments to really get an accurate description.

One thing about Campus Hill's design that you can feel but can't see is the central air-conditioning. Each apartment has its own unit that cools the entire apartment at once. You save on electricity and live in complete comfort.

There just is not room to describe all the reasons you will like Campus Hill. So come on out today between 4 and 5 p.m.; we'll show you how Campus Hill is designed for student living.

An open letter to men and women MSU students concerning summer positions:

If you have already accepted a summer job or are seriously considering any offers, the following considerations may be of importance to you:

Do you plan to once again work in the local factory, etc. which offers almost no transferable benefits to your post-graduate career?

Have you accepted a sales job with a company that offers deceptive "salaries" but pays only commission? a company not even willing to identify itself before the actual interview? For the coed, are you disappointed with paltry summer wages for summer work, thereby discriminating on the basis of sex and not ability?

The Society Corporation, a full-line merchant wholesaler, is attempting to tap the valuable talent of the student population by offering meaningful, lucrative positions to those with an automobile and living in the Midwest. Wage guarantees, scholarships, commissions, and expense accounts available. We are willing to match and surpass competitive offers.

For further information, phone 353-0983, 12-5 p.m., Tuesday

UNIVERSITY TERRACE is for the student who wants comfort and convenience.

Many of the really nice student apartments are a great distance from campus. UNIVERSITY TERRACE is just across the street. You can get up at 7:50 for your 8:00 class!

The photo above shows you the class of living comfort. Walls are paneled with rich dark wood and the floors are covered with heavy carpeting. The result is an apartment with a warm atmosphere. (Air-conditioning and your own private balcony keep it from getting too warm!) UNIVERSITY TERRACE is much more like a home than just another apartment.

If you're still looking around for an apartment for next fall, look at University Terrace. Comfort and Convenience are an unbeatable combination.

Graduate School

On 25 April, 1968, the Committee of Sixteen submitted a series of recommendations to President John A. Hannah. The first of these was that "an all out effort should be made to increase the enrollment of Negro students" and the Dean of the School for Advanced Graduate Studies was "assigned the responsibility for stimulating and facilitating the recruitment of Negro graduate students in all academic areas of the University."

The School for Advanced Graduate Studies, in seeking to implement this responsibility, has discovered that no list of Negro graduating seniors can be established.

It would be most helpful if graduating and interested Negro students would transmit to the Dean of the School for Advanced Graduate Studies their name, home address and major.

Oregon Primary

There were some deep breaths drawn during Kennedy's Monday trip when the two planes carrying the candidate and his party had to swerve to avoid a collision over the airport at Roseburg.

In the Republican race, Nixon thought so well of his chances of scoring a victory over an informal Rockefeller-Reagan "stop Nixon" movement that he flew off to Olympia, Wash., to confer with Gov. Dan Evans about that state's convention delegation.

Evans is scheduled to keynote the GOP's Miami Beach convention, and Nixon obviously angled for some assurances of neutrality on Evans' part.

Before taking off, Nixon told newsmen he thinks he will have more support among Republican governors than Rockefeller. Rockefeller has been counting on governors to strengthen his campaign.

Nixon returns to Portland to await the Oregon returns Tuesday night. Then he travels to Arizona, Texas and Georgia in the postprimary phase of shoring up delegate support in states that pick their slates in conventions.

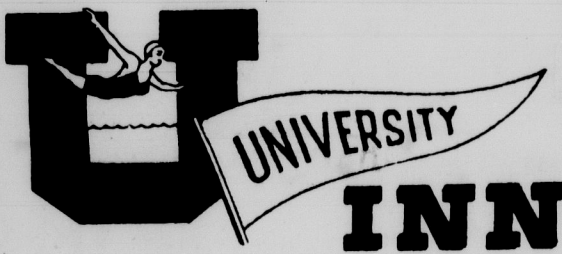

If he is the winner here as is expected, Nixon will pick up Oregon's 18 convention votes. The Democratic winner will get 35.

Oregon law binds the delegates to support the primary winners through two convention ballots or until the winner gets less than 35 per cent of the convention votes or until he released the delegates.
