The Academic Council unanimously endorsed Tuesday a proposal from the University Tenure Committee which provides that a nontenured faculty member who is not given a further appointment will be given reasons in writing if requested.

Gabel H. Conner, chairman of the University Tenure Committee, stated that the committee has considered this issue for "three or four years" and cited the endorsement of University Attorney Leland W. Carr Jr. of the principle that nontenured faculty members should receive reasons if they are not reappointed. Conner, professor of large animal surgery and medicine, also successfully proposed passage of a motion which provides that each newly appointed faculty member receive a copy of the departmental bylaws and a statement of the terms and conditions of employment.

The motions passed in the council will be voted on at the May 19 meeting of the Academic Senate.

Conner said the passage of the proposals represents a Universitywide policy change, although "some departments have already incorporated the changes in their bylaws."

Walter Adams, distinguished University professor of economics and president emeritus of MSU ended a self - imposed University matters by endorsing the proposition that reasons should be offered to nonreappointed faculty members.

Adams, a member of the National Executive Committee of the American Assn. of University Professors (AAUP), cited the recently adopted AAUP stance which advocates the giving of reasons in support of the tenure committee recommendations.

'In the AAUP policy, "both the question of offering reasons in writing and the review procedures, are a safeguard against arbitrary, capricious and indiscriminate actions," he said.

Adams also pointed out that following an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the Orange Horse controversy in the fall of 1966, the MSU chapter of the AAUP endorsed the principle that faculty members who are not reappointed should be offered reasons for the nonreappointment decision.

The Orange Horse controversy, which included a series of student demonstrations, was initiated when three nontenured faculty members in the Dept. of American Thought and Language were notified that their appointments were not being renewed, and no reasons were offered for the decision.

Adams also urged the council to establish the guarantees of procedural due process in the event of nonreappointment set forth in the AAUP guidelines. The council passed a motion which provides Gordon J. Aldrich, professor of social work, reported to the council that the substance of the University Tenure Committee recommendation was recently endorsed by the Advisory Council of the College of Social Science.

The council also passed a resolution protesting "the increasing intrusions of the board of trustees into the academic operations of the University.'

The resolution affirms that "the long established practice of Presidential direction of the internal affairs of this University, in cooperation with the faculty and other members of the University, should be continued without diminution.'

A proposed resolution which appeared to more directly criticize the recent action of the board in extending the contracts of two nontenured faculty members in the Dept. of Natural Science, was defeated by the council, which accepted instead the more general wording supported by the University Faculty Affairs Committee.

Group plans to create student workers' union

By BILL HOLSTEIN State News Staff Writer

Students in at least five residence halls are seeking information on how to properly organize a Universitywide student workers' union while building a base for organization.

"Although the idea is fairly old, we want something done about it because we feel there are a lot of students who want some changes," Brian Casteleyn, Detroit freshman and one of those attempting to organize, said Monday.

Casteleyn said the group of students attempting to organize a union include representatives from Akers, Holmes, McDonel, Mason - Abbot and Phillips -Snyder halls

Casteylen and two other students. Kristine Morrissey, Midland freshman, and James Taylor, Wyoming sophomore, say two key issues for students working in residence hall cafeterias are pay differentials and meal payments for off - campus students who work in residence

The three students contend that students working in cafeterias are paid substantially less than full - time unionized workers for doing the same type of work.

• Students are paid anywhere from $1.70 to $1.90 for supplementary work such as busing and dishroom work whereas food service employes doing the same type of work are paid from $2.43 to $2.57, according to figures released Tuesday by Lyle A. Thorburn, manager of dorm and food services.

Thorburn defended the practice, saying more jobs could be provided for students if they were paid less than union workers. "One of the things this University stands for is to provide as many jobs for students as possible," he said.

Another motivation for organizing, the students said, is that off - campus students working in a cafeteria during a meal have 73-30 vote, the state House of entatives passed a bill Tuesday to the age of legal adulthood in an from 21 to 18.

helping 18-, 19 - and 20 - year - olds meet their full responsibilities as participants in society," he said.

Passage of the bill came after an hour long debate over two controversial provisions to lower the drinking and gambling age from 21 to 18.

Rep. Donald E. Holbrook Jr., R-Clare, proposed amendments to exclude the lowered drinking and race track betting age. The amendments were defeated 39-61.

"I am not opposed to allowing 18-, 19and 20 - year - olds to have the tools they need to meet the problems of today,' Holbrook said. "But I am opposed to allowing them to drink or participate in pari - mutuel betting."

He said the lowering drinking age would have "a profound impact" on traffic safety, auto insurance rates and family life and would "shift the illegal drinking age to 15, 16 and 17 - year - olds."

"Instead of taking Coke breaks at school, they'll be taking beer breaks," Holbrook said. "And I can see where this is going to cause a lot of problems."

Rep. Roy L. Spencer, R-Attica, said lowering the legal drinking age would reduce traffic accidents by "getting the beer out of the cars and into the bars." Rep. Earl Nelson, R-Lansing, said the lowered drinking age should have little effect on family problems. "When a family has to rely on the law as a bogie man to keep the children in line, then I think the ballgame is already over,"

Nelson said. Other than the controversy over lowering the drinking and gambling age there was little opposition to granting adult status to hearings and recommended lowering the Dollar takes pounding

The U.S. dollar took a pounding in European foreign exchanges Tuesday and began to look like the money nobody wants. Speculators and others furiously sold dollars on the expectation that the German mark would be revalued upward.

In three frantic hours, the West German Central Bank in Frankfurt, Germany, was forced to buy $1.2 billion to keep the exchange rate of U.S. money from collapsing.

Financial sources said it was one of the biggest waves of support buying ever seen on any foreign exchange market.

POW proposals rejected

North Vietnam backed away from negotiations over prisoners of war Tuesday in Paris and, in effect, rejected a U.S. proposal that prisoners from both sides be interned in a neutral country.

Sweden has indicated it would accept the prisoners, and the idea of such an arrangement was endorsed Monday by President Nixon.

But the North Vietnam delegation to the Paris peace talks had maintained that the release of prisoners can be dealt with only after the United States has set a deadline for withdrawal of its troops from South Vietnam.

Astronauts to make climb

Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin hope to become the first lunar mountain climbers next July by prowling the base of 12,000 - foot high peaks in one of the oldest regions of the moon.

Irwin told a news conference in Cape Kennedy Tuesday that they'll attempt to scale the front of the lunar Apenine Mountains in search of bedrock from the original lunar crust.

If the slope is not too steep, he said they might climb up several hundred feet in search of this geological treasure which could tell scientists much about the early history of the moon.

Victory march organized

Rev. Carl McIntire, organizer of U.S. March for Victory in Washington next Saturday, said Tuesday thousands and thousands will come for the march up Pennsylvania Avenue and rally on the Mall.

Calling his demonstration "our answer to Haiphong's hippie haranguers," the fundamentlist radio preacher told a news conference it was only by coincidence that the rally comes on the heels of the antiwar REV. McINTIRE rallies.

A Senate called on often to act on such problems as war, peace, prosperity and social disorders Tuesday faced - very briefly - another thorny issue: Should it hire girl pages?

But it didn't really come to grips with the question. It put off a showdown vote for at least a week. And it may wait longer than that before really wrestling with the issue.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., obtained unanimous consent to refer to the Rules Committee a resolution providing that appointment as a Senate page shall not be denied solely on the basis of sex.

GM evasion charged

Attorneys who have filed lawsuits against General Motors Corp. charge the discovery of 100,000 microfilmed customer complaint letters shows the company was "evasive" in court.

GM on April 20 paid two suburban Detroit salvage dealers a total $20,000 for the microfilms, which had mistakenly been taken from a company warehouse. A random sampling of 1,000 of the letters included complaints from the years 1961, 1962 and 1963.

On Saturday, GM told newsmen the main reasons it bought back the microfilm were to help the federal government and those filing civil suits in legal actions and to prevent the films from getting into the hands of auto industry critic Ralph Nader.

Power's allegiance: to justice or to Daley?

Justice Chicago - style over the decades has constantly come under attack from politicians, citizens, newspapers and anyone not intimately involved in Mayor Daley's political machine. The trial of the Chicago Seven was simply another in a long list of stains on the record of the Windy City's judiciary. Now, the swelling debacle surrounding the Hampton - Clark killings seems destined to once again rock Chicago with a wave of criticism.

A special jury sworn in May 7, 1970, is investigating the predawn raid in which Fred Hampton, Illinois chairman of the Black Panther Party and Mark Clark, a party organizer from Peoria, Ill., were shot to death. However, the investigation has been stalled by the unnecessary interference of the presiding judge.

Previously a country coroner's jury, a county grand jury and a federal grand jury had investigated the raid. The federal grand jury, in a widely publicized report issued May 15, 1970, said police had fired 82 to 99 shots into the Panthers' apartment while only one shot was identified as being fired by the Panthers

Now, according to Lerner Newspapers in Chicago, the current special jury has voted to indict State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan for obstructing justice in the Dec. 4, 1969, raid. However, Judge Joseph A. Power has refused to allow the indictments to surface for lack of proper witnesses.

The judge held an unusual closed session with the grand jury last week and told Special Prosecutor Barnabas F. Sears to call the witnesses that had appeared before the federal grand jury. Protesting that Judge Power "tried to tell the grand jury what witnesses has to be called and what witnesses I had to call," Sears refused to follow the judge's strange orders and was fined $50 an hour until he did.

Judge Power then ruled that the special jury cannot conclude or return indictments until all witnesses have been heard.

Judge Power's odd move requiring all previous witnesses to be called and the subsequent stall in the proceedings seem to indicate to us that there is more to the issue than meets the eye.

State's Attorney Hanrahan, a former U.S. district attorney for northern Illinois, was nurtured politically by Daley and picked by the all - powerful boss of Chicago to run for the state's attorney post in 1968. Any suggestion by the jury that the raid instigated by Hanrahan may have been irresponsible and ill planned would affect Daley's reputation as well.

Judge Power, a former law partner of Daley and appointed to the bench by Daley in 1959, certainly would seem to have ties to the Daley machine.

In the past Daley has been staunchly criticized for wielding strong political pressure against those who displease him and for rewarding those in his favor.

These facts suggest that perhaps Judge Power's impartiality may be threatened by his past allegiance to Daley and his concern for Hanrahan and Daley's reputations.

Ignoring questions of the judge's impartiality, his action demanding more witnesses from the prosecution is hard to understand. Certainly, the object of the prosecution is to present its case in such a manner that the jury will have no doubt as to the guilt of those individuals involved in the Dec. 4 raid. Sears feels he has

The judge's demand for more witnesses to the judicial procedures involved in the investigation. By his very meddling the judge has demonstrated that he has violated his role as an impartial observer and must be considered less a judge than a participant.

In either case, we definitely feel Judge Power's existence at the trial threatens the unprejudiced outcome of the proceedings. In the best interest of the investigation we urge Judge Powers to resign from the proceedings and request that another judge preside over the investigation.

Moratorium activities part of greater whole

This country's leader will probably never know how many people will assemble today at Beaumont Tower. Whatever words are spoken in front of Demonstration Hall will most likely be quickly forgotten. As a single event, the moratorium activities on campus today have practically no significance.

However, as part of a much larger whole, the campus moratorium cannot be overlooked. Similar observances are being held today on practically every campus in the country. Kent State is observing a four - day memorial. Civil disobedience is continuing in Washington.

Each of these events by itself accomplishes little. Together they show that the antiwar movement is not dead, that millions of Americans still want an immediate end to the war. The moratorium provides a channel for a collective mandate which cannot be completely ignored.

President Nixon will not change his mind about his Vietnamization policy, no matter what happens in the streets today. However, the White House will interpret a small turnout as an indication of support for the President's Vietnam policies.

Citizens who oppose the war must continue to speak out. Otherwise, this nation will be stuck with Vietnamization, with an occasional incursion into Cambodia, Laos or North Vietnam. Antiwarriors must continue to pressure the President to end the war.

Today's activities on campus are an essential part of the pressure. If there were no antiwar activities back in 1967, America still might have 600,000 men in Vietnam. If there are no more protests in 1971, America may never fully extricate herself from an ill-fated Indochinese expedition. Be at Beaumont at noon.

The Doctor's Bag

By ARNOLD WERNER, M.D.

Letters may be addressed to Dr. Werner at MSU Health Center. Names need not be included unless a personal reply is requested.

Since the beginning of this term I have fallen into the habit of taking a 2 to 3 hour nap during the course of a night rather than sleeping straight through for seven or eight hours. This multiple but shortened method of sleeping conforms better to my audy, eating and other habits. Is there any physical harm in this, as I do get a total of seven to eight hours's sleep? Some people criticize me for my sleeping habits, but I say that if my dog and cat can do it, I can, Ignoring your last provocative comment for a moment, there would not appear to be anything harmful in your sleeping habits. During an uninterrupted night's sleep, a person tends to cycle between shallow and deep sleep about every hour and a half to two hours. It is also not unusual for a person to come very close to awakening or, actually awaken several times during the night. During the more shallow episodes of sleep, dreaming tends to occur. There appears to be a need for both types of sleep in man and if he is deprived of either for any length of time, his function during the waking state is severely affected.

Some people tend to be more alert when they wake from a short nap and you may be finding this to be the case. Eating also seems to follow some sort of cycle during the waking state. Extending this waking, sleeping pattern of yours over too long a period of time would seem to risk interferring with the usual pattern of socialization among human beings. In this sense, what works for your dog and cat may be less appropriate for you.

I believe my sister to be under the false hope that tripling or quadrupling the normal birth control dosage for three to five days immediately after intercourse will bring about her period and thereby avoid any conception which might have occurred. She borrows some friend's pills for this. Also, she has considered taking the "morning-after" pills. Is there such a pill? She has never been on the pill. Your sister's creative pill taking will do nothing to prevent pregnancy. Birth control pills are effective only when taken each day as directed. The hormone content of the pill is not sufficiently high to enable it to be used as a morning-after pill. There is a morning-after pill which consists of very high doses of a particular hormone taken several times a day for a few days. To be effective it must be begun within two to three days (preferably earlier) following intercourse. The use of the morning-after pill is not widespread. It appears to be effective, but some physicians are worried about potential hazards. Since your sister is having intercourse, you should insist that she use adequate contraception regularly.

How efficacious is hypnosis in the treatment of obesity? How long would one treatment last, approxomately?

Hypnosis alone is not an effective treatment in obesity. Attempts have been made through post; hypnotic suggestion to discourage a person from eating. The desire or need to eat is a greater stimulus than is the suggestion so the whole process breaks down rapidly. Eating during hypnotherapy sessions is unusual and the treatment usually lasts from one half an hour to an

My girlfriend and I have noticed a certain phenomenon during intercourse. If we continue motion after she reaches climax, she suddenly experiences an uncontrollable tickling sensation in the vagina. If I don't withdraw immediately, she goes into hysterical laughter. What causes this? (This is really on the level).

Following orgasm, there can be changes in the perception of stimulation received by the sexual organs. Sometimes continued stimulation results in an intensely uncomfortable feeling somewhat akin to pain. Men are especially susceptible to the latter occurrence. The odds are that your girlfriend's response is due to something inherent in the nerve supply to her vaginal area rather than anything attributable to you. Since sexual intercourse should be something that is enjoyed by the participants, your friend's post-climax seems entirely appropriate. I'm sure that the many people who find that sex is humorless will be reassured by your query. c.C.P.S. 1971

Importing the ping to collect the pond

WASHINGTON - Now that the euphoria is over about our ping-pong match with Red China, people are starting to think about the significance of a real detente between the United States and the People's Republic of China.

I hadn't given it much thought until I talked to my friend Cutaway at the State

"Well," he said, "it looks like we've made a breakthrough with the People's Republic of China."

"That's good," I said.

"No, that's bad. The Soviets are very mad at us because we're playing table tennis with Chou En-lai.'

"That's bad," I said.

"It could be good," Cutaway said. "If the Soviets are afraid of us making a deal with China they might be more accommodating about the SALT talks on nuclear weapons.'

"That's good," I said.

"It could be bad. If the Soviets de that an America-China pact was a the their security, they might insist they larger nuclear weapons to protect from the Chinese.'

"That's bad."

"It could be good. We might risk Soviet wrath in order to open up b with a country of 800 million people. Chinese need everything, and there reason why we shouldn't consider our largest potential customer. It's a significant market."

Reconsider 'U' housing policy

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was sent to the Dean of Students and Off - campus Housing Office and not to the State News. We secured permission from the writer to print the copy sent to his son, Bill, after an editorial writer read the letter. This was to be printed regardless of the decison concerning the son's request to get off - campus.

I believe the recent pre-emptive change in MSU Housing Policy is unfair and violates the spirit of our understanding over the past junior and senior years at MSU. The published statement (Section A, Paragraph 1) in the Housing Policy is not consistent with MSU's tradition of fair play and honesty in dealing with students, alumni (like myself) and parents. On-campus residence as "a part of the University's efforts to insure an optimal learning environment" is no longer relevant for upperclassmen in my opinion. Certainly, it is antithetical to the self sufficiency I wish my son to continue to develop. As a parent and as a psychologist

Retute those figures

To the Editor:

The Faculty Salary Survey printed in the April 27 State News and attributed to the AAUP had to be diabolically planted to sow seeds of discontent among faculty wives, arouse suspicions between faculty members and prejudice taxpayers against the academic community. As a long-time veteran in the service of MSU, who went through dedication to teaching has achieved the lofty title of associate professor, I affirm from personal experience that the figures for this institution are gross exaggerations fabricated by someone given to flights of

All of my colleagues with whom I checked agree that the inspiration and pleasure of associating with students and guiding them to productive lives yield far greater satisfaction than any monetary considerations. But regardless of the real reasons, your given reasons are not acceptable to me. I insist my son receive a favorable response to his application to live in unsupervised housing. I absolve you of all responsibility for his welfare in his chosen off - campus living arrangements.

I realize that members of the staff in the Off - Campus Office were not responsible for setting this policy. I, therefore, wish to convey the disappointment I feel in the arbitrary and poorly considered manner in which this change in housing policy has been handled.

While there may be some valid reasons for wishing to extend the stay of more students in University supervised housing, such reasons are not clearly revealed in the information provided to students and parents. It is this kind of p rationalized action that contri directly to the lost confidence students have experienced in University administrators. In this inst I cannot help but feel the same.

MSU's first summer dance residency program has been announced by Kenneth Beachler, associate director of the Lecture-Concert Series. The Paul Sanasardo Dance Company has been signed for a week-long residency, June 28-July 3, and will give two public performances in the Auditorium. The first program will be a matinee at 3 p.m. June 30 and the second will be at 8:15 p.m. July 2.

The Sanasardo troupe includes 10 dancers and features Diane Germaine, Manuel Alum and Paul Sanasardo. The New York-based group is ranked among the leading modern dance companies in the world today. Since 1958, the company has premiered 24 ballets by Sanasardo and 15 ballets created by the company's principal daners.

MSU students registered for dance classes summer term may participate in the residency free of charge. Enrollment for special classes begins immediately at the Lecture-Concert Series office, 112 Auditorium. Jeanette Abeles is registrar. The dance classes are open to all dance students from professional - advanced to intermediate - beginner. There will be a special class for children.

Instructors will include Sanasardo and four of the company's members who are teachers. Enrollment in all classes is limited. Costs begin at $1 for children's and observation classes.

A native of Chicago, Sanasardo grew up on the north side of the city where he later studied painting at the Art Institute of Chicago and attended the University of Chicago.

He received a Guggenheim Fellowship for choreography in 1970 and is recognized as one of the leading teachers and exponents of modern dance. Sanasardo is the artistic director for Modern Dance Artists in New York and for the annual Summer School of Modern Dance at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Tickets for the two concerts will be on sale at the Union Ticket Office. All seats for the Friday evening performance are $2.50. Wednesday matinee seats are $2 for the general public and $1 for students.

Book reveals scientist as man of many talents

By JONATHAN KAUFMAN

Charles Darwin, forerunner of the modern theory of evolution, was also a speed reader and linguist, the author of a forthcoming book on Darwin's philosophy has revealed.

Paul H. Barrett, professor of natural science, talked about Darwin and his book on Darwin, to be published by Dutton this

After reading as much of Darwin's work as he could find, Barrett became interested in Darwin's notebooks, six volumes of Darwin's observations and ideas written between 1837 and 1839. These were written before said. he began his monumental work, "On the Origin of the Species."

Barrett obtained a grant from the All - University Research Committee in 1959 and wrote to the University Library in Cambridge, England, for microfilmed copies of the notebooks.

Darwin's nearly illegible handwriting made it necessary for Barrett to "translate" the notebooks, using contemporary sources to identify certain words and adding bibliographical references Darwin omitted.

"From there," he said, "it was only a short step publishing them."

Honorary aids blind on campus

A group of MSU coeds spends more than 800 man-hours month reading aloud.

They are members of Tower Guard, a sophomore women honorary and service organization, and the reading they do is to 25 of MSU's blind students.

Marlene Dubas, Westchester, Ill., sophomore and presidental Tower Guard, said that the women are chosen for membershipm the basis of "character, scholarship, leadership and service." Tower Guard, which has been on campus since 1933, recently tapped 55 new coeds for membership at the traditional Mr Morning Sing.

Penny Atkin, East Lansing sophomore, coordinates the reading

"The Tower Guard girls are themselves good students at therefore good readers," one blind student said. "They have been indispensable to my college career."

Mao's 'strategy' analyzed

By LESLIE LEE State News Staff Writer

"For all we know, in 1972 we may have Richard Milhouse Nixon stumping the Great Wall of China instead of the Great Midwest," Loren Fessler said Tuesday, commenting on the recent thaw in U.S. - China relations.

Fessler, an American Universities Field Staff lecturer, spoke at the Faculty Club

Nixon would be unbeatable in 1972 if he were able to bring the Vietnam war to an end and successfully arrange a visit to the Peoples Republic of China, he

The new "ping - pong diplomacy" is part of Mao Tse-tung's strategy to drive a wedge between the United States and Chiang Kai Shek's Nationalist China government, Fessler said.

This is part of Mao's overall

Soviets by moving closer to the United States, he said.

Although Mao would very much like to be remembered as the first man to unify China in modern times, his goal does not Mao is a patriot who would very much like to help China.

14 million Chinese in Taiwan is the major stumbling block to Mao's plans and is seen as a threat by Chinese Communists. There is also the further danger that Chiang Kai - shek could make an agreement with a disgruntled province head to topple the Peking government, Fessler said.

Therefore, it would be to China's benefit to gain admittance to the United Nations and receive diplomatic recognition from the United States, the aim of Mao's new strategy through which he hopes policies. The only way the to establish at least token United States can recognize Red control over Nationalist China, China is to "de-recognize"

Chiang Kai - Shek's control of Nominees sought for deanship

The College of Education is now seeking nominations for the position of permanent dean of the college.

John Ivey, who had been dean since 1962, announced his resignation in January and said he would resume teaching and research.

William Hawley, former Associate Dean for Special Projects, is now acting dean.

All faculty, staff and students of the college are urged to submit nominations in writing to the Search and Selection Committee for the deanship of the College of Education, 461 Erickson Hall, by June 15, 1971.

Nomination forms may be obtained in the Student Affairs Office, 134 Erickson Hall, or from any of the committee members.

The committee members are: chairman Lee Schulman, counseling and personnel services; Donald Nickerson, professor of elementary and special education; James Nelson, professor of administrative and higher education, and Gale Mikles, professor of health, physical education and recreation.

Jean LePere, professor of elementary special education; Carl Gross, professor of secondary education and curriculum; Robert Davis, professor of psychology and RHA, said. "There's only a 38 been scheduled to convene at 3 provost's office liaison, and percent return in the Brody p.m. Wednesday on the front Hugo David, professor of teacher

Student members of the committee are Barbara Collar, Sewell, N.J., junior; alternate Linda Butler, Lansing sophomore; Michael Pasternak, East Lansing graduate student, and alternate James Covert, Lodi, N.Y., graduate student.

China, going it alone or facing a showdown.

As long as Chaing Kai - shek is in power, negotiations are unlikely but would be very likely after his death, Fessler said. Death is a very real possibility for both Chiang Kai shek, 84 and Mao, 77, he said.

"Mao is know to more people than any other Chinese. He is revered by more Chinese than any other emperor in its history," Fessler said.

He has the best possibility of unifying China and Nationalist China of anyone in recent times, but as long as there is any other man who is prominent in China, Mao's position is threatened, Fessler said. 'If Mao could pressure Nationalist China into making a deal for at least token control by Peking, the Chinese empire would be re-unified and Mao could die happy," Fessler said.

Problem of pets plagues dorms

By CRAIG LONG

Pets are a problem in MSU residence halls. No one is sure in how many cats, dogs, hamsters, ducks or tarantulas might be residence.

Dennis Grether, asst. director of student affairs in East Holman Hall said about 20 pets have been evicted form Holmes this ye Pets are a violation of Article 18 of the residence hall control which states: "Animals or reptiles are not allowed in the residence halls."

The ban on pets is clarified in the handbook on residence has which states: "For health - sanitation reasons, animals, for or reptiles, with the exception of goldfish, can not be permitted Enforcement of the pet law is initially left up to resident advisers in the halls, Donald R. McMillan, manager at Hubber Hall, said. The advisory staff takes the case next if a violater doesn't comply. McMillan said his managerial staff investigates if the advisers unsuccessful. At this point the student can be referred to the dean of students, if the pet remains in the hall.

Douglas Zatechka, South Campus area director, said he de with only two or three pet violations a term.

Zatechka said a student who persisted in keeping his pet would probably be taken before the Student-Faculty Judiciary. On possible action open to the judiciary would be suspension Zatechka said, but he knew of no such action ever taking pale.

He said the main reason for the ban on pets is health, especial since some students are allergic to dog and cat hair. The cramp quarters present another big problem, he said. A third reason is cruelty. Dogs are often left in the dorms of term breaks, he said.

McMillan said two hungry cats were found wandering the hi of Hubbard Hall during Christmas break. Grether, head adviser at Holmes Hall, said he has little sympathy for pet owners. He said he is tired of hearing the hungry pets howling on weekend nights because their owner

The MSU golf team tuned up for the upcoming Spartan Invitational tournament with their first meet victory of the season at Western Michigan Monday.

The Spartans edged Michigan, 379-380 on the host Broncos' par-72 Gull Lake View Golf Course. Western placed third with a 386 score while Notre Dame brought up the rear, finishing with a Spartan Graham Cooke was a medalist for the contest, carding a one - over - par 73. He tied with Western's Jim Scott for the top individual position.

Co-captains Denny Vass and Rick Woulfe, as well as John Peterson, all shot 76 for MSU. John VanderMeiden and Dick Bradow finished with a pair of 78's.

"I am very much pleased with our win and the guys all played well," Coach Bruce Fossum commented. "We were still a little tired after the tough 72-hole tourney we played in two days over

"I was especially happy to see Graham Cooke play so well for Cooke has been fighting all year for the final sixth spot on the Spartan squad and has participated in the last two MSU tourneys. The 'S' linksmen will be hosts for the Spartan Invitational tournament Friday and Saturday. Tee-off time is set for 8 a.m. each day at the Forest Akers Golf Course on Mt. Hope and Harrison Roads.

was not known because "we're still mostly bogged down with the arrests we made yesterday." Some demonstrators attempted to disrupt traffic again this morning and again without success. Police arrested

The police action at the Justice Dept. broke up what had been a quiet rally, watched occasionally by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell from his fifth floor window. Mitchell was seen on a balcony observing the mass arrests later.

The crowd on 10th Street had been as large as 5,000 but a poor speaker system made it difficult to hear and many of the people had drifted away. Police advanced on them from both ends of the street packing people into a smaller area.

The arrests began a minute later. At one point reporterssaw city police, the tactic failed and several policemen beat five demonstrators with clubs. A sergeant stopped them.

Earlier in the day, during an abortive attempt by protesters to continue the attempt to play hob with workbound traffic, police arrested 685 more on varying charges.

As the demonstrators marched toward the Justice Department they even stopped for red lights, causing one marcher to mutter: "Some revolutionaries."

On Monday, bands of antiwar protesters roamed the streets, harassing workbound government employes by sitting in the middle of the street, blocking the road with cars. throwing nail - studded boards and other debris. With 10,000 federal troops augmenting 5,100 mass arrests followed.
